MONTGOMERY CASE STILL A MYSTERY

Jury Has Adjourned Its Sessions Until Monday

DOCTORS OPINIONS CONFLICT

Postoffice Authorities at Washington Order Delivery of Dead Girl's Mail

After hearing evidence all day Friday the coroner's jury adjourned until Monday. Part of the dead girl's wearing apparel was turned over to Dr. J. A. Massie who will make a microscopic examination seeking to establish new evidence that will tend to clear up matters. The portion of the girl's neck which was pierced by the bullet was produced in court and carefully examined through a strong lens. No powder marks are discernable but the two physicians present widely disagree as to whether or not a shot could have been fired by the girl herself without inflicting powder burns. It is the intention of the jury to call in other doctors and secure their opinions. The jury so far has taken up every point with extreme care and will continue to do so until everything has been gone over thoroughly. Time appears to be no object to the members of the jury who are displaying remarkable civic pride by sacrificing their own interests in order to do what they consider to be their duty. That the case will be carefully and properly handled is no longer doubted by any one.

Still Very Mysterious.

With all the evidence so far produced, taken into consideration, the public is widely divided as to a solution of the matter. The tragic act seems as great a mystery to many as ever. The hot blood that was evident at times during the week, between some of the adherents of the suicide theory and those who advocated the murder theory appears to have cooled off and every one is content to await the decision of the coroner's jury.

Postmaster Receives Instructions.

Today Postmaster Grimshaw received telegraphic instructions from the postal authorities at Washington directing him to call the attention of the local authorities to certain sections of the postal laws and regulations governing the delivery of mail. At the same time the postmaster was directed to deliver the mail addressed to the deceased girl, to the party or parties holding an order of the court.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2.—There is no provision in the new tariff law for the remission of duty on zinc withdrawn for exportation from a bonded smelter according to a department ruling in a case relating to the Pueblo Zinc Company. The treasury officials construe as still in force the provision of the Dingley act providing for the bonding of works of manufacturers, smelting or refining works and for the cancellation of bonds for the payment of duty on exportation, which covers ninety per cent of the metals smelted or refined.

JOURNALIST AND STATESMAN

Congressman Richard Bartholdt Visits Santa Fe

RETURNING FROM HAWAII

Veteran National Legislator Who is Firm Friend of New Mexico.

Hon. Richard Bartholdt, one of the Republican leaders in the House of Representatives, and who has represented the Tenth Missouri district, which includes the heart of St. Louis, in Congress since the Fifty-third Congress and is therefore one of the veterans in legislation at Washington, is a guest of Santa Fe today, coming upon the invitation of the Santa Fe Commercial Club. He arrived last evening and is a guest at the executive mansion of Governor Curry. Like many men of prominence, Congressman Bartholdt was originally a newspaper man. He is a man of striking appearance and one who makes friends rapidly. He is just returning from a trip to Hawaii, where he went with a Congressional committee to investigate conditions. He draws glowing word pictures of the beauty and progress of the islands. Mr. Bartholdt has been a steadfast friend of New Mexico in Congress and is chairman of the House committee on public buildings. As a Republican leader in Democratic Missouri, he has helped vigorously to turn the state into the Republican column, feat which has been successfully accomplished in the past two national elections. Mr. Bartholdt is a native of Germany, where he was born on November 2, 1855, and came to this country when a boy. He received a classical education, but nevertheless learned the printer's trade and turned his hand to journalism and acknowledges himself one of "the boys" still. He was connected with several eastern papers as reporter, legislative correspondent and editor and was at the time of his first election, editor of the St. Louis Tribune. He has been president of the board of education of the city of St. Louis and held many honorary positions. August T. Koch of this city, is a nephew of Mr. Bartholdt and was on hand, of course, to greet him.

Seeing the Town.

In Company with Governor Curry, Mr. Bartholdt viewed the sights of Santa Fe this forenoon. This afternoon, W. Frank Owen, manager of the Santa Fe Water and Light Company, showed him the local reservoirs and water and light works and after that a committee of citizens escorted him about town. At 4:30 o'clock this afternoon he is booked for a reception and public address at the rooms of the Commercial Club. He will leave at 7:20 o'clock for his home at St. Louis. Of course, Santa Fe was much pleased to entertain so distinguished a guest and knows now that it has added another friend among those it has in Congress.

U. S. CUTTER CREW WINS BATTENBERG CUP RACE.

Crew of the Louisiana Was Second While British Cruiser Drake Was Third.

New York, Oct. 2.—The cutter crew of the U. S. ship Minnesota today won the race for the Battenberg cup. The crew of the Louisiana was second and that of the British cruiser Drake third. The race is an international classic and it is the fifth time that it has been run since the Battenberg cup was presented to the sailors of the American fleet by the sailors of the British fleet under Prince Louis of Battenberg in 1905. The race was for three miles. It was a close struggle between the American crews with the crew from the Drake which took the lead at the start and was nine lengths back at the finish. The cup has been won twice by the battleship.

It was held by the Illinois, once by the British cruiser Argyle and once by the Louisiana.

PREDICTS END OF WORLD BY FIRE

World's Greatest Astronomer at Las Vegas

ON WAY TO FLAGSTAFF

Will There Observe Mars and Halley's Comet with Professor Lowell.

Special to the New Mexican. East Las Vegas, N. M., Oct. 2.—For the past two days Rev. Father Charles M. Charroppin, S. J., holding rank as one of the world's greatest astronomers and for fifteen years Professor of Astronomy in St. Louis University has been a guest of the city.

Father Charroppin stopped off here to visit a friend of boyhood days and an old schoolmate, Father Joseph M. Marra, with whom he attended school at Woodstock, Maryland, in 1871. Charroppin left last night for Flagstaff, Arizona, where he goes to observe with Professor Percival Lowell the opposition of the planet Mars, which occurs next Thursday, and also to view Halley's comet. Many photographs of this planet and comet will be taken by these two scientists and much new information concerning the planet Mars is expected to be disclosed thereby.

Father Charroppin does not believe in the theory that the faint lines seen on Mars are canals, although he believes the planet to be inhabited. Neither has he any faith in a probable catastrophe from a collision of the earth with other planets, although he firmly believes that should Halley's comet, which is almost the size of the earth, strike this planet the impact would resolve both bodies into a great pyrotechnic display from which there would be no recovery. Father Charroppin firmly believes that Jesus had in mind such a collision when he predicted the destruction of the world by fire.

THE DAILY ROUND UP.

Jenkins is Acquitted—John Jenkins was found not guilty at Raton of the crime of murder. Jenkins had been accused of killing Lizzie Zellers.

Alleged Murderer Arrested at Clayton—Francisco Baca, accused of killing Juan Garcia at Canon City, Colorado, has been arrested at Clayton, Union county.

