TOWN HAS ENJOYED STEADY GROWTH

Many Substantial Residences and Important Business Houses Have Been Erected Here in Past 18 Months

CRYING NEED OF AN ORGANIZED CITY GOVERNMENT

As far back as we can remember Carrizozo has been steadily assuming proportions befitting a little city of modern calibre. Perhaps there was a time when Carrizozo could have been said to be a boom, when she emerged from the shadow of her present self into an important railway division point and became the logical county seat, not because of a central location in Lincoln County but because of its easy access to outside points and its superiority in all modern conveniences. This we should be justified in calling a boom, but the steady substantial growth which has characterized Carrizozo's development, both in the business and residential section since this stage in her history, we refuse to classify as a boom. A boom means a sudden and spasmodic growth, and although there have been no less than two or three residences in process of construction at all times, the town's development has been peculiarly its consistent steadiness.

The following are among those who have within the past few months built residences which would do credit to any community: Ed R. Kelley, Henry Lutz, H. B. Hamilton, T. W. Watson, J. F. Kimbell, Frank English, H. S. Campbell, F. E. Richards, Geo. L. Ulrich, W. W. Wanner, D. B. Tennis, E. B. Walker, J. N. White, Mrs. Julia Gurney (two bungalows), A. C. Hines, Julian Taylor, John Baird, George B. Barber, Porfirio Chavez, and many others.

A number of residences have received additions and extensive remodeling has greatly improved their appearance both internal and external. Among those now under process of construction are the rent cottages of Mrs. Chas. Jones and Dan Tiffany and this form of activity is not confined to any one section of town.

Important business building has been done in the erection of the spacious building now occupied by the Western Garage, the modern room occupied by Patty & Hobbs, Ziegler Brothers' new building, doubling their former space, Kelley and Son's new sporting-goods department, and many other improvements without and within, such as the new awning and concrete sidewalk in front of the Carrizozo Trading Co., a substantial enlargement of the business facilities of Humphrey Bros. and others too numerous to mention.

What does it all mean? The answer is easy. Level-headed business men prosperous ranchers and thrifty railroad operatives have the place sized up as a good one—one which they evidently believe is a good place to invest their pile. When it appeals to men of every walk of life, and the growth has this steady conservative basis upon which to operate, there is no use talking the growth is bound to continue indefinitely. There are too many different interests centered in Carrizozo for it to ever be dependent for its existence upon any one industry, and those towns which are so fortunate as to feel this independence from the caprice of fortune are few and far between.

It is the merest folly or a full-fledged burg like Carrizozo to drift along any longer without an organized city government. The time is ripe for articles of incorporation to be drawn up and duly passed. No business man of any significance will longer oppose the movement, the benefits are legion, the drawbacks none. Give the town a sure enough chance by giving it the city government it has long deserved and watch it prosper as it has never done before.

AUDITING COUNTY BOOKS

Messrs. A. G. Whittier and E. T. Wiley of the State auditor's office have been spending the week here giving the records of the various officers of the county the once over. Consequently all officials have been anxious to have everything right up to date, and things generally spick and span, and we have not heard of any irregularities of any nature whatsoever.

ANOTHER NEW RESIDENCE

Mrs. A. J. Pace has closed with Contractor English for the erection of a five-room residence on the lot adjoining the Lutz residence on Alamogordo Avenue. Rock for the foundation is already on the ground and work will begin as soon as workmen can be secured from other pressing jobs now under process of construction. The building will be so arranged that Mrs. Pace may have two rooms entirely separate for her own use and the remaining three to be rented as apartments to desirable tenants. Altogether the building when completed will do credit to the modern bungalows of the immediate neighborhood.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEET

The Missionary Society of the Methodist church was the guest Thursday afternoon of Mrs. D. N. Tinnon. An interesting business session was held, the newly elected officers in the various classes. A well-rendered and varied program was then enjoyed, followed by refreshments of a tempting nature. Mrs. R. T. Cribb will entertain the society at its next regular meeting.

POSTMORTEM EXAMINATION

Last Monday Sheriff Chavez, District Attorney Hamilton and Dr. T. W. Watson made a trip to White Oaks to conduct an autopsy over the body of Jim Telles, the young Mexican who met his death by an unknown cause.

The officers could find no signs of foul play and the verdict was rendered to the effect that the young man had come to his death from a cause unknown to the party of investigators.

District Attorney H. B. Hamilton, has returned from a business trip to El Paso and will leave to day for Estancia to attend a special term of Probate Court of Torrance county called for Saturday. From there he will go to Las Cruces to be present Monday when Judge Medler will call the civil docket for Dona Ana County; the cases to be tried in the March term of Court.

BURGLARLY AVERTED SUNDAY EVENING

Undersheriff J. B. Baird Nabs Hoboes Sunday Evening, Thereby Nipping a Proposed Depredation in Bud

DEFINITE PENALTY SHOULD BE FIXED FOR VAGRANCY

Last Sunday evening as the shades of night were falling, for they fall with a thud sometimes on dark towns; the objective point of three disgruntled hoboes was evidently the office and residence of Dr. R. T. Lucas, immediately adjoining the business district of Carrizozo. The transients made several approaches to the aforementioned premises passing and repassing the house repeatedly, finally hanging out on the approach to the Fire Department, apparently waiting the expected departure of the family to evening worship. But a counter plot develops for the doctor grows less and less religious and more and more suspicious. Deputy Sheriff Baird is summoned, comes biking to the spot, nabs the Willies, gives them a night's lodging in the county jail, with orders to leave for a healthier climate early next morning.

Just an incident you say, but was the drastic action unjustified? Not at all. Fortunately the proposed depredation was nipped in the bud and the suspects passed on to the next town. But this is one case in many and a condition which has become a genuine menace to Carrizozo as a community. Very well to strike at the evil as best we can. The efficient peace officer is strictly on the job, but the situation is a difficult one, for even a brick like him to handle.

What is the greatest hindrance to the safety of life and property in Carrizozo? Nothing more nor less than the cover of darkness. Just a few lights, placed in unobstructed places will work wonders toward brightening up our town and making its poor lucking place for the mischief, which has been perpetrated here from time immemorial. We have in the light on top of the E. P. & S. W. coal chute a concrete and practical example of what a single light, properly placed, will do toward chasing the darkness. For several blocks its light is sufficient to be appreciated by the nocturnal pedestrian, if his business is honest.

Is your business honest when you are away from home at night? If so, you should boost the lighting proposition for all you're worth. With desperate characters at large in the land, recruited from the ranks of the unemployed and morally degenerate. No, we're not trying to frighten you, but you know we're talking common sense, when we say that you ought to insist on adequate street lights for this town, just as you would tie into an insurance policy for your wife and family. Turn on the lights, Mr. Citizen of Carrizozo. You can't afford a dark town when there's a short cut out of the difficulty. We know you're not stingy, for you've a record unparalleled in generosity. Wake up, dig deep, and let's do the thing up brown—once and for all.

And incidentally we might bring this to a focus with the suggestion that some definite penalty for vagrancy would prove a wonder in making Carrizozo more attractive as to streets and vacant lots, and, best of all give us a reputation of being a poor hanging out-place for undesirables. Think it over seriously and we won't fear the consequences of a careful consideration of this all-important improvement propaganda.

BASKET BALL GAME FEB. 19

Weather conditions and previous engagements interfered and the first game of basket ball with the E. P. & S. W. General Office Team of El Paso is still a thing of the future. But, we are glad to announce that it is not of the very distant future, Saturday evening February 19th being the first engagement. The Carrizozo boys have resumed the practice and have an excellent chance to win. Not that the El Paso team is a punk one—far from that; but the Alamogordo high school team was able to defeat this team during the holidays, and the only match game which the stars of Carrizozo have gotten in on together showed that they had the goods and what they are trying to do now is to put the thing over without any hitches. The game will be at Real's Hall beginning promptly at eight-thirty. The El Paso boys have announced that they will be in on Number Four the evening of the game, and nothing will be left undone to make the game an entire success. Now let the whole town turn out and see this game. The boys have been anxious to get a chance at this team. Come and see what happens. You'll have the time of your life rooting for the home team.

MUSIC PUPILS GIVE INTERESTING RECITAL

All are Highly Pleased With the Superior Advantages Being Accorded the Children Along Musical Lines

THE SCHOOL IN ALL DEPARTMENTS DOING NICELY

One of the most successful informal recitals of the season was the varied program which the pupils in music gave to the visiting public Friday week. Those in attendance were highly pleased with the class of work which is being done, under the efficient supervision of Mrs. Harry G. Clunn and went away with a higher degree of appreciation for the superior advantages being accorded the children of Carrizozo along musical lines. They are gratified with the nature of the instruction and the hearty response of the children.

We might remind the public that this department depends for its support on the fees paid by special pupils in piano. The chorus work and singing which is given in all standard city schools is free to every child, and many are availing themselves of the opportunity to get special piano lessons from a competent teacher with a thorough conservatory training without leaving the school building. Do not be content with anything but the best which is always the cheapest and help the school to maintain its department of music. If you are not interested in this phase of the work and do not fully appreciate its value attend these free recitals and see what is being done.

