NOT SO COCKSURE.

The Washington Star, the leading republican paper at the national capital, acknowledges that the presidential race is somewhat in doubt, and that if Mr. Roosevelt does not rally his friends Mr. Taft may meet with defeat. Its deductions are drawn from observant republicans, and the following is a sample:

"The way the campaign appears to some of the republican observers here is this:

"They feel that the sober second thought of a majority of the people will decide in favor of Taft as against Bryan. They can not bring themselves to believe that the country is ready to take the radical swing which indorsement of Bryan would mean. They cannot see how the existing tremendous republican majorities can be swept away.

"Now, despite that feeling, that near-conviction, they are confronted with a number of practical conditions, of a disturbing character, which if universally prevalent, upsets their calculations. They see the labor vote sullen and resentful. They find the negro vote in a state of insurrection. They observe democratic harmony everywhere and republican disunion widespread.

"There are not the compensating conditions which existed in 1896 and brought republican victory. There is not the mammoth campaign fund of that year. There is not the organization which Mark Hanna built up. So, these republican observers who are honest with themselves realize that it is not a certainty that Mr. Taft can not be beaten. Although they do not believe it will happen it is within the range of possibilities that a revolution in politics is brewing.

"So they don't want to take any chances. They want the president to get into the campaign and rally his people. They feel assured that if he points out what they consider a menace and asks for material support for the campaign it will be forthcoming.

"The reports which come to New York indicate that the president does not share this feeling of concern about the outcome; that he is cocksure that Taft has Bryan beaten right now, and these friends of the president, while making their appeal for an exhibition of strenuousness from the White House, are fearful that the president's confidence in a safe republican majority will preclude his responding in the way they urge.

"One of the 'elder statesmen' among the republican observers here made this suggestion in the course of a conversation:

"I have been harking back to 1892, when we went down under a landslide, and contrasting the conditions now with those of that period. In one respect the comparison is ominous. In 1892 we had our workingmen at work. That was the high tide of employment and wage earning up to that time. Yet, with labor at work, dissatisfaction with conditions led to a revolt.

"Now, there are thousands of laboring men out of work; there is discontent on every side; prices of living are still high. If these men, who had a wage at that time, revolted, what will they do now when they have no job and when prices are no lower than in 1892?"

HOW TO EAT FRUIT

SUGGESTIONS FOR THOSE WHO WOULD AVOID FATNESS.

Most Fresh Vegetables Also Are Flesh-
Making—Use Neither Sugar Nor Cream with Fruits in the Least Acid.

The summer is a bad season for women who are inclined to grow stout, for almost all fresh vegetables are fleshmaking; so, too, are many of the fresh fruits. What makes the situation more difficult for fleshy persons is the fact that both of these articles of diet are excellent for the complexion and the blood, and therefore should not be eliminated from the daily menu.

As suggestions of how to eat fruit without increasing weight, try the following: Peaches are among the most desirable food, being nourishing and thirst quenching. They may be eaten in great quantity and will have little effect upon the flesh unless sugar is taken with them. Cream should never be used in combination with them or any other fruit which is in the least acid, because it curdles, making a fermentation that renders digestion difficult or impossible.

Cantaloupe melons should not be eaten by persons who find that they cause an acid condition of the stomach. It is only fair to say, however, that they are less apt to bring on this state if seasoned with salt rather than sugar. Pears are less digestible than either of the first two fruits mentioned. Watermelon is delicious to the taste, but it is utterly lacking in any nourishing qualities. Therefore, when it is eaten, it should be as a substitute for water and is more digestible between meals than when taken with other food.

Many persons will find that fruit eaten by itself, not with the meals, is less apt to ferment in the stomach. Doing without water, making the fruit juice take its place, is also an aid to digestion. Water may be drunk freely, however, half an hour or so after eating.

It is practically impossible to eat too many fresh vegetables, and it would be well if, in extremely hot weather, meat were eliminated every other day. Beef, mutton, lamb and the like only heat the blood, and as less heat is taken from the body in warm weather than in cold, it is not necessary to give the same food supply that is required in winter. String beans, beets, spinach, boiled cabbage and other watery vegetables are not fat making. Corn, green peas, lima beans and the like do make flesh. But it should be remembered that they may be eaten now by persons who should avoid them in winter, because the increased flow of perspiration will help to keep down the weight and counteract the starchy effect of what they have taken into their systems. It is also worth bearing in mind that not drinking water with food will do much toward preventing additional weight.