Eleven More Indictments—In addition to the seven indictments already returned, the territorial grand jury at Albuquerque returned eleven more indictments yesterday.

City Wins Damage Suit—Upon instruction of Judge Ira A. Abbott, the jury in the case of Narciso Ruiz vs. the City of Albuquerque, for $25,000 damages, brought in a verdict for the city. Ruiz sued on account of the death of his son, accusing the city of contributory negligence in causing his death through a fall from a bridge over an arroyo.

Copper in Cochiti District—William Jenks, a mining expert, reports that copper ore has been discovered in the Cochiti district, 35 miles west of Santa Fe. The discovery was made at a depth of 1,000 feet in the Colla canon on the T. J. Curran claim. While the district is noted for its vast deposits of low grade gold ore, it was not known that copper also existed.

NOT A DAY WITHOUT SUNSHINE.

This Heading is Used by the New Mexican Every Month But it is Always Timely.

Charles E. Linney, director of the U. S. weather bureau in this city, has furnished the New Mexican with the following summary of how September behaved this year at Santa Fe. The report is better than that of the average school boy and school girl for the month, for there wasn't a single day in September at Santa Fe on which the sun didn't shine—in fact, there was not a single day on which the percentage of sunshine wasn't 22 per cent and there were only three days on which it was less than 59 per cent, while there were 30 days on which there were 100 per cent of sunshine, while the average for the month was 84 per cent. No wonder, that Santa Fe is the Sunshine City of the Sunshine Territory and so-called Sunshine state.

Remarkable Equable Climate.

But the constant sunshine did not mean great heat. While Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri and way down east reported anywhere from 90 to 110 in the shade, the highest temperature could indicate at Santa Fe during September was 81 degrees and that was on September 3. On the day before it reached 80 degrees, but on no other day was the temperature above 79 degrees which temperature was reached September 1 while after September 3, the highest point was 76 degrees. At the same time, the minimum was 37 degrees, and at no time was above 57 degrees. The average minimum for the month was 47 degrees and the average maximum 71 degrees, a range of only 24 degrees, certainly a phenomenally equable climate. The greatest daily range was only 32 degrees and occurred on September 23, the least range was 12 degrees on September 5. The mean barometer for the month was just 30, that is normal; the highest was 30.34 on September 15, and the lowest 29.55 on September 21.

The average temperature for the month was 59 degrees. Since New Year there has been a deficiency from the normal temperature of 223 degrees or less than one degree a day. The precipitation for the month was 2.7 inches; the greatest precipitation for any 24 consecutive hours was 1.22 inches on September 3. There has

BABY'S ITCHING WAS INTOLERABLE

Girl of Six Months had Fearful Attack of Eczema—Spread All Over Her Face and Eyes Began to Swell—Scratched Till Blood Came—Relieved in a Night and

CURED BY CUTICURA AFTER LONG SUFFERING

"When my little girl was six months old I noticed small red spots on her right cheek. I did not pay any attention to them but finally the spots grew so large that I sent for the doctor who said it was ringworm. He prescribed an ointment which I used for two weeks, but instead of helping the eruption, the ointment seemed to make it worse. Then I went to a second doctor who after examining the baby said it was eczema. He also gave me an ointment which did not help either. The disease in the meantime spread all over the face and the eyes began to swell. I became very anxious. The itching grew intolerable. I had to tie the baby's hands to the cradle to prevent her scratching. The cheeks were covered with blood and it was a terrible sight to see. I consulted doctors from September to December, but they were unable to cure the baby. I paid out from twenty to thirty dollars without relief."

"One of my friends told me of the Cuticura Remedies and I sent at once for a set which I began to use that evening. The next morning the baby's face was all white instead of red and you can imagine how surprised I was. I cannot find words enough to praise Cuticura and I do not know what would have become of my baby only for it. I used the Cuticura Remedies until the eczema entirely disappeared. The child is now three years old and quite well. I used three cakes of Cuticura Soap, two boxes of Cuticura Ointment and one bottle of Cuticura Resolvent and I never use any other soap. I always recommend them whenever there is a chance for doing so. I will send you one of her pictures which she had taken just after she was healed. Mrs. P. E. Gumbin, Sheldon, Ia., July 13, 1908."

OVERTAXED.

Hundreds of Santa Fe Readers Know What it Means.

The kidneys are overtaxed; Have too much to do.

They tell about it in many aches and pains—

Backache, sideache, headache.

Early symptoms of kidney ills.

Urinary troubles, diabetes, Bright's disease follow.

A Santa Fe citizen tells here the way to keep the kidneys well.

Mrs. Bernarda R. de Escudero, 106 Griffin street, Santa Fe, N. M., says:

"I hold the same high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills today as when I publicly recommended them in January, 1907. I then said that for about a year I had been bothered by a dull ache and weakness across my loins and kidneys. I tired easily and any exertion brought on severe suffering with my back. Hearing Doan's Kidney Pills highly spoken of, I was induced to try them. The results proved beyond a doubt that Doan's Kidney Pills live up to representations. The cure and benefit this remedy brought has led me to praise it on more than one occasion."

Why Colds Are Dangerous.

Because you have contracted ordinary colds and recovered from them without treatment of any kind, do not for a moment imagine that colds are not dangerous. Everyone knows that pneumonia and chronic catarrh have their origin in a common cold. Consumption is not caused by a cold but the cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the germs that would not otherwise have found lodgment. It is the same with all infectious diseases. Diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles and whooping cough are much more likely to be contracted when the child has a cold. You will see from this that more real danger lurks in a cold than in any other of the common ailments. The easiest and quickest way to cure a cold is to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The many remarkable cures effected by this preparation have made it a staple article of trade over a large part of the world. For sale by all druggists.

The seals and record books for notaries public for sale by the New Mexican Printing Company at very reasonable rates. Seals for incorporated companies are also handled. Call at or address the New Mexican Printing Company, Santa Fe, New Mexico.

It's a pity when sick ones drug the stomach or stimulate the Heart and Kidneys. That is all wrong! A weak stomach, means weak Stomach nerves, always. And this is also true of the Heart and Kidneys. The weak nerves are instead crying out for help. This explains why Dr. Shoop's Restorative is promptly helping Stomach, Heart and Kidney ailments. The Restorative reaches out for the actual cause of these ailments—the failing "inside nerves." Anyway test the Restorative 48 hours. It won't cure so soon as that, but you will surely know that help is coming. Sold by Stripling-Burrows Co.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

We would like to quote this week from a Chicago paper an account of a monster parade and demonstration in Chicago, which gives us some idea of the growth of prohibition sentiment in the larger cities—the strongholds of the traffic—even in Chicago, next door neighbor to Milwaukee and with 80 per cent foreign population.

