County Superintendent Bacon informs THE CITIZEN that there will be no elections held in June for school directors in districts Nos. 12, 25 and 31; these districts being included within the corporate limits of this city, and under the control of the board of education recently elected.
A slight fire occurred the other evening at the residence of D. Morelli, on North Sixth street. Their little child was playing with a lighted candle and touched it to the table cloth, which was soon in a blaze. Mrs. Morelli's screams attracted the attention of several neighbors, who extinguished the flames.
Williams, a painter by trade, and wife have skipped the city by the "light of the moon," leaving for parts unknown last evening. He has been here for several weeks, made money out of several jobs, but those whom he employed and never paid are around to-day mourning their loss. It is supposed that he took the train for Colorado.
Hon. H. C. Pickles, receiver of public moneys at the Pecos land office, was in the city yesterday. The gentleman speaks in glowing terms of his town, the Canadian valley, and states that thirty settlements are being induced to come and settle on the lands of that section of New Mexico. He is pleased to see such a magnificent city as Albuquerque, which he believes to become, if not now, the financial and commercial point of the southwest.
An Unknown Dead
Marcos C. de Baco, school superintendent for the county, returned late yesterday afternoon from the Rio Puerco country in the northwestern section of Bernalillo county, going as far as Nacimiento, in the interest of the schools, which he reports in fair condition.
He states that near San Ysidro about two weeks ago the dead body of an unknown Mexican was found in an arroyo partially covered over with water. The justice of the peace of that precinct summoned a coroner's jury and entered into a vigorous investigation of the affair, giving the body a close and critical examination. It was ascertained that the man had camped over night within a few yards of the arroyo, and that while asleep he was brained by being beaten over the head with a blunt instrument of some kind, stabbed on the left side in the region of the heart and shot through both feet. His blankets, which he evidently had from the pressure in the ground where he had slept, could not be found. The murderer had put the man's shoes on after killing and shooting him through the feet, and then dragged his lifeless body to the arroyo. The remains were found by a sheep herder, and the man, from all appearances, was only foully dealt with a few days before. The coroner's jury examined a number of people residing in the vicinity, but elicited no information on which suspicion would rest. Nothing was found in his clothing to give the slightest clue to his identity, and after ascertaining that they had performed their duty, the jury ordered his burial. The justice of the peace retained the man's coat, vest, hat and overalls for identification by some person if possible.
The Santa Fe Kids
The following letter was received from Santa Fe this morning, addressed to C. C. Hall, president of the Fair association:
SANTA FE, N. M., May 23, 1901.
Dear Sir:—Please let me know at once if you offer a prize for kid base ball games. We have a nine here that will come down in the time we want to play. All of our boys have uniforms and are all under 15 years of age. If you can answer this right away we would be pleased. We have enough money to pay our way down and back, but we want some Albuquerque money. Yours truly,
BERT WARD.

