BON FIRE IN HIS HONOR

This Morning Descended Trail Into Valley—Returns to Railroad Tonight.

Glacier Point, Calif., Oct. 9.—President Taft spent the night here in a rough board room overlooking the valley, after arriving just in time to see a magnificent sunset. A tremendous bonfire was lighted last night in his honor. This morning he descended the trail to the bottom of the valley, took lunch at the Sentinel hotel and will arrive at the railroad at El Portal tonight.

Will Get a Bridle at Albuquerque.

Albuquerque, N. M., Oct. 9.—A beautiful horsehair bridle heavily mounted with massive solid silver and set with turquoise; in short a triumph of the finest art of the Navajo Indian craftsmen has been completed and will be presented to President Taft on the occasion of his visit to this city October 15.

The bridle will be formally presented with a little speech by District Attorney George S. Klock. It is the gift of the citizens of Albuquerque through the Young Men's Republican Club of this city and is undoubtedly one of the most beautiful gifts the President will receive on his whole tour.

The bridle was made by the most skilled of the Navajo hair weavers, and silversmiths on the reservation, and took many weeks to complete. It bears a silver name plate at the top with the engraved initial "T." The bridle was placed on exhibition in the window of the J. H. O'Reilly and Company store yesterday and attracted much admiring attention.

Governor Campbell Reconsiders.

El Paso, Texas, Oct. 8.—After refusing to be present at the meeting of Presidents Taft and Diaz here next week, on the ground that President Taft had not included the state capital in his itinerary, Governor T. M. Campbell, telegraphed the committee last night that he would be present, arriving the day before the meeting. Much feeling had been aroused because of the governor's refusal to take the part assigned him by the state department of the two republics. All arrangements have already been made to receive him with the honors due his position.

Neat Present for Diaz.

El Paso, Texas, Oct. 9.—When President Diaz reaches Chihuahua on Wednesday on the way to meet Taft, he will be presented with an immense silver key of the city and with three silver cups containing wine, salt and water, emblematic of the conqueror.

SULTAN MAKES ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE

Seizes Workmen's Dirty Clothes and Skips

TYPICAL TURKISH STRATAGEM

Escapade Reads Like Chapter From Thousand and One Nights.

London, Oct. 9.—A special to the Telegraph from Belgrade says that Abdul Hamid, the deposed sultan of Turkey, attempted to escape from Villa prison at Salonika. Calling in a workman, he pretended to be disgusted with the man's dirty appearance and ordered him to take a bath. While bathing, the man's clothes were brought to Abdul who put them on and passed into the street. He was recognized by one of the guards and taken back.

BANDIT MAKES RICH HAUL FROM BANK.

HEARST WILL RUN FOR MAYOR

Assures Election of Other Republican Candidates

STRANGE POLITICAL TANGLE

Campaign in Manhattan Promises to Be Spectacular This Year.

New York, Oct. 9.—The amendment of William R. Hearst that he will be a candidate for Mayor of New York on the Civic Alliance ticket and his stipulation that the remainder of the candidates on the ticket be the same as those selected by the Republican Fusion ticket, is regarded as a combination on comptroller and borough presidents between the Hearst faction and the Republicans, it will give these candidates an excellent chance and as they with the president of the board of aldermen constitute a board of estimate which controls the finances of the city, the mayor is practically helpless if they are opposed to him. Hearst's candidacy is believed to increase the personal chances of Gaynor, the Tammany candidate, and decrease those of Bannard, the Republican candidate.

WILLIE BOY ENTRENCHED IN ROCKS

Militia Hurries to Aid of Sheriff's Party

MURDERER BARICADED

Bloody Battle Taking Place in Mojave Desert With Outlaws.

SEVENTEEN KILLED FORTY-THREE INJURED.

Casualties in Work Train Wreck on Santa Fe Near Topeka is Large.

Topeka, Kans., Oct. 9.—The list of dead in an accident to a work train now numbers seventeen, while forty-three are in the hospital.

The injured are all Mexicans and are at the Santa Fe hospital.

The work train was backing down from north of Meridian with fifty Mexicans riding on the flat car. As the train was rounding a curve the north-bound extra freight crashed into it.

Engineer Edward Ash and Fireman Joseph Corey, who were in charge of the engine on the freight train, jumped as soon as the air breaks could be set. The Mexicans were not aware of the danger until the engine and trainmen jumped and then it was too late for most of them. But about half the number managed to escape, but many of those escaped with injuries which may prove fatal.

The engine on the freight slid over the four flat cars comprising the work train and in this way fifteen Mexicans besides several section men who were in charge of the gang were pinned down and it was several hours before they were extricated.

It is supposed that the wreck was caused by the crew of the work train disregarding orders.

TIGERS TURNS TABLES ON PIRATES

Detroit Beats Pittsburgh by Score 7 to 2

IMMENSE CROWD PRESENT

Phenomenal Pitching by Wild Bill Donovan Wins Victory.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 9.—Detroit evened up in the second world's series today winning by a score of 7 to 2. Detroit batted Camnitz hard in the early innings and he was relieved by Willis in the third. Willis also was hit hard in the fifth, while Wild Bill Donovan was invincible except in the first when two baggers and a base on balls, netted the Pirates their only runs. He got better as the game went on and Pittsburg was helpless before his brilliant twirling. The feature of the game was Cobb's steal of home in the third inning, being safe by a marvelous slide.

Immense Crowd Sees Game.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 9.—Not a seat was vacant and the immense crowd spread over the edges of the outfield when the Pittsburg-Detroit teams began their second game in the world's series. Detroit warmed up well and showed no signs of the recurrence of the blow-up such as occurred in the fifth inning yesterday. Will Bill Donovan was slated to deliver the benders for Detroit with Sumers and Will left in reserve.

The Game By Innings.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 9.—Clarke selected Calm, the veteran, to twirl for the Pirates with Maddox and Willis ready to relieve. The lineup:

Detroit—D. Jones, 1. f.; Bush, s. s.; Cobb, r. f.; Crawford, c. f.; Delehanty, 2b.; Moriarty, 3b.; T. Jones, 1b.; Schmidt, c.; Donovan, p.

Pittsburg—Byrne, 3b.; Leach, c. f.; Clarke, 1. f.; Wagner, s. s.; Miller, 2b.; Abstein, 1b.; Wilson, r. f.; Gibson, c.; Camnitz, p.

Umpires—Evans and Kren.

First inning—D. Jones beat out in the field. He was sacrificed to second by Bush, out at third, when Cobb failed to hit on hit and run signal. No runs. Byrne walked. Leach doubled scoring Byrns. Clark sacrificed Leach to third. Miller drove home run after Wagner struck out, but only allowed two bags on ground rules. Leach scoring. Two runs.

Second inning—After Crawford and Delehanty out, Moriarty singled left. T. Jones singled right, sending Moriarty to third. Schmidt doubled center scoring Moriarty and Jones. Two runs. Pittsburg failed to score after Gibson walked and stole second.

Third inning—D. Jones reached first on Abstein's error. Bush singles, Cobb walks filling bases. None out. Crawford filed Clarke in short left. Jones not attempting to score. Delehanty singled, scoring Jones and Bush. Willis relieves Camnitz. Cobb stole home on first ball, Willis pitched Delehanty forced at third, Schmidt fielded out. Three runs. Pittsburg failed to score.

Fourth inning—No runs.

