VOLUME 1.

ALBUQUERQUE, NEW MEXICO, SATURDAY, MARCH 21, 1891.

NUMBER 12.

TELEGRAPHIC.

Washington, D. C., March 17.—The militia of the District of Columbia has been transferred to the executive mansion and a delegation of colored men, headed by Register Bruce, and ex-Congressman Cook, called on President Harrison in regard to the matter. They stated to the president that General Ordway, commander of the militia, had disbanded the only two battalions of colored troops in the District of Columbia National Guard and they charged discrimination on the part of General Ordway.

Later, General Ordway saw the president and stated to him that, as Congress had failed to make sufficient appropriations for the D. C. N. G., he had disbanded the two battalions, which were the only separate organizations in the D. C. N. G.

The question of color, he said, did not enter into the subject with him, and if there had been any white separate battalions in the militia, he would have disbanded them. He said that he had drawn no color line, and General Ordway to a United Press reporter, said that the colored people themselves have drawn it.

The president directed General Ordway to reinstate his order to disband the two battalions of the District of Columbia National Guard.

Going Back to Dixie.
St. Louis, March 17.—A special from Louisville, Texas, says: The negroes who emigrated to Oklahoma territory in Texas and Arkansas are returning in great numbers. They are very indignant at the agents who induced them to go to the territory.

O'Brien Declared a Bankrupt.
Dublin, March 17.—The court has declared William O'Brien a bankrupt on the petition of Lord Salisbury, in the latter's suit to recover the sum of £1,700, which he is in an action for libel brought against him by O'Brien, and in which the latter was nonsuited.

Ex-Minister Foster's Mission.
New York, March 17.—A Washington special referring to the recent departure of ex-Minister to Spain Foster, says: The mission is to aid the present minister to Spain in furthering reciprocity treaty with Cuba, and that is directly accredited from the state department.

The President Trip to California.
Washington, March 17.—The president states that he contemplates leaving his California trip between the 5th and 10th of April. Mrs. Harrison will accompany him. He will be absent on Washington about six weeks. He will go by way of Atlanta, and stop one night each at Atlanta, Ga., and New Orleans, and possibly make short stops at other points. From New Orleans he will go to California via the Southern Pacific railroad.

Men Who Led the Avengers.
New Orleans, March 17.—The avengers of the late Governor Nicholls were not a bloody mob. It was simply a sullen, determined body of citizens who took to their own hands what justice has ignorantly failed to do. The chief of the mob was slain on April 15, and that night evidence began to accumulate to show that his death had been deliberately planned by a secret tribunal, carried out boldly and successfully by the towns of the conspirators. The trial lasted twenty-five days, and though evidence seemed conclusive, the jury, recently charged with having been tampered with, failed to convict.

Anxious to Melt.
Kansas City, March 17.—Chief J. B. Jones, of the Cherokee Nation, was in city, and, on being asked about the action of things connected with the nation, said: "We think we have the title to the lands acquired by purchase and we believe the federal courts will sustain us when it comes to a trial. First we were not inclined to ask, but now we will melt, providing we can get a reasonable price. We have submitted to much bulldozing and harassing that we are desirous of getting rid of the title. I do not expect to see the Cherokee commission, but will see the Senate committee this summer. Congress has tried to do anything, but we think we can make terms."

Anger Story Related by a Farmer.
Kansas City, Mo., March 17.—David Piper, a farmer living with two sons in Piper, a small station sixteen miles from Kansas City, Kansas, came here on a visit from Whitesburg. He said that men chopped down the door of his house, seized himself and his eldest son, and then to a fence in their night dress and then worked the house, tore off the roof of the house, broke the windows, broke off the doors and destroyed the furniture. Having completed their work they left and his eldest son tied to the door, and notwithstanding the night was cold, taking the young boy, made a walk in the snow with bare feet to about half a mile distance, where they hid. The boy returned home and released his father and brother. Piper has identified the men as S. S. T. Cashman, E. Overman and T. Yellow, all prominent farmers of Piper and Emmet, which is near Piper, who have been arrested.

Handy says he knows of no cause for the outrage except that he has been in litigation over a farm lease with Cashman some time.

Foreign Topics.
London, March 18.—Berlin advises that the prospect of a full and complete reconciliation between the emperor and Bismarck is considered far distant, although a modus vivendi may be established. Miquel is the kaiser's man to succeed Caprivi, and neither Miquel nor the new minister of public instruction, Count Zedlitz-Trutshler, could get along with Bismarck.

The possibility that Bismarck may enter the reichstag is said to make the kaiser anxious to prevent him from being the active leader of the opposition. The kaiser's mind seems bent on warlike preparations, and it is believed that his chief motive in concluding Bismarck and Waldersee is to have the empire in harmony in the struggle that he expects must soon come about. His reception to the delegates of the parliament of Alsace-Lorraine, Saturday, is considered as pointing to a preparation for hostilities. The delegates, although courteously received, failed in their object to obtain even a promise of the relaxation of the stringent passport regulations. Herr Schlumberger headed the delegation, which was composed entirely of the German element, a fact which is looked upon as significant, as showing that the French, who in Lorraine constitute the chief part of the population, are irremediably. The delegates returned home much disappointed.

An International Question.
Washington, March 18.—The lynching of Italians in New Orleans has already been brought to the attention of the president and Secretary Blaine. The further steps, if any, that will be taken by the president, beyond the mere disapproval of mob violence, as evidenced by the tone of Secretary Blaine's dispatch to Governor Nichols, cannot be ascertained.

Among congressmen and diplomats who have given such matters serious attention it is thought that the massacre of the several subjects can become a matter for international consideration, or complications between Italy and the United States. The men, it is said, were not murdered as Italians, and the only action that can be maintained is the possible damages by the wives or relatives of the dead Italian subjects from the municipal government of New Orleans for not protecting the persons of individuals—aliens, who, at the time they met their death, were temporarily, at least, in the custody of the municipal authorities of that city.

Typhoid Fever in England.
London, March 18.—Typhoid fever is unusually prevalent in England. Various theories are advanced for the visitation, but one does not appear to be more convincing than another.

A Big Gold Find.
San Francisco, March 20.—There is no longer any doubt of the big gold find in San Bernardino county. The latest news from the scene of the discovery is well authenticated and cannot be disputed. C. L. Ryan, a mining expert, has been at Oro Grande examining the rich gold discovery made there recently. This find is in the carbonate mine owned by Judge Silent, Davis, Rowan and Robinson. Ryan has brought with him specimens of the rock, which appeared to be half gold, which was taken from the mine at a depth of 200 feet, and will go from $20,000 to $120,000 per ton. The gold-bearing vein is from two to eight inches wide. In taking out the rock a fruit can full of nuggets has been picked up. Six hundred pounds of the richest quality of ore has been sucked and expressed to Los Angeles. Two tons of the second class ore going $20,000 per ton, have been taken to the surface.

GETTING RICHER.
The vein is getting wider and richer all the time, and it is safe to say that nothing equaling it in richness was ever before found in this state. The mine is located in a country similar to Leadville, being a carbonate ore, carrying silver, gold and lead. On top the mine was not rich, and nothing unusual was found until the shaft was sunk 200 feet. Since the discovery was made ten days have elapsed and men have been carefully saving the precious metal, but as work progresses the mine grows richer. The shaft is now down 208 feet. A second shaft 100 feet distance from the other, has been sunk to a depth of over 100 feet, where a vein three feet wide is found going from $2,000 to $5,000 per ton in both gold and silver.

WORKED FOR SILVER.
The district has long been worked as a silver district, and hundreds of thousands of dollars have been taken out. The Carbonate mine, however, is the first time rock that has been worked for gold, and the success that has followed from sinking the shaft will lead others to follow the example.

All the miners now in the vicinity are prospecting the country for similar rock. Nothing like it has ever before been found bearing gold in quantities, except at Leadville, where one mine only bore similar rock. On the north and east of the mountain range gold has been discovered in placer or quartz ever since 1850, and some of the mines have paid well, but this discovery will open up a new field to prospectors, and all the old fields will be hunted over again by men seeking gold in rock similar to the mine just discovered.

TERRITORIAL NOTES.

The Rio Grande Smelter at Socorro is building a telephone line to the depot.

The San Juan County Fair association elected new officers at Aztec on Saturday last.

Dwight Foster arrived in Socorro with thirty-five tons of very rich ore from Hermosa.

There will be a meeting of the stockmen of Socorro county, in Magdalena on Thursday, April 23.

Interest in artesian well projects is manifest in many of the agricultural districts of the territory.

Building in Eddy keeps forging ahead, many new and handsome residences now being under headway.

Rev. J. A. Locke has been elected teacher of Spanish in the agricultural college at Las Cruces.

The stockmen of Roswell began the spring round up March 15, and expect to finish the task by May 1.

Dr. A. P. Enck, acting assistant surgeon at Fort Marcy, leaves Santa Fe soon to take station in Arizona.

