NUMBER 35

THE ELECTION.

The election is over—even the shouting—and all may now sit down and figure on the future. The result, naturally, is not pleasing to democrats, but, as this is looked upon as a pretty good country, it is not likely that many will emigrate.

The national result was not what democrats had hoped; indeed, they had reason to expect that Mr. Bryan would receive a much larger vote than was given him. It is true, that on the popular vote, he made a much better showing than did Mr. Parker in 1904, particularly in Indiana, Ohio and the middle west, but made no electoral gains except in Colorado and Nebraska. While the middle west gave its electoral votes to Mr. Taft, there is some consolation over the fact that the democrats elected a number of governors, made gains in the national house of representatives and, in two instances, Indiana and Nebraska, will elect democrats to the United States senate to succeed republicans.

In the territory little is known as to the race for delegate. Andrews has made gains in some counties, the most notable being San Miguel, which he carried by a good majority; while others that gave him good majorities in 1906 have been lessened: Larrazolo has also made gains, two counties, Colfax and Torrance, giving him good majorities, whereas two years ago they went very emphatically for Andrews. We have held the News over until this (Saturday) morning in order to give our readers some information on that point; but all we can say, even at this hour, is that the result is very close, only a few hundred votes, apparently, separating the victor from the vanquished. The first reports gave Andrews a substantial majority, but it has dwindled, if it has not been wiped out entirely.

In the county, all precincts have reported save No. 3, Las Palas, and the partial report of that precinct, which, however, is only a verbal one, gives us information sufficient to announce approximately the result.

* Majorities only.

John Y. Hewitt, democrat, has a majority in this county, for the council, of about 85. It is believed that Otero and Torrance counties will increase that lead considerably. A telegram to both those counties has, so far, failed to bring any information, and an element of doubt, therefore, surrounds the result.

Mullins and Bryce, democrats, ran along with their ticket, and their majorities in the Pecos valley will send them to Santa Fe to represent the eighteenth and nineteenth legislative districts.

Robert H. Taylor, democrat, is reelected commissioner from the second district by something like 40.

C. W. Wingfield, democrat, has a lead over his opponent of about 11.

Doreteo Lucero, republican, is slightly in the lead for probate judge, but it will require an official count to determine.

James G. Riggle, republican, for clerk seems to have won, but later reports indicate a close race, and until the official count the victor will not be known.

Chas. A. Stevens, republican, for sheriff has about 50 majority.

Porfirio Chavez, democrat, for assessor has his opponent beaten somewhere in the neighborhood of 50.

T. W. Watson, republican, for treasurer, had a majority, from partial reports, of 27, but later news indicate an error in the first reports, and the result is somewhat doubtful. Mr. Watson, it is believed, will have a margin of 10 or 12.

John A. Haley, democrat, gets a majority of 80 or 90 for superintendent of schools.

Frank E. Thuerer, republican, bests his democratic opponent by about 38 votes, for the office of surveyor.

All in all, the result in the county is about a stand-off, and there is little room for elation by either party as a whole. In our next issue we will give a full and correct analysis of the votes by precincts, with totals and majorities.

Fan Losing Favor.

It is said the fan trade is steadily declining, and this, too, in spite of the fact that at no time has that graceful weapon of coquetry and comfort been so universal. Some of the leading fan houses in Paris have closed their doors, and one of the best fan-makers, whose patronage includes the elite of Europe, declares the day is past when long prices will be paid for fans. One instantly seeks the reason for the change of sentiment which thus affects trade. The aforesaid fan-maker explains it by saying the German copies of the expensive styles have done a good deal to injure first-class trade. The richest customers buy only antiques. Instead of seeking the work of modern artists who make exquisite pictures they will fly into raptures over a dirty old fan that is by no means beautiful, merely because it is an "antique," and a possible Louis XVI. Not long since a lady went into ecstasies before a beautiful fan painted only the other day. She declared she had seen nothing lovelier in any art exposition in Europe, that nothing was done nowadays like it; it was genuine. She was not at all pleased when told the truth that it had been made in those very workrooms. The Japanese fan has proved a formidable rival to the artistic French fan. It is pretty and dainty, but its price damns it with faint praise. What lady arrayed in a $1,000 costume could fan herself with a bit of colored paper? asks the Boston Herald. But the majority of women eschew fans. They are only carried on state occasions, for no one wants to be bothered with their care. A museum is the best place for this rare antique, particularly if it has any historic association guaranteed.

Primrose day, set apart by the admirers of Disraeli, is still observed by them in England, we believe. According to information contained in Henry W. Lucy's recently published parliamentary reminiscences, there is no reason why its observance should be continued under that name. Its designation is based upon the assumption that the primrose was Lord Beaconsfield's favorite flower. At his funeral a wreath of primroses lay on his coffin bearing the inscription: "His favorite flower," to which the queen's initials were added. It seems, however, that when the queen wrote the inscription she had in mind the prince consort and his cherished flower. Mr. Lucy remarks that the only remembered observation made by Disraeli concerning primroses was that they made an excellent salad.

Now comes the distressing information that a straw hat fastened on the head of a workhorse during the hot weather has no other effect than to add to the poor animal's sufferings by making his head still hotter. A philanthropic gentleman with a thermometer made this discovery. Let him carry his investigations a little further. Isn't the air inside a straw hat worn by a fat man hotter than the air outside, and would it not be better for him to go bareheaded?

A Chicago man with $2,000 in his pocket got an artery and took three kinds of poison. Queer how a little money drives some people crazy.

Of course when New York staged the devil it was able to supply him with the essential local color.