Fifth inning—Abstein makes great catch of Cobb's grounder. Crawford doubles, Delehanty walks, Moriarty flies out. T. Jones walks, Schmidt singles, scoring Crawford and Delehanty. Jones out at third. Two runs. Pittsburg fails to score.

Sixth inning—Detroit no runs. Wagner reached first on an error, second on out, but caught stealing third by Moriarty's great one-handed catch. No runs.

Seventh inning—Cobb gets first hit of series. Tries to take third on infield out and caught by double play. No runs.

Double play duplicated when Wilson tried to go to third on infield, out. No runs.

Eighth inning—Both sides out in order.

Ninth inning—Detroit out in order, Wagner beat out a bunt, stole second and went to third on an out, but died there. Score:

R. H. E.
Detroit 7 9 3

Batteries—Donovan and Schmidt; Camnitz, Willis and Gibson.

BEACON FIRES ALONG HUDSON

New York's Great Celebration Draws to Close

SPECTACULAR EVENT TONIGHT

Historic Spots Along Noble River Are to Be Illumined.

New York, Oct. 9.—The Hudson-Fulton celebration will be brought to a close tonight when two score beacon fires, each placed on a historic spot along the Hudson, from Albany to New York will be lighted. Each beacon is ninety feet in circumference composed of dry peat and will burn for six hours. It will be lighted at the same time by electricity when the button is pressed by General Stewart L. Woodford.

Ships Leave for Home.

New York, Oct. 9.—Three British armed cruisers and three French battleships which have been attending the Hudson-Fulton celebration, sailed for home last night, leaving behind a substantial number of their men. It was reported that 200 men from the British ships had failed to turn up for duty. Of the Frenchmen it was said that only three of the 2500 sailors had strayed. Fleet officers were left to search for the men of both squadrons.

Sir Edward Seymour will leave on the Inflexible today and it is probable his ship will try for a new transatlantic record on the run to Gibraltar.

Unconfirmed reports are that certain French officers were dissatisfied at the treatment they received during the Hudson-Fulton celebration. The French ships did not salute as they passed Governor's Island. The British, however, fired 21 guns.

Admiral Seymour went sightseeing today on a locomotive of the Twentieth Century Limited, on the New York Central. He had expressed a desire to see what an American locomotive could do. On clear stretch of track near Ossining, the pointer of the speed dial marked 84 miles an hour and the heavy train whisked over a mile of rail in a fraction less than 43 seconds.

The trip covered 47 miles. It was the outcome of a suggestion made to the admiral by J. Pierpont Morgan at one of the Hudson-Fulton functions last week.

ANIMATED MEETING OF BOARD OF TRADE

Step Toward Unifying Santa Fe Businessmen

ADDRESS BY HON. B. M. READ

Historic in Part It Also Pointed Out Need of Law Revision.

W. Frank Owen, Paul A. F. Walter and Frank F. Gormley, were last evening appointed by the Board of Trade as a committee to confer with a similar committee appointed by the Commercial Club to draft a basis for an agreement by which the two bodies may unite into one strong commercial organization. Two of the three members of the committee appointed by the Board of Trade are also members of the Commercial Club which indicates the willingness of the Board of Trade to arrive at some satisfactory arrangement which will unite Santa Fe's business interests.

The meeting of the Board of Trade was a very animated but harmonious one and a number of important subjects were informally discussed. B. M. Read presided, and Secretary J. A. Rolls, Treasurer Carl A. Bishop and Corresponding Secretary W. Frank Owen were at their posts of duty. The treasurer reported a balance of $50 in the treasury in addition to $26.50 in the tree planting fund. Within the next few weeks, he will make a systematic effort to collect the annual dues of $5 from the fifty members who are in good standing on the membership rolls. The corresponding secretary reported that he had answered 37 letters of inquiry since the last meeting last month and had succeeded in locating a family from the east at the Valley Ranch. Dr. J. A. Rolls, chairman of the tree planting committee, reported having made a very satisfactory arrangement with Superintendent J. W. Reynolds of the territorial penitentiary which will result in the planting of trees on Cerrillos road all the way from Montezuma avenue to the penitentiary next spring. The board ratified the agreement.

A committee was appointed to draft resolutions of praise for ex-Governor L. Bradford Prince and A. H. Brodhead for their services as president of the board.

S. B. Grimeshaw, T. Z. Winter, Charles C. Catron and J. W. Norment were admitted to membership.

W. Frank Owen was elected a member of the board of directors in place of A. H. Brodhead resigned. The feature of the evening was a brief but interesting address by Attorney B. M. Read on the necessity of law revision in New Mexico, it being the plan to have one such address at each meeting of the board, the address for next month's meeting to be by Superintendent of Public Instruction J. E. Clark on the feasibility of manual training in Santa Fe's public schools, and of the December meeting an address on the need of sanitation in Santa Fe by Dr. J. A. Rolls.

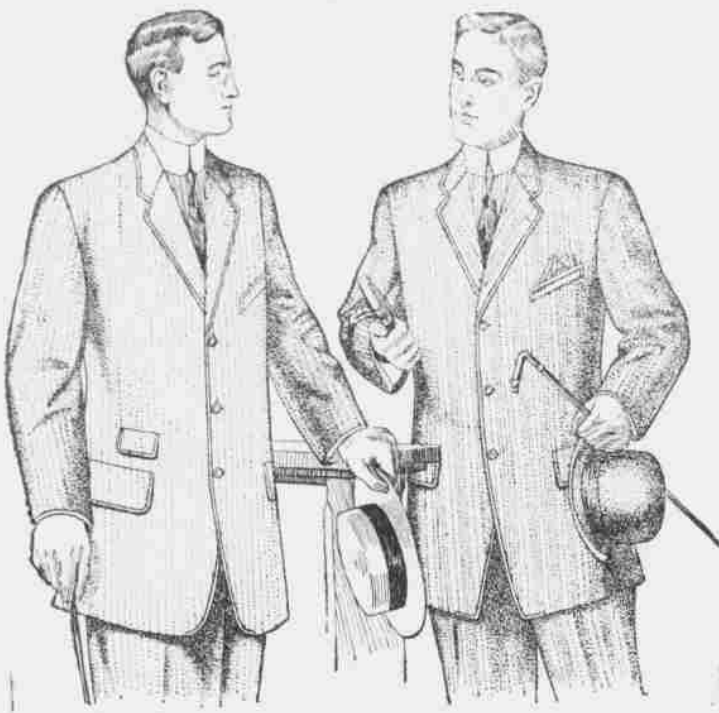

Address by B. M. Read. Mr. President and Members of the Board of Trade:

It is with the greatest pleasure that, complying with the kind invitation of our ex-president, Mr. Brodhead, I have consented to say a few words concerning the necessity at the present time, of either a compilation or a revision of our laws. A revision is what we most need, but next to that a compilation even if it is a poor one is, by far, preferable to the chaotic condition of our statutes now. Of course, of all men only judges and lawyers can fully appreciate the importance of a revision of the territorial laws.

Some few years after the organization of our territorial government what might be now considered an excuse for a compilation was made by a man named Whitting, but it was not official, though I suppose, generally used. From that time the territorial legislatures kept on passing laws, some amendatory, others repealing and others enlarging the acts of the preceding legislative bodies until 1865, when the legislature by an act approved January 24, 1865, received and approved the report of a committee appointed by the governor of the territory to revise the laws, and on the 10th of February of the same year W. F. M. Army, the secretary of the territory, certified to the correctness of the printed copies thereof. That work is known as the "Revision of 1865."

