The Twice-a-Week Republic.

Every Monday and Thursday a news paper as good as a magazine—and better for it contains the latest telegraph as well as interesting stories—is sent to the subscriber of the "Twice-a-Week" Republic, which is only $1 a year.

The man who reads the "Twice-a-Week" Republic knows all about affairs political, domestic and foreign events, is posted about the markets and commercial matters generally.

The woman who reads the "Twice-a-Week" Republic gathers a bit of valuable information about household affairs and late fashions and finds recreation in the bright stories that come under both the headings of facts and fiction. The is gossip about new books and a dozen other topics of especial interest to the wide awake man and woman.

The President an Emperor.

The Spooner amendment to the army appropriation bill vests in the president power and authority which can be exercised only by an emperor. By voting down the amendments offered, the republicans placed themselves on record as in favor of the exercise of arbitrary and imperial power by the chief executive. No restrictions are placed upon him and no time limit is fixed to his rule. He is supreme; he can appoint whomsoever he pleases; he can vest legislative, judicial and executive power all in one person, and that person is under no obligations to observe the constitution in dealing with Filipino subjects. And this is done in the name of liberty! This is the policy of a party which sprang into existence to apply the Declaration of Independence to men entirely black! History presents no instance of a transformation so sudden and complete.

The amendment reads: All military, civil and judicial powers necessary to govern the Philippines, acquired from Spain by the treaties concluded at Paris on the 10th day of December, 1898, and at Washington on the 7th day of November, 1900, shall until otherwise provided by congress, be vested in such manner as the president of the United States shall direct for the establishment of civil government and for maintaining and protecting the inhabitants of said islands in the free enjoyment of their liberty, property and religion.

Provided, that all franchises granted under the authority hereof shall contain a reservation of the right to alter, amend or repeal the same.

Until a permanent government shall have been established in said islands full reports shall be made to congress on or before the first day of each regular session of all legislative acts and proceedings of the temporary government instituted under provisions hereof and full reports of the acts and doings of said government and as to the condition of the archipelago and of its people shall be made to the president, including all information which may be useful to the congress in providing a more permanent government. Provided, that no sale or lease or other disposition of the public lands or the timber thereon, or the mining rights therein shall be made, and provided further that no franchise shall be granted which is not approved by the president of the United States and is not, in his judgment, clearly necessary for the immediate government of the islands and indispensable for the interest of the people thereof, and which cannot, without great public mischief, be postponed until the establishment of permanent civil government.

The provisions in regard to franchises are of little value, because the president must rely upon the representations of appointees in the Philippines and their statements will be expedite. Only the men who want concession will be heard—the Filipinos will have no voice in the matter.

What advantage is there in having the franchises terminate one year after a civil government is established, if that government is to be colonial in character and administered by foreigners?

If that provision has any influence at all it will simply give a powerful group of concessionaires pecuniary interest in postponing the establishment of civil government. It may stimulate campaign contributions and lead to the establishment of a bureau in the United States for the dissemination of literature prejudicial to the Filipinos. If the republican party is powerless to protect the people of the United States from monopoly, how can it be expected to protect the helpless inhabitants of remote islands?

In the campaign of 1900 the republicans strenuously denied that they had any imperialistic intentions and their denials deceived many, but here is proof that cannot be disputed. The president is an emperor, and will remain so until the republican party reverses its policy or until the people retire that party from power.—W. J. Bryan.

Charley Roe, the general agent of the Singer Manufacturing Company, has one besetting sin, fishing. He would rather sit on the banks of the Pecos and catch bass than to sell sewing machines, consequently he engaged with the Singer Company, so that he can fish while the Singer machines sell themselves.

Big Ranch Deal.

El Paso, Tex., March 7.—Another big cattle deal was made in El Paso today. J. H. Dougherty of Abilene purchased the ranch and 700 head of cattle that belonged to the late R. L. Hall, who was killed last year. The purchase price was $125,000. The ranch is situated in the northeastern portion of the county.

