THE NEW MEXICO APPOINTMENTS

(Albuquerque Evening Herald)

While partison apposition would like to criticize repartment of justice appointments to federal offices in New is ready to receive applications for Mexico and to find ground for faultfinding with the appointees, Republicans generally, we believe, will be found by banks to approve heartily of the appointment of Gorge R. Craig as United States district attorney, and of Secundino Romero as United States marshal. From the standpoint of party service the work of both these men, over a long period of years, entitled them to recognition. It would be diffi- applications for rediscount from cult to show in either man any lack of qualification for the banks and cattle loan companies who position to which he has been appointed.

George Craig served through two difficult campaigns as chairman of the republican state committee. He was chairman of the campaign which returned Senator Fall to amount advanced, and all loans must the United States senate and was one of the most active be accompanied by the following and most powerful influences in successfully performing her and quality and his estimate of the useful service to state and nation, against no less an the value of the security original chat another letter from the president opposition that the personal effort and intervention of the the mortgage or certified copy showthen president of the United States. All loans must be election of the entire republican state ticket. Persons who eligible for rediscount with the fedopposed Craig in that campaign naturally do not approve eral reserve banks and the paper of his appointment to an important federal office. These on all notes, the last as well as either criticize the appointment or seek to damn it with all previous indorsements, must waive faint praise. The fact remains that Craig has won the right demand notice and protest. to recognition from the republican party and this right is of maturity running six months or supported by a personal and professional record which qua- less, and if found satisfactory will lify him in every way for the position. The state has a right of six months or less, not exceeding lands. This course has been inspired to expect from him an equally satisfactory record as United a total length of time of 30 months States attorney.

Secundino Romero has been criticized by partisan opponents because he is a two fisted, tireless, fighter who wins loans a few days in advance of need commerce, but in meeting the de campaigns. Romero has been dubbed a "king" and roasted for the money, giving sufficient time as a "boss" but it is significant that these titles are hurled at cations intelligently. In these, as in the therefore, it is expected that the United States marshal's office, which he filled for several the privileges of the organization months under a former republican administration, his re- freely and having been provided a cord is clean and efficient.

Efforts, also inspired by partisan opposition, have been support the industry by making new made and no doubt will be renewed to find fault with Senator Bursum in connection with these appointments. Such efforts will prove futile. Quite aside from the fact that the appointees are competent men it would be difficult to show that Senator Bursum, who is the republican national committeeman from this state, could have done otherwise than endorse them, even had he desired to do so, since both Craig and Romero had been endorsed by an overwhelming majority of the republican county organizations of the state MANGAS RANCHMAN ENDS as well as by a similarly overwhelming majority of the members of the republican state committee. When one or two men can over-ride the wishes of the majority in party matters, party organization and party solidarity suffer, and when party solidarity suffers in this great nation it usually follows that the public welfare suffers. We had a striking illustration of this in the closing years of the last democratic national administration, after it had ceased to be a party administration and had become in some important re- R. L. Republican party organization and solidarity in New Mexico will be benefitted by the appointment of Craig and Romero and will tend, in turn to enhance the prospects for contined Republican success in the state. Continued shot and found Johnson in the wagon republican party success in New Mexico is extremely important just now to the welfare of this state, and everything that tends to promote it is cause for congratulation r o matter how bitterly partisan critics may protest.

One thing that endears Bursum to his friends and inspires the admiration of others is his strict adhearance to what he believes to be right. This was plainly shown in his vote on the Soldier Bonus bill, and regardless of the appeal of the president, Bursum voted as his conscience dictated, in favor of the bonus for soldiers, stating that he New Mexico and was commonly sister. Heavy Black Satin Reversed With Harding Blue, Affords a Winsome Two-in-One Garment.

It is interesting to note the enthusiasm with which women are greeting the newest wraps. Every week new models are shown in tricotine, twill cord, normandy, bolivia and velours.

To cover one's afternoon gown there is a delightfully swagger wrap of heavy black satin reversed with Harding blue satin and heavily fringed at the bottom knee deep. The nicest part is that one may reverse this wrap for evening occasions to the light side, thus making it a sort of two-in-one

And the fringe lends graceful effect, swaying gracefully when the wenrer is in motion. A big collar capes the shoulders and is tied in front with long sash ends.

