UNM News Minute #643 – February 8, 2010

UNM WILL TEST its emergency notifications systems including the campus warning siren and text messaging systems on Tuesday, Feb. 9 at 11:02 A.M. UNM tests the emergency sirens every semester. The sirens alert the campus community to seek shelter indoors. They are used to warn about emergencies that make it unsafe to be outdoors, which could include any number of scenarios including a severe lightening storm, environmental hazard or threat from an armed individual. <http://www.unm.edu/~market/cgi-bin/archives/004731.html#more>

DOUGLAS M. BROWN, dean of the Anderson School of Management will speak on Tuesday, Feb. 9, at 12 p.m. in the Acoma Room at the Student Union Building. His topic will focus on the national economic crisis. Brown says the financial meltdown of 2008 was ignited by a blowtorch of greed, distortion of risk/reward, and absence of oversight and of checks and balances. <http://www.unm.edu/~market/cgi-bin/archives/004749.html#more>

THE EXHIBITION, “Man Ray, African Art and the Modernist Lens,” reveals photography’s complex engagement with African art by exploring it in the context of American modernism and the Harlem Renaissance, surrealism and the worlds of high fashion and popular culture. A Distinguished Speaker Series sponsored by the University Art Museum and the UNM Department of Art and Art History accompanies the exhibition. On Tuesday, Feb. 9 at 12:30 p.m., Sonia Gipson-Rankin, UNM Africana studies, “My Black is Beautiful: The Quest to Change the Representation of Black Women in the Media.” <http://www.unm.edu/~market/cgi-bin/archives/004702.html#more>
