Capitan Mercantile Co.

P. G. Peters,
Proprietor.

The pipe line on South Fork received another jolt Monday night. A hole was blown in it in two places on that date with dynamite, and the practical joker has not yet been apprehended. The leaks were soon repaired and the water, as usual, runs down hill.

A park is in prospect for Carrizozo, and the plan, as outlined by the Townsite company, is to utilize the space between El Paso ave. and the railroad track. The size of the park is to be 200 feet wide by 1400 feet long. All old buildings have been removed, as an initial step.

The railroad company is leveling up its yards, preparatory to making some extensive improvements in the near future. We are informed that an addition to the depot is one of the first things contemplated, and that the work on the building will begin early next month.

Miss Lorena Sager graduated from the Dana Musical Institute at Warren, Ohio, the 9th inst. Immediately after graduation she went to Cincinnati, from which point she will go to Indianapolis for a week and then to Watseka, Illinois, to visit the Taliaferros, former friends at White Oaks. Miss Sager will reach home early in July.

Ira O. Wetmore is sporting a Reo car. The auto is an evidence of a metropolitan condition and more cars may be expected with the growth of our city. Another thing that follows the advent of the auto as day the night, and is of great practical benefit, is the demand for good roads and streets.

W. M. Reilly, of Capitan, came up from Alamogordo last week, packed his household goods, and, accompanied by his wife and his sister, Mrs. Pons, returned to Alamogordo, their home in future. This family has resided in Capitan and Lincoln county for many years, and their departure is a matter of genuine regret to their host of old friends.

J. M. Rice and Stephen Trone, the former the organizer and the latter the general manager of the Eagle Mining & Improvement Co., were down from Parsons this week. They called at this office while here and informed us that they expected to start the wheels turning at Parsons early next month.

J. G. Riggie, of Capitan, and attorney H. B. Hamilton, of Lincoln, were over Saturday night, and returned Sunday, via White Oaks. These gentlemen were reticent concerning their business here, but from the broad smile with which they greeted all comers, our guess would be that the nature of the visit was not altogether non-political.

C. C. Bennett, who came to this section from Chicago eighteen months ago, left Tuesday morning for Denver, his future home. Mr. Bennett came here for his health, and has been at Dr. Laws' Sanatorium, Lincoln, the greater portion of his time, though he was for six months manager of the Capitan Mercantile Co. His health has greatly improved; in fact, he was in the pink of condition when leaving.

George Lee, who makes dairy-farming his business, but engages in truck farming for diversion, tells us that he has the first ripe strawberries grown in the valley. Knowing we were from Texas, George assured us he would prove his assertion by placing some of the berries in our hand; but so far none of this delicious, home-grown fruit has filled an aching void that always exists in this office.

Roy Jacobs, the mighty nimrod of the Capitan, after joining Charlie Wingfield in a week's fish on the 'Doso, returned to his own mountain fastness last week, went out before breakfast and laid a big silver tip low. Bruin was a monster and had the scars of many battles on his old hide which now hangs in Roy's hunting lodge, a treasured trophy of the chase.

The Carrizozo and White Oaks ball teams met on the local diamond Sunday, but as we don't want to get too deep in the mysteries of the national game in this our first issue, we shall simply say: It was a ten-inning game the score standing 10 to 9, in favor of White Oaks. A return game, we understand, has been arranged to be played at White Oaks Sunday.

How Would You Like Locusts?

Probably few people are aware that insects, as a group, constitute a source of food supply for the races of mankind. Yet insects have been eaten from time immemorial, sometimes figuring as luxuries, at others as a staple article of diet. Perhaps the chief food insect—and an important one, too—is the locust. It furnishes the favorite food of many numerous African tribes, some nations living almost exclusively upon its teeming hordes. Locusts, says the Scientific American, have been regarded as luxuries from the earliest times of which any records remain to us. In the British museum there is a Nineveh sculpture showing men carrying different kinds of meat to some festival, and among them are some who carry long sticks to which locusts are tied. In Athens of old locusts and grasshoppers were sold in the markets and they were then preferred as dainties above the most succulent quails or the best figs. According to Mr. P. L. Simmonds, who made an exhaustive study of strange kinds of animal food, the flavor of locusts, while strong and disagreeable when raw, becomes mild and readily disguised when cooked. In fact, from his own experience and that of several of his friends, whom he induced to partake of the fare, he assures us that a broth made by boiling the unfledged Calopteri (a Rocky mountain species) for two hours in the proper quantity of water and seasoned only with pepper and salt, is quite palatable and scarcely to be distinguished from beef broth.

Universities of Ireland.

Another step looking toward important concessions to Ireland was taken when the British house of commons passed to the first reading, by a vote of 307 to 24, the bill providing for two new universities, in which there shall be entire absence of religious tests. Complaint of inadequate provision for education has been of long standing in Ireland, but within recent years there has been marked improvement in that respect. Schools have increased in number, and requirements as to attendance have been greatly relaxed. Public schools are now in existence which are open to all pupils, and no attendant is obliged to be present at religious exercises to which parents or guardians object. The additional universities, with the latitude allowed as to religion, will, says the Troy (N. Y.) Times, facilitate the acquirement of proficiency in higher education and will obviate the necessity for students to go abroad to find what they want in the way of collegiate training. The effect of such action should be most beneficial.