MRS. JOHN W. KERN

CHILDREN THE HOBBY OF WIFE OF DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE.

Home Life Is Ideal and Her Club Work Is Devoted to Inducing Women to Aid Little Ones in Many Ways.

Indianapolis, Ind.—Mrs. John W. Kern, wife of the Democratic candidate for vice-president, has a hobby. It is not woman's clubs, although she is a clubwoman; or fashionable dinners, or dogs, or cats, or automobiles. All these are good enough in their way, but not deserving of the all-absorbing attention of the human mind in the opinion of Mrs. Kern. Her hobby is children.

Mrs. Kern primarily is a home woman, a thoughtful wife and tender mother. And after that she bends her strongest influence and devotes the most of her extra time to the children of her home city who are sick and tired and curbed by scant surroundings.

Mrs. Kern is thoroughly practical in her ideas. Women's clubs, she declares, can do far more good by assisting charities like the children's hospital and the playground movement than by discussing the whyfores and wherefores of Balzac. While she was president of the local council of women she took frequent occasion to emphasize this view, and it bore good fruit.

The home life of Mrs. Kern is ideal. The modest frame house at 1522 North Meridian street has sheltered one of the happiest, chummiest families in the city. There are three children in the household, Miss Julia, a young woman of striking appearance, daughter of Mr. Kern's first wife, and two sons, John Worth Kern, Jr., aged eight, and William Cooper Kern, five years old. The Kern boys are "just kids" of the old-fashioned sort. They are husky, full of life and play, and prefer going barefooted to dressing up.

When W. J. Bryan was entertained at the Kern home last February, Mrs. Kern told the boys they were going to have strawberries, and that they must not display bad manners by saying anything about them. They must appear wholly unconcerned at the sight of strawberries so early in the season. "Well, well," said Mr. Bryan, when the dessert came, "strawberries in February. That is just fine."

The Kern boys looked at their mother in great astonishment; then at their father. They couldn't understand. Afterward one of them slipped up to his mother and said:

"My Bryan has awful bad manners."

He spoke about our having strawberries in February. Papa didn't. Papa has better manners than Mr. Bryan."

Mr. Kern is a model father. He takes great pride in his boys and is like a big brother to them. They tell him their troubles with a confidence always that he will promptly straighten them out. And he seldom fails to find a way.

Mr. Kern has been twice married. His eldest son, a volunteer in the United States army, died in Cuba from fever during the Spanish-American war, in 1898.

The nominee himself is a teetotaler. He was a member of the dinner party at which Vice-President Fairbanks served the famous cocktail.

Miss Julia Kern is leader in social and club life, a graduate of Mrs. Sewall's girls' classical school, and took a finishing course in Miss Gardner's school in New York. Her tastes are musical and she is an accomplished pianist. Her favorite sports are golf and tennis.

Like her father, she is of an exceedingly domestic turn and is perhaps most jubilant of all the family over the turn affairs took at Denver.

CHASE'S COACH GIFT TO NATION.

Venerable Vehicle in Which Lincoln Rode Is Well Preserved.

Washington.—An interesting relic of bygone days is soon to be presented to Uncle Sam for exhibition in one of the Washington museums. It is the old-fashioned coach which was used by Salmon P. Chase, back in the fifties.

For 24 years the vehicle has occupied an inconspicuous place in the salesrooms of Charles O. Young's carriage house. Now Mr. Young says he proposes to present the carriage to the government free of any cost.

It is his hope that it may be made an exhibit in the National museum.

The venerable coach was probably constructed about 60 years ago. It is still in good state of preservation, for in those olden times vehicles and other things were constructed solidly and to withstand the ravages of time, like the fabled "parson's one-hoss shay."

The vehicle is quaint and bulky and sadly out of date. But it bears many traces of departed elegance. A well-worn footboard in its rear was for the liveried footmen in their buff and green suits. They held on by two thick strap handles.

The front box seat for the driver is draped like that of a hearse of to-day. The interior of the coach is lined with heavy blue satin, which is likewise well preserved. The carriage has a seating capacity for six people.

Chase, when secretary of the treasury in 1861, rode in the coach back and forth from his office. Many distinguished men of that time on occasions rode with him.

It has much the appearance of more ancient colonial coaches, and has a platform in the rear for trunks and other luggage. The coat of arms of Rhode Island was emblazoned on the doors by order of Mrs. Kate Chase Sprague, in honor of her husband's state. The design is still bright and well preserved. The doors have inside ivory handles, with silver handles on the outside and also silver axle caps.

Mr. Young's father got the coach in exchange for a more modern vehicle from Mrs. Kate Chase Sprague after her divorce from Sprague, when she had resumed the name of Chase.

The carriage is hung with steel springs and bears other marks of the ante-bellum days. Its value now is as a relic.

The Solution.

"In your opinion," asked Tawker, "what is the cause of the present unrest among the Indians?"

WOMAN'S BACKACHE

The back is the mainspring of woman's organism. It quickly calls attention to trouble by aching. It tells, with other symptoms, such as nervousness, headache, pains in the loins, weight in the lower part of the body, that a woman's feminine organism needs immediate attention.

In such cases the one sure remedy which speedily removes the cause, and restores the feminine organism to a healthy, normal condition is

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Mrs. Will Young, of 6 Columbia Ave., Rockland, Me., says:

"I was troubled for a long time with dreadful backaches and a pain in my side, and was miserable in every way. I doctored until I was discouraged and thought I would never get well. I read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others and decided to try it; after taking three bottles I can truly say that I never felt so well in my life."