Battle Royal.

There is a fair prospect of a conflict between two "big ones," at no distant day, with the United States government mixed up in it.

Russia pays an export bounty of one cent a pound on all sugar shipped from that country to the United States. This gives the Russian sugar an advantage in our markets over the home product, and to counteract this advantage and protect our own manufactures, the administration has levied, under the provisions of the Dingley law, a special duty of one cent a pound on all sugar imported to this country from Russia. Now comes the Russian government, and in defence of the interests of the Russian people, retaliates by making a fifty per cent increase in the tariff upon all manufactures of iron and steel imported by that country from the United States. This pinches the big steel trust, and pinches it severely, because Russia is one of our best steel markets. Now we have the giant steel trust arrayed against the giant sugar trust, with Uncle Sam standing between them and being squeezed from both sides. Will he remove the extra duty on sugar to open the Russian market to the steel people, or will he continue to defend the American market for the protection of the sugar people and allow the steel people to be barred out of Russia? It's an ugly dilemma.—Journal-Democrat.

The Official Paper of Eddy County.

Published every Saturday morning at Carlsbad, New Mexico, and entered as second class mail matter.

SATURDAY, MARCH 16, 1901.

CARRIE NATION is turning a newspaper called the "Smasher's Mail." Her business manager is a negro.

SENATOR CARTER talked the river and harbor bill to death and received his reward from the president in less than a week. He will have a place on the world's fair commission for St. Louis.

Every democratic county in the territory is now paying as it goes, something that cannot be said of those counties which are subject to the corrupting influences emanating from the republican bosses at Santa Fe. The taxpayers of this county may well be thankful that they are not in the power of such men as have made the taxes as high as 14 per cent, as they are in Santa Fe county.

The appropriation bill, as introduced in the council, is as economical as it is wise. There are no increased appropriations unless absolutely necessary to satisfy the needs of the territory and to keep it in line with other progressive commonwealths. Compared with neighboring states, it costs considerably less to govern New Mexico, and to keep its institutions on a respectable basis than it does in Colorado, Utah or even Wyoming. The consideration of the bill should not be left to the last day, but it should be taken up immediately, carefully considered and passed before the hour to adjourn has arrived. New Mexican.

The writer of the above is the holder of a shiner office, the salary of which will be increased from $300 to $1200 per year by the new appropriation bill which he here so freely advocates. Oh, Maxy, Maxy, what a "Friend!"

In spite of the fact that taxes are high in the Pecos Valley this section offers many advantages to homeseekers. More small fortunes and some large ones have been accumulated from insignificant capital in Eddy county, and in less time than in the majority of the counties of the United States. When the political howler has had his say the industrious ranchman or business man is found to be prospering just the same. Verily this is the country of opportunities. High taxation is a result of conditions which time alone will overcome. Eddy county is young only about twelve years old. We may as well be patient and bear in mind the fact that it will be another twelve years before we can hope to recover from disastrous effects of early maladministration of affairs. In the meantime, little is to be gained by continual complaining to the outside world. The fault lies with our people themselves, and the sooner they realize this and arouse themselves to action the sooner we will have lower rates of taxation. "The way to resume is to resume."

The Santa Fe New Mexican is urging the passage of the bill for the relief of Santa Fe county, providing for a compromise of all debts. The New Mexican should be as honest as the legislators who advocated the funding bill, and give the cause for Santa Fe county being in greater debt than other counties. That unfortunate county is suffering from the misrule of a well organized band of republican political jobbers. Under the provisions of the Bateman law, honest and wise administration of county affairs can only result in an improved financial condition. Any individual who will live within his income will thrive; and the county government may be likened to an individual in business. The Bateman law prevents debt for incidental expenses, but the officials of Santa Fe county have been violating it. Now it is necessary to take some steps for relief, but at the same time the people of the Santa Fe county should know that the fault is with themselves in putting in power such officials. Santa Fe county must have immediate relief, but it should also have some good wholesome doses of honest government.

