NUMBER 41.

SAFELY JAILED.

John Cusick Safely Secured in a Strong Jail.

Special Detective Keenan's Persistent Chase After his Man.

IN THE FLAGSTAFF JAIL.

This morning THE CITIZEN reported the pleasure of meeting John C. Keenan, who recently arrested John Cusick, at Omaha, Neb., the leader of a gang of men who worked along the Atlantic & Pacific road and for years practiced breaking into cars containing valuable merchandise. Not until Mr. Keenan took up the case a few weeks ago and tried to run down the perpetrators or order of the stealing, did any authentic news come to light. The gentleman first ascertained that Cusick was closely intimate with a Mexican girl residing in Los Angeles, and to that city Mr. Keenan went. He called at the house of the other of the girl and on seeing an alarm on the table asked to look at the photo. The mother acquiesced, and the two pictures in the album were those of the Mexican girl and Cusick, another unaware of the shrewd detective's desire, who was not up to that acquainted with the man he was hunting, telling him that "picture was Cusick's." Mr. Keenan then gained the name of the photographer and from him had a negative taken, sending them to the chiefs of police of the principal cities on the Pacific coast, to Denver, Colo., to Omaha, Neb., requesting them to keep a sharp lookout for the pursued. Answer was received from any, except Chief of Police Crowley, of San Francisco, who informed the pursuing detective that his man had been in at city but had left. On reaching San Francisco, Mr. Keenan found that Cusick had taken the Southern Pacific for Los Angeles, from which city he continued on to Salt Lake, the detective being about seven days behind him. From a Lake Cusick went to Pocatello, Idaho, where he worked a few days. Here detective lost the trail of his man, so he suddenly left Pocatello and went up in Green River, Wyoming, where he was night watchman in the Pacific yards for eleven days. Cusick gained information from some of the road boys that the detective had again and his trail, and he left for Rollins, heading toward Cheyenne. He reached Cheyenne, where he took Wyoming Northern road to Douglas, from there went over the Northwest road to the Missouri river valley in the, the detective having gained in his on the flying high several days. On the valley he went to South Omaha in search of his mother whom he had seen for fifteen years, and who had died again and moved away. Cusick secured for his mother and found that she resided at 2823 Sherman avenue, and to that place he went. Detective Keenan came on five days later, obtained from the postmaster of South Omaha the residence of Cusick's mother, and going there fortunately found him, and without allowing him an opportunity to offer resistance placed him under arrest. He was placed in the Omaha night of his arrest, and Sunday morning last Detective Keenan, with his posse, passed through the city for staff where Cusick is now behind bars of an iron cell, after one of the persistent and faithful chase ever after a prisoner by a detective in western country.

Cusick is a railroader by occupation, and card, and it was easy traveling him. It is understood that since his last became generally known several his boon companions on the Atlantic & Pacific have quit the service of the company, leaving without securing their time and, and by so doing committing themselves in the robberies. The expenses of Detective Keenan are by the Atlantic & Pacific company, who have made it a practice to follow breakers on their road until they safely run to earth.

The Albuquerque Citizen turned the yearly mile stone of its existence on Saturday. During the past five years that paper has been of the greatest use to the city of Albuquerque and the county of Bernalillo. It has stood the interests of the town and county, of course thereby by those of the history, manfully, honestly and energetically; its good work has been one of the main factors in the rapid building of our sister city on the Rio Grande; has been conducted by Hon. Thomas Brown in a clean, able and progressive manner, and in appearance in a very beautiful manner. May prosperity and success be the lot of the Albuquerque Citizen and of its editor and editorial staff for all time to come.—New Mexico.

The Territorial Fair. We see a good many of the news-people refer to the fair just closed as "Albuquerque fair." This is all wrong. It is designed to call attention to the enterprise of the "Duke City" as compared to the sloth and carelessness of other sections with equal or greater abilities, but without enough energy to bring them prominently to view. We had the pleasure to take the late fair, and we feel satisfied with the results. While we heard a few complaints of the inability of the town to care for her crowd of visitors; we are compelled to say we never saw a heartier welcome offered to visitors; nor a better or greater directed effort made by any town to care for them.

The exhibits of minerals, fruits, vegetables and grains was a revelation to anyone unacquainted with the resources of New Mexico. Although New Mexico has never been heralded to the world as a great mineral producer, yet her exhibit of minerals, both as to richness and variety will bear comparison with those of states supposed by many to be more richly endowed.

The fruit exhibit we know would be difficult to discount anywhere in the United States, and the vegetables and grains followed hard after.

Donna Anna people were at the fair in full force, and none came away ashamed of what had been accomplished. Yet our success was but a small share of what it ought to have been. What credit was gained was due largely to the earnest and unremitting efforts of Capt. Brangan and Prof. Blount. We hope our people will make greater efforts to aid them another year. And for such work better or more earnest gentleman cannot be found. One or both of them were always on hand and willing to explain to visitors the character of our exhibit.—Las Cruces Republican.

A Card. In reply to the scurrilous article of Tom Pielien in the morning Democrat, I will say that the reason I objected to his practicing law in my court was on account of the dishonest and disreputable methods he resorted to in order to obtain a favorable verdict for his clients. Yesterday when I refused to allow him to try the case then in progress he became abusive, defied me, interfered with the defendant who was giving his testimony, and I ordered him out of the court room. He refused to go, and I ordered my constable to put him out. The constable asked him politely to go out and not create any further disturbance. This he also refused to do, when the constable merely laid his hand on his arm and repeated his request which was complied with. The only thing I regret in the matter is that I did not find him for contempt and send him to jail, a place where he so justly deserves to be.

I will not allow disreputable practice in my court, and that is what led to the question of Mr. Pielien yesterday. Further, I would rather be an ignorant, honest man any day than to be an educated rogue.

Respectfully,
DAVID DEKHAM, J. P.

Kelly Items. The Greyhound tunnel has cut into another immense ore chute.

Out of sixty-five claims surveyed for patent last year the Kelly camp, Magdalena district, furnished 28.

The Cavern mine and concentrator will start up next Monday. They have ore in every winch, slope, adit and level.

There are from seven to ten car loads of ore being shipped daily from Kelly. Times are better than ever before, and more men are at work.

The Graphic mine at Kelly shipped one thousand tons of ore to the Rio Grande smelter at Socorro last month. The mine has about five thousand tons of ore in sight.

On the South Waldo mine the Graphic people have struck an immense body of galena and sand carbonate at great depths. They are shipping three car loads per week.

The Grand Tower mine is shipping from two to three car loads of ore per week, having made a new strike of fine grey carbonates from which twenty tons per day is being extracted by one man.

Friend of New Mexico. Few men have done more to promote the development and exploit the splendid natural advantages of New Mexico than Hon. William C. Hazledine, of Albuquerque, the talented and popular general attorney of the Atlantic & Pacific railroad company. At Willard's yesterday that gentleman said:

"The admission of New Mexico to statehood is not a question of politics. The territory is so evenly balanced that no man can say whether it would be republican or democratic, but regardless of partisan feeling the people are a unit in their demand for statehood. Their claim thereto is based on nothing but justice, and they hope that the Fifty-second congress will hearken to their appeal."—Washington Post.

They are After Us. The Tuesday's issue of the El Paso Herald contained the following item:

Manager Jones has not given up all hope of getting Albuquerque here, although the manager of that club wants a share of the receipts. Nothing would afford El Paso greater pleasure than to wipe up the earth with the Maroons.

Nothing would afford the Maroons more pleasure, Mr. Herald, than to pluck a flower from the crown of the El Paso Brown, and with the home boys in trim they can do that same little trick, and that with ease. Accept the terms of the Maroons for the El Paso games, and watch us play ball.

The Texas railroad commission has issued the following order: "From and after the 1st of October, 1891, all railroad companies in this state shall charge and collect from consignees the sum of $3 per day for the use of all cars not unloaded after forty-eight hours' notice to the consignee or his agent (not to include Sundays and legal holidays). The notice to consignees to unload cars must recite the penalty herein provided for."

RAILROAD NEWS.

Freight business is reported good by the railroad officials.

A number of railroads on the division north of the city are taking layoffs.

Railroad men claim that a very heavy snow storm occurred yesterday near Winslow.

A. E. Holman, engineer on the Santa Fe, will leave to-night on a sixty days visit to Vermont.

Thos. Fay, a railroader, with his wife and Mrs. L. M. Winney, of Flagstaff, are registered at the Windsor.

Ed. Welch, who for some time was one of the switchmen in the Raton yards, has resigned and gone to Chicago.

C. G. Lott, who has been on the sick list for several months, will resume his position as depot policeman in a few days.

There is so much work at the Las Vegas round house, just now, that almost every man is working largely over hours.

After October 20 no freight trains will be dispatched in Belgium on Sunday or holidays. Another step in the right direction.

The Texas & Pacific and Southern Pacific roads in Texas and southern Arizona are also experiencing trouble from washouts.

Division Superintendent Mudge, in his special car No. 75, and accompanied by his wife, came up from San Marcial last night.

D. B. Robinson, the new manager of the San Antonio & Aransas Pass road, is in Phoenix, Arizona, the guest of ex-Governor Murphy.

The Santa Fe has moved into new quarters in the Wells, Fargo & Co.'s bank building in El Paso. This is their uptown office.

Major Llewellyn, the efficient live stock agent of the Santa Fe, has gone to Clayton, N. M., to look after the shipment of some cattle.

J. S. Mahoney and F. E. Palmer, Atlantic & Pacific railroaders, who have been to New York on a visit, have returned to the city.

The Kansas commissioners have ordered the Santa Fe to repair the tracks on its Southern Kansas division between Lawrence and Ottawa.