Mrs. Augustus Lyon, of East Earl, Pa., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I had very severe backaches, and pressing-down pains. I could not sleep, and had no appetite. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me and made me feel like a new woman."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

SMITHY WINS A WIFE

THE FORMER CONVINCED THAT HORSESHOES ARE LUCKY.

Heiress Takes Father's Horse to Shop and Falls in Love with Youth—Now "Driving a Tandem for Life."

Spokane, Wash.—Lyle G. Cameron, the young first mate of Charles Staley's horseshoeing parlors, on Main avenue, is convinced horseshoes are lucky. He has returned this verdict because it was a young woman's quest for horseshoes which made him the happiest man in the world. It was only a few days since that she consented to allow him to provide shoes for her, as well as her horse, in the future.

Cameron took out a license to wed Miss Edna West, 21, and now, as the husband expresses it, they are "driving a tandem for life."

"Whether I build a house or rent one," said Cameron, "one prominent feature of the interior decorations will be horseshoes. Wherever one looks I am going to have a good luck sign. Just to do the thing up right I think I'll have all the doors and windows fashioned in the shape of horseshoes."

It was while Staley's stalwart smith was hammering away on an anvil back in Virginia, Minn., a year ago that his eyes first encountered those of Miss West, daughter of a rich resident of the mining town. While she was driving one of her father's high step-pers about town one summer's day the horse threw a shoe. She drove into Cameron's shop to have it replaced.

Cameron did the job up to the queen's taste, at least she smilingly said it was all right. They exchanged significant glances when she left. Then and there the courtship commenced.

She was fair to look upon. Cameron's brown eyes and broad shoulders looked good to her.

Cameron became ambitious. He longed to be making about twice as much money as his trade was then netting. Hearing of a good opening in Spokane, where people pay more for horseshoeing, Cameron came west, but not until he had arrived at an understanding with Miss West.

"She said she was willing to do team work with me as long as it was a horse apiece," explained Cameron, "so when I wired her to come on she was ready for the bell, and she came down the stretch on the North Coast Limited without a break. I was waiting at the depot when she crossed the tape, and we decided to double up as soon as possible. She's the finest girl that ever stepped into shoe leather, and I didn't keep her waiting at the church, you can bet on that."

TO COOK ON THE MARCH.

Russian Stew Pot Will Be Used by United States Army.

Washington.—In any future campaigns in which the American army may be engaged the Russian stewpot is to stand next to the colors in importance. The commissary department after much thought has decided upon that order of precedence.

The Russian pot is a recent discovery, so far as the subsistence officers are concerned. The Russians have known of it a long time and used it in Manchuria. The only objection to it there was that it was too empty. It has been adopted here as a part of the field equipment.

The pot is put on wheels and it has a firebox so that the making of a savory stew can proceed during the last few minutes of a march and be ready for the tired soldiers when they go into camp.

A Literary Project.

"So you have a great idea for a novel?"

"Yes," answered the publisher.

"Who is going to write it?"

"Oh, I haven't gone into details. What we're at work on now is one of the most striking cover designs ever introduced to the holiday trade!"

Judge—All right. I'll let you off on the assault charge; but—don't be in a hurry, mister—I reckon I'll have to fine you just about $50 for not knocking him down sooner! The sheriff will take you in tow and see that you cough up the dust before you pass out.—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

SKIN TROUBLES CURED.

First Had Itching Rash—Threatened Later With Blood-Poison in Leg—Relied on Cuticura Remedies.

"About twelve or fifteen years ago I had a breaking-out, and it itched, and stung so badly that I could not have any peace because of it. Three doctors did not help me. Then I used some Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Resolvent and began to get better right away. They cured me and I have not been bothered with the itching since, to amount to anything. About two years ago I had la grippe and pneumonia which left me with a pain in my side. Treatment ran it into my leg, which then swelled and began to break out. The doctor was afraid it would turn to blood-poison. I used his medicine but it did no good, then I used the Cuticura Remedies three times and cured the breaking-out on my leg. J. F. Hennen, Milan, Mo., May 12, 1907."

Avoid Boasting.

The worst use that can be made of success is to boast of it.—Arthur Helps.

A group of aeronauts were telling balloon stories in the smoking-room of a Chicago hotel. Capt. H. E. Honeywell, who, with the Fielding-Antonia balloon was later to break all long-distance speed records, laughed and said:

"The great Elyot made a balloon ascension from Charleston one hot summer afternoon. A thunder-storm came up. Elyot, amid buckets of rain, the roar of thunder and the flash of lightning, was blown about like this-bedown. On toward midnight he found himself over a plantation and threw out his anchor—a grapnel at the end of a long rope.

"It happened that a co'ored man had died in one of the huts of this plantation. The funeral was to take place in the morning. A dozen friends of the dead man sat in the soft summer night before the hut, telling ghost stories.

"Suddenly in the darkness above them they heard strange noises—a flapping as of great wings, and monac-ing cries. And they saw dimly a for-less black shape!

"All but one man ran. This one man, as he cowered on his stool, had the ill-luck to be seized by the grapnel.

"The grapnel, going at a great pace, whirled him up four or five feet in the air and jerked him along at the rate of fifteen miles an hour or so.

"Oh, massa, massa," he yelled, squirming and kicking in that strange flight. 'Ise not de cawpse! Dick's in de house dah! In de house dah!'"

The Writ of Injunction.

A timely article in the October Century will be a comparison, by the Hon. Seth Low, member of the Civic Federation, of the Republican and Democratic platforms in their treatment of the labor question. Under title of "The Writ of Injunction as a Party Issue," Mr. Low discusses at length—and with open sympathy with the general aims and purposes of organized labor—the attitude of the general public toward the injunction, the two injunction planks, labor and restraints of trade, and why parliament may pass certain legislation and congress may not.