A PROMINENT official of the Irrigation & Improvement Company recently remarked to the writer that high taxes were keeping the people out of this county. The truth of the statement is admitted; but the wisdom of it is seriously questioned. Taking the utterance as an official one, it is like the pot calling the kettle black. For several years the company held its taxes from the treasury, and at a time when the money was worse needed than now. Facts are facts. The same may be said of some individuals who complain about high taxes. Nine out of ten of them have rendered their property for one-third of its value. An investigation of the tax rolls will show that the men who pay the most taxes are those who have the least to say about them. We take the position that the men who are doing this county the most harm are those who have the most to say about high taxes. In the light of the fact that the Irrigation and Improvement Company invite homeseekers here, it is singularly mystifying that the columns of its official organ should contain so many anonymous articles about taxes. So far as we know, but one citizen of this county has ever put himself on record, in print, as a kicker against the tax rate. A reasonable view of the situation is that no amount of grumbling will aid matters. Honesty and economy in administration of county affairs is the only remedy, and this every citizen should encourage. The CURRENT proposes to ever endorse the officials in honest effort to economize, and to expostulate with them when it thinks they are wrong, but it does not propose to everlasting howl about something that is a natural result of former extravagant methods. Gentlemen, we are all in the same boat. Let everybody pull together.

SEVERAL of the papers of southeastern New Mexico seem to be disposed to make a mountain out of a mole hill concerning the setting of our term of court for April, representing that the cattle and sheep men were very much disturbed over the matter. We have not heard of any great amount of complaint from anyone except these newspapers, but for the benefit of those who see fit to censure Mr. Bateman or Mr. Hinkle, we are prepared to state that the first Monday in April was not their choice for the time of holding court in Eddy county. The matter came up early in the present session of the legislature in the form of a bill drafted by the judges of the district courts, who were not pleased with the old dates. Their bill passed the house, but as it gave the judges the power to set the time of court, the council rejected it on the ground that it was placing too much power in the hands of these federal appointees. Mr. Bateman then introduced in the house a bill fixing the term of court for Eddy county on the first Monday in May, but before it reached a final vote it was amended to read the first Monday in April, and passed both houses in that form.

EVEN the Dallas News, which has contributed its share toward fastening the grip of the republican administration upon the United States, has become disgusted with the partisan prejudice exhibited by the majority in congress on the last day of session. When the paper goes so far as to complain of the disregard of the legislators of the north and east have for the interests of the great southwest, it is time to look at the matter seriously, for the Dallas News has always been a republican paper, notwithstanding its advocacy of one democratic principle—free trade. It has always been on the side of the money power against the masses. It has heretofore scoffed at the idea that the south and southwest should remain a unit politically in order to protect itself against sectional legislation. It is therefore interesting in this connection to read the following paragraph from an article in its columns:

"There has never been in this or any other country a political organization more heartily devoted to 'pork barrel' politics than is the republican party now in charge of the public affairs of the nation. This being so, the charge on the part of some republican beneficiary, that the rivers and harbors bill was a result of questionable agreement among those who hoped to receive shares, is preposterous and insulting. In most instances the appropriations carried by the measure are sorely needed and would have been wisely expended. This is certainly true of the sums set apart to improve commercial opportunities in Texas. No one who understands the situation will deny that this is true. It is a fact which is so clearly apparent that every informed person is ready to agree that in the failure to pass this bill a wrong has been done the people of the southwest. They had a right to expect a share, even taking it that the change allowed to is true. They certainly have a right to some show, some chance to get and to grow, when other portions of the nation are growing richer and richer, year after year, on donations of public funds, or because of special advantages which have been passed around to them regularly for a quarter of a century and more."

FANATICS AT SANTA FE.