Fred Herzog, who for three years has been time-keeper at the Las Vegas round house, has resigned his position to engage in another vocation.

F. Bentley, a single man and born in England, jumped in front of a moving train at Mount Eden, Cal., the other day and was instantly killed.

The Santa Fe reports a wonderful increase in travel. The winter influx of tourists seeking relief from the rigorous climate of the north is at hand.

Engineer Allison and Fireman McCroskey, on the Raton division, secured a leave of absence for sixty days and are now among old friends in Missouri.

Will Larkin, who is master of circular works for Conductor Trasselt between Raton and Las Vegas, left yesterday to visit his parents at Union Center, Wis.

James Lockhart has resigned his position as assistant live stock agent for the Santa Fe, under Live Stock Agent Llewellyn, and A. Van Antwerp appointed instead.

H. D. Pike has assumed the management of the Western railway at Denver. He was private secretary to ex-General Manager Smith of the Denver & Rio Grande.

Richard Gentry is now the efficient baggage-master at the depot, Sam McLaughlin, who filled the position with credit for a long time, taking a desk in the freight department.

There are coal banks in northwestern New Mexico outcropping from 20 to 30 feet in thickness. A railroad from this city to Durango would pass through this vast coal deposit.

Mrs. Lease, the alliance stumper and all-round virago, is known to the employees of the Santa Fe railroad as "No. 2718." That is the numerical description of her annual pass.

Denver promises to give $200,000, Trinidad $100,000, Las Vegas $100,000, White Oaks $50,000, and the Maxwell Land Grant company, $200,000 towards the building of the El Paso road.

J. D. Hill, an extra conductor, left on October 1st for Galeburg, Ill. Mr. Hill represents Raton Pass lodge No. 221, B. of R. T., at their special convention which will convene at Galeburg, Oct. 5.

A slight wreck occurred to freight train No. 32 between Grants and Blue Water yesterday afternoon. A broken wheel on one of the cars caused three or four cars to fly the track, necessitating a delay of several hours.

R. D. Rowe, resident engineer and M. R. Williams, general foreman of the bridge and building department at Las Vegas, are in Raton looking after the improvements the Santa Fe is making in the yards there.

Yon street railways, containing lists of the officials of all the railroads in operation in the western hemisphere. It is a valuable directory.

A dispatch from Chicago quotes a high official of the Rock Island as saying that certain moves the on railroad checker-board by Gould will compel the Rock Island to build to tide water in order to guard its traffic territory.

C. E. Reubendale, station agent for the Atlantic & Pacific at Laguna, will pass through the city to night for Upper San dusky, Ohio, on a visit. This is the first time Mr. Reubendale will be absent from his post of duty for four or five years.

Oliver Wright was killed at Belmont, Arizona, yesterday morning. He was a telegraph operator, and had been with the Atlantic & Pacific but a few days. He was killed by falling between the cars. He was a Knight Templar, and belonged to Hope Commandery, Ohio.

At Heli canon, south end of the Magdalena mountains, last Tuesday, the water came down in a wall sixteen feet in depth. It covered the Santa Fe track at Heli canon, from the bridge to the four feet deep, delaying the south-bound train at Socorro twelve hours.

It is understood that in a few days the depot here will pass into the hands of a new agent. J. W. Walker, the point agent, is now chief clerk of the Atlantic & Pacific, under Manager Gabel, and Mr. C. E. Reubendale, the new agent is likely to be the pleasant chief clerk at the Santa Fe depot.

There has been a change in the medical department of the Santa Fe at Las Vegas. Dr. Kellogg, retired, Dr. Whalen will spend the day in the city and the night at the hospital, while Dr. Buckmaster will be in the city at night and at the hospital during the day. Dr. Tip-ton is consulting physician.

The Chicago & Alton has suffered so great a falling off in its passenger business since the inauguration of the boycott that it is compelled to order thirty new chair cars to take care of the decrease. The cars have been ordered, and will be ready for the World's fair, together with a number of new locomotives.

An accident occurred the other day at the Cerro Blanco, Sonora, mines, in which four men were killed. The train, a twenty-inch gauge, nine miles in length and running to the mines up a very steep grade, was derailed and the engine, fireman and two others were killed. It is supposed that some person out of revenge derailed the engine.

Two of the five large compound locomotives for the Mexican Central road, sixty-seven tons each, came from the north last night and were sent south early this morning. Ed Miller, an old engineer on the Atlantic & Pacific, was at the depot when the locomotives arrived, and he pronounced them the finest engines he ever saw.

The Texas railroad commission has issued the following order: "From and after October 1st, 1891, all railroad companies in this state shall charge and collect from consignees the sum of $3 per day per car for the use of all cars not unloaded after forty-eight hours' notice to the consignee or his agent (not to include Sundays and legal holidays). The notice to consignees to unload cars must recite the penalty herein provided for."

T. A. Healy is the name of the new Santa Fe agent at this city. He will arrive from Nogales, Arizona, where he has been the agent for the company there for several years, next Wednesday. Mr. Healy was check clerk at the freight depot here six or seven years ago; went to El Paso, where he officiated as chief clerk for the company, and then was promoted station agent at Nogales, Arizona. The citizens know that our people will welcome Mr. Healy.

Work on the North and South railroad at Phoenix commenced Saturday morning last. Acting Governor Murphy held the first plow and threw the first shovel-ful of dirt. James McMillan, of the Arizona Improvement company, threw the second; Malcolm McNair, of the Phoenix Real Estate company, the third, and Mrs. McMillan the fourth. Then quite a number of others paid their respects to the new road in the same manner. The first work was sufficient to hold the subsidy granted the road by the city, but a large force of men have been put to work. D. B. Robinson, formerly of Albuquerque, president of the road, and Frank Murphy, another official of the new road, missed connection at Deming, N. M., after leaving this city, and were not present at the commencement work.

It was a great event for Phoenix, and the road will penetrate north and south, a fine section of Arizona.

For many years Mr. B. F. Thompson, of Des Moines, Iowa, was severely afflicted with chronic diarrhoea. He says: "At times it is very severe; so much so, that I feared it would end my life. About seven years ago I chanced to procure a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It gave me prompt relief, and I believe cured it permanently, as I now eat or drink without harm anything I please." I have also used it in my family with the best results. For sale by Thos. H. Burgess & Son, Druggists.

Train Robber Grafton Dalton and two other prisoners escaped from the Visalia, California, jail. They had keys and locked their jail before leaving. Dalton was awaiting sentence for the Albia train robbery.

TERRITORIAL TATTLE.

The new school house in Chama is finished. The building cost $1,200.

S. B. Ekins has consented to give deeds to actual settlers on the Cerrillos town site.

No district court can be held in Socorro county in November on account of lack of funds.

A new Catholic parish has been established, and Father Cooney put in charge at San Marcial.

There are 30,000 head of sheep in the vicinity of Chama awaiting shipment to eastern markets.

Examinations of school teachers in Rio Arriba county takes place at Tierra Amarilla October 5.

There are six insane persons confined in the Santa Fe county jail. The insane asylum is badly needed.

It is currently reported that no court will be held at Tierra Amarilla this fall, owing to a lack of funds.

The coal shippers at Cerrillos are having a rush of orders, not being able to get cars to fill the demand.

The Methodist congregation at Santa Fe is prospering under the pastoral care of Rev. C. I. Mills, who is an earnest worker.

There are 217 children attending school in Socorro; the number will probably be increased 50 per cent during the coming month.

Chas. Neustadt will sever his connection with the Grant County Mercantile company's store, Pinos Altos, to accept a position elsewhere.

It is highly important that the school districts be properly surveyed, as provided by the new law, in order that bonds may be issued for school purposes.

Miss Matheson, the daughter of the superintendent of the Presbyterian Spanish work in Socorro, has accepted a position as teacher in the public school of Cerrillos.

The Chama paper says: Mr. Mariano Perez, of Bernalillo, is one of the shrewdest sheep men in this territory. Sheep buyers in this vicinity have discovered the fact.

There are at present forty-five pupils at the St. Catherine's Indian school in Santa Fe. Twenty more from the pueblos of Isleta and San Felipe are daily expected to arrive.

The Santa Fe club will be incorporated under the laws of the territory and under the name. The capital stock will be $25,000, divided into 12,500 shares of the par value of $2 a share.

The board of commissioners of Santa Fe county have ordered the district attorney to bring suit against the bonds men of ex Sheriff Chavez who is "short" about thirty-five thousand dollars.

A GOOD PLACE.
If artesian water can be had on the south mesa, as experts seem to think, the strip of public land three or four miles wide and ten miles long, extending from the mountains to the valley is a very desirable place for settlement. The most of the land on the mesa referred to between the Tiguas canyons and the Isleta reservation, is tied up at present by an alleged grant, but this will be disposed of in a very short time when the land court gets to it, and will probably all be thrown open to settlement. In fact, it is all open to settlement now and offered for sale as public land, and if a man settles on a part of it, the government obligates itself in the law establishing the land grant to protect him in his title, and if the grant is awarded by the court to the claimant, he the claimant has resource on the United States for the value of the land that may have been thus disposed of. The district referred to, although but comparatively little known about it by most of the people in town, is altogether the finest and most beautiful district in the vicinity of Albuquerque, and the theory that artesian water can be had there is strongly corroborated by the fact that good strong springs make their appearance in a number of places on the mesa, while the character of the vegetation all over it shows that it is an entirely different country from the mesa just east of town. Dr. Roberts, of the Health Resort association, who rode over a part of the district here referred to, thought there would be an admirable place for the establishment of a sanitarium on a grand scale, where water could be had at very moderate depth, and where the patients would enjoy all the advantages of pure air and magnificent scenery. It is not more than an hour's drive from town, and if a tract there could be taken up for the purpose indicated, it ought to be done without delay, because whenever somebody proves that it is practicable to get water there by digging or boring, every quarter section will be taken up in two weeks.

