VOLUME 1.

ALBUQUERQUE, NEW MEXICO, SATURDAY, APRIL 18, 1891.

NUMBER 16.

LAS VEGAS LA CONCH.

A few pointers picked up by a Citizen Representative.
H. Eugene Hogue, formerly of this city, is now foreman of the Optic.
Frank Sturgess, son of Capt. Sturgess, of the Springer Stockman, is a mixer at the Board of Trade.
D. C. Winters, a brother of Eugene Winters, of this city, is clerk at the drug store of E. G. Murphy & Co.
Las Vegas has an institution greatly needed in this city—a public reading room. It is open at night and everybody is welcome.
Eugene A. Fiske, United States prosecuting attorney, is taking a needed rest, and is circulating around among Las Vegas folks.
Prof. Landrum, well known here, opened a dancing class in Las Vegas Saturday evening. It has a good start in membership.
Chas. H. Sporleder, the well known Las Vegas dealer in fine boots and shoes, represents his trade as excellent. He thinks of making an exhibit at the coming territorial fair.
A wedding in high life among rich Mexicans of Las Vegas occurred Monday. A daughter of ex-Sheriff Lorenzo Lopez was married to Enrique Salazar. It was a swell affair indeed.
Mrs. John Mills, wife of the late registrar of the Roswell land office, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Mills for the past few days, returned to her Connecticut relatives and friends Monday morning.
The property of O. E. Cromwell, of this city, located on one of the best streets of Las Vegas, was condemned the other day as unsafe and has been torn down. Mr. Cromwell ought to honor Las Vegas with a fine store house on his lot.
Col. R. W. Johnson, now in Indiana, a partner of W. A. Vincent, is expected in Las Vegas in a short time. W. E. Gortner, the efficient stenographer of the district court, makes his headquarters at the law office of these two gentlemen.
The new marshal of Las Vegas, T. F. Day, went on duty Sunday night. His force consists of Joseph Gray, a brother of John Gray of Santa Fe, and James Jarrard, both excellent gentlemen, and will no doubt make good policemen.
L. C. Totard, one of the alternate commissioners to the Columbian fair, told the CITIZEN man yesterday that last year there were between fifty and sixty couples to rent in Las Vegas, but now there is not a vacant house in the town.
Las Vegas has without doubt the finest, quietest house in the territory, and the citizens should appreciate Mr. Tamme. There are seats for 750 people, but 20 more can be easily provided for. It is a gem of a theatre—the most in the territory.
The new paper, the Weekly Free Press, A. Carruth, editor and proprietor, is meeting with substantial aid from the citizens of Las Vegas. J. T. L. McDonald, an old printer, and Chas. Hill, rising young type, are members of the Free Press force.
Messrs. Kistler and Gould, and Felix Martinez are working hard to secure favorable excursion rates for the editors and publishers to Mexico sometime next month. Superintendent Dyer is using his influence with the Topeka officials in behalf of the Press association.
Frank Forsythe, prominently known throughout the territory as organizer of the bird house of the territorial legislature and ex-deputy assessor of San Miguel county, with his jolly partner, G. S. Mark, conducts the Philharmonic resort. He knows how to make Albuquerqueans feel at home.
W. B. Humber, the lately defeated candidate for mayor of Las Vegas, is a member of the law firm of Fort & Banker. He is a bright young attorney, is rapidly rising to the front ranks, and it is said he only claims on which he was defeated as his youthful years. He, however, made a gallant race, being beaten by only half a dozen votes.
Prof. Shortell, a distinguished Ohio lecturer and treasurer of the Oberlin college, and wife, after a sojourn of about a month at the Hot Springs, left for the east Monday morning. The professor is favorably impressed with New Mexico, and contemplates at an early date making the territory his future home, living in a lower altitude, probably Albuquerque.
The public school building of Las Vegas will be a grand, magnificent structure. It is located on a most commanding point of view—on a hill from which a large portion of the town can clearly be seen. The stone masons have laid the first floor, and when the building is completed it will be a monument to the city which will be proud to acknowledge and cherish.
Col. T. B. Mills, the San Miguel commander in the last territorial legislature, so gained a well-earned reputation, together with our councilman, Gov. Over, for his persistent and energetic advocacy of a proper and efficient public school law for New Mexico, resides with a estimable wife and interesting daughter, Miss Willis, in the old town of Las Vegas. The colonel is in the real estate business and the CITIZEN is pleased to see his prosperity. Miss Willis will be her school days in June, graduating with high honors from the Academy.
A Mexican named Manuel Blazquez, of Mora county, was sentenced to the penitentiary for life for murder in the San Miguel court Monday morning. He had previously received a sentence of three years for cattle stealing, being brought over from Santa Fe to be tried for murder, and on receiving the latter sentence he boldly inquired of Judge O'Hryan: "What he intended doing with the three years, now that he goes up for life—will the three years fall to his estate after death?" The judge informed him that both sentences would go together. The Mexican was ably defended by Major J. D. Sosa, while prosecuting Attorney Fort represented the territory.

George L. Crutcher, originally of Glasgow, Ky., whose mother was a sister of Gen. Abner Buford, the celebrated owner of thoroughbred Kentucky horses, is a veteran at the case and is working on the Stock Grower. Mr. Crutcher went on the Louisville, Ky. Journal office on the 1st of November 1885, as a "printer's devil," bound for four years as an apprentice under George D. Prentice, the editor. His hand is a little unsteady by old age, but he manages to do good work on one of the best stock and farm papers (Stock Grower and Farmer) published in the southwest.
The firm of Gross, Blackwell & Co., Las Vegas, do a big business and keep a large store well stocked with goods. O. B. Erickson took the scribe through the firm's immense store, and reported between twelve and fifteen wagons loaded with merchandise daily for country merchants. The firm has handled so far this year a little over 2,000,000 pounds of oats raised in the Mora valley. These oats are unsurpassed and are purchased by the wholesale by W. L. Trimble & Co., of this city. A. M. Blackwell and Harry Kelley, of the firm, were noticed busily engaged with their correspondence, and Pierce Murphy, an old time base ball catcher, was seen lazily resting against a pile of well filled grain sacks. He is just recovering from an attack of the grip.

A CITY BUILDING.
We are rarely willing to concede that any place in the southwest can go ahead of Albuquerque in any line of public enterprise, but we are forced to concede that Las Vegas has got one step in advance of us in the matter of providing a building for public purposes—and Las Vegas is only a town while Albuquerque is a full fledged city with all that the name implies. They have business acumen enough at Vegas to see that it doesn't pay to rent buildings for town purposes, but we have not arrived at that degree of information as yet. We continue to pay out eighteen hundred dollars a year for the rent of buildings for town purposes—but the people of Las Vegas, at the late election, voted almost unanimously, in favor of leasing bonds enough to put up a building of sufficient capacity to meet all the demands of the place, and the annual expense in interest will be less than is now paid by the town in rents.
With regard to Albuquerque, the case now stands as follows: We are paying in rents for the use of buildings for town purposes eighteen hundred dollars a year, and as property advances in value, and rents become higher, this sum is liable to increase from year to year. Eighteen hundred dollars will pay the interest at six per cent on bonds to the amount of thirty thousand dollars. We can sell our bonds for par at six per cent without any difficulty, and a building which, with its ground, would cost thirty thousand dollars—just the amount we are now paying—would accommodate all the city business much better than it is at present accommodated, and would at the same time be an ornament and an advantage to the city. Then why not own a city building instead of renting one?