The recent action of our legislature in voting an appropriation of $1000 to adorn legislative halls with a bust of Maximilian Luna may be worthy of approval. We are not now sufficiently acquainted with the war record of the man in question to pass upon his fitness to stand out before coming generations as one whose example should be emulated. But we do know that the reason given for the appropriation, as well as the manner in which it was made, brands the majority of the present legislature as a disgusting lot of political fanatics.

Several weeks ago a number of personal and political friends of Luna inaugurated a movement for a memorial fund by private subscription. To say the least this was commendable as an example of loyalty. And certainly no reasonable person could censure such a movement so long as the fund was one made up of private subscriptions.

The Roswell Record saw fit to wax exceedingly wrathful over the matter; one of its issues contained an elaborate article making serious charges against the war record of Luna, saying that he could not be drawn into a battle, that he always skulked in a fight, and that instead of being killed in action he was drowned while swimming a river. As this is all current war talk, we do not care to refute or affirm it. But supposing the Record's account to be true, it is difficult to see wherein there was occasion for that paper to have another periodical fit, and attack the entire Luna family as it did. The Record gained nothing, the article caused the very thing it sought to prevent, and the taxpayers of the territory are just $1,000 poorer.

The Record's article created no little stir through the entire territory among the newspaper fraternity, but when it was read in the legislative session, it seems to act like a dose of poison. The fury of the republicans knew no limit. The fact that a newspaper had attacked the character and reputation of one of their political comrades who is now no more created a perfect mental frenzy. Something must be done to revenge the insult. Some terrible retribution must be dealt out to the editor of that vile sheet that had dared to insinuate the Luna memorial was an attempt to make republican prestige in the territory. A scathing rebuke must be given to the author of such an undignified criticism upon republican practices. At one fell swoop they would annihilate the two-by-four quill pusher from Chaves county. Therefore in almost less time than it requires to tell it a bill was passed appropriating $1,000 of the people's money to make a bust of Maximilian Luna. What is the result? The Record still lives and thrives, and everybody is laughing at the legislature for making a great burrah about nothing. The entire matter composes a very laughable farce. But there is a very serious side to it. In fact, there is much food for sober thought to those who give the legislature any attention. If our legislative organ is so combustible; if the majority of our representatives are of such an inflammable nature that they are wont to be thrown into a state of mind such as was witnessed recently, then is it not time to throw up our hands and admit that we are not capable of self government? If those who are at Santa Fe to represent our people lose their mental equilibrium so easily is it any wonder that we look forward to their assembling with dread and pray for the end to come as speedily as possible?

Are we to believe that if the Roswell Record were to attack Governor Otero's administration violently the legislature would increase his salary to $10,000 and build him a palace for an executive mansion as a rebuke to the Record? If that paper were to attack the federal judges would the august body at Santa Fe double their annual compensation and give them manifold power as a rebuke to the personality of the paper. History teaches that military despotism is the most tyrannical form of government; but history did not produce the legislature of New Mexico now in session. It belongs to the present; and when the present becomes history, and not until then, will the rising generations of New Mexicans learn what capricious and despotic government is.

Dear Sir:—I have this day acknowledged through your agent at Carlsbad, John L. Emerson, receipt of draft for ($431.50) four hundred and thirty-one and 50-100 dollars, full of my claim for damages under policy No. 8,358,872. The fire occurred Jan. 19, 1901.

Yours truly,

Congressman Brick, of Indiana, has a constituent who thinks he should have a pension because he sent a substitute to the civil war. "I am old and feeble," he wrote to Mr. Brick, "and I don't suppose I shall live a great while, but I need money while I do. I think the government owes me something. I paid a man $300 to take my place in the war when I was drafted, and he was killed in action. Now, I think I am entitled to a pension or should get the $300 back. Will you please see that I do?"

