CARRIZOZO NEWS.

A Journal Devoted to the Interests of Lincoln County.

VOLUME 9.

CARRIZOZO, LINCOLN COUNTY, NEW MEXICO, NOVEMBER 13, 1908.

NUMBER 36

IS IT HEWITT OR LUTZ?

Considerable interest has been manifested in this county over the result of the election for councilman in this district, composed of the counties of Otero, Lincoln and Torrance. We had a wire from Otero and Torrance counties Saturday night, the one from Otero to the effect that Hewitt had about 70 majority, with one precinct to hear from, and the one from Torrance county stating that Lutz had carried that county by 16, with one precinct missing, which would not change the result much.

Later, Monday of this week, a report gained currency that Lutz had carried Torrance county by a sufficient majority to overcome Hewitt's lead in both Lincoln and Otero counties. An effort to chase down this report has failed to produce results, and until further evidence is forthcoming we are inclined to credit the direct telegrams from these two outside counties, which would give Mr. Hewitt the lead from 60 to 80.

It is peculiar that nothing more definite is known of this race, at this late date, and we confess we have used every effort to ascertain and still are not certain.

CAUGHT AT CARRIZOZO.

"For woe that are dark,
And risks that are vain,
The houthon Chinese is peculiar."

On Sunday evening last two Chinamen, supposed to be illegally in the United States, were discovered in the dining car of the Golden State Limited at this station. The capture was made by immigration inspectors Johnson of El Paso, and Curtis and Sensner of Carrizozo, who made the arrest on information wired from El Paso. The celestials were discovered snugly secreted in the commissary box on the train. They were taken back to El Paso for examination. This is the first time Chinamen were discovered on a train at this station since August, when a bunch were captured.

On Monday evening seven cars billed from Mexico were cut out at this station for the purpose of having the seals removed and the cars searched. It was two days later before a customs officer, who only is authorised to remove a seal, arrived. A searched failed to find a celestial secreted, and the cars were re-sealed and dispatched on their destination. The cars contained a more valuable cargo than Chinamen—silver bullion from the mines of Old Mexico.

GOT THE GOLD FEVER.

Sylvanite is the name of a new mining camp 200 miles west of El Paso, but in this territory. Assayers and experts disagree as to the character of the rock, but all agree that it is gold-bearing, and people from many states are flocking there.

D. M. Cox and F. W. Craig, of Ancho, the former an old patron of this paper, passed through Carrizozo Monday morning in a covered wagon bound for the new El Dorado. Mr. Cox has 160 acres near Ancho, which he has been farming on the Campbell dry system, and while he raised considerable produce this year, the result did not justify the expenditure of labor, so reading of the fabulous finds in the newly discovered gold fields, he hooked up his team and pulled out for Sylvanite to give the "get-rich-quick" theory a trial. We hope their highest expectations will be realized, and that they will strike it rich in the new camp.

EAGLE MINING CO. ELECTS OFFICERS.

The annual stockholders meeting of the Eagle Mining and Improvement Co. was held at Parsons last Saturday. About 30 stockholders were present.

The following board of directors was elected: A. B. Graham, J. S. Tilden, Dr. R. C. Dryden, P. L. Krouse, O. T. Olson, Stephen Tronc, M. D. Fulmer, J. M. Rice and D. I. Gelder.

The officers elected are: A. B.

Graham, president; J. M. Rice, vice-president; J. H. Fulmer, Jr., treasurer; A. T. Andrews, secretary; G. W. Prichard, attorney.

The company is busy making a slight change in its plant, and when completed expects to push the work. Results from mill runs recently are encouraging to stockholders.

ACQUIRING EXPERIENCE.

A few people in this town would like to know the whereabouts of a man, passing under the name of McDonald, who claimed, while here, to be a worker of advertising schemes. It is said he left this place with several unpaid bills behind him, one of which was a hotel debt. The business man who allows himself to be caught by an advertising fakir has much to learn, and the people who trust one of them acquire experience.

WOMAN IS STEWARD

MISS BOYLE HOLDS POST IN NEW YORK HOTEL.

Has Mastered Situation in Big Establishment—Has Long Hours But Likes Her Work—Right Hand of Proprietor.

New York.—The only woman in New York who is steward of a big hotel is Isabel Boyle of the Hoffman house, and so capable has she proven herself during her five years of stewardship that she has become the right hand of the proprietor.

Mr. Caddagan, the manager of the Hoffman house, claims that having a woman steward is his own idea, and the discovery of this particular woman is his also.

Mr. Caddagan's sisters were sent to a convent in Virginia to complete their education and there as a fellow-student they met Miss Isabel Boyle, with whom they became warm friends. When they left the convent in Virginia the Misses Caddagan invited Miss Boyle to visit them in their northern home. This in due time she did, but her family had got into financial difficulties and the girl was anxious to carve out her own way in the world, so she asked her friends to help her to find a position. Mr. Caddagan, who happened to need an assistant steward, asked her if she would like to take the position. She accepted, and this was the beginning of her career.

The writer, calling on Miss Boyle at the hotel recently, found her the center of an interested group gathered around the weighing scales just outside the office door. Miss Boyle called out, "Just you come right in here and give us your newspaper guess as to the weight of this Virginia ham." A guess of "15 pounds" was hazarded, to which Miss Boyle replied: "No, sirree, all wrong; it weighs just 16 pounds." When Miss Boyle had finished weighing the barrel of hams and they had been wheeled off to the store room, over a pitcher of lemonade in a corner of her busy office she chatted about her work. She was interrupted every few moments by telephone messages, receipts to be signed, complaints to be heard, orders to be given.

