CARRIZO, LINCOLN COUNTY, NEW MEXICO, FRIDAY, MARCH 10, 1916

LECTURE COURSE AT CAPITAN HIGH SCHOOL

To be Given for the Purpose of Raising Funds to Purchase Permanent Equipment of Slides for Daily Use

LECTURES WILL BE GIVEN EVERY TWO WEEKS

Next Thursday evening, at the Lincoln County High School at Capitan, will be given the first of a series of six illustrated travelogues. The subject of the opening number will be "A Tour of the British Isles," the pictures and lecture embracing the most famous and beautiful scenes of historic England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales. The succeeding numbers, which will follow at intervals of two weeks, will be: "Egypt, the Land of the Pharaohs," "Delightful Japan," "A Midnight Ride with Paul Revere," "The Panama Canal," and "The Vaterland, a Tour of Germany." The entire series will be presented by Supt. C. Y. Belknap.

The purpose of this course of lectures will be to provide funds for the purchase of a permanent equipment of slides for daily use. All proceeds above the actual running expenses, which by a fortunate arrangement with the makers of the slides, will be light, will be devoted to this purpose, so that henceforth the teachers in the Capitan schools may supplement the text book presentation of the class room work by the striking illustrations from the stereopticon. No part of the receipts will go to the lecturer, whose only aim is to place in the school a large set of slides which may be used to supplement the work in the classes in the school, especially those of Geography, History, Physiology and Nature Study.

It is worthy of mention that the slides to be used in the series of lectures will all be the product of the most famous makers of slides in the United States and moreover, that all slides will be of the highest quality of hand colored work obtainable. In the preparation of the lectures every effort will be made to offer interesting, finished and thorough material.

The machine to be used in these travelogues has lately been purchased by the Capitan school, and it is the intention to make use of it in all departments of the school work. The machine is an Edison Kinetoscope, fitted for both stereopticon and moving projection. Every week films and slides will be shown in the daily sessions, the subjects dealing with the famous scenes of history, famous battles, historic characters, industrial operations, the peoples and customs of far lands, the modern advance in agriculture, and other topics akin in educational interest.

In order that this work may be self-supporting, public programs, consisting of reels of pictures such as are shown at the best moving picture theatres in the country, will be given once a month, or oftener, if the demand justifies. At these public programs the run of pictures will not be educational, but will follow the usual theatre program. However, the public will be welcome at all times, without charge, to attend the exhibitions of educational films and slides given during the school sessions.

The admission to the travelogue series will be set at the lowest possible figure. Children will be admitted for five cents, adults for ten cents. It is possible that it may be found necessary, in later numbers of the course, to slightly raise the price of adults, but the admission for children will not be raised above the figure given above.

The most remarkable advance in educational lines in recent years has been the adoption of the idea of visual instruction, amplifying the old method of the text book, which, at the best, is but a dry procedure when used alone. The Capitan school is setting the pace in Lincoln County in this respect, being the first to make the departure from the old methods. However, a number of the schools of New Mexico have already adopted the new way, Santa Fe and Clovis being among the schools which have placed moving picture machines in their schools this year.

ADDRESSES LARGE AUDIENCE

Hon. Filadelfo Baca of Santa Fe, Assistant State Superintendent of schools, spoke at the school building last evening to a large audience of Americans of the two nationalities. His speech was delivered in English with Wm. Brady of this place as interpreter. Mr. Baca had much to say for the encouragement of education in New Mexico and spoke strongly in commendation of the progress already made. Mr. Baca went to Capitan this morning where he will speak before the Lincoln Co. Teacher's Association now in session at that place.

ENTERTAINS BIBLE CLASS

Mrs. R. E. Hoffman was hostess to the Women's Bible Class of the Methodist Church Tuesday afternoon and a pleasant and profitable afternoon was spent. A number of books were reviewed by appointed members, and a contest was engaged in. Mrs. Andrew McCurdy winning the prize. The city of Jerusalem will be studied at the next meeting, the basal text being John L. Stoddard's descriptions of the Holy City. Mrs. Hoffman served refreshment of sherbet and cake, and the meeting was a success from every standpoint. Those present were Mesdames Forrest, McLean, Mahan, Ladd, Hooper, Lewis, Booth, Stidham, Pace, Sale, Squier, Watson, Tinnon, Jones Cribb, Daniel, Hoffman, and McCurdy. The next meeting will be with Mrs. R. E. Stidham.

BEAUTIFY YOUR PREMISES

Now that spring is here it is time to work off your surplus energy in beautifying the premises of your place. No matter if you do happen to be a renter, your landlord will appreciate your enterprise and you will be fully rewarded through the results obtained if you loosen up and plant flowers and shrubs about your dwelling.

NEW MEXICO GREATEST AREA FOR CATTLEMEN

Large Tracts of Unpatented Public Land Makes N. M. the Leader in the Producing End of Cattle Business

CHEAPEST PLACE IN THE WORLD TO RAISE CATTLE

While every cattleman worth his salt knows that the old days, when a man could turn loose a bunch of cows on the range and get rich almost without effort, are past, every one of the progressive cattlemen of today knows that the day of the business man engaged in the cattle business, the cattleman with shrewd business training added, if you please, is just dawning. Especially is this true in New Mexico.

This state and Arizona, because of their possession of large tracts of unpatented public land, are the leaders in the producing end of the cattle business. Because of their free grass they are the cheapest places in the world in which to grow cattle, for whatever may be said about acreage being settled up, there remains the fact that these two states have far more free grass left than ever will be open again or than is open now in any other section.

It must be conceded that until a means of farming is devised which will bring New Mexico's vast public domain into productiveness, stock-raising will be a premier industry in the state, and further, there will be a quantity of grazing land which can be used free. This establishes, then, that for a long period to come, there will be free range in New Mexico.

Now in addition to this there still are some good opportunities, especially for the small grower, on the national forests. Cattlemen have got over looking at the forest service as a despoiler of their rights, for they have seen that they actually benefit from it. As one cattleman puts it, "My forest grazing permit is my insurance against a bad year." Some of these propositions are for all-year round range, others are for summer range only, and need the development of winter feed to make them valuable. Other sections of forest range are not available because of lack of water, but the development of stock water is a matter which is receiving attention from forest service and cattlemen alike, and it now appears that few portions of the otherwise good range will go unused long because of this lack.

The word "development" in the paragraph ahead is the keynote of the whole situation. There are plenty of opportunities in New Mexico for development of a business at once profitable to the stock raiser and of advantage to the community. Some of these opportunities are chances to buy out small or large growers at what their outfits are worth today, and, by intensive work, make them worth a much higher figure. The last few years have shown that intensive growing, as of Herefords instead of scrubs, pays, and pays big.

Another development that can be carried out is the development of water on the public land, thereby securing a quantity of range for cattle which now is untouched. This is regarded as a very important opportunity. Still another development is to locate on bits of range good for summer feeding and to grow feed on sheltering lands for winter feeding, at least of the poverty-stricken stuff. This phase of the industry is developing rapidly.

There are something over 25,000,000 acres of public land in New Mexico, of which a goodly quantity is state land, subject to lease or purchase. There are a number of opportunities on the national forests, either for small outfits to secure permits or for the buying of big but run down outfits and bring them up to date.

But to preform any of these actions requires capital and business ability. This is in accord with the trend of the times, which is changing the cattle industry from a gamble to a business proposition. It takes money, and it takes business ability, to succeed in the cattle business nowadays. A man with one can hire or develop the other, but one is essential. There are few opportunities for the old time "cattler" now, though he still has a chance. But there are opportunities and to spare for the modern, hustling, hard-working cattle business man and most of these opportunities, so far as raising of cattle are concerned, are in New Mexico and always will be here.

MISSIONARY MEETING

There came to a close last Wednesday evening in El Paso a meeting of several days duration, known as the Laymen's Missionary movement. It was one of about thirty or more conventions being held in as many cities throughout the entire United States. The purpose of these conventions is to promote greater missionary interest and zeal, and effort both at home and abroad. They are educational as well as inspirational. Those who are already interested in Missions in attending these meetings become more interested, and those who are not interested are bound to become interested or else have something wrong with their constitution or religion.

There were men on the program from all parts of the world. A man from Africa, one from China, another from Alaska, two from Turkey, and several representing the work at home. Great men, great speeches, great singing, great crowds and the planning of great things—indeed it was a convention of great things and great results are expected from it.

Through the courtesy of the El Paso and Southern railroad in granting transportation to all the Missionary pastors contiguous to El Paso they were privileged to attend this convention.—E. D. Lewis

MEETING OF W. M. SOCIETY

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church met at the beautiful new home of Mrs. Geo. B. Barber Wednesday afternoon. A lively business session followed a short devotional meeting. It was decided to undertake the raising of finances for church support in a more vigorous manner than at any previous times and ways and means were freely debated. Mrs. Barber served delicious refreshments at the close of the session. The meeting was productive of much future result if indications are to be considered. The regular sale of baked goods will be held Saturday at Wingfield's market.

MEETING LINCOLN CO. ROAD COMMISSION

Carrizozo is to have Large and Modern Garage Building. Will be Erected Opposite Outlook Office

CONTRACT HAS BEEN LET FOR TWO MODERN COTTAGES

A meeting of the Lincoln County Road Commission was held here Monday in the court house. Dr. James W. Laws, Chairman; J. B. French, Secretary Treasurer and H. B. Dawson, Clerk were present, M. C. Porter the newly appointed member, being absent.

After the minutes of the January meeting had been read and approved Floy W. Skinner of Parsons was duly appointed and given authority to warn out men in the Nogal mesa and Benito county to work out their road tax and the clerk was instructed to notify him of his appointment and to send him road tax receipt book.

The election of officers for the ensuing year was postponed until the next meeting, owing to the absence of M. C. Porter of Corona, who has recently been appointed a member of the board.

Because of the absence of Mr. Porter the board did not take up any definite plans for future work with the exception of doing any emergency work that might be necessary in keeping up our present roads.