From 1865 no revision had been undertaken, but three compilations have been made one by a private individual Governor L. Bradford Prince, which included all laws from the Promulga-

ROVER'S SONG.

(By Clifton Scollard.)

A rover I would be when the pine tops sway
To the crooning of the bill-winds at the flush of day.
And white-throat calls on her mate to wake,
And the dew-drop falls where the reed-blades shake!

A rover I would be when the moon brings the bowl
Of the turquois sky with its golden soul;
When the briar-rose swoons in the drowning heat,
And the fern and the wintergreen savor sweet!

A rover I would be when the twilight seems
To be busy at its loom with the web of dreams,
And the thrush voice out of the depths of the dark
Cries clear to the gypsy heart o' me—hark!

A rover I was born, and a rover I will die,
With a longing and love for the open sky;
Time of glow, time of snow, light of foot and free,
It's O my one lassie, will you rove with me?

MISSIONARY'S WIFE PRAISES CUTICURA

Daughter's Head Encrusted with Dandruff—Feared she Would Lose her Hair—Many Treatments were Futile—Baby had Milk-Crust.

BOTH CHILDREN CURED BY FAMOUS REMEDIES

"For several years my husband was a missionary in the Southwest, and we were living on the edge of the desert at an elevation of nearly five thousand feet. Every one in that high and dry atmosphere has more or less trouble with dandruff and my daughter's scalp became so encrusted with it that I was alarmed for fear she would lose all her hair, which was very heavy. After spending between five and six dollars for various remedies, in desperation I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. After rubbing the Cuticura Ointment thoroughly into the roots of the hair, I gently combed the crust of dandruff free from the scalp, and then gave her head a thorough shampoo with the Cuticura Soap. This left the scalp beautifully clean and free from dandruff, and after the hair was dry, I again rubbed the Cuticura Ointment, this time sparingly, into the roots, and I am happy to say that the Cuticura Remedies were a complete success. My troubles with dandruff were over, although for a long time afterward I used the Cuticura Ointment as at first, after shampooing, which kept the scalp and roots of the hair moist. I have used successfully the Cuticura Remedies for so-called 'milk-crust' on baby's head, and have never found anything to equal them. You are at liberty to publish this letter, for I do sincerely believe that the Cuticura Remedies are a blessing to mankind. Mrs. J. A. Darling, 310 Fifth St., Carthage, Ohio, Jan. 20, 1908."

Cuticura Ointment is one of the most successful curatives for torturing, disfiguring humors of the skin and scalp, including loss of hair, even compounded, in proof of which a single anointing with it, preceded by a hot bath with Cuticura Soap, and followed, when necessary, by a mild dose of Cuticura Resolvent (liquid or pills) is often sufficient to afford immediate relief of itching, burning and scaly humors, eczemas, irritations and inflammations, permit rest and sleep, and point to a speedy cure when all else fails.

WHY IT SUCCEEDS.

Because it's for One Thing Only, and Santa Fe People Appreciate This. Nothing can be good for everything. Doing one thing well brings success. Doan's Kidney Pills do one thing only.

They cure sick kidneys.
They cure backache, every kidney ill.

Here is Santa Fe evidence to prove it.

Mrs. Agripina D. de Gonzales, 102 Garcia street, Santa Fe, N. M., says: "In September, 1906, I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Stripling Burrows & Co's, drug store and used them for backache which had been a source of such annoyance. In the morning when I arose my back was so lame and painful that I could hardly stoop to pick up anything. I knew that my trouble was due to disordered kidneys and I was finally led to try Doan's Kidney Pills by the good reports I heard about them. The contents of one box drove away all my pains and aches and I am happy to say that my cure has been permanent."

ARTIST'S DELIGHT

So Says the Indian
Painter J. Henry
Sharp

COMING WEST SINCE 1888

Santa Fe a Most Delightful
Place But Needs More
Advertising.

J. Henry Sharp, the famous Indian portrait painter, has been in Santa Fe for the past few days, on his way to his winter home at the Crow agency. Through the summer he has been at Taos where he has a studio. Since 1881 he has made annual trips to Taos to paint the Pueblo Indians.

Sharp has the reputation of being a great painter of the Indians and has received recognition upon the part of the United States government, which purchased a large number of his paintings of Indian scenes. Born at Bridgeport, Ohio, in 1849, Sharp went to Cincinnati at an early age where he received his schooling. At the age of fourteen he entered the old art academy. Later he studied art at Antwerp, Munich, Paris, Madrid and other European places. Returning to Cincinnati he taught art in the Art Academy for eleven years.

It wasn't long before he established himself as a great portrait painter and he gained considerable prominence by painting prominent people of Cincinnati. His exhibits were to be seen in almost all saloons and art galleries in this and foreign countries. Medals, he has received in great numbers, though he is so wrapped up in art itself that he little cares for or values medals. While still painting in Cincinnati he made a specialty of Indian heads, these productions attracting the attention of the government and resulting in many purchases. Then Mrs. Phoebe Hearst, the wealthy mother of William Randolph Hearst, the great journalist and publisher, became aware of what Sharp was producing and at once purchased the paintings he had on hand and commissioned him for five years to stay in the west and make studies of the various Indians, the paintings all to go to the University of California upon Mrs. Hearst's death. This commission was completed three years ago.

Though Sharp had established an enviable record as an Indian and portrait painter, he has in the last 3 years again come to the front establishing a reputation as a landscape artist. His specialties in this line are snow scenes painted in and around the Crow reservation. It is for the purpose of securing material for his paintings of winter scenes, that Sharp maintains a winter studio at the Crow agency. His studio is located just at the foot of the famous Custer battlefield not far from Billings, Montana.

Every spring, Sharp, accompanied by his wife, returns to Taos where he paints the Indians. He says that it is far easier to secure Indian models at Taos than in the northern parts such as the Crow reservation. In the north, the Indians are scattered about on their farms and come to the agency only at intervals and then do not remain long, while at Taos the pueblo life is still maintained and this renders it possible for the Indian to secure more than one sitting, enabling him to get a better picture.

In New Mexico, says Artist Sharp there is more color than elsewhere and this is the great delight of the artist. "I like Santa Fe immensely," he said. "The climate is delightful and the attractions are wonderful. But Santa Fe is not advertised enough. I used to come here years ago when the town was pretty wide open, when saloons and gambling flourished and men carried their guns openly. I remember, too, later on, that large crowds of people used to come here to enjoy the sights. The Denver and Rio Grande used to run a sleeper into Santa Fe. That is the way it should be again. There should be more exploiting of the advantages and attractions of your city. Why at Denver, you never hear anything else but Denver. It is Denver, Denver, Denver, all the time. That is the way it should be with Santa Fe."

Sharp was married in 1892 to a delightful helpmate as any man could wish. Miss Addie Byram who became his wife, was born at Liberty, Indiana. Possessing great musical talent she came to Cincinnati and studied music, gaining a reputation as a pianist. Later, she accompanied her husband throughout Europe and while he was engaged with art, she continued her musical studies. Mrs. Sharp is a cousin of Major George L. Byram of the U. S. army, a man very well known throughout the southwest. Although the Woman's Club of Cincinnati, which is a most exclusive organization, boasts of but very few honorary members, Mrs. Sharp together with Mrs. William Taft, the wife of the President, have lately been added to the list of honorary members.

Mrs. Sharp is greatly devoted to her husband and is his constant companion, being a source of endless inspiration to him. Recently, they purchased a place at Taos which is now being renovated so that in the spring it can be used as a studio and also a home for the summer.