Eat What

You want of the food you need
Kodol will digest it.

You need a sufficient amount of good wholesome food and more than this you need to fully digest it.

Else you can't gain strength, nor can you strengthen your stomach if it is weak.

You must eat in order to live and maintain strength.

You must not diet, because the body requires that you eat a sufficient amount of food regularly.

But this food must be digested, and it must be digested thoroughly.

When the stomach can't do it, you must take something that will help the stomach.

The proper way to do is to eat what you want, and let Kodol digest the food.

Nothing else can do this. When the stomach is weak it needs help;
you must help it by giving it rest,
and Kodol will do that.

Our Guarantee

Go to your druggist today, and purchase a dollar bottle, and if you can honestly say, that you did not receive any benefits from it, after using the entire bottle, the druggist will refund your money to you without question or delay.

We will pay the druggist the price of the bottle purchased by you.

This offer applies to the large bottle only and to but one in a family.

We could not afford to make such an offer, unless we positively knew what Kodol will do for you.

It would bankrupt us.

The dollar bottle contains 2½ times as much as the fifty cent bottle.

"EATS PIE WITH A KNIFE"

Jacob F. Jacobson bids fair to become a new and unique figure in politics as "the man who eats pie with a knife." He was unanimously nominated for governor by the Republicans of Minnesota a few days ago. In placing his name before the convention former Congressman Frank M. Eddy declared that Jacobson's opponents had found only one thing to say against him, that he eats pie with his knife.

"We plead guilty to the indictment," said Eddy, "and he says that as he has followed this mode of procedure for a good many years without cutting himself he expects to continue it until he finds some better way."

Jacobson's nomination was seconded by the other candidates who had been campaigning against him for four months without being able to shake his hold upon the convention.

Jacobson is a whiskered implement dealer from the little town of Madison. He was born in Norway in 1849 and settled in Minnesota in 1871. He stands for the square deal in politics and was fighting for Roosevelt measures in the state legislature 12 years ago, before they became popular.

His first try at politics was in 1873, when he was elected auditor of his county. He held the job six years and ten years later went to the legislature. He knew little about state issues and still less about parliamentary practice. Consequently, during his first term he was little heard from. But he sat still and listened. The next session he took an active part in affairs in the house, and when he was sent back for a third term he was recognized as one of the strong men of the body. Six years ago he was a candidate for state auditor, but was beaten by a narrow margin. Two years ago he sought the nomination for governor, but was again beaten.

RULES FOR "OPEN SUNDAY"

Justice William J. Gaynor, of the appellate division of the New York supreme court, has turned loose a moving picture show man, charged with violating the Sabbath, who had been convicted in a lower court. The law provides for the keeping of a "Christian Sabbath," and Justice Gaynor declared that when John Calvin, founder of the Presbyterian church, played bowls on Sunday after the sermon, he established a precedent which will prevent the stopping of harmless sports and recreation on Sunday. Gaynor's decision will probably permit Sunday baseball.

Few American jurists of the day enjoy a higher reputation than Justice Gaynor, both as to ability and personal character. Upon the bench of New York's highest court, his rulings have been generally accepted without question by interested litigants.

But the greatest renown attaching to the name of Justice Gaynor is as a smasher of powerful and corrupt rings. He began this pleasant pastime long before he had donned the judge's ermine, when he broke up the water swindle that maled New Yorkers out of several millions of dollars, under the direction of the all-powerful Boss Hugh McLaughlin. So greatly was the latter feared that it was with the utmost difficulty Gaynor could find a man who would permit the use of his name as a party to the court proceedings against the ring. In the end, however, Gaynor triumphed and McLaughlin was unhorsed. Then Police Chief John McKane, political boss, was made the target. He was a puissant debaucher of the ballot boxes of New York, and he landed in the penitentiary with 16 of his principal lieutenants.

Gaynor was offered the nomination and election for mayor of Brooklyn, and refused it. Later he was offered the mayoralty of Greater New York, and this, too, he declined. He was elected justice of the supreme court first in 1893, by the Republicans and Independent Democrats, although he was and is a Democrat in his own politics.

MAKES WAR ON DIVORCE

Paul Bourget, the French author, has made himself conspicuous by his irreconcilable opposition to the act which has just been passed by the French parliament legalizing divorce. During the whole history of France marriage has been indissoluble, except for a few years during the revolutionary period when religion itself became an illegal thing. Full liberty of union and dissolution was allowed, until at the restoration of the monarchy in 1816, the old order of things was restored. A divorce law was again passed 70 years later, when the rupture between the state and the church was becoming acute, and now the French parliament has, in order to emphasize its hostility to the Vatican, gone so far as to authorize either of the parties to a separation to convert it into a divorce after three years, on mere application. In this campaign Bourget took part with tongue and pen. He wrote a problem play in which the evils of divorce were shown up and a vivid picture drawn of the wreck of a home by the separation of parents, but it was all of no avail. Bourget was born in Amiens in 1852, and was only 22 years of age when he published his first work, "The Restless Life." Almost every year since he has turned out one or two books on widely diverse subjects.

BED-BOUND FOR MONTHS.

Hope Abandoned After Physicians' Consultation.

Mrs. Enos Shearer, Yew and Washington Sts., Centralia, Wash., says:

"For years I was weak and run down, could not sleep, my limbs swelled and the secretions were troublesome; pains were intense. I was fast in bed for four months. Three doctors said there was no cure for me, and I was given up to die. Being urged, I used Doan's Kidney Pills. Soon I was better, and in a few weeks was about the house, well and strong again."