THE NEWS.
It is said that finding fault is one of the easiest things in the world to do, and the fault finders in this vicinity are now giving their special attention to the sewers—and without any acquaintance whatever with the subject they are talking about. The sewer system now being put in is very likely open to criticism, but the fault, if any, does not lie with the contractor, but with the engineer who planned the work and the board of trustees who accepted his plans.
Sanitary engineering has become a distinct science; it is a matter which only those who have given it careful study know anything about, and it is a matter of economy for a town or city, when putting in a system of sewers, to expend the few dollars extra that may be required to pay for the very best talent that can be had. Gentlemen who are acquainted with this subject, practically as well as theoretically, are of the opinion that the plan for our sewers is open to criticism, but all agree that the contractor is working up to the letter of his contract—is doing just such work as he is agreed to do, and exactly in the manner in which he is agreed to do it—therefore those who are indulging in adverse criticism of the manner in which his work is being done are not only guilty of gross injustice to him, but show themselves ignorant of the subject they are talking about.
For years the editor of the Burlington Junction, (Mo.) Post, has been subject to cramp colic or fits of indignation, which prostrated him for several hours and unfitted him for business for two or three days. For the past year he has been using Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy whenever occasion required, and it has invariably given him prompt relief. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Thos. H. Burgess & Son, Druggists.

RAILROAD MATTERS.

On to Espanola!
The Burlington switchmen at Denver are on a strike.
United effort will secure additional railroads for Albuquerque.
Hay Harvey, of Raton, is laid off with a severe attack of rheumatism.
Chas. B. Effort, of Topeka, is a new Western Union operator at San Marcial.
Engineer Fairbanks, who lost a hand some months ago, is again running an engine on the Santa Fe.
Twenty extra firemen and twelve brakemen have been employed at Las Vegas in the last few days.
The freight business of the Lordsburg station of the Southern Pacific amounted to nearly $30,000 in March.
Mr. George Millard, one of the efficient conductors out of Raton, is at the La Junta hospital with the small pox.
The equipment of the Prussian railroads is to be modernized and the American style of freight car will be adopted.
A grand union meeting will be held at St. Louis April 25th composed of representatives of all brotherhood organizations.

Dirt is flying at a lively rate on the Silver City & Northern railroad. Already over two miles of the grading have been completed.
It is understood that five more work trains will be put on the 15th to strengthen the road bed against the prospective high water.
The time card which went into effect yesterday will last only two weeks, when a radical change will be made in the running of the trains.
To maliciously misplace a switch with the intent to throw any car or locomotive from the track is punishable by death in this territory.

There are reduced rates to Las Vegas from every place in the territory and out of it. The same cannot be said of any other place in New Mexico.
No man should leave the territory with cattle without a bill of health for his stock. It costs but little and it may save him much delay and trouble.
Jeff. Towner, a well known Colfax county stockman, has been appointed live stock inspector in New Mexico for the Fort Worth & Denver road.
The mountain roads are commencing to arrange their summer time tables and will probably have the new train cards out inside of a couple of weeks.
A surveying party recently passed through the Panhandle of Texas to the eastern line of New Mexico. They were sent out by a Philadelphia company.
R. R. Rogers, car inspector at the Las Vegas depot, was thrown from a caboose while switching. He was not seriously hurt, but is taking a rest for five days.
J. C. Two last week visited Silver City and checked up the Wells Fargo accounts of the local agent. He found everything in good order in that office.
W. H. Meek and wife have returned to Raton. Mr. Meek has accepted the position of night operator at the depot there, which position he held two years ago.

The March statement of the Atchison system including St. Louis and San Francisco gives aggregate gross earnings (approximated) at $3,175,874, increase $75,135.
Dr. G. W. Harrison left Bernallillo for New York. He will attend a meeting of the railroad surgeons' association, which assembles in Buffalo, on May 1st, and continues three days.
To attempt to wreck a train in this territory subjects the guilty party to a term in the penitentiary of not less than three nor more than ten years, at the discretion of the court.

The New Mexico & Arizona railroad have reduced their passenger rate to five and one half cents per mile, or one half cent below the requirements of the recently enacted fare bill.
The roadbed of the Santa Fe railway between Silver City and Deming is in bad condition, and needs at least two feet of ballast on either side of the track pretty nearly the whole way.
The stockholders of the New Mexico Central railroad will hold a special meeting at Santa Fe on the 28th of this month, to consider and decide upon the dissolution of said company.
The transcontinental association in its passenger rates from Los Angeles to Chicago via St. Louis, has made a differential rate in favor of the Santa Fe of from 75 cents to $2.50 over the other roads.
Roadmaster Martin Flynn has a crew of men out taking up the dike sidings at Carthage and other useless sidings on this division; and the material will be taken to San Marcial for storage until needed.
During the past six months, sixty-three families have moved into Raton, and but nine families have moved away. The majority of these nine families are those of railroad men who have been transferred.

Every train bound south brings in rails and other railroad building material for White Water. This indicates that the road from that point on the Silver City branch to Georgetown is to be pushed to immediate completion.
Huller, McManis & Co., of Yuma, Arizona, have purchased the concession owned formerly by the International company, for a railroad from the mouth of the Colorado river to El Paso via Altar and Magdalena. Colonel Haller says the road will be built as soon as they can get ready, and that the line will be extended from the mouth of the river to Yuma. Branches will also be built to reach the great beds of anthracite coal northwest of Guaymas, and also the coal fields of Ures.

J. T. Griffin, a switchman, had two fingers pinched off at the first joint while coupling cars at Trinidad. His hand was caught between the coupling pin and dead wood. He narrowly escaped losing his whole hand.
The Trinidad Advertiser says: Henry Darrell, a conductor on the A. T. & S. F., who was a kind and efficient employee, passed to the bourne from which no traveler returns yesterday afternoon at about 5 o'clock, stricken with that dread disease, pneumonia.
Up to the night of the 9th inst., there had been shipped from California over the Atlantic & Pacific road, 870 car loads of oranges. Up to the same date in 1890, the shipment was 523 car loads, showing an increase of 347 carloads in 1891 over 1890.

The new Brooks engine from Dunkirk, N. Y., are being received weekly at the Santa Fe shops. They are large, ten wheels of a new pattern, and are large and powerful locomotives. Fifty were contracted for and about half that number have been received, says the Topeka Capital.
Says Flagstaff Democrat: W. L. Van Horn has kept at work for reduced rates on the Atlantic & Pacific railroad and has succeeded in making arrangements which round trip tickets from here to Los Angeles, San Bernardino and San Francisco can be obtained for $50, good six months.

It is reported from Chicago that First Vice President Rhinehart, of the Santa Fe, has resigned. Mr. Rhinehart has been credited with a desire to become president of the road, and President Mangle is said to have demanded that he be quiescent, threatening to resign himself otherwise.
The car shops at Raton are to be largely increased in capacity soon. More machinery of various kinds is to be placed in position, and preparations made for doing all work necessary, thus dispensing with sending to Topeka. The required machinery and plant for doing all boiler work will soon be put in.

Warren Sawyer, who has been elected to fill the vacancy in the Atchison directory caused by the death of Hon. Levi C. Wade, is president of Everett National bank, has been a member of the Atchison board before, and is at present chairman of the executive committee of the Mexican Central railroad.

Says the Silver City Sentinel: About five miles of grading was completed on the Silver City & Northern railroad last week. The plows are kept busy breaking new ground, and the scrapers are following them up closely. The line is cross-sectioned for some distance ahead of the graders, and the work of construction is being pushed forward at a lively rate.
At the next change of time on the Santa Fe an important change in the passenger train service will be made. It is proposed to take off the California daily trains scheduled as Nos. 1 and 2, leaving Topeka for coast points at 12:30 p. m. This will leave only one daily train for California. The change is decided upon because of the light business for the coast during the summer.

C. H. Morehouse and wife are at the San Felipe. Mr. Morehouse is the Santa Fe division passenger and freight agent at El Paso, and has been at Gallup, where he attended a union meeting of the coal miners Sunday. He is on his way to Pueblo, while his wife will remain here for a few days, the guest of Miss Lillian Hirst, a charming young lady clerk at the Santa Fe freight depot.