Just the thing for motoring is a brand new wrap of plaid wool, fringed at the bottom and deeply collared and cuffed in plain material. This model wraps itself close about the figure, thus insuring warmth and beauty.

Among the slender coat wraps there is one in tobacco brown, excellent for street wear, developed in loose wraplike lines, shirred at the waistline, girdled by a narrow belt and touched here and there by slik stitchery.

For dressy occasions is a coat of gray tricotine, in Tuxedo style, with facing extending from neck to hem. For added attraction the revers are scalloped deeply and the turn-back cuffs also follow this example. A narrow string girdle is tied about the hips, giving the low line so fashionable this

Black satin and navy tricotine combine effectively in many top coats for daytime occasions, and in almost every one there is a hint of embroidery that lends a subtle charm all its own.

Slight Alterations Will Enable the Transformation Where There Are Objectionable Features.

Quite frequently shops offer excellent values in dresses that are extreme in style or that have some feature about them that blocks their sale, One's first impulse is to reject such a model, but experience has taught one canny shopper that models of this type are possible after they have been revised at home or by a reliable tailor or seamstress.

An unbecoming neck-line, a sleeve that is the wrong length or does not fit well, even the introduction of a conspicuous color in some way may be altered with gratifying results,

Eliminating objectionable details, a dress with a very full circular skirt proved to be rather a drug on the market at one shop, principally because brilliant green cloth with steel buttons had been inserted at the sides, e that in the swing of the skirt s not too generous display of hosiery would result. The cut of the skirt was extreme enough to give pause, but plus the spectacular touch of green it was voted impossible by the women to whom it was offered, until along came a woman with a vision that could see black satin substituted for the green, and the severe renaissance neckline could be softened by spening the front of the plain bodice and inserting a V of some flattering lingerie material—changes, while very slight, altered the entire epirit of the gown. New that sleeves of contrasting material are voted smart, one might b tempted to select a gown which could be altered by changing the sleeves, Of course, any changes one's originality might suggest would be helpful to the woman who to her dismay finds that the model she selected has been selected by her nearest neighbor or her dearest enemy,

Lace Cap for Baby.

Pretty lace caps for babies are easily made by using white lace allover and drawing in the fullness at the back with ribbon run through a tiny bem. The edges of the bonnet are trimmed with lace ruffles and the long strings are made of fine insertion about three inches wide, Some pretty caps are made from scraps of lace and embroidery of all kinds and shapes, some times with three or four different kinds in one cap, edged with narrow ruffles of lace and finished with a pompon of lace or ribbon.

Pretty Gifts.

A quickly made gift is a branch or foliage painted in the new style with colored silver or gilt paint, Pussy willows or catkins left over from former years are charming silvered. And while one is wielding the paint brush in these new artistic effects one can transform old bric-a-brac into something smart and new. A book end, for example, that has become tarnished will be extremely up-to-date if painted first with crimson and then touched up with a purple in the soft, smoky ef-

JAPAN CAUSES HITCH IN PLANS

TOKIO NOT WILLING TO DISCUSS FAR EAST QUESTIONS AT PRO-POSED CONFERENCE.

SETBACK DISARMAMENT

NIPPONESE FEAR DISSENSION WILL FOLLOW IF PACIFIC PROBLEM IS TAKEN UP.

(Western Newspaper Union News Service.)

Washington, July 15.-Japan is ready to enter the disarmament conference, but withholds assent to an unrestricted discussion of Far Eastern questions as a part of it.

The viewpoint of the American government is that a solution of the Far Eastern question is a necessary accompaniment to any disarmament program. Thus develops the first hitchif a hitch it turns out to be in President Harding's plan to remove the causes for heavy armaments and then reduce the armaments themselves.

American officials, however, are optimistic that a way will be found for a satisfactory conference to which Japan will be a party and for a program of armament reduction acceptable to all

The Japanese reply to the preliminary question of whether she would receive an invitation to such a conference came to the State Department through the American embassy at Toklo. Its text was not made public and department officials declined to reveal its contents except to say that it expressed approval of the disarmament discussion but did not agree to a consideration of Pacific problems.

