

University of New Mexico

UNM Digital Repository

Long Term Ecological Research - Reports

Long Term Ecological Research (LTER)

8-1987

Coordinating Committee Meeting, Denver, Colorado, August, 1987

Long Term Ecological Research Network

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalrepository.unm.edu/lter_reports

Funded projects during current grant period:

LTET Primary Producer/Consumer Conference, September 23-26, 1986. Nancy Huntly and Richard Inouye, for the Cedar Creek LTER site.

Establishment and Operation of an LTER Climate Coordinating Committee, 1985-1987. David Greenland, University of Colorado, Niwot Ridge LTER site.

Sulfur Transformations in Terrestrial Ecosystems Within and Outside the LTER Network of Sites, 1984-1986. John W. Fitzgerald, University of Georgia.

Workshop for Ecologists and Systematists on Priorities for Collaborative Work on Soil Organisms, May 20-21, 1985. Nancy Stanton and Jack Lattin, University of Wyoming and Oregon State University.

Symposium, Research Data Management in the Ecological Sciences, November 4-7, 1984. John Vernberg, University of South Carolina.

Workshops on Forest Gap Research, 1986-1987. Jerry Franklin, H.J. Andrews LTER site.

Coordination of Long Term Research on Terrestrial-Aquatic Linkages, October 1984. Richard Marzolf, Kansas State University, Konza Prairie LTER site.

Meteorological/Data Managers Workshop, January 1986. Walt Conley, New Mexico State University.

Workshop on Organic Matter Processes in Streams, October 18-19, 1985. Jackson Webster, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University.

Sediment Movement at LTER Sites: Mechanics, Measurement, and Integration with Hydrology, September 16-18, 1985. J. Rodger Adams, Illinois State Water Survey.

Trace Metals in Dominant Canopy Trees from Long Term Ecological Research Sites, 1985-1987. Cory W. Berish, Emory University.

Products from LTER funded projects during current grant period:

Adams, J. Rodger (compiler). 1986. Sediment Movement at LTER Sites: Mechanics, Measurement, and Integration with Hydrology. State Water Survey Division, University of Illinois. SWS Contract Report 387, 49 pp.

Webster, Jackson R. Long-Term Research in Stream Ecology. Submitted to Ecological Society Bulletin.

Greenland, David, et al. 1986. Standardized Meteorological Measurements for Long Term Ecological Research Sites. Prepared by the LTER Climate Committee. 33 pp.

Michener, William K. (ed.). 1986. Research Data Management in the Ecological Sciences. Symposium held Nov. 4-6, 1984 at Hobcaw Barony, Georgetown, S.C. 426 pp.

Christensen, Norman L. and Jerry F. Franklin. Small-Scale Disturbance in Forest Ecosystems - A Planning Session. 1986. Submitted to Ecological Society of America Bulletin.

Stanton, Nancy L. and John D. Lattin. 1985. Report on a Workshop for Ecologists and Systematists on Priorities for Collaborative Work on Soil Organisms, held May 20-21, 1985. 21 pp.

Watwood, Mary E., John W. Fitzgerald, and Wayne T. Swank. Factors involved in potential sulfur accumulation in litter and soil from a coastal pine forest. Submitted to Biogeochemistry, 1986.

Watwood, Mary E., John W. Fitzgerald, and James R. Gosz. 1986. Sulfur processing in forest soil and litter along an elevational and vegetative gradient. Can. J. For. Res. 16:689-695.

Huntly, Nancy (compiler). 1986. LTER Primary Producer/Consumer Conference. Abstracts from workshop held September 23-26, 1986 at the Cedar Creek LTER site, Cedar Creek, Minnesota.

Michener, W.K. (ed.) 1985. Research Data Management in the Ecological Sciences (symposium 11-4/6-84), and Data Management in the Long-Term Ecological Research Program (workshop 11-7-84). 39 pp.