Chicago witnessed the greatest temperance and law enforcement demonstration ever given in Chicago, when more than 35,000 men, women and children swung into line and, with flags and banners waving, marched through the streets of the city, headed by Major General Frederick D. Grant, U. S. A.

Numerous floats, erected at great expense, and more than 150 banners warned the spectators of the evils of alcohol. Delegations from more than twenty-five nearby towns and cities took part in the parade, many of them coming from a distance of more than fifty miles. In all there were 200 different churches and temperance organizations represented, making an imposing spectacle and impressing upon the thousands who saw the parade the great and growing strength of the temperance cause.

Impressive Floats in Parade.

One of the most impressive floats of the parade depicted a scene in "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," showing the wife of a drunkard on her deathbed, while two tiny children were trying to drag their drunken father from the door of a saloon.

Another simple but effective float bore a tiny white coffin. Not a single banner, not even one word, was posted to explain the thought, but no words were necessary. The meaning was plain. Tears streamed down the cheeks of a ragged, unkempt wreck as he gazed upon the little white coffin from the door of a saloon. Later it was learned that the 2-year-old daughter of the man was dying, while the mother was so ill that she could not leave her bed to care for the child.

Fifty-seven of the banners carried in the parade told of different varieties of personal liberties. Others told of the bloody deeds due to drink and of thousands of homes it had wrecked. Thousands of children from the public schools were in the line of march waving banners and flags. "Think of us" was the slogan carried by many of the little ones.

Five Thousands Boys in Line.

Another of the most attractive sections of the parade was 5,000 boys, who have spent weeks drilling in preparation for the parade. They marched and executed difficult maneuvers under the guidance of officers of the Illinois National Guard.

Oak Park contributed one of the largest out of town delegations. At its head was carried a large banner reading "No Saloons in Oak Park; Annex Chicago to Oak Park." "Come In Out of the Wet" was written on umbrellas contributed by Morgan Park and carried by 150 representative citizens of that place.

Among the prominent organizations represented in the parade were the Women's Christian Temperance Union, the Chicago Law and Order League, the Anti-Saloon League, the Chicago public schools, the Prohibition party, every church denomination, the Epworth League, the Junior League and the Standard Bearers.

Among the prominent persons taking part in the parade and contributing to its success were General Fred D. Grant, Eugene W. Chaffin, John Russell, Seaborn Wright, Robert H. Patton, Mrs. Emily Hill, Mrs. Mary Anderson and Mrs. Anna Gregory.

The parade formed promptly at 2 o'clock and moved north on Michigan avenue to Washington street, west on Washington to State, south on State to Jackson boulevard, and thence west to the river, where it was disbanded.

Hold Night Mass Meetings.

Two mass meetings were held last night, forming the final demonstration of the temperance and prohibition parties. Seaborn Wright of Georgia, one of the leading spirits of the temperance cause, spoke at both meetings. Mr. Wright spoke first at the Auditorium, where he was received by a large and enthusiastic crowd. At one time in his address he was loudly cheered for several minutes. His address at Orchestra hall later was equally well received. The rally following the parade was led by the Rev. A. C. Dixon.

Two Floats Attract Attention.

Two floats sent out by the Chicago Law and Order League attracted great attention. One represented a funeral car, drawn by four black horses with this inscription above the black car: "Chicago Sunday Saloon Victims." Following came fifty-seven persons clad in white burial robes, each bearing a banner with a record written on it of some violent crime alleged as a result of the Sunday saloon.

"Law" was the designation of the other float of the league. It showed Miss Katherine Wilhelm as the goddess of liberty standing upon a marble pedestal inscribed "Law," typifying "law" as the foundation of liberty. Lesson in "Dry" Geography.

The Anti-Saloon League presented a lesson in geography, showing the growth of the local option movement. On a float twenty-two feet long two maps were exhibited, one showing the states as they were before the league was organized, sixteen years ago, with respect to "wet" and "dry" territory, and the other picturing them as they are now, showing the "dry" territory.

Mrs. Mary Anderson, 84 years old, and Mrs. Anna Gregory, 83 years old, original "crusaders" among the Women's Christian Temperance Union, led that division. Mrs. Emily Hill, president of the Cook county W. C. T. U., and representatives of the Washington, D. C., union were also assigned to this section.

Street Piano Causes Merriment.

An Italian street piano player, standing in front of a saloon, the doors of which were crowded with men watching the parade, caused considerable merriment by striking up, "Shall We Gather at the River?" in front of the saloon. He followed the parade for some distance playing "How Dry We Are."

A great throng of "drys" invaded the "red light district" at a late hour last night. A rousing meeting of the Midnight mission workers was held at Twentieth street and Armour avenue. More than 2,000 persons joined the parade through the red light district, where the war upon intemperance was carried on in the heart of that vice-ridden locality. R. R. Dunlap of Atlanta, Ga., addressed the Midnight mission.

Quiet and "Dry" Parade.

It was the quietest as well as the "driest" parade ever seen in Chicago. Few bands were in evidence. A few church choirs, perched on the decorated wagons, sang a hymn now and then; otherwise it was more like a review than a parade.

Banners of every size and shape and with "dry" sentiments were waved before the crowds which lined the sidewalks. One briefly stated that "Alcohol Makes Home Into Hell." "The Saloon Is Against the Church" was emblazoned on one of the floats sent out by the Paulist Fathers, from St. Mary's Catholic church, Wabash avenue.

The large decorated float from Moody church boasted the youngest temperance advocate in the parade, a 5-month-old youngster in a large basket, who watched the marching "drys" with grave and wondering baby eyes.

GLEANINGS BY A PERIPATETIC PEN

H. R. H.

A lot of people who are discussing the unfortunate Montgomery case appear to be in the position of the Irishman who expressed himself as follows: "I am not prejudiced, but I have my preferences."

Three tickets have been put in the field in an Indiana town marking the beginning of a political campaign. Each party is pledged to exterminate the frogs that infest the ponds which are numerous about town. Wonder if a jury would decide that using greenbacks in this manner is equivalent to securing votes by money.

A French jury recently acquitted a man who deliberately killed his wife in order to relieve her from pain. The decision impliedly sanctions such a proceeding. What great joy it would bring to the hearts of some men were they to be assured of an acquittal in case they applied the same theory to their mother-in-laws. And it wouldn't be a joke either.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF SANTA FE COUNTY.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every postoffice in the Territory, and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the Southwest.

GOVERNOR CURRY, REPUBLICAN.