The clerk was given authority to write W. L. Walsworth at Mesq to begin certain road work there lines mentioned in his letter to the board.

Bills totaling $1,550 were approved for payment and warrants drawn on the road and Bridge fund for same.

ANOTHER GARAGE BUILDING

Work was begun this week on the erection of a garage building by Vincent Real. The site of the new building is immediately in front of the Outlook office. The structure will be 50 by one hundred feet and a complete repair and storage room for automobiles will be fitted out and furnished. This will leave the hall now used as an Overland sales room and storage place available for public gatherings of all kinds. The new building will add materially to the business district and keep the hall rolling good and strong in the steady stream of building which continues in Carrizozo this year round.

TWO MODERN COTTAGES

Since last report, work has begun on two new residences of thoroughly modern proportions. On the lot between the dwelling now in process of construction by Mrs. Chas. Jones, and the Baptist Church R. E. Hoffman is erecting a dwelling, and immediately across the street the foundation is being prepared for the residence of S. L. Squier. Watch Carrizozo grow!

Supervisor of Music in the Carrizozo schools, Mrs. Harry G. Clunn, was in El Paso Saturday to attend the performances of the Boston Grand Opera Company.

ROOT CUTTER IS HANDY

Good Use Made of Piece of an Old Crosscut Saw Blade.

Large Roots, Such as Rutabagas, Mangels and Turnips, Can Be Held With One Hand, While Knife Is Worked With Other.

The best root cutter I ever had hold of or ever saw was one that was built by a German boy I had working for me, writes R. E. Dimich in the Farmer. We considered him none too reliable in general, but when it came to contriving handy things about the place he was a marvel of ingenuity and, strange to say, he did most of his work on these contrivances after work hours or at noon.

This root cutter consisted of two upright pieces, A and B (see illustration), the upright A in this case being the studding in my dairy barn; a diagonal piece, C, having a slit, G, in it for a knife guide; a cutting table, D, with a spout attached for the cut roots to fall on; a cutting blade, E, passing through the guide slit in C and pivotedly attached to the upright A.

I made my first one with an old hand saw, thinking the thinner the blade the better it would cut, but later when this got broke I put in a piece of an old crosscut saw, and found that this thick blade was much more satisfactory.

Such large roots as rutabagas, mangels or turnips, can be held with one hand while the knife is worked with the other, and it is really surprising how rapidly the work can be done. We cut roots for over twenty cows all of one winter and were perfectly satisfied with our rig, although we had tried out several of the factory rigs with cranks.

MOLD DANGEROUS TO HORSES

"Stomach Stagers" in Horses Traced to Soft Corn—Moldy Feed Should Be Carefully Avoided.

Moldy feed seems to be especially dangerous for horses.

Be careful to know what kind of corn and corn stalks the horses are getting where there is so much soft corn, with mold almost sure to be present.

In some sections "stomach staggers" in horses is causing a good deal of trouble, and it is traced to feeding moldy corn.

Greatest Profit From Dairy.

One department of a dairy farm may be so efficient that it pays the losses of other departments, but the greatest profit comes only when all the departments are operated to make them collectively most efficient.

Mice Injuries.

Mice and other rodents injure trees mostly in cold winters when green feed is scarce. Clearing away the weeds and grass from around the trunk does away with harbors for mice.

The Pigeon House.

The essentials of a pigeon house are fresh air, dryness and good drainage, sunlight and space enough for the comfort of the pigeons. A southern or southeastern exposure is best.

Good Grazing.

When you think of good grazing from spring to late fall think of cow-pens. They have an especial value for producing milk, growing young stock and fattening all kinds of animals.

Where Insects Winter.

Many insects and disease spores hibernate over winter in crop refuse and rubbish. Either plow this under or destroy all debris of this sort.

Sheep Are Dainty Eaters.

Sheep are very dainty. Keep the feed troughs clean.

MACHINE TO CULTIVATE CORN

Long Surface Blade Can Be Inclined by Operator While Plow Is Moving Across Field.

One of the leading manufacturers of cultivators has been assigned the patent rights to the cultivator shown here. The Illinois college of agriculture led the way in showing the farming business that shallow cultivation was the proper method for corn, advocating this principle years ago, and the surface cultivators have been gaining rapidly in favor since. By means of the lever the long surface blade can be inclined while the plow is moving across the field. Thus the operator is enabled to adjust his shovels for hills and low spots as he plows along over the field.—Farming Business.

PACKING OF FARM PRODUCTS

Quality Is Not the Only Thing in Selling at High Prices—Make All Packages Attractive.

While quality is an essential requirement in the marketing of any farm and fruit product, it is by no means the only factor in selling at the highest price.

First of all, the packages used should be new and clean. The neater the package, the better the fruit will appear. While the products packed should be of uniform size and color throughout the package, the top layer should be arranged so as to attract the eye of the buyer. Further, the package should in every instance be well filled. The buyer is very quick to notice shortness in measure, or any deficiency in a well topped or rounded finish. In small fruit, such as the strawberry, particular attention should be given to have every berry in perfect condition, with the calyx or hull attached. The individual fruits should not be arranged in layers in the box, nor should the top be arranged to show a uniform red color, but rather, the calyx should show in with the red. For the best effect, and for particular markets where the grower has steady customers, the berries should be graded into two sizes. This is to give uniformity to the fruit, and will make the package more attractive.

STRAPS FOR HORSE BLANKET

neath. It is claimed that this unique arrangement of the straps prevents the blanket from slipping and insures a snug and comfortable fit.

Fertilizing the Orchard.

Barnyard manure is, in general, the best fertilizer for the orchard, says C. M. Burritt of the department of agriculture. This should be applied at the rate of a load to from three to five trees, at least once in three years. The use of commercial fertilizers is hardly advisable, except where careful experiment has demonstrated its value.

Arranging Corn Crib.

The narrower the crib the better the corn will keep this year. Two partitions six inches apart through the middle of the crib is a good scheme.

Sanitary Dairy Floor.

The concrete floor is by long odds the most sanitary for a dairy barn, and should be used wherever possible.

Whole Grain for Sheep.

Whole grain makes best feed for sheep. Cleanliness, pure water and salt are a necessity.

Saving in Repairs.

Ounces of grease save dollars in repairs.

FALLING HAIR MEANS DANDRUFF IS ACTIVE

Save Your Hair! Get a 25 Cent Bottle of Danderine Right Now—Also Stops Itching Scalp.

This, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its luster, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any store, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, luster and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp. Adv.

Misunderstood.

Not long ago a young married couple went to the city. They decided to eat in a restaurant near the station and had the place all to themselves.

In serving them the waitress omitted to supply a teaspoon, and the fair young bride whispered the fact to her husband.

Summoning the waitress, the young man asked:

"May we have a spoon?"
"Why, certainly," replied the girl; "I am just tidying up, and you can have the whole room to yourself in a minute or two."

CLEANSE THE PORES

Of Your Skin and Make It Fresh and Clear by Using Cuticura, Trial Free.

Sententiousness Facetious.

A minister who lives in a small town is noted for his sententiousness both in and out of the pulpit. As he was coming down the street one day a man accosted him with, "Sir, can you tell me how to find the sheriff's office?"

"Yes, sir," was the instant reply. "Every time you earn five dollars spend ten." And he walked on, leaving the astonished man gazing after him.—Harper's Magazine.

HOW TO SUCCEED

During the last few years, conditions in all lines of business, even professional life, have changed so completely that every man is waking up to the fact that in order to win success he must specialize and learn to do some one thing and do it well.

So it is with any article that is sold to the people. It must have genuine merit or no amount of advertising will maintain the demand for the article.

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy. From the very beginning the proprietors had so much confidence in it that they invited every one to test it.

It is a physician's prescription. They have on file thousands of unsolicited letters received from former sufferers who claim they are now enjoying good health as a result of its use.

However, if you wish first to try a sample bottle, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., enclose ten cents and mention this paper. They will promptly forward you a sample bottle by Parcel Post.

Regular sizes for sale at all druggists—fifty cents and one dollar.—Adv.

FOR REMOVING STAINS

AGENTS THAT MAY BE APPLIED SUCCESSFULLY.

Care Must Be Taken That Element That Will Harm Color Is Not Employed—Doing Away With the Grease Ring.

Grease spots, such as soup, gravy, cream, butter, etc., introduce oftentimes a color element, and most often dirt, which has been unconsciously gathered and has adhered to the fiber. Some grease-removing agents will harm color. These are ammonia, ether and sometimes chloroform. If to prevent wetting the material it seems wise to use either of these chemicals, they should be tested by a sample or on some hidden part of the garment to find out if they affect the color. Testing is the only sure way of knowing. These two latter agents always should be used in the open air, never in connection with any kind of a flame, for they are inflammable.

One is often troubled with rings showing after removing grease stains. These rings can be prevented to a certain extent by the constant rubbing to avoid the chemical spreading and to cause rapid drying. If the chemical is allowed to spread or is not dried quickly it will carry with it the grease and the dirt and make a dark ring. Sometimes it is necessary to dip the whole garment in the gasoline and naphtha, after removing the spot. This usually prevents all troubles from rings.

If one fears the grease ring and also fears the fading of the color, starch, magnesia or fuller's earth may be applied to the spot, allowed to remain for a few hours to give it ample time to absorb the grease and then with a soft brush or a soft cloth the absorbing material may be brushed away. This brushing should be very light, because the powder has absorbed some or all of the grease and will leave its mark if pressed into the fiber.

A second application very often finishes the work successfully. When benzine or ether, alcohol or chloroform do not affect the color, they might be mixed into a paste with starch, magnesia or fuller's earth and this paste spread on the spot. This is a double action, the liquid dissolving and the absorbing material absorbing as fast as the grease is dissolved.

Kumquat Candies.