Boston has a recently established custom for which it is claiming much. It is the New Voters' festival held annually in Faneuil hall. It is not a partisan move but seeks in poetry and prose to inspire patriotism in those who have recently come into the crowning right of citizenship. In the meeting just held the stars and stripes were lauded without stint, the way out of civic corruption was discussed, the red insignia of anarchy was metaphorically trampled under foot and various aids to getting rid of public evils were exploited. If the scheme will, as claimed for it, make the new voters better than old ones, it is worth wide adoption.

INDUSTRIOUS TRIBE

THE NAVAJO IS EXCEPTION TO THE GENERAL RULE.

Squaws Spend Busy Days Weaving Blankets While Bucks Hire Out in Beet Fields or Work as Section Hands.

Denver.—The present-day Indian, if not considered a menace to society, is looked upon as a charge on the body politic, and we frequently hear that the only good Indian is a dead one, yet there are exceptions.

The tribe of Navajos, whose reservation in New Mexico and Arizona borders on southeastern Utah and southwestern Colorado, numbers nearly 4,000 souls. They are a pastoral people, herding sheep, goats and horses over their great arid ranges, and in a small way cultivating corn and other grains. Except when excited by firewater, they are peaceable and to a degree industrious. The women are notable blanket weavers and the men are silversmiths of no mean ability.

Of late years the Navajos have been employed with some considerable degree of satisfaction as section men on the Denver & Rio Grande and other railroads running in close proximity to their reservation. They have also been engaged by orchardists to gather fruit, and last season hundreds of young bucks, ranging in age from 12 to 20 years, were employed in thinning the sugar-beet fields of the Arkansas, Grand and Uncompaghere valleys in Colorado. They were away from their reservation two months at a time, and their employers report that their work was quite as satisfactory as that of the Russian peasants generally employed to do this work and supposed to be unusually skilled in this particular kind of labor.

Like all Indians, their besetting sin is "monte." Give an Indian the price of his hire and he will quit work until it is gambled away. They are a polygamous people, have no religion, and, like all aborigines, are superstitious, believing in all kinds of signs and working of supernatural powers.

Although the Navajo reservation adjoins the Mesa Verde National park, where so many Cliff Dweller ruins are found, it is with difficulty that a Navajo can be induced to act as guide to the ruins. When one is found willing to show the way, he cannot be induced to remain in the immediate vicinity, and when night comes on he moves miles away.

A curious tradition, and one accounting perhaps for their abhorrence of that region, is that ages ago, when the Cliff Dwellers and their enemies were engaged in an exterminating warfare, the former were finally driven into a mighty river, and drowning, their souls were transmitted into the bodies of fishes. And from that time to this a Navajo cannot be induced to eat fish.

Another legend, no less curious, relates to the Ship Rock. About 35 miles due west from Farmington, New Mexico, and within the borders of their reservation, situated in the midst of the desert, stands a famous rock called Ship Rock, which looms to the height of 2,000 feet above the surrounding plain. It rises from the center of an immense and gradually sloping mound, which gives it a towering appearance.

The rock derives its name from its appearance when seen from a certain direction, when it resembles a full-rigged ship, stranded and petrified. The Indian legend is that in the dim and misty past they had their habitation in a distant land beyond the great ocean and that the rock was situated in their ancient country. Once upon a time, the tribe being closely pressed by its enemies and in danger of total annihilation, the survivors climbed into the cracks and crevasses of the great rock and implored it for protection. The supplications were heard and shortly the rock began to move. It crossed innumerable wastes, gradually reached the ocean, which it crossed, traversed more wastes and deserts, and finally arrived at its present resting place, when the refugees sprang from its bosom. Thus the tribe remained upon the face of the earth.

The ranks of the tribe are being depleted, and before a good many years the good Ship Rock will be obliged to gather up the people and go on another long voyage, in order that the tribe of the Navajo may be perpetuated among the tribes of the earth.

FATHER OF LIBERTY BILL.

Congressman Sterling Author of Employers' Measure.

Washington.—Congressman John A. Sterling of Illinois, the father of the employers' liability bill, which went through the house with only one dissenting voice, that of Congressman Littlefield, is a man who has all his life come much into contact with the poorer classes and has seen the want and suffering that is often brought upon the family of a workingman through his being incapacitated by an accident. Sterling was born on a farm and educated himself by his own efforts. After his graduation he was superintendent of public schools in Lexington for two years, after which he took up the practice of law. He was state's attorney for McLean county for four years and is now serving his third term in congress.

ALMOST A MIRACLE.

Raised Up When Science Said There Was No Hope.