"Of these lectures the first in order was the one by Harr Wagner, entitled 'Uncle Sam Jr.' This was a serio-comic lecture, showing the growth of the typical American youth through all the adventures of boyhood, boyhood and adolescence, including life's early combats. It followed him with humorous delight through the variegated experiences of later life, until it came with him to the estate of manhood and fulfilled American citizenship. The lecture, in a more serious manner, portrayed the duties, the possibilities, the high idea of Uncle Sam."—Alturas Press.

House bill No. 139, by Mr. Bateman, relating to the duties of county treasurers in the giving of bonds, seeking to make such officials absolutely liable for all public moneys coming into his hands, came up on an adverse report presented by Mr. Sanchez of Mora from the committee on finance. Mr. Bateman moved the rejection of the committee's report, and in an explanatory speech cited section 746, Compiled Laws, the present law on the subject, which he said would have to be modified if the law making powers sought to make county treasurers responsible, absolutely, upon their official bonds for the safety of the moneys coming to their hands. The bill also explicitly sets out that treasurers, if they deposit funds to draw interest in a bank, shall deposit same in the bank offering to pay the highest rate of interest for the use of such funds. Mr. Barnes supported Mr. Bateman's ideas, citing an instance where $2,000 in interest that should go into the public treasury annually found its way into the treasurer's private wallet. He thought the passage of the bill would add from $1,000 to $5,000 annually to the revenues of the various counties. Mr. Chapman opposed that feature of the measure "forcing" treasurers to make deposits in the bank paying the highest interest. Mr. Slaughter said there was nothing in the bill "forcing" the treasurers to make such deposits, but if they were made the treasurers shall select the one paying the highest rate of interest and require a proper indemnifying bond for such funds. Mr. Valdez thought even the present law was too severe upon the county treasurers, and considered an injustice that treasurers should be made responsible upon their bonds for moneys deposited by them in the bank. Mr. Bateman's motion to reject the finance committee's report was lost, 6 to 14, and the bill was tabled indefinitely on motion of Mr. Gutierrez.—New Mexican.

CLEANING KID GLOVES.

How to Restore Delicate Shades to Pristine Freshness.

A successful wash for soiled kid gloves of the more delicate shades, as well as white, will be given by many housewives as one of the greatest blessings of the day. Many of the cleaners will say that light gray or pale lavender kids cannot be cleaned successfully, but they are wrong. Go to any drug store and ask for a cleaning fluid made as follows: Deodorized benzine, two pints; sulphuric ether, one dram; chloroform, one dram; alcohol, two drams.

Open the windows wide and have no fire and no light in the room while doing the cleaning. Select a large earthen bowl and pour in enough of the fluid to well cover the pair of gloves. Wash the gloves just as you would a cloth or a piece of lace. Rub the fingers together until the seams are entirely clean. Use one glove to rub the other with. When they seem to be clean, squeeze out and dry them with a towel sufficiently to put on the hand. If a spot shows anywhere, wet it again with the fluid and rub the kid gently with the towel.

If you have plenty of the washing fluid and are desirous of having the gloves look just like new, rinse them before trying them on in a clean wash. When assured that they are clean, pull them off carefully by loosening the fingers at the tips. Hang them up to dry in the open air. In half an hour all disagreeable odor will have disappeared. One quart of this cleansing fluid will not cost over 40 cents, and it ought to clean six pairs of gloves.

How to Make Coddled Apples.

Peel the apples, leaving the stems on; place them in a deep saucepan, stick one clove in each apple, slice a lemon and put a slice on top of each apple, then pour in enough cold water to nearly cover the apples and add sugar enough to sweeten them slightly. Cover the pan closely, set it on a slow fire and let the apples cook till quite soft, but not mushy. When properly done, carefully lift them from the kettle, put them in a glass dish and pour the juice over them. When they are cold, put the dish in the icebox and let the apples get ice cold before serving. Cover them with whipped cream.

How to Make Moth Powder.