Next Friday evening at eight-thirty in the school auditorium there will be a similar recital with the addition of a number of special patriotic features in honor of Geo. Washington. An extra attractive and novel feature will be given by the high-school girls class in physical culture, under the direction of Mrs. Jewett. The program will comprise a drill with dumb bells and musical accompaniment. In the light of the enthusiasm of visitors at the last entertainment a full house is confidently expected. The general public is welcome and no admission will be charged.

SCHOOLS TO DEBATE

The Carrizozo High School will meet the Lincoln Co. High School in Capitan March 10th in a debate on the question, Resolved: that an illiteracy test should be employed to restrict immigration. The Carrizozo team has taken the negative side and this modern and live question should be productive of much sound argument pro and con. Louis Adams and Dan Mayes of this year's senior class will probably represent Carrizozo.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCK

A number of Carrizozans are sure they felt nothing short of an earthquake shock Tuesday evening at 7.40. Windows rattled in Highland addition too far from the railroad yards for the quake to come from an energetic locomotive, but the malpais crater is still dormant at this writing.

Look and Feel Clean, Sweet and Fresh Every Day

Drink a glass of real hot water before breakfast to wash out poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from any store that handles drugs which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.—Adv.

His Liberality.
"I'm! This is the tenth time you have been before me," sternly said Squire Peavy.

"Yassah!" replied Brother Ramdiddy. "Tis if yo' say so, sah, but I was under de 'pression 'twuz de 'tenth. I don't puhsom to say one thing when a smart white man tells me diffunt. But let it go, anyhow, sah; I means to give good measure. Allus was plumb lib'ral dat-uh-way."—Judge.

SYRUP OF FIGS FOR A CHILD'S BOWELS

It is cruel to force nauseating, harsh physic into a sick child.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Adv.

Better think three times before extracting a dollar from your pocket to invest in a get-rich-quick proposition.

SMILES

COMIC POSSIBILITIES.

"Suppose a moving picture magnate were to offer you $1,000 a week to act in the movies?" asked the idle questioner.

"Hum!" replied the practical person. "I would be able to draw only one conclusion and that would not be an agreeable one."

"Yes?"

"As I have no histrionic ability, I would naturally suppose that my services were desired because I had a funny way of walking or the kind of face that makes people laugh."

Shut Out.

"Phew!" exclaimed Mr. Dubwaite. "I see where another corporation has cut a large melon."

"Were they entertaining their employees, dear?" asked Mrs. Dubwaite, to whom a melon by the river's brink is a melon, nothing more.

"No," replied Mr. Dubwaite. "A melon of that sort is usually cut on the polished mahogany table of a directors' room and the average employee never gets within a mile of it."

Her Idea.

"I think I'd like to join the Girl Scouts. They must have lots of fun. Learn all about woodcraft, I understand."

"And what is your idea of woodcraft?"

"Oh, getting practice in toasting marshmallows over a camp fire and learning how to gather chewing gum from the original tree."

BANG! WENT $300.

"How long were you in San Francisco?"

"Two days and a half."

"Why, I thought you intended to stay a week or two."

"Yes, but I had only $300."

More Practice.

He learned new dances each in turn. He did them all without a balm. He danced till now he has to learn to do an ordinary walk.

Unquestioning Support.

"Hiram," said Mrs. Corntossel, "how do you stand on the question of votes for women? I've decided I'm in favor of it."

"Well," replied her husband, "bein' as how I'm tired an' hungry an' you have exclusive control of the meat an' potatoes, not to mention the coffee an' pie, I'm willin' to eat the argument short an' tell you that anything you say goes with me."

His Experience.

Grim—Do you believe it is possible to heal merely by the touch?

Groome—Sure thing. A physician recently "healed" himself by touching me for forty dollars.

Cornered.

He—You women have no right to the ballot for the simple reason that in case of war you would not be able to fight.

She—Then why do you allow a man who is crippled to vote?

He—Whyer—say, if it isn't just like a woman to ask some such foolish question as that.—Boston Transcript.

No Way to Entertain a Traveling Man.
"You can always trust well-meaning persons to do the wrong thing," said the traveling man.

"What are you thinking of now?" asked the second drummer.

"I called on some dear old friends of mine in this town the other day and they insisted on taking me down to the best hotel for dinner."

Logical.

Kind Old Lady—I'm sure you won't mind my asking you, but are you a relative of Captain Jones of Mudford?

The Officer—Madame, I am Captain Jones of Mudford.

Kind Old Lady—Ah, then that accounts for the extraordinary resemblance!—London Opinion.

NOT HIS FAULT.

Employer—Here, you! I thought you said you'd rise with the lark?

Employee—That was my intention, but I couldn't find any larks.

Cheap Liberality.

Unto his friends both far and near, Without one thought of price, The average man will freely give His opinions and advice.

A Last Resort.

"You seem a man of literary taste."

"Well, I've read a few books."

"Now, I don't like poetry and don't care much for fiction, while history and philosophy nearly always put me to sleep. What would you advise me to read?"

"Umph! You might tackle a time table."

The Reason.

"Professor Diggs was late in his classroom this morning. He must have worked harder than usual last night."

"By putting two and two together, I arrive at a conclusion."

"Well?"

"Mrs. Diggs is going to read a thoughtful paper before a woman's club this afternoon."

Old Mr. Polonius.

"Listen to me now, Laertes."

"What is it, dad?"

"If you spend too much time building castles in the air, you'll have to pay rent to other people."

As Explained.

Stringem—I know a man who never has cold feet in winter.

Bingham—Indeed! What does he wear?

Stringem—Wooden legs.

The Main Thing.

He—I tell you, my dear, this is a day long to be remembered for the tremendous issues involved.

She—Yes, dear, but how could you guess baby had cut a tooth?

Mental Effort.

"Do you use slang?"

"No, I've quit. I'm speaking plain English. To have your slang correct and up to date requires altogether too much study."

Paradoxical.

"There's no royal road to riches."

"No. Every fellow who wants to travel the straight path is obliged to make long, hard detours through the mud at times."

Perfectly Proper One.

"My dear, the English lady who is visiting Mrs. De Poyster had a beautiful bun today when I called."

"Then don't you have anything more to do with her?"

TRADE INDICATIONS.

Customer—How's the business?

Merchant—It's variable. Over there in the mattress section it's so quiet you can hear the bed ticking, but here in the towels we're so busy you can't hear the crash.

SUDDEN DEATH

Caused by Disease of the Kidneys

The close connection which exists between the heart and the kidneys is well known nowadays. As soon as kidneys are diseased, arterial tension is increased and the heart functions are attacked. When the kidneys no longer pour forth waste, uramic poisoning occurs, and the person dies and the cause is often given as heart disease, or disease of brain or lungs.

It is a good insurance against such a risk to send 10 cents for a large trial package of "Anuric"—the latest discovery of Dr. Pierce. Also send a sample of your water. This will be examined without charge by expert chemists at Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. When you suffer from backache, frequent or scanty urine, rheumatic pains here or there, or that constant tired, worn-out feeling, it's time to write Dr. Pierce, describe your symptoms and get his medical opinion, without charge—absolutely free. This "Anuric" of Dr. Pierce's is 37 times more active than lithia, for it dissolves uric acid in the system, as hot water does sugar.

Simply ask for Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets. There can be no imitation. Every package of "Anuric" is sure to be Dr. Pierce's. You will find the signature on the package just as you do on Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, the ever-famous friend to ailing women.

Worry is a frequent cause and sometimes a symptom of kidney disease. Thousands have testified to immediate relief from these symptoms after using Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets for the kidneys and backache.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong, sick women well. No alcohol. Sold in tablets or liquid.

Tit for Tat.

An old carrier of the United States mail traveled on his buckboard about a dozen miles through the woods twice a week. He was an ill-humored, taciturn old fellow. One day a man who was on a walking vacation trip asked if he might have a ride with him, and being somewhat talkative, asked many questions along the way. At last the old man said: "I'm tired of your talk. I wish you'd mind your own business and let me mind mine."

The passenger subsided. After driving an hour or two in silence the old carrier discovered that his mail pouch was missing. He stopped the horses, looked all about the buckboard, and finally said to his passenger:

"I wonder what has become of that mail pouch! Have you seen it?"

"Yes."

"Well, where is it?" speaking roughly.

"It fell off the wagon about an hour ago," slowly replied the passenger; "but it wasn't any of my business."

COFFEE WAS IT.

People Slowly Learn the Facts.

"All my life I have been a slave to coffee. I kept gradually losing my health, but I used to say 'nonsense, it don't hurt me.'"

"Slowly I was forced to admit the truth and the final result was that my nervous force was shattered."

"My heart became weak and uncertain in its action and that frightened me. Then my physician told me that I must stop drinking coffee or I could never expect to be well again."

"I thought of Postum but could hardly bring myself to give up the coffee."

"Finally I concluded that I owed it to myself to give Postum a trial. I got a package and carefully followed the directions, and what a delicious, nourishing, rich drink it was! Do you know, I found it very easy to shift from coffee to Postum."

"Almost immediately after I made the change I found myself better, and as the days went by I kept on improving. My nerves grew steady, I slept well and felt strong and well-balanced. Now the old nervousness is gone and I am well once more."

It pays to give up the drink that acts on some like a poison, for health is the greatest fortune one can have. Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Postum comes in two forms:

Postum Cereal—the original form—must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—a soluble powder—dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water, and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. 30c and 60c tins.