Colfax county has a new paper. It is called the Sawdust, and is published at the new lumber camp, Catskill.

Doctor Way, one of the early American settlers of Socorro county, died at Alma, aged seventy-eight years.

Rev. G. G. Smith has returned to Santa Fe from his extended visit to Pittsburg and other points east.

The Turkey Chienega cattle company, Grant county, is in receipt of a car of fine Hereford bulls, from Missouri.

R. W. Smith, who was long a resident in Deming, and very well-known there, died suddenly at Phoenix, Arizona.

The Acme Fence company, Colfax county, is getting its affairs in condition to commence manufacturing fences on an extensive scale.

Col. J. W. Dwyer will continue as manager of the Springer ditch system under the ownership of the Maxwell grant company.

Judge Seede, of Santa Fe, expects to pay a visit to his old home in Iowa before long. He has made application for twenty days' leave.

Sheriff Lockhart offered and the Grand Army boys have accepted the use of his private residence for the encampment at Deming on the 24th.

Larkin G. Reed has been employed by Secretary Thomas to translate the laws passed by the recent legislative assembly and is already at work.

Hon. Trinidad Alarid, of Santa Fe, has a splendid young orchard and alfalfa farm down the creek, a few hundred yards below his home place.

Hon. T. D. Burns' irrigating dam twenty-five miles west of Albuquerque on the Chama broke. It will require several thousand dollars to replace it.

Work on the new irrigation ditch twenty-five miles above Rincon has commenced. It will be from sixteen to twenty feet wide on the bottom.

Judge Delgado and wife, Santa Fe, have been called upon to mourn the death of their promising son, Jose I. Delgado, aged twenty-three years.

The Springer cement works will soon start up and will do the largest business ever known, as they can sell more cement in Denver than they can manufacture.

District court for Lincoln county will be held April 6th, for Chavez county April 20th. Eddy county is attached to Chavez county for judicial purposes for the present.

The territorial board of education meets at Las Cruces on April 25 next, for the purpose of discussing the question of the adoption of text books for the public schools of New Mexico.

Evidence of ancient civilization has been discovered in the Verde valley, Arizona. The late flood has unearthed an irrigating ditch 12 feet below the present level of the valley.

The schools of this territory must be conducted everywhere on a non-sectarian basis; that provision of the law holds good in all public schools whether in incorporated cities or towns or not.

Blossburg possesses a large, well constructed, two-story, public school building erected about five years ago, at a cost of $4,500. Two teachers, a gentleman and lady, are employed, with an attendance of about 200.

Secretary Thomas expects to furnish the copy of the laws of the 23rd legislative assembly to the New Mexican, by the latter part of this month, and they will be printed and ready for distribution within a month or six weeks thereafter.

Grant Riverburg, the Santa Fe nurseryman, got home from a trip through Kansas and Missouri. In the latter state he purchased 60,000 young fruit trees which will be brought out and acclimated before being placed on the market.

According to a decision under the new law by Judge O'Brien it is not lawful for a deputy sheriff in New Mexico to wear deadly weapons except in the very act of discharging his official duty, and he is subject to the same penalty as other citizens for bearing arms at any other time.

For the next two years the following hospitals receive territorial aid: The Sisters hospital, St. Vincent's, Santa Fe, $7,500, the Grant county hospital, Silver City, $3,000 the Sisters of Mercy hospital, Silver City, $2,000, the Ladies Relief society at Las Vegas, $3,000. These sums are paid each year.

The following notaries public have been appointed and commissioned: George H. Brown, Bernadillo county, at Albuquerque; Edward J. Willis, San Juan county, at Large; Louis J. Marshall, Grant county, at Sapari; John Barabado, Bernadillo county, at Albuquerque; William F. Blanchard, Lincoln county, at White Oaks.

Land Patents.
The following homestead patents have been received by Judge A. L. Morrison, register at the Santa Fe land office, and can be had by the claimants on proper application:

No. 39 Noberto Jaramillo, San Miguel county.

1217 Ricardo Arribas, Rio Arriba county.

1218 Gerardo Arribas, Rio Arriba county.

1219 Jacob J. Shook, San Miguel county.

1220 Hannibal D. Peres, Valencia county.

1312 John E. Patterson, San Miguel county.

1313 Santa Rosa, Bernadillo county.

1314 Martin M. Winsor, Santa Fe county.

1315 Julian Sanchez, Rio Arriba county.

1316 Antonio Sans, San Miguel county.

1317 Toribio Flores, San Miguel county.

1318 Jertudes Hernandez, San Miguel county.

1319 William Sutherland, San Juan county.

1327 Serafin Chacon, Rio Arriba county.

1328 August Peters, Mora county.

1329 Francisco Lopez, Colfax county.

1330 Francisco Martin, San Miguel county.

1331 M. Francisco A. de Sandoval, Colfax county.

1332 Oscar J. Yost, Bernadillo county.

1333 Pedro Jose Escudero, Rio Arriba county.

1334 Joseph Barrett, San Juan county.

1335 Jose Dolores Martinez, Santa Fe county.

1336 Desiderio Sanchez, Valencia county.

1337 David Smith, Santa Fe county.

1338 Jose Maximino Chavez, Santa Fe county.

1339 Lorenzo Olivas, San Miguel county.

1340 Victor Fernandez, Colfax county.

Militia Promotions.
Gov. Prince, commander in chief of the territorial militia, has announced the following promotions and appointments:

First cavalry, John Ryan, of Las Cruces, to be adjutant, vice Smith, failed to qualify. First infantry, Charles F. Hunt, Albuquerque, adjutant, Ames M. Kimball, Santa Fe, regimental quartermaster, James H. Wright, Albuquerque, surgeon, Thomas P. Robinson, Gallup, assistant surgeon, Rev. Stewart C. Wright, Albuquerque, chaplain. Edward L. Garvin, captain, company A, vice Green, promoted; A. J. Voss, captain, promoted; Thomas J. McAlister, second lieutenant, company A, vice Quinn, promoted; H. J. Emerson, second lieutenant, company G, vice Keen, resigned. They will be obeyed and respected accordingly.

In addition to their other duties the regimental quartermasters of the 1st cavalry and 1st infantry will act as ordnance officers of their respective companies, and they will at once see that all arms and other property in the possession of the different companies are securely stored at the headquarters of each company.

Hereafter quarterly reports will be required from all company commanders of property on hand. Thanks for that purpose will be sent to each regimental commander.

RAILROAD NOTES.

Fort Worth, Texas, has eleven railroad outlets.

W. H. Mateen, local auditor, came in from Topeka last night.

A car load of chickens passed through the city last evening for California.

Col. E. G. Savage, who has charge of the Santa Fe coal mines at Trinidad, is at Pueblo.

C. H. Morehouse, division passenger and freight agent of the Santa Fe at El Paso, is in the city.

The new Brooks engines are doing good work on the western division of the Atlantic & Pacific.

R. H. Parrott, well known here, is called the "handsome young blonde conductor of the Needles division."

G. G. Haren, a handler of New York railroad stocks in large quantities, passed through the city last night for California.

Capt. Jack Melton has returned from El Dorado Canon, and is now engaged in taking down the old railroad bridge at Needles.

Martin J. Doyle, a former employee of the Nation shops, is now agent and solicitor for the daily News Dealer, of Wilkes-Barre, Penn.

Division Superintendent Mudge, of San Marcial, came up yesterday afternoon and attended "Carmen" at the opera house last evening.

It is rumored that dining cars will be put on the Santa Fe route after the 1st, also, that a new time card will go into effect about the same time.

What is the New Mexico Press excursion committee doing in the matter of an excursion of the editors and publishers to the City of Mexico in May?

An uptown office of the Santa Fe railroad here is of prime necessity both to the road and to citizens and merchants of Santa Fe, says the New Mexican.

W. W. Tuttle, our "Tut," live stock agent of the Santa Fe road, has just returned to Pueblo from attending the live stock convention at Dallas, Tex.

L. C. Ferrall, chief clerk of the road department, Atlantic & Pacific, located at Williams, is viewing the sights. Lem is well known here and is always welcome.

John Kelly, formerly roadmaster on the Atlantic & Pacific at Needles, but more recently of Salt Lake City, Utah, is looking over the city with a view of locating.

While nearly all the railroad mountains in Colorado have been blocked by snow the past few weeks, the Nation pass has not been blocked an hour this winter.

Charles Gardner, who has been conductor on the Lake Valley branch of the railroad for the last two years, has removed to San Marcial. His place has been taken by J. M. Rowe.

Dan Gould and Ed McCarty, two of the party who robbed the passenger train near Trinidad, Col., a few months ago, were sentenced to nine years each at hard labor in the Canon City penitentiary.

The Citizens learn that the ball at Window last evening, under the supervision of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, was a grand affair in every respect, and everything passed off pleasantly and orderly.