The Candy Girl.

He was one of those sentimental chaps who imagine the only way to capture a girl's heart is to send her volumes of poetry. Selecting a book of reasonable verse he sent it to his lady fair with the following scribbled on the fly-leaf:

"Dearest, as I seek your heart,
A book of verse I do impart!"

And the pretty but sensible girl, who did not care a rap if Shakespeare had been a pirate instead of a poet, returned the verses with the following flaccid:

"To the woods with this sludge.
If my heart you'd really budge,
Send me up a pound of fudge."

DEATH OF ALEX ORMOND.

According to the El Paso Times news reached that city Saturday that Alex Ormond, for many years a member of the volunteer fire department and of the police force, died several days previous at San Borja, Chihuahua. He had been prospecting in the state of Chihuahua, near the Senora line, and was taken ill out in the mountains. The direct cause of death was said to have been a fever contracted in the mountains of western Chihuahua.

Ormond was well known here and had many friends. About two years ago he was watchman for the railroad company, previous to which he had charge of the Pfaff saloon at Capitan.

SYMBOL OF SWASTIKA

RESEARCH SHOWS THAT IT IS OF VAST ANTIQUITY.

Commonly Accepted as the Sign of Good Luck—Traces Found in Records of Every Known Race.

Washington.—The Swastika is the oldest known symbol, having its origin in the cross and the circle. As far back in the night of time as we are able to trace the records of man's life on the globe by the sculptured remains of temples and pillars we find the cross and circle, painted on ancient pottery, brodered on sacred vestments, sculptured on ruined monuments and figuring in the religious mysteries of all races.

To form an estimate of the age of the Swastika we must look back, archaeologists tell us, to the period of time when the pole star was in Cygnus, 17,000 B. C., apparently that of the first conception of the zodiacal year.

While the Swastika is held in common acceptance to be a lucky and auspicious object, meaning to thousands simply good luck, it is interesting to trace the origin of the belief and find why for ages upon ages it has been so held by races widely divergent in place and time.

It may be safely asserted that investigation of the records of every known race has revealed traces of the Swastika. It has been found on the pottery of the mound builders in Mississippi, showing identity of design with symbols from India, in what is called the Swastika—sitting position of the Hindus—and those of the Mayas and Aztecs, while in the remains of the prehistoric race of lake dwellers in Switzerland the Sistras is identified with the staff of jingling bells held in the hand of a statue of Buddha in India on whose base is a row of Swastikas.

It appears on the foreheads of gods in temples and on the walls of the cave temples in India, and also on Brahmin mountains. It is placed on the breast of the dead in Tibet, and ornaments the petticoats of the women of that country. It is shown in the ruins of Algeria and on the bronze ingots of aborigines in Ashantee. In our own America numberless ruins give testimony to the antiquity of this symbol.

In 1901 Dr. Berson, a German savant, discovered the ruins of an Aztec temple in which he reports "constantly finding the Swastika in its primeval, in its derived and in its highly advanced forms." In his opinion positively identifying them with an age prior to that of Enoch.

Although greatly obscured since the days of the "Divine Dynasties," yet we owe to the Egyptians the preservation of many of these symbols and the recovery of many of the truths so veiled. Each of the many discoveries of archaeologists in Egypt at the present time is proving a rich treasure to those who hold the astral key of interpretation.

These spiritual truths became in course of time materialized and, losing sight of the real mysteries, the symbols became objects of worship. Hence in this day we see this grandest of all cosmic symbols degraded in popular estimation to a charm or amulet worn to bring "good luck."

From the illustration some idea of the formation of the Swastika and its relation to the zodiac is seen, the outer rim being the "wheel" of Ezekiel, and the four beasts forming the arms of the cross, named in the Bible as the bull (Taurus), the lion (Leo), the eagle (Scorpio), and the man (Aquarius). These "beasts" correspond to the four elements, so called, of earth, air, fire and water, which are the foundations of the manifested universe.

Cabalistically the Swastika corresponds to the number ten. Ten has always been esteemed the number of the Deity. The number one expresses "the universe visible," and the cipher at its right hand "the infinite vast," which we cannot conceive. The Rosicrucians referred the highest and most abstract ideas of number to the ten emanations of the Deity, for in them they recognized "the key to all things."

FORMER WATER BOY RUNS ROAD

Patrick H. Houlahan Promoted to General Manager of Alton.

Chicago.—Patrick Henry Houlahan, general superintendent of the Chicago & Alton and the Toledo, St. Louis & Western railroads since January 1, 1908, has assumed the duties of his recent promotion—general manager of two great combined railway systems, with headquarters in this city.

From a water boy and track hand in 1870, to one of the country's most prominent railroad men in 1908, has been the experience of Mr. Houlahan, and each step he has taken in his upward climb has shown him to be the possessor of those qualities of pluck and energy which are the essentials of really forceful men.

Mr. Houlahan was born March 13, 1855, at Ottawa, Ill., and at the age of 12 years entered the railway mail service. In 1870 he was a water boy and track hand on the Ottawa, Oswego & Fox River Valley road. Later he was employed on the same road in various positions from track hand up to baggage man and station agent. In 1875 to 1880 he was brakeman and conductor on the Chicago & Alton, and in 1881 was promoted to assistant trainmaster of the St. Louis division.

On July 1, 1884, he was appointed trainmaster of the St. Louis division of the Burlington system; May to November, 1886, master of transportation, Missouri and Kansas division, St. Louis, Arkansas & Texas railway. From November, 1886, to April, 1890, trainmaster, and April, 1890, to May, 1891, assistant superintendent; May, 1891, to June, 1892, superintendent west division; June, 1892, to December, 1904, superintendent, Hannibal & St. Joseph railroad.