Kumquats, two cupfuls confectioners' sugar, chopped nut-meats, pinch cream of tartar, one-half cupful water, yellow coloring. Cut a small slice from the top of the kumquats, scoop out all the insides and place the kumquats in small paper cases. Put the sugar into a saucepan, add the strained kumquat juice, cream of tartar and water. Stir till the sugar is dissolved, then boil it till it forms a soft ball when tried in cold water; add a few drops of yellow coloring, pour onto a slab and knead until smooth. Return to the pan and stir till melted, then pour into the prepared kumquats. Sprinkle with the nut-meats which have been finely chopped.—Pictorial Review.

Cooking Sausage.

If sausages are cooked on a plate in the oven they will not be unpleasantly odorous. An old platter will do, and they will take from twenty minutes to half an hour. Prick them and arrange side by side. When the fat has fried out pour it off and turn each sausage and they will be far drier and crispier than if cooked on top of the stove. Spread the drained-off fat on slices of crustless bread and brown them in the oven or in a hot frying pan, or choose a crisp apple, peel and cut in rather thick slices and fry in the drained-off fat, and serve on the same platter with the sausages.

Water Sponge Cakes.

Beat the white of one egg in a bowl until stiff, then add the yolks of four eggs and beat well. Add slowly one and three-quarter cups of fine granulated sugar, and beat. Now add one cupful of boiling water and beat until smooth. Add two and one-half cupfuls of flour sifted with four level teaspoonsful of baking powder. Fold in the stiffly-beaten whites of three eggs and do not beat any more. Bake in a slow oven. Be careful to follow closely directions.

Novelty Potatoes.

Chop very fine one quart cold boiled potatoes, put them into a saucepan with one cupful cream, two table-spoonfuls butter, salt and pepper, set on fire, stir until hot, then turn into a baking dish. Cover with bread or cracker crumbs and bake brown in oven.

Artificial Rubber.

Artificial rubber has been made from Russian crude petroleum, which contains chemical elements similar to those in California oil.

MEAT CLOGS KIDNEYS THEN YOUR BACK HURTS

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You—Drink Lots of Water.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Adv.

SYRUP OF FIGS FOR A CHILD'S BOWELS

It is cruel to force nauseating, harsh physic into a sick child.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dove" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Adv.

LOST TROOPS FROM KING GEORGE'S ESTATE

A mystery hangs over the fate of the gallant members of the Fifth Norfolk regiment who made a wild charge into a Gallipoli forest and have since been lost to sight and sound. All the eligible men of King George's Sandringham estate enlisted as a body in the regiment. The king personally knew practically every member of the company. The photograph shows the "march out" of the company before its departure for the Dardanelles.

FRENCH WOMEN HELP

66,449 Enlisted Under Banner of the Red Cross.

They Come From Well-to-Do Homes and Have Exhibited Rare Heroism in Devotion to Duty—Equip 1,500 Hospitals.

Paris.—There are now 66,449 women in the French Red Cross volunteer army, equipping 1,500 hospitals with an aggregate of 118,000 beds. The Red Cross flag now flies above 288 buildings in Paris alone.

The Society for Aid to Wounded Soldiers, the largest of the three Red Cross organizations and the originator of the work in France in 1864, expended 32,000,000 francs ($6,400,000) during the first seventeen months of the war. The society has operated 796 hospitals, with 67,081 beds, and given a total of 21,000,000 days' care to wounded soldiers. Besides these hospitals the society maintains a hospital of 500 beds at Salonika, ninety-three refuges established in the sixth and twentieth military regions in France, seventy infirmaries in railroad stations and forty-five railroad canteens.

The cost of maintenance of hospitals varies so much that it is difficult to establish average cost per capita per diem, but as near as can be calculated this society has brought its cost down to a little more than three francs (sixty cents) a day.

The Union des Femmes de France, the second in importance of the Red Cross societies, has 28,446 nurses, equipping 355 hospitals, with 29,000 beds, while the Association des Dames Francaises has 16,000 nurses, in 350 hospitals, with 22,000 beds.

The mortality among the Red Cross nurses has been remarkably heavy considering the character of their work and the immunity they are supposed to enjoy under the international regulations. Twenty-two members of the Society for Aid to the Wounded Soldiers have given their lives to the cause, some of them killed under shell fire, others carried off by contagious diseases. The nurses of this society have received sixty-three epidemic medals, sixty war crosses and one cross of the Legion of Honor.

The first Red Cross victim of the war was Mlle. Suzanne Gilles, who fell at Lunerville with her chest torn by the fragments of a shell that burst inside the hospital ward where she was attending wounded. The next was Mlle. Cagnard, at Cambrai, who is declared to have been shot point blank by a Prussian soldier firing into the hospital through the window. During the bombardment of Reims seven women of the Red Cross became victims of the bombardment, including Mme. Fontaine-Faudier, Mlle. Causse and five sisters of charity.

Many women of the Red Cross give attention to men at the front who have no one to remember them at home. One member, Mme. Richelot, the wife of Dr. L. G. Richelot, is godmother to nine hundred soldiers, which constitutes a record to date.

Regarding the state of mind of wounded soldiers now in the hospitals after sixteen months of war, Mme. Perouse, president of the Union des Femmes de France, said:

"They support their sufferings admirably and are much more anxious to return to the front than were the wounded in the hospitals last year at this time. They talk about active service with an enthusiasm that is contagious."

Mr. Justin Godart, undersecretary for war, in charge of the sanitary department of the army, has just replaced voluntary women of the Red Cross serving as nurses in some of the military hospitals by paid independent nurses. The choice of nurses outside the three Red Cross organizations developed considerable comment, but there was in this no reflection on the devotion of Red Cross nurses; neither does it bring their efficiency into question. Paid professional nurses are more adaptable to military discipline, which must prevail in all military establishments.

Most of the women who devote themselves to hospital work are from well-to-do classes; they are necessarily so, since they are required to give not only their time and sometimes their lives, but also their money to the cause. Some of them pay largely for the privilege of serving the country as maids of all work; others pay more dearly for the privilege of working as surgeons' aids and as nurses. Few of them were before the war accustomed to the hard work of housekeeping, and some of them have learned its most elementary principles in the hospitals.

Drove Wolf Into Town.

Barron, Wis.—A wolf that had been chased all day by four young men was finally driven into the city, where it created panic among pedestrians on the main street. William Brown, a farmer, soon dispatched the animal.

Three hundred years ago the population of London was only 150,000.

HEAD STOPS SHELL

Private in Yorkshire Regiment Keeps on Smiling.

Recovery Amazes Surgeons Who Remove Large Piece of Metal From Forehead and Another From Behind Left Cheek.

London.—During the present war medical men have reported many remarkable cases of the recovery of wounded men—cases where a fatal termination seemed inevitable—but it is doubtful if there has been any as astonishing as the case of Private G. A. Dawson of the Tenth Yorkshire regiment, who is now in the King George Military hospital, Stamford street, S. E.

Private Dawson has caused so much interest among members of the medical profession that he has been seen by scores of leading surgeons.

Enough shell has been removed from Private Dawson's head to kill many men. As Kipling said of the late Lord Roberts:

"If you stood 'im on 'is head ' You could spill a quart o' lead." But with it all this "Tommy" is able to sit up in his bed, and he is one of the brightest and cheeriest souls in the ward.

Private Dawson, who is the son of a news agent of Bishop Auckland, Durham, went to France with his regiment last year, and after serving five months in the trenches he was wounded on December 12.

He was in a village behind the lines which was being shelled, and before he could get to his "dug out" a shell knocked him out.

Unconscious, he was taken to the base hospital, and there, from a great hole in the center of his forehead directly above his nose, there were removed a large piece of shell, a piece of wood and part of his cap. For 20 days Dawson hovered between life and death. His face became swollen and black and nothing the surgeons could do seemed to reduce the swelling.

GIRL WOULD BUILD WARSHIP

Cannot Be a Soldier So She Starts Movement to Raise Fund for Battleship.

New York.—Marjorie Sterrett, a thirteen-year-old girl of Brooklyn, has started a movement among school children to raise a patriotic fund to build an American battleship. She earned the first dime for the fund by helping her mother in her housework, and sent the money with a letter to a New York newspaper.

Because she's a girl and cannot be a soldier she wants to do something for her country, for which her grandfather and great-grandfather fought.

"I am a true blue American," says Marjorie, "and I want to see Uncle Sam lick all creation if he has to, like John Paul Jones did."

The New York school children have taken upon the idea with a whoop and already have sent in thousands of dimes.

President Roosevelt has written her a remarkable letter commending her patriotism, and sending her ten dimes, one for each of his four grandchildren already born and the six others he hopes for in years to come. Marjorie has refused offers of $250 for this letter.

Use of Acetylene in France.

The streets in more than 250 towns in France and the portions of Algeria that it governs are lighted exclusively with acetylene.

On December 31 Dawson was removed to a hospital at Boulogne, and there he was put under the X-rays immediately on his arrival. In the private's left cheek was found a large piece of shell, which must have entered through the hole in the forehead and passed down the side of the nose.

On New Year's day Private Dawson was operated upon again, and this piece of shell, which weighed two and three-quarters ounces, was removed by the way it had entered, so that there should not be a scar of any sort on the private's cheek.

The piece of shell—about a quarter of an inch thick, with torn and jagged edges—is a relic prized greatly by Private Dawson. Another remarkable feature about the case is that by a further operation recently at the King George hospital the sight of his left eye was saved.

To use his own expression, the piece of shell, when passing into his cheek, "turned the lens of my left eye over."

A celebrated ophthalmic surgeon has righted the lens of the eye, and in a few days Private Dawson will be able to see again with his left eye.

Jump from Bed in Morning and Drink Hot Water

Tells why everyone should drink hot water each morning before breakfast.

Why is man and woman, half the time, feeling nervous, despondent, worried; some days headachy, dull and unstrung; some days really incapacitated by illness?