Governor Curry is a Republican. He has declared himself to be a member of and a worker in the party. He had been a Democrat. He does not deny that. He was an enthusiastic, a hard-working Democrat. But like so many others occupying prominent places in Republican councils today, he was driven out of the Democratic party when it surrendered to Populism and Bryanism. For that reason, Governor Curry accepted a position from Governor Otero when Otero county was organized; accepted positions under President Roosevelt in the Philippines and accepted the governorship of New Mexico from his hands and is retaining it under President Taft. It took Governor Curry some time to make up his mind to cut loose from the Democratic party; he hoped against hope that it would return to its ancient bearings, but each day saw it drift farther away from the principles that he at one time esteemed and espoused. Only lately, he resisted the blandishments and promises of political leaders of the Democratic faith who implored him to co-operate with them, but he gave them the cold shoulder.

Not that Governor Curry is playing politics. He is not building up a machine of any kind. He has no senatorial ambitions. His wish is to retire to private life when statehood comes to the Territory next year. There are demands which he must meet and which he can best meet by giving his private time, energy and talents to looking after his private business affairs. The governorship is not a sinecure, is not a place where a man of such rugged honesty can retrieve his financial fortunes. For the present he is satisfied to give New Mexico as good a government as within him lies, as the department of the interior on one side and the legislature on the other, and the limitations of law, will permit him. He has concentrated his efforts to a large extent on securing a better and fairer assessment and on extending the good roads movement. He is succeeding admirably in both. But he has done more incidentally. Together with Hon. H. O. Bursum, Hon. Solomon Luna and other leaders, he has brought harmony to the Republican party and has helped mightily to confirm the prosperity and excellent financial standing of the Territory. He has done well, has succeeded admirably, in the work that President Roosevelt and President Taft desired him to do, and all else is a matter of more or less indifference to him.

WHO SAYS THAT SANTA FE ISN'T GROWING?

It was Mayor Jose D. Sena who laid one of the first brick pavements in Santa Fe. Seven years ago, there were practically no sidewalks in Santa Fe. When the postmaster in 1903, made application for free delivery in this city, three inspectors who came to investigate, recommended against the establishment of the innovation, because there were no pavements except a few old, warped board walks in the city. It was only after the postmaster and Delegate to Congress Rodey took up the matter direct with Washington that free delivery was established. With it began the work of laying pavements, slowly at first, but with augmented energy each year until now the work that has been done and that is being done, will give the city many miles of first class cement and brick sidewalks.

Seven years ago, outside of the Staab, Catron, Palen, Rivenburg and two or three other substantial homes, there were no modern dwelling houses in Santa Fe. But since then, they have been erected by the scores. It is only a few years ago that citizens like Max Frost, Arthur Seligman and others demonstrated their faith in the city by erecting modern residences until today there are several streets both on the north and the south side, made beautiful with modern cottages of pleasing architecture outside and every modern comfort inside. Since then, there have also gone up a big array of public and semi-public buildings: The Deaf and Dumb School, the Elks Theater, the Woman's Board of Trade Library, the National Guard Armory, the Executive Mansion, the Mary James Mission School, the High School, the First Ward School, the Parochial Schools, the new Santa Fe depot, the Loretto Hall, the Union Depot, the new buildings at the Indian Industrial School and at St. Catherine's Indian School, and others, while such monumental structures as the Court House, the new Sanitarium, the Capitol Extension, the Scottish Rite Cathedral, are either almost completed or like the last named about to be started.

Seven years ago, there were few lawns in Santa Fe; there were no settlers on the public lands in the immediate vicinity, there was no New Mexico Central Railway, there was a general slump in Santa Fe. Notice the great change since then. Lawns and flower gardens and orchards on every side; large irrigation works under construction on the Arroyo Hondo, six miles south of Santa Fe; the Santa Fe Water and Light Company more than doubling its capacity; a new railroad; settlers filing on the public lands in every direction; successful dry farming experiments on the Pajarito mesa and an influx of new, energetic blood in the Tesuque, Espanola and other tributary valleys. In those seven years Santa Fe has built up a splendid public school system; has inaugurated a system of fine parochial schools, has enlarged the usefulness of its colleges, academies, mission and Indian schools. Things are surely coming Santa Fe-ward.

But best of all, there is a new spirit in the old town. Old jealousies and bickerings are being buried; old antagonisms are being forgotten and there is a disposition to work together to be optimistic to work for the old town and make it the greatest in the southwest. Hurrah for Old Santa Fe!

THE HOTEL DE VARGAS.

Santa Fe has good hotel accommodations, but they are no longer adequate. Its hotels are deserving of all the patronage they get and there are frequent times when they have all the patronage they can accommodate and more too. But there has grown up a demand in Santa Fe for a higher grade tourist hotel, one that would be patronized by people who are well-to-do and who are willing to pay for first class accommodations. Santa Fe has no $5 a day house and such a hotel would not be competing with the present hostilities, but would nevertheless be filled practically every day in the year for Santa Fe is getting to be a tourist center, is growing more rapidly than any other town in New Mexico, and in a few years is bound to be the most visited place between St. Louis and Los Angeles, that is, if hotel accommodations of a high grade can be had here. Time and again, people have come with the intention to stay a long while, but who left because they could not find that class of accommodations they were looking for and which they were willing to pay. It is certain that Santa Fe's climatic superiority is not seriously disputed. Its manifold attractions are set forth in a supplement prepared by the editor of this paper for the Denver Post and reprinted in today's supplement. In the same supplement are set forth the plans for the Hotel De Vargas which is to fill the want for a first class tourist hotel in Santa Fe, the establishment of which would not only draw well-to-do tourists to Santa Fe to patronize the Hotel De Vargas, but also to patronize other hotels. There is no doubt that the hotel will prove a profitable financial venture from the start, but to Santa Fe it will mean even more than that. Outside capital has agreed to furnish the necessary means to build the structure if $30,000 are raised in New Mexico to show the good faith of local people in their own town. This is not asked as a bonus but in stock subscriptions and there should be no difficulty in raising it for the returns will undoubtedly be certain. With the Hotel De Vargas completed, Santa Fe would certainly become the greatest tourist center in the Rocky Mountain region.

That advertising pays is an accepted axiom in the business world. But not every business man has equal success in advertising, the returns are not always commensurate with the effort so it seems to less progressive merchants. But the fault lies not so much in the principle as it does in the man who advertises, is timid about it and does not know how to advertise. An enterprising local business man on last Sunday took a whole page in the Denver Post. He paid $280 for it for a single insertion, which is more than any merchant in Santa Fe spends in a year in advertising, but it was worth it. John Wanamaker made it a rule to set aside one-tenth of the entire income of his business for advertising. As a consequence he is many times a millionaire today. The number of persons who have acquired wealth through knowing how to advertise and had the nerve to advertise liberally, is a legion. There isn't a store in Santa Fe that couldn't double its business this year by the liberal use of printer's ink and the wonder is that none of them do it.