Col. F. D. May, of the Pennsylvania line, and who possesses the proud distinction of being the oldest traveling passenger agent in the United States, is in Fort Worth. Col. May is on the retired list, but draws his usual salary and is furnished with transportation and an expense account and goes where he pleases. Though not required to report he still bustles in lots of business and makes many younger men hustle for business in lively style.

Will Leave To.
J. W. Farnsworth, the energetic and popular station agent for the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe and Atlantic & Pacific roads, at the depot here, has received notice of his transfer to El Paso, but the day on which he is to take his departure is not named. It is likely to occur in the next few days. His successor will be J. W. Walker, the agent at Deming, but what the company will do with A. J. Crooks, the outgoing agent at El Paso, is not learned. The CITIZEN, as it had occasion to state once before when it was thought that he would be transferred to another station, sincerely regrets the determination of the company to send Mr. Farnsworth to another field. The gentleman has been here so long that his many friends were becoming to look upon him as a part and parcel of the city. El Paso people will find Mr. Farnsworth a capital gentleman, and a first class agent. It is understood that his successor is a pleasant gentleman to deal with.

THE HOT SPRINGS.

Words About This Famous Health Resort—The Handsome Montezuma.
Located about seven miles from Las Vegas, on a branch of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe road, is the celebrated Hot Springs which the CITIZEN scribe had read so much about but never visited until last Sunday. The Springs nestle in a canon, at the foot of towering mountains the sides of which are covered here and there with tall, lately pines. It is a great health resort—a refuge from the cares and trials of a business life, from the weariness incident to the usual hum-drum of city existence, and as the pamphlet states "from the tyranny of climate"—it being cold most naturally in winter, the altitude being about 7,000 feet above sea level, but the summer months are pleasant, free from dust during the day and mosquitoes at night.
On the side of a mountain, a few hundred yards from the bath house, with slanting walks leading therefrom, the handsome Montezuma hotel raises its lofty proportions and pretty architecture into the clear, sun lit skies. It is a magnificent hotel and was opened to the public July 1, 1886, under the name of "The Phoenix," but on December 25, 1889, (Christmas day), the name was changed to "The Montezuma"—that being the original name of the first hotel, which was destroyed by fire, a few years before. The present hotel is far superior in architectural beauty, more substantially and elegantly constructed and has superior appliances for amusement and social enjoyment than the old one. It is constructed of solid stone, as near as possible fire proof, lighted entirely with electricity—incandescent lights being in every room, and heated throughout with steam at a regular temperature. The hotel can easily accommodate 250 tourists and health seekers, and every arrangement is made for the comfort and happiness of guests. The manager is S. H. Brown, who is away more than half the time, but he has excellent assistants in F. A. Whitney, local superintendent, and E. N. Manning, head clerk. These gentlemen are obliging, courteous and are agreeable to a degree. They informed the scribe that between fifty and seventy five guests have been regularly at the hotel during the past winter, and stated that last Sunday, including the Boston excursionists who stopped over to bathe in the health giving waters of the Springs, 125 people sat down at dinner.

The dining room of the hotel is 35x83 feet, elegantly finished in polished woods, brilliantly lighted by incandescent lights, and the tables are supplied with all the substantial and dainty food that is obtainable. Edward Postal, an educated white gentleman, is head waiter, while under him are a dozen polite and courteous white male waiters, and David Lockard was found to be one of them.
Dr. F. W. Gallagher, a graduate of an eastern medical college, is regularly stationed at the Springs.

The bath house is under the supervision of C. E. Passage, of Chicago, who specially oversees the gents' department while the ladies' department is under the care and attention of Misses Sarah Passage, Florence Stewart and Sophie Reil; J. Hanson attends to the mud baths. The gentlemen and ladies being healthy and strong themselves, and thoroughly understanding the business, bathers are guaranteed first class baths.
The waters are cured for a number of diseases, such as rheumatism, skin complaints of all classes, nervous affections, dyspepsia, ulcers, scrofula, etc.; and there is a pair of crutches on exhibition which were left behind a few weeks ago by Jacob Gainsley, of this city, an invalid from rheumatism.

It is understood that the railway company will sometime this summer or fall build a new bath house, which will be more moderately arranged and closer to the hotel.

Among the guests now sojourning at this popular resort, the CITIZEN noted down E. C. Hegeler and family, of La Salle, Ill.; Mrs. Lieutenant Seyburn and family, of Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. N. B. Williams and family, J. S. Sharp and family, of Chicago; Dr. J. W. Hedden and family, of St. Joseph, Mo.; J. Z. Rorabach and wife, and Miss C. F. Sayre, of Kansas City. The latter young lady is unquestionably "The Belle of the Montezuma." She is vivacious, pretty in face and deportment, and a magnificent conversationalist. He Mayall, late of this city and well known to many of the young gentlemen here, is at the Springs and joins with the CITIZEN in christening Miss Sayers "The Belle of the Springs."

TELEGRAPHIC.
Knoxville, Tenn., April 17.—President Harrison has ever reason to be gratified with his reception in Virginia and Tennessee. At nearly every hamlet along the line of the route groups of people waved handkerchiefs and hats as the train passed by. At Roanoke, Va., the train halted long enough to enable a crowd of people assembled at the station to shake hands with the president, and similar demonstrations were observable as the train passed Pulaski and Abingdon.

At Bristol the train halted on the Virginia side of the station. Large crowds had gathered in and about the station, and the windows of the house were filled with people. The president, while the crowd cheered, was escorted to the temporary platform by the local committee, and was introduced by Judge Wood, of Bristol. Here the president spoke as follows:

THE NEW LAWS.

"My fellow citizens: I have found not only pleasure but instruction in riding to day through a portion of the state of Virginia that is feeling in a very striking way the impulse of new developments. It is extremely gratifying to notice that those hidden sources of wealth, which were so long unobserved and so long unused, are now being found, and that these regions once so retired, occupied by pastoral people, having difficult access to the centers of population, are now being rapidly transformed into busy centers of manufacturing and commerce. In the early settlement of this country immigrants poured over the Alleghenies and the Blue Ridge like water over an obstructing ledge, seeking the fertile and attractive farm regions of the great west. They passed unobserved these marvelous, hidden stores of wealth, which are now being brought into use. Having filled the great basin of the west, they are now turning back to Virginia and West Virginia and Tennessee, to bring about development and production, for which the time is ripe, and which will surprise the world. [Cheers.]
"[It has not been long since every implement of iron, domestic, agricultural and mechanical, was made for you in other states. But now Virginia and Tennessee are stirring up their energies to participate in a large degree in mechanical production, and in the great awakening of American commerce and American influence among the nations of the world never before attained. [Cheers.]
"I am glad to stand among you; glad to express my sympathy with you in every enterprise that tends to develop your state and local communities; glad to stand among you upon one common platform of respect to the constitution and law, differing in our policies as to that the law should be, but pledged to a common devotion to obedience to the law as the majority shall by their expression make it. I shall carry away from here a new impulse to public duty, and new inspiration as a citizen, with you, of a nation whose greatness is only secured by peace, prosperity and social order dwell in all your communities, and the fear and love of God in every home." [Cheers.]

Knoxville gave the president a royal welcome. When the train rolled into the depot at 6 o'clock in the evening the local committee met the party and escorted them about the city. At 7 o'clock the party arrived at the hotel where an immense crowd had gathered to hear the president make an address. The president said:
"My fellow citizens: It gives me pleasure to visit this historic city, which has given to the country many men who have been eminent in its councils, and have served to the nation they served and to the people who called them into public service. I am glad to see the early pioneers of the republic, the early promoters of the west and south-west. I am glad to know that those traditions of liberty—that deep devotion to the cause of the union which manifested itself in the early contributions of the people to the armies that went out for the defense of the homes of the north and southwest—abides still in these valleys, and crowns with its glory and luster every hill top of the Alleghenies.