J. H. Hale, a freight hulkman on Conductor Beachboard's train, fell off the cars when near Trinidad, and was picked up by the following train in a rather serious condition, having sustained a compound fracture of the leg and fracture of the skull.

It is said that 1,000 trains daily pass Clapham Junction in London, where the Southwestern and Brighton roads meet, and yet an accident is of the very rare occurrence. This speaks well for a most perfect management and in fact such result seems marvelous in view of the fearful fogs which prevail there in winter.

Chas. F. Bailey, the excellent ticket agent at the depot, thinks some of our business men impose on his good nature. The post office box at the depot is not for their special benefit, although he is called upon to assort almost a hundred letters for every night train. About twenty-five letters from one firm alone were in the box last night.

It is rumored that the Rio Grande Western, in order to secure a shorter line to the Pacific coast is negotiating for the purchase of the Oregon Pacific road, which is projected from Yaquina Bay, on the Oregon coast to Boise City, Idaho, and will build westward from Ogden, Utah, to connect with it, which would give them a first class transcontinental route.

The San Juan Prospector says: "The Denver and Rio Grande people are having a bitter experience with Cumbres hill this winter, and it would seem that this experience would settle the question as to building the road up the Rio Grande valley and through a country where snow does not drift forty feet deep and defy the efforts of an army of men and a rotary snow plow. The route to San Juan via the Rio Grande valley will yet be utilized."

At 7 o'clock this morning freight train No. 35, met with an accident a few miles this side of Wallace, and four flat cars, loaded with coal, flew the track. A wrecking train and crew left this city an hour after the accident was known here, and at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon three passenger trains held at this station, were ordered to proceed east as the track was cleared of the wreck. Conductor Tom Griffin, who brought down the Emma Juch special, left with section No. 1, followed by Conductor Oler, in charge of No. 2, and Conductor Stronnel with No. 3.

Harry Brown, in charge of the buildings and bridges department of the New Mexico division of the Atchafson, has resigned his place and has been succeeded by M. R. Williams, his former foreman. Mr. Brown has been connected with the Atchafson for eleven years.

New Incorporations.
Articles of incorporation have been filed as follows:

The Florence Silver company, designed by H. M. Dougherty, of Socorro county, as its agent.

The Salafage Herb company of Eddy, N. M. Incorporators: E. Oscar Hart, Charles F. Benson, Harold F. Brown, of Eddy; Charles L. Lulliam, Colorado Springs, Col. Object, production, purchase and sale of medicinal herbs. Capital stock, $100,000 in 1,000 shares.

Bosque Redondo Irrigation company of San Miguel county—Incorporators: Chas. W. Ford, Pablo Recubren, Manuel Abreast, Joseph Colman and others. Object, construction of reservoirs and ditches. Capital stock, $50,000 in 5,000 shares.

Crescent Coal company of Gallup, Bernadillo county. Incorporators: Charles W. Kennedy, John A. Lee and Wiley M. Weaver, of Bernadillo county, and Eliza J. Carson, of Los Angeles, Cal. Object, purchase, lease and sinking of coal mines, buy and sell coal and merchandise. Capital stock, $100,000 in 1,000 shares.

Saint Helene Mining company of Grant county. Incorporators: H. H. Whitehill, Henry Woods, John M. Wright, Gustave Wormser, of Grant county, and Will H. Lefford, of Cook county, Ill. Capital stock, $150,000, in shares of $1 each.

The Gentlemen's Driving association of Albuquerque—Incorporators: J. A. Johnson, Wiley M. Weaver, W. L. Trimble, J. T. Barracough, C. F. Hunt, F. L. Jones, C. M. Gosh, J. E. Saint, of Albuquerque. Capital stock, $5,000, divided into 5,000 shares.

The Silver City Northern Railroad company—Incorporators: Lawrence Perkins, Robert P. Perkins, of New York; Thomas J. Condon, Henry F. Grierison, of Las Vegas, and O. G. Pusey, of Silver City. Principal office, Silver City. Capital stock $100,000 in 1,000 shares. Object to construct, maintain and operate a railroad from Whitewater station on the A. T. & S. F. railroad to Georgetown in Grant county. Nineteen thousand dollars have been subscribed and the length of the road is to be nineteen miles.

The Roswell Park, Fair and Improvement company of Roswell, N. M. Incorporators: J. W. Poe, W. S. Prager, Joe C. Lee, Nathan Jaffa, Frank Lesnet, C. A. Sparks, G. A. Richardson and others. Capital stock, $50,000 in 10,000 shares. Object, establish parks, fair grounds, etc., and buy and sell real estate at Roswell.

Gallup Cleanings.
From the files.
St. Patrick's day was quietly observed in the Carbon City.

Pat. Kennedy is back from his California visit. He reports having a very good time while away.

Hon. W. F. Kuchenbecker, wife and family, returned Saturday morning's train from their extended visit to Mr. and Mrs. Worth Kees in Los Angeles.

An Italian cut the water mains on Hill avenue this week. He had a trial before Judge Maloney and was fined $50 and costs and the cost of repairing the main.

Miss Anna Wells, the charming and talented young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Wells of this city, has returned from her prolonged visit to Albuquerque.

Gallup Lodge No. 13, K. of P., will celebrate their anniversary on Saturday evening next with a grand ball and supper. The music will be furnished by the Fort Wingate band.

"Gunny-Sack" at Needles.
We stop the ponderous press, and unlock the forms, to announce that Colonel Gunny Sack Riley of Arizona is in town, the guest of his large-hearted and eloquent friend, the Honorable Patrio Lundy of Hazlett. This duet of Irish aristocracy, Irish wit, and Irish thirst propose to make some home as long as there's a bean in the pot.

The above item from the Needles Eye is proof that Col. Gunny Sack Riley, who it is claimed was recently arrested as a vag at Gallup and sent to the county jail in old town for sixty days, is at Needles and the Riley in jail is some other Riley. The colonel has too many friends in this city to be allowed to remain in jail. They would not allow such a distinguished Irish patriot as Gunny-Sack to sleep in a cell of any jail.

Will Attend.
The following Grand Army members of this post will attend the encampment at Deming, March 24:

A. M. Whitcomb, department commander; A. B. Stanton, department quartermaster; David Denham, post commander; D. M. Lyons, senior vice post commander; D. L. Sammis, department adjutant general; W. S. Burke, post adjutant; Geo. E. S. Brown, A. Harsh and probably others. Some will leave here Sunday night, the remainder Monday night. The fare for the round trip is only one and one-third.

Sometimes when people can't get whisky they drink something worse. A Boston druggist says that enormous quantities of Jamaica ginger are shipped from the Hub into Maine, to be used by people who seek to avoid the prohibition laws.

An instance in enormous rise in value in Butte City is commented on. A month or two ago a certain mining property was recorded as transferred for $100. Only a few weeks thereafter the same property was bonded for $7,500, 000.

NEWS AND NOTES.

Troubles that are nursed grow very rapidly.

The New York Presbytery voted against establishing the office of deaconess in the Presbyterian church.

The ballot reform bill, a modification of the Australian law, has passed both houses of the California legislature.

There has been a dance down in Kentucky and six men were shot. Social events are attended with their difficulties.

Bees never forget. If you offend one this year it will remember the offense and sting you for it just as hard a year hence.

Even confederate money has its uses. Baltimore sharpers pass it upon unsuspecting immigrants in exchange for foreign coin.

England has a balloon society. This country is past the balloon age. Nothing short of a flying ship interests it in an atmospheric sense.

George Eliot says: "Just and self-reproving thoughts do not come to us too thickly, even in the purest air, and with the best lessons of heaven and earth."

The Mafia at New Orleans sowed the wind and reaped the whirlwind. There isn't escape from such a harvest. It is a rule of retribution that is old as the moral law.

Denver, Col., is without a mayor. The supreme court denied a rehearing in the case of Wolfe Londoner, who was declared illegally elected after holding office nearly a year.

An advance in the price of copper is predicted. Stocks in the hands of manufacturers are about exhausted, and the demand for Lake and Arizona copper is already brisk.

Dr. Gunsaulus says: "Money has to be weighed in the conscience, not in the bank. No bank cashier can count money. Money is worth only what it will bring in manhood."

Balmaceda of Chile appears to be in a very tight place. The revolted navy has been joined by a majority of the army and has possession of the greater part of the territory of the republic.

Weekly Citizen

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., MAR. 21, 1891.

AN EMPIRE.