The many productions from the brush of Sharp are today to be seen in the salons abroad, in the art galleries throughout this country and in many private collections of the wealthy. There is also a good representation of his picture in the Smithsonian Institute at Washington. Among the prominent people who have been his patrons are Andrew Carnegie, Mrs. Phoebe Hearst, Madame Ador, the wife of the president of Switzerland, Joseph J. Butler, the steel magnate, Samuel Felton of the Chicago and Alton railroad, President Ripley of the Santa Fe route, Charles Pratt, wealthy carriage manufacturer of Cincinnati, Charles Baer the sheep king of Montana, and numerous others.

Among the local people who own paintings by Sharp, are A. B. Renahan, James Seligman and Arthur Seligman. At present, Sharp is exhibiting his work at St. Louis, Denver and Helena, Montana.

TWELVE CENT STAMP TO REPLACE THIRTEEN.

Postoffice Department Issues Orders to Bureau of Engraving to Make Die for Proposed New Issue.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9.—Acting Postmaster General Joseph Stewart has requested the secretary of the treasury to authorize the director of the bureau of engraving and printing to prepare a 12-cent postage stamp of the size and design of the series of 1908. The color of the proposed 12-cent stamp will be selected later.

The new stamp will ultimately result in the discontinuance of the 13-cent stamp. The latter was calculated to cover the cost of the 8-cent registry fee and the 5-cent international postage rate. The 15-cent stamp will serve this purpose when the registry fee is increased from 8 to 10 cents, on November 1st. The proposed 12-cent stamp will cover the cost of the new 10-cent registry fee and the 2-cent postage rate in this country and for England and Germany. The 12-cent stamp was discontinued some years ago. It bore the head of Washington.

During the present year stamps of large denomination have been issued as follows: 10-cent stamps, 54,067,200; 13-cent stamp, 5,679,200; 15-cent stamp, 8,436,000.

The 12-cent stamp just ordered prepared for the postoffice department was last issued in 1870. The announcement that it will bear the head of George Washington was based on the assumption that the last 12-cent stamp bore that likeness. The fact is that it presented a profile bust of Henry Clay. The new stamp will be designed on lines similar to the old. Above and below the bust of Clay will appear the words "U. S. Postage" and "Twelve Cents," in white capitals; the two words "Twelve Cents" to be separated by the number "12" in Arabic. The words of denomination are all black letters.

DELEGATS FROM SOUTH AFRICA COMING TO CONGRESS.

Billings, Mont., Oct. 9.—Rhodesia, South Africa, will have an official representative at the Fourth Dry Farming Congress at Billings, Mont., October 26-28, according to advices received by Secretary Burns from Dr. William Macdonald, of Pretoria, vice president and corresponding secretary of the Congress for South Africa. Dr. Macdonald announces that N. H. Chateway, director of agriculture of Rhodesia, has instructed Mr. George N. Blackshaw, B. Sc., of the department of agriculture of that colony, to represent it at the convention at Billings. Prof. Blackshaw is expected to arrive in the United States a short time in advance of the Congress in order that he may have an opportunity to investigate the agricultural conditions in this country. He will deliver an address before the Congress on the progress of agriculture in South Africa.

Dr. Macdonald was present at the third Congress at Cheyenne and gave a most interesting address on the dry farming conditions in the British South African possessions. There are large tracts in that portion of the world which are susceptible of development by dry farming methods and during the last year the work of the Dry Farming Congress has been brought closely to the attention of the departments of agriculture of the colonies, through the active work carried on by Dr. Macdonald. Recently Governor Norris, president of the Congress, sent official invitations to the governments of the colonies to send delegates to the Billings meeting. The appointment of Prof. Blackshaw is the result.

The director of agriculture of the Orange River Colony has acknowledged receipt of the invitation to attend the Congress and announces that E. J. Macmillan, of the department of agriculture, who is now on leave, will probably be in Canada during October and may be requested to go to Billings to represent his colony at the Congress.

NEW MEXICO SUPREME COURT SLANDERED.

A long-distance but savage attack upon the New Mexico supreme court and legislature is made in last week's issue of Collier's. The attack is most unfair in that it seeks to deduct from alleged facts, without further evidence, the motives of New Mexico courts and law-making bodies. These facts, even if true, do not warrant the conclusions drawn. If in a legal controversy between a mining company and an irrigation company, the decision is in favor of the mining company, it does not justify the conclusion that the court is owned by the mining interests. And even if in ten such cases, the decisions should all be in favor of the mining companies, other evidence than that of the fact of such ten decisions, must be adduced before any one would be warranted in saying that the mining interests controlled the judge. An appeal lies from the New Mexico supreme court to the United States supreme court, and from the legislature of New Mexico to the Congress of the United States, and if the strictures of Collier's are true as to the New Mexico court and legislature they must of necessity apply with equal force to the United States supreme court and the Congress of the United States, an accusation which even Collier's would hesitate to make even at a distance of 2000 miles. Judge Edward A. Mann in the Morning Journal replies vigorously to the broad (therefore difficult to answer specifically) libel of Collier's.

After reviewing in detail each case decided by the New Mexico supreme court, Judge Mann says:

"In the first place it (Collier's) seeks to place upon the present Justices of the supreme court the responsibility for all the railroad litigation which has been before the court in the history of the territory, when as a matter of fact since the oldest, in point of service, of the present judges have been on the bench there have been twelve railroad cases before the supreme court of this territory.

"The above, I believe, covers all the 'railroad' cases for the past twelve years. I may have overlooked one or two in the hurried examination I have made, but I don't think I have. I forgot to say in passing that one of the it is immaterial, I do not desire to be heard and disposed of by the supreme court as it existed under the Cleveland administration, but after all it is immaterial, I don't desire to be understood as in any way criticizing these judges nor their opinions, so far as I am able to judge from a casual reading of these opinions, they seem to me clearly to state the law. But what I do say is this, if there be anything to criticize they should bear their share of it the same as the present judges. Collier's article says: 'In every suit involving taxation of railroad property, the railroads won.' As I have shown there have been two since the present judges have been on the bench, one was held to have been decided by the supreme court of the U. S. and the other was a partial victory for the company. Collier's says: 'Of the various personal injury cases carried to the supreme court not one was decided in favor of the plaintiff.' The present court has only passed on one (the Romero case) and while that was against the plaintiff it can hardly be referred to as 'various cases.' The other one as I say (the Deserant case) was practically decided except as to one point by Judge Collier and his associates.

"It will be observed that of the eleven cases, but one has been reversed by the supreme court of the United States, or more than ninety per cent affirmed.

"If the supreme court of New Mexico is to be accused of corrupt and sordid motives I would ask if Collier's in the light of the showing made is prepared to make the same charge against the supreme court of the United States, which has affirmed more than 90 per cent of its decisions that have been appealed?"

If gossip has been telling the truth the past quarter of a century or so, there should be no terror for King Edward in a regiment of female suffragettes besieging him at Balmoral castle. His Majesty always had fetching ways with the other sex and he certainly will not show the white feather now that affairs have reached this crisis.

Senator Culberson of Texas, is starting his boom for the Democratic Presidential nomination very early. But the death of Governor Johnson leaves a clear field for dark horses to compete for the prize of 1912.

DRY FARMING WEST OF THE RIO GRANDE.