Both kinds are equally delicious and cost about the same per cup.

FALLING HAIR MEANS DANDRUFF IS ACTIVE

Save Your Hair! Get a 25 Cent Bottle of Danderine Right Now—Also Stops Itching Scalp.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its luster, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any store, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, luster and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp. Heeded the Sign.

Near Springfield, Mass., there is a big parklike estate owned by a man who has a strong detestation of trespassers. To prevent the violation of his privacy, he posted all manner of warning signs on his place.

One evening he encountered a strange couple taking a "lovers' walk" on his property.

"Can't you read?" growled the owner, as he pointed to a sign.

"We can read, all right," said the woman.

"That sign there?" demanded the man with another growl.

"We have read it," returned the other. "It says 'Private,' and that's just why we came down here."—Everybody's Magazine.

INDIVIDUAL HOG HOUSE

Excellent Type of Structure Used at Government Farm.

Structure Presents Very Attractive Appearance and Has Proved Satisfactory in Service—Details of Construction.

There are numerous forms of individual hog houses constructed to be portable and adapted to accommodate a sow with pigs, or two or three hogs. Almost every portable house that is built possesses certain features peculiar to itself and rendered necessary by the circumstances which it is intended to meet. The type of hog house described here has been successfully used on the government experimental farm at Beltsville, Md.

Front and End View of Portable Hog House; Roof Open for Sunshine, Back Open for Shade.

This house presents a very attractive appearance and has proved satisfactory in general service. It is simple in construction and possesses all the essentials of an ideal hog house. It can be moved from place to place whenever desired. The perpendicular walls furnish plenty of floor space, which can be used to good advantage. The doors, ventilators, and roof are so arranged as to provide for ample fresh air and shade. The wires fastened to the roof and lying on it serve to hold up the back for ventilation and to shade the ground. The back is swung open and the hooks that hold it shut are hooked in these pieces of wire. In the winter the house can be closed to shut out the cold winds and the roof opened to give fresh air and sunlight to the interior.

In moving the house a good way is to take a chain or a strong rope and fasten it to the runners through the holes bored for the purposes, fasten to a clevis, hitch on a team, and take the house wherever desired.

The runners are the foundation of the house and should be of sufficient dimension (3 by 6 inches) to hold the house well off the ground. Wood which is short-lived and decays when placed in contact with the ground can not be recommended. The more durable woods are fir and cypress. Two joists are used to stiffen the floor, so 1-inch material is of sufficient thickness to make a good floor. The frame is built of 2 by 4-inch material.

The house is covered with 3/4 by 2-inch tongued-and-grooved pine boards, which is very tight and sheds water. Ten-inch shiplap could be used satisfactorily and will reduce the cost of building the house. A satisfactory fender is made by fastening 2 by 4-inch pieces flatwise 6 inches from the floor. Fenders are absolutely necessary for the protection of the young pigs.

STRIDES IN EGG PRODUCTION

Delaware Station Poultrymen Confronted With Hen Which Laid 314 Eggs in 365 Days.

Not very many years ago the 200-egg hen made her appearance. She was not greeted with open arms by poultrymen, but was rather considered to be a freak—an exceptional being that would not perpetuate her kind. Her cool reception, however, was no more than over before the 200-egg hen became a "common" occurrence. In the four Missouri egg-laying contests 249 hens (or 10%) laid 200 eggs or over. The individual record last year went to a Buff Wyandotte with 257; in the Connecticut contest, a Rhode Island Red laid 257 eggs in the same period.

But with the close of the Philadelphia-North American contest at the Delaware station poultrymen are confronted with a hen which laid 314 eggs in 365 days; Oregon hens have also produced over 300 eggs in a year. How is the 200-egg hen being re-

THE BUILDING OF A COUNTRY

The Natural Pride of Those Who Take Part in It.

To those who have built railroads through and across the prairies of Western Canada, connecting that great empire of grain and cattle, horse and sheep with the world's markets in the east, must be awarded the privilege of looking upon their work, and its results with pardonable pride. If they remembrance, and tell of the hardships and the privations, why shouldn't they? The broad prairies on which the buffalo roamed and fed, are now alive with cities, towns and villages. Farms—large and small—on which machinery has chased the bugaboo of laborious work off the farm, and making farm life one of the most pleasant and prosperous of occupations—are being cultivated by men of the highest stamp of manhood. Many of these have inherited from their forebears the physical strength and the high type of manliness that was theirs in the days when they hewed their homes out of the virgin forest, and made them what may be seen today, beautiful farms in the east. On the whole the western prairies breed a high type of manhood, wrest from him faults and diseases which would be his were it not for the upbuilding influence and character of prairie life.

When the builder of the western Canadian prairie looks upon the result of his work, why shouldn't his chest expand? It was probably some of this feeling of pride that took possession of Sir Donald Mann, vice president of the Canadian Northern Railway the other day in Winnipeg, when he said: "I am not in the habit of giving advice, but I have no hesitation of advising the young men of Canada, every young man, to get out and get a piece of western Canada's land that now can be had for the asking and be their own masters."

"It was 36 years ago when I first came to Winnipeg," he said. "At that time there were less than 150,000 people west of Lake Huron in Canada, and the only bit of railway in operation was between St. Boniface and Emerson—about sixty miles. Today there are nearly 20,000 miles of railway in actual operation and the population is over two and a quarter million, a wonderful achievement in such a short period you will agree, when you have contemplated it a moment."

"At that time all the flour, meat and many other supplies for our contracts were brought from the States. Now consider what the west is doing today. You have a grain production exceeding a billion bushels and yet only a comparatively small area of the tillable land of the country is occupied. Five years hence you will be more than doubling that."—Advertisement.

WOMEN SUFFERERS NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer a great deal with pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness and may be despondent and irritable.

Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, restores health to the kidneys and is just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Get a fifty cent or one dollar bottle immediately from any drug store.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

RAINFALL EFFECTS ON YIELD

There Are Many Practical Methods of Holding Spring Rains Which Are Usually Abundant.

The amount of rainfall during July and August practically determines the size of the corn and root crops. If the rainfall is below normal or below the requirements of these crops, the yield is cut short, and in some instances a failure. It is also a well-known fact that even in years of insufficient rainfall, some farmers grow crops above the average.

As farmers, we cannot change the amount of rainfall by any methods that are practicable. But there are practical methods of holding the spring rains which are usually abundant. Of these methods deep plowing, thorough harrowing and rolling before planting is by far the best and most practical. If cultivation is given at the right time and is thorough, the ground will be so deep, finely pulverized, not only on the surface, but several inches below the surface, that it will be capable of holding a large amount of water. The fine top soil will act as a mulch to prevent evaporation in hot weather. Farmers are coming to see the importance of having a thick grass and clover sod, which may be plowed in the fall or in the early spring, for their corn and potatoes.

The three-horse plow, the steel disk and the spring harrow will make a deep, mellow bed for the roots to spread out and run deep for their plant food and moisture needed to make the grain and the roots.

DEEP STORAGE OF MOISTURE

Soil Must Be Kept in Absorptive, Spongelike Condition—Compact Soil Is Harmful.

(By H. D. SCHUBERT, Oregon Experiment Station.)

Deep storage of moisture, requisite to successful dry farming, can be secured only by keeping the surface soil in an absorptive, spongelike condition. This should be continued as far as possible through the entire precipitation period, by good preparation of the soil.

Plowing and disking and increasing the humus content of the soil are the chief means of keeping the surface conditions favorable, permitting the moisture to strike in both by percolation and capillary attraction downward. If the surface soil is closely compacted during winter and early spring the surface water runs off, damaging the surface by washings and the subsoils by keeping them dry. Roots of corn grown on soils in this condition lack the moisture and feeding area to be secured in dry farming countries chiefly from deeply-stored moisture.

GOOD ALFALFA NURSE CROP

Light Seeding of Not Over One Bushel of Barley or Oats Per Acre Is Highly Important.

Especially on fields which have grown alfalfa successfully seeding with a nurse crop gives good results. Fall plow if the land is not too hilly and washing is apt to occur. If spring plowed the soil should be rolled after seeding so as to make a compact seedbed, which is very essential for the alfalfa. A light harrowing after rolling is necessary to form a loose mulch which prevents rapid drying and evaporation.

A light seeding of not over one bushel of barley or oats per acre is highly important. Heavy seedings of the nurse crop are very dangerous and usually crowd the alfalfa so as to stunt its development and a poor stand results. If barley is used as a nurse crop it may be cut for grain. Oats ripen later and must be cut for hay so as not to check the growth of the alfalfa.

INFERTILE EGGS KEEP BEST

Cockerel Is in the Way Unless Eggs Are Wanted for Hatching—Fertile Egg Soon Spoils.

It has been demonstrated time and time again that fertile eggs do not remain usable so long as infertile eggs. Infertile eggs are laid by hens that do not have a rooster running with them.

These eggs, that is infertile eggs, will not hatch. The rooster makes the fertile eggs, but he does not help the hen to lay.

A fertile egg is not perfect for food after being incubated at 103 degrees F. for 24 hours, but an infertile egg is still usable as food after being kept at 103 degrees F. for seven days.

INDIGESTION, GAS OR SICK STOMACH

Time it! Pape's Diapiesin ends all Stomach misery in five minutes.