During the day, however, it became known that the attitude of the Japanese government was known to the government here. This attitude is that the disarmament question is a vast one in itself, and that if other questions are introduced into the field of discussion the conference may be so broadened as to endanger its success.

Japanese officials are said to feel this to be particularly true if the questions so introduced are to affect the delicate balance of diplomatic relations in the Orient.

There is manifest in Tokio a belief that such a debate might open up a Pandora's box of troublesome diplomatic intricacies, which would set for Mr. Harding's conference a task of readjustment even greater than that attempted by the peace conference at Versailles.

The alternative, in the belief of Japanese statesmen, would be to agree beforehand on exactly what questions will form the subject matter of the discussions. To this is opposed the opinion of American officials that if the nations first agreed to come into the conference, whatever limitations appeared advisable could be fixed by general assent afterward.

Altoons, Pa.—"I am writ-ing to tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Com-pound has done for me. We had six children die almost at had six children die almost at birth. From one hour to nineteen days is all they have lived. Before my next one was born I took a dozen bottles of your Veg etable Compound, and I can say that it is the greatest medicine on earth, for this baby is now four months old, and a healthier baby you would not want. I am sending you a picture of her. Everybody says 'That is a very healthy looking baby.' You have my consent to show these few lines to anybody.''—Mrs. C. W. BENZ, 131 3rd Avenue, Altoona, Pa.

Mrs. Janssen's experience of interest to childless wives. Millston, Wis.—"I want to give you a word of praise for your wonderful medicine. We are fond of children, and for a considerable time after we were married I feared I would not have any. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it strengthened me so I now have a nice, strong, healthy baby girl. I suffered very little at childbirth, and I give all the credit to your medicine, and shall always recommend it highly."—Mrs. H. Janssen, Millston, Wis.

Mrs. Held of Marinette, Wis., adds her testimonial for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She says:

Marinette, Wis.—"I was in a nervous condition and very irregular. My doctor advised an operation. My husband brought me one of your booklets and asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It overcame my weakness so that I now have a healthy baby girl after having been married nine years. I am glad to recommend your medicine, and you may use my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. H. B. HELD, 330 Jefferson St., Marinette, Wis.

There are many, many such homes that were once childless, and are now blessed with healthy, happy children because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored the mother to a strong and healthy condition, as it acts as a natural restorative for ailments as indicated by backache, irregularities, displacements, veakness and nervousness.

Women everywhere should remember that most of the commoner ailments of women are not the surgical ones—they are not caused by serious displacements or growths, although the symptoms may be the same, and that is why so many apparently serious ailments readily yield to Lydia E, Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it acts as a natural restorative. It can be taken with perfect safety and often prevents serious troubles.

Therefore if you know of any woman who is suffering and has been unable to secure relief and is regretfully looking forward to a childless old age, ask her to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it has brought health and happiness into so many homes once darkened by illness and despair.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments" Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

THE QUESTIONER.

WHEN Shakespeare wanted to ex-W press the tragedy involved in the snuffing out of the life of his most Intellectual character, be did it by these words, "The rest is silence."

He might have put it in another way, by saying that Hamlet would ask that lay up their store for winter, or no more questions. For that was his most disconcerting habit.

Keeping silence before a puzzling world, and a puzzling universe, is her chickens, or the bear that is fearsomething that man has never done.

The human being who just asked the reason for the first nightfall and the first appearance of the stars fore of things. stood on the threshold of all modern On the other scientific investigation.

So, if it were necessary to find a definition of man which would differentiate him from all the rest of creatures, it would be sufficient to say of him: "He is the animal that asks questions."

Rudyard Kipling in a striking line talked of "the law of the jungle."

The writers of fables have not pulled the long bow in attributing to the beasts the sense of justice, even if they were making fun of society in doing so. So the lion stands for the maker of rules, and the monkey for him who evades them.

So law is not peculiar to the children of Adam.

The animals know political econ-"Go to the ant thou singgard," said King Solomon. This little creature shows what can be done through the organized efforts of thousands of insects, whose opera-tions could be stopped in a moment by the foot of a passing glant in the shape of a mischievous boy.