From December, 1904, to date, Mr. Houlahan has been general superintendent of the Toledo, St. Louis & Western, and from January 1, 1890, also general superintendent of the Chicago & Alton Railroad Company.

Small Per Cent. of Exports.

Of an annual output of manufactures valued at $15,000,000,000, we export only about five per cent., and if from this amount we deduct such nearly crude manufactures as copper, petroleum and its products, iron and steel in bars, pigs and rails, we have an export of the more highly finished products of only about three per cent. of our total manufactures.

SAVED FROM MATERNAL WRATH.

Boys' Fervent Prayer Was Answered in the Nick of Time.

A suburbanite is fond of telling this story of his five-year-old son Bobby. Being of an inquiring turn of mind the youngster one day managed to turn on both faucets in the bathtub to see what would happen. It chanced that the stopper was in place, and the tub rapidly filled up, to the great delight of Bobby. Finally, however, the tub became so full that it threatened to overflow on to the floor, and Bobby, having a proper respect for the maternal slipper, became frightened and tried vainly to turn off the water. Being unable to, for some reason, he gazed tearfully at the ever-rising flood, and then, mindful both of his religious training and the occasional visits of the plumber, he plunged down on his knees, and his elder sister, who happened to be passing at the moment, heard him exclaim, fervently:

"O, Lord, please stop this water running! And, O, Lord, if you can't do it, please send somebody that can!"

His prayer was answered, for his sister rose to the occasion and turned off the water and temporarily saved Bobby from the much-feared slipper.

Had Been Attended To.

An Italian went up to the civil service commissioners' rooms in the federal building the other day to be examined for a laborer's position. He answered most of the questions correctly. Finally they asked him if he had ever been naturalized. He seemed a bit puzzled, but at last his face lighted up.

DROPPED COFFEE

Doctor Gains 20 Pounds on Postum.

A physician of Wash., D. C., says of his coffee experience:

"For years I suffered with periodical headaches which grew more frequent until they became almost constant. So severe were they that sometimes I was almost frantic. I was sallow, constipated, irritable, sleepless; my memory was poor, I trembled and my thoughts were often confused.

"My wife, in her wisdom, believed coffee was responsible for these ills and urged me to drop it. I tried many times to do so, but was its slave.

"Finally Wife bought a package of Postum, and persuaded me to try it, but she made it same as ordinary coffee and I was disgusted with the taste. (I make this emphatic because I fear many others have had the same experience.) She was distressed at her failure and we carefully read the directions, made it right, boiled it full 15 minutes after boiling commenced, and with good cream and sugar, I liked it—it invigorated and seemed to nourish me.

"This was about a year ago. Now I have no headaches, am not sallow, sleeplessness and irritability are gone, my brain clear and my head ateady. I have gained 20 lbs. and feel I am a new man.

"I do not hesitate to give Postum due credit. Of course dropping coffee was the main thing, but I had dropped it before, using chocolate, cocoa and other things to no purpose.

"Postum not only seemed to act as an invigorant, but as an article of nourishment, giving me the needed phosphates and albumens. This is no imaginary tale. It can be substantiated by my wife and her sister, who both changed to Postum and are hearty women of about 70.

"I write this for the information and encouragement of others, and with a feeling of gratitude to the inventor of Postum."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Wheels.

He was a great inventor. "The thing I am working at now," he began, stroking his thin beard with a thinner hand, "will be a boon to every family and will startle the whole world. In fact, it will put the alarm clock trust out of business. The idea is simply specially prepared tablets that help you to get up in the morning. For instance, if you want to arise at 5, you take five tablets; if you want to get up at 6, take six tablets, and so on."

"But how will it affect the alarm clock trust?"

"Why these tablets will cause a ringing in the ears at exactly the hour desired—"

But the little crowd could wait to hear no more and hurriedly disbanded. —Harper's Weekly.

TO PREPARE POTTED FOODS.

European Ideas That Are Now Being Adopted Here.

Potted foods are among the valuable additions to the storeroom closet that Americans are just beginning to appreciate. These potted foods, which must not be confused with the commercially tinned foods, are largely used in France and England at hunting breakfasts or for the picnic hamper.

The food selected, mushrooms, fish, game, meats and vegetables of all kinds, is simply cooked as if for immediate service, seasoned palatably, then packed lightly in jars and covered with a sauce in which there is plenty of butter. If to be eaten within 24 hours, this is all that is needed. If to be kept several days, a layer of clarified butter or melted suet, quarter of an inch thick, is poured over the top after pressing into jars.

RECIPE FOR INDIA RELISH.

Recommended to Those Who Are Fond of a High Seasoning.

Those who like high seasoning are very fond of India relish. It can easily be put up.

Two quarts of green tomatoes are taken with a small head of cabbage, six onions and 12 green peppers. One cupful of salt is sprinkled over them, and the mixture is allowed to stand for 24 hours.

It is then drained and put into a porcelain-lined kettle and barely covered with vinegar.

To this add half a cupful of mustard seed, a teaspoonful of celery seed and half a cupful of sugar.

It is cooked for five minutes, removed from the fire, and one tablespoon of English mustard is added.

If you care for sweet pickles, it is better that you should add a whole cup of sugar rather than a half cup.

Keep all the kitchen utensils in one place and a small one at that. It will save time and steps.

Don't throw away your scraps of velvet. They can be used as cleaners for all sorts of things.

Alcohol and whiting make a good silver polish and is excellent for polishing plate glass or mirrors.