Do some foods you eat hit back—taste good, but work badly; ferment into stubborn lumps and cause a sick, sour, gassy stomach? Now, Mr. or Mrs. Dyspeptic, let this down: Pape's Diapiesin digests everything, leaving nothing to sour and upset you. There never was anything so safely quick, so certainly effective. No difference how badly your stomach is disordered you will get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it strengthens and regulates your stomach so you can eat your favorite foods without fear.

You feel different as soon as "Pape's Diapiesin" comes in contact with the stomach—distress just vanishes—your stomach gets sweet, no gases, no belching, no eructations of undigested food.

Go now, make the best investment you ever made, by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin from any store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or bad stomach. Adv.

PRESIDENT OPENS PERSONAL
APPEAL FOR PREPAREDNESS
IN NEW YORK ADDRESS.

Declares the "American People Will
at No Time Seek a Contest, But
They Will at No Time Cravenly
Avoid It."

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

President Wilson's Warning to America

"I cannot tell you what the international relations of this country will be tomorrow, and I use the word literally. And I would not dare keep silent and let the country suppose that tomorrow was certain to be as bright as today."

"The American people will at no time seek a contest, but they will at no time cravenly avoid it. What America has to fear, if she has anything to fear, are indirect, roundabout, flank movements upon her position in the western hemisphere."

New York, Jan. 29.—President Wilson Thursday night opened his personal appeal to the country for national defense. He gave warning that plans for the readjustment of the army must be formulated and carried out without delay, and solemnly declared he could not predict that the outlook for the United States would be as bright tomorrow as today. Speaking at banquets of the Railway Business Association and the Motion Picture Board of Trade, he sounded the keynote of addresses that he will deliver during the next ten days in the Middle West. Mr. Wilson was in a fighting mood throughout his address. In a speech delivered early in the day he declared he always accepted an invitation to fight.

At night he told the railway men he was an advocate of peace, and had struggled to keep the United States at peace, but he considered the liberty and honor of the nation even more important than peace.

"Woe to Marplots."

"Woe to any man who plays marplot, or who seeks to make party politics or personal ambition take precedence over candor, honor and unselfish, unpartisan service!" said the President in speaking of his defense plan, before the railroad men.

He declared that the country expects action; this is a year of accounting, and the accounting must be definite on the part of the parties and on the part of every individual who wishes to enjoy the public confidence. "For my part, I hope every man in public life will get what's coming to him," said Mr. Wilson, amid laughter and applause.

Turns Down Suffrage Plea.

The President refused to support the movement for an amendment to the federal constitution providing for woman suffrage. He spoke briefly to 100 members of the Congressional Union for woman suffrage, telling them he felt the suffrage question should be dealt with by individual states.

The President admitted that in a message to the last Congress he had said the need for preparedness was not pressing. He declared that he had learned differently in the meantime. He cited his recent support of a Tariff Commission as another instance of a change on his part, but declared that previously there was no need for such a commission. Mr. Wilson spoke of men of high character who were clouding the preparedness issue. He declared they were provincial, and that the United States could no longer cut itself off from the rest of the world.

Discusses Mexican Policy.

The President vigorously discussed his Mexican policy. He asserted that to invade Mexico would mean the loss of confidence of the rest of the western hemisphere. He cited the freeing of Cuba as an instance of good done by the United States.

"If we are drawn into the maelstrom which now surges in Europe," the President declared, "we shall not be permitted to do the high things we would prefer."

The President defended the continental army plan drawn up by Secretary Garrison and said that he did not care about the details of any plan as long as 500,000 trained men were provided as reserves under the federal government.

He advocated strengthening the national guard, but said the constitution itself put the guard under the state. He said that the United States will not turn in the direction of militarism.

The President at both banquets and all during his day's visit to New York was greeted with enthusiasm.

For President
LAWRENCE Y. SHERMAN
of Illinois

Wilson's Mexican policy was once regarded by him as excellent political capital. He now finds that it is capital which produces no dividends

Chairman McCombs says that the one-term plank in the Baltimore platform was "not a mandate".
Certainly not. It was "molasses to catch flies," if we may borrow the language of the most distinguished and the most destructive assailant
of planks in the Baltimore platform.

The Springfield "Republican"
admits that "the Republican party has always been, in this generation,
the party of power and efficiency
what there is of it in America".
This is indeed praise from Sir Hubert when one regards the attitude of the "Republican" toward the Republican party in this generation.
It may be unfair to infer that the Springfield "Republican" prefers a party of weakness and inefficiency
but it has of late been found in opposition to the Republican party,
at any rate.

Why censure Mr. McAdoo because he has appointed five or six cousins,
nephews and nieces to Federal office in and around New York? That is the well established custom of this administration. McAdoo is himself the President's son-in-law.
Bryan has two sons at the public trib. Secretary Wilson's daughter has had hers from the Federal treasure. While to enumerate the minor office-holder who have handed out some of the lesser things to their own kin would be to fill up a column of fine newspaper type.
McAdoo may have been wrong in naming his relatives for office, but he was strictly in observance of the tradition of this administration.

No matter how he finally decides the controversy, Mr. Wilson is bound to be the loser in the contest over the New York City postoffice. If he yields to Tammany and appoints its man in the face of the protests of those who call themselves "the better element," he will meet a loss in prestige among his thick and thin supporters. He has already intimated his willingness to oblige Tammany in this matter and the outcry has been prolonged and bitter even the reform Democratic mayor of New York joining in it.
On the other hand, if he should now fail to appoint the Tammany man upon whom he has looked with favor, he will incur further enmity
at the hands of the Murphy men
and will be subject to the reproach that he lacked the nerve to go through with the business after he had once embarked upon it.

From an inspired source comes the information that when President Wilson went to Philadelphia, three days after the sinking of the "Lusitania," and told of being "too proud to fight," he was outlining a policy personal to himself, not necessarily for the nation. This explanation emphasizes one of the chief defects in Mr. Wilson's character, a defect which his old associates at Princeton came to understand only too well. Mr. Willson has always held that two separate codes of ethics may be maintained
one for an individual and another for an institution or a government.
So long as a man holding such an opinion is merely a private citizen and is privileged to exercise only his personal code, no great harm may be done. But when he becomes a president—either of a university or of a republic, he is apt to confuse his two codes and to impose his personal code upon the institution or upon the country. That is exactly what took place at Princeton—where the results were not happy, to say the least. That is exactly what is taking place in the nation—where the results have proven disastrous. The remedy at Princeton was found in the retirement of the president of the university. The remedy in the nation will be similar.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1, 1916
To the Republican voters of the State of New Mexico.

Subject to the determination of the Republican Convention of the state, I announce myself as a candidate for re-election as a member of the U. S. Senate. I have now served the people of New Mexico
in that position nearly four years.
I have endeavored in all things to represent and bring about the best interests of the state. I have attended to my duties constantly and believe that in my efforts I have made good. I have as far as possible attended to all matters which have been asked of me by our people and kept every one fully informed as to progress. I have supported and will continue to support with all my ability and energy those propositions which tend to the betterment of the state and its people, such as supporting a tariff for protection for our industries; for good wages; for an increase of the army and navy to prepare us to meet aggressions from abroad; for the improvement of our mining laws and mining industries; for the development of our lands; for an increase of the amount to be taken up as a homestead; for irrigation;
for the betterment and protection of our live-stock industries and the advertisement of the state and its resources to induce immigration and capital to come to us and invest.

I am an unwavering Republican in politics. I am supporting and will continue to support and use my utmost efforts to bring about the success of its principles, as well as the protection of our people and property, financially and personally, at home and abroad and continue to demonstrate people I am their true and unfaltering friend as I have heretofore been on all occasions when opportunity afforded.

The Republican party is now in the minority in the Senate and has been for nearly three years. It therefore has been impossible to accomplish all that was desired, but it is confidently believed our party will be in the majority not only in the House of Representatives, but also in the Senate, and furthermore that it will have the presidency at the election this year.
All legislation is practically determined in the committees of the two Houses. Nothing can be acted upon in the Senate until first considered and reported by committees.

A member, like myself, who has been in the Senate three or four years is first placed on the committees at the foot of his party and gradually makes his way to the top of his party's side. His influence in the Committees and the Senate increases with his term of service. I am on several very important committees. If the Republicans gain the Senate next election I will be continued on those committees near the head and will be made chairman of one of them, where it will be made possible to do much more than I have done and give me a vast deal more influence.

If re-elected, as I hope to be, I will be able to do much for our people and the state.

T. B. CATRON.

SCHOOL NOTES

Miss Frances Duran teacher of the Upper Glencoe school has resigned on account of poor health.

Attendance in all of the schools is again nearly normal, the grippe patients having recovered. All are working for creditable display at the Capitan School Meeting, March 10 and 11.

Hondo directors received the completed work of the contractor who gave a new bond for the completion of the work when the weather conditions will allow outside work. School was held in the commodious new rooms last week. A marvelous change has been made in the remodeling of the old building of this district two large rooms with cloak rooms and vestibule, excellent light and ventilation are features of the new building. The district may well be proud of the improvement.

Picacho directors hastened the work on their new building that J.
W. McCampbell who fills the vacancy made by the marriage of Miss Akers, may begin to teach in it Monday. This is the most near complete one-room building in the county with vestibule, cloak rooms, ventilation and lighting of approved design. The finishing inside and out is of the best. It has been proposed to add a room, and bring the children from the Sunset Ranch neighborhood to the town, two-room building each day.