THE CLIFF DWELLINGS.

The attractions for tourists in and about Santa Fe are manifold and not least important among them are the cliff dwellings just west of this city. They are beginning to attract attention the world over and Santa Fe is certain to receive thousands of visitors annually before very long who will come just to spend a day or a week or a month among the 20,000 or more prehistoric ruins of the wonderfully beautiful Pajarito plateau. Says the Denver Republican:

"The current number of the National Geographic Magazine contains an admirable article by George L. Beam, fully illustrated from the author's own photographs, and constituting the most complete description yet given of the marvelous prehistoric ruins in northern New Mexico.

"These ruins, which are not far below the Colorado line and which are easily accessible from the Denver and Rio Grande, are among the marvels of the world, yet they have been practically unnoticed until recent years. Westerners have gone on globe-trotting expeditions and have loitered among the ruins of the Orient, never imagining that at their own dooryard, almost, in the southwest, could be found attractions every whit as interesting. Scientists, too, have not given these American ruins the attention they deserve. The cave dwellings of Puye, and the communal houses of that same marvelous locality should have been scientifically explored years ago.

"No doubt Mr. Beam's article in so important a scientific publication as the National Geographic Magazine, will rouse the interest of scientists in the comparatively neglected fields of archaeology in our own southwest. The 'See America First' movement may well be taken up by men of science, as well as by the tourist."

IMPORTANT CHANGES IN NEWSPAPERS.

It is with regret that the New Mexican bids good-bye to the Citizen. That it has been bought bag and baggage by the enemy is disconcerting. The Citizen has been true blue Republican, it has fought the party's battles and those of Albuquerque for more than twenty years and there was never any doubt where to place it on any political issue. The people, the party, the Territory, needed a live Republican evening paper in the Duke City. There is this much in favor of the Citizen-Tribune, there will be no trouble to place it and to know what it will advocate. After all, an avowed enemy is better to deal with than a false friend. There have been a number of important newspaper changes in New Mexico of late, of which, the Citizen-Tribune deal is the most important. Beneath the surface there appears a lining up of elements that will enter into the senatorial battle of the new Sunshine state. A Michigan leader has bought the Deming Graphic; an ex-lieutenant governor of Michigan has started the Taos Valley News and a third Michigander of still greater prominence, one high in the national administration councils, contemplates buying into the New Mexico newspaper field and casting his lot with the Territory. The Carrizozo Outlook and several Pecos valley papers have lately changed hands and there are several changes impending in north-eastern New Mexico. A daily paper has been incorporated at Clovis and another started at Estancia. In other words, there is something doing in the newspaper field in New Mexico.

THREE WIDE-AWAKE ORGANIZATIONS.

In the Woman's Board of Trade, Santa Fe has an organization unique and admirable. To it, it owes the beautiful public library built without contribution from Carnegie. To it, it owes the present day regeneration of the town, the new uplift, the trend toward a Greater Santa Fe, towards improvement in every direction. The Woman's Board of Trade keeps in trim the fine plaza and its drinking fountain; it is making a beauty spot out of Fairview cemetery. It looks after the poor and the needy. Its example, no doubt, has inspired the Board of Trade and the Commercial Club, which are both live organizations of business men. Probably, every business man belongs to one or the other and a number belong to both. While, it would be desirable no doubt, that both consolidate and become one, yet, there is some advantage in rivalry, for it is because the Commercial Club has been unusually energetic, that the Board of Trade has spruced up of late and is feeling the vigor of new life. In the meanwhile, Santa Fe is reaping the benefit of the new spirit of progressiveness fostered by the three organizations named.

The second and part of the third column of the supplement to the New Mexican today and also of the Statehood Supplement to the Denver Post last Sunday were written by Charles E. Linney, director of the U. S. weather bureau in this city. Mr. Linney never lets an opportunity slip to say a good word for Santa Fe and its climate, and he is the type of public spirited official who makes himself esteemed and valuable by identifying himself with the local interests and the local business organizations, unlike some officials who feel that they are mere sojourners who expect to pull stations away as soon as their political job is at an end, and that the less they do for the town the less they will be out of pocket.

THE SUNSHINE CITY IN THE LAND OF SUNSHINE.

There wasn't a day without sunshine in September just passed. To be more exact, there wasn't a day with less than 22 per cent of sunshine and there were 13 days with 100 per cent of sunshine. There wasn't a day without sunshine in August or July or June, and these being the rain months, although in all three less rain fell than was recorded on one day at many eastern and middle west points, this sunshine record is the more remarkable. The highest temperature reached last month was only 81 degrees, while points in Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri, recorded over 100 degrees. The greatest daily range was 32 degrees and the least 12 degrees, indicating a most remarkably even climate. The highest wind velocity recorded was 30 miles an hour while the average velocity was 7.2 miles an hour. In the above figures you have the essentials of a superb climate, cool in summer, mild in winter, sunshiny the year around and without fogs or humidity and so even that the most delicate person will never suffer from extremes. In other words, it is not only the climate par excellence for the health-seeker, but also for the tourist and those who merely seek rest or diversion.

The New Mexican is what the local businessmen make it. If they advertised as businessmen advertise in other live communities the size of Santa Fe, the paper would be sixteen and more pages every day, it would double and treble its Associated Press service, it would add every improvement that is commanded by a metropolitan paper. As a rule, every newspaper spends all that it makes in self improvement. It is the nature of the business. In fact, most newspapers are always a year or two ahead of their town. It is the agency that is always optimistic, that always boosts, that always seeks to make the town greater and better than it is and as such every newspaper deserves not only the support of every businessman but it repays every businessman doubly for every cent he puts in it for advertising.

The Republican party today is stronger and more harmonious than it ever was before, both in the nation and in the Territory. The Democrats are more divided and more dispirited than they have been any time since the Greeley defeat. Any one who imagines that there is any likelihood of New Mexico going Democratic upon being admitted to statehood, is not keeping posted. New Mexico will be a strongly Republican state and will send two Republican representatives and two Republican Senators to Congress, who will work in harmony with the national administration.

The growth in postoffice receipts is a sure indication of the growth of the community. Seven years ago, the receipts of the Santa Fe postoffice from the sale of stamps, etc., amounted to $10,000 a year. Today, it is approaching the $20,000 mark. Ten years ago, the postal revenue was something like $8,000. Last year it exceeded $17,000.

It must not be forgotten that the business men who are serving on the Montgomery coroner's jury are giving valuable time to a public cause and that with zeal and without complaint. They are imbued with the right spirit of citizenship and even to the neglect of their own business are probing the apparent mystery to the very bottom.