RESULT OF PROTECTION.
When this country began protecting its industry in 1861 the British consumption of iron for every inhabitant was nearly three times the consumption in the United States, namely, 172.91 pounds per capita, against 61.44 in this country. Now, after thirty years of protection here and free trade in Great Britain, the consumption of iron in the United States is greater than in Great Britain by about sixty pounds for every inhabitant, so that the excess of consumption in this country over Great Britain is now about as much as the total consumption for each inhabitant in the United States thirty years ago, when protection began. During the last twenty years the consumption for each inhabitant in Great Britain has actually declined 9.15 pounds, while the consumption in the United States for each inhabitant has more than doubled, in 1871 it was 165.54 pounds, and it is now 330.28 pounds. These statements are based upon the official reports of the British and American Iron and Steel association as to production, that of Great Britain last year being 7,875,130 gross tons, and that of the United States 3,242,703 gross tons.

A GARDEN.
With an abundance of water the entire valley of the Rio Grande will become in the course of a very few years one continuous garden, and one flowing well, at moderate depth, means an abundance of water all over the valley, because as soon as the matter shall be announced by the first artesian well, the whole question will be settled—it will be no longer an experiment—people can figure out the exact cost, and will know that by the expenditure of so much money they can get a given quantity of water. Let everybody "chip in" to make the experiment, and if it is successful then we can all have an artesian well in the back yard.

OVER SOBERED.
Spokane Falls, in Washington, is one of the most remarkable "boom towns" of the Pacific coast. It had but 350 people ten years ago, and its census population last year was almost 20,000. Tacoma's growth is scarcely less marvelous; from 1,000 in 1880 to 36,000 in 1890, next in percentage of increase is Seattle, which had only 3,500 inhabitants ten years ago and is credited by last year's census with 42,800. But most of the Washington towns have been "overdone," and they are now suffering from the reaction which inevitably follows a boom.

FORTUNE'S WEATHER.
Prof. Foster, the Missouri weather prophet, continues to predict or forecast the coming of storms with very remarkable accuracy. Almost every storm that he has predicted since he came before the public, has shown itself, and nearly always on the exact day which he set for it. So often has this been the case as to preclude the idea of guess work in the matter, and to lead us to believe that he reaches his conclusions in a scientific manner. The storm that manifested itself here yesterday was announced by him through the Denver News on the 26th of September, and he took occasion at the same time to tell us that the first half of this month will be a period of unusual disturbances, and that we may look out for a long hard winter. Here is his statement:

"A remarkable period of great storms will occur during the first half of October that will be surpassed only by those that will occur in March, 1892. There will be three storm waves during this storm period which will cross the continent from west to east along the usual storm center routes. The first of these storm waves will be most severe in the Mississippi valley and the last one on the Atlantic coast. The first of these storm waves will be due to leave the Pacific coast about September 30, cross the Rocky Allegheny valley from Oct. 1 to 3 and reach the Atlantic coast about the 4th. On the 2d this storm wave will be crossing the Mississippi river, not far from St. Louis, and will then be of very considerable force in Illinois and Missouri. Accompanying this storm wave may be expected tornadoes, cloudbursts, hail and severe gales, and within one or two days following it killing frosts will visit most localities north of latitude 36, with a strong probability of frosts much further south. Hurricanes will develop great force on the North Atlantic at this time, but I cannot give their exact location, but they will probably be not far east of the West Indies. These hurricanes will become very fierce along the Atlantic coast from October 1 to 18. These October storms will indicate what the coming winter will be. I expect very great storms from October 1 to the last of March, and if this period of storms, covering the first half of October, proves to be of more than usual force, it will indicate that I have not miscalculated the weather, and we may then confidently expect a very cold, severe and stormy winter, setting in quite early."

THIS IS THE PLACE.
The people of Albuquerque must not lose sight of the fact that a smaller establishment at this point, even if it be on a very small scale, will be worth big money to the town. The ore of Arizona and southwestern New Mexico which go to market through this place are abundant sufficient to make a profitable business for a smelter here. And it is not necessary for us to raise all the money required to start such an industry; the miners of Magdalena, of Sierra county and of all the districts of northern Arizona are ready and willing to put up liberally for this purpose; all they ask of the people of Albuquerque is to show enough interest in the matter to make a fair subscription to the capital stock of the company—in other words, if we will touch the button they will do the rest. Let's touch it.

BROKE THE RECORD.
The last ten days of September will go into history as the champion "wet spell" in New Mexico—more water having fallen during that time than was ever before known during any like period in this territory. If it had come the last of July or the first of August it would have insured good feed on all the ranges for the coming winter. It is too late now for the grass to be benefited much, but the rain gives an abundant supply of water on the plains, and that helps a good deal.

Queen Victoria has a remarkably fine head of hair for a lady of her age, but her son, the Prince of Wales, is quite bald. Had he used Ayer's Hair Vigor earlier in life he had more to-day have been as well covered as that of his royal mother. It's not too late yet.

Kiser, wife of the day bar keeper at the St. Elmo, will at an early day open a saloon on the upper floor of the St. Elmo, where she will have a billiard table, a pool table and a billiard room. Yesterday the lady presented W. F. Hladson, proprietor of the St. Elmo, a handsome sofa pillow.

Finial & Gutierrez, the two young lawyers admitted to practice before the courts of the Second Judicial district at Las Lunas the other day, this morning formed a law partnership, and have established offices upstairs over Stern Bros. The Citizens bespeaks for them success.

Major J. W. Donnelly is enjoying the pleasure of entertaining a very old Arkansas and Washington, D. C. friend, Major M. W. Chollar and his son, John D. The major is looking up an investment for his son, and will probably make there, as he is very much pleased with the city and its prospects.

H. C. Wandell, the watermelon man at the fair, was arrested yesterday by Constable Priest on a warrant sworn out by Lorenzo Henderson before Manuel Arango, justice of the peace for precinct No. 35. No charge being alleged in the warrant, Mr. Wandell was immediately discharged when brought into court.

D. B. Robinson arrived late yesterday afternoon from Chicago, and was met here by E. M. Murphy, of Prescott, secretary of Arizona. Both gentlemen left last night for Phoenix on business, after which Mr. Robinson will proceed to San Antonio, Texas, where he becomes general manager of the San Antonio & Aransas Pass railroad.

Miss Cora Marsh, one of Albuquerque's intelligent daughters, will leave Monday night for Austin, Texas, where the lady will enter one of the popular female seminaries of that city as teacher. Miss Marsh will carry with her the best wishes of a host of friends, and the Citizens commends her to the good graces of the city of Austin as a lady of refinement and culture.

Another Crazy Man.

Last night, about 11 o'clock, a man called at the Armijo and on throwing down a $10 bill, which he claimed was only a dollar bill, asked to be assigned a room. He acted queerly and stated that he was so nervous that he could not register. He was given a room and immediately called for a priest. There happened to be a priest in the hotel at that time and he was sent to the man, who became noisy and showed signs of becoming violent. Marshal Maston and Policeman Van Leuven were summoned and they took the man to the city jail, placing him in a cell. To-day he states that his name is Charles Yeager, and he followed the baker's trade in Kansas City. He arrived here Thursday night, has a trunk at the depot and has $20.54 in cash, which is the possession of the marshal. He is on his way to San Francisco, and will probably be sent west as soon as his condition is fully determined. That he is insane, there can be no doubt, and it is thought the high altitude—that is, coming over the Raton mountains, and then suddenly entering a plateau several thousand feet lower, has something to do with his insanity.

Charles Huelshe, the crazy passenger who came in from the west yesterday afternoon, is confined in a cell at the city jail.

Hurry up with that insane asylum. It is badly needed.

Notes and Trains.

The rain of last night was the heaviest known in the Rio Grande valley for years. Heavy, angry, dark clouds formed in the skies northwest of the city, when the rain came down in torrents, the clouds moving up and along the river until the towns of Bernalillo and Algodones were reached, when they passed over to the Sandia mountains and to the mesa east of the city. Here they appeared to open and the water rushed down the Highlands in angry streams, the down being plainly heard. Considerable damage was done to the streets, especially those through which the sewer was laid. They were washed very badly.

The two passenger trains from the north arrived on time last night, but for several hundred yards between Bernalillo and Algodones they ran through water several feet deep on the track. The passenger train from the south also arrived on time. There are no washouts on the Santa Fe, but in several places, north and south of the city, the track is covered with water.

The passengers for the west remained over here until this morning, when they were sent west over the Atlantic & Pacific by a special, which left at 9 o'clock. This special goes as far as the first washout, at Rio Puerco, where the passengers, mail and baggage, for both ways, are transferred.

The special arrived from the washouts this afternoon, when the train was made up for the north. The Atlantic & Pacific washouts, a new one reported at the small bridge three miles west of Laguna—are very bad, but the officials believe, that should no further heavy rains occur, that they will be repaired by tomorrow.

A car load of bridge timber, with a gang of workmen, was sent out to the bridge this afternoon.

New Officers.

Last evening the Flambeau club took possession of the Sheffield Hook and Ladder quarters and held a very interesting meeting. It was decided to continue the club intact, preserve the uniforms, and be ready for any occasion demanding their assistance in displays or parades. It was a good natured, first-class meeting of whole-souled young fellows, and just before adjournment was had a motion was made that the club proceed to the election of new officers for the ensuing year, which motion was carried unanimously, and the following officers elected:

Captain—George M. Cundiff.
First Lieutenant—E. O. Roy.
Second Lieutenant—F. W. Hocke.
First Sergeant—S. F. Jenkins.
Second Sergeant—Chas. H. Walters.
Treasurer—Elmer Washburn.
Secretary—J. Edward Priest.
Counselor—H. G. Henderson.
Board of Directors—Don Rankin, E. W. Rogers, Elmer Washburn, H. W. Roy and J. Edward Priest.