G. W. L. Nesbitt, Depot Street, Marion, Ky., writes: "I was a chronic invalid with kidney troubles, and often wished death might end my awful sufferings. The secretions were thick with sediment, my limbs swollen and my right side so nearly paralyzed I could not raise my hand above my head. The doctor held out no hope of my recovery, and I had given up, but at last started using Doan's Kidney Pills and made a rapid gain. After three months' use I was well and at work again."

15 YEARS OF SUFFERING.

Burning, Painful Sores on Legs—Tortured Day and Night—Tried Many Remedies to No Avail—Cured by Cuticura.

"After an attack of rheumatism, running sores broke out on my husband's legs, from below the knees to the ankles. There are no words to tell all the discomforts and great suffering he had to endure night and day. He used every kind of remedy and three physicians treated him, one after the other, without any good results whatever. One day I ordered some Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Resolvent. He began to use them and in three weeks all the sores were dried up. The burning fire stopped, and the pains became bearable. After three months he was quite well. I can prove this testimonial at any time. Mrs. V. V. Albert, Upper Frenchville, Me., July 21, 1907."

Menu Thoroughly Varied.

James McNeill Whistler once visited an artist in Paris who was not overburdened with this world's goods, and was surprised at the sumptuous lunch provided. On being asked how he managed to live so well, his host replied: "I have a pet monkey, which I let down from my window by a rope into that of my landlady, and trust to Providence. Sometimes Jacko returns with a loaf, sometimes with a ham. His visits are full of surprises. One never knows what may appear."

Necessities.

ELECTRICAL GENIUS

KELLY OF MASSACHUSETTS, THE
"ORIGINAL 60,000 VOLTMAN."

Served Apprenticeship Under Wizard Edison, But Is Little Known to the Public—Has Perfected Eighty Patents.

Boston.—Outside of men with knowledge of electrical affairs and achievements, it is not generally known that there is living in Pittsfield, Mass., an inventor and engineer who has won high distinction in developing the great electrical industry of this country.

John Forrest Kelly, the "original 60, 000 voltman," is a friend of the wizard

Edison and served an apprenticeship under him. He has perfected 80 patents, has received a degree of doctor of philosophy and his name is suggestive of progressive methods in electrical machinery and station design.

John Forrest Kelly, son of Jeremiah
and Kate (Forrest) Kelly, was born near Carrick-on-Suir, Ireland, March 8, 1859. Both of his parents were teachers, and several of his ancestors and their collateral relatives were stably successful in various professional lines.

Kelly was educated in Stevens
Institute of Technology in Hoboken, N. J., and received the degree of B. S.
in 1878 and that of Ph.D. in 1881.

His first occupation in life was as assistant to Thomas A. Edison in Wenlo Park laboratory, his work resulting principally to the chemistry of the earths.

Late in 1879 he became electrical engineer of the New York branch of the Western Electrical Company. This was at the time when the telephone was being generally introduced, and dynamoes were first being applied to telegraphic purposes. In the action and installment of instruments for telegraphy and telephony such measuring instruments as then known, Mr. Kelly received much training.

In 1882 he became laboratory assistant to Edward Watson, then chief electrician of an electric lighting company
in New York, and with the exception of a year Mr. Kelly continued his association with Mr. Watson until 1886. Some of the most important work, such as the research which led to the discovery of high resistance alloys of very low or even negative temperature coefficients, was substantially carried out by Mr. Kelly.
His discoveries were followed by the successful Mr. Watson as electrician of the United States Electric Lighting Company, which increased to the Westinghouse inter-

January, 1892, Mr. Kelly joined the Berkshire county electrical inspector, William Stanley of Great Harington, in experimental work. The work done by Mr. Kelly in this connection gave great impetus to the alternating current business.

Mr. Kelly's inventive work is partially represented by 80 patents. The art of building transformers and generators of alternating currents was revolutionized and Mr. Kelly and his colleagues were the first to put poly-phase motors into actual commercial service. That success naturally led to long distance transmission work, and the first long-distance transmission plants in California (indeed the first in the world) were undertaken on Mr. Kelly's recommendation and advice.

Most of Mr. Kelly's work has been of too technical a character to command popular appreciation—such, for instance, as that of improving the quality of steel. He was the first one to make an hysteretically stable steel,
a matter of more importance than the comparatively spectacular transmission work.

Mr. Kelly is a member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, the American Electrochem society, the American Academy of Political Science, the American Economic association, American Statistical society, American Irish Historical society, Engineers' club, all of the United States, and also has membership in the Institution of Electrical Engineers, Society of Arts and Irish Texts society of England, and the Societe Internationale des Electriciens of France.

What is Heaven.
"If I could be out of physical pain,"
said a lifelong invalid, "I would ask no other heaven." "If I could be in a place where I might know that my husband never could be killed on the train!" cried one of the gentle "wor-riers" whose capacity for suffering is neither understood nor respected by the sanguine. "If I could take my children to a world where every time I hear a croupy cough my heart did not stand still with terror," urged another, "that would be heaven for me." The mulatto girl who burst into joyful tears at first sight of a marble bust of herself, "because it was white," had a glimpse of her heaven
before its time.