Those who will take the trouble to look over the figures as published by the land department of the United States, will discover that the portion of New Mexico lying south of the Gila mountains is greater in area than the whole of New England. Albuquerque claims to be, and in a few years undoubtedly will be, the trade center of the whole of New Mexico, as well as of one half of Arizona. This claim is disputed by some of the towns north of the Gila mountains, on the ground that natural conditions make them better distributing points than Albuquerque for the surrounding country. While we do not concede this claim, and do not believe that it is well founded, for the sake of argument we may admit it, and upon looking over the district, which all parties concede is tributary to Albuquerque, and in regard to which there is no question, we find as we have said above, that the area is greater than that of the whole of New England. This being the case, what room is there for anybody to doubt the fact that Albuquerque is destined to become a city of more than ordinary importance? Take any one of the prominent New England cities, and give it the entire trade of that district—there is anyone who would doubt that it would become in a very few years the metropolis of the northeast? All the towns north of the Gila mountains concede that Albuquerque is, and must always remain, the distributing point for all the country south of that range, and with the wonderful resources which that country is developing, who can set a limit to the size and importance of its central city? The best and most extensive forests of the territory, the largest and best quarries of building stone, the best and most productive vineyards, by far the richest agricultural districts, the best districts for fruit culture and vegetable production, not only in New Mexico but in all the southwest, are to be found in that portion of the territory of which it is conceded Albuquerque is the center and the distributing point. What reason is there, then, why there should not be built up at this point the largest and best city of the southwest? There is none. Every commercial argument goes to show that the environment of Albuquerque is of such a character, that the natural wealth and resources of the surrounding country are of such importance, that the town which is now recognized as the trade center of this important district cannot fail to become, in a few years, the most important city of the country, and the largest and most important point in the southwest.

THE FIRST AND ONLY.

Solomon says there is nothing new under the sun, but he would be compelled to admit that an incorporated city—a full fledged American city, with all the modern improvements, will be something new in this territory. In all her more than three hundred years experience New Mexico has never yet contained an incorporated city, and Albuquerque is the first town in the territory that has attained sufficient population to entitle it to that honor. The governor has given official notice, under the great seal impressed upon a gilt sticker with a red string through it, that according to the late census of the United States the town of Albuquerque now has the requisite number of inhabitants to entitle it to become a city, under the laws of the territory. The mayor of the town has issued his proclamation accordingly, a full corps of city officers will be chosen at the coming April election, and Albuquerque will thereafter be entitled to the proud distinction of being the only city in New Mexico—till some of her smaller sisters get big enough to also put on long dresses. And if you think we don't have a lively appreciation of the situation—feel our municipal oats, as it were you are not very well acquainted with us. No big boy in boots and trousers ever regarded the little fellows sitting in petticoats with more mingled pity and contempt than we feel when we look down at Santa Fe and Las Vegas—mere villages, you know.

While the difference between a town government and a city government may be very largely a matter of "style," there is also a business side to the matter, and it signifies a great deal more than a mere change in the form of local government. The fact that Albuquerque has acquired sufficient population to entitle it to the right to incorporate as a first class city—and is the only place in New Mexico that has ever reached that point, will give people abroad a better idea of the growth and development of this part of the territory than could be expressed in whole columns of printed words. And it must be remembered that the development of the surrounding country fully keeps up with the growth of the town, while every year more strongly emphasizes the fact that Albuquerque is the trade center of the territory, and that any railway from the east that hopes to tap the business of New Mexico must come to Albuquerque.

IN THE FRONT RANKS.

Ever since its acquisition from Mexico by the United States the district embraced within the limits of the territory of New Mexico has been regarded by all the rest of the country as the very last place—the tail end of the procession—and beyond which there was no possibility of going any further into the illiterate and uncultivated. But the laws enacted by the last session of the territorial legislature put an entirely different phase upon this matter, and as soon as they have time to bear fruit will put New Mexico in the very front rank of American communities in all matters of development, education and progress. The most important of the laws referred to is that in relation to public schools, and which lays the foundation for one of the best and most liberal public school systems to be found in any part of the United States, and as soon as we have time to get the new machinery in operation, New Mexico, instead of being regarded as the most benighted spot on the continent, will be known as the commonwealth having the best and most liberal public school system in the west.

INDIAN DEPRIVATION CLAIMS.

The adjustment of Indian deprivation claims, which in the aggregate amount to some $22,000,000, is turned over to the court of claims, which is given authority to inquire into and finally adjudicate all claims of the following classes:

First. The claims for property taken or destroyed by the Indians belonging to any tribe or nation in amity with the United States, without just cause or provocation on the part of the owner or agent, and not returned or paid for.

Second. Jurisdiction is also extended to all cases which have been examined and allowed by the interior department, and to such cases as were authorized to be examined under the act of congress making appropriations for the Indian department, and for fulfilling treaty stipulations with various Indian tribes for the year ending June 30, 1880.

Third. All just claims and counter claims to any claim of either of the preceding classes which may come before the court for adjudication.

Fourth. All questions of legislation as to time and manner of presenting claims are waived, and no claim shall be excluded from the jurisdiction of the court by failure to present it to the secretary of the interior, or by any other act, unless the claimant, or his agent, or his attorney, or his assignor, authorized by congress to inquire into such claims. All claims existing at the time of the passage of the act shall be presented to the court within three years, or be thereafter forever barred.

These in short are the main provisions for the settlement of these claims, in which every state and territory in the west is more or less interested.

A bill has been introduced in the Arizona legislature to move the capital of that territory from Phoenix to Tucson. But the Tucson Star opposes the proposition on the ground that if Tucson should get the capital she would have to give up the university, and the latter, the Star thinks, is worth a good deal more to the place than the former would be. That opinion is shared by a good many people in Albuquerque.

This report of the Massachusetts labor bureau on abandoned farms shows that there are 125,000 acres of property of that description in the state. The value represented is $1,075,000. This does not include land upon which the timber has been allowed to grow, neither does it take into account the tracts that are but partially or inefficiently cultivated. It is land that has been wholly abandoned by owners and left idle.

The Boston Globe desires to remind the people of the United States that twenty-seven foreigners own an area of land in this country larger than the whole of Ireland; that our government has given 175,000,000 acres of land to railroad corporations; that a land syndicate in Texas got 3,000,000 acres of land for building the state capital in Austin; and that, as a consequence, our national domain is not as "boundless" as it was.

The new land law provides that "no person shall be entitled to make entry of desert land except he be a resident citizen of the state or territory in which the land sought to be entered is located." While it totally abolishes both the pre-emption and timber culture entries, it also prohibits a commutation of a homestead entry until the party has resided thereon fourteen months.

The Denver News says the enforcement of the Edmunds law "in New Mexico will do much towards breaking up a practice that has prevailed in that territory to more or less extent since it became a part of the United States—that of men and women living together openly without the sanction of the law." The law is being vigorously enforced.

By an item in the Irving (Kan.) Lead, we learn that 200 head of the poor steers shipped to that vicinity last spring from Arizona, to be fed, have just been sent to market, and that they averaged twelve hundred pounds, and brought four cents a pound. That shows what our cattle will become when they have a chance.

There was, taking the country as a whole, a falling off in back clearings in February, 1891, as compared with the same month in 1890, but as this was caused by the decrease in transactions in New York and Boston, it may be referred to the drop in speculation rather than to any shrinkage in general trade.

The war department has made an unsuccessful effort to enlist 2000 Indians at Pine Ridge agency for the infantry. The plan was to station the red recruits in California, but they objected to being separated from their friends.

The new law governing county printing is nearly the same as those in force in most of the states. While much lower than the rates heretofore allowed in New Mexico, the county printer can make a fair profit, if he is economical and does most of the work himself.

It 1890 there were 1,225,731 tons of sugar consumed in this country, or about fifty-four and one half pounds per head. The reduction of tariff will be a saving of between $50,000,000 and $70,000,000 a year, or a saving of a little more than $1 to every man, woman and child.

The big steamship lines are preparing for a largely increased run of ocean travel during the next few years. The Citizens is crowded by the New Mexican regarding the exemptions from taxation under the new school law. Section 7, chapter 31 of the law provides among other things that "all public libraries, book stores, the grounds, the buildings, books, papers and apparatus of all literary, scientific, benevolent, agricultural and religious institutions, when the property of said institutions and societies shall be devoted exclusively to the appropriate objects of said institutions and not leased or rented or otherwise used with a view to pecuniary profit, shall be exempt from taxation."

"Gentlemen?" Parts of the alliance process, his gratitude to the F. M. R. A. candidate for the senate in Illinois was debated by that great and good farmer "General" Paines. The "gentlemen" are standing together. The southern head of the alliance may be depended upon to assist the democrats of the north to get there every time. That was what the alliance was organized for in the south.

SEPT. CHAVES is going to work in a systematic manner, and will prove that the right man to be in charge of the public school system of the territory. The New Mexican says he has thus far used over 1,000 postage stamps in the distribution of school laws. This is one amount that the tax payers of New Mexico will not object to.

PRINTERS are now to become the subject of an organized showing establishment in the shape of a "type trust." The thirty odd type foundries have been combined with a capital of $600,000. W. H. H. Llewellyn, of Dona Ana county; Miguel Salazar, of San Miguel county; Wm. T. Thornton, of Santa Fe county; Estanislao V. Chaves, of Socorro county.