The New Mexican has contended right along that there are better opportunities for dry farming west of the Rio Grande than there are east of it. Thus far, the great migration from the Middle West and East to New Mexico farm lands has not reached the Rio Grande but in the very nature of events that river will soon be crossed for as the available lands along the eastern border are taken up, the hegira will press forward to the Rio Grande and to the top and across the continental divide. Then the astonishing discovery, or re-discovery will be made, as it was made by the Spaniards three hundred years ago and by the Pueblos a thousand and more years ago, that the best lands of the Southwest are along the Rio Grande and along its tributaries from the West; that the soil on the mesas west of the Rio Grande exceeds in fertility that on the east side; that the best lands of all the Territory are to be found not on the plains but in the foothills and the mountains, that Santa Fe, Taos, Rio Arriba and western San Miguel, Mora and Colfax counties are the land where milk and honey can be made to flow. An inkling of this is given in the following article by Gus Muholland, editor of the McKinley County Republican in the most recent number of the Dry Farming Congress Bulletin:

"Some ten or twelve years ago several people in McKinley county believed that crops could be raised on the Zuni mountains without irrigation. They plowed some land and planted potatoes and oats. The potatoes were not cultivated, in fact were not touched until fall, yet the yield was large, each stock bearing six to a dozen large 'spuds'. The method of planting had been to plow the potatoes in every third furrow. The quality is claimed to be equal to that of potatoes grown anywhere else.

"The oats, which were sowed broadcast, grew tall and rank as in Illinois or other western states. The crop was cut for hay when the grain was in the milk.

"The success of the first crop encouraged others to start farming in the same locality and now there are about 40 homesteaders farming in this vicinity. Nearly all the farmers who live at Ramah in this county, where they have a large reservoir and plenty of water for irrigation, prefer dry farming to irrigation on the Zuni mountains. Every summer they leave their farms in the valley for several weeks and put in crops on the mountains, then go back in harvest time and gather their potatoes, wheat and oats.

"The altitude where dry farming is being done on the Zuni mountains is about 7,000 to 8,000 feet.

"Several years ago John H. Young of Gallup, plowed ten acres, three miles east of Gallup, altitude 6,500 feet, planted potatoes and Indian corn and harvested a large yield of the former and a fair crop of the latter by dry farming methods. Last year he had a good yield of potatoes and this year the crop looks fine. The successes of Mr. Young and others who have followed dry farming in this county for a number of years, shows that crops can be grown by these methods over the entire country. Early Mexican corn, beans, pumpkins, potatoes, oats, wheat and kafir corn do well up to 7,000 feet, and instances have been reported of potatoes, oats and wheat being grown in altitudes as high as 9,000 feet.

"I believe if dry farming is practiced here scientifically that a failure of crops will not be known more than probably once in 15 years, when there might be a very dry season and no rain during the rainy season of July and August.

"The contention of the advocates of scientific dry farming methods is that if proper methods of cultivation are followed there will be no absolute crop failures in even the driest years, because the dry farming methods of tillage conserve the moisture in the soil, or in other words create a soil reservoir from which the plants draw their supply of moisture during period of drouth."

THE TIDE IS ON.

There is a tide in the affairs of men, says Shakespeare, which taken at the flood leads on to fortune. There is also a tide in the affairs of towns and commonwealths and it is rising on to the flood in New Mexico and at Santa Fe. It is still far from flood crest, but the trend is upward. Santa Fe has already made one serious mistake in not extending its city limits and has thus failed to gather the full benefit of the upward trend but it still can accomplish much if its people will work together harmoniously.

In the past ten years, 10,508 miles of railroad have been built in New Mexico, Texas, Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma. In the next ten years ten thousand miles more will be built. But this mileage increase does not give a fair idea of the growth of those sections. In those ten years, the number of passengers carried increased from 21,000,000 a year to 55,500,000 a year, an increase of more than 161 per cent. That Santa Fe did not get its full share of that increase merely augurs that when the increase does come it will arrive in astonishingly large volume. Freight showed an increase in that period of 50,000,000 tons per year or ninety per cent. Passenger earnings of the railroads increased more than 180 per cent and freight earnings 90 per cent. Says the very conservative Wall Street Journal which still has some of the panic feeling in its make-up:

"This record of expansion and development is perhaps without comparison in the annals of American railroads. An increase of approximately 90 per cent in freight traffic and 161 per cent in passenger traffic in the years 1898 to 1908 inclusive, mark the beginning of the development of which this territory is capable.

"Reports from the Southwest indicate great industrial activity. New enterprises are now being planned, and the opportunity existing for manufacturing plants to supply the local demand for various kinds of goods is just beginning to receive the attention of investors to an appreciable extent. Large areas of heretofore unimproved ranch lands are being opened up to settlement by farmers. New railroad construction is being steadily pushed and it is not unreasonable to expect that, notwithstanding the large increases recorded in the past ten years the next decade will see the present volume of traffic again doubled and perhaps trebled."

But few people have an adequate idea of the amount of irrigation development that is planned by private enterprise in New Mexico. It is only of late that investors have awakened to the fact that a water right may be as good an investment as a gold mine and a good deal more tangible. But since then, the office of the territorial engineer has been swamped with applications for water rights on streams that are permanent and streams that flow only certain times of the year, on standing waters and on flood waters, on springs, draws, canons, brooks and rivers until before very long every available second foot of water will be appropriated. In the very nature of things, there are many speculative filings just as among a thousand mining claims only a score or so are being developed with diligence. As far as the law permits, these speculative filings should be discontinued and the applicants should be compelled within a reasonable time to construct works utilizing the water or else relinquish their claim to parties who will do actual development work and will put the water to beneficial use.

The family in New York that promises its servants a bonus of one thousand dollars after ten years service, is not doing philanthropic work as much as it is businesslike in its practice. The sum of $1,000 after ten years service is less than $2.00 a week extra but the average servant is certain to render faithful and efficient service with a prize of $1,000 dangling before him for ten years. It also illustrates the fact that a few dollars laid aside each week will in years amount to a comfortable sum. The New York family merely practices thrift for its servants. If it were to add $2 a week to the wages of its servants, the result for the family as well as for the servant would not be near as satisfactory as is the giving of a $1,000 prize after ten years. Yet, the latter is the cheaper method of the two.

Crops in the Estancia valley were not so bad after all for those who farmed the right way. Says the Estancia Daily Herald:

"If you will go up to the bank and look at the corn, oats, potatoes, turnips, squashes and pumpkins, you won't think this valley so destitute after all. Pumpkins that weigh one hundred and three pounds are not small by any means. Turnips that will make a family a dinner, and potatoes that one will make a day's eating for a good sized family, are not to be sneered at. And all these you can find here."

It is a pity that Santa Fe held no agricultural or horticultural fair this year where these products of the Estancia valley might have been pitted in competition against the good things that Santa Fe and other counties can and did raise this year.

The plan to divide the Philippines into two jurisdictions is not only feasible but it is wise. A sharp line divides the nationalities and religions of the north including Luzon and those of the south of which the large island of Mindanao is the principal part. With Governor Curry as chief executive of the southern Mindanao Plantation, Uncle Sam would soon enjoy a much more satisfactory state of affairs among the Moros than he does now.

District Attorney Charles W. G. Ward of Las Vegas, has come to the wholesome conclusion, to oppose in the future the settling of criminal cases out of court. He says: "The persons who take it upon themselves to settle cases out of court where the offense is a felony, hold themselves liable to prosecution on the charge of compounding a felony. The practice must be stopped, even if I have to make an example of some one." This is the proper stand, for nothing undermines respect for the courts to such an extent as the idea that "some" people can settle their criminal wrongdoing out of court, while some other poor duffer is given the full penalty of the law. In the eyes of the law, all persons, including evil doers, should be equal.