"Heaven must be like any other form of happiness, only 'more so,'" said a thoughtful man. "And the conditions of happiness are three: a clean conscience, something to do,
and some one to love."—Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, in Harper's Weekly.

Need Thorough Cooking.
Raw pullet, raw veal and raw fish
make the graveyard fat. This is hundreds of years old. A New York caterer, perhaps the most efficient in the city, said: "There are three important articles of food that must, under no circumstances, be served underdone. They are fish, chicken and veal. By chicken I mean all poultry of a domestic nature. All game birds should be rare. You want to be a little careful about lamb, too; give it plenty of cooking."

Averted an Excuse.
"I noticed," remarked the piano stool to the parlor lamp, "that you started to smoke last night when Miss Yerner was entertaining Mr. Tim-mid."

"Yes," replied the lamp, "I saw
she was just waiting for an excuse to turn me down."

Foreign and Domestic.
His Wife (reading)—I see they had a bread riot in Spain recently.
Her Husband—Yes; and we'll have one at home soon if there isn't an improvement in your biscuits.—Chicago
Daily News.

Annual Tallow Supply.
According to calculations by one of the best-informed candle manufacturers in Chicago, over 130,000,000 pounds of tallow are used every year
for candle-making in America.

New Telegraph Company Formed.
A company has been formed for introducing wireless and long-distance telephone service between Mexico and Vera Cruz.

SANDY ATE THE "PARRITCH."

But He Had to Play Mean Trick on Himself to Do It.

An old gentleman in a village not far from Glasgow breakfasted every morning on porridge, and, in order to save fuel, cooked a whole week's supply every Saturday. One Friday morning the stuff seemed very cold and very salt, and he felt he must abandon the struggle to eat it. But his stubborn nature forbade any such thought.
So he fetched the whisky from the cupboard, poured out a glass and placed it before him on the table.

"Now, Sandy," said he, "if ye eat that parritch ye'll hae that whisky, an'
if ye don't ye won't."

He stuck again at the last spoonful, but keeping his eye steadily on the glass of whisky, he made a bold, brave effort, and got it down. Then he slowly and carefully poured back the whisky into the bottle with a groat grin, as he said to himself:
"Sandy, my lad, I did ye thot time, ye could fule!"

Returned Him.
A man returned to his native village
after having emigrated to Kansas some 20 years previous. He asked about different villagers he had known in the old days, and finally of the town drunkard of his time.
"Oh, he's dead," was the reply.
"Well, well; dead and buried is he?"
"Nope; they didn't bury him."
"Didn't bury him!" exclaimed the former resident. "Well, then, what did they do with him?"
"Oh, they just poured him back in the jug."

Good Work Has Slow Growth.
Bancroft spent 26 years on his history and Webster 36 on his dictionary.
'Tis the same with the great inventions. It took years of study and experiment to perfect them. Everything must have a foundation, otherwise it cannot stand, and the more solid the foundation the safer is the structure.

Through Struggle to Repose.
Struggle and anguish have their place in every genuine life, but they are the stages through which it advances to a strength which is full of repose.—Mable.

FRIENDS HELP.

St. Paul Park Incident.

"After drinking coffee for breakfast
I always felt languid and dull, having no ambition to get to my morning duties. Then in about an hour or so a weak, nervous derangement of the heart and stomach would come over me with such force I would frequently have to lie down."

"At other times I had severe headaches; stomach finally became affected and digestion so impaired that I had serious chronic dyspepsia and constipation. A lady, for many years
State President of the W. C. T. U., told me she had been greatly benefited
by quitting coffee and using Postum Food Coffee; she was troubled for years with asthma. She said it was no cross to quit coffee when she found she could have as delicious an article as Postum."

"Another lady who had been troubled with chronic dyspepsia for years,
found immediate relief on ceasing coffee and beginning Postum twice a day. She was wholly cured. Still another friend told me that Postum Food Coffee was a Godsend to her, her heart trouble having been relieved after leaving off coffee and taking on Postum."

"So many such cases came to my notice that I concluded coffee was the cause of my trouble and I quit and took up Postum. I am more than pleased to say that my days of trouble have disappeared. I am well and happy." "There's a Reason." Read
"The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Amy (after the tiff)—I shall return
you everything you have given me.
George (cheerfully)—All right, then.
Suppose we start at the kisses first.

NATURE AND A WOMAN'S WORK

LYDIA E. PINKHAM
Nature and a woman's work combined have produced the grandest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers they relied upon the roots and herbs of the field to cure disease and mitigate suffering.
The Indians on our Western Plains to-day can produce roots and herbs for every ailment, and cure diseases that baffle the most skilled physicians who have spent years in the study of drugs.

From the roots and herbs of the field Lydia E. Pinkham more than thirty years ago gave to the women of the world a remedy for their peculiar ills, more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is now recognized as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

Mrs. Bertha Muff, of 515 N.C. St., Louisiana, Mo., writes:

"Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my troubles public."

