How an Indiana Railroad Company Had to Submit Town Was Named

names. But the queerest of them all position of blocking all the efforts of has so far been left to languish in undeserved obscurity. People who are acquainted with that portion of Indiana, which lies in the Immediate vicinity of Crawfordsville, must have seen on the signboard of a little railroad station, as they rushed by on a lim-Ited train, this astonishing name: H'TOWN,

Behind that apostrophe lies the story of the Joke which a rich old Indlana farmer played on the directors of a great railroad company. The farmer in question owned several thousand acres of land in one body. When the railroad was built it was found necessary to cut through his land. The right of way agents went to the old farmer and asked him to set a price on a strip running through his farm a r hundred feet wide,

He laughed t them and said his land was not for sale at any price. He didn't believe in railroads anyhow, and didn't want one running through his property. They offered him a huge price for the land, for they had found other property owners in the vicinity reasonable and did not care to start any condemnation suits unless it was absolutely necessary. But the old farmer would not listen to them. His

The claim agents made up their minds that they would have to start a suit, and were about ready to bring it when they were surprized to get a letter from the old farmer.

"If you will let me name the town you are going to build on my land," he said, "I'll give you all the land you need."

They accepted his terms with glee Of course they experted that his vanity would lead him to name the town after himself, and they were quite prepared for that emergency. But he fooled them. A written agreement was drawn up and signed and the deeds passed. Then they asked him for his name. The old man grinned broadly.

"We'll call it Helltown," he said, They argued with him until they saw it was useless. They could not back out, for the papers had already been signed. Then they decided they would get even in another way. They elided the second, third, and fourth letters of the name and put in their place an innocent apostrophe. And so

In those days all cases of this kind were tried before a jury consisting of four governors, four attorneys and four counselors. Out of these twelve men, one was selected to act as judge, and the evidence was taken. After a verdict had been decided upon, it was written on a piece of sheepskin parchment and the seals of the twelve men who tried the case were affixed. The marble busts of nearly all the vice presidents are ranged in niches about the senate chamber and in the north corridor of the senate wing of the capitol. Every visitor to the capitol looks at these works of art and is told the names of many of the dead statesmen, but there are three busts of vice presidents, the identity of which is at present lost to the world. They look from their niches out on the senate as ghostly witnesses to historic scenes that have been enacted ever since they presided over that august body. They have been there at every session, and when the big caken doors have been closed to all but present members of the senate and necessary attendants in order that the executive session secrets might not leak out papers they have been allowed to re-

The equestriennes of England-and they outnumber those of any other country in the world-do not take kindly to the practice of riding astride which has of late years been growing in favor on this side of the Atlantic, Half a century ago few English wo-men rode to hounds and up to a recent date the woman who did not follow the hunt was regarded askume by conventional society. To-day at many a meet the women equal the men in number, and it is almost as much a matter of course that a weman should ride to hounds us that she should dance. More and more, too, English girls are being trained to cross-country rid-ing at an early age. Girls of fourteen and fifteen are no uncommon sight on the hunting field, and many of them ride as straight and as pluckily as any Miss Bettle Bentlen, though only

The opposition comes, not from any conventional prejudice or fear of offending proprieties, but from a preva-lent conviction that a cross saddle will be a drawback rather than aid to woman's success in the hunting field.

Experts point out the fact that the percentage of women thrown is far less than that of men-that a stumble on landing which would throw nine out of ten men from the saddle will seldom upset a woman; that even when a horse falls, unless he rolls over, a woman who is cool and does not lose her nerve can often keep her sont, while the horse scrambles to his feet.
All these things are accounted for by

It will entirely cure the worst forms of Female Complaints, all Ovarian troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Falling and Displacement of the Womb, and consequent Spinal Weakness, and is peculiarly adapted to the Change of Life.

It has cured more cases of Backache and Leucorrhoa than any other remedy the world has ever known. It is almost infallible in such cases. It dissolves and expels tumors from the Uterus in an early stage of development, and checks any tendency to cancerous humors.

Irregular, Suppressed or Painful Menstruation, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Flooding, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility quickly yields to it.

Womb troubles, causing pain, weight, and backache, instantly relieved and permanently cured by its use. Under all circumstances it acts in harmony with the laws that govern the temale system, and is as harmless as water.

It quickly removes that Bearing-down Feeling, extreme lassi-

Is Brain Work Bad for Women? Prof. Zimmer, the famous female brain specialist, declares that in every lighty-five female patients in the lunaic asylums of Germany, Russia, Austria and Switzerland there is one school teacher. In Prassia there is one teacher to every 350 women of tha population. It seems to follow, therefore, that mental disorders among teachers are four times as numerous there as they ought to be. The case is still worse with those young women who are preparing to become teachers. Among them the cases of insanity are ten times more numerous than they ought to be. Professor Zimmer says:

"If telephone girls or salesgirls show signs of mental disturbance it is not to be wondered at, for their occupations are hardly those a woman can call suitable to her sex, but in teaching, which is usually considered a suitable employment for women, when the results are so disastrous there is every reason for serious considera-

MEALTHAMDALLITS BLESSINGS

Health will come with all its blessings to those who know the way, and it is mainly a question of right-living, with all the term implies, but the efforts which strengthen the system, the games which refresh and the foods which nourish are important, each in a way, while it is also advantageous to have knowledge of the best methods of promoting freedom from unsanitary conditions. To assist nature, when nature needs assistance, it is all important that the medicinal agents used should be of the best quality and of known value, and the one remedy which acts most beneficially and pleasantly, as a laxative, is-Syrup of Figs-manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co.

With a proper understanding of the fact that many physical ills are of a transient character and yield promptly to the gentle action of Syrup of Figs, gladness and comfort come to the heart, and if one would remove the torpor and strain and congestion attendant upon a constipated condition of the system, take Syrup of Figs and enjoy freedom from the aches and pains, the colds and headaches and the depression due to inactivity of the bowels. In case of any organic trouble it is well to consult a competent physician, but when a laxative is required remember that the most permanently gratifying results will follow personal cooperation with the beneficial effects of Syrup of Figs. It is for sale by all reliable druggists. Price fifty cents per bottle.

The excellence of Syrup of Figs comes from the beneficial effects of the plants used in the combination and also from the method of manufacture which ensures that perfect purity and uniformity of product essential in a perfect family laxative. All the members of the family from the youngest to the most a vanced in years may use it whenever a laxative is needed and share alike in its beneficial effects. We do not claim that Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of known value, but it possesses this great advantage over all other lixuitives that it acts gently and pleasantly without disturbing natural functions, in any way, as it is free from every objectionable quality or substance. To get its beneficial effects it is always necessary to buy the genuine and the full name of the Co.-California Fig Syrup Co.-is printed on the front of every