If Texas people were as eager to observe the law as some of its sports are frantic to evade it by pulling off a prize fight in the Gulf of Mexico, five miles from shore, the Lone Star state would gain a reputation for law observance that would be the envy of the world. But alas, human nature is ever more diligent to evade or break legal restraint than it is to obey and encourage it. Yet, where, is the man who intentionally seeks to evade a law any better than the mob leader or anarchist who provokes a riot or leads a rebellion or the burglar or the murderer who breaks into a house at night to commit his crime?

Adjutant General R. A. Ford is quite right in his stand that the New Mexico national guard should take part in the army war maneuvers next year. The New Mexico militia is built for wear and tear and not merely for show.

It's a pity when sick ones drug the stomach or stimulate the Heart and Kidneys. That is all wrong! A weak stomach, means weak Stomach nerves, always. And this is also true of the Heart and Kidneys. The weak nerves are instead crying out for help. This explains why Dr. Shoop's Restorative is promptly helping Stomach, Heart and Kidney ailments. The Restorative reaches out for the actual cause of these ailments—the falling "inside nerves." Anyway test the Restorative 48 hours. It won't cure so soon as that, but you will surely know that help is coming. Sold by Stripling-Burrows Co.

FIVE RECRUITS FOR N. M. REFORM SCHOOL.

Albuquerque, N. M., Oct. 9.—If judges in the other New Mexico courts furnish as much business for the recently established New Mexico reform school at Springer as Judge Abbott has done at this term of court, the new institution will soon become one of the busiest in New Mexico. Judge Abbott today sentenced his fifth reform school culprit. The latest one is Gus Weidmann who is sent up on a plea of guilty to a burglary charge, for a sentence of not less than one year or more than two. The boy's commitment was held up pending an effort of his parents to place him in an eastern reform school which will be allowed if it can be done.

It now appears certain that the new Highland electric car line will be built. But four thousand dollars remain of the amount necessary to begin construction and the promoters believe they will have this amount in hand by the fifteenth of October.

Why Colds Are Dangerous.

Because you have contracted ordinary colds and recovered from them without treatment of any kind, do not for a moment imagine that colds are not dangerous. Everyone knows that pneumonia and chronic catarrh have their origin in a common cold. Consumption is not caused by a cold but the cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the germs that would not otherwise have found lodgment. It is the same with all infectious diseases. Diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles and whooping cough are much more likely to be contracted when the child has a cold. You will see from this that more real danger lurks in a cold than in any other of the common ailments. The easiest and quickest way to cure a cold is to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The many remarkable cures effected by this preparation have made it a staple article of trade over a large part of the world. For sale by all druggists.

MOTHER'S FRIENDFURTHER DETAILS ABOUT
BARRIE DIVORCE SUIT.

Maude Adams Had Been Mentioned as an Affinity But She Denied the Impeachment.

London, Oct. 9.—James M. Barrie who wrote "Margaret Ogilvie," "My Lady Nicotine," "Sentimental Tommy," "What Every Woman Knows," and all those wonder romances in which women live and are, has sued his wife, who was Mary Ansell, the actress, for divorce.

The announcement that the Scottish author has found marriage an personal, a failure, makes a noise like the overturning and breaking of a pet idol, yet it is included in a list of acknowledgments of martial misery, posted in the London courts, without explanation or reason appended to dull the appetite of a public eager for details.

It was not until after Barry had achieved his greatest success that he went to the theater which had so vivified his art, for a wife. Miss Ansell had played in "Walker London," a comedy enjoying but moderate success, and was just such a woman as the little poetic-humorist-humanist might have been expected to choose. Somehow for years the public, Barrie's public, hadn't expected him to choose a woman. His deep knowledge of most of them set him apart as interpreter, illuminator, poetizer, dramatizer.

When he swung in the car of Hy-men, away from illusion and fancy into the field of curl-papered actualities, what has come to pass was predicted. To keep his vision of woman's spirit and mind clear, his soundings of her heart true, Barrie, like every other poet, needs perspective; this, evidently, the domestic hearth does not offer. When the Barries were married their dearest friends proclaimed the ideal union achieved. Miss Ansell left the stage and dedicated herself to home making while her husband went his play writing way. For Maude Adams had to fulfill her destiny, to reach the summits through Maggie Shand, and to this end Barrie had to create Maggie after giving Peter Pan freedom of the tree tops.

To be sure there was once a rumor drifted about to the effect that Maude Adams had captivated the affections of the canny Scot, but this was speedily and laughingly denied and the assurance given that their friendship was profoundly artistic; that without the player the author would cease to be and without the author the winsome actress would not know art's fulfillment; she was the voice to his song—beyond that, nothing. Maude Adams was Lady Babbie, she was Phoebe Trossel, she was Peter Pan and in "What Every Woman Knows," Barrie made a body into which the soul of the player clipped as a hand into a glove.

The most captivating of all his women was the last Barrie created; she diffused the atmosphere of lively and enchanting domesticity, who made the man that fate had given her by making him know himself.

Barrie's wife, it was whispered was Barrie's model for his Maggie and her home making formed the background for those two home scenes in "What Every Woman Knows." Now it's all gone on the shoals. And Barrie leaves his home, where the very spirit of peace was supposed to brood; where, lacking children of their own, the element of youth had been brought into the Barrie house by the adoption of Pauline Chase, the wisp of a girl who had created the role of Peter Pan in London and later gave it to the Parisians.

The work of Barrie's marriage is only another example of the ideal fading when it is realized and the fact that if an artist is to produce art he can't press his face against the canvas. It is also an evidence that even an idol may be found to be made of mud by the keeper of the temple, whose business it is to do the dusting.

DENVER HAS BECOME A HEATHEN CITY.

Less Than One-Half of Its Inhabitants Belong to Any Church or Confess to Be Christians.

Denver, Colo., Oct. 9.—Is Denver the most wicked city in the world, as has often been charged by those who have traveled extensively? The results of the recent religious census, which was taken to determine just this, has startled the ministers and laymen of the city. One district including Montclair and University park, that which is, perhaps, as thickly settled a region as any that was canvassed in the city, shows only 7,000 church members among its 15,000 residents. Nearly all of the remaining 8,000 are classed as non-Christians.

The number with membership in some church is only 27 per cent of the total population of the district. Those who prefer some creed, but are not attending church, are only 14 per cent.

It is not illogical to estimate that the rest of the districts will show the same result, that out of the 200,000 residents of Denver, only 82,000 are Christians and 118,000 are non-Christians.

Some of the districts that are poorer, it is said, show a small increase in the number of church members in the community.

The middle class districts average higher in church influences. This, in a way, is easily explainable, says the census takers. The poor family is too concerned with the wherewithal to feed the hungry mother to think of religion. The rich man is too busy with his other business; the woman too interested in society to think of religion.

Some of the rebuffs that were met by the men and women who went out to help with the census, are remarkable. Some of the women kindly and too politely informed the "visitors" that they were inquiring into something that was none of their business. This same spirit was on every hand, which, partly, prepared the census takers for the result—82,000 Christians, 118,000 non-Christians.

Fall colds are quickly cured by Foley's Honey and Tar, the great throat and lung remedy. The genuine contains no harmful drugs. Sold by all druggists.