The captain, George M. Cundiff, is one of the active members of the re-organized Hook and Ladder company, is first-class when it comes to handling in a scientific manner a company, and the Flambeaus made a most excellent selection by placing him at the head as their captain. The other officers are well-known young gentlemen.

Public School Items.

Nearly 100 pupils enrolled.

Examinations have been going on, and pupils graded as rapidly as possible.

A number of text-books are not yet received, which puts teachers and pupils to considerable inconvenience.

The new desks ordered by the board of education are very pretty in appearance and all that could be desired for comfort.

The following teachers have been appointed as principals: Miss Winslow at the Academy building; Miss Dougan, Highland building, and Mrs. Ludlum at the College building.

Mr. M. C. Nettleton, the accomplished jeweler of Albuquerque, has placed twelve large, beautiful school clocks in the twelve rooms of the public school, by order of the board.

Considerable attention will be given to rhetorical work in the schools this year. On the first Friday afternoon of each month there will be public exercises in the different rooms at the Academy building, the second Friday afternoon at the Highland building, and on the third at the College building, the fourth to be devoted to examinations in all the schools.

Police Court.

Anon Weaver, vagrancy, $5 and costs; Ed Smith and James Ford, drunk and disorderly, $10 and $5 and costs, respectively; William Kehoe, breach of the peace, $5 and costs; D. Cassidy, vagrancy, $10 and costs. They were all committed to jail, increasing the chain gang to ten stalwart members.

Plato Gallegos is in jail, charged with the theft of a hoe from B. F. Davis. His trial will take place before Justice Denham at 4:30 this afternoon.

The case of F. B. Dunlap against B. C. Wandell for breach of contract, was heard this morning in Justice Denham's court, and the jury returned a verdict favorable to Mr. Dunlap for $10 and costs.

Thanks.

At a meeting of the Albuquerque Flambeau club, held at the Sheffield Hook and Ladder headquarters September 25, 1901, the following resolution was introduced and unanimously passed:

Resolved, That a vote of thanks be tendered to the foreman and members of the Sheffield Hook and Ladder company for courtesies extended to the Albuquerque Flambeau club for the free use of their quarters.

Geo. M. Cundiff,
Captain Flambeau Club.
Attest: J. Edward Priest, Sec.

MINING JUMPING.

The Mine of Ed. Schaub Jumped by Mexicans.

Considerable talk is going on in town among mining men concerning the jumping of some mining property belonging to Ed. Schaub by a party of Mexicans. The property is located in Las Placitas mining district, and is rich in gold, silver and copper. The property has been owned and worked by Schaub for over two years, but it was recently that the rich pay streak was opened up. Schaub did his assessment work last year which holds good to December 31, 1901, and this year spent considerable money in prospecting for and opening up the pay streak referred to. Over a month ago Schaub left his camp in Placitas to look for work and found employment in the tin roofing line in Albuquerque. He had spent all his money in working the prospect, and was compelled to earn more for further development. He never dreamed of such a thing as the jumping of his property. He learned a few days ago that a party of Mexicans from Placitas were in town trying to sell a copper property and upon examining the rock found it to be from his claim. He then ascertained the Mexicans were actually trying to negotiate the sale of the property, and in order to show some title had filed a certificate of relocation with the probate clerk. One real estate firm came within an ace of putting some money in the property. There are fifty citizens in Bernalillo and Albuquerque who are aware that Schaub has done his work faithfully on the property, and if the attempt to rob him of it is persisted in serious trouble is feared. This would be very foolish, however, as Schaub is fully vindicated his claim in or out of court.

(From the Daily, Sept. 26.)

The school buses carried in Gallup by a good majority.

L. M. Latta, the Blue Water cattle man, came in from the west yesterday.

James Lucas, the Cerrillos coal man, is in the city. He will arrange for the sale of his coal here this winter.

W. F. Kuehnbecker has opened a real estate and insurance office at Gallup. He will do a land office business.

H. J. Emerson and wife arrived last night from St. Johnsbury, Vermont, and for the time being will board at Mrs. Scott's, on Silver avenue.

M. W. Browne, cashier of the New Mexico National bank, Socorro, and child, were at the San Felipe yesterday, but left last night for California, via the Atlantic & Pacific.

Will M. Tipton, a popular gentleman of Santa Fe, was in the city yesterday, but returned home last night. Mr. Tipton has a daughter attending the Sisters' academy of this city.

Pascual Cutinich will marry one of his two week relatives of the wife of J. B. Badaracco. On the evening that he is married he will give a grand show out to his many friends in this city.

Mrs. C. H. LeRoy and Miss May H. Kelly, of Reading, Pa., were guests of the San Felipe last night. They will go out to the Government Indian school, where they accept positions as teachers.

Lloyd Hope, who has been bookkeeper and chief clerk at the real estate office of F. H. Kent, has resigned his position and will go to Jemez hot springs to recuperate. C. H. Kimball is now Mr. Kent's right hand boxer.

The Armijo block on Railroad avenue will be three stories in height, and more than twice the size of the Commercial Club building. It will be built of Flagstaff redstone, and will be the finest building in the territory.

Rev. Robt. Colman and family of this city will soon locate at Flagstaff, Arizona. Mr. Colman will take the position of pastor of the Presbyterian church of that place. He is a good man and a worker in church matters.

John Schofield, of the firm of J. W. Schofield & Co., general agents for the Equitable Life and Standard Accident Insurance companies for New Mexico, is in the city to-day at the Armijo. Judge W. T. Thornton, mayor of the ancient capital, was in the metropolis yesterday.

This wet and cold weather is extremely bad for rheumatic inclined people and a number are suffering. Frank Waugh, the tourist for Gross, Blackwell & Co., is on crutches, his left foot and leg being badly swollen from rheumatism. He will go up to the Las Vegas hot springs for a few days.

Mrs. A. Singer, wife of the commercial tourist for Mandell Bros. & Co., received a despatch Saturday that her mother was dying at Walsenburg, Col. Mr. Singer was at Angel, and on being notified came up the road and with his wife took the midnight train Saturday for the scene of sickness.

Hon. T. B. Catron, the brainy republican lawyer and politician of Santa Fe, who has recently returned from the east and while in St. Louis said some nice things about New Mexico in an interview published in the Globe-Democrat, came down from Santa Fe last night and is registered at the Armijo. He is here to consult with some of our attorneys about certain legal matters.

Yesterday afternoon the plasterers and plumbers, calling themselves the "Never Sweets," and the bricklayers, known as the "Whisky Leaks," played a match game of base ball on the brewery grounds and the former won by the score of 10 to 9. George Lightfoot captained the plasterers, while Joe Hackett looked after the welfare of the bricklayers. Next Sunday the two clubs will play again.

R. M. Barbour, a member of the school board of the city, will soon leave to accept a position with the smelter company at Monterey, Mexico, over which T. S. Austin will be manager. Mrs. Barbour and her sister, Miss Ida Lockhart, are at present in the east visiting, but on their arrival home Mr. Barbour will dispose of his household effects, rent out his pleasant cottage on the Highlands, and be ready to go to Mexico. The gentleman is one of Albuquerque's popular and rising young men, and it was through his valuable assistance that the late territorial fair was such a grand success, he filling the position of assistant secretary with ability and credit. The best wishes of the Citizens will accompany Mr. and Mrs. Barbour to their new home.

J. W. Ryan, of this city, has refused an offer of $50,000 for his Cripple Creek mine in Colorado. He expects to go to Colorado in a few days, and while there will probably sell his valuable mine. Mr. Ryan is a brakeman on the Atlantic & Pacific, and about six months ago located the above claim, doing considerable work on it before coming to this city.

L. W. Sours, who has been the efficient cashier at the office of the Wells Fargo Express company, this city, since February 23, 1901, left last night for San Luis Potosi, Mexico, to accept the position of agent for the Mexican National Express company at that place. On coming to this city Mr. Sours was money clerk for the Wells Fargo company, at the state line between Kansas and Missouri. He is a bright young man, familiar with the Spanish language, and will succeed at San Luis Potosi.

Changed Hands.

This morning the well-known Armijo house changed hands. George H. Miles, an old hotel keeper of many years' experience assuming the management, and Henry Lockhart, referring to W. H. Burke, one of the old employees, has been retained and with Edward L. Lewis will operate at the bar. A. W. Kuchinski is the popular clerk, and Samuel Barister, who is expected from California, will assist him. Deacon Sanford, who undoubtedly the finest caterer in the southwest, will oversee and have charge of the kitchen and dining room, and in connection with regular meals will also serve short orders. Mr. Miles is an old soldier and was in the Andersonville prison during the war. He was also confined in the Confederate prison at Florence, South Carolina. He served with the Fourth Michigan cavalry, coming with a large number from Flint, Mich. He has kept hotels in the United States, Canada and Mexico, and therefore knows the business from the ground floor to the garret. The Citizens bespeaks a good trade for the Armijo under the new management.

Mr. and Mrs. Lockhart, who have been coasting carried on the Armijo for the past year, and who will no doubt again enter the same business here in a few months, will locate for the time being in their residence on the mesa.

A Mexican Suicide.