C. R. Kluger, the jeweler, 1060 Virginia Ave., Indianapolis, Ind., writes: "I was so weak from kidney trouble that I could hardly walk a hundred feet. Four bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy cleared my complexion, cured my backache and I can now attend to business every day and recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy to all sufferers, as it cured me after the doctors and other remedies had failed." Sold by all druggists.

The New Mexican can do printing equal to that done in any of the large cities. Our solicitor, every piece of work we turn out. Try our stock once and you will certainly come again. We have all the facilities for turning out every class of work, including one of the best binderies in the west.

A clever, popular Candy Cure Tablet called Preventives—is being dispensed by druggists everywhere. In a few hours, Preventives are said to break any cold—completely. And Preventives, being so safe and toothsome, are very fine for children. No Quinine, no laxative, nothing harsh nor sickening. Box of 48—25c. Sold by Stripling-Burrows Co.

Engraved cards de visit and wedding invitations a specialty at the New Mexican Printing office. Any one sending in need of such will do well to call at this office and examine samples, style of work and prices.

If people with symptoms of kidney or bladder trouble could realize their danger they would without loss of time commence taking Foley's Kidney Remedy. This great remedy stops the pain and the irregularities, strengthens and builds up these organs and there is no danger of Bright's disease or other serious disorder. Do not disregard the early symptoms. Sold by all druggists.

SAMUEL B. GRIMSHAW.
Who Yesterday Became Postmaster at Santa Fe.

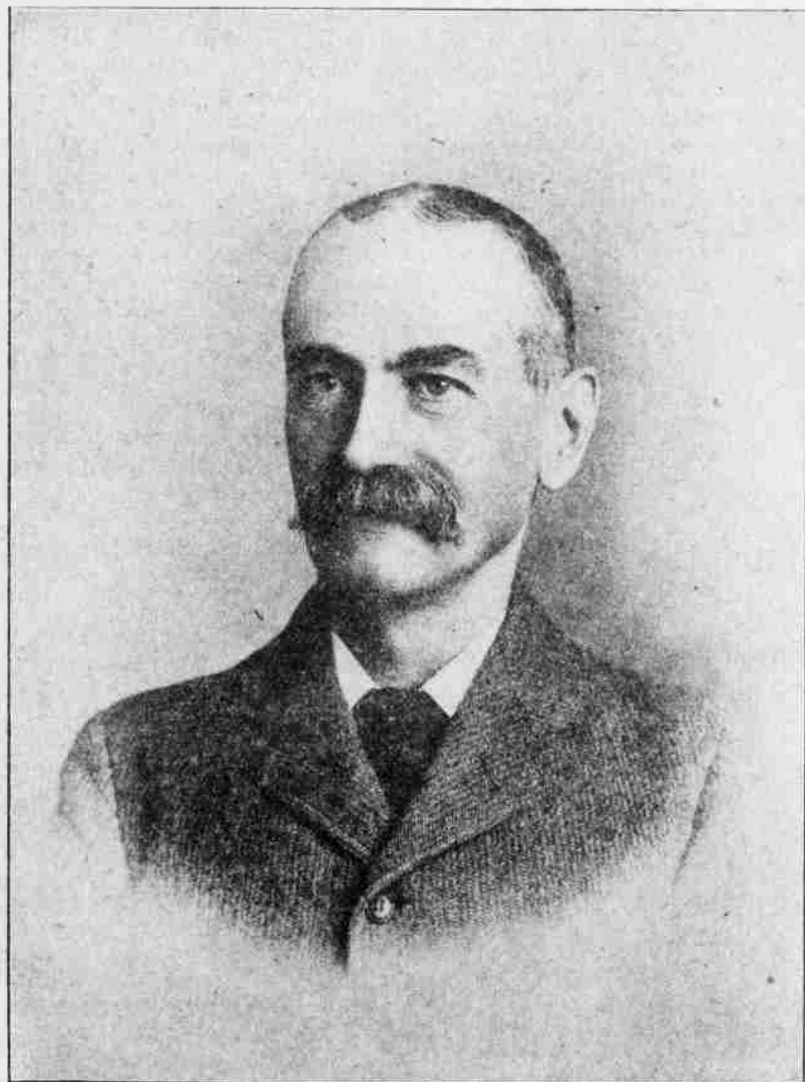

Yesterday was a day of changes among local office holders. Coal Oil Inspector S. B. Grimshaw became postmaster of Santa Fe, succeeding F. W. Shearon, who assumed the duties of district clerk, while Hon. Malaquias Martinez succeeded Mr. Grimshaw as coal oil inspector. Edward Safford became deputy clerk in the district clerk's office. Alfredo Hinojos succeeded Asher W. Miller as assistant postmaster and J. E. Wood succeeded Harry Hogle as night clerk at the local postoffice. Paul A. F. Walter sent in his oath as census supervisor for New Mexico, his official services beginning on that date.

Mr. Grimshaw is the eighth postmaster that Santa Fe has had since the retirement of Major M. A. Breeden, who served for many years until Charles W. Hayward of the New Mexican Printing Company and who came here from Peoria, Illinois, was appointed postmaster by President Garfield. He was succeeded under the first Cleveland administration by Adolf Seligman. Jacob Weltmer was appointed postmaster by President Harrison and when Grover Cleveland entered upon his second term was succeeded by Thomas P. Gable, now game and fish warden. Simon Nusbaum was appointed by President McKinley and served until 1902 when he was succeeded by Paul A. F. Walter who served until 1909, being succeeded by Frank W. Shearon, who made way for S. B. Grimshaw, who is the third postmaster to serve this year. The list of assistant postmasters in that time is even longer than that of the postmasters and included among others, Probate Clerk George W. Armijo, Frank Andrews, William C. Schneppe, Asher W. Miller, Simon Nusbaum, Henry Woodruff, H. S. Kaune, A. J. Fischer, Percy F. Knight and Alfredo Hinojos, the present incumbent.

Major Breeden was a native of Kentucky and he resigned as postmaster to become assistant attorney general. Later he went to Salt Lake, Utah, where he is practicing law. He served as attorney general of Utah.

The postoffice which has been in the Old Palace building for twenty years, and previous to that for a short time was in the First National bank building, and previous to that in the old Catron block, where it was burned out, will be removed this month into Adams hall on East Palace avenue, which has been greatly enlarged and remodeled by Levi A. Hughes, the present owner, who has been given a five years' lease. Before moving into the old Catron block, the postoffice was located in the adobe building now occupied by H. B. Cartwright & Brother, and before that in an adobe building on San Francisco street recently vacated by O. C. Watson & Company.