It was late in the afternoon and each department head came to hand in his list of needs for the morrow. Each was received by Miss Boyle; each list was discussed for a few minutes; then the orders were placed on her files. In the midst of this important duty an order came down for her for five dozen glasses for the roof garden and some coffee cups for another department. Miss Boyle handed over the glasses from the well stocked shelves and took a receipt for them.

From six a. m. to six p. m. this immense establishment is kept moving by this energetic little woman, who does all the marketing and buying, is accountable for all the reserve stock of china, glass and silver ware, who replenishes the stock when needed and cares for all details, from the sale of the garbage to the purchasing of a dozen fresh eggs, each with a date stamped on it, for a special guest.

Miss Boyle is of medium height, with wavy dark hair and soft brown eyes; she has a cheery disposition and a fund of real Irish wit that carries her over many a rough place.

She lives at the hotel to be on the spot when emergency demands her presence. She takes her vacation in day trips to nearby seaside resorts or on some of the automobile runs, which Mr. Caddagan plans once or twice a week for the heads of his staff.

It matters not whether found at work or at play, buying little necks by the thousand or weighing Virginia hams by the barrel, her personality is bright and refreshing. She is a woman who loves her work, so of course she has made a success of it.

BOWERY LANDMARK TO GO.

Destruction of Steve Brodie's Saloon Has Been Decried.

New York.—"Ladies and gents, to the left you see one of the most historical scenes of this great city. That, ladies and gents, is Steve Brodie's famous saloon. You have all heard of Steve Brodie, the first man that ever made that terrible leap for life from the Brooklyn bridge to the river below and lived to tell the story."

That was the message that the leather lunged announcer sent through a megaphone the other day to a party of tourists from Salamanca, N. Y.; Piqua, O. and Bird-in-Hand, Pa., as their sight-seeing motor car rapidly passed 114 Bowery and they twisted their necks to obtain a view of the red-framed structure that for more than a quarter of a century has been one of the leading attractions of the celebrated thoroughfare where "they do such things and say such things."

Soon the wielder of the megaphone will be forced to revise his announcements, for the saloon which Steve Brodie controlled until a few months before his death, four years ago, is to be razed and on its site probably will be erected a private store which will have over it no glamour except that which comes from resting where once stood what all the Bowery knew for years as "Brodie's hangout."

Men who were intimate friends of Brodie declare that he had piled up a fortune of more than $100,000 out of the little saloon, and that all of it had come from an original investment of $200 in connection with his "leap" from the Brooklyn bridge.

Although there was ample proof that Brodie had never jumped off the bridge, he stoutly maintained until his dying day that his story was true.

IN THE LIMELIGHT

SUCCESSOR TO HASKELL

Herman Ridder, editor of the New York Staats Zeitung, who has been appointed to succeed Gov. Haskell of Oklahoma as treasurer of the Democratic national committee, has already been closely identified with the Bryan campaign in the east, as he has been vice chairman of the publicity bureau of the national committee, and head of the German bureau at the Democratic headquarters. In this capacity Mr. Ridder has been one of the busiest men at headquarters. Tons of Bryan literature in the German language have been scattered broadcast over the country through his department. He has also been an active member of the eastern advisory committee.

Mr. Ridder is a self-made man who has risen from poverty to wealth through his own efforts. Among German-Americans in the entire country he is looked up to and will undoubtedly be able to give valuable service through his ability to reach the well-to-do Americans of German birth in all parts of the country.

Mr. Ridder has been very prominent in the councils of his party this year, though before the nomination of Mr. Bryan he opposed his candidacy. He was spoken of for the vice-presidential nomination during the Democratic national convention at Denver, and, had he so desired, could have had a place on the New York Democratic state ticket.

Mr. Ridder was born in New York May 5, 1851, and secured his education in the schools of his native city. He began his business career as an errand boy when 11 years old, and at 20 was an insurance agent.

His entry into the newspaper world was as the publisher of the Katholisches Volksblatt, which he established in 1878, and in 1886 he founded the Catholic News. Since 1890 he has been the treasurer and manager of the New York Staats Zeitung.

He was active in the campaigns of Grover Cleveland, and also became identified with many reform movements, especially those affecting German-Americans.

NAVAL WARFARE LAWS

Prof. George Grafton Wilson, who will represent the United States at the international conference to be held in London soon to prepare laws to govern future maritime warfare, is a man of but 45 years of age, though he has been a professor of social and political science at Brown university since 1891. For eight years he has been lecturer on international law at the Newport naval war college and since 1906 has lectured on that subject at Harvard.

That he is a brilliant man is testified by the fact that he received his appointment as professor at Brown at the early age of 28 after very little apprenticeship as instructor. The average age of professional appointments is nearly 40.

Previous to entering upon his career as an educator he had studied several years abroad. He was graduated at the age of 23 from Brown in 1886, received his master of arts degree two years later, his degree of doctor of philosophy the following year, and then went to Europe to complete his education. On the other side of the Atlantic he studied at Heidelberg, Berlin, Paris and Oxford during the years 1890 and 1891.

Prof. Wilson as an authority on international law is considered by experts as second to none in this country, if indeed in the world.

BEAT CONVICT LEASE SYSTEM

Fred L. Seely of Atlanta, owner and editor of the Daily Georgian, is a man to whom the state of Georgia owes an infinitely greater debt than he is likely to be paid. For he is the individual to whose earnest, tireless efforts is due the wiping out by that state of the infamous convict lease system. It was no slight task, either, for a large proportion of the people of Georgia were satisfied with the old way.