ONE OF HIS RECORDS.
Dr. Strachan Tells an Exciting Story of an Old Pioneer.
"I have just concluded the reading of the tragic killing of old Joe Dye in Las Arceles the other day by a young man named Mason Bradford," remarked Dr. W. T. Strachan at THE CITIZEN office last evening.
Dye seems to have been a remarkable man in many respects, an old pioneer who had many a hard tumble to keep himself from being perforated with bullets from Indians and white desperadoes, during which he killed several, and finally came to his end at the hands of an assassin. Can you tell an interesting narrative relative to the deceased?
"Yes, I could relate several very sensational and exciting events in his life while he was residing in New Mexico, but one will suffice to show that Joe Dye was no coward and would not take advantage of an enemy, although some claim since his death that he was on the kill and entirely too ready to use his pistol."
Go on, doctor, and let us have the story.
"If I remember he landed in Santa Fe in the fall of 1852. He was one of a number of teamsters and there were among the lot hard characters. Joe was a first-class shot and as fond of a joke as I am. He was for days on the plains and encountered savage Indians before he reached New Mexico. After landing in Santa Fe, Joe and Peter Panting, a hard character from South Carolina, engaged in a game of old sledge and in a dispute which ensued both men came to blows. Peter accused Joe of cheating and holding out the cards, and on leaving remarked: 'I will plant you, Joe Dye, among the cactus on the hillside of Santa Fe the next time I meet you.' The next day both men met face to face, and Dye said: 'Are you fixed, Peter?' 'No,' replied Panting. 'You have threatened to kill me. Here are two naves, take your choice of them,' rejoined Dye. Peter saw that he had to fight or suffer to be branded a coward, which would forever ruin him in the estimation of the old pioneers. He took his pick, and the two agreed to walk in opposite directions around the old Exchange adobe hotel—it was a stand-on one of the corners of the plaza of the territorial capital and on getting sight of each other fire simultaneously. The agreement was carried out to the letter, and Peter was shot through the neck, the ball from his pistol passing through Joe's hat, taking a furrow of hair from his head. Panting lingered between life and death for several weeks, and finally lived. He was afterwards heard from in Montana, where he came to this death by being shot by a tough gambler. And now Dye is dead, also, from a bullet."
(From the Daily, May 23.)
W. H. Matson, local auditor of the Santa Fe road, registers from Topeka at the San Felipe.
Bruce Tyler, relief station agent for the Atlantic & Pacific road, came in from the west last night.
R. Page, who has a ranch south of the city, has procured a number of silk worms, and will experiment on silk culture.
O. W. Strong is moving his undertaking stock from his present quarters to his new store at the corner of Second street and Tijera canon.
A terrible hail storm visited Santa Fe yesterday, and great damage was done to gardens and fruit. The hail fell to the depth of three inches.
T. A. Fair, of the Atlantic & Pacific auditor's office, who went back to far away New York to marry, returned to the city Saturday evening with his bride.
J. K. Peasly, of Fort Collins, Col., a large and extensive buyer of steers for eastern markets, is in the city and is being shown through the city by G. L. Brooks.
Several wagon loads of wool came in from the mountains this morning. The market has opened brisk with prices from 15 to 19 cents per pound according to quality.
The infant son of Simon Tafuya died yesterday morning. The funeral took place this afternoon at the new town Catholic church, and the burial in the Buralia cemetery.
It is probable that the fair association will provide for a base ball tournament during the September exhibition. The games should be restricted to clubs in New Mexico and Arizona.
Among the passengers for the west Saturday night were Mrs. M. E. Bradbury, of Ellingham, Ill. The lady was en route to Pasadena, Cal., where a daughter is lying seriously ill.
L. W. Roberts, conductor on the Atlantic & Pacific between this city and Winslow, has returned from a trip east. Mrs. Roberts and her bright little boys will spend the summer at White Sulphur, Va.
Daniel Turner, superintendent of Wells Fargo Express company, for the Mexico division, with headquarters at City of Mexico, was a passenger from the east, en route to his duties, yesterday morning.
Yesterday was a lively day in old town and the peace officers had a hard time preventing the hot heads from indulging in serious fights. As it was, several knock-downs occurred, with only slight damage to participants.
The machinists and blacksmiths of the Atlantic & Pacific shops engaged in a game of base ball on grounds in south Albuquerque yesterday afternoon. The blacksmiths were outclassed from start to finish, being defeated by the score of 13 to 6.
Peter Isherwood, one of the members of the Albuquerque Gun club, has received from the Lefever Arms Co., of New York, the prettiest breech-loading shot gun that the reporter has ever seen. It was made especially for Mr. Isherwood, who sent orders for it to be constructed according to plans furnished. The barrels are Damascus steel, with all the latest improvements. It is a ten-gauge, hammerless gun, and can be used by any person calling on Mr. Isherwood. The value of the gun is $100.