You are feeling now a material development that is interesting and pleasing to all your fellow citizens, of all states. I bring to you to you that whoever supposes there is anywhere in the northern states any jealousy of this great material progress which the south is making wholly unconsciously the friendly heart of the people of the north. It is my wish, as I am sure it is of all with whom I associate in political life, that the streams of prosperity in the south may run bank full; that is everything that promotes the prosperity of the state, the security and comfort of the community, and the happiness of the individual home, your blessings may be full and unstinted.

"We live in a government of law. May every prosperity attend you. May this ground, made memorable by use, be the most brilliant results and by one of the most successful defenses in the history of war, never again be stained by blood; but may our people, in common love of one flag and one constitution, in a common love of all private and public great principles of our government, go on and achieve in material wealth and social development, in intelligence, in piety, in everything that makes a nation great and a people happy, all that the Lord has in mind for a nation that he has compassionately blessed." [Great and prolonged cheering.]

The Indian Trouble.
Blackfoot, April 17.—The Indian who killed the Hills near here was found dead by the Indian police several miles south. Having seen the pursuers he shot himself through the body. The stage from Challis which arrives here was fired upon by a party of Indians, while passing through the lava beds six miles west of this place. Several horses were fired, one narrowly missing the driver who shipped up his horses and escaped. The sheriff and twenty five armed men left here immediately for the scene. The citizens are on their guard. Ranchmen have armed their selves, some are moving into town.

Moving Slowly.
Chicago, April 17.—Fourteen wards out of a total of thirty-four have been officially canvassed. The net result is a gain for the republicans majority candidate. He has thus far a sufficient plurality of 324. Election night in the same wards the city press associations figure made his plurality 130. Three to five days more will be required to complete the official count. The wards now finished are from the first to the tenth inclusive, and the twenty-eighth.

Navies in the Next War.
Berlin, April 17.—In his speech at the marine academy at Kiel the kaiser said that the navy would exercise the chief offensive part in the next war, and should endeavor to annihilate the enemy by a grand coup, its duties in this respect resembling those of cavalry ashore. The next naval maneuvers, he said, should be conducted on the strategic principles of the English system, which alone resembled warfare.

POPULATION.
A table prepared by the census bureau at Washington shows that more than 96 per cent of the inhabitants of the United States live in the country which is drained to the Atlantic ocean; that more than one half the population live in the region drained by the Gulf of Mexico, and that nearly 44 per cent of the entire population of the country are congregated in the drainage area of the Mississippi river; that only four tenths of 1 per cent live in the Great Basin, and three and four tenths per cent on the Pacific coast. It shows, further, that the proportion living within the region drained to the Atlantic is steadily diminishing, while of this region the part drained to the Gulf of Mexico is becoming relatively more populous, as is the case in a still more marked degree in the Great Basin and the region drained to the Pacific.

The promptness and certainty of its cure have made Chamberlain's Cough Remedy famous. It is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough, and is the most effective remedy known or has been devised. 50 cent bottles for sale by Thos. H. Burgess & Son, Druggists.

Weekly Citizen

[From the Daily, April 11.]

Let's have good county bridges.

An Indian boy at the government Indian school died yesterday and was buried this morning in the Fairview cemetery.

Wm. Revels was examining his gun this morning, when it was accidentally discharged, making a painful wound in the left hand.

See election proclamation providing for a special election to vote on the question of issuing $400,000 in county bonds to build bridges.

J. M. Brault, the Highland grocery man, is improving his property by planting shade trees. This spring he has set out over two hundred cottonwood trees.

Miss Lena Hughes, daughter of the editor of this paper, will leave this evening for San Francisco. She will spend the summer with relatives in Northern California.

Samuel A. Hawk, special agent for the general land office at Tucson, is in the city, the guest of his friend, N. B. Booth, the real estate agent. Mr. Hawk is on his way to Prescott, Arizona.

This morning Edward Medler, chairman of the democratic central committee, enjoyed a bouffé all by himself near his shop on First street. He was no doubt celebrating the late election.

K. Mandell, of New York, one of the leading citizens of the metropolis, and father of the honored mayor of Albuquerque, arrived last evening, and will remain several weeks.

Last week two Mexican herders on the sheep ranch of William Frazer, out in the Santa mountains, were accidentally shot—one in the hip and the other in one of his hands. The wounds are not necessarily dangerous.

George Metzgar, foreman of Representative Frank Hubbell's sheep ranch at the Zuni Salt Lake, Socorro county, is in the city today. He corroborates the news that during the past winter Mr. Hubbell lost over 3000 sheep.

The present county board is looking after public improvements in all parts of the county. The sum of one thousand dollars will be expended for a bridge across the Puerco at Gallup, which is a badly needed structure.

Alex Rogers a few days ago sold a mine to a Scotch company for which it is said he received $10,000, and the company is about to erect reduction works at the mine. The property is located in the Santa mountains east of this city.

Judge Warren has received a letter from Denver stating that a Baptist minister, named D. T. Pulliam, will be sent to this city next week. There are a number of Baptists in this city who are without a pastor. Mr. Pulliam is highly recommended.

D. B. Robinson, general manager of the Atlantic & Pacific, and G. W. Meyer and wife, of the San Felipe hotel, will leave tonight for New York in Mr. Robinson's special car. During Mr. Meyer's absence W. A. Walker will officiate as manager of the hotel.

David L. Armitage and Bernardino Baca, deputy assessors, returned from the mountain precincts yesterday, where they were receiving the assessment returns of the people. They are both competent young men, and report the people rising in making their returns.

W. H. H. Metzgar, an authority on fruit raising, called at THE CITIZEN office and stated that if no frost occur hereafter the peach and apricot crop will be immense this summer. He has examined a number of orchards and found them in perfect condition.

George W. Parker and wife, who were visiting the city last summer, friends of Madame Hall, the dressmaker, are in La Junta where they will reside in the future. Mr. Parker is a sheep buyer and will be frequently found circulating round among the sheep men of this section.

The Albuquerque CITIZEN of recent date gives an extended notice to an amateur organization there which produced "Hamlet and Rose," in which Miss Madeline Burt, formerly of Silver City, took the principal part. Miss Winnie is away at home on the stage, never failing to bring forth repeated encores.—Enterprise.

For the past few weeks the real estate market has not been very active. This is no doubt caused from the excitement over the election, and a majority of citizens seeing a prosperous year for the "first city" of the territory, dropped all estate for the time being and worked actively for the election of a republican mayor and a republican council.

Messrs. Dodd and McGuire have two sets of kilns of brick in preparation, which will be ready for the market in a few weeks. These gentlemen have two kilns—one in the southern part of the city and the other on the mesa near the Presbyterian Indian school. Mr. Dodd, who is an old brick mason, states that the brick made here and from the adobe will not be excelled in any country for solidity and durability.

The prospects now are that there will be a fine fruit crop in the section contiguous to the city, should no frost occur in the next few mornings. There will be abundance of peaches, apricots, pears and early apples. Strawberries, also will be plentiful. The grape crop, of course, will be much larger this season than the fact that a number of new vineyards will be bearing this year. Old fruit raisers are of the opinion that the crop from come it will not be severe enough to injure the buds.

The Jolly Ten.

Ladies' night at the "Jolly Ten" last night was a grand success. The following ladies took the matter in hand and tried it through in a very creditable manner: Mrs. Hamm, Misses Stevens, Burgess, Brown, Ferry, Ray and Jones and Julia Hamm. At 9 o'clock about thirty couples took the floor for the grand march, and dancing was kept up with great spirit until near midnight, when the ladies seated their friends in groups around the hall and a good home supper was served. After supper the following ladies and gentlemen favored the company with vocal and instrumental solos, which were highly appreciated: Mrs. Bryan, Miss Maggie Lee and Messrs. Daxley and Stever. Dancing was afterwards resumed and kept up till a late hour. The following visitors were present and are loud in praise of the ladies: Messrs. Maguire, Kiplartick, Gibson, Kuster, Neelames Bryan, Dobson, Clark, Ray, Messrs. Newcomer, Bryan, Dobson, Clark, Henning, Saltmarsh, Matthews and Ray.