They had no state prison and instead of appropriating money year after year for the expense of such a system they found themselves receiving an annual income from the blood money paid them for the prisoners. That the latter were brutally treated, beaten, tortured, sometimes killed under atrocious circumstances by the unspeakable creatures who were placed over them as guardians—these things disturbed many Georgians not a whit. The convict speculators were making money fast.

Editor Seely fought at first against great obstacles. The prison commission refused him information and sought to balk him at every turn. But he spent the money necessary to look into things for himself. When he found out the horrors of the convict camps he compelled the legislature to meet in a special session. The legislature ordered an investigation. Many of the stories told by the witnesses brought in were all but unbelievable. White boys of tender years, convicted of minor thefts, were flogged to death by the guards.

Strangely enough, nearly half the legislators opposed any change in the system. They have been overwhelmed, however, by the moral sentiment of the state, and the brutal slave camps operated under the official protection of the state of Georgia for white men as well as black will soon be things of the past.

A SUDDEN GOLD.

Miss Helen Sauerbier, of 815 Main St., St. Joseph, Mich., writes an interesting letter on the subject of catching cold, which cannot fail to be of value to all women who catch cold easily.

PERUNA ADVISED FOR SUDDEN COLDS.

It Should be Taken According to Directions on the Bottle, at the First Appearance of the Cold.

ST. JOSEPH, MICH., Sept., 1901.—Last winter I caught a sudden cold which developed into an unpleasant catarrh of the head and throat, depriving me of my appetite and usual good spirits. A friend who had been cured by Peruna advised me to try it and I sent for a bottle at once, and I am glad to say that in three days the phlegm had loosened, and I felt better, my appetite returned and within nine days I was in my usual good health.

Delegate Andrews' election is conceded by from five to seven hundred. It was a close shave in a total vote of 50,000.

Of the three doubtful states reported last week, viz: Maryland, Missouri and Montana. Taft gets the two latter and two of the votes of Maryland.

President Roosevelt has promised to aid statehood; the republican party has declared for it, and Mr. Andrews was elected for that purpose. The question that the people want answered, and that quickly, is, "did they mean it?"

The democrats will gain three United States senators in the next congress. Chamberlain from Oregon, probably Kern, recently vice-presidential candidate on the democratic ticket, and a democrat from Nebraska, all to succeed republicans.

Is Joe Cannon a bigger man than Taft, and bigger than his party? That is the serious question now. In other words, Cannon, with Payne, Dalzell and Aldrich behind him, is undecided as to what manner the tariff should be revised—upward or downward. Taft and the republican party's declaration to the contrary, notwithstanding.

Mr. Taft received 321 electoral votes to Mr. Bryan's 162. In 1904 Mr. Roosevelt received 336 electoral votes to Mr. Parker's 140. There are seven more votes in the electoral college this year than in 1904, Oklahoma supplying that number. Taft received about 1,000,000,000 majority on the popular vote this year. Roosevelt's, in 1904, was about 2,000,000,000.

The official count of the Lincoln county vote appears in this week's issue of the News. The only changes over the report of last week was the emphasis of republican majorities and the election of Robert A. Hunt, republican, for assessor, over Chavez by one vote, when it was believed, up to the time of the official count, that Chavez had landed the plum. The total vote of the county for delegate was 1485, of which W. P. Metcalf, socialist, received 13, divided among the precincts as follows: Precincts 1, 2 votes; precinct 7, 6 votes; precinct 8, 1 vote, and precinct 12, 4 votes. Two years ago the total vote of the county was 1176; 300 votes over that number was polled this year.

The territorial election returns go to show that the democratic candidate for delegate to congress was defeated, and that the republican candidate was elected. This, however, does not prove that New Mexico is republican, as numbers of democrats in every county in the territory, impelled by the desire for statehood, and being persuaded that it could only be obtained by electing a republican delegate, voted for W. H. Andrews—a fact which tended also towards the defeat of many good men running for office on the democratic ticket. The result of the election was a disappointment to many; but the people have spoken and we will take our medicine for two more years. We now look to Delegate Andrews to deliver the goods, as he promised to do, at the short session of congress, or give the reason why.

Eat What

You want of the food you need
Kodol will digest it.

You need a sufficient amount of good wholesome food and more than this you need to fully digest it.

Else you can't gain strength, nor can you strengthen your stomach if it is weak.

You must eat in order to live and maintain strength.

You must not diet, because the body requires that you eat a sufficient amount of food regularly.

But this food must be digested, and it must be digested thoroughly.

When the stomach can't do it, you must take something that will help the stomach.

The proper way to do is to eat what you want, and let Kodol digest the food.

Nothing else can do this. When the stomach is weak it needs help; you must help it by giving it rest, and Kodol will do that.

Our Guarantee

Go to your druggist today, and purchase a dollar bottle, and if you can honestly say, that you did not receive any benefits from it, after using the entire bottle, the druggist will refund your money to you without question or delay.

We will pay the druggist the price of the bottle purchased by you.

This offer applies to the large bottle only and to but one in a family.

We could not afford to make such an offer, unless we positively knew what Kodol will do for you.

It would bankrupt us.
The dollar bottle contains 2½ times as much as the fifty cent bottle.

Kodol is made at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

L. Wallace Holt, who lived at Lakewood, but was well known in the Capitan country as the president of the New Mexico Iron Mining Co., died in Roswell this week, from a hemorrhage of the lungs. The writer knew Mr. Holt for many years, and regarded him highly.

Last Sunday was a red-letter day in the history of Ancho, from a religious point of view. Brother John Skinner of this place went up there and preached the first sermon in that town. The meeting was largely attended, people traveling many miles to be present. A union Sunday school was organized in the afternoon.