So business organization is not exclusively human.

It is impossible to look at the combs of a beehive without realizing that the creatures who made it know geometry and architecture.

The cells are so constructed as to give the maximum of strength with the minimum of expenditure in the way of material.

So the Brookly, bridge, or the dome of St. Peter's, is not a proof of human superiority.

There is a solitary eagle to be seen every day, soaring over a lake in western Ontario. Once he had a mate. But she disappeared one winter. Since then the widower has never married. The natives say that it is the habit of these birds to be perpetually true to their first and only love.

So constancy is not the exclusive virtue of our race.

When Christ wanted to express his affection for Jerusalem, he could think of nothing better to say than that he would have gathered its people about him, as a hen gathers her chickens under her wings. This timid bird will face any peril if she thinks that her young are in danger.

In the same way the bear of the North woods, which will fly before man under ordinary circumstances, will fight to the death if she thinks her cubs are threatened.

So family affection and devotion do not set mankind apart from the re of the animal kingdom

The similarity of the two expressions naturally impressed the British soldier, and it was not long before he corrupted them "blighty"-using it as a noun when he referred to his native soil and as an adjective when he wanted to express something connected with his return. A "blighty wound," therefore, meant an injury serious enough to necessitate being sent back home to England While the word falled to gain great popularity among the American soldiers, it appeared with considerable frequency in stories and reports from the front and will doubtless be used far more widely than before. Hard Times Come from Europe, but U. S. Must Have Courage And Intelligence

"Recovery from economic depres sion in the United States as well as abroad depends upon the courage and applied intelligence and the return to primary virtues of hard, conscientious toil and economy in living," Secretary Hoover declared in an address before the National Shoe and Leather exposition.

"There may be no recovery from come." Mr. Hoover said, "if we neglect our economic relations abroad. The hard times that knock at every cottage door came from Europe. ## PLAIN HINTS TO FOIL CAR THIEF

Cleveland Auto Distributor Gives Some Practical Suggestions to Owners.

REMOVE DISTRIBUTOR ROTOR

Unique and Effective Scheme Is to Have Blind Switch in Ignition System-Other Methods to Discourage Robbers.

Some ingenious yet simple ways to foll the automobile thief, who often laughs at locksmiths when he begins tinkering with motorcars, are suggested by Emil C. Hertz, a Cleveland automobile distributor.

Mr. Hertz's first suggestion is to remove the distributor rotor. Without this rotor there can be no spark, he says, and without the spark no gasoline motor will run. The rotor is one of the easiest things to get at, so its removal by the car owner when he leaves his vehicle parked in some street is all the easier.

As there are several different kinds of rotors, it is all the more difficult for the thief, since he would have to carry almost every type to have the correct one available when needed. Even though half of all the automobile thleves were equipped with complete sets of rotors, the car stealing hazard would be reduced 50 per cent.

Unique and Effective Scheme.

Perhaps the most unique and effective scheme to protect a car, continued Mr. Hertz, is to have a blind switch in some concealed part of the main ignition system. Probably nine out of ten thieves would be utterly baffled if the circuit were broken in this way because it is a device they would least expect. They would naturally look for the commoner methods of disabling but there is no standard way available to the thief for locating the trouble caused by a blind switch.

Another simple, though less effectual way to baffle the amateurish thief is to disconnect the wire at the coil, in connection with the generator. In many makes of cars there is only one wire exposed on the coll and it may be detached at either end with little trouble.

There is still another way to discour age the motor car thief and that is to cross the spark plug wires to say the fourth and fifth or the fifth and sixth cylinders of a "six." This crossing of the wires causes back firing and resultant heavy artillery when the engine is started will often cause the less hardened thief to flee in dismay, asserts Mr. Hertz.

Some car owners however, would not approve of this method of thwarting the thief because of the danger of blowing off the muffler of the car's mechanism.

Keep Record of Numbers. Finally, be sure that you record the numbers of your motor and tires in a memorandum book and keep the book where you can always lay your hands upon it, advises Mr. Hertz, who cites an instance of a car which was stolen in Boston, Mass., and recovered and identified four months later by one of the original tires.