"For twelve years I had been suffering with the worst forms of female ills.
During that time I had eleven different physicians without help. No tongue can tell what I suffered, and at times I could hardly walk. About two years ago I wrote Mrs. Pinkham for advice.
I followed it, and can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice restored health and strength. It is worth mountains of gold to suffering women."

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Muff, it will do for other suffering women.

The News is authorized to announce that W. B. Benty is a candidate for re-election to the office of County Surveyor, subject to the action of the democratic party.

INTRODUCTORY.

Two weeks ago, in the Capitan News, the announcement was made that the CARRIZOZO NEWS would be its successor. The statement is verified today—the CARRIZOZO NEWS is a fact. The initial number is not what it should be nor what we should like it to be, of which fact we are only too conscious; but we feel that our readers will not be hasty in their judgment, or, at least, that they will reserve their criticism until we have become better acquainted with conditions.

Our old subscribers need no introductory statement—all they want is a better paper, which we hope to give them—but to our new subscribers just a word. We have come to Carrizozo to be one of your number; to do what we can toward the upbuilding of town and country, and prosper, if we may, with you. As the town grows, so will the News; and our desire is to aid every enterprise that will lead to that end.

In politics the News will be democratic, and its advocacy of democratic principles will be as earnest and strong as it can be made; yet it will not become partizan enough to promulgate anything at the expense of truth. To our republican friends, many of whom are already subscribers, and their number, we hope, may be increased, we confess we are as far apart, politically, as the poles, geographically; but that has not interfered with our business and personal relations in the past, neither do we believe it will in the future. Every man is entitled to his opinion and the right to express it.

We again wish to thank our old friends for past patronage, hope to merit the same from new ones; and in the words of the author, whose language, on launching a new volume, was more forcible than eloquent, said:

"The little booklet, yes,
Bearing an honored name,
Until wherever you have went Thou'lt be glad that you have come."

We are receiving new, bright, green alfalfa hay.—John H. Skinner.

TERRITORIAL DEMOCRATS MEET.

The most harmonious, enthusiastic and best attended convention ever held in New Mexico, by any party, adjourned at Roswell yesterday, after a two days' session. Democrats from the forks of the creek were there, and when those boys get together there's something doing, doing. Space and time, however, are lacking to give the full details, and we shall merely mention results.

Hon. E. V. Chavez, of Albuquerque, was made temporary chairman, and delivered a most able and scholarly address. The usual committees were appointed and the convention recessed. Reconvening, the committees reported, and James F. Hinkle, of Roswell, was chosen permanent chairman.

A platform was adopted, instructing the six votes of New Mexico for Bryan as the party's candidate. W. B. Bunker, of East Las Vegas, placed the name of Hon. O. A. Larrazolo before the convention for delegate to congress, and every county in the territory seconded it.

A. A. Jones was chosen national committeeman.

The convention decided to elect a double delegation, each delegate to have half a vote. The delegation, selected by districts, is as follows:

First:—J. H. Crist, Rio Arriba; Marcelino Garcia, Santa Fe.

Second:—Summers Burkhardt, Bernalillo; Chas. Raff, Valencia.

Third:—W. B. Walton, Grant; Milton Torres, Socorro.

Fourth:—John Morrow, Colfax; Eugenio Romero, Mora.

Fifth:—G. A. Richardson, of Chaves; J. H. Harris, Roosevelt.

Sixth:—A. H. Hudspeth, Lincoln; J. E. Wharton, Otero.

Lincoln county territorial central committeemen:—John A. Haley and Scipio Salazar.

Capitan Correspondence.

A number of prospective settlers visited our town this week.

F. M. Hobbs is preparing to move a building from Coalora to Capitan.

Johnson Bros. received a fine lot of registered Jersey bulls last week from Missouri.

F. M. Crockett passed through from the Block ranch country this week with a bunch of cattle to his range on the Bonito.

A replevin suit for possession of a white burro was settled out of court this week and the animal restored to its rightful owner.

Dr. Cowart has found plenty of business since locating in Capitan, and is pleased with the outlook. He was called to Angus Tuesday to attend a sick child, but arrived too late as the child had died before he got there.

Capitan is pulling itself together, so to speak. A number of buildings that have stood in isolated parts of the town are being moved into the business section. Nothing like getting together, even in a town like Capitan.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Norton are all smiles these days. Their house has been safely moved to its new foundation on the Alta, after several weeks of annoying delay and hard work. The building was moved from Coalora last Tuesday.

Capitan is to be a "city beautiful." The ladies have organized a club and have employed men and teams to clean up the streets and alleys as well as vacant lots and back yards, of all rubbish, tin cans, etc. This is a matter of much importance from a sanitary point of view, as well as improvement in the appearance of the town, and the ladies are entitled to great credit for their work, and it is hoped that now the work has been initiated by them, the "lords of creation" will join in and see that it is continued.

CHAVES COUNTY DEMOCRATIC NOMINEES.