Frank Gray, W. D. Gray M. S. Parker and P. C. Baird spent several days last week on a hunting trip near Gran Quivera. The trip resulted in bringing down two stags, one of which weighed 250 pounds. The head of one was adorned with exceptionally fine antlers, standing 20 inches high with a spread of 26 inches. It was brought down at long range by Frank, and it is his intention to have it mounted.

Casaus, and it was never owned by the Carrizozo Townsite Co.—Carrizozo Townsite Co., Ira B. Wetmore.]

Silas May and C. E. Hutchinson of Tucumcari, outfitted here Monday and left for the Capitan mountains on two weeks' hunting trip. As the former is acquainted with every canon, draw and deer trail in those mountains, it is almost safe to say they will "get theirs" before returning, besides having plenty of exciting sport, as wild turkey and bear abound there. Owing to the mildness of the weather and the absence of snow, the game have not yet come down from the high points and it may take some climbing to get within range. The season expires November 30, although wild turkey may be killed up to December 31.

GET YOUR DEER SOON.

If you expect to get a deer this season, and be within the law, the time is short. There are only seventeen days now in which deer may be killed, the close season beginning December 1. The season for killing wild turkeys, however, does not expire until December 31st, which will give all an opportunity to have a turkey for Christmas as well as one for Thanksgiving.

Ex-Senator E. W. Carmack, of Tennessee, was shot to death on the streets of Nashville, by the Coopers, father and son, two bitter political enemies of the brilliant ex-senator. Carmack died fighting, wounding one of his antagonists twice. Ex-Senator Carmack was one of the most forceful debaters who ever occupied a seat in the upper house, and his tragic death casts a gloom over the entire south.

CANAL ONE-THIRD COMPLETED.

Washington, Nov. 7.—At the end of October, according to figures given out at the office of the Isthmian Canal Commission this evening, the United States, since beginning to make the "dirt fly," had taken 53,788,593 cubic yards of material from the canal cut. The keeping of records was begun on May 1, 1904, at which time it was estimated the task before the canal builders was the removal of 142,000,000 cubic yards of earth and rock.

At the rate of progress shown since the keeping of records the canal should be finished so far as the main cutting is concerned, late in 1913. Lieut.-Col. Goethals, president of the commission, on his recent visit to Washington said he adhered to his original estimate, which was that ships would be passing through the canal on Jan. 1, 1915. He said that there would be considerable work to be done even after the ordinary excavating was finished.

Today's report shows that another record was broken in October by the men who do the actual digging. They took out, place measurement, 3,282,276 cubic yards of material. In September the record was 3,158,386 yards, while in October, 1907, the removal amounted to only 1,874,329 yards.

RHUBARB SOMETHING MORE THAN A DELICACY.

Eaten Stewed, It is a Powerful Foe to Gout and Rheumatism—Is Also a Specific for the Complexion.

Rhubarb has many uses not only for the table, but for medicinal purposes. The part used the most is the foot stalk of the leaves. The roots take up many acids and are astringent, hence the value of the dried roots as a medicine.

There is some soda in the rhubarb also, and a little potash. The combination of these alkalies with the acids produce useful salts which have vitalizing power in the blood. The dearth of sugar in the cellular tissue of the stalk is responsible for the strong effect. Yet sugar is present to the extent of two per cent.

Rhubarb is a powerful zest giver. When merely placed in the mouth and left unmasticated there is a rush of the saliva from the glands to deal with the quantity of acid in the mouth. This is excellent in cases where the digestive fluids need stimulation. Any food taken will be absorbed through the pouring out of the digestive fluids.

Though a vegetable, rhubarb is used in every respect as a fruit. Eaten stewed, so that the acids are tart in it, the stalk acts as a foe to gout and rheumatism, for it neutralizes the uric acid that causes these things. It is also a specific for the complexion. Its acids fight valiantly with the noxious humors and gases in the body that otherwise would find outlet in the shape of rough and pimply skin.

Here are a few recipes for rhubarb dishes:

To Prepare Rhubarb for Children.

Wash, dry and cut the rhubarb stalks into pieces about two inches long. Put them into a stone jar with a little water, add as much sugar as deemed necessary. Set the jar in the oven, or in a pan of water till the contents are perfectly done.

Spread a portion on plain dumplings or boiled rice, or on slices of bread. Rhubarb thus prepared will remain good for two or three weeks.

Rhubarb and Fig Jam.

Wash, dry and cut into small pieces 12 pounds of rhubarb and four pounds of good figs. Put them into a large basin, add two cups of water, 12 pounds of sugar and two heaping tablespoonfuls of ground ginger. Allow them to remain in a cool place for 12 hours.

The next day boil quickly for three-quarters of an hour, and cover at once.

Rhubarb Charlotte.

Soak 1½ ounces of gelatine in half a pint of water for ten minutes, dissolve gently and strain.

Stew three-quarters of a pound of cut rhubarb with four ounces of sugar, one pint of water, the grated rind and juice of one lemon. Add the gelatine and two well beaten whites of eggs.

Pour into a mold lined with lady fingers. When firm turn out quickly and carefully into a cold dish.

Serve with a custard made of the yolks of the eggs, two heaping tablespoonfuls of sugar, half a pint of milk and a few drops of vanilla.

Rhubarb Mold.

Wash and cut into small pieces enough young rhubarb to fill a quart measure. Put into an enameled pan with 1½ pounds of sugar, the grated rind and strained juice of one lemon, 12 almonds blanched and chopped finely.

Boil quickly till they look like a rich marmalade, then add half an ounce of gelatine dissolved in two tablespoonfuls of boiling water.

Pour into a mold wetted with cold water. Set aside till firm. Turn out and serve with cream.