Samuel B. Grimshaw, who yesterday assumed the office of postmaster, is a native of Union Springs, N. Y., and is aged 54 years. He attended the public schools in Brooklyn, N. Y., and the University of New York, but before graduating went to Ashland, Ohio, where he went to railroading, entering the employ of the Atlantic and Great Western railroad. From Ashland he went to Paola, Kan., entering the employ of the Kansas, Fort Scott and Memphis railroad, finishing his apprenticeship as telegrapher and dispatcher. He held positions with the

SIMON NUSBAUM.
Postmaster From 1898 to 1902.

Simon Nusbaum, who was postmaster from 1898 to 1902, is a native of Harrisburg, Pa., and received his education in the schools of Philadelphia. Before coming to New Mexico in 1878 he was in business at Peoria, Ill. Upon his arrival at Santa Fe he entered the store of Seligman Brothers as bookkeeper. He was assistant postmaster for four years under Adolf Seligman; was assistant in the office of Surveyor General E. F. Hobart and also under Territorial Secretary Thomas. Levi A. Hughes appointed him deputy internal revenue inspector and he also served for one month as district clerk under Judge N. B. Laughlin. After retiring as postmaster, his fine ability as an accountant secured him his present place in 1903, as assistant in the office of territorial treasurer, first under Hon. J. H. Vaughn and then under ex-Governor Miguel A. Otero.

Kansas City, Fort Scott and Gulf, the Leavenworth, Lawrence and Gulf, the St. Louis and San Francisco railroads successively, and then went to Denver to work for the Denver & Rio Grande railroad which he left to take a position on the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific at Colorado Springs and from there went to San Francisco to be dispatcher and superintendent of the North Shore, coming from there to Santa Fe where as manager of the Santa Fe Central railway, he made himself popular by being a booster for Santa Fe and his interests at all times and that most enthusiastically. When he retired from the Santa Fe Central, he became chief clerk at the penitentiary, and a few months ago was appointed territorial coal oil inspector, which position he resigned to take the postmastership at Santa Fe.

Adolf Seligman.
Adolf Seligman, who was postmaster from 1887 to 1891, was born in Gangesheim am Rhein, Germany. In 1843. He received his early education in his home town and served in the army before coming to America which was in 1863. Arriving at New York, he soon left for the west coming direct to Santa Fe where he became clerk in the store of Seligman and Clever. In 1865 he again went to New York but the following year returned to Santa Fe and became clerk for Seligman Brothers. In 1875 he became a partner in the firm with which he was connected until 1904, when he started business for himself, which business he still conducts on the south side of the plaza.

ENGROSS THE ATTENTION OF STATE AND WALL STREET.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 2.—An amalgamation of interests on the part of the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R. R. and Charles W. Morse in controlling the reorganized Metropolitan Steamship Company is the latest story to engross the attention of state and Wall street. The report, if true, constitutes one of the most interesting financial episodes of the day. The opposition of President Mellon and his road to the Morse steamship interests previous to the sale of two years ago is still fresh in their public mind. If the two camps are in reality to divide control, as is stated upon good authority, something suggesting the lion-and-lamb contention will have been accomplished in the financial world. Mutual necessity sometimes makes strange bedfellows.

For Chronic Diarrhoea.

"While in the army in 1864 I was taken with chronic diarrhoea," says George M. Felton of South Gibson, Pa. "I have since tried many remedies but without any permanent relief until Mr. A. W. Miles of this place persuaded me to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy one bottle of which stopped it at once." For sale by all druggists.

It is an admitted fact that real estate, financial men and merchants all say that quickest and best results are obtained by advertising in the New Mexican.

FRANK W. SHEARON.
Postmaster Part of 1909.

Frank W. Shearon, who has the distinction of having served in three important government positions in one year, yesterday took charge of the office of district clerk of the first judicial district under Judge John R. McFie, succeeding Elmer Marsh, who took the position temporarily upon the retirement of Clark Francis C. Wilson. At the beginning of the year, Mr. Shearon was assistant attorney general but upon solicitation of his political friends he accepted the position of postmaster, succeeding Paul A. F. Walter, whose example of resigning voluntarily he followed seven months later. Mr. Shearon has been a resident of Santa Fe about five years, coming here, as did his predecessor, for health reasons. Although only 34 years of age, he had seen considerable public service before coming to Santa Fe.

He is a native of Fairbury, Neb., where he attended the public schools. He graduated from the Lincoln Normal University, and was appointed court reporter of the first judicial district, Nebraska, which position he held several years, resigning it to accept the position of chief clerk in the law department of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad at Lincoln, Neb. Ill health compelled him to leave his native state for New Mexico where he soon regained strength and made a host of political and personal friends through his straightforwardness and courage of his convictions. He was chief clerk in the office of former Commissioner of Public Lands A. A. Keen, and was the principal figure around whom was waged the memorable fight that resulted in the resignation of former Governor Hagerman. Mr. Shearon, in that episode, refused to be intimidated in the stand he took for what he conceived to be right. On May 19, 1907, he was appointed assistant in the office of Attorney General J. M. Hervey, and was of valuable service in that department. Last August he was admitted to the practice of law before the territorial supreme court after a highly creditable examination for which he had prepared himself not only by hard study but by the experience of a decade of service in positions that brought him into contact with the legal phases of many varied activities. Mr. Shearon was married in Nebraska six years ago, and with Mrs. Shearon occupies a cozy home in this city, with whose interests he has identified himself and for which he boasts in season and out of season.

For Chapped Hands.

Chapped skin, whether on the hands or face may be cured in one night by applying Chamberlain's Salve. It is also unequalled for sore nipples, burns and scalds. For sale by all druggists.