In the democratic primaries, held in Chaves county last week, the following candidates were nominated:

Sheriff—C. L. Ballard;
Treasurer—James Sutherland;
Probate Clerk—F. P. Gayle;
Assessor—Guy H. Herbert;
Superintendent of Schools—
C. C. Hill;
Probate Judge—J. T. Evans;
Surveyor—V. R. Kenney;
Commissioner—

W. M. Atkinson;
Commissioner—N. J. Fritz.

The vote on assessor was very close, Herbert winning over Beck, his strongest competitor, by only four votes, and a contest is talked of. Herbert is an old Lincoln county boy, and his friends here rejoice in his triumph.

Robert A. Hurt and R. D. Hyde, two old Capitan friends of the NEWS were over one day last week, having a piece of machinery repaired. While here they looked us up, and we had a pleasant hour, talking about homefolk.

WAYS OF COOKING CABBAGE.

Succulent Vegetable Need Not Always Be Served Boiled.

Although cabbage has often been called the poor man's vegetable, many appetizing and attractive dishes can be made from it. We give several good recipes:

An unusually good salad was recently served at a luncheon. The inside of a good-sized cabbage was cut out, and the space filled with a mixture of chopped celery, cucumbers and peppers dressed with oil and vinegar, and well seasoned. The top of the cabbage was replaced after the filling was put in, and the head was then placed on a plate in front of the hostess, who did the serving. The guests wondered if they beheld another mysterious Jack Horner pie.

Another way to use a head of cabbage is to follow the same plan, only filling the hole with finely chopped meat, a little onion, and bread crumbs. Bake until tender and then cut in slices and serve with a cream sauce. This makes a very good luncheon dish or an entree at dinner.

Fried cabbage is particularly good at this time of year. First boil the cabbage until tender, and when cold cut into small pieces. Cut some slices of bacon into strips and put them in the frying pan. When they have commenced to cook, and the bottom of the pan is well greased, add the cabbage and fry until a light brown. Season with salt and pepper.

For creamed cabbage, boil the cabbage tender, drain off the water and put into the pot with a large teaspoonful of flour, a tablespoonful of butter, a little salt, and half a cupful of milk. Cook, stirring, until the sauce is smooth.

HOW TO WASH A SWEATER.

Garment Can Be Cleaned Without Causing Loss of Shape.

In summer a girl's sweater is her most important as well as her most useful garment. If her shirt waists are badly made or shoes shabby that is a minor consideration, but her sweater must be immaculate and up to date. Every girl likes to wear nothing but white during the outing season, and great is her disgust when her mother insists upon her having a gray sweater for economy's sake in the firm belief that the darker shade keeps clean longer and that all woolen goods are impossible to wash.

If proper care is taken sweaters can be washed all the time without hurting their shade and color. Fill a large bowl or basin with warm water and soapuds, add a teaspoonful of powdered borax to keep the wool from becoming hard and stiff. If the sweater is white put a little blueing in the water every time it is rinsed. This will prevent it from turning a deep ivory, as all white wool materials are apt to do.

After washing wring out, then pin to a large bed pillow. Be sure not to stretch the sweater or it will lose its shape.

Unrivalled Pudding.

Beat half a pound of butter to a cream, stir in the yolks of six eggs, six ounces of sugar, half a pound of raisins, add the whites of the eggs beaten to a foam. Line a buttered mold with slices of citron, blanched almonds, candied orange and lemons or other fruit. Flavor the mixture with vanilla and angelica and pour in the mold; cover with a sauce made of lemon, butter and sugar.

Orange Baskets.

Cut out piece of each side of orange cup, leaving a strip for handle over top; take out the pulp, mix with chopped pineapple, a sprinkling of blanched almonds, three candied cherries to each orange, sweeten to taste, fill shells, put on spoonful of whipped cream. Pierce a hole through the handle and run stems of two or three violets with a small spray of fern through each handle.

Soporific Discourse.

The elder's wife was seriously ill, and the doctor advised rest and quiet. But the lady was very devoted to church work, and worried herself into hysteria because she could not attend services and hear her favorite pastor preach.

"She must not leave the house," warned the doctor, "but you can easily arrange to have her hear the sermon by telephone."

The elder grasped the suggestion and made the necessary arrangements for transmitting the sermons into his wife's room.

At noon on the Sabbath the doctor called and asked: "How did it work?"

"Fine," declared the elder, rubbing his hands gleefully, "ten minutes after the sermon began she fell sound asleep."

BUYING PAINT BLINDLY.

Many people look upon paint buying as a lottery and so it is, the way they do it. It is not necessarily so, however. Pure White Lead and linseed oil are the essential elements of good paint. Adulterants in white lead can be easily found by the use of a blowpipe. Adulterations in linseed oil can be detected with a fair degree of certainty. See that these two elements are pure and properly put on and the paint will stay put.

National Lead Company, Woodbridge, Building, New York City, will send a blowpipe outfit and instructions for testing both white lead and linseed oil, on request.

Insect Chemists.

Falling to bite sugar from several jumps, some marked bees under observation of Gaston Bonnier, a French naturalist, flew away, returning in an hour or two with other workers, after first visiting a fountain. Settling on the sugar, they were seen to pump water from their crops, when they sucked up the syrup so formed.