THE GREAT MAN'S OCCUPATION.

Nothing Very Serious in His Mine Just at That Moment.

The multi-millionaire was being shaved. As he lay back in his chair, looking upward, his grave face gave the impression that he was in deep study.

"Ah," whispered one of the barber shop loiterers. "I'll wager a dollar against a toothpick that he is thinking of railroad mergers."

"No," said another, "he is thinking about bear raids in Wall street."

"Bet he is pondering over the rebate system," echoed a third.

"I'll ask him."

Walking over to the chair, he said politely:

"Beg your pardon, sir, but to settle an argument, would you kindly tell us what mighty question you are studying over?"

The multi-millionaire turned his lathered face around and smiled. "I was just studying two flies doing handstands on the ceiling," he chuckled, and the trio of guessers looked so sheepish they failed to hear "Next" when it was called to them.

HOW HE SHOT THEM.

Made Little Difference to Sportsman Where His Birds Were Hit.

"Down in Florida, where I spend the greater part of the winter," said the sunburned New Yorker, "they are not so particular about observing the game laws and the little niceties of hunting as we are up north. I had frequently seen water fowl shot without giving them a chance to rise. Coming up to Jacksonville a big German got on the train at Port Orange with a nice string of duck. He sat next me in the smoker and I struck up a conversation with him.

"Nice lot of ducks you have there," I said.

"Yah," he replied.

"Where did you get them?" I asked.

"Down py de inlet up de creeks," he said.

"I suppose you shot them on the wing," I ventured, remembering the trick of the pot hunters.

"Yah," he replied solemnly, 'on de wing, und in de feet, und in de head, eberywhere. Dere dey are. You can examine dem und see for yourself.'"

Brain and Nerves Restored by Grape-Nuts Food.

The number of persons whose ailments were such that no other food could be retained at all, is large and reports are on the increase.

"For 12 years I suffered from dyspepsia, finding no food that did not distress me," writes a Wis. lady. "I was reduced from 145 to 90 lbs., gradually growing weaker until I could leave my bed only a short while at a time, and became unable to speak aloud.

"Three years ago I was attracted by an article on Grape-Nuts and decided to try it.

"My stomach was so weak I could not take cream, but I used Grape-Nuts with milk and lime water. It helped me from the first, building up my system in a manner most astonishing to the friends who had thought my recovery impossible.

"Soon I was able to take Grape-Nuts and cream for breakfast, and lunch at night, with an egg and Grape-Nuts for dinner.

"I am now able to eat fruit, meat and nearly all vegetables for dinner, but fondly continue Grape-Nuts for breakfast and supper.

"At the time of beginning Grape-Nuts I could scarcely speak a sentence without changing words around or 'talking crooked' in some way, but my brain and nerves have become so strengthened that I no longer have that trouble." "There's a Reason." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

HOW TO TEST LINSEED OIL

There is nothing that will make paint go wrong on the house more quickly than poor oil. It is as bad in its way as adulterations in the white lead. Petroleum oil cheapeners may be detected by placing a drop of the oil on a black painted surface. If one sees the characteristic iridescence or play of colors which kerosene exhibits, it is evidence of adulteration. Corn and fish oil can be detected by the smell.

Adulteration in white lead can best be discovered by the use of a blow-pipe, which National Lead Company will send with instructions free to anyone interested in paint. Address, National Lead Company, Woodbridge Building, New York.

Money to Burn.

The big touring car had just whizzed by with a roar like a gigantic rocket, and Pat and Mike turned to watch it disappear in a cloud of dust. "Them chug wagons must cost a hape av cash," said Mike. "The rich is fairly burnin' money."

"An', be the smell av it," sniffed Pat. "It must be that tainted money we do be hearin' so much about."

The sudden cold snap this week was a reminder that the time has arrived to look up last year's mackintosh, and make a quick change in wearing apparel.

It is reported this week in railroad circles that the differences that have existed for some time between the railway company and the trainmen have been amicably adjusted.

Attorney Wm. F. A. Gierke left Wednesday night for his old home in Oklahoma, having been called there by a telegram. He expects to be absent about two or three weeks.

Geo. W. Hall and son Howard have purchased the Barlow herd of goats. The herd consists of about 600 head of graded Angoras. They are grazing the goats in the Oscura country.

Harry A. Scott returned Monday from Kansas City. Mr. Scott remained in town several days, nursing an ulcerated tooth, and left for his home at Richardson later in the week.

Geo. A. Hunt was down from White Oaks one day this week. Mr. Hunt, who is a sheep inspector, was on the lookout for a bunch of infected sheep, and intends, when he finds them, to have them dipped.

Fireman Gordon Gunn met with a slight accident Monday while on the Capitan branch run. He got his leg between two opposing elements which bruised but did not crush the leg, and the effects of the injury will soon pass.

J. B. Leasure of the Independence mining company in the San Andreas, was in Carrizozo this week for supplies. He reports considerable development going on in his district, and a prospect for some excitement there in the spring.

On Thursday evening the inhabitants of this town were forcibly reminded that winter has set in, and that we can say goodbye to fine weather for a time. A cutting easterly wind blew all that night and continued into the next day, with strong indications for a big snow storm as we go to press.

Messrs. Rice, Fulmer, Weigh, Link, Yates and Schiver, all stockholders of the Eagle Mining and Improvement Co., came down from Parsons Tuesday and took that night's train for El Paso. Mr. Rice will return this week, but the other members of the party go to their homes in the east.

County Surveyor W. R. Beaty came down from Corona Tuesday night. Mr. Beaty informed the News that scarlet fever is epidemic at Corona, that one death has occurred and that the school has been closed. The authorities have quarantined the houses infected and it is believed the contagion will go no further.