Olive oil will remove tar stains from dress goods. Wash afterward with white soap and tepid water.

New lamp wicks, if boiled in vinegar and thoroughly dried before using, will not smell bad when burning.

A weak solution of turpentine poured down the water pipes once a week will drive the water bugs away.

Rub the white spots made by wet or hot dishes on your polished tables with spirits of camphor. It will remove them.

A teaspoonful of butter put into the water in which vegetables are boiling will prevent them from bubbling over.

Tomatoes Stuffed with Anchovies.

Select nicely-shaped tomatoes of equal size. Peel them and scoop out as much of the inside as possible without destroying their shape. Purchase Italian anchovies in oil, allowing two or three to each tomato, according to its size. Wipe the fish dry with a soft cloth and rub off all the skin. Then split through the middle and remove the middle bones. Cut an equal quantity of hard-boiled eggs and a little tarragon, also chopped, and moisten the whole with French dressing. Stuff the tomatoes with the mixture and place each on tender green lettuce leaves with the opened side down. Pour a spoonful of mayonnaise dressing over each and serve cold.

Gave it to Them Straight.

At a heavy transfer point on Sixth avenue, says a letter to the New York Times, few seats being vacant on a Twenty-third street car, a youth darted under the arm of a stout woman and plumped himself down in the seat she was about to occupy. Glaring, she hurled at him: "If I wasn't a perfect lady I'd swat you one on the mouth." Another young man arose, raised his hat, and begged her to sit down. When seated she beamed upon him and said: "Sir, you're a gentleman; them others is hogs."

NAME WAS A COMPROMISE.

Explanation of Remarkable Cognomen of Nevada Town.

A Nevada man having extensive mining claims in the goldfield region tells of a lucky strike that was made last year near Carson City, a strike that proved to be of such promise that a goodly sized camp immediately sprang up around it.

The two principal mine owners were, respectively, an Irishman and a Jew, and as a compliment to these leading citizens the camp decided to leave to them the bestowal of a suitable name upon the new community.

There followed many conferences between the two, none of which resulted in an agreement. The Irishman stood out for a name that would suggest his native isle, while the Jew was just as insistent, on his part, for a name that should be suggestive of the chosen people. This deadlock continued so long that the rest of the camp grew restless, and finally insisted that there should be a compromise. So the new camp was called "Tipperusalem."—Lippincott's.

Australia's Wild Oysters.

Oysters are sometimes regarded as dangerous but they are not usually considered savage. A Queensland judge, however, has decided that they are wild beasts. Before a royal commission on the pearling industry, which has been sitting at Brisbane, a witness stated that eight years ago he had laid 100,000 shells in the neighborhood of Friday Island. The Japanese stole the shells, and the district court judge held that as pearl shell oysters were wild animals there was no penalty for stealing them.

NO GUSHER

But Tells Facts About Postum.

"We have used Postum for the past eight years," writes a Wis. lady, "and drink it three times a day. We never tire of it."

"For several years I could scarcely eat anything on account of dyspepsia, bloating after meals, palpitation, sick headache—in fact was in such misery and distress I tried living on hot water and toast for nearly a year."

"I had quit coffee, the cause of my trouble, and was using hot water, but this was not nourishing."

"Hearing of Postum I began drinking it and my ailments disappeared, and now I can eat anything I want without trouble."

"My parents and husband had about the same experience. Mother would often suffer after eating, while yet drinking coffee. My husband was a great coffee drinker and suffered from indigestion and headache."

"After he stopped coffee and began Postum both ailments left him. He will not drink anything else now and we have it three times a day. I could write more but am no gusher—only state plain facts."

TALK OF NEW YORK

Gossip of People and Events Told in Interesting Manner.

"Chameleon Girl" Forgives Exiled Sister

NEW YORK.—Over the body of Giovanni P. Morosini, the wealthy banker and philanthropist, who would not forgive, an erring sister was forgiven by Miss Giulia Morosini, the "chameleon girl," daughter of the banker, noted for her mastery of horses, her leadership in society, and for her statement that no woman can dress on less than $100,000 a year.

The forgiven sister was Vittoria Morosini before she married her father's coachman, Ernest Huels Schilling, in 1884. Since that time Miss Giulia had been her father's constant companion. The aged banker never forgave the girl who disobeyed him.

Mrs. Schilling has lived in Rutland,

Vt., for the last six years. First she was an inmate of St. Joseph's convent there, but later she went to board with a family named Williams, on the outskirts of the city. She divided her time between visits to the convent and giving music lessons, by which she helped provide for herself, though she let it be known that her family sent her funds to live on.

Before going to Rutland Mrs. Schilling divorced her husband, who entered the United States Marine corps.

Only the three daughters, the two sons, several of the servants, and the overseer heard the services read over the banker's body. None of his business associates, lawyers or few friends was there.

Giulia, who has been the inseparable companion of her father since her sister fled with the coachman, is familiar with the terms of the will, and let it be known that if Vittoria desires to share in the estate she may. The brothers and sisters will amply provide for her.

Society Woman Renounces the World

A NEW YORK society woman has forsaken the world and become a nun in the Dominican monastery of Corpus Christi at Hunter's Point, L. I. She was Mrs. George Merriam Hyde, daughter of Oliver Prince Buel, but now by a promise to the mother prioress of the monastery, involving the vows of poverty, chastity and obedience, she is Sister Mary of the Tabernacle in the convent of Perpetual Adoration.

A year ago in such finery as a bride wears she crossed the graveled path from the monastery door to that of the church, followed by her matron of honor, Mrs. Thomas F. Ryan, the capitalist's wife, clothed in black.