The people at Tinnie are not behind their neighbors in progressiveness in schools for they have added a well built room with new equipment to the school building and are employing two teachers this term.

All of the five school buildings of the Ruidoso have been put into good condition, S. D. no. 3 having added a room and has two teachers.
The saying that good roads and schools go hand in hand seems exemplified as both on the Hondo, and Ruidoso are the best ever known.

County School Superintendent,
Mrs. Gumm spend the past week

now are in sixth place.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition
of the mucous surface.
We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

REGARDING SALE OF STATE LANDS

Editor "Carrizozo Outlook"
Carrizozo, N. M.

Dear Sir:

There seems to be some misunderstanding regarding the advertisement of sale of state land. For general information regarding same, part of section ten of the Enabling Act is quoted and reads as follows:

"Said lands shall not be sold or leased, in whole or in part, except to the highest and best bidder at a public auction to be held at the county seat of a county wherein the lands to be affected, or the major portion thereof, shall lie, notice of which public auction shall first have been duly given by advertisement; which shall set forth the nature, time, and place of the transaction to be had, with a full description of the lands to be offered and be published once each week for not less than ten successive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation published regularly at the state capital, and in that newspaper of like circulation which shall then be regularly published nearest to the location of such lands as offered; nor shall any sale or contract for the sale of any timber or other natural product of such lands be made save at the place, in the manner, and after the notice by publication thus provided for sales and leases of the lands themselves, provided, that nothing herein contained shall prevent said proposed State from leasing any of said lands referred to in this section for a term of five years or less without said advertisement herein required."

The State Land Office has designated the State Record as the paper located at the Capital for such notices and has, in practically every case, designated a paper nearest to the land for such local advertisements.

When parties make inquiry as to where they can find land sale notices published, it is difficult to tell them the county paper in which the notice will be placed; until the land is ready for sale, as the land may be in varying sized tracts. Therefore, such parties are informed that the notices will always be found in the State Record.

Yours respectfully,
Robt. P. Ervin
Commissioner,

WANTED ON FORGERY CHARGE

Santa Fe, Jan. 28.—Requisition papers have been issued for Charles W. Morrison, son of a wealthy ranch man at Corona Lincoln county, held at Portland, Ore., on charge of uttering forged checks to the amount of $11,500, but wanted in Los Angeles on the charge of defrauding the Diamond Palace Jewelry store.

Morrison, after a romantic marriage and a race in a taxicab in Los Angeles to catch a boat to San Francisco, was arrested shortly after his arrival in Portland. Mrs. Morrison was formerly Miss Adele B. Robinson, of Roswell. Her marriage was the culmination of a romance begun in childhood. The boy and girl were schoolmates in the middle west and grew up together. Several months ago they met in El Paso at the home of a mutual friend and a hasty marriage followed.

LAND VALUES ARE INCREASING

In England the highest ambition of a majority of well-to-do men is to have a "place" in the country. They don't banker after city living the year around; indeed, they don't banker after it at all, except as it may be forced upon them in order that they may live near their business. But the minute their business reaches such a point as to afford them some leisure, or the minute they acquire sufficient means to retire, they seek a home in the country. England has good roads, though in very early times none were worse and these country residents are never beyond the reach of good markets and of the supplies which good markets offer. A country house ten miles from a market town, but connected with it by a good road—a road good at all seasons and in all weathers—hasn't really so difficult of access as some country houses within a mile of some of our city limits.

Has it ever occurred to landholders in some of our own towns that good roads to their lands would not only bring those lands nearer the markets they raise produce for, but would also bring those lands nearer the city where business men do business, make them more available for residence and increase their value? No man wants to travel two or more miles every day to and from the city where his business is located over such "roads" as we have found existing in various parts of the country. No wonder the "state road" system has become so popular. But many men would be glad to drive their buggy or auto five or even more miles every day if the roads offered them were such that the drive was a daily pleasure and did not put them at an unreasonable distance from their offices in point of time.

RURAL SCHOOL TERMS

In most States school days for country children are fewer than for city children. The average length of school term in cities of the United States is one hundred and eighty-five days; in rural communities one hundred and thirty-eight days, a difference of forty-seven days. In some States the difference is much greater than this average. In many counties the average length of the rural school term is less than one hundred days, and in some districts it is less. On the other hand, in the States of California, New York and Connecticut, the country schools are in session one hundred and eighty days in a year, and in several other States almost as long. The country schools of Rhode Island are in session one hundred and ninety days in a year.

If all children are to have an equal opportunity for education we must even up the school terms of the country and give to all country children at least as many days as are now given to city children. One hundred and eighty-five days of schooling a year for all children will not be too much. There are countries in which the schools, both for city and country, are in session from two hundred and twenty to two hundred and fifty days or more in the year. American children need as much education as those of any other country, and this applies to the rural as well as urban districts.

UNIVERSAL PEACE

This nation is now in the midst of a controversy as to how best to promote universal peace. That question we will leave for diplomats to discuss, but peace within nations is no less important than peace between nations and it is heavily laden with prosperity for every citizen within our commonwealth.

Many leading politicians and oftentimes political platforms have declared war upon business and no cabinet crisis ever resulted. Many men have stood in high places and hurled "gas bombs" at industry; thrust bayonets into business enterprises and bombarded agriculture with indifference. Party leaders have many times broken diplomatic relations with industry; sent political aviators spying through the affairs of business, and political submarines have sent torpedoes crushing into the destiny of commerce. During the past quarter of a century we have fought many a duel with progress, permitted many politicians to carry on a guerrilla warfare against civilization and point a pistol at the heart of honest enterprise.

No man should be permitted to cry out for universal peace until his record has been searched for explosives, for no vessel armed or laden with munitions of war should be given a clearance to sail for the port of Universal Peace. Let us by all means have peace, but peace, like charity, should begin at home.

Dead!

Breathes there a man with soul so dead
Who never to himself hath said:
"My trade of late is getting bad;
I'll try another eight-inch ad."
If such there be, go mark him well
For him no bank account shall swell,
No angels watch the golden stair
To welcome home the millionaire.
The man who never asks for trade
By local line or ad. displayed,
Cares more for rest than worldly gain
And patronage but gives him pain.
Tread lightly, friends! let no rude sound
Disturb his solitude profound;
Here let him live in calm repose
Unsought except by men he owes.
And when he dies, go, plant him deep,
That naught may break his dreamless sleep—
Where no rude clamor may disport
The quiet that he loved so well.
And when the world may know its loss,
Place on his grave a wreath of moss
And on the stone above, "Here lies
A chump who wouldn't advertise."

TWELVE DISTINCT CLASSES OF CHICKENS

Columbian Wyandotte, White Leghorn and White Wyandotte.

(By RUPERT L. STEWART, New Mexico State College.)

"What is the best breed of poultry?" This is a question that is so often asked that a few words by way of explanation might not be amiss.

In the first place there is no such thing as "the best breed" for all locations and conditions. There are so many things that enter into the selection of a breed of fowls that one can readily see how utterly impossible an accurate answer is to so general a question.

In the second place there are some twelve distinct classes of chickens, and in each class there are from three to six breeds, and these breeds divided into from six to twelve varieties. Each class, breed, or variety has some points that make it particularly well adapted to the purpose for which it is intended. And right here lies the important point in deciding upon the kind of poultry to keep. First of all decide whether you are to raise chickens for eggs, meat, or both, and your problem is more than half solved.

There are three classes of chickens that the farmer needs to consider in selecting his farm flock, viz.:

(a) Asiatic class, including the Brahmas, Langshans, and Cochins, which are large in frame, rather coarse and fairly clumsy, somewhat unproductive, exceedingly broody in temperament, but make poor mothers because of their clumsiness. As meat producers they are not very popular because they are heavy eaters; they are, however, good as heavy roasters. The Brahmas are the most popular breed of this class.

(b) American class, which includes the Plymouth Rocks, Wyandottes and the Rhode Island Reds. This is a dual-purpose class, having reasonably good production and excellent meat qualities. They are hardy, attractive, and have good material qualities. The Plymouth Rocks are the most popular breed generally, but all of the three breeds in this class are of wide distribution. The Orpington breed belongs to the English class but has the same general characteristics as the breeds in the American class.

(c) The Mediterranean class includes the Leghorns, Anconas, Minorcas, Hamburgs, Spanish, Andalusians, etc. This is distinctly the egg laying class, and are active, prolific, nervous, small, non-broody, but very hardy. The White Leghorns are the most popular variety in this class. They lay a white egg of medium size and reach the period of production earlier than any other class of birds. In other words, the White Leghorn hen is the most practical egg laying machine that we have today.

BUYERS DISLIKE SCALY LEGS

Unusually Disease Renders Plumpest of Chickens Difficult to Sell—Grass Range Helpful.

The unsightly poultry disease, known as scaly legs, is exceedingly injurious to the marketability of chickens, making them objectionable sights to buyers. Moreover, it is extremely contagious, one diseased fowl being enough to infect an entire flock in short order. This information should be especially interesting to South Carolina poultrymen, since the extension poultry husbandman of Clemson college states that he has seen more of the scaly-leg disease in this state than anywhere else he has ever been.