Deer are said to be plentiful along the foothills of the Oscuras and around the head of the Mal Pais. Several hunting expeditions have been made into that section, and few have come back empty-handed, and yet many deer remain.

Mart L. Goodin, who underwent an operation at the Hotel Dieu, El Paso, about three weeks ago, is getting along quite well. His friends will be glad to learn that he survived the reaction that followed the operation, which, at one time, made his condition serious.

A. S. Yates and P. A. Schriver, two wealthy laundrymen of Chicago, who are also stockholders in the Eagle Mining and Improvement Co., paid this office a pleasant visit this week. These gentlemen had been inspecting the company's machinery and mines at Parsons, and expressed themselves as well pleased with the prospect. While waiting here between trains they made a trip to the Mal Pais, one of nature's remedies.

Menace of the Flying Machine.

What Emperor William calls "the beginning of a new national era" seems to be dawning for more than one nation as one reads the daily reports of successful experiments with flying machines and dirigible balloons. We demand now with our morning's breakfast at least a column of news about the flights of airships, and we usually get it. There is a new kind of international race going on—a race for the perfect airship, and the first prize in that race is no beautiful gaud or empty honor; it is the extension of national power and the possible supremacy over other nations. At least it is evident that that view is held by many in Great Britain and Germany, and a positive nervousness is becoming evident over the military possibilities of the aeroplanes and dirigibles each is exploiting. Gen. Baden-Powell calls upon Great Britain to arouse herself to the new situation that is impending. "In a very few years," he remarks, ominously, "we shall see these powerful machines in the air under perfect control and in practical operation. Then every government will obtain them and the navies will be virtually useless as a first line of defense."—Current Literature.

Sidney Whitman, Bismarck's old friend and biographer, has established friendly relations with the present chancellor, Prince von Buelow, who has just made him the mouthpiece for an interview calculated to mollify England and lessen the tension arising from the Moroccan situation. For the chauvinists in either country, who are perpetually fanning the flames of hatred, the chancellor has nothing but contempt. He intimates that Germany will soon show in some unmistakable way her determination to be a factor for peace, and her friendliness for Great Britain. Especially significant is his declaration that "the dominant influence in the world is neither England nor Germany, much less any single individual in either country," but rather "the world's conscience," often called public opinion. This is a striking tribute to the effect which scrutiny of national policies by an audience, international and interracial in makeup, is having on the nations and their controlling officials.

It is natural to overestimate the wealth of millionaires. Probate courts and executors are constantly proving how exaggerated many of the estimates are. Legrand Powers of the United States census bureau, in the current American Journal of Sociology, deals statistically and logically with claims that are made against millionaires as a class, and shows that either the census estimates of the wealth of the entire population are ridiculously small or the popular estimates of the relatively few millionaire fortunes are exaggerated. He stands by the census estimates, in the main, and denies that there is any such concentration of wealth as has been assumed by some economists, as well as by popular demagogues.

Is the world going backward? The Boston magazine that prints in its latest number an article about "The Scarcity of Skunks" was lamenting a while ago the scarcity of poetry.

WEALTH IN FAVORS

STEEL KING GIVES $16,000,000 TO HIS CHILDREN.

W. H. Singer of Pittsburg Places Riches to Extent of $4,000,000 at Plate of Each Child on Occasion of His Golden Wedding.

Pittsburg, Pa.—At the golden wedding dinner of himself and wife, W. H. Singer, an iron king, distributed $16,000,000 among his four children, each getting $4,000,000. Through the filing of certain papers in the Allegheny county courthouse the other day this came out. It later was admitted by the Singer family.

Mr. Singer invited his children to the family home, 934 Western avenue, Allegheny, to assist in celebrating his golden wedding anniversary on May 27. None but the children was invited, and each one found by his or her plate a small dinner "favor" of checks, bonds and deeds amounting to $4,000,000 each.

The four children who received these small gifts are as follows:

William Henry Singer, Jr., landscape painter, now in Norway, where he spends most of his time.

George Singer, iron manufacturer of Pittsburg, now in the White mountains on his vacation.

Mrs. William Ross Proctor, wife of a Philadelphia architect.

Marguerite Singer, a younger daughter, who resides at home.

Mrs. Singer, who has a fortune of her own, received several pieces of valuable real estate as her golden wedding present.

Mr. Singer made his fortune as a member of the famous iron firm of Singer, Nimick & Co. He also was connected with many banking institutions in Pittsburg, and is considered one of the rich men of the country.

A peculiar feature of the case was made known recently. William Henry Singer, the son who chose painting rather than the iron business as his life's work, will not be able to enjoy his millions in America, owing to the great fear his wife holds of the "Black Hand." She recently received a threatening letter, and it frightened her into hysterics. Her husband was finally compelled to take her abroad.

The elder Singer declined to discuss his remarkable dinner party further than to say it was a private matter. It is known, however, that the iron king is but following out the policy laid down by his lifelong friend, Charles Lockhart of the Standard Oil Company, who some years before his death called all his children into a dinner party and under each plate was found a check for $1,000,000.

Mr. Lockhart and Mr. Singer many years ago promised each other they would distribute their wealth among their children "in time to do the children some good."

CHURCH OF FEW WEDDINGS.

Only Two in Two Centuries Is Record of London Edifice.

London.—Two marriages only in two centuries is a record which possibly but one church in the world can claim. That church is St. Peter's, Vere street, London. And yet St. Peter's is one of the most fashionable churches of London. The reason of its record is curious. The church is not licensed for marriages.

