MARKET REPORTS

The controversy between Geo. C. Tunester of Tunester, manager of the telephone exchange, and Mrs. L. H. Baker, of the office of the Clay County Times, has been settled by an agreement between the two parties.

The agreement provides that Mrs. Baker shall refrain from publishing any story or article which will reflect on the character of Geo. C. Tunester.

The controversy arose out of a story which Mrs. Baker had published in the Clay County Times, alleging that Geo. C. Tunester had made improper remarks to a woman in the telephone exchange.

Under the terms of the agreement, the Clay County Times will not publish any story or article which will reflect on the character of Geo. C. Tunester.

The agreement is effective immediately and both parties are satisfied with the terms.

RUSK'S GARDEN

Rusk's garden is in full bloom and is a sight to behold. The flowers are of every color and variety and the garden is well tended.

The garden is owned by Mr. Rusk, a well-known local farmer, and is open to the public on weekends.

The proceeds from the garden will be donated to a local charity.

SPORTS

The Clay County High School football team has been practicing hard for their upcoming game against the rival team, the Clay County Wildcats.

The team is looking forward to the challenge and is determined to come out on top.

The game will be held on Friday night at the Clay County High School stadium.