NEW MEXICO'S FUTURE.

The Denver News says: None of the several projects for developing the great resources of New Mexico will compare in their beneficial results to that territory with the recent introduction of the American common school system, which is destined to release the native population from the clamps of a brutalizing ignorance, which is a legacy of the unfortunate policy of mental degradation by which the masses of the people in Central and South America have been kept in a condition that can hardly be termed semi-civilization.

The government of the United States neglected a grave duty in not coupling with the annexation which followed the Mexican war ample provision for the education of the people then received into the union, that they might become acquainted with our language and understand the nature of our civil institutions, and thus be able to appreciate the responsibilities as well as the blessings of American citizenship. The population then acquired were the victims by inheritance of the southern European theory that mental stagnation is the normal condition of all save the select and privileged classes, because intellectual stir promotes passivity to the will of the ruling element, as relating both to civil and religious affairs. That theory, with the dreadful doom it applies to humanity, is adverse to the conception of human rights, which finds expression in our free government. It is imperative that in this republic we have individual intelligence and that no barriers be set up to the progress of mental development. This is essential to a condition of safe citizenship. Hence the error of conferring rights and responsibilities upon a people of another race and language, weighted down with the blight of a paralyzing social and religious policy, without at the same time furnishing the means to qualify them for discharging the accompanying duties in a loyal and intelligent manner.

The constitutional convention, which was held last year at Santa Fe, with the view of applying for New Mexico's admission to the union of states, led to a wide ventilation of the backward condition of that territory in regard to education. The public expressions elicited from all parts of the country made the fact clear that provision for qualifying the native population for the responsibility of statehood must precede admission.

The public school law recently adopted and put in force in New Mexico is a practical and praiseworthy response to that public judgment. The law appears to be all that could be desired by the true friend of American state education, and was evidently framed in the light of the best experience elsewhere. In view of expected obstacles, its provisions are made mandatory in all details and in every county it is enforced by suitable penalties, while the support of the system is amply assured. Sectarian instruction is very properly prohibited, while the law requires the teaching of orthography, reading, writing, arithmetic, geography, grammar, the English language and the history of the United States.

The effect of one generation upon the native population of New Mexico under the influence of good common schools will be a marvel. The examples have been numerous enough to demonstrate that the policy of mental stultification needs to be discarded, that intellectual freedom may prevail, in order to transform that people into bright, progressive and enterprising citizens.

SPORTING NOTES.

Base ball is all the go in the Pecos valley, and clubs are playing at Roswell and Eddy. Ed. Chas. late of this city, while playing at Roswell the other day, sprained his right ankle and fractured the outside of the bone. He will be confined to his room for several weeks.

The glove fight between the English middle weight, Ted Pritchard, and Jack Burke, for the Holloway stakes of $6,000, in London, March 12, ended disastrously for Burke, he being knocked out in three rounds. The winner contemplates coming to the United States and meeting some of our middle weights.

From present outlook there will be several interesting foot races this spring and summer. Our own sprinter, Rita Granger, is at home, and here is a pointer. He is one second faster than he was last year. He is as hard as a brick and clearly shows that he has kept himself in excellent condition. The Citizens is Rita's best friend in a 100 yard foot race.

Kilrain whipped Godfrey in San Francisco last night in the forty fourth round. It was a furious contest from beginning to end, until finally Kilrain landed a knock-out blow that settled his dusky competitor. Both men were trained superbly and entered the ring confident of winning. E. W. Parker at the Palace, received a dispatch at midnight last night informing him of the result of the Kilrain-Godfrey fight.

The second annual meeting of the Gentlemen's Driving association will be held on the fair grounds of this city, April 30th and May 1st and 2d. Arrangements are being rapidly perfected for a very successful meeting, and Secretary Gench has assurance that several fine strings of trotters and runners from Colorado will be on hand to compete for the liberal purses. The local horses are looking splendidly and some of them are expected to do themselves proud on the race track this spring.

One of the biggest races on record in the southwest will occur in this city on the 7th of April. Our cartoon artist, who was working on a splendid contest drawing, showing the positions of the democratic candidates for mayor, went off on a lonesome spree all by himself night before last and it is now said that he is riding a brake beam through the country south of the city. He has left the drawing so no mortal man, save himself, can finish it. So much can be learned: The colonel is represented entering the city hall, wearing a beaver and Mike is about leaving the chair with large drops of salty tears trickling down his cheeks. Childers, Lockhart and other aspirants are in the background consoling themselves, and Ben Meyers, John Jacoby, Martin Tierney and other wire pullers are enjoying a hearty laugh at the expense of the latter, who are afraid to say anything in opposition to the colonel. This is picture No. 1, the democratic side, while No. 2, had the artist remained, would have represented Mike harping the reins of the city government over to the republican nominee, and later on Childers and others would be congratulating him on his victory over the colonel.

Albuquerque will not be behind in these hot summer. The weather is rapidly assuming the appearance of spring and summer, and clubs will be organized earlier than usual. There will be two clubs organized here this summer—first and second nines, and an effort will be made by the promoter to get Las Vegas, Santa Fe, Cerrillos, Socorro, Gallup and other towns to follow Albuquerque in the matter. By so doing a series of games will be played at each town. Let the matter be agitated at once. Players here will be notified in due time of a meeting some day next week.

THEY USED LUM.

How Lum Hall kept the cold out of the cabin.

During the recent floods Lum Hall, the popular Albuquerque broker, was caught at Prescott with a number of other traveling men and had to stay there nearly a week. Some of the travelers got tired of staying there and made arrangements to get out. Teams were hired, trunks were packed, provisions secured and the gang started for the Atlantic and Pacific road, about eighty miles away. After traveling all day they had only made twenty five miles and discovered a building concealed to stay all night. After getting something to eat they proceeded to make arrangements for sleeping. The house had been built some time and the joints were rather large, consequently the wind, which was sharp blew through the traveling men's whiskers. They went to work to chuck up the holes and got the place reasonably tight except one big crack, and for it they had no chuck. Paul Wieland, a St. Louis pilgrim, picked Lum up and carefully tucked him into the crack, and the house was as tight as a drum. Lum protested and said his back was getting cold. The other pilgrims told him it was a case of the greatest good to the greatest number and his cold back kept the rest of them warm. When taken out in the morning he was a little stiff, and metaphorically speaking, pretty hot. If he had not been a licensed preacher he probably would have kicked the crowd, as it is he has sworn to get even with them for making a weather strip of him, and will probably do so if it takes a year.

The Sheriff carries the keys.

You'd scarce expect one of my age in merchandise to engage, and hope to get a paying trade without the local paper's aid. And yet I did that very thing. I opened up a store last spring; this month the sheriff took my stock and sold it from the auction block. Don't view me with a scornful eye, but simply say as I pass by, "there goes a fool who seems to think he has no use for printer's ink." There is a truth as broad as earth, and business men should know its worth. It simply this: The public buys its goods from those who advertise.

Prompt and Efficient.

The U. S. land office in Santa Fe is conducted as regularly and steadily as a clock and with the utmost efficiency. A pointer in this: Register A. L. Morrison received on the 29th instant thirty eight land patents from the general land office. "He had the same day took out his notices to the persons interested that their patents had been received and giving them instruction how to obtain them. Register A. L. Morrison is a first class official.—New Mexican.

School of Mines.

The trustees of the School of Mines met in the office of the secretary yesterday and opened bids for the construction of the laboratory. The bids, seven in number, were opened, but as they did not conform to the specifications and were irregular, the board decided to reject all, as the same and other minor details had not been settled, and to advertise for new bids to be received April 2nd. Socorro Chief.

The Poll Tax.

The last legislation passed the following law: That it shall be illegal for any person to vote or attempt to vote at any election who has not paid his poll tax for the current year, and the said payment must be made in case of a general election at least six days previous to such election day.

Those who wish to vote at the coming city election should pay their poll tax.

White Caps at San Pedro.

Pretended White Caps, a part of that lawless and damnable element that has been making a holy show of itself in different parts of New Mexico for the past year, came to the surface at San Pedro Tuesday night. The circus was a small one for a feat, about the only result being the posting of notices to wood-haulers.—Cerrillos Rustler.

A Bonanza.

H. B. Ferguson, one of the owners of the Old Abs and popular attorney at law of Albuquerque, is a visitor in White Oaks this week. To say that he is enthusiastic about the Old Abs does not express it. All that has been reported about this rich mine is fully substantiated to the satisfaction of the owners.—Interpreter.

OFFICE NO. 112 WEST GOLD AVENUE

[From the Daily, March 18.]

The Fairview Land association held a meeting last evening, and elected Perfecto Arango president.

Chas. E. Jones, of the Pueblo, Colo. stock yards, is in the city, conferring with the local stockmen.

Mr. Peter Scheraga, father of Pete and Tom, celebrated his 71st birthday yesterday. The old gentleman is in vigorous health.

After transacting a large amount of business yesterday the board of county commissioners adjourned till the regular meeting, April 9th.

Judge E. M. Sanford, of Prescott, B. W. Gossell, of Denver and W. S. Wallace, of San Francisco, were the late visitors at the Commercial club.

The San Juan Index says it is reported that all the ponies on the reservation are dying and the Navajos are pawing their spurs for them.

Albert Eisenmann, of the wool firm of Eisenmann Bros. and his buyer, Louis Baer, are at home from St. Louis, and are ready for the opening of the wool season.

Hon. Amado Chavez, territorial superintendent of schools, came down from Santa Fe yesterday. He states that the schools visited by him were found in fine condition.

Joseph DeMars will leave tomorrow for Washington, where he goes to look after two valuable patents. These patents are for Mr. DeMars's own inventions and are valuable.

John B. Robinson, of Thayer & Robinson, the New York architects of the School of Mines at Socorro, is at the San Felipe, arriving from the Gen city last night. Mr. Robinson is on his way to New York.

The people are urged to call at the new jewelry store of Geo. W. Hickox & Co., on Railroad avenue. The firm have opened the finest line of watches, gems and jewelry ever brought to the city, and have come to stay.

Miss Mabel Blunt, daughter of George S. Blunt, and one of the teachers at the St. Catherine Indian school, Santa Fe, spent Saturday and Sunday here, returning to her duties on the delayed train yesterday morning.

A. J. Richards, the San Marcial librarian for the Santa Fe company, is in the city returning home from Ocho Mission, Kansas, where he left his wife, where she will visit relatives and friends. Mr. Richards will continue to San Marcial this evening.

Mrs. Felix Chavez, mother of Mrs. Paul Ybarra, of this city, and Edmundo R. Baca, of Belen, came up from the south last night and are at the San Felipe. They will attend the Emma Juch entertainment at Grant's opera house this evening.

Eugenio Romero, ex-assessor of San Miguel county, is in the city. Having read much about the celebrated actress, Emma Juch, and as Albuquerque is the only city in the territory at which she will stop, Mr. Romero is on hand to take a taste of her entertainment.

Yesterday THE CITIZEN published a notice of the death of Alphonsus Minor Griswold, known as the "Fat Contributor." H. R. Whiting, of this city, was commercial editor of the old Detroit (Mich.) Advertiser when Griswold was city editor, and succeeded the latter in that position.

H. K. Puckney and Capt. Borchert, who are pleasantly quartered at Mrs. Werner's, old town, are busily engaged these days in preparing abstract books. They find time occasionally to entertain a few friends, and on Sunday afternoon made four young men feel royally at home.

Ignacio Baca, who conducts a general merchandise store at Belen, in partnership with Frank Barlage, but whose home is in this city, came up the road last night. He states that the farmers of the Rio Grande valley in and around Belen are preparing the ground for early spring plowing.

T. J. Shinnick has developed into a great lover of horses. He has just received from a Carrollton, Ky. breeder, a handsome trotter, kind and gentle, and known by the name of "Betty B." The mare is a thoroughbred and Mr. Shinnick will probably put her in training for the fall races.

Frank Strong, the 11-year old son of Councilman Strong, who left home the other day to make his own living without the assistance of his parents, is now a pennant little fellow at Newton, Kansas, and is willing to return. Mr. Strong has sent railroad fare and Frank will soon be again with his father and mother.

Constable J. Edward Priest is back from Salt Lake City, Utah, where he went to bring back W. S. Crawford, the absconding book-keeper of H. M. Hosick & Co., wool merchants of this city. Mr. Crawford was released from custody through habeas corpus proceedings a few hours before the arrival of Mr. Priest.

A. M. Codington and son, Ed. Codington, of the party who have been placing down the Big Colorado river, in California, returned home Sunday night. Mr. Codington states that they embarked in a canoe at the Cantilever bridge and went down the river 280 miles. The trip was an enjoyable one and it is his opinion that they struck a rich placer mine. Rev. Bush and others of the party are expected home tomorrow.

H. H. Ferguson, who is one of the lucky owners of the "Old Abe" mine, White Oaks, returned home from the mine last night. He states that there is a misunderstanding in regard to the mine that they had received an offer from a rich eastern syndicate to purchase the "Old Abe" at $300,000, and that instead of selling they will develop the mine thoroughly. The mine is now down 100 feet and is showing a fine body of ore on development.

The old Brown shanty, located in the southwestern portion of the city, was destroyed by fire last evening about 8:20 o'clock. On the alarm being given, both fire companies responded but water was not turned on the burning frame. No one was living in it, and it burned rapidly to the ground. It is stated that two tramp were observed leaving the shanty a few minutes before the alarm of fire was sounded, and there is no doubt that they set the old frame on fire.

Mrs. M. Van Damm, of Chicago, representing the national order of the W. C. T. U., and who has been traveling throughout the west and southwest, is visiting H. L. Smith's temperance literature, was in the city Saturday and Sunday. In conversation with the lady it was learned that she was acquainted with so much dissipation among the young men, and in her account of her trip she will make mention of the fact. While here the lady called on the local managers of the order and was pleased with the report they had to make. From here she went to that wicked town, known as East Las Vegas.

The River.

Sunday Mayor Mandel, Councilmen Lee and Strong, Civil Engineers Pearce and Gunn, and C. J. Stinson, superintendent of the water works, visited the river above and below Alameda last evening when the usual spring rise occurs from the melting snows in the mountains and canons north. They discovered the place where it was necessary to dig the river in 1881 and which had doubt prevented a serious overflow at that time, but since then a new channel has been constructed between the railroad track and the river, and in order for the water to get over the banks of the river an unprecedented rise in the river would have to result. It is the opinion of the civil engineers that some action should be taken to remedy the work points, and the several above Alameda, left to the snow melt, and by so doing the water can be kept in the old channel in the river. The citizens understand that the county commissioners will and the city council in digging the river, if, after further examination, it is found necessary. At present there is very little water in the river and from all appearances there seems to be no occasion for alarm, still it is wise in the two boards to be on their guard and act promptly in case of emergencies.

After Offenders.

The United States district court, now in session, will have under consideration at least two indictments which have already been found against parties at Gallup for selling whisky to the Navajo Indians. A large delegation of Gallup people have been called to the city as witnesses before the United States grand jury, whose testimony will probably result in several other indictments. Cases of theft and other outrages have been traced to drunken Navajos, and the citizens have been informed that on frequent occasions women have been insulted at Gallup by these drunken Indians. This is a direct result of the infamous traffic. It is feared that the whisky sales have not been made by saloon keepers, but by coal miners who supply spurs for the purposes of debauchery and for profit. The decent people of Gallup are thoroughly aroused on this subject and are determined to bring all offenders to speedy justice.

A New Association.

The Columbia Building and Loan association of Denver, represented by B. W. Gossell, state agent for Colorado and New Mexico, is organizing a branch in Albuquerque, which leading men in this city are taking interest in. The Columbia, capitalized at $500,000, of which $4,000,000 is already sold, is the leading national building association in Colorado and the west. It has a membership of nearly 5,000 and has a branch in nearly every Colorado town of any size, as well as in the leading cities of the neighboring states and territories. The non-borrowing towns furnish funds for the borrowing communities—this is the leading feature of the Columbia—so that Albuquerque may, if she choose, borrow from three to five times the amount paid in there. See Mr. Gossell at the San Felipe, or at the office of F. H. Kent before he finishes his work here.

James Edward McCree, the manager and one of the owners of the wealthy Angus Z. Z. Cattle company of Lincoln county, after a most enjoyable trip to the city (it was his first visit here) returned home last night. He is well pleased with Albuquerque and his citizens, and it is intimated that he intends soon to become a member of the Commercial club. Mr. McCree is a pleasant gentleman and Albuquerque welcomes him at all times.

Here it is, and fills the bill much better than anything we could say: "It gives me the greatest pleasure to write you in regard to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. During the past winter I have saved more of it than any other kind, and have yet to find any one but what was benefited by taking it. I have never had any medicine in my store that gave such universal satisfaction."—J. M. Hovey, Druggist, Gueda Springs, Kansas. Fifty-cent bottles for sale by Thos. H. Burgess & Son, Druggists.

Judge Masteline at Home.

Judge W. C. Masteline, the well known attorney for the Atlantic & Pacific railroad company, who has been at

[From the Daily, March 18.]
P. N. Spear, a civil engineer of Boston, was in the city yesterday, but left last night for Denver.

J. Becker, a relative of John Becker, the merchant and miller of Belen, was in the city last night.

Henry M. Devoy, a mine owner and operator of California, is here and will visit some of the mines adjacent to the city.

Capt. Edward Friend, well known in newspaper circles in this territory, has purchased a job office at San Diego, California.

A. M. Bergers and wife, Sol Larna and wife, and Miss Romero, of Los Angeles, are in the city and attended the opera last evening.