THE MODERN CROESUS

UNCLE SAM PILING UP THE GOLD OF THE WORLD

Uncle Sam is the modern Croesus, for his accumulation of gold is outstripping that of any other nation of the world. And not only is he Croesus modernized, but he is like unto Midas whose touch transmuted everything to gold. And strange as it may seem he cannot get rid of the gold which is pouring into his coffers. The people of the nation refuse to take it, saying: "Keep the heavy, yellow metal. Give us in exchange your note, stating that it is worth the amount of gold coin which we have deposited with you." Being an accommodating old gentleman, Uncle Sam gracefully complies with their request.

With this result: There is on deposit in the United States treasury, sub-treasuries, mints and assay offices more gold than ever before in the history of the country. It represents the most valuable stock of the yellow metal that the world has ever seen or perhaps dreamed of. It reaches the tremendous total of $1,020,373,471. If the coins were laid upon each other they would make a shiny monument 140 miles in height. If their rims were placed so as to touch each other they would cross and recross the United States five times. They weigh almost 4,000,000 pounds. Every ounce of the metal has been the cause of hardship, most of it death. Every ounce of it has produced joy, sometimes mad intoxication. It has inspired greed, lust, envy and murder. It has created romance. To-day it is the symbol of prosperity of the wealthiest nation the world has ever seen.

It takes the breath away, that thought of $1,000,000,000 in gold. Think what could be done with it! The national debt of the United States could be wiped out, if the gold could be used for any such purpose, and there would remain a comfortable balance. It would provide 100 battle ships of the Dreadnaught type, fully equipped for service. It would support the navy for ten years, the army for a similar period. The United States could refrain from drawing a cent of revenue for one year, and yet the gold in its vaults and in the institutions it controls would be sufficient to meet its tremendous expenditures.

Of course, all this gold does not belong to the government. Gold certificates are in circulation against coin valued at $780,911,869. That is to say, every person who has one of these certificates is entitled to step up to the counter of Uncle Sam's paying office and say: "Give me the equivalent of this in gold." The demand would have to be complied with instantly. Then $150,000,000 constitutes what is known as the gold reserve. It is maintained by law for the redemption of greenbacks. To the credit of the government also is an additional $45,395,190, for which gold certificates have been issued. Finally, there is coin valued at $34,066,412 lying in the cash boxes of the United States treasury and sub-treasuries ready to be paid out whenever a call is made.

The people, however, do not want gold. On the Pacific slope it is still the fashion to use the yellow metal, but in the effete west, as in the more effete east, it is not wanted. It is heavy, bulky, and inconvenient. It exposes the holder to robbery and perhaps death. Therefore, as soon as a miner obtains a pound of gold or anyone else gets hold of the metal his first act is to take it to an assay office to determine its purity and then to turn it into one of the government mints for coinage. When this is done the owner receives the gold certificates. Certificates are not issued against bullion. Read a gold note, if you are fortunate enough to have one in your possession, and you will find its value is that of the "gold coin" in the treasury of the United States. Five hundred double eagles, valued at $10,000, which I picked up the other day in the treasury department, weigh 38 pounds. Four thousand $10,000 gold certificates, representing $40,000,000, which I also held, weigh exactly 11 1/4 pounds. To transport that amount of gold coin a mile would test a regiment if it had to be carried by hand. The advantage of paper is evident.

It is estimated that the total stock of United States gold coin is $1,638,600,000. Thus, there is something like $500,000,000 which is not in government depositories. Where is it? A large quantity is in National banks, not less than $125,000,000. Probably $100,000,000 more lies in the vaults of other than National banks. In the vaults of the Russian treasury at St. Petersburg I saw piles of canvas bags containing something like $18,000,000 in United States double eagles. The holdings of United States gold coin in the treasury of the Dominion of Canada as a reserve for dominion treasury notes amount to more than $30,000,000. Other nations think so highly of American gold coin that they have quietly gathered a stock of it and put it where, in a pinch, it will do the most good. There is a small quantity of gold used in the arts. It is difficult to place all the gold the American people have, in spite of a careful search made by the director of the mint. The director is satisfied that the United States has more of the yellow metal than any other nation. Germany is second with $1,030,300,000, which is $600,000,000 less than we have. France is third with $826,400,000. Russia fourth with $639,400,000; United Kingdom fifth, $486,700,000, and Austria-Hungary sixth, $306,400,000. France, which has less than half the population of the United States, has the largest per capita proportion of gold, $23.57. The United States has $18.66. Germany, $17. The United Kingdom, $11.03. Russia, $6.55, and Austria, $6.20.

MAN NEVER WITHOUT BOSS.

In Youth the Parent and in After Years the Wife.

"A man never can get to a point where he can do as he pleases," observed the sad-eyed married man on the rear platform. "I remember when I was a kid at school what a time I used to have with my parents when the first days of spring blew along. I always wanted to leave off my overcoat when I started to school. I didn't like the idea of hustling off to school at all on one of the opening days of spring—days about like this one, but I would mention the overcoat matter just as a sort of concession. My parents never would stand for it. I had to wear my overcoat until it seemed to me the weather was just as warm as on the average Fourth of July."