The disease appears only on the legs of fowls and is caused by the ravages of a mite which bears the name sarcoptes mutans. It is more likely to be found where fowls are kept in a small yard or on the bare ground. A good grass range is helpful in overcoming the disease.

To treat scaly legs, thoroughly cleanse the legs by washing with hot water, soap, and a handy brush. Dry them and immerse them in a solution of equal parts of coal oil, (kerosene) and cottonseed oil. Treat the fowls' legs in this way twice daily for a few days and then once daily until the shanks resume their natural appearance.

GOOD TREATMENT FOR COLDS

Whooping or Difficult Breathing of Fowl May Be Doctored With Lard and Turpentine.

Before you shut up the poultry house for the night, especially in bad weather, listen for any chance wheezing or difficult breathing. If you hear anything of the kind locate the fowl immediately and put it by itself in some well sheltered nook. Never leave a fowl of this kind with the whole flock.

Colds are catching in fowls as well as man. A first good doctoring with warm lard mixed with half turpentine, and a little coal oil added, will often be all the doctoring needed to rout the wheezing or rattling.

For a grown fowl give a teaspoonful of this three times the first day and grease the throat outside with the same preparation.

KEEP THE LAYING HENS BUSY

Fowls With Long Toenails Are Set- dom Good Egg Producers—Keep Birds in Condition.

The success of egg production depends largely upon the activity of the bird. The reason the Leghorns excel in egg production is largely because they keep themselves in good physical condition. They exercise. The hen that is inactive and shows long toenails is seldom a good producer. The hen that is first off of the roost in the morning, keeps busy during the day and is last to go to roost at night is the profitable hen.

Some birds have the disposition to take exercise; others have to be forced. This is especially true of the heavier breeds. Strains of Rocks and other breeds are inclined to be lazy and in a short time get so fat that they cannot produce eggs in satisfactory quantities. The circulation of blood to the ovary is restricted by the excessive fat. This unquestionably interferes with the normal functioning of the ovary and reduces egg production.

Exercise can best be encouraged by not overfeeding. The poultry house should be bedded with a foot or more of straw and the grain buried in this. The skill of the poultry feeder is tested by the manner in which he compels the hens to exercise.

Overfeeding causes inactivity, which will be manifested by few holes being dug in the straw. Egg production is quite largely dependent upon keeping the birds in condition. In summer it can be encouraged by sawing the yards and letting the hens dig up the grain.

BEST RESULTS FROM LAYERS

Wisconsin Expert Recommends Animal and Ground Food, With Generous Supply of Green Stuff.

"Animal food, ground food and a generous supply of green stuff produces the best results for laying fowls," says J. G. Halpin, head of the poultry department of the University of Wisconsin.

An experienced poultryman says that when his hens and chickens have had access to charcoal he has never had a case of bowel trouble in his flock.

IN TRENCHES AT 76

French Veteran of 1870 Is Doing His Share.

Corporal Surruque, Twelve Years Mayor of Auxerre, Is Still Hale and Hearty and Does His Bit Like the Others.

Paris.—The Paris Journal Officiel recently published the following honorable mention in army orders:

"Corporal Surruque, Charles, entered under No. 9,131, in company 9-2 T of the Sixth regiment of Engineers, second company of the corps, veteran soldier of 1870, chevalier of the Legion of Honor, enlisted as volunteer for the duration of the war at the age of seventy-six years, asked to go to the front as second sapper and miner, takes part without any physical weakness in all the work carried on day and night under fire of the enemy, animated with the highest conscientiousness and the most noble conception of his duty toward his country, and offers to his younger comrades a model discipline of duty and energy."

Seeing this description of the old young man a correspondent of the illustration of Paris set out for the front to find him. After wandering about the trenches in zigzag fashion the correspondent saw a rather small man with white beard and the insignia of an engineer on his cap. Remembering Stanley's description of how he met Livingstone in the heart of Africa and walked up to him, saying "Mr. Livingstone, I presume?" the correspondent accosted the engineer: "Corporal Surruque, are you not?"

The engineer was completely taken aback at the idea that anyone would want to interview him, but finally led the newspaper man into a subterranean shelter, which was very humid and from the roof of which large drops of water fell on the correspondent's notebook.

Asked how he kept so well, Corporal Surruque replied that he did it by walking. Having been occupied with work on country roads, a thirty-mile walk was nothing to him.

For twelve years before the war he had been mayor of Auxerre, in the department of the Yonne. Before that, as a civil engineer, he had been engaged in railroad construction and especially on the railway from Arras to Etaples, for which he offered the plans in 1872. That year he drove the first spade at the station of St. Polen-Termolse, in the same place where forty-four years later he has come to handle the spade and pick as an ordinary sapper.

In 1871 he belonged to the army of Faidherbe and was captain of engineers engaged in constructing defense works in the valley of Scarpe. He was twice honorably mentioned then, once for having remained at his post when the other workers fled, fearing a German advance on Athies, near Arras, and again for having saved a wounded officer by carrying him to the rear.

In 1875 Mr. Surruque entered the service of public roads in the Dordogne, where he remained six years, and then took up the same kind of work in the Yonne for twenty years. Elected member of the municipal council of Auxerre, he soon became the leading man and was mayor of the town from 1900 to 1912. His administration of public roads and works caused him to be attached to the inspection department of the ministry of the interior.

Such was the civil career of this modest and brave man. When asked about his present service and whether his companions knew who he was, he said: "They don't know much about me and I am not going to tell them. I am Surruque, who does his bit of trench work like the rest, and that is all. These days what one has done in civil life doesn't count. Everybody is equal in the common effort. When a man has physical vigor which can be used there should be no hesitation."

"I passed the medical examination and they were forced to take me. Then I had three months of instruction in novelties which we knew nothing about in 1870 and in July left for the front. I took part in all the works of preparation for the drive in September and on October 1 I was named a corporal."

"The war cross which they have given to me surprised me, for I did nothing for that. I have done less than others who have been here since the beginning. I know they are decorating my years, but as my age does not count with me I am a little ashamed before my comrades."

"The only advantage of age is to have a little influence over the younger ones. When they grow impatient I tell them of 1870 and contrast it with what we have done today. We, who were not ready, have stopped at the Marne and the Yser an enemy superior in numbers and formidably organized. We have imposed on him our will. He has submitted to our law and when the time has come we will crush him!"

FINDS WATCH IN A SEWER

New Machine Brings It Out After It Had Been There Two Years.

Wichita, Kan.—A gold watch and fob were taken out of a sewer in the alley at the rear of the Coleman Lamp company's factory on North St. Francis avenue by the new sewer cleaning machine owned by the city. The works of the watch were rusted so that the parts fell out when the case was opened. Who is the owner of the watch is not known. It had been in the sewer for a couple of years, it is believed.

The new machine is the most modern apparatus that is in use for cleaning sewers and was purchased recently. It is constructed with two four-wheel trucks and each truck is equipped with 400 feet of cable. On the cables are the cups of five different sizes. The machine will remove brick, tin cans, dirt and other objects from the sewer.

WILD MAN IN MOUNTAINS

Has Long Hair and Beard and Clothes Himself in Strips of Cloth.

Sisson, Cal.—Down in Box Canyon, a wild and rugged spot through which the Sacramento flows on its way to the sea, a wild man has been seen, but only for a brief moment, as he quickly disappears on the approach of anyone.

One person who has seen him says that his hair is long enough to reach to his hips and a heavy growth of beard covers his face. His garments appeared to be of strips of blankets or sacks tied around his body, and his legs and feet were bare.

It appears to be a case of some poor fellow with his mind gone, who is roaming about through the woods. No depredations have been committed by him, and as he was only seen once, in all likelihood he has moved to some other locality.

This may be the same wild man who was seen in the northern part of the county of Trinity and other counties bordering on Siskiyou.

WOOL IN PLACE OF COTTON

Comforts Filled With the Former Material Are Much Lighter Than Those Generally in Use.

For the last year or two the shops have shown an article of bedding which, though in use in many farm homes, had not been familiar on the counters. This is the wool-filled comfort, that is destined to take the place of the cotton-wadded comforters. Now however, as well as the completed comforts, there are to be had in many shops sheets of carded wool with which to make up these comforts at home, covering them with silk, satin, or patchwork.

The sheet wadding comes in three weights, all having the same dimensions—72 by 84 inches. The lightest contains one pound of wool. It is designed as filling for a crib quilt and to be folded over into half size. The next heavier weighs two pounds, while the heaviest weighs three pounds. Ready-made wool comforts can be bought at various prices, from about $4 according to the thickness of the wool and the quality of the covering.

Many housekeepers now prefer wool-filled comforts to those filled with down, since the wool-filled comforts never "shed" as down puffs will after usage. They are especially desirable for children and for elderly persons, since they are warm but not heavy. A three-pound wool comfort weighs about half as much as a full-sized woolen blanket.

Sateen makes an excellent covering for wool comforts. A flowered center, bordered with a plain color, is especially attractive. It can be knotted with silk or quilted in any fancied pattern.

KEEPS WHIPPED CREAM FIRM

Method That Will Do Away With a Great Deal of the Trouble That Sometimes Bothers Cooks.