An excellent powder to keep in closets as a preventive against moths is made by mixing one ounce of tannin, one ounce of caraway seed, one ounce of cloves, one ounce of mace, one ounce of nutmeg, one ounce of cinnamon and six ounces of Florentine orris root, all powdered. Put the mixture in bags and hang them among the clothing or lay them in trunks or drawers. There is no objectionable odor to cling to the clothing, nothing but a sweet, spicy fragrance which pleases the senses. This is good for the year round.

How to Kill Moths and Bugs.

Whenever a bureau drawer, a trunk or a closet is cleaned it is a good plan to wash the crevices with naphtha. A long spout oil can, kept for the purpose, accomplishes this very quickly. The fumes of the naphtha quickly evaporate, but not before they have done their work of extermination upon any insects or eggs that may be deposited in cracks or corners. This course persisted in at regular intervals will practically protect from moths, carpet bugs and other pests.

How to Grill Haddock.

Take a medium sized fresh haddock, clean it, remove the head, and then carefully fillet it; trim and wipe each piece with a clean cloth; sprinkle each with pepper and salt, and lay on pieces of butter; then place the fillets in a pudding tin in front of a clean fire; baste well with butter; cook from 10 to 15 minutes; dish carefully, so as not to break the fish; decorate with sprigs of parsley and serve.

How to Bake Cabbage.

Roll a cabbage in two waters, drain and when cold chop coarsely and season with salt and pepper. Butter a pudding dish, put a layer of the cabbage in this; sprinkle with buttered crumbs and a teaspoonful of grated Parmesan cheese. Put in more cabbage, more crumbs and cheese, and when the dish is nearly full pour a cup of seasoned beef stock over all. Bake for half an hour.

How to Make Turnip Soup.

Smooth over the fire in a saucepan one heaped tablespoon of flour and a little less butter. Then add by degrees three scant pints of milk, and let boil up well. Add a level teaspoon of salt, a dozen flakes of red pepper and a quarter of a saltspoonful of grated nutmeg. Now stir in well a tencup of cooked and finely mashed turnip and serve.

How to Wash Black Stockings.

Do not use soap, but put a tencupful of bran in a muslin bag and shake it about in tepid water. Wash the stockings in this, take them out, roll them in a clean cloth, wringing them well, and dry as quickly as possible. If washed in this way, the stockings will keep a good black instead of turning brown.

How to Make Russian Kramieshies.

Cut some very thin slices of bacon, lay them flat and place a little carefully minced meat on each. Season with salt, pepper and a little onion, roll tightly and put aside in a cool place. Dip into batter, fry a golden brown and garnish with parsley.

How to Make Wine of Beef and Iron.

To make wine of beef and iron, take four grains of citrate of iron, dissolve in a cup of hot water; add to half a jar of beef extract, dissolved in a cup of hot water, and when these are mixed add one pint of sherry wine.

MAKING CIDER VINEGAR.

How to Hasten the Usual Slow Process of Fermentation.

The ordinary method of putting cider into barrels and allowing it to gradually change into vinegar is very satisfactory unless the vinegar is wanted soon, says The American Agriculturist. This process requires one year and usually two for the best results. The conversion into vinegar can be greatly hastened by increasing the exposure of the cider to air.

This may be accomplished by allowing the cider to slowly trickle over a series of shelves inclosed in a box or closet or to permit it to pass slowly over shavings packed in a vat or cask. Beech shavings are preferred, but maple will answer very well. The cask is filled with shavings and on top is placed a tub filled with cider, in the bottom of which gimlet holes have been made. The cider trickles down slowly and is collected at the bottom of the cask containing the shavings. By passing the cider through a series of three or four casks of this kind it will soon be converted into vinegar.

How to Make Grape Cabbler.

Very ripe black grapes are best for it. Wash them twice—on the bunches and after picking. Line a deep pie dish with half inch crust, the best you can make; put in the grapes, with all the sugar that will lie between them, heaping the fruit a little in the middle. Put on the top crust, cut cross slots in the middle and fold back the corners to leave an open square. Set the dish in the quick oven, and while your pie bakes make a sauce, using half a cup of butter, one cup of sugar and one tablespoonful boiling water. Stir well over hot water and flavor with lemon juice or grated nutmeg, according to taste. When the pie is nearly done, take it out, pour in the sauce through the opening in the crust and return it to the oven. Do not overbake it, but keep it hot until ready to serve.