Frank Garst, interested in a Lincoln county cattle ranch, who has a large number of cattle at Eagle station, on the Santa Fe road, ready for shipment, is here to-day securing cattle raisers from Major Llesellyn, live stock agent of the road.
It is understood that A. W. Kimball, who is at present in Santa Fe at the office of the quartermaster at Fort Marcy, will remove to this city about July 1, as then the records of the fort will be transferred to the interior department at Washington.
Three innings were played yesterday afternoon between the Albuquerque ball club and a picked nine, when a general rain came down, the players sought shelter wherever they could, and the umpire called game. The score stood 3 to 2 in favor of the former.
B. A. Packard, a wealthy cattle raiser of Wilcox, Arizona, arrived here this morning with eighteen cars of cattle, which he is taking to Kureka, Kansas, for pasturing. They are the pick of his herd and are in good condition. Mr. Packard gives the information that stock of all kind in this section is in most excellent condition, there being an abundance of grass the entire winter.
Yesterday General Manager Nickeron, Division Superintendent Dyer, and Mudge and Master Mechanic English were investigating the recent accident, in which two engines were badly damaged in the Santa Fe yards here. Nels Nelson, engineer of the switch engine, and Chas. Waters, switchman, were held out for thirty days, and Engineer Mills, of the road engine, was exonerated.
John Blumner, a young Mexican fellow from Santa Fe, who has been here several weeks, was drunk again in old town yesterday, and Deputy Sheriff Hubbard put the boot-terrors fellow in the jail.
In attempting to subdue Blumner, the fellow pulled out a knife and made several slashes at the deputy sheriff, the knife fortunately falling short. Blumner is reported to be a dangerous cuss, when in his cups, and Santa Fe is called upon to guard him.
The Pinto back team of W. L. Trimble & Co. took it in their heads yesterday morning to run away. The horses were lassoed to a post in the Arce, when a piece of paper blew up in front of them. They snapped the strap, ran down Third street, turned the corner at Railroad avenue, coming down that avenue at a rapid clip, turned at Gros, Blackwell & Co's, where the hind wheels of the hack came off, continued down First street and thence on to Gold avenue, coming to a halt, through sheer exhaustion, at the Albuquerque National bank on Second street. The horses were not hurt, but the hack has gone into the shops for repairs.
Capt. A. M. Swan, one of the deputy assessors of the county, is home from his trip to Gallup, and has turned over to Assessor Arango about 140 assessment schedules. He reports a beer war raging between two factions. W. A. Maxwell on one side, and T. N. Hinch on the other. It seems that Mr. Maxwell, who handles St. Louis beer, raised the price of the fluid a half a dollar on the keg. A majority of the saloon keepers objected, and a company was formed to handle Milwaukee beer. Those who stuck by Mr. Maxwell are now furnished beer so cheap as to justify them to sell it at five cents a glass, and while the Milwaukee advocates still retain the usual ten cents per glass, it is Mr. Swan's opinion that they will finally, for self interest, meet the reduction. Regarding the strike with the coal miners, the captain reports it as about over, the miners concluding that they were in the wrong. He also states that the base ball club, of which Robt. Gibson is captain, is anxious to play here Decoration day.
Funeral of Rev. T. J. Glyn.
The funeral services of the remains of Rev. T. J. Glyn took place yesterday afternoon in the Episcopal church at 3 o'clock. The Masses attended in a body. The coffin was literally buried in flowers. Bishop Kendrick and Rev. Forrester conducted the services. The bishop's address regarding Mr. Glyn was very appropriate and impressive. Mrs. Nell B. Field sang a solo: "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say, Come unto me and Rest." The words were beautiful, and the pathos of her excellent voice touched every heart. At the close of the service the Masonic brethren bore the body from the church and a large procession followed to the cemetery. Dr. Wroth, the worshipful master, read the burial service and the members of the lodge stood around the grave and gave the grand honors of the order. The funeral was largely attended.
The Land Commissioner.
Gen. J. A. Williamson, land commissioner of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe and Atlantic & Pacific roads, with headquarters at Chicago, but whose business carries him all over the country, was a passenger from the east last night and will for a few days remain at the San Felipe. The general has no special news to impart to the citizens of Albuquerque, but he did state that the money market of the east is tighter now than for several years past. "It reminds me," continued the general, "of the grip, for those who were attacked several months ago, say last October, and did not die are now just recovering. The same in business, for those who did not fail a few months ago, but were hard pressed to meet their demands are now barely seeing their way clear." General Williamson reports his family back in the east all in good health, except Hellam S. Williamson, his son, and the ex-postmaster of this city. Hellam is at present on a ranch a few miles from Oakland, Cal., and should his condition be such as to need his attention, the general will go from here to California.

THEY DINLINE MR. JAMES.
The Strike Situation at Gallup According to Mrs. GATHER, N. M., May 23.
Encoreman.
Dear Sir: In your issue of the 22d inst. there appeared an article on the situation of the strike at present existing in some of the mines here, which is in many respects erroneous and misleading, and space is asked in the columns of your paper for the purpose of correcting them.
In the first paragraph you say that "the Aztec Coal company continues the service of Mr. James that another meeting, called for Sunday, the probability are that a general strike will be inaugurated, closing down all the mines," etc. Now there is nothing of the kind in view, no meeting has been called for that purpose, and such action on the part of the men will not be taken unless the Aztec Coal company refuses to remove Mr. James from the position of superintendent of their mines. A general strike will probably be the last thing resorted to by the men.
Now, in reference to the second paragraph of said article. There are many miners here who know Mr. James well, having worked under him at Carthage and Roskyade and who could not get along with him. At all places where he has had charge of mines his chief purpose seems to have been to cut wages, both of miners and other employes, under his charge. In short he has never given satisfaction to the men working under him, even here during the short time he has had charge of the Aztec Coal company's mines.
At the time that Mr. John Gibson quit the employ of the Gallup Coal company, an understanding it is said that the Gallup Coal company sent for Mr. James to come and take charge of their mine, but the matter leaked out before he had arrived and the men held a meeting and informed C. W. Kennedy, of that company, that if Mr. James was employed they would go out on a strike, and the company knowing that the men would terminate not to work under Mr. James, and looking to their own interests, did not employ him. Mr. James came here about the middle of February and took charge of the Aztec Coal company's mines during the latter part of April.
The miners and citizens of Gallup in general would like to know what Mr. James was doing here so long without making his intentions known, if it was not to learn the feeling of the community towards him? And it would also seem that the Aztec Coal company was looking for this trouble before they put him in charge of their mines.
Respectfully, R. V.
The Opening Game.
For the past two or three years, with the exception of two first class games with the Fort Wingate and Santa Fe clubs in the latter part of last season, Albuquerque has seen very little base ball playing.
It will be just to reverse this year, for a good amateur club has been organized, and letters have been received which indicate that a number of matches will be played on home grounds.
The season with a visiting team will open at the fair grounds Decoration day with a match game between the Albuquerque and the strong Socorro club. They will also play on Sunday afternoon, and thus the metropolitan will be treated to two games. The Socorro boys will arrive Friday night being met at the depot by a committee, to be appointed yet by the manager and captain of the home club.
It is understood that the new uniforms for the coming champions the Albuquerque will not arrive in time for these games.
The manager has been requested by several base ball enthusiasts to put his strongest players to the front regardless of personal feelings, and those let out should not feel offended. The opening games must be victories for the home club.
Contract Let.
The bids for the erection of a building at the corner of Railroad avenue and Fourth street by Jacob Yarnari were opened the other day and are as follows:
Strong & Hosselton, $8,725.00
J. W. McQuade, $8,800.00
Rudway & Hermann, $8,833.33
Edward Muller, $8,850.00
J. H. Drury, $9,338.81
Mr. Muller being the lowest bidder, the contract was let to that gentleman. The old brick stable will be torn down, and in its stead a handsome two-story brick building, with iron front and large plate glass, erected. It will be one of the most substantial business buildings in the city, and will surely be promptly rented on completion. It is understood that a gentleman has already made a proposition to lease the entire upstairs of the building for a term of five years.
A Criminal.
Constable Selvy, of Gallup, came in from the west last night, bringing to the county jail Joseph Hamilton, the man who recently killed John McColgan with a barrel stove at the Crown Point mine. Hamilton had a preliminary hearing for the killing and was put under $30 bonds to await the action of the grand jury. W. A. Maxwell and Joseph Reitz became his bondsmen. About three weeks ago he stole a horse from George Hight, rebranding it, and then took to the mountains. Last Saturday Constable Selvy learned that he was at Fort Wingate, where he was later in the day captured and brought to Gallup. He pleaded guilty to horse stealing, a $100 bond was given for his appearance. His former sureties withdrawing their names, in default of bondmen he was brought here to jail.
Farewell of Rev. S. C. Wright.
Last evening in the Highland M. E. church a good audience assembled, and through the evening was cold and wet. Rev. S. C. Wright and wife will leave in a few days for their visit in Canada and Ohio, and Sunday evening was their closing service. The text was taken from Joshua, being the request of Caleb's daughter to her father. At the close of his sermon Rev. Wright spoke of the work of the past winter, and thanked the audience for their many kindnesses extended to himself and wife, and said he hoped to meet them all again in a few weeks. His concluding words were for the press of the city. He said: "I desire also, just here, to express my warmest thanks to the press of Albuquerque for their kindness and courtesy to me during the three years I have been a pastor in this city. Every week I have given church notices, and have written of socials when we had them and concerts and have never been charged for a line. The large congregations that have used this church from week to week would have been smaller had I not been given the privilege of informing the public of the services to be held."

When Mrs. Wright concluded the offertory Dr. Allison stepped forward and addressed the pastor in his immediate style. In eloquent words he spoke of the success of the work of the year, and on behalf of the congregation thanked the pastor and his estimable wife for their fidelity in the Lord's work and concluded by asking them to accept a gold headed cane and a silver water picher and a purse of tokens of the good will and love that prompted their presentation. Mr. Wright replied in fitting terms to the address. The cane and picher are very costly and beautiful and bear the following inscription: "From friends to Rev. S. C. Wright, Albuquerque, May 24th, 1901. From friends to Mrs. S. C. Wright, etc." It is understood that Mr. Wright will be asked to take the church on his return and assume the pastorate for a number of years, although he has sent in his resignation to the bishop.
(From the Daily, May 23.)

The colored people will hold a Lady Washington tea party, the proceeds to go to the A. M. E. church, at Union hall this evening. This is not a leap year, but it is understood that the ladies will take the men, although the latter will be expected to go with well filled pocket books.
H. G. Whitcomb, of the popular camp in the Sandias, came in yesterday afternoon and left this morning for the camp with a wagon load of provisions. About a week ago the old gentleman had one of his horses to knock him down and in the fall his left leg came in contact with a stone. In consequence he is compelled to use crutches.
Dr. Winslow has received a letter notifying him of his appointment as a member of the committee on the World's Fair national medical congress from New Mexico. The doctor's appointment comes from the American Medical association which has just closed its sessions at Washington, D. C. The appointment suits the people of this city.
Mrs. Geo. Sullivan, wife of one of the most agreeable gentlemen of Las Vegas, is here with her husband, who is a sufferer with neuritis of the face, and is the guest of Mrs. John P. Collingsworth.
For neuritis, a friend says Albuquerque climate is superior to all, and instead of going to California he will return to Las Vegas in a few days a well man once more.

Tuell, the young lady who has been endeavoring to introduce in the schools the Pollard system of teaching spelling, left last night to confer with Territorial School Superintendent Chavez and also to be present when the territorial board of education meets one day next week. Rev. J. D. Bush, the hard working presiding elder of the Methodist church, south, was in the city a few hours last night. He came in on the early passenger from Gallup, but left for Socorro on the delayed train this morning.
The colored boys are making preparations to organize themselves into a territorial militia company. Henry Carter is instrumental in getting up the organization, and he informs THE CITIZEN that those who have signified their intention to join meet at E. H. Buckner's place on First street to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock. John Taylor is being talked of for captain of the company.
It is understood that Mayor Sant will issue a proclamation at to-morrow evening's meeting of the board of aldermen declaring Saturday (Decoration day) a holiday, and calling upon our merchants to close their stores. It will be the day when the graves of old soldiers will be strewn with flowers by loving hands, and appropriate services rendered by the local post of the Grand Army of the Republic. These will occur in the forenoon, and this afternoon the Socorro ball club will play the Albuquerque at the fair grounds.
A Timid Hold-Up.
This afternoon Marshal Maston arrested a man calling himself E. Stafford, a telegraph operator, and claiming to come from Cleveland, Ohio, on a complaint sworn out charging him with carrying deadly weapons, and the man is in jail. It seems that Stafford met an Arab, and on approaching him asked "whether he had any money, and where he was going?" The reply was "that he had lots of money and was going to Los Angeles." He persuaded the Arab to leave the depot on the pretense that he would buy him a cheap ticket to Los Angeles. He walked with the Arab to a vacant lot back of the Lead avenue Methodist church, where he pulled his revolver and demanded money from the Arab. The Arab, with presence of mind, grabbed the pistol and took it away from the would-be holdups, and on meeting Marshal Maston from the revolver and when a description of Stafford. It is claimed that Stafford really must be to allow a man to intend to hold up take his pistol away from him after making such heroic efforts to become a bad man.

Death of Don Pino.
Juan Jose Pino, the most influential and wealthy sheep raiser, residing near Cabera, at the plaza of San Jose, six miles from McCarty station, in Valencia county, died suddenly late yesterday afternoon. While en route home last night from his trip west, Mayor Sant received a telegram, informing him to have a coffin shipped out to McCarty's for the remains of the deceased, and Undertaker Strong sent out a fine coffin on the delayed passenger train this morning. The deceased was one of the largest men in weight in Valencia county, weighing at least 250 pounds, about 60 years old, and leaves a large family of sons and daughters, besides many relatives and a host of friends, to mourn his departure. One of his sons was Don Juan Pino, a recent sheriff of that county.
New Buildings.

Mrs. Ryan has carpenters at work at her pleasant home on the Highlands, adding needed and important improvements, and making the house somewhat more commodious and comfortable. When the additions contemplated are completed, Mrs. Ryan will have one of the coziest homes among the many nice places of that portion of the city.
Knights of Pythias.
Last night, Montezuma lodge No. 10, Knights of Pythias, conferred the Knight rank upon George Albright and Robert Silverberg. An interesting meeting was held, and the question of entertaining the Grand Lodge, which meets here in June, was discussed, and committees on reception and programme were appointed. It is the intention of the Knights here to furnish the visiting brethren with a banquet and extend to them a cordial welcome that they may go away feeling that the trip to the Duke city has been one of pleasure as well as profit.

FAIR NOTES.
The executive committee held a meeting last evening and will meet again to-morrow afternoon.
R. W. Barber was last night elected corresponding secretary of the fair association. Mr. Barber is a very thorough man, and the association has done well to secure him.
A building for the machine exhibit will be erected adjoining the main hall on the fair grounds, and the whole machine exhibit will be run by a twenty horse power engine.
The Albuquerque boys are on their mettle about the letter that appeared in THE CITIZEN from the base ball kids of Santa Fe. It is very probable that a match game will be arranged between these juvenile teams.
General Williamson, of the land department of the Atlantic & Pacific railroad, has promised to do all that is possible to make this year's exhibit a first one. Knowing Major Donnelly's ability and the interest that he has heretofore taken in the fair the friends of the Atlantic & Pacific may expect to see an exhibit to be proud of.
George Heimer, of the Atlantic & Pacific, these, has been appointed superintendent of the art department. Mr. Heimer, being an artist, and a business man besides, is particularly well qualified to make a success of this department. Parties sending pictures to the fair this year can feel assured that every care will be taken of them.
Saturday, September 19th, the last day of the fair, is to be set apart for the children and to be known as "Children's Day." The intention is to make this one of the most interesting days of the whole week, to provide amusements that will please not only the little ones but the big ones, too. The children will be admitted free on that day and made to feel that they own the grounds.
The National Sport.
H. G. Whitcomb, the most amateur catcher in the city, will handle L. Mandell's services, while little Murray will be assigned another position.
After the Albuquerque get through with Socorro, Gallup will be given a chance. Capt. Gibson, of the Gallup team, anxious to cross bats with the club of the metropolis, and he will be gratified in a few weeks.
The "racing committee" of the home club, to secure uniforms, which are on the way for the players and to purchase other necessary paraphernalia, were out yesterday, and met with grand success, only one refusal to donate being met with.
Scott Knight will begin to-morrow putting the diamond at the fair grounds in excellent condition. The Albuquerque street railway, controlled by generous and noble hearted citizens, will lend him all the necessary assistance. Mr. Knight is an enthusiastic and knows how to prepare a field for playing.
It is the wish of the citizens of Albuquerque that the best and strongest players be selected for the coming games—Decoration day and Sunday. Albuquerque must win, for Socorro is expected to draw good players from the Magdalena and Kelly teams. The opposing teams, however, will be amateurs, and they will put up a sharp sport.
Challenges are arising. Las Vegas is anxious to play a series of games and the manager and secretary of the home club will soon announce the dates when the battle for supremacy between the two towns will commence. Manager McCright recommended a first class catcher to Pierce Murphy, the bald headed player of the Las Vegas team, and the enterprising citizens of that town are woe in holding him.
Paulsen Paid.
On or about May 15th, H. C. Paulsen, of this city, sent two tickets to Denver to be used to parties coming this way. The parties that bought the tickets gave up $50. Mr. Paulsen was to return them $45 on their arrival here, but Conductor Riechly took up the tickets and charged the men full fare. Mr. Paulsen was used to recover the money, the suit being against the American Ticket Brokers' association. The case was settled this morning by Mr. Paulsen paying the full amount claimed, amounting to $91.50. The case was up before Judge Madden, and the defendant was represented by R. W. D. Bryan, the complainant being represented by Messrs. Tholan & Heacock.
Bracht Building Fund.
Notice is hereby given that the ladies of the African M. E. church will give a Martha Washington birthday party at Union hall, this evening, May 25, 1901. A grand time is guaranteed to all. A good supper will be served. Everybody is invited to attend, as the proceeds are to be applied to the building fund of the church. Mrs. Louisa Armistead and the committee have secured no pains but what the social shall be a success. Admission 25 cents.
Miss L. A. Gilmore, the music teacher at the Academy, will leave this evening for the east. It is learned that the lady will first visit friends in Iowa, after which she will go to Manhattan Beach, N. Y., where she will enjoy the hot summer months, basking in the delightful ocean breezes and gathering strength from baths in the salty waters of the deep. Miss Gilmore, also a teacher at the Academy, will next Wednesday go to Prescott, Arizona, to spend a few months with relatives and friends.