With the aid of a special license and a special proclamation and dispensation, the archbishop of Canterbury, assisted by a distinguished gathering of clergy, married at the little church four years ago his chaplain, the Rev. Mr. McMillan, to Miss Maurice, granddaughter of the late Rev. Charles Maurice, and daughter of Gen. Maurice. In the middle Victorian period Dr. Maurice was the incumbent of the church. He soon became celebrated as the most eloquent and powerful preacher in the Church of England, and brought St. Peter's from the unknown ranks of a chapel of ease to its present status of a famous and fashionable church. The only other marriage celebrated in the church was that of Lord Selborne's daughter to Col. Lord Digby of the Coldstream guards. This was some years ago and King Edward was among the guests. But for the fact that the bride was daughter of England's lord chancellor it is doubtful whether the special authorization needed for the ceremony would have been issued. In the McMillan-Maurice wedding the fact that the bridegroom was chaplain to the archbishop of Canterbury made it easier to grant the bride's request that she might be married in her grandfather's old church. The fees for the special license and special authorization amounted to $250.

St. Peter's was built two centuries ago by the earl of Oxford as a domestic chapel to his big mansion on what were then the outskirts of London. About a century ago, when the earldom became extinct, the chapel became the property of the crown and has remained so ever since. For years it was used as a chapel of ease and has never had a parish attached to it. The government finally charged pews, in Dr. Maurice's time, for the church was crowded to the doors twice every Sunday. When Dr. Maurice died Canon Page-Roberts of Canterbury, another of England's most famous preachers, succeeded him and still is in charge. Canon Page-Roberts goes to London only during the social season, and during the other months of the year his curate conducts the services, and distinguished preachers from all parts visit there. The late Bishop Potter of New York has been heard there.

The exterior of St. Peter's is very plain. It looks more like a little old church in the backwoods than a famous London place of worship. But the interior is a thing of beauty. Thousands upon thousands of dollars have been spent on it during the last quarter of a century. Its marvelous windows, altar pictures and decorations are all by Burne-Jones, and hundreds of American tourists visit it every year to see them. Its congregation is said to be the most intellectual in England. The church being so near Cavendish square and Harley street, a large number of scientists, surgeons and physicians attend it. Lord Chylesmore, ex-mayor of Westminster, and his American wife attend. The duke of Wellington, Lord Roberts and a hundred or more great peers are pewholders. So anxious are people to attend the services that the vestry always has a waiting list of over 300 who have applied for pews.

Worked Both Ways.

John Kendrick Bangs had been congratulated on the success of his last book.

"Thank you," said Mr. Bangs, "and I am glad your congratulations don't work both ways."

"Work both ways?"

"Yes. Like those that were once offered to a man named Brownlow."

"A friend said to Brownlow:

"Let me congratulate you. I see by the paper that your wife has presented you with twins."

"Brownlow smiled."

"No," he said, "That is a mistake. The father's name is John C. Brownlow. I am John K. Brownlow."

"Ah," cried the other man, heartily, "then I do, indeed, congratulate you."

GIRL WAS DELIRIOUS

With Fearful Eczema—Pain, Heat, and Tingling Were Excruciating—Cuticura Acted Like Magic.

"An eruption broke out on my daughter's chest. I took her to a doctor, and he pronounced it to be eczema of a very bad form. He treated her, but the disease spread to her back, and then the whole of her head was affected, and all her hair had to be cut off. The pain she suffered was excruciating, and with that and the heat and tingling her life was almost unbearable. Occasionally she was delirious and she did not have a proper hour's sleep for many nights. The second doctor we tried afforded her just as little relief as the first. Then I purchased Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills, and before the Ointment was three-quarters finished every trace of the disease was gone. It really seemed like magic. Mrs. T. W. Hyde, Brentwood, Essex, England, Mar. 8, 1907."

Imaginary Holidays.

I know a man who cannot afford to travel, and yet has a delightful way of deceiving himself. He learns about the cost of traveling, the proper clothing to be worn, gets a time table, and arranges excursions for himself to various places, and then reads about them in books of travel. To the man with imagination it is a captivating occupation.—Hearth and Home.

IN SOFT MATERIAL

FASHIONABLE PREFERENCE FOR DRAPED WAISTS.

Trimmings of Embroidered Cloth or Silk Are Used—Over Bodice of Peculiar But Most Becoming Shapes.

Among the fashionable preferences of the moment is that for the draped waist of soft material, having a trimming of embroidered cloth or silk or of the oriental embroidery which is bought by the piece. Our sketch shows such a waist in a most charming design, which may well be one of the items of the wardrobe for general wear. The waist is made of chiffon cloth to match a rather elaborate tailored suit. The over bodice in this instance is of broadcloth which has been embroidered and finished at the edges with scallops and pinkings. Sometimes the edges are finished with a narrow binding stitched on the edge or are edged with cord or braid. This

SHORT COATS NOT WORN.

Seven-Eighths and Knee Lengths Are the Styles in Fashion.

While the more stylish new models in coats are seven-eighths length, still the square and cutaway coats that reach nearly to the knees are in good style.

It would be foolish to alter these in any way to conform to this winter's fashion. The really short coat cut off at the waist or the hips is quite out of fashion, and one would be in doubt what to do with it.

The short cutaway coat which some women wore last spring can be altered for midseason wear by adding a five or seven-inch fold of velveteen or cloth to the edges.

This is begun in a narrow point at the lowest button, and instantly widens as it goes around the sides and back of the coat.

Length is obtained in this way, and one also conforms to the fashions. The same tone of color should be used to match the cloth. A slight variation toward a darker tone is permissible, especially when velveteen is used.