How to Cook Vegetables.

If you desire a fine flavored vegetable, soup, cup of coffee or tea, remember that after raising the heat to the proper temperature it must be kept as near that point as possible during the cooking process. This is especially true of vegetables, for if not kept at the boiling point all the time they will be of poor flavor and water soaked. It is a very bad practice to add cold water to vegetables while cooking when the water in which they are boiling is insufficient to cover them or keep them from burning. Keep your soups at the simmering point if you wish them to be of fine flavor.

How to Make Hair Tonic.

Lemon juice enters into one of the best hair tonics made and is within every one's reach. The yoke of an egg is beaten to a smooth oil, the juice of a lemon is added, and when well mixed a few drops of ammonia. Brush the hair thoroughly and apply the mixture with the finger tips and let it stay on the head for half an hour, and then wash off in several waters. This treatment renders the hair beautifully light and soft, and any one trying it will be sure to find it successful.

How to Make Potato Cakes.

Peel and boil the potatoes and mash them fine and smooth. Salt to taste; then add enough sweet milk to make a thick batter and beat until it is creamy—three or four minutes; then add enough flour so they won't stick to your fingers. Make into flat cakes not more than one-half inch thick. Have the frying pan hot, with just enough grease to prevent them sticking. Fry brown on both sides, and be careful they don't burn.

How to Make Arrowroot Gravel.

Take one tablespoonful of arrowroot, add one egg, a little butter, a pinch of salt and dessertspoonful of sugar. Dissolve all together by heating in a large cup, then add either boiling milk or water, cook until semitransparent and serve with a dash of nutmeg or a tablespoonful of wine. Where arrowroot is not procurable two tablespoonfuls of corn flour may be used with similarly good results.

How to Make Chili Sauce.

Chop one peck of ripe tomatoes, five green peppers and nine large onions and add to them four teaspoons of salt, one teaspoon of cloves, one tablespoon of cinnamon, one tablespoon of allspice, one and one-half tablespoons of white sugar, four cups of vinegar. Stir the mixture thoroughly and let it boil two and one-half hours, stirring it frequently to prevent scorching.

How to Make Penne Jelly.

Take one quart of prunes, stir until soft and mash through colander; half a box of gelatin; put in bowl, cover with cold water, let it soak for about five minutes; take a pint and a half of the mashed prunes, add to the gelatin, with three tablespoonfuls of sugar; put on the stove, and let boil for five minutes; pour into jelly molds and serve with cream.

How to Broil Oysters.

Rub the bars of a wire broiler with a little sweet butter, fry 12 large, plump oysters in a napkin and place them on the broiler, brush a little butter over them and broil over a fire free from flame and smoke. Pour a little melted, well seasoned butter over them and arrange on crisp lettuce between two slices of toast.

How to Stuff Tomatoes.

Cut the tops from large, firm tomatoes and with a small spoon scoop out the insides. To half of this pulp, chopped, add as much minced minced onion and two tablespoonfuls of bread crumbs. Season to taste and fill the tomatoes with this mixture. Set in a baking pan and bake for 20 minutes.

DAIRY BOOKKEEPING.

Records That Are Important and Easy to Keep.

The bookkeeping part of the management of a large dairy is of the greatest importance, since on the statistical and other data the whole handling of the herd depends. The following plan of keeping the records of a large Vermont dairy is given through The Country Gentleman by J. Wilder and shows how carefully all points are looked after by those who make dairying their whole business. Mr. Wilder says:

Cloudland farm has a herd of 157 Jerseys, old and young. Our main business is butter making. Our cows are part full blood, registered, and part are grades. We have now 81 cows and 26 2-year-old heifers to come in between this date and March 1. The intention is to keep a herd of 100 cows, the limit of our stalls. In building up this herd the plan is to bring it to 300 pounds of butter each year and over, weeding out all that do not come up to this standard. For this purpose the proprietor engaged me to come April 1, 1899, and institute a system to keep record of all the animals.