The boys were in clover, each one being well looked after by his best girl, while those who usually attend without girls had to stay at home. Special mention is due Mrs. Hamm for her trouble in connection with the supper. The music as usual was excellent. The supper included among other dainties seven gallons of elegant ice cream, the first of the season. The "Ten" ladies looked very cute in their new spring rig-out, with the additional attraction of a beautiful white and gold badge marked: "Jolly Ten" Ladies' Night."

Notes About the Firemen.

The city government keeps the department's quarters clean and in a tidy condition.

Joe Farr informs THE CITIZEN this morning that he is not in the field for chief. He will, however, be among the first to pull the hose cart in case of a fire.

The fire department, that is the delegates from the various companies, will convene in meeting at Shenfield Hook and Ladder company house this evening to select a chief and an assistant chief for the ensuing year.

THE CITIZEN understands that J. E. Matthews, the present chief of the department, is not among the candidates for the office. He has made a most excellent chief, devoting his services gratuitously to protect property from fire, and is willing to step out, allowing some other member of the department to fill the position.

Will Reiche and W. H. McCormick are prominently mentioned among the delegates for the position of chief. Both are firemen who have done good service in the Albuquerque fire department—a volunteer fire company, and either would make an excellent chief. The contest between these two candidates will probably be close.

Several names are mentioned for assistant chief, among them Dave Randolph, Ben Myer and Jacob Korber from the Hooks; George Gleason, Scott Knight and Jas. Murphy from the Scotts; and Sam McLaughlin, George Montgomery and Harry Mandell from the Grants. The composition is good and a first class assistant chief could be selected from the list.

Land Grants.

According to Rand & McNally's map of New Mexico, where the unconfirmed grants are printed in green color, there are none of these in Colfax, Mora, Lincoln, Chaves, Eddy, Grant, Sierra and San Juan counties; while there is but one very small one, the Jose Sutton grant, in San Miguel, and but two very small ones in Dona Ana. In Rio Arriba, Taos, Santa Fe, Bernalillo, Valencia and Socorro, the unconfirmed grants are located. Socorro has but one of these "blissings in disguise," but it is the largest in the territory.

Population of the World.

The Statesman's Year Book for 1901 estimates the world's inhabitants last year, exclusive of the polar regions, to have been 1,467,000,000, and the land surface they occupy in whole or in part at 40,250,000 square miles, of which 28,200,000 square miles are fertile, 13,501,000 steps and 4,180,000 desert. The polar regions are put down at 4,888,000 square miles, with population of only about 300,000.

In Luck.

In San Miguel county nearly 300 citizens will soon be receiving pension money from the government, ranging in amounts from $100 to $120 a year, so long as the parties live; also, it is estimated that over $2,000,000 of Indian depreciation claims from that county alone will be favorably reported and paid by the government, in the next few months.

Did a Good Thing.

J. E. Saint was elected mayor of Albuquerque by a handsome majority. The city has reason to congratulate herself on the result of the election. She could not have done better. The republicans elected a majority of the council, school trustees and the city clerk.—Silver City Enterprise.

Followed a Bad Example.

The Albuquerque Democrat is after the political scalp of Neil B. Field, claiming that he assisted the republicans in the last city election. Perhaps Neil was copying after the example set by the Democrat some few years ago.—Silver City Enterprise.

Important Event.

The Gentlemen's Driving association of Albuquerque has its annual meeting for three days, commencing April 30th. This will be one of the important events in the territory and ought to be liberally patronized by every locality.—Raton Range.

Detective Layden, of Denver, arrived yesterday, and left last night for home, taking with him the prisoner, Thomas Kelly, who murdered James Harvill, a printer, in Denver last Sunday night a week ago, and who escaped to this city, where he gave himself up to Policeman Van Leuven. The detective was the guest of Marshal Farr and his force during his stay in the New Mexico metropolis.

[From the Daily, April 11.]

The new bridges will be a paying investment for the county.

The Racket as fitted up is one of the neatest stores in the city.

Ex Gov. E. G. Ross is in the city from the booming town of Denning.

The pool player, Malone, skipped the town leaving several bills. He is a cheap dead beat.

Juan Chavez has made a good policeman. His friends would like to see him retained on the force.

The Rio Grande is rising, having come up two feet in the past three days. That dyke must be completed.

The Terrace Improvement company sold six lots in their addition to the city this morning. Let the boom go on.

W. Cal. Brown writes from Farmville, Va., that he is so pleased with the WEEKLY CITIZEN that he can be considered a life subscriber.

The clerk of the school board will hereafter collect the poll tax. R. M. Harbison is just the man to faithfully discharge this duty.

The new board of education is called to meet at the city building, Tuesday evening, April 16th, at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of organizing.

The police court was lively yesterday, and several of the defendants were fined. One of the fruit ones made the court room lively with her remarks.

Judge Lee is suffering with an attack of the grip, but sticks heroically to work. Last Saturday afternoon he was compelled to go home, and Judge N. C. Collier was called to the bench. This morning Judge Lee is much better, and is pushing court business with his usual energy.

John M. Baillifrage, business manager of the Albuquerque Review in 1883, was married at Seattle, Washington, April 7th, to Miss Josephine Goodin. Mr. Baillifrage has many friends in this city and territory, who will be pleased to learn of his marriage to one of the most charming young ladies of the Pacific coast.

J. W. Schindler, general agent of the Equitable Life Assurance society of New York, came down from Santa Fe, Saturday and prepared proof of death of the late Stephen W. White, who was insured in this well known company. Mr. Schindler immediately forwarded the proof, "O. K." to the home office, and the widow will receive her check as soon as the mail can carry it.

Mr. Arthur Strong, by the invitation of the Rev. Wright, spoke last evening in the Highland Methodist church. For twenty minutes in earnest, thoughtful words he told of his conversion and the happiness he has since experienced leading a better life. The large audience paid the closest attention, and the young man's powerful appeal to the unconverted made a deep impression. The pastor then gave an invitation and closed the service.

On Friday evening, at the parsonage in the Highlands, the Rev. Wright united in marriage Mr. Elton Nelson and Miss Nellie Bay. Mr. Nelson is a locomotive engineer, and has had charge of the switch engine in the Santa Fe yards. He is one of the trusted employees of the road of whom the company may well be proud. Miss Bay is an excellent young lady, and her many friends will unite with THE CITIZEN in wishing her and her husband a long and happy life.

The Government Indian school will observe Arbor day on tomorrow, Tuesday, April 16th. The day was not observed when the proclamation was made by the governor, because at that time the school had no trees to plant. The superintendent has just received a large bill of fruit trees which he intends to plant with ceremonies appropriate to an arbor day celebration. The entire day will be devoted to the planting of trees, vines and flowers, except an hour in the afternoon from 2 to 3 which will be devoted to recitations and songs by the pupils, and remarks appropriate to the occasion from others present. All persons interested in the school or in the exercises of the day are cordially invited to be present. There are to be planted over 300 fruit trees and 1,000 grape vines.

Fire Department.

Election of Officers to Serve for the ensuing year.

Delegates from the hose companies and the Hook and Ladder company met on Saturday evening at the rooms of the Shenfield Hook and Ladder company, and elected officers of the fire department to serve for the ensuing year. For chief of the department William Reiche, of the Hook and Ladder company, was unanimously chosen, a compliment justly bestowed on a deserving young man. He will serve with credit to himself and benefit to the city. For assistant chief, Samuel McLaughlin, of the A. A. Grant hose company, was chosen. He is a merited selection. The department is in excellent condition, and in every way prepared to combat any fire that may occur.

New Ice Factory.

The Albuquerque Ice company ready for business.