When Screws Holding Brass Jackets Become Worn It is Good Plan to Use Metal Band.

In case the screws that hold the small brass jackets to the vibrator box become worn so that they do not grip any more, do not try to remedy the trouble by using longer screws, as this will probably injure the windings of the coil and ruin the vibrator. The better plan is to put a metal band clear around the box and attach if to the dash with small bolts.

Ninety-Nine-and Planning His Future

OS ANGELES.-This city has a man who has lived 99 years and says he's going to keep right on: living for some time. He is Dr. James Martin Peebles, physician and author, who recently celebrated his ninety-ninth birthday anniversary and has written a book on "How to Live a Century and Grow Old Gracefully." He ascribes his long life in large measure to ab stinence from eating animal flesh. Doctor Peebles stopped eating meat when he was thirty-nine years old. He wrote his book on the rules of living when he was sixty-two.

Other rules he made for himself and which he said he believed had helped him to reach his advanced years included:

"Go to bed every night at 8:30. Out of bed every morning at 6. Never use tors. Never complain.

"Avoid all worry and keep a harmonlous mind. Worry is among the worst things in the world. Have a strong will power. Always look for the new. Keep calm."

On his ninety-ninth birthday anniversary Doctor Peebles walked erect, only occasionally using a cane; his sight was good, although he used spectacles for reading; his hearing good as ever," and his appetite and digestion he declared excellent. His long white beard and hair gave him a truly venerable appearance. Asked what his plans for the future were, he replied: To live a number of years more

L AKE FOREST, ILL.—What type of girl appeals to a wholesome boy? What things do boys object to? What qualities has the ideal girl? Floyd Brown, director of the Young Men's Club of Lake Forest, who says he has had lots of experience with girls, having been engaged three times before he married, answers all these questions. Or invitation he spoke to 150 girl students of a fashionable seminary.

VORK -- Magistrate John Kochendorfer of this city has be sun to put into effect his doctrine that the right kind of punishment for erring husbands will end marital infelici-

Holding that husbands are to blame for seven-eighths of all domestic rows the magistrate announced that instead of sending them to jail he would sentence them to any one of ten tasks they might choose. Then, the next convicted husband who was arraigned before him for abusing his wife was ordered to common housework for a week, or go to the workhouse. choices Magistrate Kochendorfer allows his prisoners follow:

Prepare the family breakfast every

Take care of the children one hour

Buy candy and fruit for the wife and children once a week. Stay home one night a week,

Take the family out every Sundaywalk in the afternoon. Allow the wife to handle the finances of the family. Start a savings bank account. Wait on himself instead of asking the wife to wait on him.

Repeat every day to his wife, at east once, his marriage vows. Wash the dishes every night.

Magistrate Kochendorfer says that few men recognize the daily monotony of a woman's life in keeping a house hold together on small pay. The mer have some variety even if only going from their homes to their offices, but the wives are sentenced to monotonous drudgery.

"Men who abuse their wives need waking up more than they need Jail," the magistrate expounded. "The average man would be cured permanently if he could be set to the tasks to which his wife is committed and thus learn how much less attractive is her day tian his."

Suspenders in Gotham—But Not Chicago

C HICAGO.—The artless and touching custom of embroidering a tralling design of forget-me-nots on a pair of suspenders for the young spruce is the latest wrinkle in New York, but wee to the trouble-maker who attempts such a thing in Chicago, say State street authorities. The male species has a perfect right to go back to a primitive and logical method of holding up its continuations, elsewhere, if it wants to, but it just isn't being done in Chicago. Unless, says H. Young, it is done under cover.

"It's like this," said Mr. Young. "You either wear suspenders and keep your vest on, or you buy what looks like the latest thing in harness.

"It goes on under the shirt and it has an equipoise arrangement of straps that fits over your shoulders and is adjusted over your trousers at the sides. But not a man under forty will wear them and only 20 per cent of those over forty.