ANIMATED MEETING OF BOARD OF TRADE.

tion of the Kearney Code in 1864 to the end of the legislative session of 1880, with supplement including the session of 1882. This work is known and cited by our courts as "Prince's General Laws of New Mexico." But as Governor Prince had no legislative authority to make a real compilation, he included in his work all the un-repealed laws—at the time Governor Prince made his compilation of the New Mexico statutes were so scarce that to use Governor Prince's own words, "neither the governor, the legislature, the chief justice, the United States attorney, nor any territorial official, except the secretary, was in possession of the laws they were expected to be guided by and to administer; and it was believed that not a single probate judge, board of county commissioners or justice of the peace in the whole of New Mexico was the owner of a complete set."

Two years later, in 1884, after Governor Prince had published his compilation, the legislature authorized a formal compilation by an act approved April 3, 1884. By that act the governor was empowered to appoint a committee to do the work and he appointed E. L. Bartlett, Charles W. Green and Santiago Valdez as such committee. The work of that committee, known as the "Compiled Laws of 1884," was approved by William Bredeen, under legislative authority, on the 28th day of March 1885, and we got along with it for 13 years—that is, until 1897, when another, the last, compilation under a legislative act, approved March 16, 1897, was made and which is the only one extant.

Ten years later, in 1907, the legislature by Chapter 95, of that session created a commission to make a revision of all the laws of New Mexico, (of which commission I was a member and its secretary). The revision was made and submitted to the 38th legislative assembly of 1909, and approved by the House, but the approving act was not reached by the council. Thus it is that the actual condition of our laws is nothing but a mass of confusion.

To give you an idea of the mess our statutes are in I shall cite some figures:

I will give you a complete report of the number of sections and chapters compiled by our commission, also the number omitted by reason of being repealed or obsolete. The English Compiled Laws of 1897, contain a total of four thousand one hundred and ninety-six sections, the Spanish Compilation a total of four thousand one hundred and ninety-five, the compilers of 1897, having left out entirely one section (3693) and a very important one at that. Of these 4196 sections, 538 were repealed, and the remainder, 3558, most of them enlarged, or otherwise modified by later legislation, were compiled by us.

The Session Laws of 1899, contain 81 chapters, of these 7 were repealed, four were obsolete, and 70 compiled. The Session Laws of 1901, contain 108 chapters; of these, four were obsolete, 16 repealed, and 88 compiled. The Session Laws of 1903 are made up of 122 chapters, of which 18 were repealed, four obsolete and 100 compiled. The Session Laws of 1905 have 134 chapters, of these three were obsolete, seven repealed and 124 compiled. The laws of the session of 1907, contain 107 chapters, all of which were compiled.

The last legislature enacted into laws 148 chapters. Of these nearly three-fourths are either amendatory or repealing statutes, thus making the situation more difficult to understand.

By reason of this confusion it often happens that in trials of cases the lawyer who has not taken pains to keep tally of all the amendments, changes and repeals is often surprised by the attorney on the other side who simply waits until his adversary has "exhausted his wind" to get up and state to the court that the statute relied upon by the other gentleman "has been altered" or "repealed." If this happens to practicing and able attorneys, imagine what is taking place in the courts of justices of the peace. Will now cite an instance which I learned by personal experience. After the legislature of 1907 had adjourned the justice of the peace at Moriarty, acting under a repealed section of the Compiled Laws of 1897, received a mule of an unknown owner, which had done damage to crops of one of the new settlers in the Estancia valley. The justice gave the mule to the party who reported it to care for it and allowed her 25 cents per day (all under the repealed section), until the owner would appear or the mule could be sold. I had occasion to go to Moriarty at the same time that the owner of the mule arrived at that place. He went to the justice who gave him a letter to the party holding the mule for the delivery of the animal if the owner would pay for the caring, etc. The bill amounted to more than what the mule was worth and the owner came to my room and asked me what to do. I went with him to the justice's court and informed the justice that the law that he was proceeding under had been repealed by the 1907 act, which act made it a crime for the finder of an estrayed animal more than 5 days (Sections 5 and 8, Chapter 80, Laws of 1907), without reporting it to the sanitary board officers. The animal was glad given up. Cases of this nature are of daily occurrences, especially in the courts of justices of the peace. Hence the necessity of having a compilation, if not a revision, as soon as possible.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

NOTHING AND SOMETHING.

"It is nothing to me," the beauty said, With a careless toss of her pretty head,

"The man is weak if he can't refrain From the cup you say is fraught with pain."

It was something to her in after years When her eyes were drenched with burning tears,

And she watched in lonely grief and dread, And started to hear a straggling tread.

"It is nothing to me," the mother said, "I have no fear that my boy will tread The downward path of sin and shame, And crush my heart and darken his name."

It was something to her when that only son

From the path of right was early won, And madly cast in the flowing bowl

A ruined body and sin-wrecked soul.

"It is nothing to me," the merchant said,

As over his ledger he bent his head; "I am too busy with tare and tret, And have no time to fume and fret."

It was something to him, when over the wire

A message came from the funeral pyre—

A drunken conductor had wrecked the train,

And his wife and child were among the slain.

"It is nothing to me," the young man cried;

In his eye was a flash of scorn and pride—

"I heed not the dreadful things you tell,

I can rule myself, I know full well."

'Twas something to him when in prison he lay,

The victim of drink—life ebbing away;

As he thought of his wretched child and wife,

And the mournful wreck of his wasted life.

"It is nothing to me," the voter said,

"The party's loss is my greatest dread"—

Then gave his vote for the liquor trade,

Though hearts were crushed and drunkards made.

It was something to him, in after life

When his daughter became a drunkard's wife,

And her hungry children cried for bread,

And trembled to hear their father's tread.

It is nothing for us to idly sleep,

While the cohorts of death their vigils keep,

To gather the young and the thoughtless in—

And grind in our midst a grist of sin?

It is something—yes, for all to stand,

And clasp by faith our Savior's hand—

To learn to labor, live and fight,

On the side of God and changeless right.

We suppose there is no man or woman in Santa Fe, who has not been greatly stirred and distressed by the tragic and mysterious death of Miss Montgomery, who came among us a guest from a sister state, little dreaming that among autumn covered hills, which she so graphically and beautifully described in her home letters, she would meet death in its most terrible form.

That this young girl committed suicide was the verdict finally arrived at by six good men and true after the careful sifting of the evidence available, but it is a hard verdict for our hearts to accept, knowing her to have been the youngest and best-beloved of an aged and widowed mother, and idolized by brothers and sisters with no earthly or known reason for such an act—an act which she always stigmatized as cowardly and un-Christian, and her dying statement too, that she had been attacked and wounded to the death.

If it was suicide, a merciful Father knows what stress of soul drove her to such a deed. If it was that more dreadful thing—murder, then we know too. "There is an eye that sleepeth not nor slumbereth" that looked upon the horrid deed, and the blood of the innocent will not cry to heaven in vain; and in the breast of some wretch the secret lies like a burning coal that will not die, and fear will lie with him at night and walk with him by day, and the spirit of the dead girl shall haunt his dreams and shadow every waking hour.

To the hands of one "who knoweth all things" we can commit this mystery for solving.

Here, however, are a few things for our earnest consideration. It was stated that the convicts bought liquor in Santa Fe. Surely this is a crime, and the person who would endanger the lives of a community by selling intoxicants to a criminal should be punished to the full extent of the law. Has this been done?