If we all would practice inside-bathing, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of thousands of half-sick, anaemic-looking souls with pasty, muddy complexions we should see crowds of happy, healthy, rosy-cheeked people everywhere. The reason is that the human system does not rid itself each day of all the waste which it accumulates under our present mode of living. For every ounce of food and drink taken into the system nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out, else it ferments and forms ptomaine-like poisons which are absorbed into the blood.

Just as necessary as it is to clean the ashes from the furnace each day, before the fire will burn bright and hot, so we must each morning clear the inside organs of the previous day's accumulation of indigestible waste and body toxins. Men and women, whether sick or well, are advised to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of washing out of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the indigestible material, waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Millions of people who had their turn at constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, nervous days and sleepless nights have become real cranks about the morning inside-bath. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will not cost much from your druggist or at the store, but is sufficient to demonstrate to anyone, its cleansing, sweetening and freshening effect upon the system.—Adv.

FRECKLES

Now is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as the prescription outline—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these blemishes.

Simply get an ounce of outline—double strength—from your druggist, and apply a little of it at night and morning, and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than one ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength outline, as this is said under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—Adv.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Harbo Compound, and 1/4 oz. of glycerine. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the desired shade. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and removes dandruff. It is excellent for falling hair and will make hair soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off.—Adv.

SUFFERED FOR FOUR YEARS.

Mr. J. M. Sinclair of Olivehill, Tenn., writes: "I strained my back, which weakened my kidneys and caused an awful bad backache and inflammation of the bladder. Later I became so much worse that I consulted a doctor, who said that I had Diabetes and that my heart was affected. I suffered for four years and was in a nervous state and very much depressed. The doctor's medicine didn't help me, so I decided to try Dodds Kidney Pills, and I cannot say enough to express my relief and thankfulness, as they cured me. Diamond Dinner Pills cured me of Constipation."

Washington, Feb. 28.—Germany has instructed Count von Bernstorff to inform the United States government that the assurances regarding the future conduct of submarine warfare, given in the Lusitania and Arabic cases, are still binding—but that they apply only to merchantmen of a peaceful character.

The German government is understood to contend that armed merchantmen without regard to the nature of their armament have shown themselves not to be peaceful, and, therefore, subject to destruction without warning.

The instructions direct the German ambassador particularly to tell Secretary Lansing that British merchantmen, armed ostensibly for defense, have not assumed the character of peaceful traders; but that, on the contrary, they carry guns for the special purpose of attacking German submarines. To support this claim the Berlin foreign office has sent the ambassador for presentation to the State Department a list of at least twenty incidents where, it is claimed, British ships have attacked submarines.

Confidential advices received from Berlin state that German and Austrian submarine commanders already have been given their new orders, and that from midnight Tuesday they will be authorized to sink without warning all armed merchant ships of the enemies of Germany.

It was said also that many of the submarine commanders probably had left their bases on voyages and that even should the United States request the postponing of the opening of the campaign it would be impossible to get word to many of the submarines. It was stated, however, that, so far neither the United States nor any other nation had asked for a postponement.

Rome.—The report that Durazzo Albanian port on the Adriatic sea, had been evacuated by the Italian troops, stationed there, is confirmed.

London, Feb. 28.—Five determined attempts made by French troops to recapture Fort Douaumont, one of the outlying Verdun fortifications, were repulsed with sanguinary losses, according to the official statement issued Sunday by the German headquarters staff. German troops, it was asserted, had stormed the fortified works of Hardeumont, as well as the town of Champenille and the Cote de Talou. The number of unwounded Frenchmen taken prisoners, it was added, totaled 15,000. Except around Fort Douaumont the French war office reports some abatement of the German attacks to the north of Verdun.

To the east and west of the Douaumont position, the slopes of which are covered with the bodies of German dead, the French troops are closely pressing the German detachments which were able to gain a footing in those sections and which, the war office further reports, are maintaining themselves with difficulty.

LUNA SHERIFF IS KILLED

SHOT BY ESCAPING PRISONERS FROM DEMING JAIL.

J. O. Starr, One of the Fugitives, Also Killed, and Deputy Sheriff Buck
Sevier Seriously Wounded.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Deming, N. M.—El Paso, Texas, dispatches state that Dwight B. Stephens, Sheriff of Luna county, New Mex., was killed, and Deputy Sheriff Buck Sevier seriously wounded in a battle at Rincon Sunday with five fugitives who previously had escaped from the jail at Deming. One of the fugitives also was killed.

The fugitives—Francisco Acosta, accused of murder, J. O. Starr and G. Schmidt, alleged burglars, and William D. Ashley, charged with forgery, locked City Marshal Tanor of Deming in a cell, then ordered an automobile, which they took from its owner, D. O. Snodgrass, after throwing him into the jail, and, with Joe Cranston, a vagrant, as chauffeur, started for Rincon.

The men relieved Tabor of his watch, pistol and $5 in cash. They also took a number of rifles from the jail, with which they subsequently fought Stephens and his posse. Roque Gomez, a Mexican revolutionary leader, arrested at Deming on an indictment charging him with connection with the alleged Huerta plot to start a new revolt in Mexico, refused to flee.

Tabor, and Snodgrass, who was relieved of $20 by the fugitives, were found in jail an hour after the escape, and Stephens with Deputy Sevier and a small posse started in pursuit. The posse came upon the fugitives at Rincon. Stephens, a noted southwestern gunman, fell dead in the ensuing fight. J. O. Starr, one of the fugitives, also was killed. Another was arrested, but Francisco Acosta, who was charged with murder and who is said to have fired the shot that killed Stephens, escaped, with the two remaining jail-breakers.

Pays $137.50 for Killing Antelope.

Santa Fe.—According to a government report it cost a citizen of Mesa, $137.50 to kill an antelope. Recently there has been so much illegal killing of wild animals in New Mexico that a determined effort to stop it was instituted by the state authorities which resulted in the arrest and conviction of a violator of the game laws. "One of the most important offices in the state is that of school director. Upon the character of the personnel of the school boards depends the efficiency of our schools. It should therefore, be a matter of the greatest interest to the voters in each school district to see to it that the most patriotic and intelligent men and women are selected as school directors. It is therefore urged that all men and women of the required qualifications to take an interest in the election and to vote for the members of the board of school directors to be elected April 3rd."

THE WORLD AS A FARM

Taking the world as one big farm, we find two billion acres of land in cultivation. Of this amount there is approximately 750,000,000 acres on the western and 1,250,000,000 acres on the eastern hemisphere, in cultivation. This estimate, of course, does not include grazing lands, forests, etc., where large quantities of meat are produced.

The world's annual crop approximates fifteen billion bushels of cereals, thirteen billion pounds of fibre and sixty-five million tons of meat.

The average annual world crop for the past five years, compared with the previous five years, is as follows:

| | Past Half Decade. | Previous Half Decade. |
|----------------|-------------------|-----------------------|
| Corn (Bu.) | 3,934,174,000 | 3,403,655,000 |
| Wheat (Bu.) | 3,522,769,000 | 3,257,526,000 |
| Oats (Bu.) | 4,120,617,000 | 3,508,315,000 |
| Cotton (Bales) | 19,863,800 | 17,541,200 |

The world shows an average increase in cereal production of 13 per cent during the past decade, compared with the previous five years, while the world's population shows an increase of only three per cent.

The gain in production far exceeds that of our increase in population, and it is safe to estimate that the farmer can easily increase production 25 per cent if a remunerative market can be found for the products. In textile fibres the world shows an increase during the past half decade in production of 15 per cent against a population increase of three per cent.

The people of this nation should address themselves to the subject of improved facilities for distribution.

Over-production and crop mortgage force the farmers into ruinous competition with each other.

ANNOUNCEMENT FEES

During the coming campaign the Out-look will carry the names of all candidates who desire to present their names to the voters through these columns. This will necessitate the use of our columns for several months and at our regular rate is well worth all that is asked for the service which is as follows: For all county office announcements the sum of $10.00 will be charged and for district and legislative announcements $15.00, cash in advance. Each candidate announcing will be given a brief write-up, but if an extensive notice is desired it will be charged for at our regular advertising rate.

WILL GOV. McDONALD RUN AGAIN?

Just now there seems to be a consensus of opinion that W. C. McDonald will be a candidate to succeed himself as governor, and that he will get the nomination. The race then for chief executive will again be between H. O. Bursum, the Republican and the present executive. Whether McDonald could beat Mr. Bursum with the united Republicans, is a matter of serious doubt prevailing among the Democrats and Republicans who voted for Mr. McDonald at the last election.

Could there be a choice by lay members of Democratic party, without any interference by the Democratic political trust, composed principally of federal and state officials, another and more popular candidate for governor would be chosen for the Democratic ticket. And that gentleman would be none other than our fellow townsman, the Hon. W. S. Hopewell. But it is no use for us to dwell upon fanciful ideas. Mr. Hopewell's long service within the party, and always the one liberal contributor to party success, financially and as counselor makes of him an asset only to his party's usefulness.

There must, of course, be scapegoats to bear the burdens of responsibility and work, in the party's cause and of late years through the manipulation of a few so-called leaders, the number of goats has been greatly augmented. There will be a time of reckoning this year, and some of the goats, at least, will separate themselves from their flock. —New Mexico State Democrat.

HARMONY, AND THE

"DISAPPOINTED ONES"

The election of a county Chair, man for the Luna county Democrats is a question that is largely occupying minds of the members of the party there. It is essential that the man chosen be a person of individuality sufficiently strong to hold the party in line until next election and afterwards, a man who is not too closely affiliated with any candidate, a man who has had some experience in the political game, and a man who has some stake in this community. The names of several have been considered and it is practically certain that one of those now under consideration will be chosen. The Democratic party has a chance to score a signal victory in Luna county this year, but it is going to take team work and careful handling of the preliminary details by those at the head of the party to achieve this victory. A strong organization is needed in Luna county and the right kind of a county chairman should be able to build up such an organization from the material ready to his hand, and if he can keep the disappointed ones working in harmony with the rest of the party there should be nothing to hinder the Democrats from having things their own way, to a great extent, at next November's election.