"As for the suspenders being in Mowers at that, it just isn't possible." It was a long time ago, say 20 years, his bay window with a belt."

that the male of the species began discarding conts on hot days, thus expos ing those unattractive items of attire called suspenders. Before that he used to swelter in the lightest of tweeds and serges with linen waistcoats. Then fellows began to leave off their waistcoars and, although the exposed snirt looked awful at first, the custom became universal. That was when the belt came in, and suspenders were put away for the summer. The later coming in of the coatless man completed the banishing of suspenders, for most men, Only here and there a man would fashion this year, and embroidered continue to wear 'em, because he had to, but at the same time would gird

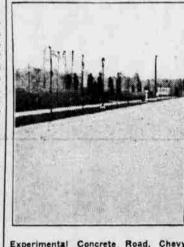

FEDERAL AID FOR HIGHWAYS

President Harding Insists That States and Communities Keep Roads in Repair.

President Harding has touched upon a subject which it is to be hoped he will develop in his communications to congress, and that is the subject of federal participation in the building of good roads. The government is committed to the policy of co-operating with the states in road construction, and there is no disposition to depart from it, but the President is emphatic in his insistence that the states and communities shall assume the responsibility of keeping their roads in repair, which is only a just and fair proposition, says Washington Post. If the government is to pay out millions of the taxpayers' money to help pay for the construction of roads, only to see within a few years these highways deteriorate into disise and decay, that money is wasted.

The value of good roads is now generally recognized and the larger and more progressive states have proved that they are good investments. Improved highways mean not only good automobile roads, they mean cheaper and better food, greater values in the land, better opportunities for the rural population. And they also pay good dividends in the huge sums collected in license fees for motor vehicles, enough in most instances to pay the cost of repairs and improve-

The policy of the government cooperating with the states in the cost of road building has been a great incentive in the construction of better highways and there is no doubt that many thousands of miles of roads have been built under this plan, which otherwise would not have been undertaken. It should and doubtless will be continued, but there should be an expressed guarantee that roads built under this co-operative plan are to be maintained and kept in good repair, This preeminently is the duty of the state and not of the general government, and it should be understood that no state will receive an appropriation from the federal government or road building except under the stipulation that it will make provision for upkeep.

This is good policy and good business and President Harding is conserving the public interest in bringing it to the attention of the country, States like Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio and Maryland, which have expended millions of their own money on a system of improved highways, willingly would give guarantees along this line, and if any state is not ready to make such an agreement it should not participate in the federal appro-

FACTORS IN PLANNING ROAD

Location, Construction and Maintenance Must Be Taken Into Serious Consideration.

The three principal divisions of actual road making are location, construction and maintenance. In planning a road it is necessary that we take into consideration all three of these steps, since proper location affects the cost of construction and may materially reduce cost of maintenance.

Some of the things to be considered in locating a road are easy grades, good drainage, exposure to sunshine, elimination of culverts and bridges by avoiding unnecessary creek crossings, directness and the number of farms to be served for a given length of Whenever possible to avoid it, road. a good location should not be rejected merely because a certain roadway has been in use for some time.

"My wife and myself have had stomach trouble," says Mr. J. A. White, residing on the Leestown Pike, R. F. D. No. 6, near Lexington, Ky., "and have both been nervous and run down."

"We could not see anything without suffering afterwards and could not sleep at night. We were regular nervous dyspeptics. We tried many remedies without permanent benefit until we heard of Tanlac. I got this medicine and began using it. We noticed immediate results. We are both greatly improved by Tanlac. We give all credit for the change of health to Tanlac. It is a remarkable medicine. "I personally feel so good that I told my hands a day or two ago that I could beat any of them shucking corn. I meant it and believe I could have bent 'em all."

Of all the maladies that afflict humanity chronic dyspepsia, such as Mr. and Mrs. White suffered from, is probably the most prevalent, and hours might be consumed in describing the suffering, mental and bodily, of the victims of chronic dyspensia.

A morbid, unreal, whimsical and melancholy condition of the mind, aside from the nervous physical suffering, is the usual state of the average dyspentic, and life seems scarcely worth living.

Tanlac, the celebrated medicine, was designed especially for overcoming this distressing condition and millions of people have taken it with the most astonishing and gratifying results. It seems to go straight to the spot, toning up and invigorating every organ of the body.