Even English mohair suits of the heavy durable quality that have been worn all summer can be altered in this way to advantage.

It is not recommended for light trimming is of the same material as the skirt and is again used for the cuffs. The chemisette is of tuck mousseline de soie, chiffon or batiste of the finest quality, or it may be of the chiffon cloth of which the waist is made. Usually, however, a different fabric is preferred for the chemisette and the undersleeves. The chemisette may be of the same color as the waist, of a lighter shade, or of white, cream or ecru, as fancy dictates. When a waist exactly matches the skirt it is more becoming often to have the chemisette relieve the monotone with the contrast of white or cream instead of being in the same shade.

The over bodice or bertha is of a peculiar but most becoming shape. It is rather square across the shoulders for this season's fashion and finishes in deep points over the draped chiffon cloth. Two buttons, matching in color the bodice or else contrasting attractively with it, are set on the inside of each of the two points. This trimming of broadcloth makes quite enough of a connection between the bodice and skirt, in addition to the uniformity in color, and prevents the clumsy effect of an entire broadcloth waist or one more nearly made of cloth by having none of the heavier material about the waist.

Return of the Bolero.

The bolero, with a luster heightened by the retirement it has of late sustained, appears with many of the tailor-made suits designed for early autumn wear. It has joined forces with some of the directoire modes, and makes a particularly smart appearance built of taffetas, with a double-breasted front buttoned across the figure, and long, broad tails flowing to the hem of the skirt. The lower edge of the bolero and the tails are trimmed with a sparsely plaited ruche of silk, which trimming also outlines the armholes, from whence the tightly fitting sleeves, with their doubly frilled wristlets, protrude. Sharply-pointed revers decorate the model, and these are closely braided with soutache, and set the seal of the directoire style upon it. The sleeve is the critical sign manual of the coat of the present moment. It clings to the arms with close tenacity, and in many instances is cleverly cut in one with the coat. The tailors are exploiting the latter model, of course.

serges or pongee or rajah silk. These fabrics are best put away in camphor until next spring.

For a slight cut there is nothing better to control the hemorrhage than common unglazed paper, such as is used by grocers and market men. Bind a piece on the cut.

Pineapple juice is good for cleaning stains out of the hands. It should be well rubbed in, left for a few minutes and then thoroughly washed with plenty of soap and warm water.

For a bad breath hold listerine and water in the mouth as long as possible. Gargle with listerine after meals.

For thick lids mop the place under the eye with spirits of camphor night and morning, letting it dry on. Also wet the lids, taking care that none of the spirits gets into the eye itself.

Backache and Kidney Trouble Slowly Wear One Out.

PUTTING IT UP TO BILLIE.

Logical Reason Why He Should Be the One to Ask Favor.

The wagons of the "greatest show on earth" passed up the avenue at daybreak. Their incessant rumble soon awakened ten-year-old Billie and his five-year-old brother, Robert. Their mother feigned sleep as the two white-robed figures crept past her bed into the hall, on the way to investigate. Robert struggled manfully with the unaccustomed task of putting on his clothes. "Wait for me, Billie," his mother heard him beg. "You'll get ahead of me."

"Get mother to help you," counseled Billie, who was having troubles of his own.

Mother started to the rescue, and then paused as she heard the voice of her younger, guarded but anxious and insistent:

"You ask her, Billie. You've known her longer than I have."—Everybody's Magazine.

Expressions of a Cynic.

Walter Pater, an old man at 50, bald as a coot and grotesquely plain, regarded every woman much as did Dean Swift, who wrote: "A very little wit is valued in a woman, as we are pleased with few words spoken intelligibly by a parrot." "You don't approve of marriage?" a friend once observed to Pater. "No," he replied, "nor would anybody else if he gave the matter proper consideration. Men and women are always pulling different ways. Women won't pull our way. They are so perverse."

WANTED TO KNOW

The Truth About Grape-Nuts Food.

It doesn't matter so much what you hear about a thing, it's what you know that counts. And correct knowledge is most likely to come from personal experience.

"About a year ago," writes a N. Y. man, "I was bothered by indigestion, especially during the forenoon. I tried several remedies without any permanent improvement."

"My breakfast usually consisted of oatmeal, steak or chops, bread, coffee and some fruit."

"Hearing so much about Grape-Nuts, I concluded to give it a trial and find out if all I had heard of it was true."

"So I began with Grape-Nuts and cream, 2 soft boiled eggs, toast, a cup of Postum and some fruit. Before the end of the first week I was rid of the acidity of the stomach and felt much relieved."

"By the end of the second week all traces of indigestion had disappeared and I was in first rate health once more. Before beginning this course of diet, I never had any appetite for lunch, but now I can enjoy a hearty meal at noon time." "There's a Reason."

GOV. CURRY PARDONS HALL

A telegram from Santa Fe, which is given below, states that Gov. Curry has pardoned William Hall, a life convict. Many Lincoln county people will remember the trial of Hall in this county on a change of venue.

The telegram reads as follows:

Santa Fe, Nov. 7.—Gov. Geo. Curry today granted a pardon to Wm. Hall, a life term convict in the territorial penitentiary. Hall was sent to the penitentiary from Roswell on January 27, 1903, to serve a life sentence for killing Henry Crump in a quarrel over a woman. Relatives of Hall have been endeavoring for the past five years to secure his pardon, and Texas senators and congressmen were interested in the case as well as influential citizens of the Lone Star state. There were certain extenuating circumstances, hence the pardon. Hall's home is in Coleman, Tex., where his family resides. He will go there immediately. During his term in the penitentiary he was a model prisoner. Hall's trial was one of the most hotly contested in the territory, and cost the people heavily from first to last.