This from the Deming Headlight, the official Democratic organ of Luna county, which has been Democratic by three to one in the past, indicates that something must have happened. There must indeed be many "disappointed ones" if it is going to take such strenuous organization there to enable the five hundred Democrats to beat the two hundred Republicans of that balivick—"harmony" must have invaded their council.—State Record.

A BACKWARD STEP

The "unterrified" Democratic State Central Committee met last week in Santa Fe and chose as their new chairman Judge N. B. Laughlin, to succeed former Chairman J. H. Paxton, who resigned some time ago to accept a federal appointment. We have heard so much lately from the Democratic press about the progressive principles of the present national administration that they do not seem to have followed their logic in this instance.

In choosing a man for their leader of the type of N. B. Laughlin the Democratic party of New Mexico has taken as backward a step and as contrary to modern thought and real progressivism as the difference between black and white. Laughlin is a politician of the old school and a "dyed in the wool" Democrat whose political and economic doctrines haven't the least modern suggestiveness in them, and a leader of his party in this state will simply retard its advancement and set it back to the days of Andrew Jackson.

What qualifications our Democratic friends see in Mr. Laughlin is beyond our imagination to fathom. It shows one thing very clear and that is that the Democratic party is going back to the old regime from which it was just beginning to emerge and all their efforts along the present day movement or advancement and progressivism have been for naught. If their candidates nominated at the coming state convention will only be of the caliber as their chairman then the Republicans need not deliberate very long about selecting the men who are to oppose them, most anybody will do. We do not intend to prophesy the result, but we guess we may laugh under our sleeves a little.—Tierra Amarilla New State.

PREPARING FOR CAMPAIGN

The News has the information that the advocates of prohibition are preparing for a general campaign for county wide prohibition in the county of Otero. Under the statutory provision it is comparatively easy to put the matter up to the vote of the people and this is the intention. However, owing to the fact that the election on prohibition may not be held within two months of any other election, and the election for city trustees, in the town of Alamogordo will take place in April, it will necessarily be not earlier than June that the election can be held.

Inasmuch as the temperance advocates have been sleeping on their rights for the past two or three years in the matter and the fact that a campaign has already been launched for a state wide prohibition amendment to the constitution to be voted upon by the people, there is considerable question if it would not be better for the people of Otero county to assist in the larger and main campaign for state wide prohibition and not waste their energy on the local one.

There is no question but that the first time the people of New Mexico get a whack at the matter through the ballot the state will go dry as a powder horn.—Alamogordo News

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by P. J. MY HAT NOT IN THE RING

Mr. Editor:

I must acknowledge the receipt of your very complimentary suggestion that I throw my hat into the ring—which I take to mean that I announce my candidacy for the Presidency. I never knew that my nursing the presidential bee under my hat had gotten out; but I am done with it now. I intended keeping that I had been such a fool a secret.

I left Ohio when Roosevelt succeeded McKinley an Ohio man, as president. It seemed to me that there would be no further chance for an Ohio man. Ohio must fall short in her race with Virginia for the title the "Mother of Presidents." I felt that Roosevelt was the kind of man to stay there. Good by to my ambition to be president.

I then came to this country to be a pioneer—not in building up the country—but my fallen fortune.

Then when Roosevelt aided in putting an Ohio man, Mr. Taft in and himself started for Africa it was plainly evident to me that he had a flag up under his hat bearing the motto: "The next term or bust." He busted.

I see my mistake now in leaving Ohio. But let it go as a lost chance. I am willing to make most any sacrifice for my adopted state except running for office. I will not be a pioneer in building up a presidential boom for a New Mexico man. The time is not ripe yet for New Mexico. I am old enough to be ripe alright, but too old to stand the fall if I didn't happen to be picked.

Still I do not go so far as Justice Hughes of the U. S. Supreme Court in positively refusing the use of my name for the exalted position. If I were still justice of the peace I might feel the same as Justice Hughes, but a certain few republicans whom I had compelled to pay their poll tax, turned against me and defeated me for reelection. Those same galoots would probably go against me if I were the candidate for president. They would not care for principle they would do it for revenge. I could make up for that defection however, in other precincts where the facts were not known.

Again if I were a candidate I would rather meet an opponent whom I could locate. One never knows where to find Mr. Wilson. He being on one side of a question today, tomorrow might find either straddle of the fence or entirely over. The distinguished John L. Sullivan said in the memorable contest in which he lost the presidency of the ring to Jim Corbett, that "he could not fight and run a foot race at the same time." Mr. Wilson is quite as shifty as Jim Corbett ever was.

On the subject of preparedness I have always been for that. I go even further than the Detroit Free Press which says that "the average man's position on preparedness is to have two pairs of suspenders." I contend that a man needs a revolver on the country roads in New Mexico, especially at night.

On this subject Mr. Wilson has changed. Only a year ago he was as ardent an advocate of a Sunday school peace footing for this country as Mr. Bryan is today. Since he has taken a new stand he has said very many eloquent things in his swing around the circle in the west about maintaining the honor of "Old Glory." I have had in mind in years gone by to say some of those same things in a Fourth of July oration and all that prevented me was that I didn't get the chance to make the oration. I did say in a speech at Hopkinsville, Ohio, soon after the Main was blown up.

"Fellow Hopkinstvillians" It is up every one of us to take up arms and resent this insult! I would enlist tomorrow to revenge this outrage if I hadn't recently been married. The pay of a soldier would not support my wife in the luxury in which she has been raised. I am not a titled Englishman but an American girl brought me riches and I am proud of her."

I simply refer to this speech, not to compare it as a piece of eloquence to any of Mr. Wilson's, but simply to show where I started at that time before he was ever thought of for president. Of course, he can put his late grown sentiments into more eloquent language than I could. He has been a professor in a college while I never got higher than teaching a district school.

Again on the subject of the Tariff Mr. Wilson shows signs of changing. He is now in favor of a tariff commission. By the time election comes round he may be a full fledged protectionist.

Around many questions that will probably be issued in the coming campaign a candidate for the Republicans would have to play hide and seek with Mr. Wilson.

Mr. Editor, you having used a term that was used by both Roosevelt and Wilson in the memorable campaign in which Roosevelt helped to divide Republicans so that Wilson could drive through to the desired goal led me to think that you wanted me to toss my hat into the ring for the Presidency; but if you meant for a county office I would like another chance to be heard.

KING ROAD DRAG IS FAVORED

State Highway Commissioner T. J. Elshart of Colorado has announced that the state will pay half the cost of split-log drags to all counties which will furnish these drags free to farmers and others pledging themselves to use them on their roads. This action followed the strong impression made on the highway commission by the D. Ward King method of road building, as demonstrated at the King road rallies held recently at Castle Rock, Littleton, Golden, Denver, Brighton, Loveland, Greeley, Fort Morgan, Fort Collins and Cheyenne. Governor Ammons was a regular attendant at the meetings and enthusiastically indorses the system.

Hundreds of farmers have already pledged themselves to use the drags, and as a result it is predicted that ruts, bumps and mudholes in the roads in this section of the state will soon be things of the past, just as this Missouri farmer's method transformed the dirt roads of Iowa and a dozen other states at practically no expense.

The following is King's condensed formula for building and maintaining a perfect road with the split-log drag: "Build a King drag according to instructions. After the first rain, while the dirt is still moist but not sticky, hitch the team to the drag so that the drag will follow the team at an angle of about 45 degrees. Drive with one horse on each side of the wheel track to your neighbor's front gate toward town and come home over the other wheel track, smoothing the road and moving a small amount of earth toward the middle.

"After the next rain or wet spell go again. Repeat this after each storm until the surface touched by the drag is smooth and is slightly higher in the center than at the sides.

"Plow a shallow furrow (please notice the word 'shallow') just outside the dragged portion of the road, turning the furrow into the dragged portion. Spread this furrow (notice the word 'spread') over the road toward the center with the drag. When you finish the roadway will be about two feet wider and the middle will be a little higher.

"After the next rain or storm plow again and drag again, adding two feet more to the width and building the road still a little higher in the center. Only plow one furrow between rains. When the road becomes wide enough quit plowing. Never drag except when the soil is moist.

"This formula is guaranteed to produce results."

A government bulletin giving instructions for making and using the King drag may be obtained by anyone desiring to use it on his roads by addressing the agricultural department at Washington.

AGRICULTURE

By Peter Radford.

When you enter the agricultural department of the county fair, you feel your soul uplifted and your life takes on a new power—that is the inspiration of the soil. You are overpowered by the grandeur and magnificence of the scene—that is the spirit of the harvest. You can hear the voice of nature calling you back to the soil—that is opportunity knocking at your door. It is a good chance to spend a quiet hour in contact with the purity and perfection of nature and to sweeten your life with its fragrance, elevate your ideals with its beauty and expand your imagination with its power.

These products as food are fit for the gods, and as an article of commerce they ought to bring top prices on any market in the world.

The products of the soil are teachers and preachers as well. Their beauty gives human life its first entertainment, their perfection aims the genius in artists; their purity furnishes models for growth of character and their marvelous achievements excite our curiosity and we inquire into the wonderful processes of nature.

Before leaving the parlor of agriculture where nature is parading in her most graceful attire and science is climbing the giddy heights of perfection, let us pause and take a retrospective view. How many of you know that after these wonderful products are raised, they can seldom be marketed at a profit? Take the blushing Elberta, for example—they were fed to the hogs by the carload last year. The onion—the nation's favorite vegetable—every year rots by the acre in the Southwest for want of a market and as a result hundreds of farmers have lost their homes. Cotton—nature's capitalist—often goes begging on the market at less than cost of production.

DEEP OR SHALLOW PLOWING?

Great Deal Depends Upon Judgment of Farmer and Local Conditions—Two Good Rules.