Miguel Hernandez, a Mexican residing at Park City, near Socorro, committed suicide the other day. From a letter received by a relative residing in town, it is learned that for several days before Hernandez committed the rash deed he acted queerly and appeared morose and sullen. It was remarked by several of his neighbors that there was something radically wrong about the man, but no one thought for a moment that he had entertained self destruction. On the morning he concluded to take his own life, so the letter states, he crossed a river, and the usual noises around the house, and when his breakfast of chili con carne and tortillas was announced he sat down and ate heartily. When through he got up from the table and on going outside, where no doubt he had concealed a Winchester, he placed the rifle to his head, managed to pull the trigger, and the whole upper portion of head was blown off. The shot was heard by his family, but when they arrived at the unfortunate man he was dead. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict of self destruction.

Lions Harnessed to Chariots and Racing.

The most noted lion trainers this country has ever produced up to the present time, were the famous Van Amburg and Herr Driesbach. Both died years ago, and are only remembered by those now past middle life. Both achieved world wide fame; but nothing that either of these two celebrities ever accomplished in the way of lion training, can compare in daring and marvelousness with the performance given by Colonel Boone and his horde of liberated lions.

Herr does not perform his lions in a cage where the animals can be controlled by fear and are forced to execute certain routine acts, as was the case with the old lion trainers. He gives his lions, five in number, their entire freedom; the savage and blood thirsty monsters are let loose in the circus ring, completely filling it, and in entering the arena, accompanied by the beautiful and brave little lion queen, Carlotta, and the magnificent patrol dog, "Saxon," these liberated lions are made to dance, perform, balance, leap, and are harnessed to chariots, and engage in spirited races. There are educated lions in every corner of the world, and with myriad other novel features, can be seen in the Adam Forepaugh Shows, which are to exhibit at Albuquerque, on Wednesday, October 7.

A Chinaman's Touch.

A comical sight was witnessed by a crowd of men and boys last night. A Chinaman was persuaded to put his hand on the electric wire on the pole at the corner of Railroad avenue and Third street, and his antics, even his misery, which followed, caused much merriment to the crowd. The electricity evidently settled in his legs and feet, for he started to dancing and kept up a lively rattle for several seconds, at the same time exclaiming: "Mehon man meen he kill Chinaman." Finally he quit dancing and ran down Third street as fast as possible.

Attempted Assassination.

Last Saturday evening an attempt was made to assassinate T. L. Reber, the soda water man. He was in bed asleep in his residence on North First street, when a revolver was pushed through a knot hole in the door and a shot fired into the room. The bullet struck a vase, else it would have reached Mr. Reber. He cannot account for the dastardly attempt.

HIGH FOR LIBERTY.

Prisoners Lewis and Day Make a Break Day Shot.

Last night, about 7:30 o'clock, there was considerable commotion in and around the county jail. Cresenciano Luero, a son of the jailer, who officiates as guard, unlocked the big iron doors leading into the corridor around the cage and ordered all the prisoners, about twenty in number, into their cells. He then asked if all were in, and received a reply "Yes." James Lewis, who was recently arrested for passing counterfeit money in the city and sent over to the jail to wait the action of the next grand jury, and Day, a Gallup prisoner incarcerated for stealing hay from the government at Fort Wingate, were still in the corridor at the back of the cage, and when Luero turned around to go out, they rapidly ran for the door and through the house out into the yard. Luero at once realized his position, and followed the two fleeing prisoners, whom he saw scaling the fence. He fired three shots, and Day tumbled on the outside shot through the fleshy part of his thigh. He was recaptured and placed in his cell again. Lewis, the counterfeiter, escaped the bullets and is still at large, although Under Sheriff Garcia, who was soon afterwards informed of the escape, had a posse out securing the old token, but without avail. Last night was extremely dark, a favorable night for a desperate prisoner to make good his escape, and Lewis took advantage of it. It is fortunate for Luero, who it is claimed, is entirely too loose with the prisoners, that he was not overpowered, his pistol taken from him and the whole lot of prisoners turned loose. The wound which Day received is a slight character and will soon heal.

When the new first reached new town it was estimated that there were three prisoners who escaped. Ed. Hunkler, Louis Meyers, the prize fighter, and his trainer Frank Rothwell, and that the latter got away entirely, but that Barker had received a death wound. The Citizens must then started out to investigate, and found that Nelson Shannon, the inmate of the Maroon base ball club, was the cause of exaggerating the escape.

(From the Daily, Sept. 26.)

D. L. Shipley, the Navajo agent, and H. C. Adams are registered at the Armijo from Fort Defiance.

The lower floor of the European is being neatly laid with fine linoleum. Turin is doing the job.

N. C. Collier and O. M. Matron have formed a law partnership. They will make a strong legal firm.

The people of Las Vegas tendered a banquet to Hon. T. M. Patterson last Saturday evening. It was a well arranged affair.

The workmen are busy this morning laying up the walls of the Peyton building on First street. Edward Dodd has the contract for the brick work.

Alex. Bowie, manager of the Caledonia mine at Gallup and also a member of the board of trustees of that town, came in from the west last night, and is at the Armijo.

The Citizens understands that J. P. Collingsworth, who has established for himself a reputation that few men desire to have, as in the restaurant business at Raton and doing well.

E. W. Drakely has been transferred as postal agent from the run between Albuquerque and Mahavee to that between Albuquerque and Los Angeles, and will move his family to the latter city this evening.

Yesterday, about noon, there was born to Mrs. Jacob Gansley a fine healthy girl baby, and Papa Jake is one of the happiest citizens of the metropolis. Numerous friends are congratulating him to-day.

Miss Caroline Meleher is building a new brick dwelling between Second and Third streets, on Stover avenue, of five rooms, bath room, etc. The house costs fifteen hundred dollars and is being built by William Jenne.

Martin Quintana, who was recently elected marshal of Santa Fe, but not liking the position, resigned a few weeks afterward, came down from the territorial capital last night, and will probably locate himself at the Armijo.

Harry Seher was out across the face and disfigured for life last week by a Cholov Indian at Yuma, for refusing to give the Indian a match. Although having the same surname, Harry is no relative of George Seher, of this city.

The Armijo, under the new management, starts out finely. Jefferson Raynolds, of Las Vegas, speaks in praise of Mr. Miles as a first class hotel keeper, a perfect gentleman, and one who has good words for everybody. It is the opinion of many that the Armijo will be a blessing under the management of Mr. Miles.

A wealthy mining man of southwest New Mexico has offered to place the bonds for a mammoth smelter in Albuquerque if this city will take $25,000 thereof. He promises to have two stacks in blast within a year. It is possible Kingman and Prescott, Arizona, would like to be represented in the enterprise. Push it ahead.

Lewis, the counterfeiter, who escaped from the county jail Sunday evening, is still at large. The officers believe they have a clue to his present whereabouts. It is learned that when he scaled the jail fence he turned to his right and crossed the bridge over into Arago. He continued down the west side of the river that night and took a train at Isleta for the south or west. Lewis is a slick scoundrel, a complete and almost perfect counterfeiter, and it is regretted that he was the lucky one to escape.

Billy C. Burton, whose home for the past two years has been the entire universe—here to-day and a hundred miles away to-morrow—came in from the west last night and has his name on the Army register. About two years ago he conducted a saloon and restaurant in Santa Fe, but since that time he has visited all the royal courts of the world and appeared before the crown heads as the smallest man in America to go through four years of civil warfare. He thence seriously of setting in the metropolitan, claiming that this is the liveliest and most prosperous looking place he has visited in two years' travel.

Post Commander Denham, of the Grand Army post, No. 5, has received from Washington four head stones for the following comrades: Chas. Beach, Co. F, First California infantry; J. E. Murphy, hospital steward, western department of the United States army; Andrew Aschew, Company D, First New Mexico infantry, and one sent to Barrow, of whom the post commander failed to get the name. The first two names are buried in Fairview cemetery, while the bones of Andrew Aschew, in the little Mexican cemetery, alongside of the remains of Capt. William Ayres, on the north high table. Tomorrow night the local veterans will meet at Justice Denham's office, for the purpose of formally securing the head stones and to transact other business.

Jefferson Raynolds, the banker, one of the delegates from Las Vegas to the recent national convention at El Paso, came up from the south last night and is registered at the San Felipe. Mr. Raynolds is interested in the Percha bank at Kingman, which W. Zeigler and on his way north he stopped over at Kingman for a few days. He reports the mines in and around Kingman, in fine condition and producing ore to the satisfaction of the workers. He also stated that all Kingman was rejoicing over the completion of the metal and reduction works, and said that the large smelter would be ready for active operation by October 1.

Reid Bowman, who conducts a boarding house at the San Lazaro mine, San Pedro, and Miss Martha Boston, of Bernalillo, are spending for a few weeks at the James hot springs. Mr. Bowman has fairly well for a bad case of rheumatism.

The petrifol forest north of Hightbrook, Arizona, is attracting considerable attention. A gentleman has shipped quite a quantity of this wood from Hightbrook to Manitou Springs, Colorado.

ARTESIAN WATER.

What a Prominent Well-bore Thinks of the Prospect Here.

Mr. G. B. Barman, a successful artisan well borer from Cheyenne, who has numerous flowing wells in the northwest, arrived in town last night by invitation of the Commercial club, and expects to meet the gentlemen of that organization this evening to talk business with regard to sinking an artesian well at this place.

In conversation with a representative of the Citizens this morning Mr. Barman stated that the indications here are all of the most favorable character, and that he did not think it would be necessary to go down more than two hundred feet at any point in the valley to get water that would flow over the surface. He says he has been in the business so long, and has had so much experience in boring wells in different parts of the country, that he is able to tell in almost every instance how far he will have to go to strike water. He does not give any encouragement with regard to getting flowing water on the mesa directly east of town, but in the valley there is no question of the fact that it can be had anywhere at less than three hundred feet. And he is of the opinion that flowing water can be had at a moderate depth on the mesa south of the Tigras canon. That, however, he says is only a guess, but with regard to the valley he is positive.