Our general average is about 65 cows in milk from the 80 cows. We have six milkers. Milking begins at 5 in the morning and 5 at night, letting no other work prevent the rule being complied with. We have six milking sheets covering seven days, recording the weight of each cow's milk morning and night. This is added up, and the week's result is recorded in a special book arranged for 13 weeks (one quarter). My plan is to test the cows the last week of the first month in the quarter and the first week in the last month of the quarter. I add the two tests together and divide it by two to get the average for the quarter. This gives the butter fat, which is extended into a column for that purpose. Then in the last column I add 20 per cent to the butter fat to get the pounds of butter each cow produces in the quarter. This gives me the pounds of milk, butter fat and butter for the quarter according to the calculations made.

I have a herd ledger, with two pages for each cow. The left hand page shows name of cow, herd number (if registered, register number), the date of birth of cow, dam and sire and date of dropping calf. If the calf is to be raised, its herd number, name, sex and the sire, if registered, are added; if sold, to whom sold and when; if vealed, so recorded. On the right hand page is recorded the average test, milk yield, butter fat and butter for each quarter. Adding the four quarters together gives the production for the year. From that we estimate the value of the cow, whether she is profitable to keep in the dairy. Of course a heifer with her first calf has much for consideration—her sire, age when she drops her calf and the general points for a good cow—to decide whether to give her another year's trial or not.

Just here I wish to ask if the two trials in a quarter is a safe plan to determine the quality of the cow for keeping or rejecting or can I adopt a better system of accounting to obtain the knowledge desired? I am green in herd accounting, never having examined how others keep their records, and desire to have the best or as good as any one.

I have another book in which I keep all the dates of service, with name of sire and when due to drop the calf. This I report to the man in charge of the barn two or three months in advance, so that he can be on the lookout and properly provide for the cow in a box stall.

Skim milk and Buttermilk.

The Kansas experiment station has been testing skim milk and buttermilk in a private dairy of five cows to ascertain how much butter fat there was when the milk was set in ice water, cold water or cold air, as compared with the loss when a separator was used and run properly. They found from three to seven tenths of 1 per cent of fat in the skim milk and 1.10 per cent in the buttermilk. The herd of five cows tested showed a loss in this way of 129 pounds of butter in the skim milk and 31 pounds in the buttermilk in a year. This 16 pounds at 20 cents a pound, for which price the dairyman was selling it to private customers, was a loss of $32 a year or $4.40 per cow, and from a herd of 20 cows which were doing as these did there would be $128 per year saved by using a separator. That the milk and cream were as well handled as they would be by the average dairyman we can only judge by the price at which the butter was being sold, which is above dairy rates, and even the average creamery rates in Kansas this year.

Healthy Cows and Wholesome Food.

Good butter, pure butter, so well made that it does not need to be renovated and that has the aroma and flavor which it can obtain only from healthy cows, fed upon wholesome food, and which will be destroyed by uncleanly surroundings, is the most palatable of all the fat foods that man can take, or most of men, and it is also one of the most digestible. There may be exceptions among the pure vegetable oils, but there is none among the animal fats that we know. It should be regarded as a necessity rather than a luxury, particularly for children and invalids, and we think that many of them would be benefited by a more liberal use of it. Good food is cheaper than the use of medicine, and we think the dose of cod liver oil so often advised by physicians might well be given up and a liberal use of pure cream and good butter be taken in its place to the advantage of the health of the patient in many cases. It is not economy to limit the use of any wholesome food product that the stomach can digest at the risk of enfeebled health.—American Cultivator.