The agricultural extension service of the University of Arizona frequently receives inquiries from farmers asking whether deep or shallow plowing is the right thing. As to whether to plow deep or shallow depends entirely upon local conditions. There are two general rules that may be laid down. 1. In dry farming sections of the state fall and winter plowing should be deep and spring plowing shallow. Deep spring plowing in the dry-farming districts opens the soil so that much valuable moisture is lost. 2. In heavy or tight soils preparatory plowing should generally be deep in order that the soil may be opened up for the penetration of moisture.

Light or loose soils should usually be plowed shallow or in some cases only disked. A great deal depends upon the judgment of the farmer as to whether he should plow deep or shallow. It is usually better to plow before irrigating than after, although sometimes it is necessary to give a light irrigation to soften the soil sufficiently so that it can be plowed. Generally insufficient team power is used on the heavier types of soil in Arizona, and this should be remedied. In some tight heavy soils or in tough sand land it is frequently desirable to disk before plowing; one of the best implements for this purpose is a double-action cutaway harrow.

SPRING WHEAT ON DRY LAND

Preferred in Some Sections to Winter Variety on Account of Peculiar Local Conditions.

By JAMES D. MARSHALL, Colorado Agricultural College, Fort Collins, Colo.

In many sections of the dry lands, spring wheat is preferred to winter wheat because of the peculiar local conditions.

However, the majority of spring varieties grown do not bring as high a price on the market as the harder grained Turkey Red, which is the popular winter variety. The exceptions to this are the Red Russian and the Marquis, one a semi-hard and the other a hard wheat which compare very favorably in yield and quality with the hard winter wheats, and they should replace to a large extent the white spring wheat which is so largely grown at the present time.

Get some seed of either or both of the above varieties and if given a fair trial, they will make themselves popular and in time will gradually replace the soft spring wheats.

NATURE'S WORK WITH SOILS

Important Office of Mineral Fertilizers is to Improve Physical Condition of Land.

When a soil becomes thin, nature does not transport mineral fertilizers from some other quarter, but produces vegetation which increases the soil's power to hold moisture when the material has rotted.

Some of the natural store of plant food is made available through the decay of vegetation, but the most important office of this material is to improve the physical condition of the land and its water-holding power.

Control of San Jose Scale.

Contrary to popular belief, the San Jose scale is not the hardest pest to control which infests the orchard. Proper material applied at the proper time and in the proper way will kill 90 per cent of the insects. Either purchase a good brand of commercial lime sulphur or carefully make your own and then apply it conscientiously, and you will be able to save your home orchards from destruction by the San Jose scale.

Hog Tonic.

Do you remember the proportions of the old and tried tonic for hogs? Here they are again: Wood charcoal, one pound; sulphur, one pound; sodium chloride, two pounds; sodium sulphate, one pound; antimony sulphide, one pound. The ingredients should be mixed by a druggist, pulverized. Put a handful in two quarts of dry bran and place where the pigs can help themselves.

Dry-Farming Gospel.

Disking after the blunder is good dry-farming gospel, not wholly confined in its benefits to the dry-farming area.

Prune in Winter.

Prune the grape vines in the winter time. They are bare of leaves then, and one can see what is to be done; and, besides, there is more time for the work than at any other season. Never prune after the sap has started in the spring.

Prevent Vegetables Withering.

Cover carrots, beets and other root crops lightly with dry sand to prevent withering.

YIELD NO RIGHTS

HONOR IS AT STAKE, PRESIDENT WILSON WRITES TO SENATOR STONE.

Letter Announces that Executive Will Hold Germany to Promises for Safety of Americans on the High Seas.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Washington.—President Wilson on Thursday night, in a letter to Senator Stone explicitly declared that he will not consent to barring of American citizens from armed passenger ships as proposed by resolutions before Congress and that if any nation denies the right of Americans to safety on board such vessels the United States has "in honor no choice" as to what its course should be.

The course which the central powers are pursuing in their order to sink without warning after March 1 all armed ships seems for the moment to threaten "insuperable obstacles," the President wrote, but added that, because of previous assurances, he must believe explanations putting a different aspect on the situation soon will be made.

"White House, Feb. 24, 1916.—My Dear Senator: I very warmly appreciate your kind and frank letter of today and feel that it calls for an equally frank reply. You are right in assuming that I shall do everything in my power to keep the United States out of war. I think the country will feel no uneasiness about my course in that respect. Through many anxious months I have striven for that object amidst difficulties more manifold than can have been apparent upon the surface, and so far I have succeeded, I do not doubt that I shall continue to succeed.

The course which the central European powers have announced their intention of following in the future with regard to under-sea warfare seems for the moment to threaten insuperable obstacles, but its apparent meaning is so manifestly inconsistent with explicit assurances recently given us by those powers with regard to their treatment of merchant vessels on the high seas that I must believe that explanations will presently emerge which will put a different aspect upon it. We have had no reason to question their good faith or their fidelity to their promises in the past, and I, for one, feel confident that we shall have none in the future.

"But in any event our duty is clear: No nation or group of nations has the right while the war is in progress to alter or disregard the principles which all nations have agreed upon in mitigation of the horrors and sufferings of war, and if the clear rights of American citizens should ever unhappily be abridged or denied by any such action, we should, it seems to me, have in honor no choice as to what our own course should be. For my own part, I cannot consent to any abridgement of the rights of American citizens in any respect. The honor and self-respect of the nation is involved. We covet peace and shall preserve it at any cost, but the loss of honor. To forbid our people to exercise their rights for fear we might be called upon to vindicate them would be a deep humiliation indeed.

"It would be an implicit, all but an explicit, acquiescence in the violation of the rights of mankind everywhere and of whatever nation or allegiance. It would be a deliberate abdication of our hitherto proud position as spokesmen even amid the turmoil of war for the law and the right. It would make everything this government has attempted and everything that it has achieved during this terrible struggle of nations meaningless and futile.

"It is important to reflect that it is this instance we allowed expediency to take the place of principle, the door would inevitably be opened to still further concessions. Once accept a single abatement of right and many other humiliations would certainly follow and the whole fine fabric of international law might crumble under our hands, piece by piece. What we are contending for in this matter is of the very essence of the things that have made America a sovereign nation. She cannot yield them without conceding her own impotency as a nation and making virtual surrender of her independent position among the nations of the world.

"I am speaking, my dear senator, in deep solemnity, without heat, with a clear consciousness of the high responsibilities of my office, and as your sincere and devoted friend. If we should unhappily differ, we shall differ as friends, but where issues so momentous as these are involved we must, just because we are friends, speak our minds without reservation. Faithfully yours,

"WOODROW WILSON"

The President's letter was in answer to one written Jan. Thursday afternoon by Senator Stone outlining the situation existing at the capital, where for two days, persistent demands had been made for some action which might lessen the possibility of war between the United States and Germany.

MRS. ROBIN REDBREAST.

Mrs. Robin Redbreast was discouraged ever since they came north in the early spring. Mr. Robin Redbreast had found fault with her. First it was the place where the nest was built. Robin told her they could have a nest in the apple tree or in the old elm at the end of the lane, and Mrs. Robin had selected the apple tree because she thought the apples would be near at hand when she was on the nest. But after they were settled Robin told her if they had gone to the elm they would not have the sparrows bothering them.

Poor Mrs. Redbreast said nothing, but she sighed as she put the children to bed and wondered what had come over Robin.

"Those children should be taught to fly," said Robin one morning. "They should be learning to find worms for themselves. If you were any sort of a mother you would have begun some days ago."

"Why, Robin," replied his wife, "they are only babies; they would be sure to fall off the limb the first try. I will teach them in a short time, but they are not strong enough yet."

Mrs. Redbreast hurried with her work that morning and then she put the children close together in the nest.

The Nest Was Empty.

"Don't you move," she told them. "I am going to market to get something nice for dinner."

"Give me the very tenderest worms you have," she said to the market man, "and I want them fast, too."

Then Mrs. Redbreast went home by the way of the cherry tree and picked a basket full of the most delicious cherries she could find. "Then," she said as she hurried home, "if this dinner doesn't sweeten his temper nothing will."

"What did you bring?" asked the little Redbreasts. "Can we have some?"

"You keep quiet," said their mother. "You can have some when dinner is ready and not before."

Mrs. Redbreast arranged her dinner and stood and admired the effect. "It looks good enough to eat," she said. "I do not see where Robin can be."

Robin appeared at that minute and looked around, hoping to catch her with the dinner unprepared. He had eaten some crumbs and grain he found in the yard and was not very hungry, therefore he felt in the mood to find fault with the best dinner that could be served.

Mrs. Redbreast watched him with anxious eyes. "Are those not nice, fat worms," she asked after waiting a minute.

"Oh, yes, they are fat," answered Mr. Robin, "but will you never learn that the biggest are not always the best? My mother used to select the best worms I ever ate. I wish you would begin to get like her, but I do not suppose you ever will."

"Why, Robin, you told me that you liked the fattest worms I could find the other day," said Mrs. Redbreast, wiping away a tear that rolled down her cheek. "You said the ones I had last week were too lean, but I am sure you will find the cherries nice," she added, without waiting for him to reply.

"They are too ripe," said Robin, hopping out to the end of the limb. "I might just as well not come home to dinner; there is never anything fit to eat."

Robin waited around a few minutes, but his wife did not answer him or speak to him again, and she gave the little Redbreasts their dinner and then began to clear the table, and Robin, seeing that there was no use trying to quarrel with her, flew away.

It took Mrs. Robin all the rest of the day to accomplish what she set out to do, and when night came she had all the little Redbreasts in a nest two limbs above their own, and she told them to go to sleep and not dare to peep.

Then Mrs. Redbreast began to watch for Robin. She had not long to wait, for he flew home early to get his supper. Having had his dinner early made him very hungry.

He threw his cap into the nest and looked about, but instead of the nice supper he had expected to find the nest was empty, not only of food, but the whole family was gone.

Robin hopped around on the limb, looking behind the leaves, and then he looked on the ground, for he thought the little ones must have fallen out of the nest and their mother was watching over them, but no, they were nowhere in sight. Robin was hungry, as I have said, and there was no supper, and he sat on the edge of the empty nest, looking very forlorn and feeling very unhappy.