"I used to think how nice it would be to wear just what I wanted to when I grew up. But that just shows how easily a man gets fooled. A man never grows up enough to be his own boss. To-day I had it all arranged to shed my flannels to middleweights and mebbly switch to a lighter overcoat, too, because anything heavy is pretty sticky these days. But do you suppose I got away with it? Not much! My wife says there'll be no change on the clothes proposition for me—that is as far as the weight of them's concerned, for two months yet."

"And I used to think that when I grew up I would leave all that boss thing behind."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Greatest Need of the Airship.

According to A. Mallock, before heavier-than-air flying machines can become popular, some method of automatically balancing them—that is, keeping them on an even keel—must be devised. In the few practical machines now built the balancing has to be done by the operator, and, while the ability to do this could probably be gained by most persons, if they had opportunity for practice when young, the great difficulty with such schooling must always be that an accident usually puts an end to the lessons by putting an end to the scholar. Mr. Mallock suggests that an automatic balancer might be devised by the use of pendulums, one with a very long and the other a very short period.

The Basis of Good Society.

"Society," like everything else which is collectively human, is just what its units allow it to be, and this is as true inside the church as anywhere else. The need of the day is no new one—it is for men and women whose example will make them lights and beacons in our politics, our churches, our educational establishments, our "society," and in all our human relations.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

An Enterprising Salesman.

On the tenth anniversary of his wedding, a merchant in Washington was approached by a book agent who offered for inspection a varied assortment of books, particularly dwelling on the beauty and value of a new edition of the Bible. He said:

"I have been told that this is your wedding anniversary, and you could make no better present to your wife than a family Bible, and this splendid edition which sells for $15 at retail I am now able to offer to you for $10 spot cash."

He made the sale, giving a beautiful imitation morocco case, which he claimed was genuine. Then he hastened to the home of the merchant, and, using the same argument, induced the wife to buy another edition of the family Bible as an appropriate wedding present for her husband.

When they exchanged presents that evening, there was quite a commotion in the home, and the husband was beside himself with rage, forgetting that both of those Bibles contained the injunction: "Let not the sun go down upon thy wrath." Being unable to go downtown, he telephoned to a friend to go to the station, and bring that agent to the house without fail. The friend hastened to the depot, caught the book agent, delivered the message and insisted upon the agent delaying his departure. The wily fellow, full of business, replied:

"I offered him a copy of this Bible for $10 and he put it off for the time. I am very sure that he has repented and wants a copy as a wedding present for his wife. He has undoubtedly told her of the bargain, and she wants it. I cannot remain over, however, for one sale, but you can take it to him, and he will be delighted, and will forever thank you for having overtaken me. The price is only $10, and you had better take it to him, as his wife is probably crazy to get it."

The friend paid the $10 and took the Bible home to his anxious friend; and, what then happened and what was said would not be proper to print.

An Averted Conflagration.

What might have developed into a disastrous fire was narrowly averted Monday morning by the presence of mind and quick action of A. T. Roberts, manager of the Carrizozo livery stable. In the early hours of the forenoon while in his office he detected a smell of fire. He quickly took up the scent, which led him to one of the stalls, where he found a pretty good-sized fire well under way. He immediately shouted the alarm and called for water, and then proceeded to dump hay by the bale on the burning mass, which smothered the flames, and kept the fire from spreading to the woodwork, by which time a number of men arrived with buckets of water, drawn from a well, and completely extinguished it. Although the fire was a small one, it would have quickly developed into a large blaze, and perhaps wiped out a large portion of the town. The fire is supposed to have originated by someone carelessly dropping a partly-smoked cigarette in the stall, which ignited the loose hay on the floor. Mr. Roberts says he would advise anyone entering his stable in the future with a lighted cigar or cigarette to take the precaution of taking out life insurance, as something is liable to happen. One fire in two years is about all the town of Carrizozo can stand.

A NEW BLACKSMITH SHOP.

J. K. Martin, of San Angelo, Tex., recently established a blacksmith shop on 2nd and El Paso Ave. and is prepared to do all kinds of blacksmithing and wood work. Mr. Martin is a blacksmith of many years experience, guarantees his work and a trial will convince any one of his ability to perform his work in a satisfactory manner. He makes a specialty of horse shoeing, and his long experience in that line enables him to fully meet all requirements. A share of the patronage of Carrizozo and surrounding country is solicited, and fair work and square dealing is guaranteed to every customer.

The happy countenance of our popular county treasurer, John M. Penfield, was in evidence on Sunday. He remained in Carrizozo until Tuesday morning when he returned to Lincoln. Some of his friends thought his mission here was politics; but, while confessing a warm friendship for the man who handles the county's cash, we are compelled to admit that he never mentioned such a subject to us. It was later reported that he came to see a very dear friend, and that the subject of discussion between them was far older than politics.