Heavy whipped cream, if allowed to stand, is apt to become watery and thin at the bottom of the bowl, the sugar having the tendency to separate in the form of a weak sirup. This is especially true if the cream was not very heavy before being whipped. To remedy this, to every pint of whipped cream soak a scant tablespoonful of granulated gelatin in enough cold water to barely cover it, until it is soft. Then add a small half teaspoonful of boiling water and stir until the gelatin is completely dissolved, after which add three-quarters of a cup of sugar and whatever flavoring you intend to use for the cream. Turn this into a cold bowl and beat with an eggbeater until it is white like marshmallows and begins to become firm, and just as soon as it has reached this point, but before it has commenced to grow stringy, beat it by spoonfuls into the cream, which has already been beaten stiff.

This will increase the bulk of the whipped cream and will not only sweeten and flavor it, but will keep it firm for any length of time. Care must be taken not to use too much gelatin lest it taste of the latter and make a sort of charlotte russe mixture instead of the whipped cream desired.

New Way to Serve Steak.

Perhaps you have grown tired of the usual way steak is served. If so, try this. Buy a good thick one, either sirloin or porterhouse. Season slightly with pepper and salt, and broil until it is moderately brown. Have prepared enough chopped parsley and white onion to cover it. Dot it thickly with dabs of butter and bake in a quick oven for five minutes. The onion, parsley and butter sink into the meat, the parsley absorbing the strong flavor of the onion. Once a steak is served in this manner, the usual fashion of serving it will seem tasteless.

Baked Egg Roll.

Take one pint of finely chopped cold roast beef and add one-half cupful of fine bread crumbs and two beaten eggs, one tablespoonful of melted butter, one-half teaspoonful of onion juice, one scant teaspoonful of mixed parsley, a grating of nutmeg and a dash of white pepper. Mix thoroughly, shape in a roll, wrap in buttered paper and bake half an hour, basting frequently with melted butter and hot water. Serve hot with brown or tomato sauce or slice cold as desired.

Keep Teapot Dry.

When putting away a teapot which will not be used for some time wash and dry it as thoroughly as possible, and then drop into it a lump of sugar. This will absorb any dampness that may be left and so prevent the musty taste which is often noticed in tea made in a pot which has been left unused for some time.

Mashed Potatoes.

Mashed potatoes will be fluffier if one-half teaspoonful of baking powder is added to the milk put into them.

Why That Lame Back?

Morning lameness, sharp twinges when bending, or an all-day back-ache; each is cause enough to suspect kidney trouble. Get after the cause. Help the kidneys. We Americans go it too hard. We overdo, overeat and neglect our sleep and exercise and so we are fast becoming a nation of kidney sufferers. 72% more deaths than in 1890 is the 1910 census story. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Thousands recommend them.

A Wyoming Case

Aron Holm, Cody, Wyo., says: "For fifteen years my back troubled me. If I stood for any length of time a sharp, cutting pain seized me and it also came on when I stooped. Doan's Kidney Pills are the only medicine that ever gave me any noticeable relief and I continued using them until cured. The trouble has never returned."

FEARED FRED MIGHT BE COLD

Marine Serving in Haiti Gets Comfortable Made by His Solicitous Grandmother.

Rochester, N. Y.—Fearing the government did not provide sufficiently warm clothing for her favorite grandson serving in the United States marine corps, an elderly lady brought a heavy, handworked comfortable to the local recruiting station of the sea soldiers and requested Sergt. George S. Fynmore to forward it to him.

"Poor Fred may be shivering and shivering with cold just like the soldiers in Europe," she told Fynmore, "and this comfortable will be just the thing. You'll send it to him, won't you?"

Sergeant Fynmore assured the old grandmother that it would be a privilege and a pleasure to do so. But when he forwarded the package to 501st Air Prince, Haiti, where the grandson is now serving, he included a note explaining that the old lady had worked hard in an endeavor to get the comfortable finished in time to come as a Christmas present and that he didn't have the heart to disillusion her about the need for such things in Haiti.

"But," he added in the note, just by way of encouragement, "sometimes when you're serving in Alaska I'll get her to send you a cake of ice."

Crazy Deer Attacks Two.

Roseburg, Ore.—While working about his ranch at Rice Hill, Isadore Rice, an aged resident of that vicinity, was attacked by an infuriated deer. Mr. Rice was knocked to the ground, and only escaped when the animal was beaten into submission by his son. A few days previously the deer attacked Mr. Rice's daughter, but she escaped without serious injury. Mr. Rice was bruised.

Connellsville, Pa.—George F. Strawn, a farmer, has an ear of popcorn which has grains of eight different colors. The ear is about five inches long and all the grains are perfect. The colors are red, green, white, black, blue, purple, yellow and brown. Strawn is curious to know if the corn will be colored after it is popped.

BILIOUS, HEADACHY, SICK 'CASCARETS'

Gently cleanses your liver and sluggish bowels while you sleep.

Get a 10-cent box.

Sick headache, biliousness, dizziness, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath—always trace them to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret to-night will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Adv.

A GLASS OF SALTS WILL END KIDNEY-BACKACHE

Says Druggs Excite Kidneys and Recommend Only Salts, Particularly if Bladder Bothers You.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.—Adv.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 4 oz. of glycerine. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the desired shade. Any druggist can put this up for you or you can mix it at home at very little cost. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and removes dandruff. It is excellent for falling hair and will make hair soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off.—Adv.

GETTING A START

By
NATHANIEL C. FOWLER, Jr.

(Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

HE KNOWS ONE THING WELL.

Several years ago Tom began as office boy in a wholesale grocery house. He learned the business, and in course of time was sent out on the road. He returned crestfallen, without an order.

"Did you call on all the storekeepers in Blanktown?" asked the merchant.

"Yes, sir."

"And you received no orders?"

"No," replied the embryo salesman, "not one."

"That's strange," said the merchant. "Most of the storekeepers in that town are good customers of ours. What did you say to them?"

"Well," drawled the young man, "I told 'em who I was and where I came from."

"Did you display your samples or ask them to purchase?"

"Oh, no. If they'd wanted to buy anything, they'd have told me, wouldn't they?"

The merchant looked at the young man in silence for a few moments.

"Tom," he said, "I'm afraid you'll never make a salesman. I'll put you on the books."

So Tom became an assistant bookkeeper. He was proficient and received a fair salary.

The years rolled on. Tom became middle-aged, and no one thought much about him any way. One day he knocked on the door leading to the firm's office and was admitted.

"What can we do for you, Tom?" asked the merchant.

"Want a partnership," said the bookkeeper.

"What?"

"Want a partnership," repeated Tom. Something in the man's face attracted the merchant's attention.

"Sit down. You say you want to become a partner. Have you any capital to invest?"

"Not enough to mention."

"Then how do you expect to get what you want?"

"Well," said the bookkeeper, quietly, "half of your business is molasses, and I know molasses. If you don't want me, Smith & Jones do."

"What?"

"Well," said Tom, calmly. "They made me an offer of a tenth interest."

The merchant investigated and found that his obscure bookkeeper knew more about molasses than any other man in the trade. Tom was admitted to the firm and died worth a quarter of a million dollars.

Tom knew one thing well. Quietly and persistently he had perfected himself, developed his natural talents, and had become an expert of experts.

I am aware that the average young man, try as he will, may not be able to perfect himself sufficiently in any one branch of trade to obtain a commanding position in it; but I believe that 99 per cent of those who are at the bottom, or holding subordinate positions, could rise from the ranks if they devoted their energies persistently and consistently to the perfecting of themselves in some one thing which is an important part of business. The trouble with most men is that they do not use what they have. They seem to be satisfied to float.

Young man, find out what you are best fitted to do, and, when you make this discovery, go to the very bottom of it and learn it so well that you will be an authority upon that subject. Then you will have in you a marketable commodity, which stands for a liberal salary or for something better.

TO PARENTS.

Let me diverge for once from my policy of addressing young people directly, that I may say a few words to fathers and mothers.

The selection of a vocation is usually made either by the boy himself, by his parents, or by both.

Theoretically, at least, the parent is supposed to be the best advisor for his son, because he has seen more of him and should be able to diagnose his ability with some degree of accuracy.

While the parent undoubtedly intends to advise the son for his good, it is obvious that neither the father nor the mother is infallible, and that, being human, they are likely to err and influence their boy to his detriment.

We are all more or less swayed by prejudice. If a father, for example, has made a failure of his work, he is likely to advise his son against it, even though the latter may be adapted to it. Conversely, if a father has achieved success in his vocation, he quite naturally assumes that what he has done well his boy can do equally well.

The parent often forgets to study his boy, and he is quite likely to assume that his son is fit for this and unfit for that.

I do not consider that the advice of any one person, whether he is a parent or not, is sufficient to determine the vocation for a young man.

Composite counsel is far better than individual opinion.

The parent should begin to study his son when the boy has passed his fourteenth or fifteenth year, perhaps before; he should watch him carefully, talk with him in a friendly way, and bring to his attention the advantages and disadvantages of the several callings, especially those for which he thinks his son is fitted.

The father should go further, and consult with his friends, those who come in contact with his boy, that, from composite counsel, he may be able to advise him more definitely and more carefully.

To push or to force the boy into a vocation, without careful thought and considerable study, is as wicked as it is to rob him of his birthright.

Thousands upon thousands of boys have been started wrong because of self-opinionated fathers, who, without consideration, forced their sons into vocations against their inclinations and ability.