He brought with him a machine, which is now at Los Cruces, for boring short distance wells—down to even hundred feet—and his deep well machine is in Wyoming, but it costs so much to transport it that he could not afford to bring it with him for experimental work. He tells like a man who thoroughly understands his business, and if the people of Albuquerque deal with him we believe we shall have a flowing well at this point in a very short time.

Prisoners in Jail.

The October term of the United States and district courts of Bernalillo county will convene at the court house next Monday morning, and the criminal and civil dockets are large. Judge Lee will hold the evening session on an exceedingly active and lively one, but he will demonstrate his ability to cope successfully with all cases brought before him.

The county jail is well filled with prisoners—some who have been indicted by former grand juries and are waiting trial, others incarcerated pending the investigation and result of the approaching grand jury, and others are serving out short sentences. The list is as follows:

Bad Luckwood, Gallup, disturbing the peace; Francisco Garcia, Arizono, larceny; Nestor Gonzales, Bernalillo, murder; Teddie Torres, Lancy Joseph Hamilton, Gallup, grand larceny; Eugene Arnes, larceny; Clarence Lane, Gallup, robbery; Sam. M. Carter, assaulting with intent to kill; Bonifacio Sena, asault, assault, days, Oct. 25; H. H. Curtis, theft; C. H. Jackson, maylorn; James Dillon, Gallup, vagrancy, sixty days, Oct. 21; Ed. Barker, larceny; Eleuterio Lemus, petit larceny, thirty days, Oct. 31; Louis Bishop, assault and battery, thirty days, Oct. 14; Frank Rothwell and Louis Meyers, grand larceny; Juan Herrera, petit larceny, fifty five days from Sept. 21.

The above list constitutes territorial prisoners. The following are the United States culprits:

Francisco Esquivel, selling liquor to Indians; Thomas Sanders and E. M. Day, stealing from the government at Fort Wingate; Miss Felipa Sanchez de Montoya and her paramour, Juan Hueto, adultery.

The New Mexican asserts that there are 5,000 dogs in Santa Fe, and only two are licensed.

RAILROAD NEWS.

The Texasiana & Fort Smith railroad company will, it is stated, increase its paid up stock to $4,000,000.

Messrs. Gardner & Gillies will ship five thousand head of cattle from their Apache country ranch next month.

James Hovey, who has lived in Santa Fe all his life, is here to take a position in the Atlantic & Pacific car shops.

Flagstaff and Gallup are the two best towns on the Atlantic & Pacific road between Albuquerque and Los Angeles.

R. M. Redfield, engineer on the Lake Valley branch, is laying off. The engine is at the San Marcial shops for repairs.

The Southern Pacific employee at Tucson have petitioned the company to appoint Dr. Goodfellow local physician and surgeon.

W. H. Matson, traveling auditor for the Santa Fe in the southwestern country, is at the San Felipe, coming down from the north last night.

Thomas Jacobs, who holds a position as fireman on the Atlantic & Pacific from Albuquerque west, is spending a few days with Flagstaff friends.

Daniel Morris, freight conductor on the Little Miami division of the Pennsylvania system, is rustproofing in the mountains that environ Las Vegas.

W. C. Skeen, an old railroad construction man, is here from the Zuni mountains, and when joined by his family will make his future home in the Mitchell Bros' country.

The Prescott Courier is making lively railroad talk through its columns, and believes that several lines will be constructed in that territory before the next tax season rolls by.

An engineering corps with it is understood, he shortly placed in the field to survey the extension of the Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe railway (office, Galveston) from Cloburne towards the south-west.

The Citizens is pleased to learn that W. C. McCormick, the brakeman, is not confined to his room with a stroke of paralysis, but he is suffering with rheumatism. He will be up and all right in a few days.

James Carroll, a tramp, stealing a ride on the passenger train going west, fell from a brake beam near Prescott Junction one day last week and both legs were severed from his body. He died a few hours later.

Chas. Starr, one of the best known railroad men in Mexico, late superintendent of the Mexican National Construction company at Colima, was married a few days ago to Miss Maggie Haines, of Louisville, Ky.

Says the San Marcial Reporter: Major F. T. Berry has every reason to feel proud of the Albuquerque Guards. Although he is now on the governor's staff, he still takes as much interest in the organization as when he was its commanding officer.

J. H. Ward, the railroad contractor, came down from Las Vegas last night, and will be at the San Felipe during the day. He was going out west, but will return to Las Vegas this evening in order to attend a meeting of the water works company there to-morrow night.

President Marvel, of the Santa Fe, who is now on his way over the Atlantic & Pacific, states that the business of his road during the year had been good; the increase over last year satisfactory, and the prospects for the ensuing year were better than they had ever been before.

The San Juan County Index says: It is stated on the best authority that Major Hanna has gone east to place the bonds of his Cortez & Gallup railroad, with every prospect for success in the negotiation. If successful construction will begin immediately and the road pushed to a very speedy completion, insuring Junction City and San Juan county rail communication with the outside world.

New Mining Works.

Kingston, the prosperous mining town of Sierra county, is rejoicing over the metal and reduction works there, and the shaft of that place contains the following account:

Little Miss Elmer Campbell, the four-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, pulls the cord which proclaims to the world that the new Kingston Metal and Reduction Works company have come to stay. Tuesday, the 15th, Wm. Kemp, the general manager of the new smelting company, in getting the machinery in proper condition for work, thought it best to see how smoothly it would run, put on steam and started it up, having the sweet little daughter of Mr. Campbell, the manager and builder, pull the whistle valve to let the people of Kingston know that they were progressing favorably with the completion of the general works.

It was a happy occasion, and the little miss did her duty well, proclaiming to the world through a thousand throats, as it were, as the wheels revolved from hill to valley, that Kingston's day dawn was coming.

The smelter, we are informed, will blow in on one or about the first of October. The company has been delayed very much by the slow manner of getting material and machinery, a number of needed supplies being on the road for more than a month, not having arrived up to date.

Messrs. Kemp and Campbell are well known in central New Mexico, formerly employed by the Copper company at San Pedro for several years. They understand their business, especially Mr. Kemp, who is an old practical Colorado miner. Mr. Campbell was a resident of Albuquerque several years ago.

Remember the base ball meeting at the Hooks this evening. The local club have two propositions to consider—that of visiting El Paso or making some arrangements for the champion club of that city to visit Albuquerque. Let all playing members of the Maroons, with their friends, attend the meeting.

G. D. James, of Colorado Springs, Col., M. W. Chollar and John D. Chollar, of Maryland; and W. A. Wilson, of El Paso, were the latest callers yesterday at the Commercial club rooms.

The Albuquerque band held a practice meeting last evening.

The first thing now on the program for this city is the artesian well.

The Commercial club building will be ready for a grand Christmas house warming.

Mrs. Katherine Patterson has completed her cozy residence and is moving in to it today.

C. S. Bahney, of Socorro, is in Kansas City, where he will probably shoot several matches at live birds.

Strong & Heeselder will send a large force of men next week to work on the school of mines building.

Gov. Prince has appointed Mr. P. Stamm a commissioner to the Sioux City corn palace exhibition.

Eugenio Romero, a prominent politician of San Miguel county, is in the city, coming down from Las Vegas last night.

Mrs. Alice Moore McCormack and daughter, of Los Angeles, will go east to-night after a pleasant visit with friends in the city.

Matias Contreras, an ex-county commissioner of Socorro county, came up from La Jolla last night and is at the Armujo.

The historic government "palace" at Santa Fe is to be repaired. See notice elsewhere in this paper asking for proposals.

W. H. Cook, of Los Angeles; Sam M. Rowe, of Topeka, and G. B. Harlan, of Cheyenne, registered last evening at the Commercial club rooms.

Miss Susie Forrester will spend the winter with friends in Tennessee. On her way east she stopped yesterday to visit a schoolmate at Las Vegas.

William K. Peck, Sam Wilson, William Dietz, Gus Wade and John Ryan, the third advanced brigade of 4th's shows to visit the city, are here today.

Judge H. L. Warren is at Washington, where he will conduct the settlers' side of the celebrated Ortiz grant case before the supreme court. The case is set for October 26.

C. G. Cutler, of San Francisco, who has been in southern New Mexico looking up a cattle range, is at the San Felipe. He reports the cattle of the section visited in poor condition.

Some person or persons entered the stable of J. D. May last night and stole the lines, collars and bridles, leaving the balance of his harness behind. There is more petty stealing going on now than for some time.

Build up your town. Life is too short to spend it sitting around on boxes predicting ruin to every enterprise, and growing about hard times. You never saw this kind of a fellow out something was going wrong with him.

Cade Selvy, town marshal of Gallup, brought to the county jail, on this morning's passenger train from the west, William Welsh, who is sent up for ninety days by Justice Maloney. The other night a passenger on the east-bound train, coming into the city, during the stop of the train at Gallup, left the depot and went over to a store across the street for something. Welsh laid in wait for him and when he emerged from the store assaulted the passenger with a brick, striking him across the head. Welsh had never seen the man before, did not know him, had no provocation for the deed, and therefore committed the act from pure curiosity. Justice Maloney thought he should serve out a sentence and sent him up for ninety days. There are some people in Gallup who are inclined to believe that Welsh is unbalanced in his mind.

Commercial Club Meeting.