Ice cream is, in effect, something like fruits already told of. Taken with meals it is fattening. Eaten alone, as a substitute for food, it is nourishing; is not fattening and is easily digested. There is no better luncheon in summer than a cup of cold consommé, followed by a dish of ice cream, not sherbet. The latter is almost entirely water, while the former is largely milk. It should not be regarded as a luxury, but as a necessary hot weather food, and the best quality that can be afforded should be bought. The better it is, the more cream it contains, the more nourishing it becomes.

Ice liquids, taken in quantity, with meals, are both fattening and indigestible. Nevertheless, it is not to be expected that people will give them up, so the next best thing is that they shall be taken between meals.

Physicians Recommend Castoria

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: First—The indisputable evidence that it is harmless; Second—That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food; Third—It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for Castor Oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any Opium, Morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrups, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a Medical Journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. B. Halstead Scott, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria often for infants during my practice, and find it very satisfactory."

Dr. William Belmont, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "Your Castoria stands first in its class. In my thirty years of practice I can say I never have found anything that so filled the place."

Dr. J. H. Taft, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria and found it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent."

Dr. R. J. Hamlen, of Detroit, Mich., says: "I prescribe your Castoria extensively, as I have never found anything to equal it for children's troubles. I am aware that there are imitations in the field, but I always see that my patients get Fletcher's."

Dr. Wm. J. McCrann, of Omaha, Neb., says: "As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine, and aside from my own family experience I have in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."

Dr. J. R. Clausen, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "The name that your Castoria has made for itself in the tens of thousands of homes blessed by the presence of children, scarcely needs to be supplemented by the endorsement of the medical profession, but I, for one, most heartily endorse it and believe it an excellent remedy."

Dr. R. M. Ward, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Physicians generally do not prescribe proprietary preparations, but in the case of Castoria my experience, like that of many other physicians, has taught me to make an exception. I prescribe your Castoria in my practice because I have found it to be a thoroughly reliable remedy for children's complaints. Any physician who has raised a family, as I have, will join me in heartiest recommendation of Castoria."

How Hammer of Death Struck James.

The old parish church of Plumstead, which has just been reopened, is probably at least 1,000 years old. The picturesque churchyard, a cherished haunt of the poet Bloomfield during his visits to Shooter's Hill, contains a delightfully choice "derangement of epitaphs." One of these, on "Master James Darling, aged ten," teaches a lesson of moderation during the present cherry season to the youth of other places besides Plumstead. Speaking from his tombstone, Master Darling exclaims:

"The hammer of Death was give to me For eating the cherries off the tree."

Very Tempting.

A man was brought before a justice of the peace charged with the offense of kissing a young woman "by force and violence, and against her will."

The young lady, who was very handsome, gave her testimony in a modest and straightforward manner, after which his honor gave the following decision: "The court in this case sympathizes with the defendant, and will therefore discharge him without fine, imprisonment or reprimand, because the court while this case has been in progress has been obliged to hold on to both arms of his chair to keep from kissing the complainant himself."

HOUSE WORK

Thousands of American women in our homes are daily sacrificing their lives to duty.

In order to keep the home neat and pretty, the children well dressed and tidy, women overdo. A female weakness or displacement is often brought on and they suffer in silence, drifting along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have help to overcome the pains and aches which daily make life a burden.

It is to these faithful women that comes as a boon and a blessing, as it did to Mrs. F. Ellsworth, of Mayville, N. Y., and to Mrs. W. P. Boyd, of Beaver Falls, Pa., who say:

"I was not able to do my own work, owing to the female trouble from which I suffered. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me wonderfully, and I am so well that I can do as big a day's work as I ever did. I wish every sick woman would try it."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

LATEST IN SACHETS

SWEET LAVENDER THE PERFUME PREFERRED.

Idea Comes from England, and is Well Worth Adopting—Various Ways of Preparing the Dainty Articles.

One of the sachets prepared for the English bazars is made from lavender heads. Of course, lavender can be bought here in quantities, and its quaint pungent odor is as healthful as it is clean smelling. A novel way of packing the lavender at these bazars was the placing of it in flat baskets instead of in the ordinary bags of various sizes, shapes and materials.

The lavender is first placed in cheesecloth and then fitted tightly into the basket, the cloth being brought over the top and the cover then fastened down. The basket should be packed as tightly as possible and tied with lavender ribbons matching the color of the lavender flowers. The basket should be open enough to admit of the ready escape of the odor. These baskets, when flat and not large, may be easily packed in drawers and with one's folded clothes.