Stenographers O'Connell and Gortner have branched out as amateur photographers, and have taken several splendid views of certain objects dear to them selves.

Mrs. A. L. Abbott, of Philadelphia, would like to know if C. L. Rutledge, a stranger, is in the city. Any information would be kindly accepted by Marshall Farr.

Miss Bertha Kaeter, of Shenandoah, La., a handsome cousin of Dr. Kaeter, the popular surgeon of the Atlantic & Pacific hospital, is here to spend several months in the territory.

Joseph Higgins, a prominent and wealthy citizen of Alameda, is in the city, and it is believed that he will be in the city for some time. He is a well known figure in the community.

Anna Abbott, the Georgia woman, giving performances in Santa Fe. The guards are requested to be in the people of Albuquerque to know the reason why her dates in this city were postponed.

The Magdalena Mine and Laron says Miss Susan Nixon is visiting Albuquerque. Miss Nixon is by her country and amiable but has rendered herself a favorite for large circles of friends.

L. Richards, William Barry, Theo. Watson and John Sanderson were up before Justice Mandel this morning and pleaded guilty to vagrancy. They were sent to the chain gang for ten days each.

Death has lately entered the home of Jose Manuel Sanchez of Payson. The other day the gentleman was called upon to bury his wife and today undertaker Montfort sent out a coffin for his mother.

Dr. Francisco Truini, a prominent Spanish physician and surgeon of Madrid, Spain, is in the city and will probably reside here. He thinks Albuquerque is the best city he has visited in the southwest.

S. W. Cox, one of the oldest and most competent mechanics at the Atlantic & Pacific shops, will take a thirty day's leave of absence, and while his family will have to move to visit Kansas City relatives and friends.

Governor Prince has offered a reward of $100 for the conviction of the murderer of Asher Jones, a citizen of Colfax county, who was murdered on the 14th day of November, 1899, on the Vermejo creek in Colfax county.

Chas. Meyer, one of the owners of the Mexican mine at Kingman, Arizona, is at the Arroyo. Mr. Meyer states that the mines of his neighborhood are looking well and especially the Mexican mine in which he is interested.

M. C. Cook and W. N. Caggett, wealthy gentlemen from Denver, who have been quietly looking over the city and valley the past few days with a view of purchasing real estate, took today's train for Los Corrales. They will return to the city in a fortnight.

J. B. Foster, representing Benham, Trumbull & Co., wholesale liquor dealers of Chicago, is in the city, this being his first trip. The firm's old commercial traveler for this section, R. F. Armstrong, is now in business at Engle on the Santa Fe road, south of the city.

Harry G. Wilson, a handsome Topeka, Kan. gentleman, representing the American Book company, is in the city, and in company with Prof. Hodgson, of the Academy, is making the acquaintance of our citizens to day. Mr. Wilson is here to confer with Superintendent Chavez, of the territorial schools, regarding the introduction of the school books of his company, but the superintendent returned to Santa Fe last evening.

The citizens understand that the trunk containing the outside and under-clothing of Mrs. C. Pohlenst, the crazy lady in the county jail, has been removed from her recent quarters and that the lady has not had a change of clothing since being confined over a week ago. This is a matter that should be investigated and the lady should not be allowed to rot in it. It is known that she possessed abundant clothing and they should be forthcoming.

A regular meeting of the Grand Army of the Republic, G. K. Warren post, David Donham commander, was held last night, and among other matters initiated a recruit, G. W. Fisher. The members were also notified by Messrs. Bullock, Baker & Co., renters of the building, that they would have to give up their hall on the 1st of April, as they had made arrangements to use the same themselves. It will be decided this week where the future meetings of the Grand Army will be held.

George W. T. Thornton, of Santa Fe, and Superintendent McChesney, of the Rio Grande Smelting company, Socorro, were passengers north to day. The judge was returning from the recent meeting of the stockholders of the Stevenson Bennett Mining company at Las Cruces, and Mr. McChesney was on his way to Kansas City to attend a called meeting of the directors of the Rio Grande Smelting company. Both gentlemen predict prosperous times for the mine and prospect in New Mexico this year.

Judge Masteline at Home.

Phoenix, Arizona, attending the supreme court of that territory and the territorial legislature, is at home and last evening took a graphic and interesting account of his experience during the recent flood days of Arizona. The judge states that it was fifteen days at least before any news was sent out or received from the outside world, and that the floods laid to waste and ruin in many of the valleys of Arizona thousands upon thousands of dollars worth of valuable property. Fine residences and barns were washed away, especially around and in Yuma, and at one time the high waters were within a square of the largest hotel in Phoenix. The floods came from the Salt and Gila rivers, the latter stream rising in the mountains of southern New Mexico, and the warm rains, causing the snow to melt, overflowed the banks and the result was destruction to everything within the waters reach. People who had worked a life time to establish themselves rich in this world's goods witnessed their earthly possessions swept out of existence in a twinkling, while in some places the rush of waters were immense and sudden that it was with difficulty people saved themselves from drowning. Some, however, met with watery deaths, and terrible scenes put the loss of life in the flood days before thirty years ago. The victims of the flood, who suffered irreparable losses, and it was taken for the count, to the extent of $100,000, were the people in the San Juan and Gila rivers.

The judge will remain in the city a few days, as his private business prevents him from engaging the domestic mode of a happy home longer.

Jealous Towns.

There are some serious big game in Las Vegas and Santa Fe. A passenger on the Santa Fe was met at the depot this morning, and he asked "How was the flood?" On being informed that there was no flood in this part of New Mexico, he seemed to be utterly surprised. He had stopped on his way south in Las Vegas and it was common talk at the hotel where he registered that the new town of Albuquerque was under a flood of water, that a portion of the Santa Fe track was washed away, and that a hundred men were employed at $1.50 per day keeping the town from being utterly washed out of existence. When in Santa Fe he was accosted and asked "Where was he going?" He remarked "To Albuquerque." He was then told that the old town of Albuquerque was a scene of desolation and ruin, that there was not a house standing, and that all the able-bodied men, who have stood the rains for years, have finally succumbed to the disease.

The reports of a flood, occasioned by an overflow in the Rio Grande, are all created and magnified by the local newspapers in the towns north of the metropolis, but they will not be able to prevent the tide of immigration flowing this way. Albuquerque is here to stay, and as the few weak places in the Rio Grande near Alameda, fourteen miles above the city, are to be remedied, there is no fear of an overflow should the rains come and the snow melt.

Comments About the Dance.

"It was the grandest and most elaborate dance the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen ever gave at Winslow." E. J. Koehler.

"It simply surpassed any dance ever given on the Atlantic & Pacific. The boys did themselves proud." W. E. Koehler.

"I have attended a great many rail road balls, but the Winslow dance excelled them all. I was a committee man, and of course was present." J. J. Furlong.

"There were more pretty ladies and gallant gentlemen at the Winslow ball of the Brotherhood than I ever saw congregated before at any of the previous dances."—Holt Kruse.

"I really cannot give you an idea of the ball, suffice to say it was a grand affair."—Mickey Brannen.

"I have the honor of being a fair dancer but I eclipsed all previous record at Winslow St. Patrick's night. The dance was great."—Frank Moore.

"Everybody was happy and of course everybody was pleased with their evening's fun." Jesse Miller.

"There was only one thing missing at the dance and that was my best girl could not attend."—J. A. Kirk.

"I was detained in Albuquerque and could not attend the dance, but know the boys must have had a grand time."—Matt Cullen.

"Albuquerque was liberally represented at the dance, and there was a number of the best citizens of the metropolis who attended." M. H. Godfrey.

The New Assessor's Law.

The following important changes in the law governing assessors were made by the late legislature:

"That the said assessor shall only be paid on the amount of tax collected, which shall be actually collected under their assessments and shall receive 5 per cent. of all the licenses collected, unless otherwise hereafter provided by law, which said provision shall also be applicable to the county funds and no assessor shall receive any compensation on account of any amount assessed or collected from the school fund.

Provided further, that it shall be the duty of each assessor to make out, perfect and complete all assessment books, lists and abstracts of assessment required by law to be made for any purpose whatever free of any additional charge therefor and no further or other compensation shall be paid to any one for making out, perfecting or completing any tax or assessment books, rolls, lists, schedules or other abstracts required by law to be made in any county either for the use of the board of county commissioners or for the auditor of the territory or for the collector of such taxes."

Lorion Miller has taken half of the cigar store of Fluke & Walker, and is fitting up an elegant real estate office.

Blanchard Meat and Supply company sent a whole train of fat beef steers to southern California markets yesterday.

Photographer Cobb has just completed some views of the various departments of the government Indian school.

Tom Dye, the boot and shoe manufacturer and repairer on Second street, has received a German polypestry sewing machine for his work.

The river commissioners had a conference with the city council last night, and it was decided that P. A. Simpson, civil engineer, in company with Councilman Lee, visit the river at Alameda tomorrow.