The Commercial club met in called session last evening, being called to order by President Childers, and the following members present: Messrs. Kuhns, Meyler, Heeselder, Walton, Lee, Weaver, Bruner, Nichols, Secor, Barbour, Garcia, Rolley, Folson, Bullock, Llewellyn, Albright, Keen, Schoolcraft and Burke.

Mr. Llewellyn made a statement in regard to Mr. Bariani, the artesian well borer, stating that he was in every way and respect responsible, and could be relied upon to carry out any contract he might enter into.

Mr. Bariani, on being called, spoke briefly in regard to his work and what he proposed to do.

On motion of Mr. Burke, a committee of five was appointed, with power to act, to deal with Mr. Bariani, or any other artesian well man. The committee as appointed by the chairman consists of Messrs. Burke, Lee, Rolley, Secor and Meyler.

On motion, the club adjourned.

Another Attempt.

Last night, between the hours of 11 and 12 o'clock, so Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Reber state, some person fired a shot through their frame house on north First street, the bullet passing through the inside board, and then through the head board of their bed. The hole is there, looks as if the bullet came from a large calibre revolver, and that the person first put his weapon through a knot hole in the outside board and fired, the ball ranging from the northeast. Last night, fortunately, Mr. and Mrs. Reber made their bed on the floor and slept there, for had they been sleeping in the bed and the assassin aware of the fact, the Citizens today would have to chronicle a midnight murder of one or the other instead of telling the people of another attempt to assassinate the gentleman and his wife. On being questioned by the reporter, Mr. Reber stated that he and his wife heard two shots, and that they came from some person on the northeast side of their house, but being frightened, from the fact that a shot was fired into their house last Saturday night, they had perfectly quiet and did not investigate until this morning, meeting with the above results. They cannot imagine who has it in for them. Mr. Reber is here to soon engage in the soon water business.

Mrs. Anna Scherell, who lives within fifteen yards of the place, states that she did not retire until about 12 o'clock last night and that she heard no shots.

If any person has designs upon the life of Mr. Reber or his wife they are surely taking a very unbecoming manner in which to avenge their wrongs. Let them come out and make known their grievances.

The police should clearly investigate into the shooting.

Circular Letter.

The secretary of the committee on promotion, having in charge the forwarding of the work of the recent railroad convention at Albuquerque, is sending out the following circular letter:

Santa Fe, N. M., Sept. 25, 1911.

Dear Sir: At a meeting of the above committee held in Albuquerque on the 15th inst., under the power vested in it by the resolutions adopted by the convention, you were selected unanimously as the best person in your locality to forward the desired information, and the committee would urge upon you the necessity of acting at once and sending as soon as possible to the secretary all the information you have upon the following points:

1. What is your idea of the route the proposed railroad should take, giving your reasons.

2. What resources you now have developed or in process of development for railroad traffic, giving amount.

3. What undeveloped resources would be made available by the construction of such road.

4. What inducements your locality will offer for the construction of such railroad in cash, bonds, right of way, depot grounds, land, etc.

From the replies received to the above questions the committee will be able to prepare statistics for a report to the convention which meets November 20th, and the answers should be in not later than November 1st. It has been thought best not to hamper you with any limits, but to leave you entire freedom in answering the questions asked.

For the good of the whole territory, and your locality in particular, it is hoped you will give this matter your prompt and careful attention, and reply to the undersigned.

Very respectfully,
E. L. Bickert,
Sec'y Central Com. of Seven.

He Prefers Albuquerque.

Good natured, happy Charlie Powers, the flower of the theatrical aggregation of this city, who for nine months has been wandering throughout the country, living and enjoying to his heart's content the interest on the money he earned in the New Mexico metropolis, returned to his "first love" yesterday and shook hands with his friends at the Citizens' office. "I have gambled on the Texas prairie with the horned frog, visited all the cities and towns of that immense state, have basked in the sunshine and slept under the magnolia trees of the south, passed through and stopped for a few days in the principal cities of the land of Dixie, have tarried with friends in the metropolitan cities of the east, and have used my dental formation to masticate the stubborn sinners of a northwestern state, but," remarked Mr. Powers, "I prefer Albuquerque to all and have come back to make this city my future home." He is like many who have left the genial, pleasant climate of the Rio Grande valley and the prosperous city of Albuquerque, they all come back.

Her Presence not Needed.

Maud Drew, the disreputable street walker and common prostitute, who was picked up on First street last night, drunk, the other morning and lodged in the city jail, is back again after being sent away from the city on her sobering up. She arrived from the north last night, secured a back and gave orders for the driver to take her a spin around the town. She stopped at a well known resort, made a rush for the bar, called for a drink of whisky and with one swallow drank a wine glass full of "red eye."

She made some money while away, but the same dirty, greasy calico dress, with the same filthy straw hat, still covers her person. She should be kept out of sight of decent people as soon as she makes her appearance on the streets. She came her from El Paso, and El Paso is requested to send for her.

A Land Grant Case.

Messrs. Thornton and Cliney appeared before Judge Lee at Los Lunas on Monday in behalf of the owners of the Nicolas Duran de Chavez land grant against Barbara Sanchez. The latter made a homestead entry within the boundaries of the grant and received a government patent therefor. The grant owners brought a suit in ejectment, and Mr. Tipton, of the surveyor general's office, was called upon to give testimony respecting the grant and its approval by a surveyor general years ago. Judge Lee, however, held that the government patent was superior to the grant claim and affirmed the right of the homesteaders to hold 100 acres. This decision, it is said, is no wise effects the status of the grant. New Mexican.

Capt. W. A. Abbott, who has long been with Messrs. Perovai & Hutton, real estate and insurance brokers, Des Moines, Iowa, and is one of the best known and most respected business men in that city, says: "I can testify to the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Having used it in my family for the past eight years, I can safely say it has no equal for either colds or croup."

CHAMPIONS VS. CHAMPIONS.

The Maroons Likely to Tussle with the El Paso Browns.

The final ball meeting last evening, to decide whether to visit El Paso or invite the Browns of that city to visit here, was largely attended and each and every member spoke his say, showing the utmost harmony in the club and the greatest enthusiasm.

Yesterday the home grounds were examined and it was concluded that since the gun tournament it would take several weeks and the expenditure of considerable money to put the ground in any kind of condition to receive successfully with such a strong aggregation of players as compose the El Paso team, and therefore was out of the question to make the El Paso club a proposition to come here.

The gun club put up a large portion of the diamond field, where their traps were set, broken clay birds and numerous empty shells are scattered promiscuously over the field, and the life of a ball player, attempting to play on the home grounds in the condition left by the gun tournament, would be most miserable indeed.

After much discussion, pro and con, it was finally decided to make terms to the El Paso club to visit them, and play two games in the Paso City on Saturday and Sunday afternoon, Oct. 10 and 11, and acting upon the power vested in him, the manager of the Maroons last evening named to Manager Jones, of the El Paso Browns, the terms on which the champions of New Mexico and Arizona would visit them. An answer is expected in a few days.

A large number of our citizens have signified their intention of supporting the Maroons to El Paso should their terms be accepted.

From the Daily, Oct. 1.

J. M. Taylor, assistant manager of El Paso, is in the city.

Judge H. B. Hamilton, of Socorro, was in the city yesterday on legal business.

Hon. M. S. Otero did a good day's work yesterday in favor of the bridge bonds.

Mrs. J. Edward Priest and the children will leave this evening for Santa Fe to visit relatives.

The Presbyterian synod of New Mexico will be held in Las Vegas from October 1st to the 10th.

James Broder has opened up a barber shop at the Windsor and says he is doing a good business.

E. W. Parker and wife, of White Oaks, are in the city. Mr. Parker scowls some valuable notices in and around White Oaks.

Court Sawyer at Los Lunas and Judge Lewis and the attorneys have returned to the city. Court will convene here next Monday.

John H. Harding and Mattie E. Kelley, of Chicago, were married this morning at the Presbyterian parsonage by Rev. T. C. Beattie.

Fred Simons, traveler for St. Joseph, Mo., wholesale liquor house, came down from the north last night and is registered at the Armujo.

Carl Holton, claim adjuster on the Atlantic & Pacific, is suffering greatly with kidney complaint. He has to hobble along with the aid of a cane.

Passengers who came in by this morning's train state that the rain of yesterday afternoon was one of the heaviest ever known in northern New Mexico.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Rio Grande Irrigation and Colonization company will be held in Albuquerque on the 17th day of October.

Miss Emma Peters, a lady printer from Michigan, who has been in Arizona for several months, came in from the west last night and is here today. The lady carries a Typographical Union card.

Two of the California gentlemen who came over to see the fair have been so favorably impressed with the appearance and prospects of Albuquerque that they have located here and bought property.

At Bernadillo a small vote was cast yesterday, all being in favor of the bonds. This shows that the rumors in circulation yesterday afternoon that Bernadillo was opposing the bonds was entirely false.

Hon. Trinidad Romero, United States marshal for New Mexico, came up from Socorro last night, and is at the San Felipe. He is here to arrange for the opening of the United States court next Monday.

All arrangements have been made for securing an instructor in military practice at the agricultural college at Las Cruces, and at an early date an officer of the U. S. army will be detailed for that purpose.

Mrs. M. B. Bowman, who accompanied the remains of her husband to Plain Well, Mich., for burial, has returned and will settle up his affairs here. Her children were left in Michigan, and she will return there as soon as possible.

W. J. Maxwell, M. D., a prominent physician of Toronto, Canada, was here yesterday. It is surmised that the gentleman desires to leave his cold home and seek a much pleasanter climate. He will likely locate somewhere in New Mexico.

Mrs. Susan Porter, aged 90 years, widow of the late Cutter Porter, died at her residence near the government Indian school last evening. Her funeral took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock, and her remains were laid away in Fairview cemetery.

