1. THE 2000 UNITED WAY CAMPAIGN is underway and runs through Nov. 3. All employees should have received an envelope with their name on it containing United Way materials. Completed forms should be returned directly to the Controller's office, Room 251, Scholes Hall. For more information contact UNM United Way Campaign Chair Sam Giammo at 272-3322. www.unm.edu/~paaffair/news/camnews/Oct2,2000/unitedway.htm
2. JOSEPH CECCHI has been appointed interim dean at the UNM School of Engineering. He will serve as interim dean while a national search is conducted to fill the position vacated by current dean, Paul Fleury, who leaves UNM in early November to assume a similar position at Yale University. Cecchi has served as chair of the UNM Chemical and Nuclear Engineering Department since 1994. www.unm.edu/~paaffair/news/news%20releases/Oct2cecchi.htm
3. THE "CON SENTIMIENTO DESDE NUEVO MEXICO" exhibit opened recently at the Museo de America in Madrid, Spain and will be on display through mid-November. The exhibit was originally conceived in honor of National Hispanic Heritage Month. It features three exhibits created by UNM faculty and staff including MariLyn Salvador, "Cuando Hablan Los Santos"; Miguel Gandert and Enrique Lamadrid, "Pilgrimage to Chimayo"; and Jim Jacob, Caminos y Corazones."
4. "THE SINS OF SOR JUANA," a benefit play for the Margaret Gonzales Memorial Scholarship at UNM, will be presented Friday, Oct. 6 at the South Broadway Cultural Center. Tickets are $30, with $25 of each ticket going to the scholarship fund. The Southwest Repertory Theatre will perform the play.
5. Liza Kerr, manager of the Tax and Property Accounting Department UNM, has been appointed to the National Committee on Education for the Institute of Management Accountants. The committee is the world's largest association for financial professionals. www.unm.edu/~paaffair/news/news%20releases/Sep29kerr.htm