The Albuquerque ice company have everything in readiness to commence the manufacture of ice from pure distilled water, and will start tomorrow. In ten days they will be ready to furnish the people of the territory of New Mexico with ice at prices that will defy all competition. This is a strictly home company, with a capital of $100,000, and has spent $15,000 in erecting their new building, all the work on it being done by our own citizens. They have also paid out $65,000 in freight. These amounts do not include the amounts paid for real estate and machinery.

Process of Manufacture.

Water is first placed in the boilers and steam applied, when condensation commences. It is afterwards placed in another tank, where it cools down and passes through a charcoal filter, and from that through a fine sponge filter, and thence into the ice cans. After going through this process it comes out perfectly pure ice. Aqua ammonia is put into a retort and subjected to heat from a steam coil, which drives the ammonia gas from it, this gas passing into what is known as the top condenser. All the water that passes over with the ammonia gas is extracted from it and leaves the ammonia gas pure; it then goes into the bottom condenser, where it is condensed into a liquid; from there it passes to the freezing tank, and through coils submerged in salt brine; after it passes through these coils it returns to the absorber, where it is absorbed and turns into its original state, and the pump takes it and forces it back into the retort. This process is repeated continuously.

This ice will be placed on the market at prices that the poorest need not go without this luxury when the hot weather comes.

The company intend soon to erect several cold storage rooms, for the benefit of our butchers and grocers.

We understand that William Farr has already contracted for one of these cold storage rooms.

United Workmen.

The Organization of a Lodge at San Marcial.

A lodge of the A. O. U. W. was instituted at San Marcial last Saturday evening, by a delegation from this city. The visitors from this city were met at the depot by a committee, and every courtesy and attention were shown them. At 7:30 in the evening District Deputy A. D. Johnson called the officers together in the Knight of Pythias hall, and Lodge No. 5, A. O. U. W., was duly organized, with the following officers: P. Wilson, W. M.; J. Lancaster, P. M. W.; W. F. Clifford, O. M. S. Ingram, F. W. J. Brown, G. F. P. Wilson, R. E. J. Etienne, F. L. A. Carr, R. J. Willey, J. W. J. B. Sanders, O. W.; with C. G. Crankshaw, G. L. Palmer and Dr. A. A. Shaw as trustees.

As soon as the lodge was organized the visiting delegation were taken to the railroad dining hall, where a bountiful banquet was spread, and which included everything good to eat and drink. A reason of social reunion occupied the time for several hours, after which the Workmen returned to the hall and conferred the degrees on several members.

The visitors from Albuquerque who instituted the lodge were: A. D. Johnson, F. Votaw, C. M. Tyler, O. Clifford, L. C. Woodwell, D. R. Wilson, A. H. Jones, J. J. Hall, and E. J. Stevens and King, and they all speak in terms of the highest praise of San Marcial and her enterprising and sociable people.

District Court.

Last Saturday afternoon the case of Teodoro Montano vs. Jesus Jaramilla, et al., was tried and the jury failed to agree, and were discharged. This is a case brought for damages for false arrest. This morning the four cases of Roman A. Baca vs. L. Z. Edelman were continued till the next term by consent.

J. M. Wheelock vs. A. J. Barr, et al.; case tried and decision reserved.

In the case of the Albuquerque National bank vs. Albuquerque Water company, the defendant files plea.

Prof. O. H. Marron was examined by a committee consisting of W. B. Childers, N. C. Collier and E. W. Dobson, for admission to the bar. The examination was exhaustive, and Mr. Marron correctly answered every question propounded. The committee made a favorable and complimentary report, and Judge Lee also complimented the young man on his examination. He was sworn in, and will make an honored member of the legal fraternity of the territory. Mr. Marron is temporarily connected with the government Indian school at Santa Fe, but expects soon to open a law office in Albuquerque.

Bold Burglars.

A number of the rooms at the San Felipe hotel were entered by a burglar or burglars, last night and a number of the lodgers at that popular hostelry awoke this morning to find themselves relieved of their spare change. The thief didn't seem to care for watches or jewelry, or anything that might tell on him, he was doing a strictly cash business and would not accept anything else. Fortunately, none of the occupants of the rooms visited happened to have much money in their pockets, and the individual, however, was not large. Mrs. Kornberg was the heaviest loser, and her pocket was relieved of sixteen dollars; the other rooms visited contributed about five dollars apiece. The fellow seemed to be very bold about it, for he lit the gas in the room in which Mr. and Mrs. Kornberg were sleeping and left it burning. Suspicion rested upon one of the waiters at the hotel, as he was seen coming out of one of the rooms, but an examination failed to discover any article about his person that could be identified.

So much care is always taken at the San Felipe to protect the rooms of guests against such visits as the one referred to, that it is probable a sense of absolute security caused most of the parties to be less careful than they otherwise might have been.

On to Albuquerque.

Stop a few hours in Fort Worth, Mr. Gould. Call at the Gazette office and examine Uncle Sam's latest census and the Texas comptroller's last report. Then set your eyes to the northwest, to a land developing without railroad facilities. There's millions in it Mr. Gould. On to Albuquerque.—Fort Worth Gazette.

County Commissioner Hall, Mayor Saint, Trustees Armitage, Maloy and Miller left this morning to examine the river at the dyke near Alameda. They returned this afternoon and report the work so far done as good and substantial, but claim that the river is gradually rising and that the unfinished work at the dyke must be completed as early as possible.

J. F. Feiks, who was for a year or more car deck clerk at the Santa Fe freight depot here, is breaking on the branch to the Hot Springs.

Sam Neustadt has presented this office with a box of fine cigars, and he is hereby nominated for mayor of Albuquerque next year.

J. B. Bushnell is spotting a new suit of clothes and hat, the result of good judgment regarding the result of the late city election.

The Driving association have everything in readiness for the spring races. There will be a fine string of running and trotting horses on hand on that occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Summers Burkhardt are just recovering from a siege with the grip. Mr. Burkhardt was able to be at his office in the Grant building this morning.

The river has been cutting in at the west end of the Albuquerque bridge at Alameda so that it is now impassable. Freight and passengers are now being crossed by skiffs.

The Bank of Commerce is now all settled in its new quarters on the corner of Gold avenue and Second street, and is well prepared to accommodate the public in anything pertaining to the banking line.

Miss Ella Roseberry, of Springer, arrived here last night en route to San Marcial. She will visit today with her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Roseberry, and leave on No. 3 tonight for San Marcial, where she will visit for a few weeks with her sister, Mrs. W. G. Lane.

Chas. Hardin, an old settler in the Navajo country, and deputy assessor of Apache county, Arizona, died at Winslow Saturday evening. While out assessing he was thrown from his horse while crossing a small stream, and pneumonia fever followed causing his death in a few days. The deceased was a resident of the Navajo country for thirty-one years.

H. G. Whitcomb, of Tijera, is in the city looking up legal advice relating to a trouble he is having with his neighbors over water rights. He says Henry Carpenter and a party of a half dozen Mexicans came to his place and attempted to destroy a small dam he had built. He forced them to stop by getting his Winchester rifle. THE CITIZEN urges the people of Tijera to dwell together in peace and unity.

H. B. Ferguson returned last night from his "Old Abe" mine in Lincoln county. He brought with him, which he has shown to a number of friends, a piece of ore weighing about five ounces, and which is almost a pure nugget—nine tenths gold. The ore was taken from the vein at a depth of 100 feet. The owners are thoroughly working on the "Old Abe," believing the further the mine is developed the richer the ore will be.

Prominent Passengers.

M. Brunswick, the retired Jewish merchant of Las Vegas, who is rated very high in the hundreds of thousands by Bradstreet, was on his way to Silver City last night. He now spends considerable of his time in looking up first-class government contracts.

D. B. Bronson, president of the El Paso National bank, E. B. Van Keuck and another gentleman from Denver, the latter two eastern capitalists interested with a French syndicate in an irrigation scheme near El Paso, were on the train bound for the south last night.