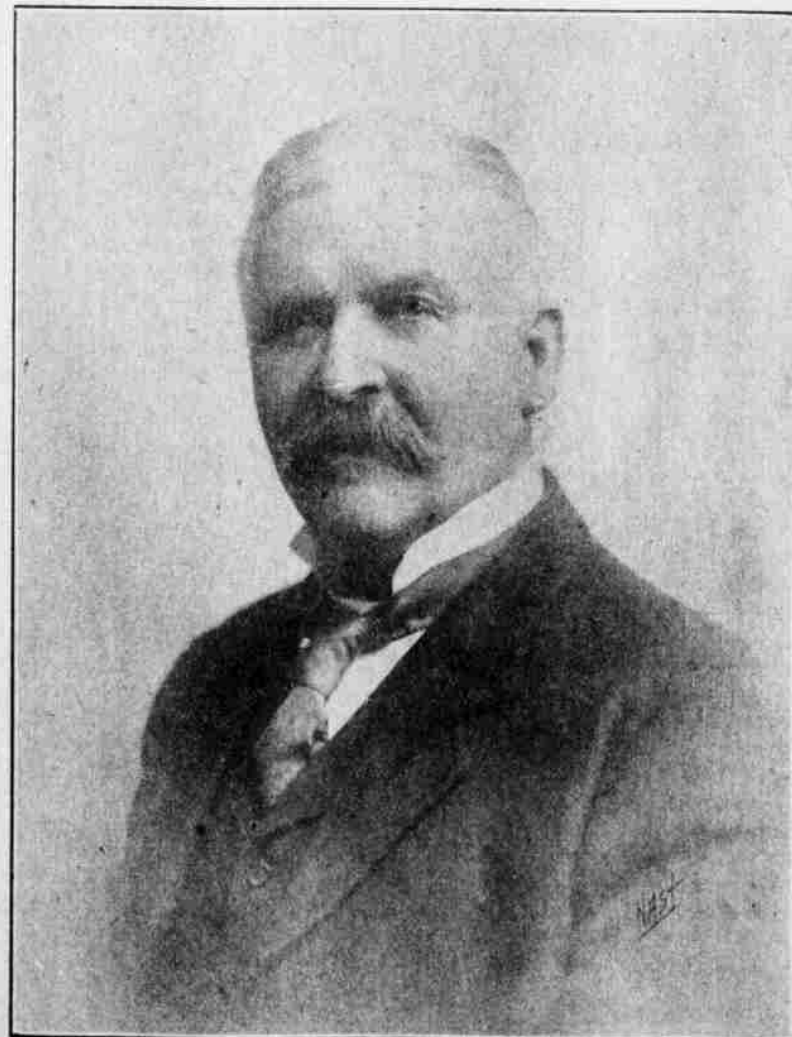

JACOB WELTMER.
Postmaster From 1890 to 1894.

Jacob Weltmer, was postmaster succeeding Hayward in 1901, and retained the office for four and one-half years. He is a native of Pennsylvania having been born at Palmyra, Pa., where he received his early schooling. He was also a student at the Pennsylvania Normal School at Millersburg, Pa. In 1874 he came to Santa Fe and shortly after secured a position as clerk in the postoffice under Major Breeden. Later he became chief deputy in the office of the internal revenue collector.

In 1880 he bought out the stationery business owned by H. B. Cartwright which business he still conducts. Weltmer was at one time president of the board of education.

Thomas P. Gable was born in Platte county, Mo., March 12, 1851. He is of German ancestry, who were among the early pioneers in Pennsylvania, where his father, Barney Gable was born in 1812. In 1855, Mr. Gable's parents located in Leavenworth, Kan., being among the first settlers in that city. In this town, Mr. Gable attended the public schools. For six years he worked as clerk in the postoffice at Leavenworth, although merely a boy. In 1881 he came to New Mexico and in 1885 to Santa Fe, as warden of the New Mexico penitentiary, holding that important and difficult position for two years. In 1889 he was elected a member of the territorial legislature and helped in framing the public school bill. In 1894, he was appointed postmaster by President Cleveland. He was married in 1875 to Miss Charibel McWhirt, a native of Illinois. Mr. Gable has the unique distinction of having served as a member of the Kansas legislature when he was only 23 years old, the youngest man who had ever been honored in so signal a manner. Mr. Gable was appointed territorial game and fish warden by Governor Curry and he is proving himself a hustler in that position who is doing great work in protecting the game laws and in restoring to New Mexico the name of being one of the best hunting and fishing grounds in the United States.

THOMAS P. GABLE.
Postmaster From 1894 to 1898.

The year 1894, was an important one in the life of Paul A. F. Walter, who has just received his commission as census supervisor for New Mexico, a position for which he was not an applicant, and who resigned the postmastership at Santa Fe the beginning of this year to take editorial charge of the Santa Fe New Mexican. In that year he attained his age, cast his first vote, was a candidate on the Republican ticket receiving the highest number of votes of any person on the ticket, and together with another young man, just of age, started the Daily Globe, at South Bethlehem, Pa., which today is still one of the most prosperous and most influential daily papers in eastern Pennsylvania. It was a Republican paper in a Democratic Gibraltar and helped valiantly to elect the first Republican Congressman and the first Republican county officers the district had since the Civil war. After three years as editor of the Daily Globe, Mr. Walter sold out his interest to his partner and became editor and manager of the Bangor Daily News, another staunch Republican paper and from it returned to edit again the Daily Globe. Having ambition to enter the consular and diplomatic service of Uncle Sam, and in recognition of his party services, he was endorsed by Senators Quay and Penrose, by the Pennsylvania Congressional delegation, by Governor Hastings, State Secretary Frank Reed and the members of the legislature, including Hon. W. H. Andrews, who later became New Mexico's Delegate to Congress, and would have been appointed consul to Prague, when ill health forced him to seek New Mexico's climate. Having secured a position on the Morning Journal, he went to Albuquerque, but was induced to come to Santa Fe where after only three years' residence he was appointed, upon the recommendation of Hon. B. S. Rodey, postmaster by President Roosevelt, and was reappointed in 1906, serving almost seven years, when the illness of Colonel Max Frost, the veteran journalist with whom Mr. Walter was associated as associate editor of the New Mexican for ten years, compelled the retirement of the former and the position was offered to Mr. Walter by the New Mexican Printing Company.

As collaborator of Colonel Frost, Mr.

Walter helped to compile "To the Land of Sunshine," of which two editions were printed for the St. Louis exposition and numerous other pamphlets, historical and descriptive, of New Mexico and its various parts. He has also contributed fiction and poetry to leading magazines although of late years the press of manifold duties has kept him from following up these earlier literary successes. Three years ago he was admitted to the bar of the Territorial supreme court, has served as first vice-president of the New Mexico Bar Association and is the reporter of the supreme court of the Territory.

CLOVIS MUCH PLEASED WITH JUDGE POPE.

He Insists on Strict Law Enforcement—City Officials Are Indicted By Grand Jury.

To the surprise of every one, the Territory failed to make a case against Mr. and Mrs. Irvin who had been arrested at Clovis, for alleged implication in a scheme to blackmail leading merchants. The jury however found true bills against City Attorney Fred McDonald and Police Judge Stewart Overton, both being charged with bribery in the conduct of their respective offices. Some think this the outcome of the work of political enemies, yet others assert that there is some strong evidence against both.

Says the Clovis News: "Judge Pope's instructions to the grand jury are commendable and in keeping with his well known policy of putting a stop to all manner of violations of the statutes. He spoke of the violations of the Sunday law and emphasized the necessity of enforcing the statutes relative to Sunday back door traffic, not only in the liquor business but others as well. Of the dangers of pistol toting and the strict enforcement of the law pertaining thereto, and of many other laws more frequently violated. The people of Curry county are highly pleased with the manner in which Judge Pope handles his court matters as they realize that the judiciary of the fifth district is the strongest branch of our local government. Three true bills had been returned by the grand jury up to last night as follows:
