1. THE BOARD OF REGENTS approved a resolution Monday supporting a new charter high school to be located near UNM, emphasizing math, science and technology. The school with the proposed name, "High Tech High Albuquerque," will offer an accelerated curriculum and prepare students for successful college careers. UNM and the school will work together to develop a curriculum consistent with national and international standards. <http://www.unm.edu/~market/cgi-bin/archives/000536.html#more>

2. ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR Michelle Arthur, Anderson Schools of Management, recently had an article recognized as one of the top 20 research papers for the annual Rosabeth Moss Kanter Award for Excellence in Work-Family Research. Arthur's paper, "Share Price Reactions to Work-Family Initiatives: An Institutional Perspective," was selected for the top 20 by a committee of more than 40 scholars from eight countries and more than 2,000 articles published in 52 leading English-language journals in North America and Europe. <http://www.unm.edu/~market/cgi-bin/archives/000537.html#more>

3. FIVE UNM STUDENTS will be going to the 2005 International Union of Physiological Sciences Congress thanks to the American Physiological Society. Jessica Bryant, Nate Roybal, Jason Griego, Samantha Torres and Carment Troncoso, will be heading to San Diego, Calif., to the gathering that will attract more than 16,000 scientists from dozens of scientific disciplines. <http://hscapp.unm.edu/calendar/output/index.cfm?fuseaction=main.release&EntryID=3796>

4. EXPLORE THE ROLE of gender in today's academic world at the UNM Feminist Research Institute's conference on "Challenges and Opportunities for Women in Higher Education." The conference will be held on Thursday, March 31 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Mirage-Thunderbird room in the Student Union Building. <http://www.unm.edu/~market/cgi-bin/archives/000535.html#more>

5. NEW REGULATIONS concerning the security of electronic protected health information go into effect April 21, 2005. These regulations are another part of the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act or HIPAA. The first part of the act, known as the HIPAA Privacy Rule, went into effect in 2003. UNM employees who were required to take the HIPAA Privacy training must also take a HIPAA Security course. <http://www.unm.edu/~market/cgi-bin/archives/000533.html#more>