Martin Miller, of the Tenth infantry, who was left behind at Fort Union—one of the recently abandoned forts—to oversee the property and pack up, passed through the city last night to join his company at Fort Wingate. Before Mr. Miller entered the service of Uncle Sam, he was yardmaster at the territorial penitentiary and witnessed three wardens step down and out—Messrs. Gregg, Gable and Burnett. E. G. Booth, another soldier, hailing from David's Island, New York harbor, was a passenger to Fort Hiam.

Among the passengers south bound last evening was William Einstein, of St. Louis, who is vice president of the Aztec Mining company at Pinos Altos, Grant county. The president of the company is Hon. Nathan Frank, ex-congressman of St. Louis. Several years ago Mr. Einstein was induced to stop over here and look at some of the mines adjacent to the city in the Sandia mountains. He visited the Star mine, and is of the opinion that with capital to thoroughly develop the mine it will prove a paying piece of property. He believes that there is rich mineral in the Sandias, but the great drawback is a lack of capital to push work on the claims.

A Fine Ranch Company.

While in Las Vegas THE CITIZEN scribbled Michael Slattery, a popular and efficient cattleman, and from him learned that the Brown & Wells Bell Ranch company now own the Wilson Waddingham ranch and cattle—the Montoya grant of 600,000 acres—clean, undisputed title, and the largest and finest cattle herd, best graded, in the territory. The new company will put in between 4,000 and 5,000 acres of alfalfa and feed of various kinds for the purpose of keeping up and fattening cattle. The irrigation works necessary and now under construction are among the most extensive and complete in the southwest, requiring an expenditure of a large amount of money. Mr. Slattery is the efficient superintendent—a practical and thoroughly versed cattle raiser and ranch manager. No effort will be spared to make this property the grandest in the west, and every condition of soil and climate is favorably adapted to such a result. The ranch is entirely fenced, and there is plenty of water for the purpose of irrigation.

They are Here.

Jacob Boehm, of Denver, and A. Brecher, gentlemen interested in the early construction of the Albuquerque Electric street railway, were passengers to the city on last night's No. 3 from the north. The other Denver and Chicago capitalists interested in the scheme, were unavoidably detained by business at home, but their prizes are held by Messrs. Boehm and Brecher. Their object is to hold a meeting, which is in session this afternoon, with the Albuquerque gentlemen connected with the company, effect a permanent organization and begin the work of construction at as early a day as possible. The hearty cooperation of our citizens should be extended to them, for these gentlemen undoubtedly mean business and with their capital expect to give Albuquerque an electric street railway, permanent and first class, as soon as it can be built and put in running operation.

Robbed.

Some time between 10 o'clock last night and daylight this morning burglars effected an entrance into the dry goods store of Spitz Bros., and about $15 worth of goods were found missing on investigation this morning. The thieves broke the lower panes of glass in the back door, with their hands pulled out the pin holding the bar, which they then raised and walked in. They were undoubtedly frightened away before completing their job, for they had piled up near the back door about $200 worth of goods, which they were compelled to leave. They also broke open and pulled from under the counters the money drawers, but found nothing as all the money was put in the safe on closing Saturday night. The police are in possession of the facts and are keeping their eyes peeled on certain mysterious characters.

Last year when the grip was playing and havoc with a number of our old and young bloods, Lieut. S. L. Callender went through all right and frequently made sport of the intense sufferings endured by some of those attacked. This season the lieutenant was not as lucky, he did not escape the prevailing influenza, and it is now asserted that he has entirely lost his grip. He will remain at his room for a few days.

Joseph Shotwell, a bright young gentleman from Richmond, Mo., who would have graduated in law at Ann Arbor, Mich., this spring, had his health permitted, is dying of consumption at Mrs. Hawley's on Silver avenue. HIT BY A FREIGHT TRAIN.

Daniel W. Lane, an Old Gentleman, Probably Fatally Injured.

This morning about 7:30 o'clock, while walking up the Santa Fe track, Daniel Webster Lane, familiarly called "The Major," was struck by a passing freight train, going north, and seriously, if not fatally, injured. The work train, which left the depot at 7:45 a. m., under Conductor Loan with Engineer Lawer at the throttle, was stopped just beyond the mountain road on hearing groans from a man lying to the right side of the track.

C. P. Jones, the dairyman, who was passing near by, was attracted to the spot when the train stopped and recognized the injured man Mr. Lane. Marshal Parr was then notified and with a hack repaired to the place, where "The Major" was taken to his room at the Los Angeles house. Blood was issuing from the right ear, bruises covered the left side of his face, and his coat, vest and shirt, badly stained with grease, were torn and almost wrenched from his body. He was laid on the bed in an unconscious state, in which condition he has remained, and Drs. Wroth and Pearce examined the wounds. They found that the skull on the right side of the head and just back of the ear was fractured, blood flowing from the back of the head, and on the right side of the back the skin is badly bruised and abraded, and two ribs are broken from the backbone, the left eye and left side of the face is frightfully disfigured. He is alive at this hour—4 o'clock p. m.—but it is the opinion of the physicians that "The Major" will never rally.

He was evidently walking along the outside of the rail, and was hit and thrown to the right side by the cylinders of the engine. A railroad gentleman at the depot advances the theory that "The Major" was on the train and in attempting to leap off met with the accident.

Two freight trains left the depot, north-bound, within a short time of each other. Conductor Smith, with Engineer Kehoe, pulled out at 6:55, followed at 7:35 a. m. by Conductor Carpenter with Engineer Shullenberger. Agent Farnsworth was notified of the accident, and he will use the wires to ascertain which one of the trains struck old man Lane. It is the belief among those who have examined into the case and made observations of the spot where the work train found the unconscious man, that he was struck by the last freight train which went north. Engineer Shullenberger's train.

Mr. Lane has been a resident of the city since 1882, coming here from the north. He first worked at the Journal hotel, then conducted by Lawrence Mariman, but of late years has been at the European. Business reverses and family troubles drove him away from his New York home and he sought the west. His wife and several daughters reside at Pitcher, N. Y., and a daughter, from all accounts his favorite child, is clerking in a store at De Kuyter, N. Y. Her name is Jessie M. Lane. He would never let any light into his past life, but it is understood that he is a Mason in excellent standing back in the east. For the past few days he has been drinking some what, and it is supposed that he was walking off the effects when hit by the train.

Frank Struggles, Arthur Henry, Jas. Martin and others are interesting themselves in his behalf, and telegrams have been sent to De Kuyter and Pitcher, N. Y., informing his family of the accident.

(From the Daily, April 15.)
Louis Kornberg and wife left to-day for Denver, to be absent from the city about two weeks.

N. C. Collier is cheerfully assisting the new city administration in getting started in good shape.

Mrs. J. J. Sharick and children left to-day for West Salem, Ohio, where she will probably remain in the future.

H. L. Ortiz, of Santa Fe, arrived at the track last evening with three running horses to participate in the spring meeting of the Gentlemen's Driving association.

The board of city commissioners are in special session this afternoon to devise ways and means to complete the dyke near Alameda. It is probable that they will make an appropriation to complete the work.

The selection of Chas. Masten as city marshal by the council appears to meet with general satisfaction. He is a capital young gentleman and his many friends believe that he will make one of the best marshals Albuquerque has ever had.

Deputy County Assessor I. M. Bond says the schedule returns are being received in much greater numbers for 1891 than was ever received before. He thinks the returns generally will average about twenty per cent higher than last year.

The Glorieta Mills of Franz Huning will close down Saturday evening for the purpose of repairs and to put in new machinery. A Hainey safety boiler will be put up and several new rolls. C. W. Meyers, the miller, reports the mills doing a big business.

James Crawford, of St. Louis, an invalid who has been stopping with his family at the San Felipe for the past few weeks, was able to appear in the rounds of the hotel yesterday and this morning. He is a consumptive and has had hemorrhages of the lungs.

W. Moore Clayton, of Bradstreet's agency, is down south on a revising trip. He is at Socorro to-day, and writes that a number of small Mexican stores, with bare, will discontinue the liquor traffic on account of the high license, which goes into effect on the 1st of May.

Judge H. L. Waldo, counselor for the Santa Fe road at Santa Fe, a member of the board of regents of the Territorial University, and a first-class citizen of the whole territory, is in the city to-day, arriving from Las Vegas. The judge has some legal business with the district court.

Judge Warren received a letter this morning from Col. Thos. Smith, who is in New York, stating that all arrange-

THE OLD AND NEW.

The New Board of Aldermen Moving In Business Transacted.

Last evening the town government, with Mayor Mandell in the chair, met for the first time. There was present besides the mayor, Trustees Lee, Johnson, Strong and Whiting, Recorder Lockhart, Attorney Collier and Marshal Farr.

The incoming mayor, Joseph E. Saint, and his board of city councilmen—Messrs. Armijo and Farr, from the First ward; Gabel and Masten, from the Second; Bowman and Kaster, from the Third; and Hunt and Miller, from the Fourth; and Recorder Hopkins, and a large number of interested citizens were also on hand.

On being tapped to order Recorder Lockhart read the minutes of the previous meeting, which were accepted by the board.

A communication from the Water Supply company was then read. It informed the board of the laying of certain water mains and the placing of fire hydrants on various streets.

The communication of Mayor Saint, withdrawing from the bond of Solon E. Ross, the sewer contractor, and the presentation of a new bond, with Stephen M. Polson, Wiley M. Weaver and Harvey R. Ferguson as sureties, received the attention of the board. The matter was accepted and placed on record.

The report of all the city officers were read and approved.

The financial committee placed its report on the following bills, the recorder being requested to draw warrants for the amounts:

W. L. Trimble & Co., $91.00
O. W. Strong, $25.00
J. D. May, $5.00
First street saloon, $1.00
George H. Glessner, $5.00
Chas. E. Winslow, $5.00
Henry Lockhart, $1.00
Peter Quier, $1.00
Mr. Eakin, $2.80
James H. Madden, $7.00
Dr. J. P. Kaster, $11.00
J. C. Haldrup, $11.92
John Geinger, $24.00
C. M. Fier, $28.50
C. F. Lewis, $1.65
B. P. Davis, $14.00
M. C. Zierdt, $3.50
Thos. O'Donnell, $11.00

The pay roll of officials up to last night was also read, approved and the recorder requested to draw warrants for the same.

Moved by Trustee Johnson, seconded by Trustee Strong, that the thanks of the outgoing council be extended to Recorder Lockhart and Attorney Collier.

There being no further business before the old board it was moved to adjourn sine die. Mayor Mandell in vacating his seat stated that he had performed his duty to the city to the best of his ability, and wished his successor and the new council a year of good acts toward the upbuilding and prosperity of the city.

Mayor Saint, the new aldermen and Recorder Hopkins then took seats around the table, and they were legally sworn in by Probate Court Clerk Harris.

On being called to order Alderman Gabel thought it proper that the new mayor make a few remarks and make a motion to that effect.

Mayor Saint, on rising, stated that as his words and acts for the next year would have to go down on record, he had prepared his remarks, which he read:

THE INAUGURAL ADDRESS.
It is with many misgivings that I enter upon the discharge of the responsible duties incumbent upon the office of the chief executive of the city of Albuquerque.

With no previous experience in the affairs of the municipal government to guide me, I am aware that my lack of information in many things that I ought to know will be apparent to all. But in the assistance which I trust this honorable body will give me, I hope to "pull through" with credit to myself and profit to the city. During the life of this administration our duty will require us to pass upon many questions of vital importance to the city, questions in which a proper inception of their scope and bearings may be of in calculable benefit to the public and may decide the destiny of this city for all time to come. In acting upon the questions which may come before this body, I feel that a careful, conscientious, intelligent consideration will in all cases be given, and that whatever the result may be, it will be reached through an honest conviction of what is right.

The question of title to the unoccupied lands to the Albuquerque town grant, the settlement of which has been taken up by the outgoing administration and the continuance of which now devolves upon us, is one of more than ordinary importance. If the city of Albuquerque has an interest in these lands as heir of the old community grant of Albuquerque, she should step boldly forward and insist upon her rights; on the other hand, if the present claimants have a good and sufficient title to the lands, they should be protected in their rights; but no compromise that this city council could make between the claimants and the city, could make a good title. It is a matter for the courts to settle, and the sooner it is done, the better it will be for all concerned. I think the proper course for the heirs of the community grant of Albuquerque to pursue, is to incorporate under the community grant law passed by the last legislature, selecting the directors provided for in that act and let these directors take up the question of perfecting the title with the government and contesting all claims adverse to the city's interests. These directors will represent the entire grant, while the mayor and council of the city of Albuquerque, as now constituted can only represent a partial interest in the grant.

In our efforts to induce people to come and make their homes with us, we boast of our beautiful climate and our superior local surroundings. Allow me to say that I fully concur in everything that has been said in regard to the climate advantages of this country, but in regard to the sanitary condition of our city, I am forced to admit that we have fallen short of our duty. What ten years ago might properly have been referred to as the virgin soil is now very far from the condition of virginity, and in many instances is about as pernicious as it is possible for the soil to become, and whatever degree of healthfulness we enjoy is due, not in any measure to our own efforts, but to our dry climate, our pure atmosphere and our great elevation. These have undoubtedly saved us from the prevalence of malarial diseases and deadly epidemics. Our sewer system will be completed soon, and then, when done, will be an important factor in preservation of public cleanliness and public health.

The reorganization of the board of health with enlarged powers and more stringent ordinances is to my mind one of the most

New Mexican.
Col. Edward Haren was in town yesterday and brings word that a prominent Kansas City artist, Mr. E. G. Ruggles, will soon visit Santa Fe with a view to painting a grand picture of the battle of Glorieta, which will be exhibited at the World's Fair as a part of this territory's display. Negotiations to this end have been in progress for some weeks, and through the kindly offices of Col. Haren and other old Santa Feans at Kansas City, Mr. Ruggles has accepted the invitation of Carlos Post, G. A. R., set forth in the appended resolutions recently adopted by the post:

Whereas, Information has reached this post through our friend, Col. Ed. Haren, that Mr. E. G. Ruggles, of Kansas City, Mo., a promising young American artist, intends, at his own expense, to paint a scene and historic picture of some one of the battles of the late war in New Mexico, to be exhibited at the World's Fair, to be held in Chicago in 1903, and

Whereas, It is the desire of this post that the subject of the said painting should be the battle of Glorieta, in which several of the members of this post bore a conspicuous part; it is therefore moved that Commodore Hiram Crampton and James E. Gregg, now sojourning at Kansas City, be requested, in company with Col. Edward Haren, to call upon Mr. E. G. Ruggles, the artist, and submit to him the wish herein expressed, and to assure him that the members of this post will individually take pleasure in aiding him to obtain all reliable necessary data within their reach for the purpose of enabling him to make the said picture true to history.

Don't Be a Nicker.
The business men of Albuquerque should give the cold shoulder to all such cheap penny advertising schemes as that for which the town is now being worked by certain parties from abroad, who have no interest whatever in Albuquerque or her people. The town has two good newspapers, conducted by men who are identified with the interests of the place, and devote their energies to the work of building it up, and patronage given to them will benefit those who have interests in the town a thousand times more than if thrown away on persons who are here to-day and gone to-morrow. Albuquerque cannot have too much good advertising, but a cheap circular, prepared by men who have no means of giving it any circulation outside the town, and who do not know anything about the place, is not worth the paper it is printed on, and the man who pays for a puff in such a thing simply allows himself to be duped.

For a number of years I have been subject to violent attacks of influenza, rheumatism which generally lasted about two months. On the first of this month I was attacked in the knee and suffered severely for two days, when I procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and it relieved me almost instantly.