Mrs. D. L. Dodson, whose husband has been very sick here for some weeks, arrived from Chicago this morning to take her place beside the bed of her sick husband. She has telegraphed to Dallas, Texas, for a brother of Mr. Dodson's who will probably arrive here to-morrow or the day after.

In a note to C. O'Connor Roberts, Prof. Longmeyer states that the executive committee have fixed upon December 15, at 9 o'clock a. m. as the time for the opening of the miners' congress to be held in El Paso for the purpose of memorializing congress to repeal the Alien act and to pass favorable silver legislation. It will be the largest gathering of miners ever held in the southwest.

It is understood that E. A. Walker, the present clerk of the district court, at Santa Fe, appointed by Judge Whitehead, will soon resign that position and will return with his family to Albuquerque to reside. He will in all likelihood be succeeded by R. M. Gishorn, the present deputy clerk.

The Prescott Journal says: The final arrangements for the movement of troops from Whipple have been made, and they will leave Saturday morning. Two companies from the Arizona troops will leave that day for the four companies will meet at Albuquerque and proceed to their destination together.

It has been suggested that when arrangements are made for a large experimental well, the work be done on the premises of the person who will pay the most for it. That is a good idea. If a good flow of water is struck the well will be valuable, and any one using much water can afford to give a good sum for the chance.

Miss Emma Bertram, who was visiting with Ed. Torina and family, recovered word last evening that her brother, Harry Bertram, was lying at the point of death in St. Louis. She left on the midnight train accompanied by Mrs. Torina and children. Harry Bertram worked for Mr. Torina last year, and has many friends in this city.

It is said that the Army. His assistant is E. L. Lewis, a young man from Trinidad, Chas. McNeely, the clerk under the old management of a first class hotel that would have been retained by Mr. Miles, but for certain rumors, not amounting to much, Mr. McNeely, however, has been forced to resign when the change was made.

Beginning at 5 o'clock on Friday evening and continuing until 10 o'clock Saturday evening will be the Jewish New Year or the feast of Rosh Hashonah. This will be the 2552 anniversary of the creation of the world according to the Jewish chronology. The Jews of this city will keep their stores closed for the twenty-four hours mentioned above, and proper services will be conducted.

Artesian Well News.

The artesian well committee of the Commercial club had a meeting at the club room last night, and adjourned to meet at the same place to-morrow evening. Mr. Bariani, the man with the wells being drilled, was expected to meet with the committee, but a letter was presented from him stating that he had been charged to go to Los Cruces to look after his machinery and could not be present, but was ready to go to work on a scale that point whenever the people should get ready for his services. The committee discussed the situation at some length and finally determined that the work ought to be undertaken in a business like way and with capital enough subscribed to have a deep well if necessary. Mr. Bariani, who is an expert, and claims to have never missed by more than a dozen feet in estimating the depth at which water could be had, is confident that a flowing well could be had here at a depth of not more than two hundred and fifty feet, but notwithstanding this the committee concluded that we ought to start the work with resources sufficient to have fifteen hundred feet at least, if necessary, and to this end it was resolved to organize a company with a capital stock of $10,000, with the shares at so low a price that everybody can afford to go into it, and by thus distributing the burden over the whole community it will not rest very heavily upon any one. Mr. Rodley, of the committee, was instructed to draw up the articles of incorporation, and the members of the committee paid in the amount necessary to cover the expense of transcribing and recording the papers. The articles will be submitted at the meeting of the committee to-morrow evening, and as soon as they are recorded in the secretary's office at Santa Fe the work of soliciting subscriptions to the capital stock will be commenced.

A Lady Lion Tamer.

Col. Boone, who is now in this country exhibiting his horde of performing lions, which perform free and unmuzzled in a circus ring, is accompanied by a female lion tamer, a "lion queen," as the show bills style her. Her name is Millie Carlotta. She is not over twenty years old, and is said to be as brave as she is beautiful. She enters the enclosure accompanied by her noble patrol dog, "Saxon," and to see her in the arena surrounded by half a dozen thousand-pound, lordly lions, directing their movements with as little apparent concern as if they were a lot of harmless cats, makes the spectator shudder for an instant. Col. Boone is authority for the statement that women are better adapted for performing with wild beasts than men. Be this as it may, we will not controvert the remark made by a lady, who upon hearing this statement of Col. Boone's suggested that this was a fact and that only a woman was capable of subjugating the most intractable of all animals—man.

Carlotta drives the lions harnessed to chariots, feeds them from her hand, makes them posture, dance, leap, play saw-saw, ride bicycles, and many other equally astonishing acts. This is one of the famous features of the famous Foranough show which is to exhibit here on Wednesday, October 7.

Bridge Bonds.

The bridge bonds carried by a large majority. In this city the majority is over 400. Barelas gave a majority of 88, and old town gave a small majority. In the country precincts the vote was very light and most of the people favored the building of the county bridges.

PARM VAN TASSEL.

The Mention of his Name Recalls the Fate of Joe Lawrence.

Parm Van Tassel, who is well known in this city, where he formerly conducted a saloon and brutally treated his wife, and on two occasions in years past, made a signal failure in his balloon ascensions, utterly disgusting the crowd, has had many adventures since leaving this city, as is aptly described in the following account from San Francisco:

No novelist ever imagined more adventures than have befallen Aeronaut Van Tassel in his three years in the orient. He was reported dead three times, but a letter received from him by an old friend says he is now on his way to Hong Kong, where he will make a balloon ascension for the London Graphic.

Van Tassel left this city less than three years ago on a tour around the world, carrying with him a balloon of 50,000 cubic feet capacity. Upon arriving at Haiphong, where he was to make a balloon ascension, he was told by a local agent that he was to be shot by a native, a half brother. Van Tassel escaped by a miracle from the sharks that swam in those waters, but his companion was devoured. The report came here that he was dead, and his wife brought suit for a divorce. Nothing was heard from the aeronaut until about a year ago, when a cable reported that he was killed by a fall from a parachute in Sumatra. He pulled the parachute, fragments of his form together and went to Celestia, where for the third time he met a shocking death. He is very much alive, however, and in a letter given an entertaining account of his travels. He made many ascensions and parachute jumps in New Zealand, Australia, Java, China, Manila, Japan and India. In Japan he made an ascension for the Yokohama and his court, and on one occasion the mikado and his prime minister went up 500 feet in the balloon, to which a rope was fastened. The mikado was so overcome by the novel experience that he made Van Tassel an offer to remain in Japan and make ascensions for eight years in Burmah and India. Traveling with him at the time were two pretty female parachute jumpers. Their charms caused two Hindoos of high degree, and both well-to-do, to travel by balloon with the mikado and his court, and from Bombay to Calcutta, 1,500 miles.

The last brother alluded to and who was devoured by sharks in the waters of the Bay of Honolulu was no half brother at all, but a very close friend, Joe Lawrence, who came to this city from Las Vegas, and after a bar for Charles Bonelli when he ran the Montezuma saloon a few years ago. Van never went up in that balloon. He was afraid, from all accounts received, and poor Joe Lawrence met the dreadful fate. The balloon became unmanageable from the high winds prevailing at the time and when the ship struck the water a thousand man-eating sharks surrounded it, and soon Joe Lawrence, with one gulp, disappeared down the throat of one of the large, hungry sharks.

R. N. Piper, a Santa Fe insurance man, is in the city.

B. P. Schuster, the Bernadillo merchant, is in the city today.

Sam Dietrich and T. J. Wright came up from Socorro last night.

Chas. Zenger spent last week at St. Johns, Apache county, Arizona.

Mrs. Felix Mandell and two children arrived from New York last night.

Chas. P. Hunt, the popular clerk of this district, visited Santa Fe yesterday.

C. D. Haney, who kept books for Chas. Pint, a Winslow, Arizona, merchant, is in the city.

E. Nussbaum, father of Mrs. Alfred Grunfeldt, will arrive this evening from Chicago, and remain several days.

John Arnzen and Dave Rudolph will leave today for Los Lunas, where they will hunt and fish for a few days.

The Highland Methodist church has bought a lot and will build a brick house this month, to be used for a parsonage.

Solomon Luna will ship this month from his Lunas ranch in Socorro county six thousand sheep to eastern markets.

J. C. Deane, the post trader at Fort Stanton, still lingers in our city, and is busy these days sending away important letters.

Judge H. L. Warren, the senior member of the law firm of Warren & Ferguson, is expected home from the east next Monday.

Mrs. M. W. Chollar, wife of Major Chollar, a friend of Major Donnelly, joined her husband here last night, arriving from the north.

County Surveyor Kibbourne will at once begin surveys and plans for the two free bridges to be constructed at Albuquerque and Corral.

Hon. W. S. Williams, of Socorro, and Tom Catron, of Santa Fe, came up from the south last night. Law and politics keep these gentlemen busy.

Hon. T. B. Catron, of Santa Fe, and Col. W. S. Williams, of Socorro, have made application for membership of the Albuquerque Commercial club.

The Rio Puerco, which usually hides itself beneath several feet of sand, is still bubbling, and ranchmen are unable to get across its treacherous banks.

B. C. Robertson, the Gold avenue groceryman, left last night on the receipt of news that his wife is sick in St. Louis, where she is visiting relatives and friends.

Mrs. Gov. and Mrs. Pitt Ross received a party of friends yesterday at their residence on the McCormack ranch south of the city, and a very sociable time was enjoyed.

The Guards will soon inaugurate a new order for social amusements. They intend to give a series of hops and other entertainments twice a month during the winter months.

A. Q. Carpenter and wife, health seekers from Chicago, are in the city. They have read of the mild winter climate of the Rio Grande valley, and will doubtless remain here during the cold months.