If used to scent a room large baskets should be filled and the cover left so it may be untied and thrown back, the top of the cheesecloth or gauze-covered heads being veiled by a bit of lavender china silk or other suitable thin material, embroidered perhaps in silver or lavender, and tied at each corner to the basket with a narrow lavender ribbon. The lid should be shut at night to keep the scent in, and if it is desired to retain the scent a long time, the basket may be lined throughout with chamois skin or something of that nature, so that only when the basket is open can the scent freely escape.

CUSHION OF SPECIAL VALUE.

Article Will Be Highly Appreciated by the Traveler.

Our sketch illustrates a most useful kind of cushion that will be appreciating to do. A long journey, especially at night time, is generally rather a comfortless proceeding, and a cushion for one's head is a thing not to be despised. An ordinary cushion is an extremely awkward thing to carry.

dated by anyone who has much travel and out of the question when our hands are partially occupied with other things. The cushion shown in our sketch is made in the simplest form, and edged all round with cord, and there is a loop of cord at the top by which it may easily be carried. Another good feature of this cushion is, that on one side it is fitted with two spacious pockets into which a handkerchief, gloves, or even a purse may be slipped and be ready to hand when required. They can, of course, easily be removed when the cushion is being used for other purposes.

Another lavender scent case may be made of a small flat cardboard box, which should be perforated with many small holes. A stiletto is the proper instrument for doing this. Then fill with lavender. The box should be of the sort in which the top comes quite to the bottom of the box, or else of the type where the edges meet in the center so that the sides may be smooth. Then take a bit of suede or leather or any brocade or cretonne and make a cover like a book cover. Two bits of cretonne or leather joined over the back of the box, where the title of the book appears, with a strip of different leather or plain stuff, makes a pretty cover. On the back of the book its title, any fancied name, may be printed in lavender ink.

One such volume of perfume had the white edges of the box striped with many fine lines with violet ink, to represent the edges of the leaves, and a tiny book cover was made out of a bit of green tapestry, the exact size of the box; presumably, a box large enough to fit the tapestry was selected. The woven edges of the tapestry were turned under, and the whole was lined with dull green taffeta silk, stitched to the tapestry.

Down the back of the book a strip of dull light green satin ribbon just the depth of the box was drawn taut, a bit of pasteboard being slipped under the tapestry, and across this ribbon in slanting letters, the title was painted in lavender paint. The cover was then tied on the box by three strips of narrow silver braid, arranged like clasps, one at each end and one in the center, the ends being sewed under the edges of the tapestry.

The holes in the cardboard top and bottom were quite large, as the tapestry and silk made a rather heavy covering. Another book was a white celluloid box full of holes covered with lace, and tied with lavender ribbon. On the lavender satin back was painted in pale green: "Lavender and Old Lace."

USE FOR OLD WAISTS.

Can Be Made into Practical and Charming Dressing Sacques.

Nearly every one has several waists in a closet which for some reason cannot be worn and every time one sees them one sighs. Now that same waist that has looked so hopeless to you can be made into a practical and charming dressing sacque. The first step in remodeling it is to try it on and see wherein it needs altering. The sleeves should clear the elbow and the cuff should be large so as to leave the arm free. The waist line should then be determined and the waist should have belt sewed on so as to keep it neat around the waist and the material below the waist line may serve as a poplin. The neck is the next part that should be fixed. Cut the neck either square or round, leaving plenty of room for the head to move freely, for this is essential when one is working. Bind the neck with a bias band of some pretty material. If the waist is white it may be made dainty by the addition of cuffs, belt, and collar of pale blue or pale pink gingham. If the waist fastens in the back the poplin should be omitted.

A MATTER OF RECORD.

It has been currently reported that the board of county commissioners had appropriated a large sum of money on a road below Lincoln—the sum has, by repetition, grown to $1,500—and as a result, the enemies of Robert H. Taylor are circulating the report with the hope of preventing his re-election. Of the other two members of the board, Rumaldo Duran, in the first district, holds over, and Capt. Krouse is not a candidate; hence the attempt to cast the blame on Taylor alone.

The fact is that no appropriation whatever was made by the board, as the record, which has formerly been published shows, and which is reproduced to convince anyone who may yet have a lingering doubt. The people of the lower end of county asked the board to assist in repairing what is known as the "Big Hill," or in some way avoid that dangerous climb. So, in accordance with this demand, the board, at its regular July, 1908 meeting, entered the following in the minutes of the commissioners' proceedings:

"It is ordered by the board that W. R. Beaty, county surveyor, survey a road through the Casey canon, beginning at a point on the public road, known as the Robert Casey house, and running easterly and connecting with the Roswell road at the top of the big hill. The said county surveyor is ordered to report on or before August 31, 1908, at a meeting of this board."

At the August, 1908 meeting, the following minute, concerning this same matter, was entered of record:

"The report of W. R. Beaty, county surveyor, for the survey made at the Casey canon, was accepted.

"The road surveyed by the county surveyor up the Casey canon not being practicable, as the cost would be too great for the county to undertake its construction, the board rejects the survey and will improve the hill road."

Does anyone doubt the foregoing? The record is in the clerk's office at the county seat. Does anyone deny the people the right to ask the board of county commissioners for aid to repair a road that is almost impassable and in which half of the people of the county are interested? If so, selfishness must be his guide.

BASEBALL VS. POLITICS.

"Long practice has enabled Pitcher Bryan to throw an extremely deceptive curve."—Chicago Tribune.

"And of course like many pitchers has been a little weak at the bat."—Albuquerque Journal.

Repeated statements like the above, and the constant mixture of baseball and politics probably led to the production of the following by Oliver McKnight:

Eighty million eyes were on them as they jumped into the fray.

In game of ball between two nines in town of Yonassaye:

Eight innings had been played, with half of another one.

The "fans" were getting wild; neither side had scored a run.

Beneath the grandstand's shade, all sitting in quiet ease,

Were jolly millionaires, enjoying "privilege;"

While out upon the "bleachers" were the brawny men of toil.

The men who do the needed work on this alleged free soil.

The ball that they were playing with was made of "tariff" thread.

It "lively" was to all who knew, to others it was "dead!"

And none there was upon it, though it was hard to use,

But down underneath the hide was writ "Monopoly."

Bill Taft was in the box, Miss Johnson was at the bat.

But soon went out on strikes; Del. Gray on a fly fell fat!

Then Lady Kern, with mighty swing, was lucky, so 'twas said;

He had landed safe on second, with one over Sherman's head.

The grandstand folks were furious, but laid back with quiet smile,

"Taft will strike the next one out, we'll beat them by a mile!

And when they saw Nebraska Bill step onto the form,
All cried out, with lusty shout: "He struck out twice before!"
Not so the braiding bleachers, they all to their feet arose,
Crying: "Hit it, Bill! soak it, old pal; hit it on the nose!"
Then Taft he threw a "pohliosity" curve, just like a spiral spring,
And Bill he saw it coming along, like a bird with one bum wing.
With his good bat "Persimmon" he hit that old fake ball,
And knocked it into smithereens, thread, cover, name and all!
The bleachers swarm onto the field, they at the grandstand rail:
"You cannot scare us any more with your old 'fak' dinner pail!"
Somewhere within this old world there's tons of people sad,
But after next November, things will not be so bad!

Mr. Murray of the Murry-Slease mining company, returned last week from Kansas. Mr. Murray is developing some coal mines in the Little Burros.

Bish Adams, who has been at at I-N ranch for some time, returned to Chicago last week. He went home to look after business interests in Chicago.

Several enterprising property owners have been developing water here. They have secured two wells with an unlimited supply of water. One is 45 feet deep and the other is 52 feet in depth. Mineral water, which the company is now having analyzed, was struck in one of them.

THE ORPHANS' HOME.

Some weeks ago a statement was made through the columns of your paper regarding the establishing of an Orphans' Home and school in the vicinity of Texas Park. We have been somewhat delayed, but now have been given a permit to use the land until the matter is entirely settled. We will begin work at once on the place.

I make this statement because of some who have expressed themselves as desirous of helping at the proper time. I am sure the work done in the school will, after inspection, be appreciated by those who care for religious training for their children.

Primarily, the school is for the benefit of the orphans, but will be opened to the public to the extent of our capacity to care for others. Our capacity will depend largely upon our ability to engage proper teaching help.

Now to the point of help again.

To those who are interested and desire to help, will say: any amount you are able to give will be appreciated. This is not begging, as all these points answered have all been asked me at different times; and as this is the most convenient plan of answering, I adopt it for the present, by the kindness of the editor.

Some one has very kindly placed a few dollars to my credit in the Exchange Bank, Carrizozo. Will say any others who are unable to see me, and want to make a contribution may do likewise. My address will be White Oaks, N. M., for the winter.

Thanking all for their kindness in everything done,

I am,

Yours sincerely,

M. T. DYE.

Tom McDonald, a cowman of the San Andres country, was in Carrizozo this week, delivering a bunch of cattle for shipment. Mr. McDonald has ordered piping, which he will lay for a distance of four miles, in order to connect his stock with both grass and water. He now has these two elements, but they are in different localities; hence the necessity of laying pipe.

E. A. Johnson, W. F. Bingham, Gordon Gray, R. Irminger and grandson brought a bunch of cattle over from Capitan yesterday. Yearlings, two-year old steers and cows constituted the bunch. The cattle were loaded on the cars today and will be shipped to Kansas City.

W. M. Ferguson was down from the Nogal Mesa Wednesday, with 2,500 pounds of beans, about half the product from 3 1/2 acres of ground. The productive quality of beans and the high prices they bring make them one of the most profitable of crops. Mr. Ferguson hopes to realize about $60 per acre on his bean crop.

Dr. J. W. Laws returned from Washington last Sunday, and went to his home at Lincoln the following day. The doctor had been at Washington to attend the International Tuberculosis Congress, where he met and heard some of the most eminent medical scientists of the age. The next meeting of this congress will be held in Rome, Italy.

B. F. Gumm was up from Three Rivers country several days last week, returning Monday. "Dad," as he is affectionately called by his friends who have known him in the White Oaks country for the past twenty years, is bearing up well, notwithstanding the burden of 81 years. He is hale and hearty and enjoys a joke as well as ever. May he yet be long in the land.

Stephenson and Stuart, of Alto, shipped from Capitan yesterday eight fine Angora bucks to R. S. Caruthers, at Douglas, Arizona. Another South African buck has been added to this celebrated flock, owned by these gentlemen, and their fame, which extends beyond this territory, will increase with years. Goats are good property, and the mountains of Lincoln county produce the best.

Henry H. Milden, Ishpeming, Michigan, and L. L. Newton, Chicago, came in last week to look after their mining interests in this county. These gentlemen are stockholders in a local mining company, and are here to attend to the annual assessments on their claims. This company's property consists of a number of copper claims, located just north of the Schelerville copper properties. These properties, so far as developed, show up well, and numerous assays have been made, some of which gave a value of $60.00 per ton.

EVANS LEAVES NAVY

NAME OF "FIGHTING BOB" PLACED ON RETIRED LIST.

Picturesque and Spectacular Figure Removed from Public Life by Act—Saw Variety of Service During His Career.

Washington.—Rear-Admiral Robley D. Evans, after a lifetime of service under the Stars and Stripes, has retired on reaching the age limit. Although he has been inactive for several months on account of ill health he has merely been on leave of absence from the Atlantic battleship fleet which was lately under his command.

The official passing of "Fighting Bob" Evans removes one of the most picturesque and spectacular figures of "Fighting Bob" Evans.

American public life. He practically closed his official career on May 7 last when he participated personally in an imposing parade of soldiers and sailors at San Francisco.

The admiral has been in ill health for some time and found it expedient to reside in the healthful solitudes surrounding Lake Mohonk.

Admiral Evans has seen service of almost every variety in the marine fighting world. In times of peace he was a strict disciplinarian and conducted maneuvers and target cruises; he worked with the lighthouse board; he represented the United States navy at stately gatherings where ships of other nations foregathered for pageant and display, and he drove the seal poachers from the Bering sea.

He smelled gunpowder in real fighting in two wars, the war of the rebellion, where he was severely wounded, and the Spanish-American war; he did much to build up the navy and arouse the interest of the people in the fighting power of this nation, and, finally, he conducted the herculean task of guiding the greatest fleet over the greatest cruise in history.

"Fighting Bob" was born in Virginia in 1846, and during his boyhood lived the life of any other care-free American lad.

Upon the death of his father Evans went to live with his uncle, Alexander H. Evans, in Washington, D. C. Here he attended Gonzaga college. In 1859 he was offered an appointment to the Naval academy at Annapolis.

In 1860 he joined his class at the naval academy and afterward during the civil war he served as ensign and midshipman. He served on board the frigate Powhatan, in the flying squadron under Admiral Lardner and also in the east gulf under the same officer.

Afterward he served in the north Atlantic under Admiral Porter.

It was during this sea service that he participated in the desperate assault upon and capture of Fort Fisher.

A bullet through the right knee cap, neglect and bad surgical treatment maimed the young fighter for life and even yet he limps badly and his wound often gives him much pain.

For a time after this Evans was compelled to give up active duty, but was shortly promoted by congress for gallantry. He then sailed for China on the Delaware, the flagship of Vice-Admiral Rowan. Upon his return to the United States "Fighting Bob" was given ordnance duty until 1870. In that year he married Charlotte, the daughter of Frank Taylor of Washington.

Until nearly 1873 he was stationed at Annapolis. Then he was sent to the Mediterranean as navigator of the Shenandoah. With this vessel he returned subsequently to Key West upon the threatened outbreak of the war between the United States and Spain in 1874.

When the Spanish-American war broke out Evans, then captain, was in command of the Indiana. His historic utterance to Secretary of State Hay is well known.

"If you will send me to Havana," he said, "I will smell of garlic for some time."

MISSOURI'S ONLY LIGHTHOUSE

Is Near St. Louis and Is Also Water Intake Tower for City.

St. Louis.—Away from the world, apart from his fellow men, dependent upon the inanimate things around him for companionship, the keeper of the only lighthouse in Missouri lives the life of a hermit and is happy.

Less than a hundred yards from shore and not three miles from this city the intake tower of the St. Louis water works is as isolated as if it were on a desert island. There is no communication with the shore except by boat or signal, and no way of reaching the living rooms of the tower except by a hazardous climb up the face of the tower from the water's edge. The tower stands out in a turbulent stretch of the Mississippi, near where the Missouri flows into it, and the waves which dash against it on stormy nights or during a flood have all the characteristics of ocean breakers. The tower carries the government river lights, which must be kept burning from dark until dawn every night in the year, and in all respects except geographical position the intake tower is as much a lighthouse as any that guard the sea coasts of the world.

Its keeper, James Landers, is likewise a typical lighthouse keeper except in two respects. He has no helper, and he looks landward, loving the beauties of the shore rather than those of the water.

There is not room in the little tower for many persons, and there are not duties enough to keep one man busy. Therefore, except during the coldest weather of the winter when the ice floes are running heavy and there is danger of a pack and a freeze in front of the tunnel through which St. Louis gets its water, one man does the work of both the city and the government at the tower, living alone and seldom going ashore. His duties consist of tending the gates to the tunnel, opening and shutting them according to signals from the pumping station at Chain of Rocks; seeing that no river drift or ice packs up against the grating which covers the mouth of the tunnel, and keeping the government lights. Day and night at stated hours he must look to the condition of the gates, and at intervals through the night he visits the lights, but between these hours he has nothing to do.

Landers' house, which is the top-most room in the tower, and bedroom, living room and kitchen combined, is as neat as a pin and as convenient as a modern dining car kitchen, and most of the arrangements he has made himself. The room is round, with windows looking to the four winds, literally, for they are between the four recognized points of the compass. In it are all his household goods, and in spite of the nondescript character of the place it has a homey aspect that shows much of the tastes of its only occupant.

A TEXAS CLERGYMAN

Speaks Out for the Benefit of Suffering Thousands.

Rev. G. M. Gray, Baptist Clergyman, of Whitesboro, Tex., says: "Four years ago I suffered misery with lumbago. Every movement was one of pain. Doan's Kidney Pills removed the whole difficulty after only a short time. Although I do not like to have my name used publicly, I make an exception in this case, so that other sufferers from kidney trouble may profit by my experience."

POINTER BY THE PICKPOCKET.

Best Method for the Protection of a Diamond Stud.

"An acquaintance of mine had a queer experience the other day," said a man who has not much faith in anything. "A short time ago he was introduced to a pickpocket by a friend. The pickpocket is one of the best in the business."

"My friend didn't think anything more about him, but the other night he was in a saloon, after he had been celebrating most of the day. He was pretty happy and the pickpocket came in. My friend had a diamond stud in his tie with a screw attachment. The pickpocket walked up."

"You may not remember me," he said, "but I met you the other night with so and so. Take a bit of advice from me. You may lose that shiner of yours if you're not careful."

Then the pickpocket looked at the diamond. He said the screw attachment wouldn't stop a good thief from getting the diamond, but he could fix it. He fished around in his pockets and produced a rubber band, which he tied around the screw.

"Now," he said, "they can only get your stone by biting it off."

Happiness and virtue rest upon each other; the best are not only the happiest, but the happiest are usually the best.—Bulwer.

MOTHER AND CHILD

Both Fully Nourished on Grape-Nuts.

The value of this famous food is shown in many ways, in addition to what might be expected from its chemical analysis.

Grape-Nuts food is made of whole wheat and barley, is thoroughly baked for many hours and contains all the wholesome ingredients in these cereals.

It contains also the phosphate of potash grown in the grains, which Nature uses to build up brain and nerve cells.

Young children require proportionately more of this element because the brain and nervous system of the child grows so rapidly.

A Va. mother found the value of Grape-Nuts in not only building up her own strength but in nourishing her baby at the same time. She writes: "After my baby came I did not recover health and strength, and the doctor said I could not nurse the baby as I did not have nourishment for her, besides I was too weak."

"He said I might try a change of diet and see what that would do, and recommended Grape-Nuts food. I bought a pkg. and used it regularly. A marked change came over both baby and I."

"My baby is now four months old, is in fine condition, I am nursing her and doing all my work and never felt better in my life." "There's a Reason."

RIPE OR CANNED PEACHES.

Delicious Dishes for Dessert Prepared from Either Source.

Gâteaux of peaches is a French appellation for a dessert in peach season. The ripe fruit can be used in place of the canned, which has been considered in the measuring. Half a can of peaches, half teaspoonful red coloring, two teaspoonfuls vanilla extract, one ounce pistachio nuts, three eggs, three ounces of flour, three ounces of butter, a little water icing.

Put the eggs and the sugar into a basin, place this over another basin of boiling water and whisk until warm; remove the basin and continue the whisking until the mixture is almost stiff enough to lift up with the whisk.

Rub the peaches through a sieve and add two heaping tablespoonfuls of the puree of the mixture, the red coloring, one teaspoonful of the vanilla and the flour sifted. Stir this in very lightly, butter a plain mold, then dust it with flour.

Pour in the mixture and pin around the outside a band of buttered paper; bake for 30 minutes in a moderate oven, then remove from the mold and when cold cut in slices about one inch thick, spread thickly with the remainder of the puree, place the rounds together again and pour over the water icing prepared as follows:

Six tablespoonfuls of confectioner's sugar, two tablespoonfuls liquid from peaches, the other teaspoonful of vanilla, stir until warm and liquid, then pour over the cake and quickly dust with the pistachio blanched, finely chopped and dried. Serve it as a cake, or as a sweet serve round the remainder of the can of peaches and a little whipped cream here and there round the base.

Another peach dish is tempting. Ice cream may be used in place of whipped cream, which will serve, or a gelatin cream which is good. Peel, pit and halve ripe peaches and put each half on a small plate; fill center with chopped walnut meats, over this pour soft ice cream and scatter over with red raspberries.

PRACTICAL HINTS for the HOUSEWIFE

Salt and soda will clean tarnished brass and will sometimes clean tarnished silver.

In choosing a chicken it should be plump on the breast, fat on the back and have white legs. An old chicken is distinguished by its rough legs and long hairs found on the breast.

To prepare pineapple, cut it through the center after removing the leaves. Then take a tablespoon and scrape out the pineapple. You can prepare them quickly this way with scarcely any waste.

Flower vases often overbalance when in use, for the flowers put into them are likely to make them top-heavy. This defect is easily remedied by putting bits of lead, shot or pebbles at the bottom of the vases.

In separating the whites from the yolks of eggs one often will break the yolk into the white. In such case dip a clean cloth into warm water and wring dry. Touch the yolk with the cloth and it will cling to the cloth.

To prevent shoe laces coming undone tie the laces in the usual manner, but before tightening the bow pass its righthand loop through the knot in the center. Then draw the bow tight and it will stay tied until you pull the string to undo it.

To Fill Floor Cracks.

Cracks in floors may be neatly but permanently filled by thoroughly soaking newspapers in paste made of half a pound of alum mixed and boiled. The mixture will be about as thick as putty and may be forced into the crevice with a case knife. It will harden like papier mache.

A SIMPLE SAFEGUARD IN BUYING PAINT.

Everybody should know how simple and easy it is to avoid all uncertainty in buying paint materials. There are many so-called white leads on the market, which contain chalk, zinc, barytes, and other cheap adulterants. Unless the property owner takes advantage of the simple means of protection afforded him by reliable white lead manufacturers, he runs great risk of getting an inferior and adulterated white lead.

It is to protect the paint-buyer against fraud and adulteration that National Lead Company, the largest makers of genuine Pure White Lead, place their famous "Dutch Boy Painter" trademark on every keg of their product, an absolute guarantee of its purity and quality. Anyone who wants to make a practical test of white lead, and who wants a valuable free book about painting, should address National Lead Company, Woodbridge Bldg., New York, and ask for test equipment.

No Automobiles There.

"There are no automobiles on the golden streets of heaven," says the Whitsett Courier, "but they're giving lots of folks a chance to walk those golden streets. One of the contraptions arrived in town last week and during the first spin the owner took in it it pitched a blind mule on top of the town hall, with the man that was ridin' the mule. The mule was so mad it kicked the town clock to pieces, likewise kickin' a hole in the roof an' fallin' on the mayor, just as he had took his seat an' called council to order. Having landed in the midst of them, the mule walked slow and dignified to the front door an' then took to the woods."

THREE CURES OF ECZEMA.

Woman Tells of Her Brother's Terrible Suffering—Two Babies Also Cured—Cuticura Invaluable.

"My brother had eczema three different summers. Each summer it came out between his shoulders and down his back, and he said his suffering was terrible. When it came on the third summer, he bought a box of Cuticura Ointment and gave it a faithful trial. Soon he began to feel better and he cured himself entirely of eczema with Cuticura. A lady in Indiana heard of how my daughter, Mrs. Miller, had cured her little son of terrible eczema by the Cuticura Remedies. This lady's little one had the eczema so badly that they thought they would lose it. She used Cuticura Remedies and they cured her child entirely, and the disease never came back. Mrs. Sarah E. Lusk, Coldwater, Mich., Aug. 15 and Sept. 2, 1907."

Health.

The practice of invariably chewing everything 47 times before swallowing it not only restored the rich man's health, but saved his soul as well.

For, one day, in the course of business, he strained at a gnat and swallowed a camel.

And the camel, having been chewed 47 times, was fit to pass through the eye of a needle. So the rich man was able to enter the Kingdom of Heaven, after all.—Puck.

No Social Standing.

"What do you think, Maria?" exclaimed the steel magnate. "Our son Reginald writes that he is on his wedding trip and his wife is a paragon."

"A Paragon?" echoed his wife. "Dear me! I can't recall the name of Paragon in the social register. You must look her up at once, John, and see if Reginald has disgraced himself by marrying into an inferior family."

Exactly So.

"Pa," said little Willie, who had been reading a cigar store advertisement, "what's imported and domestic?"

"A hired girl," replied Pa, promptly. —Philadelphia Press.

They All Want It.

"The late Joel Chandler Harris," said an Atlanta clergyman, "used to laugh at the way everybody seemed to want a free advertisement of some sort from the editor. It was the same, he would say, with the physician—everybody wants free advice on the health question from him."

"I once heard him tell about an editor who served ten days in jail for kicking the mayor. The warden treated him very kindly, and at the ten days' end, escorting him to the door and shaking him by the hand said:

"Well, good-by and good luck, ed. And say, would you mind giving the jail a puff?"

Just Wanted to Try It.

Farmer John left home one morning and waited at the station for the limited. He climbed aboard and shambled into the smoker.

"Mister," he drawled when the conductor halted before him, "is that thar 2-cent-a-mile rate good on this train?"

"It is," replied the conductor brusquely. "Where is your ticket?"

The old man fumbled in the depths of an ancient shotbag.

"Ain't got no ticket, mister," he said slowly, "but here be two cents. I never rode on one of these pesky flyers and I just want to feel the sensation. Put me off after I've rode one mile."

TO BEGIN MINING OPERATIONS.

Chas. A. Stevens, manager of the Iqwa & New Mexico Mining Co., and Anton Slifsgard, representing the eastern stockholders of that company, called at the News office one day this week, and informed us that preparations were about completed for some substantial development work on the Schelerville properties. These properties are located on the west slope of the White mountains, about eight miles southeast of Carrizozo. Several claims were patented some years ago by the company and considerable development work done. One shaft has reached a depth of 247 feet, and the present work will begin at that depth, and it is the present intention to sink to a depth of 500 feet. The death of H. B. White, who was president of the company, delayed operations, but work will now be pushed with vigor. This company also holds a number of patented properties on the Bonito, near Mr. Stevens' home. They run very well in gold, while the Schelerville proposition is principally copper.

AN OLD LADY PASSES AWAY.

Mrs. Catherine M. Cray, wife of Mr. H. C. Cray, of White Oaks, fell dead at her home, at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning of this week, from heart failure. The remains were interred in the White Oaks cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Cray went to White Oaks in 1899 from northern New Mexico, though for years before that they resided in Colorado. They were an interesting old couple, and their many kind acts won them a host of friends. The sympathy of all is extended to the aged husband whose home has been left desolate.

CORONA VOTES SCHOOL BONDS

Our thriving neighbor on the north, Corona, held an election last Saturday on the proposition to vote bonds in the sum of $10,000 for the erection of a school building. There was a rather spirited contest, though the bond proposition carried by a good majority. One hundred and twelve votes were cast, of which seventy were in favor of the proposition, forty-one against and one thrown out.