Again it has been said that the expense of running the penitentiary is so great that it is impossible to provide sufficient guard for the prisoners.

Here is a problem for the consideration and solution of the voter.

It has been ascertained by careful investigation that 65 per cent of the convicts in our penitentiary are there through the cause and evil effects of drink. Which is the most sane and economical proceeding—to raise your rate of taxation to get the money necessary to properly care for these criminals, sent here by the saloon, or to close the saloons which send them here, and in addition save also the cost of the court trials that are necessary to convict and send them to the penitentiary; and incidentally save much brutality, misery, suffering and expense, beyond calculation?

Does it not seem strange that a civilized, educated people would enact—would uphold and defend such a travesty in mathematics, in morals, in life and common sense?

The Santa Fe Union has received a blow in losing Rev. and Mrs. E. C. Anderson, Rev. Anderson having been transferred to Las Vegas at the last M. E. conference. It was seldom indeed that Rev. Anderson preached a sermon in which he did not deal a blow at the traffic in intoxicants, and warn his hearers of the danger and foolishness of temporizing with this evil. We could always count on him for help in all our work. And Mrs. Anderson, how we shall get along without her we do not know. She has been our inspiration, our poet, our adviser, one of our hardest workers and truest friends. We shall miss her, we will miss her—none can fill her vacant place. Other hands may life the burden, still we'll miss the loving face. What is our loss will be Las Vegas' gain, but we are not magnanimous, they are going without our consent and we do not like it. We do hope their sojourn "over the range" will be pleasant and profitable, but that they will soon return to Santa Fe.

The next meeting of the Union, on the third Tuesday of this month, will be a social meeting held at the residence of Mrs. Patterson and Byrd, 202 Palace avenue. We hope all the members will try and be there. An interesting program will be provided.

An amusing incident occurred last night that has resulted in the bringing of an ad to the lost columns. During the night a dog attempted to make sleep impossible in the neighborhood of W. D. Hayes and kept up a series of howlings until in desperation Hayes appeared at the window and shied a long looking object at his canine highness causing a quick disappearance. In his haste, Hayes had picked up the first object at hand. When morning dawned he discovered that one of a pair of fine twelve dollar boots was missing. Hayes is still looking for the dog-gone boot.

DRY FARMING CONGRESS
MEMBERSHIP QUADRUPLES.

Movement Spreads With Remarkable Vitality and Includes All Quarters of the Globe.

Billings, Mont., Oct. 9.—In an address before a mass meeting of Billings business men, Secretary John T. Burns of the Dry Farming Congress has given some interesting data on the work and growth of that organization which will hold its fourth session at Billings, Mont., October 20-25. Mr. Burns said:

"All indications point to this being the greatest development convention in the west. The dry farming movement has grown far beyond the conception of the most enthusiastic of those present at the first meeting in Denver three years ago when the Congress was launched. The second convention at Salt Lake closed with about 300 members enrolled. Wyoming secured the third session, but even then it was not treated seriously as a movement of world magnitude. Money was needed to make a start on the work that had been planned at Salt Lake and funds were raised under protest. But the movement grew in spite of the neglect of the public.

"Before the third Congress met an aggressive campaign was started to get the work of the Congress before the public and a determined fight was made against the attacks to which it had been subjected from various quarters. When the third Congress closed there were about 1,200 members and the movement was established upon a permanent basis as the leading economic force in the greater development of the west and a powerful factor in the betterment of every region of the world where agriculture is being practiced. Those memberships represented the east and west of this country and some foreign lands, but the bulk of them were in Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho, Montana, the Dakotas and other western states.

"The membership today, seven months after the Cheyenne meeting, is more than 5,300 and represents 36 states and territories of the United States and ten foreign countries. New Mexico leads with 1,267 members; Wyoming is second with 1,154; Nebraska third with 937; Montana has 202. There are members in New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Jersey, Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, New York, Ohio, District of Columbia, Louisiana and Illinois. These are among the states outside the commonly recognized dry farming region having one to more than 80 members. Canada leads the foreign lands with 26 members; Mexico has ten and Australia nine; British Columbia, Russia, France, British South Africa, Hungary, Brazil and Turkey are among the foreign countries represented.

"All these members are getting the literature of the Congress and the correspondence handled through this office shows that we have the heart interest, the personal interest of every one of these members. The correspondence has increased in volume in the last few months so that with three stenographers constantly employed, we are scarcely able to keep place with it.

"Every farming district in the world is covered with our publicity matter. In the last six weeks 152,000 pieces of printed matter have been mailed from this office. The names on our mailing lists have been compiled from reliable sources and are live addresses.

"In the conduct of our press bureau we have aimed at conservatism. 'Tell the truth' has been the motto. Eighteen months ago it was next to impossible to get into print. The Congress, then, was attacked as a vehicle of land boomers. Newspapers and men in high position questioned its motives. All that has been changed. Today the Congress is recognized as a genuinely earnest movement for the education of the farmers of the arid and semi-arid regions of the world—as the most important development force of the present day. The leading publications of the world have thrown open their columns to our literature and through the publication of news items and editorial comment have given the Dry Farming Congress serious consideration and generous support."

DYING MAN GIVES WIFE
INSTRUCTIONS FOR FUNERAL

Denver, Oct. 9.—Lying in the shadow of death in St. Luke's hospital Edgar Austin Swallow, a railway conductor, who accidentally had fired a bullet into his breast calmly gave his wife instructions concerning his funeral.

He told her that the funeral should be private, that his dear ones should not grieve for him, and finally expressed the hope that they all would meet again. Just before he lapsed into the last unconsciousness the dying man pressed his wife's hand, and the end came quietly.

Judge Parker Enforces Sunday Law—"Las week Judge Parker, District Attorney Wright and Sheriff McGarth talked over the Sunday law as observed in Lordsburg and concluded a change must be made. The sheriff notified his deputy here that the law must be more closely observed and instructed him to notify violators that if it was violated again they would be arrested, brought before the justice of the peace and bound over to await the action of the grand jury, and this would happen every time the law was violated. He further notified his deputy that if he could not stop the violations that he would put a deputy here who could attend to the business. Last Sunday, the first one after this order was received, was the quietest one known in Lordsburg in many months. Such orders have been made before by sheriffs, and the town has been closed up, but it would soon crack open again. The Liberal believes that this time it is permanent, and the town will be a closed one as long as McGarth is sheriff."—Western Liberal.

HAD A GLORIOUS TIME AT CARLSBAD.

Eddy County Town Displays Real Hospitality Spirit in Entertaining Firemen.

At noon today A. M. Dettlebach, secretary of the New Mexico Firemen's Association returned from Carlsbad, where the annual convention of the association was held. He is very enthusiastic about the manner in which the members of the organization were treated by the people of Carlsbad. Nothing was too good for the boys and all possible entertainment was provided.

In the various contests, the Santa Fe boys came out with the highest percentage, winning $182.50 of the prize money. The events were as follows:

Ladder Climb—Carlsbad, 1st; Santa Fe, 2nd.

Double Coupling—Santa Fe, 1st and 2nd.

Dry Test—Santa Fe, 1st; Carlsbad, 2nd.

After being publicly jilted at a village ball by her sweetheart, Gustave Fortunio, she returned to Mr. Knight's home, took the painter's shotgun and blew off her forehead.

Armande left a letter to her father, a chimney sweep in Paris, and to her sisters, adjuring the girls to avoid love affairs and never to believe man's word.

When Fortunio heard of the affair he tried to kill himself.