Mrs. Redbreast, of course, was watching him, and when she thought he was punished enough she flew down. Robin was so glad to see her that he forgot to ask her where she had been. He flew right over beside her and pecked her bill, which, of course, was a kiss. "Where are the children?" he asked. "I miss their chatter."

"Oh! I thought they were old enough to have a nest by themselves," said the wise Mrs. Redbreast, "and they are asleep in the bough above. Now I must set your supper. I am a little late. What will you have?"

"Anything you have," replied Robin. "You need not fret about keeping me waiting, for I am sure I was a little late getting home."

Mrs. Redbreast did not reply, but she prepared the nicest supper she could and they sat down to it.

"You certainly can make nice biscuits," said Robin, helping himself to the third, "and as for that dinner this noon, I guess I was not hungry. My stomach has been a little upset for a few days, because I ate some cherries before they were quite ripe."

"You must be more careful," was all the reply that Mrs. Redbreast made, for she knew that was the best way.

Later, when Robin had settled down, she started to go to the children. "Don't be gone long," said Robin. "I think after all you had better bring them down here and then you won't have to be away so much."

Mrs. Redbreast flew up to the nest. The children were all right, but she sat on the side of the nest for a few minutes waiting for what she knew was sure to come.

"Are you coming down pretty soon," called Robin, flying up to the next limb.

And Mrs. Redbreast knew she had won and that Robin had been brought to realize his fault, and for the rest of the summer there was no more fault-finding.

MUST PAY THEIR JUST DEBTS

Rev. Dr. Charles E. Jefferson Gives Reasons Why They Cannot Repudiate and Do Her Share.

In the Woman's Home Companion the Rev. Dr. Charles E. Jefferson of the Broadway Tabernacle has a sermon to grown-up daughters. In it he gives the following reasons why women must forego the privilege of repudiating their debts and pay up like men.

"A woman, no less than a man, is in the grip of inexorable moral law, and each alike must pay to the uttermost farthing what he owes," says the doctor. "A girl on the threshold of womanhood is in most cases a charming creature, and because of the chivalric devotion which is paid her she is in danger of losing sight of the demands of the eternal law. She must do her share of the world's work. She must begin in the home. She must pay her debts to her parents, and to her brothers and sisters. Elder daughters can do for their younger sisters what no one else can do. Standing between their mother and these younger sisters, they can do much to bring both sides into closer sympathy. Because of their wider experience they can understand their mother, and because of their youth they can enter more fully into the feelings and wishes of their younger sisters."

By Measurement.

For half an hour the teacher patiently instructed her class in the art of telling the time.

"Now," she said at last, as she pointed to the big clock on the wall, "you may be the first to tell me the time, Mary Brown."

Full of importance, Mary turned and studied the dial. Then she watched her teacher again, her eyes shining with triumph.

"Please, miss," she said, "it is just one inch past eleven!"

Adroit Answer.

Schoolmistress—Well, Freddie, dear, what did you learn yesterday?

New Boy (after deep thought)—You ought to know—you taught me—Punch

MOST WORTHY.

St. Peter was nodding at the pearly gate when the soul of a faithful wife sought admittance.

"What have you to say for yourself?" asked the saint.

"I was married to my husband for 30 years. Every time we gave a dinner party he told the same old jokes and I always laughed heartily."

"Enter, my good woman," said the saint, much affected. "The book of your life is wondrously free from stain, but had you conducted yourself far otherwise, your great forbearance would have entitled you to a place here."

Against Additional Expense.

Young Mrs. Green (to neighbor)—I'm having such trouble keeping our food. I bought a real nice-looking refrigerator, but it doesn't seem to work well at all.

Neighbor—Do you keep enough ice in it?

Mrs. Green—Ice? I hope you don't think, after spending all that money on a refrigerator we'd go to the additional expense of buying ice.

Family Trials.

Beggar—Say, mister, would youse gimme a quarter ter buy some medecine for me pore sick wife?

Merchant—Get out! You're a fraud. Only last week I gave you 50 cents to help bury your wife that you said had just died.

Beggar—Yes, dat's right. Dis one wot's sick now is me second wife. See?

How They Love Each Other.

Miss Fayette—When Jack proposed to me last night he acted like a regular fool.

Miss Blunt—Naturally! He was doing a very foolish thing.

EMBARRASSING QUESTIONS.

"I suppose your little ones ask you many embarrassing questions?"

"Yes, they are just like their mother."

Follow His Example.

A prudent man was William Marx. Who traveled mostly on his feet. He'd always look for motor cars. Before he'd start across the street.

Miscued.

Bess—You interest me strangely. Jack—as no other man ever has.

Jack—You sprung that on me last night.

Bess—Oh, was it you? Pardon me for repeating.—Judge.

Brutal.

Old Maid (showing rare coins)—This coin was made in 1798.

The Brute—Why didn't you spend it when it was new?—Froth.

At the Cotillion.

Soph—Your girl is a wonderful dancer but for two things.

Junior (elated at compliment paid his girl)—Yes, I think so, too, but what are the two things?

Soph (boasting a hasty retreat)—Her feet.—Nebraska Awgwan.

Conceded.

"At any rate, you were crazy to marry me," said Mrs. Naggs, at the end of a rather lengthy argument.

"I realize that now," answered Mr. Naggs. "All my friends told me so, but I wouldn't believe them."

He Was Loaded.

Mrs. Boozem—John, you were very careful last night.

Mr. Boozem—How so?

Mrs. Boozem—You put all of your clothes in bed and started to go to sleep in the wardrobe.

Extenuating.

"That hat is strictly a Paris model."

"Oh, how unparisitic. And besides, it simply couldn't be copied."—Margendorfer Blaetter (Munich).

KIND.

"There goes a kind man. The last time I went to him I didn't have a cent, and he gave me all he could."

"What was that?"

"Thirty days."

Natural History.

A gripe germ's ways are very sad. His intelligence is obtuse. He has a position bad. And kindness is no use.

The Truth Comes Out.

"No ma'am," protested the unworried hobo. "youse is mistaken in t'inkin' dat drinkin' is one uv me failin's."

"Well," rejoined the kind old lady as she handed him a couple of pennies, "appearances are sometimes deceitful. So you never drink?"

"Course I does," answered the hobo. "But as I wuz erbout t' say, drink is one uv me greatest successes. See?"

The Backward Kind.

"This is an age of specialists. The man who devotes all his energy to one thing usually succeeds."

"So I hear."

"By the way, what's your specialty?"

"I teach people how to remember."

"I presume you get good results?"

"Pretty fair, although some of them forget to pay me after I have taught them how to remember."

Doubtful Popularity.

Blondine—I wish I knew just how popular Griggidig is.

Brunetta—She seems to have plenty of callers.

"That's what mystifies me."

"Mystifies?"

"Yes; I don't know whether they are gentleman friends or installment agents."

Slow Delivery.

Grace—Yes, she loves to play whist, but it almost drives her crazy.

Harry—How so?

Grace—Why, she has an impediment in her speech, and by the time she can ask, "What's trump?" it's something else.

One of Many.

Pat—O'm askin' yez. Moik, wuz yez iver struck by lightning?

Mike—Manny's th' toime, me b'y.

Pat—Yes don't mane it!

Mike—Sure, an' O! do. Haven't O! been married these tin years, b'gorry?

Charitable.

"That chap Griggidig is absolutely selfish. He never thinks of anybody but himself."

"Don't say that. I know for a fact that when his clothes get too shabby for his valet to wear he gives them to the poor."

THE LIMIT.

"When I see what Diggs accomplishes I am moved to admiration. He has great endurance."

"Yes; that man has the constitution of a social debilitate."

WOMAN HAD NERVOUS TROUBLE

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her.

West Danby, N. Y.—"I have had nervous trouble all my life until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for nerves and for female troubles and it straightened me out in good shape. I work nearly all the time, as we live on a farm and I have four girls. I do all my sewing and other work with their help, so it shows that I stand it real well. I took the Compound when my ten year old daughter came and it helped me a lot. I have also had my oldest girl take it and it did her lots of good. I keep it in the house all the time and recommend it."

—Mrs. DEWITT SCHUBAUGH, West Danby, N. Y.

WAITING FOR THE END OF THE WAR

"Then Take Advantage of the Opportunities in Canada."

(Contributed by W. J. White, of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, Canada.)

I strolled into a bank in one of the cities of the west a short time ago and the bank manager said "after the war, the Canadians should be prepared for a great influx of people. The crops that the western Canadian farms have produced in 1915, and the wealth that the farmers have had thrust upon them by the high price of grain, will make farm lands valuable and farming remunerative. After the war is over there will be thousands go to Canada to engage in agriculture and many other industries that will certainly prove profitable. Conditions will be wonderfully good. The advertising that Canada has had during the last year or two by its magnificent contribution of over 250,000 men to fight for the Empire, the wonderful sums it has given to the Red Cross and Patriotic funds, the excellent showing it made in subscribing over double when only 50 millions of dollars was asked as a war loan, the bravery, courage and hardihood of the soldiers who have fought the battles in Flanders, it is just wonderful," and my enthusiastic banker grew eloquent. One might have thought he was a subsidized booster for Canada. "But," he said "they won't go until after the war."

"Well, now, Mr. —, why wait until after the war? If all you say be true, and you have said nothing yet of the wonderful bank clearings of Canada today, nothing of the fact that the immense grain crop of Western Canada this year has given to every man, woman and child in that country, over three hundred dollars per head, why wait until after the war? After the war, under such conditions as you have pictured (and which are real) land values will go up, prices will increase. Advantage should be taken of the low prices at which these agricultural lands can be had today. They have not increased any as yet, and excellent farm lands can be had close to railways in old settlements, in excellent communities for from fifteen to thirty dollars per acre. The climate is good and will be no better after the war."

"What about conscription, though? Is there not a danger from conscription, and should I advise any to go there now, would they not have to face it? Then too, there is the report that there is a heavy war tax on lands."