That was Mrs. Hyde's last appearance outside the monastery, for she pronounced her vows, after months of ascetic probation on that occasion and returned to adopt a religious garb for life. After impressive services participated in by several priests and sisters, Mrs. Hyde was induced by the mother prioress with the black veil.

Mrs. Hyde, or Violet duet, was a convert to Catholicity as well as her entire family. Through her mother's family, the MacDougalls, she has many affiliations with the army. Oliver Prince Buel, her father, was senior partner in the firm of Buel, Toney & Whiting, counsel to the United States Life Insurance Company. Her brother is president of Georgetown university.

January 11, 1899, Miss Buel was married to George Merriam Hyde, a literary man, son of Dr. James T. Hyde of the Chicago Theological seminary. She was a sunny girl, fond of social life. She had a talent for painting and her canvasses were accepted by the academy and the Society of American Artists.

Oliver Prince Buel, her father, was taken suddenly ill some time ago and suffered greatly. This and his death greatly affected Mr. Hyde, who disappeared and later was found dead. After that Mrs. Hyde decided to renounce the world.

"Ice King" Morse Wins Back Old Power

WALL STREET gasped the other day at the news that "Ice King" Charles W. Morse, hurled from his place of power in the money market by the collapse of his string of allied banks, and defeated in several efforts to regain his old prestige and power, had finally won his long fight. He will have even greater sway in the world of bank-notes than he possessed before his overthrow.

How he has won his old place back, nobody seems to know positively. His National Bank of North America was the keystone institution of a great chain of banks. The central bank exerted a ruling influence over the chain—and C. W. Morse was the central bank. He ran it as though it were an independent corner grocery with nobody to consult about anything that was to be done.

Then came the crash. The National Bank of North America went to pieces, and Morse was hurled headlong. Every resource was gone, and he had apparently no place to turn for aid. He took a little office at No. 1 Nassau street. Time after time he put before the comptroller of the currency one plan or another looking to the rehabilitation of his institution, but every one was turned down.

Then he began paying up the claims against the bank. Where the money came from was not revealed, but all claims were sought out and settled.

Now the receiver has been instructed by Comptroller Murray to take the final steps necessary to turning over the big bank to Morse.

The new conditions will place Morse once more in his old commanding position on 'Change, and make him as before a dictator in the same Wall street which applauded his utter defeat when his bank was closed by the clearing house banks seven months ago. In seven months he has whipped fate.

MINISTER A TRIFLE MIXED UP.

Consequently There Was an Awkward Perhaps in Funeral Oration.

It was at the funeral of a man who had left his young and attractive helpmeet a widow for the third time. At the time of his death their clergyman was away on a European trip, and in this emergency the Rev. Dr. Blank was called upon.

A neighbor instructed him hastily as to the admirable qualities of the deceased, his benevolence, piety and kind disposition, and gave him various points as to his family relations. During the funeral discourse no outsider would have suspected that the clergyman had not been a lifelong friend of the dead man. When, however, he came to mention the widow in his prayer, it was evident that his data in regard to her had become a trifle confused. He said:

"And now we commend to thy care this widowed handmaid, who has been bereaved again and again and again." Then hesitating an instant, he added: "And perhaps again."

Where Great Writer Lived.

Craigputtock, where Carlyle's "Sartor Resartus" was written, has just been the scene of a notable wedding. The bride was Miss Mary Carlyle of Craigputtock, a grand-niece of Thomas Carlyle, and the bridegroom James Carlyle, a farmer of Pingle, Dumfriesshire, a son of Thomas Carlyle's favorite nephew. Pingle is about four miles from Ecclefechan, Carlyle's birthplace, and this village is the original of the Entuphl of "Sartor Resartus."

WITH THE IMMORTALS.

From the Denver News.

Bryan is defeated in his third race for the presidency. The News hoped it might be otherwise. We knew perfectly the terrific forces arrayed against the commoner, but we knew likewise the trend of sentiment toward him, and we believed for a long time the tide would set strongly enough to carry him to the White House. We were mistaken. But we were not mistaken in our estimate of the man. Defeated though he be, defeated for the third time, we hold that Bryan has won a place among the immortals. For to Bryan, more than to any other man, more than to any other twenty men, is due the rising tide of reform. When in '96 the "interests" felt that they had gained absolute mastery of both parties, Bryan rose and wrested control of one great organization from them. Every measure of relief from licensed or unlicensed extortion that has passed since that day was initiated by Bryan. The reforms for which Roosevelt has taken credit were filched bodily from the commoner's chest. Mr. Bryan is defeated. But in defeat we should not be at all surprised to see him exert a greater influence on the legislation of the next four years than his victorious rival. He is unquestionably the abler man. He has an immeasurably clearer insight into conditions. He must still be reckoned with, and the nation is to be congratulated on that fact.

When the political history of the last fifty years is written, few things will seem more remarkable than the perennial popularity of Bryan. Without an office, without a machine, without the prestige of past success or the power behind him of organized wealth—indeed with all these things against him, he is still the tribune of the people, the foremost man of a great though beaten party. We of today understand a portion of the reasons for his strength. We know the earnestness, the honesty, the clear-cut intellect and biting speech of the man. We know his life against which no one has dared to cast the mud of scandal. We know his remarkable power over men. The other factors are hidden from us. They may be revealed in the future, or they may not. But this we know, whether history can explain the greatness of the man or not, history will not recognize that greatness to the full.

Mr. Bryan's place in history is secure. Mr. Taft's is yet to make. With loyalty to the vanquished, and willing friendliness for the victor, the News cleans the slate.