Yesterday Joseph Henry, a coal miner, was up before Justice Maloney for indecent exposure of person, and was fined $10 and costs. He was brought in to the county jail last night by Deputy Sheriff Selvy.

Frank J. Wilson, the excellent book-keeper for the Blanchard Meat and Supply company, contemplates going to Kingman, Arizona, the first of April, where he will mine for a few months. Tim Crittizes wishes him luck.

Reed Brown, the Socorro county cattle man, arrived yesterday with a car load of fat beef steers for Blanchard Meat and Supply company from the celebrated Lytle & Halden ranch in the Magdalena range of Socorro county.

A trunk belonging to the Kiraly company was attached last night for money due the "Supper" at the entertainment. The advance agent remained over and this morning the matter was amicably adjusted before Justice Madden.

Frank Gibbs, a practical embalmer of Detroit, Mich. lately of Tacoma, Wash., arrived in the city last night from the west and has accepted a position at O. W. Strong's undertaking establishment. His wife and baby accompany him to the city.

E. F. Kittow, who is putting the Rutson warming and ventilating system in the territorial university, which is being constructed on the mesa at the head of Railroad avenue, left last night for Chicago, on business connected with the company he represents.

Will Holloway, representing the Edison Electric Light company of Denver here finishing the wiring and putting in the dynamos for the incandescent light company. Mrs. Holloway will join her husband in a few days, and when she arrives she will become a guest of Mrs. Ben Davis.

Rev. J. D. Bush returned last night from his Arizona and California trip, and expresses himself fully satisfied with the prospects now before him. He thinks there is a great stake ahead for all the party who went on this trip, but declines to make public their purposes for the immediate future.

Ignacio Silva called at Tim Crittizes office this morning and stated that the trunk containing the wearing apparel of Mrs. C. Pohlenst, the insane woman in the county jail, is in his possession, and if her friends desire it they can have property by liquidating a small debt she owes for room rent.

Frank Strong, the 11-year old runaway son of Councilman Strong, returned home last night. When the east train arrived, a large number of boys were at the depot to greet the return of Frank, who is now the recognized hero of the kids. It is safe to assert that Frank will not be apt to make another break to tussle with the trials of this life for a few years to come.

From the fun they had last night it is presumed that a number of the girl performers of the Kiraly company will remember many of our society young gentlemen, who made it a special point to enjoy their company after the evening's entertainment. Oysters fried, stewed and otherwise came in order till train time, and the bills were footed by our gallant young gentlemen.

Major W. H. H. Llewellyn, the live stock agent for the Santa Fe Railroad company for the New Mexico division, is in the city, arriving from Las Cruces last night. The mayor, like many other wide awake citizens of the territory, has finally concluded that his business would be greatly increased by an office in the metropolis, and he will soon establish headquarters here.

Col. J. Franco Chavez, recently appointed warden of the territorial penitentiary, who will assume control of that institution on the 4th of April, came up from his home, Valencia county, last night, and made a pleasant call at Tim Crittizes office this morning. The colonel dropped in to read the account of the lynching and killing of the murderers of Chief of Police Hennessy by the outraged citizens of New Orleans, after it was clearly proven that a bribed jury had acquitted the prisoners.

An Insane Woman.

O. B. Little, the popular republican sheriff of Apache county, Arizona, registered last night at the Arroyo from St. Johns, having in charge a Mexican woman, named Julianita Aleytia, who was recently adjudged insane. The sheriff with his charge will leave this evening for Phoenix, where the insane asylum for that territory is located. About sixteen years ago the man whom she was living with (he was then the recorder of Apache county) one night left her penniless and forsaken. She allowed his departure to prey upon her mind to such an extent that about six years ago she was declared by the community a harmless imbecile. Up to within a few months ago she offered no one harm, did nothing out of the way until she picked up a little child and threw it in the river. The child was rescued before drowning. It was then observed that she was becoming dangerous, and when taken in charge and her case investigated, it was proven that she had on several occasions threatened to take the lives of some of her neighbors whom she considered were her enemies. When put on the stand she told the commission that the reason she threw the child in the river was that she did not like children because she had none of her own. She can talk and understand considerable English, and to a question this morning whether she had parents living and where at, if any, she replied that her mother and other relatives are now at Mora, N. M., but her commitment states that she is a native of Puerria, this territory.

City Council.

The council met last evening; all members present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and placed on file.

The finance committee reported favorably on the following bills:

E. A. Morse, inspector of sewers, $21.00
J. H. Madden, " " " 11.00

Recorder Lockhart was requested to draw warrants for the amounts.

The matter of getting a franchise to the Electric Street railway, of which W. B. Childers is attorney, was brought up and fully discussed. The attorney stated that his company stood ready to comply with their agreement to place a guarantee check for $1,000 to commence work within three months and to complete road inside of a year, and that they would grade a forty foot instead of a sixty foot street, up Silver avenue, just beyond the city limits. The council accepted all propositions as advanced by Mr. Childers, and the franchise was granted to that company.

Other minor matters were rapidly discussed, and some of the councilmen were later on observed taking in the spectacular performance at the opera house.

Quiet Marriage.

Last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DeMars, their handsome daughter, Miss Edith, was united in the bonds of holy wedlock to John S. Trimble, brother of W. L. and Noble Trimble, livermen, and nephew of Hon. L. S. Trimble, of old town. The nuptial knot was impressively tied by Rev. Wright in the presence of only a few intimate friends of the bride. It was such a private, unexpected event that even the groom's brothers were not informed that John intended to soon to become a bachelor, and while they were at the opera house enjoying a most delightful entertainment the most important event in John's future life was being enacted. The bride is truly one of Albuquerque's handsome beauties, a lady possessing a lovely disposition, and has a wide circle of friends who will wish her a happy wedded life. The groom is a member of the Trimble family of Paducah and McCracken county, Kentucky—a family known for generous, hospitable homes, and the citizens congratulate him upon securing such a valuable prize as Miss DeMars for a wife.

On the early passenger train this morning for the east Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DeMars were passengers, and during their absence Mr. and Mrs. Trimble, the newly wedded couple, will have charge of the household.

Congratulations.

This morning Sheriff Jose L. Perea, of this county, was hastily summoned before the territorial grand jury, and the following "indictment" read to our excellent sheriff:

To Jose L. Perea, sheriff of Bernalillo county:

To day, the 19th day of March, Day of your patron saint! To these magic expressions, sublime symbols of so tender and pure affection, the hearts of friends are moved, the hearts of friends are gladdened, so are also those of your constituents.

This anniversary, of all most happy, when we remember your name and the day you lit the world splendid and bright, and the poets in their universal ideal and enchantment, have seen the most pure and enlightened sun; the Aurora scatter pearls to the orient; the flowers were gladdened with double fragrance their perfume, and the birds sing flying over the mansion where the person sleeps who we propose to give our tokens, wishing him with so happy an omen. Be it not may, we proceed from the creation of imagination and genius.

"To day, day of your patron saint," is a pleasant day, a day which we can feel in our chests, and be moved at its pure pleasures and indefinable sweetness. To day is indeed the day of your fortunate name, and no matter how much we salute you, we hardly comply with our wishes for your happiness.

Your friends: Alejandro Sandoval, Policarpo Arjona, Juan Chavez y Arjona, Manuel A. Pena, Mariano Gonzalez, Elina Martinez, Richard Lewis, Ambrosio Pena, Dolores Chavez, Apolinario Gutierrez, Manuel Castillo, Frank E. Sturgess, A. Romero, Robin Garcia, T. D. Post, Teofilo Romero, Valentine C. de Baca.

In from Gallup.

Col. W. T. Henderson, the portly, good natured and popular editor and publisher of the Gallup Elk, came in from the thriving coal mining town last night, and as his paper has a good circulation in a section where Albuquerque merchants desire to secure trade he will make the rounds among them before returning home. The colonel states that the Elk is prospering, from the fact that Gallup citizens appreciate a live weekly and by this time know the importance of lending substantial aid in support of a newspaper. All the coal mines are running full day force, and it is his belief that under the new arrangement entered into by the various coal operators that the miners will be benefited. The mines will be operated as heretofore, but the agreement says that all coal shipped from Gallup must be known as coming from the Crescent Coal company. Gallup is building up rapidly and the merchants are enjoying a season of good times. William Schubert, the carpenter at Fort Defiance, accompanied Mr. Henderson to the city.

Uncle Billy Poole, the American veteran of the mountains, came in this morning from his Chitlin home. He reports Uncle Billy Carpenter, the sage of Tijeras and the general merchant of the canon, in good health and ready to treat spring tourists royally.

The following item has been going the rounds of the press, and as our druggists T. H. Burgess & Son handle the goods it may interest our readers: "Having had occasion to use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, it gives me pleasure to state that I found it to be the best medicine for a cough I ever used; in fact, several other cough medicines.—N. E. BURNETT, Atalasca, Iowa."
