Just now every loyal citizen of the stars and stripes is stirred up and the blood is circulating a little faster than the possibilities of war with the republic south of the Rio Grande. It is not the Mexican republic that is being brought to the mark in answer to the insult of the U. S. flag, but the individual who is usurping the powers of the afflicted nation, under whose tyranny the Mexicans are suffering.

It costs millions of dollars annually to keep a standing army and navy in readiness for war. If war must be; it costs millions of dollars a day in time to war to keep the men of war on land and water. The insult to our flag by Huerta will cost this country millions not 'mentioning the killed and those crippled for life.

The mobilization of army and navy in the southern states and borders with the allies, has but one point in view, that of protecting the rights of American citizens and the placing of an embargo on munitions of war to the Mexican government of both the rebels and federals. War will not be the result, but a union between the Mexican government and our country is forced to do so, and in that event it will be short unless other nations will coincide with her.

Side Stepping

Governor McDonald has shown the color of his feathers; and it is in no other way than side stepping some of his own remarks made at the leasehold of Democrats at Santa Fe, Saturday. At the convention the governor delivered what was termed a "remarkable speech" which was taken verbatim by a competent reporter of a Santa Fe paper.

After reading his own speech in the paper, the governor branded them as "grossly inaccurate," evidently seeing his mistake. The chief trouble with the governor is that he makes many statements which he side steps; he cannot be relied upon when he speaks. If this would have been his first offense, the public would overlook it cheerfully, but his actions in the state Reform School matters and a number of others still are fresh in the minds of the people who are not forgetful.

The governor in his ambition to play politics is creating many enemies among his most ardent admirers.

While The News has no voice in the Democratic party either county or state, it takes the liberty of making one suggestion; that of adhering to the truth during the coming campaign. A party that must resort to lies and vituperation will find it not a little more difficult to be confronted with the state government. The Republican party is not without faults. It has corrupt politicians as well as others, but it will not stand for any insinuation as it has received at the hands of incompetents politicians of late. Some of them will be shown to the public before many more moons.

Colorado is having the greatest disgrace in its history by the brutal murders committed in the strike zones, between the militia and the strikers. John D. Rockefeller has been appealed to by Pres. Wilson, to use his authority in settling the differences between the operators and strikers. It is a disgrace to the state of Colorado to harbor such warfare; it is an emblem of the shadow of an abyss.

The policy of watchful waiting will eventually cause the county law to make its appearance. The property will soon be at a point where ammunition will be gone, and in the meantime the game of freeze out is being successfully played.

A Washington paper says that President Wilson had a quiet time on his recent visit to Philadelphia. We hardly know whether to consider this a joke or a fact; and it may be both.

METHODS USED IN THE PROTECTION OF FORESTS OF U.S. FROM FIRES

Great Progress Has Been Made in the Work—Organized Plans Obtain in the National Reservations, While the Status of the Union Have Systematized Method of Preserving
Their Forests From This Sinews.

Washington—The first experimenters who have made any systematic progress in the direction of protecting the country's supply of forest reserves have, in the past few years, been engaged in the work of setting up and equipping fire lookout towers at carefully selected points on the reservations. The work is now in full swing, and the number of fires that have been extinguished by a single tower has been remarkable. At the same time, a number of the reservations have been placed under the care of fire watchers, who are kept posted on the condition of the woods and report the slightest indication of fire.

In some sections of the country, where there has always been a strong feeling against the idea of setting up fire lookout towers, the work has been met with a good deal of opposition. In some cases, the local authorities have been unable to obtain the necessary funds to carry on the work, and in other cases, the people have been so indifferent to the danger that they have refused to pay for the necessary work. In such cases, the work has been abandoned, and the forests have been left to be destroyed by fire.

In the northern states, where the forests are still large and unburned, the work is progressing rapidly. The forests are carefully guarded, and the work of extinguishing fires is being done efficiently. In the southern states, where the forests are being destroyed by fire, the work is being done with much more difficulty. The forests are being burned with such frequency that it is difficult to keep them from being destroyed.

In some cases, the forests are being destroyed by fire, and in others, by the action of the forest fires. In the southern states, where the forests are being burned with such frequency, the work is being done with much more difficulty. In the northern states, where the forests are being destroyed by fire, the work is being done with much more difficulty.

The forests of the United States are being destroyed by fire at an alarming rate. The work of extinguishing fires is being done efficiently, and the forests are being carefully guarded. However, the work is being done with much more difficulty in the southern states, where the forests are being burned with such frequency.

"No, it isn't the question, at any rate," said the bachelor, "it is the woman. She is the thing that grew out of 'Srackles' and 'Rackles'. It was the man who was then, and it is the woman who is now."

Carrel smiled and nodded, and turned to go; but the bachelor stopped him.

"I don't want to talk to you about the matter," he said, "I only wanted to show you that it is the woman who is now the most important thing in all this."

Carrel shrugged his shoulders, and went on his way.

"It is a pity," he said to himself, "that women should be the most important thing in the world."

But he knew that they were, and he knew that there was nothing to be done about it.