Many a devoted mother and over-ambitious father, wholly from self-pride and without any real regard for their offspring, have attempted to coerce him into some profession, when the boy had absolutely no liking for it or ability to practice it. They would have their son a lawyer when the boy would make a good business man. They would force him to become a teacher when he lacked the power to impart information. They would make a business man of a student who loved his books more than money.

Remember, parents, that your boy, on the threshold of life, is soon to be his own master, and that you have no more right to force him under your will than you have to steal his overcoat or shoes.

The boy of today is the man of tomorrow, and what you do with him today may make or break him tomorrow.

Shaping of a Career.

In 1834, Lord Melbourne, then still home secretary in the reform cabinet, and Disraeli, a beaten candidate for parliament, were talking together after dinner, and the typical British peer, the friend of Victoria, was attracted by the cleverness of the Hebrew aspirant. "Lord Melbourne," as Disraeli told the story, which is confirmed by Melbourne's biographer, "asked how he could advance me in life, and half proposed that I should be his private secretary, inquiring what my object in life might be. 'To be prime minister.'" The condescending Whig tried gently to argue the young man out of what must have seemed to him pure infatuation; but he did not forget the remark. When, in 1848, as an old man, he learned of Disraeli's success in parliament, he was heard to exclaim: "By God! the fellow will do it yet."—Paul E. Moore, in the Atlantic.

Ways of the Hopper.

"Do you know," says the Mankato Advocate, "a fellow tried to make us believe the other day that a visitation of grasshoppers such as we had in 1874 wouldn't do much harm now, as there is so much vegetation they couldn't eat it all? When a man talks that way we know he never took the grasshopper degree. Why, if the corn had been 15 feet high on every acre in the county when those hungry migrants lit down they'd eaten it clean, licked the platter and kissed the cook before noon the next day."—Kansas City Star.

His Method.

"How is it that you can tell without timing him whether or not a motorist is exceeding the speed limit fixed by your local ordinance?" "If I can't count the spokes in his god-damned wheels I'm pretty sure he's breakin' the law," replied Constable Sam T. Slackutter, the well-known sleuth of Skedee. "And if he looks like a Kansas City fellow that's got the money to pay his fine I know blame well he is!"—Kansas City Star.

A pimento is a red pepper that has got into society.

Would Buy Parents for Dime.

Charlie, a five-year-old ward of the Children's Bureau of the Associated Aid Societies, was placed in a comfortable home at Dauphin more than a month ago.

John Yates, secretary of the aid organization, called recently to see how Charlie was getting along. Blissful with the joys of Santa Claus, he chattered incessantly about his home and the kindness shown him. As Yates was about to go Charlie edged up to him and handed over ten cents, his entire capital.

"I want you to buy a papa and mamma for another little boy," he blurted. "You bought me nice ones,"—Harrisburg Dispatch (Philadelphia) North American.

Undecided.

"I'd like to look at some engagement rings, please."

"Yes, sir. Solitaire, I suppose?"

"What size do you wish?"

"Oh, I guess you'd better give me a sort of medium size. I don't know just whom I'm going to give it to yet."

If all the world's a stage, it's up to each of us to contribute something toward the elevation thereof.

Health for Sick Women

For Forty Years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Been Woman's Most Reliable Medicine
—Here is More Proof.

To women who are suffering from some form of woman's special ills, and have a constant fear of breaking down, the three following letters ought to bring hope:—

Pinkham remedies.—Mrs. MAYME ASBACH, North Crandon, Wis.

Testimony from Oklahoma.

Lawton, Okla.—"When I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I seemed to be good for nothing. I tired easily and had headaches much of the time and was irregular. I took it again before my little child was born and it did me a wonderful amount of good at that time. I never fail to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to ailing women because it has done so much for me."—Mrs. A. L. McCasland, 509 Hove St., Lawton, Okla.

From a Grateful Massachusetts Woman.

Roxbury, Mass.—"I was suffering from inflammation and was examined by a physician who found that my trouble was caused by a displacement. My symptoms were bearing down pains, backache, and sluggish liver. I tried several kinds of medicine; then I was asked to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has cured me and I am pleased to be in my usual good health by using it and highly recommend it."—Mrs. B. M. Osgood, 1 Haynes Park, Roxbury, Mass.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Three Hundred Million Bushel Crop in 1915

Farmers pay for their land with one year's crop and prosperity was never so great.

Regarding a prominent Canada as a grain producer, a prominent business man says: "Canada's position today is sounder than ever. There is more wheat, more oats, more grain for feed, 20% more cattle than last year and more hogs. The war market in Europe needs our surplus. As for the wheat crop, it is marvelous and a monument of strength for business confidence to build upon, exceeding the most optimistic predictions."

Wheat averaged in 1915 over 25 bushels per acre
Oats averaged in 1915 over 45 bushels per acre
Barley averaged in 1915 over 40 bushels per acre

Prices are high, markets convenient, excellent land, low in price either improved or otherwise, ranging from $12 to $30 per acre. Free homestead lands are plentiful and not far from railway lines and convenient to good schools and churches. The climate is healthful.

There is no war tax on land, nor is there any conscription. For complete information, as to best locations for settlement, or desired railroad rates and descriptive illustrated pamphlet, address Superintendent Immigration, Ottawa, or

It will be to your advantage to give me your next order. Good screened coal at only $6.50 per ton.—Wm. Barnett.

Mr. and Mrs. Lin Branum left last week for Mimbres Hot Springs, the famous health resort of Luna County. Mr. Branum has for some weeks been a sufferer from an attack of rheumatism, but we are advised that his condition is already substantially improved, though physicians in attendance report a near approach to inflammatory rheumatism.

WHITE OAKS

Reliable information comes that Mrs. Sam Wells who recently underwent a serious operation at El Paso is rapidly recovering and will shortly return to her home here.

Elopements and jumping board bills appear to be the latest fad at the present time in White Oaks. Of the most recent cases the parties concerned have all been brought back and cinched so it is hard to tell which hurts the worst. In elopements they are presumably sent up for life, while the other fellows are officially relieved of what collateral they may have left in their sweaters and given sixty days in the cooler besides the privilege of escape when opportunity occurs.

Col Geo. W. Prichard and Dr. Paden were up during the week, as were also Geo. L. Ulrick and Frank J. Sager with their wives. While these gentlemen were holding a secret session, presumably on business or politics or both with Judge Hewitt the ladies went over and talked fashions, filligree and fiction very fluently with the least bit of of gossip with Mrs. Rudiselle.

Some fine specimens of tungsten ore have been picked up on the old dump of the Little Mack mine within the past few days. This mine which is fully a half mile or more from the locality where the discovery of tungsten was first made, was not heretofore known to contain any of this valuable mineral, so that there is no telling to what extent it does really exist here, or what the future of our mining prospects will be, judging from these fortunate discoveries.

During the fore part of January Jim Telles, a younger brother of our fellow townsman and old timer, Ben Telles, disappeared from his home here, and after many days diligent search was made for the missing boy, the report came that he was with relatives down near Lincoln, so the search was given up for the time. Afterwards it was found that he never showed up there. In the meantime a heavy snow had fallen over the whole country and nothing could be done. It was known however that the boy had been making frequent visits to the power plant situated well up in the foothills of Carrizo mountain, and that he had left there the evening previous to his disappearance during a storm for white Oaks. After the snow had disappeared sufficiently another searching party was organized and last Sunday their efforts were rewarded by finding the dead body of the young man up in the hills. It was at once brought to town, a coronor's jury impaneled and a verdict rendered according to the facts. It was thought by some that he might have been the victim of foul play so Dr. Watson was summoned who with the Sheriff and District Attorney Hamilton came up Monday and held an autopsy, but no marks of violence were discovered and the body was laid to rest in our cemetery next day.

BAPTIST CHURCH

(REV. J. M. GARDNER, Pastor)

The Revival conducted by the pastor is having fine crowds every night. The singing is fine and the interest and attention is splendid.

The day of prayer and fasting on Wed. was well attended and those present helped by it.

The Sunday School is gaining in interest and numbers. We extend to you a hearty invitation to come and join our Sunday School if you are not a member somewhere else.

We have classes for every one from the Cradle Roll to the old folks so we can find a place for you and we want you. "Come with us and we will do you good".

The B. Y. P. U. is growing both in interest and members. The subject for next Sunday is Christ and the Sinners. Miss Estell Adams is the leader.

The Pastor will preach Sunday at 11 a. m. on "The Cost of Being a Christian." 3 p. m., "Four cases of Blindness." 7:30 p. m., "The Cost of Not Being a Christian".

Last Sunday night there was such a crowd that many had to stand up so you had better come early.

We Are Still Offering Many and Pronounced Opportunities to Economize in Ready-to-Wear

All Winter Garments Are Included

When you take into consideration the fact that we will have much more winter weather you will immediately acknowledge the importance and significance of the reductions we are making. The values are very exceptional.

Men's Winter Suits $10

These Suits are priced to sell regularly up to $25. A little earlier in the season the like of them easily brought this price. But "Clear Them Out" is the command, and out they must go.

Ladies' Dresses

Our entire stock of Ladies' Dresses and other wearing apparel are greatly reduced in price and in a great many instances the price is reduced one-half.

Reductions will continue in all departments until we have made ample room for our mammoth spring and summer line which will be the largest and most near complete we have carried.