JUSTICE PREVAILS.

The U. S. Supreme Court's Decision of the Santa Fe County Election Cases.

The news that the United States supreme court had affirmed the decision of the district and territorial supreme courts in the county election case came to hand from Washington late last evening and created no little excitement about the streets. John H. Knapp, esq., whose splendid legal victory in this matter was referred to by the press, received the dispatch. It stated simply that the supreme court had sustained the action of the lower courts; that the opinion was by Justice Brandeis and was fully concurred in by his associates on the supreme bench. In five minutes after the receipt of the news it was announced to the public by an extra issued from the New Mexican office.

Of course there was great rejoicing among the masses that the long contest was settled for, the republicans were very jubilant, and only a handful of losers and self-satisfied office holders appeared glum over it. The plain English of the decision is that County Clerk Pedro Delgado was in the county jail at the time of the election, and his refusal to obey the order of the court to resign as clerk was a violation of the law. The court also held that the election was void, and that the result should be a new election. The court also held that the election was void, and that the result should be a new election.

THE POSTMASTER RELEASED.

The United States Commissioner's Decision That He Did His Duty.

On Saturday afternoon Commissioner McKie stated that while he had fully determined upon what ought to be the verdict in the case, yet recognizing the importance of law, and wishing to make no mistake that he would if there was no serious objection ask Judge Bookler, the other commissioner, to study the evidence and law as presented and sit with him to-day in rendering a decision.

Shortly after 2 o'clock the court was called to order and Judge McKie stated that the decision had been agreed upon without any differences between the commissioners and was "that the defendant should go free without delay."

This is a complete vindication of the postmaster, and cannot be claimed to have been a partisan decision in any sense of the word, as both the commissioners are staunch democrats and are not in sympathy with the administration.

But the justice of the complaint was so apparent that Commissioner McKie was satisfied at the very outset that there was no case against the postmaster. However, in order that there should be no question of complaint, he asked to Judge Bookler in consultation, although the latter could not render a verdict.

NAVIGATOR EXERCISED.

The Navigator at Fort Wingate is greatly exercised just now over the attempt to take their children to school at Grand Junction, Col.

They say they want their children at home, and, furthermore, that those who have formerly gone to this school have been cruelly treated and abused. A school agent who recently attempted to remove a party of children to the school was unceremoniously hustled off the reservation and warned not to return if he valued his life.

T. H. Burgess & Son, the druggists, are anxious to publish the following testimonial as they handle the remedy and believe it reliable.

I bought a 50-cent bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and applied it to my limbs, which have been afflicted with rheumatism at intervals for one year. At the time I bought the Pain Balm I was unable to walk. I can say truthfully that Pain Balm has completely cured me. I. H. Farr, Holbrook, Kan. Mr. A. Cox, the leading druggist at Holywood, B. Co., for the truth of the above statement.

The entering wedge of a complaint which may prove fatal is often a slight cold which a dose or two of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral might have cured at the commencement. It would be well, therefore, to keep the remedy within reach at all times.