I was surprised to learn that these old yarns, stories that I thought had been exploded long ago, were still doing duty in many parts of the United States, and that a gentleman of the wide learning of my friend, was inclined to believe them.

"Conscription!" I said. "With Canada contributing 250,000 men voluntarily enlisted, why conscription? There is no conscription in Canada, and neither will there be. It is not needed. In any case no legislation could be passed by the Dominion Parliament which would impose military service upon people who are not citizens of Canada, either by birth or naturalization. Settlers from the United States could not become naturalized British subjects until they had resided in Canada continuously for three years." I quoted from official documents.

"In the first few months of the war I clearly stated that there would not be conscription in Canada. I repeat that statement today."

"And then as to taxes," I continued, quoting again from official authority. "All taxes levied by the Federal Government take the indirect form of customs duties and inland revenue duties. It is untrue that farmers are paying direct war-tax levies and no intending settler need hesitate to come to Canada on this account."

"Official denials should convince you that all apprehensions which have been making some would-be-settlers from the United States hesitate to make a change while the war lasts are without foundation. With these misunderstandings cleared up, the present war conditions even become an added inducement to settlement in any part of the provinces of western Canada, inasmuch as war prices and keen demands for all manner of farm products afford the farmer a special opportunity to make money."

I was glad of the chance and pleased to have him state that his views had altogether changed.

I could have continued, and told him of the fortunes that had been made in the season of 1915, out of farming, wheat growing, oat growing, barley growing, cattle raising, dairying and mixed farming. I could have told him of an Ottawa (Canada) syndicate that had a yield of 120 bushels of oats per acre from their farm at Wainwright and from 60 acres of wheat field they threshed over 60 bushels per acre. These yields while phenomenal, were repeated in many portions of western Canada. It was interesting to inform him that the average yield of spring wheat in Saskatchewan was 25.16 bushels per acre; Manitoba, 26.3 bushels; in Alberta, 36.16 bushels, and over the three provinces there was a total average of over 30 bushels per acre.

"The immense crop that has just been harvested has put millions of dollars in the hands of the farmers, and the work of distribution through the regular channels of trade has already begun. Millions of bushels of grain are still in the hands of the farmers, which means that there is a vast store of realizable wealth that will be steadily going into circulation, benefitting the thousands who are dependent indirectly on the basic industry of the province for their livelihood."

"The mock prosperity that rested on the insecure foundation of inflated real estate values has passed away, and in its place the corner stone of the country's sound financial future is being built."

"The trust and mortgage companies, the large implement concerns and the wholesale merchants all tell the same story today of marked improvement in their business. The farmers and others are meeting their just dues and paying off debts that in many cases have been long overdue. Collections are better today than they have been since the most prosperous days of our history, and obligations are being met freely and promptly."

"Now," I said, "why should they wait until the war is over?"

And he agreed with me.—Advertisement.

The Laugh That Failed.

"Laugh, and the world laughs with you," quoted the humorist with the unbarbered hair, as he handed the editor an alleged joke of the Joe Millar vintage.

"Yes," replied the editor. Then, after glancing over it, he handed it back with the comment: "But this is no laughing matter, I'm sorry to say." Whereupon, the man of humor, with head bowed down, wandered slowly hence into the unexplored hither.

BILIOUS, HEADACHY, SICK "CASCARETS"

Gently cleanse your liver and sluggish bowels while you sleep.

Get a 10-cent box. Sick headache, biliousness, dizziness, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath—always trace them to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is reabsorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Adv.

Hercules and the Countryman.

A countryman was driving his cart along a road filled with ruts when one of the wheels stuck in the mud and the horses were unable to draw the cart out of it. The countryman at once began to call upon Hercules to help him out of his difficulty.

"Put your shoulder to the wheel," said Hercules. "Whip up your horses and help them, for that is the only way to obtain the aid that you want."

Its Transformation.

"This," said the messenger sadly as he looked on the broken form which had been knocked out of his hands, "was once an article on electricity."

"Well, what of it?" asked a bystander.

FOR THE BREAKFAST TABLE

Preparation That is Well Worth Trying—Both Nourishing and Economical.

Ingredients—One breakfast cupful of Egyptian lentils, three onions (medium size), one heaped tablespoonful of curry powder, one breakfast cupful of water, one and a half breakfast cupfuls of rice, three ounces of butter (or margarine).

Method—Wash and soak the lentils in plenty of water for some hours, then drain. Next take the three onions and mince them as finely as possible, meanwhile letting the butter (or margarine) melt gently in a frying pan. Then add the minced onions and fry until they are a golden brown. Next take your curry powder and mix it in gently with the onions, allow it to fry gradually from 10 to 15 minutes, moving it all the while with a wooden spoon in order to prevent it from burning. Now add a breakfast cupful of water and the lentils. Let all simmer slowly until it appears to have the consistency of thick porridge. Then add the pepper and salt to taste, and serve hot with some dry boiled rice in a separate dish.

Method for Boiling Rice.—Wash the rice three or four times in cold water, then place it in a saucepan with plenty of cold water and put it on the fire. Allow it to come to the boil quickly. When sufficiently cooked it should be soft enough to crumble when rubbed between the finger and thumb. Wash well again, this time in hot water to prevent the rice from getting chilled, then strain it and put it on a dish with a clean cloth over the top. Place it on the stove to dry, and serve with the curried lentils when ready.

Use warm water to sprinkle starched cloths and the effect will be twice as satisfactory.

A painter's brush may be used to dislodge dust from cracks and crevices about the house.

Try removing mildew by soaking in a weak solution of chloride of lime, then rinsing in cold water.

Elasticity is restored to rubber by cooking in one part ammonia and two parts water.

Smoked ceiling should be washed with soda water.

Salt will remove the stain from silver caused by eggs, when applied dry with a soft cloth.

To remove stains from tableware a little saleratus rubbed on with the fingers or a bit of cloth will remove stains from cups and other articles of tableware and tinware and marbledized off cloth.

Rust—Wet with lemon juice and rub with salt and lay in sun.

Home-Made Breakfast Food.

I take all my stale bread, whether wheat, rye or graham, roast it in the oven until thoroughly brown, grind it in the food chopper, using the coarse knife, and have then a very delicious breakfast food. If possible, I use some rye bread with caraway seeds in it. This gives a flavor which my folks like very much. If put in a tin can, such as coffee comes in, it will keep crisp and fresh for a long time.—Good Housekeeping.

Rice With Cheese Sauce.

Put boiled rice in layers into a buttered baking dish. Cover each layer with the following sauce: Melt three tablespoonfuls of butter, add three of flour and when well mixed, one and a half cupful of rich milk. When smooth, add a half cupful of good flavored cheese which has been grated, a few dashes of pepper and salt to season.

Mock Cherry Pie.

One cupful of cranberries (chopped), one cupful of raisins (chopped), one cupful of sugar mixed with a tablespoonful of flour, one-half cupful boiling water, one tablespoonful vanilla. Bake with two crusts.

Flemish Soup.

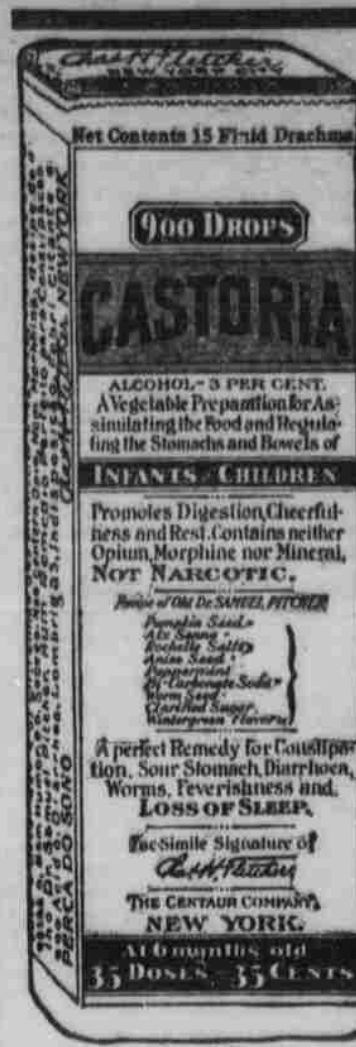

To two pounds of washed and picked Brussels sprouts add ten potatoes, two onions, two leeks, salt and pepper. Cook all gently and pass through a sieve. Add at the last moment a sprinkle of chopped chervil.

To Revive Bottled Olives.

When a bottle of olives is opened, pour off the brine and add one tablespoonful of olive oil. Replace the cork and shake the bottle well. Then let it stand about half an hour before using the olives. The disagreeable briny taste will disappear, and the olives will have the rich flavor of the ripe fruit.—McCall's Magazine.

A New Remedy for Kidney, Bladder and all Uric Acid Troubles

Dear Readers:

I appeal to those of you who are bothered with kidney and bladder trouble, that you give up the use of harsh salts or alcoholic medicines and in their place take a short treatment of "Anuric." I have taken many of Dr. Pierce's medicines for the past twenty-five years with good results. I suffered with kidney trouble for some years. I recently heard of the newest discovery of Dr. Pierce, namely, his "Anuric" Tablets. After using same I am completely cured of my kidney trouble. A doctor pronounced me a well preserved woman for my age, all due, I believe, to Dr. Pierce's aid. MRS. MELINDA E. MILLER.

If you suffer from backache, lumbago, rheumatism, get "Anuric" now.

The Wheat Yield Tells the Story of Western Canada's Rapid Progress

The heavy crops in Western Canada have caused new records to be made in the handling of grain by railroads. For, while the movement of these heavy shipments has been wonderfully rapid, the resources of the different roads, despite enlarged equipments and increased facilities, have been strained as never before, and previous records have thus been broken in all directions.

The largest Canadian wheat shipments through New York ever known are reported for the period up to October 15th, upwards of four and a quarter million bushels being exported in less than six weeks, and this was but the overflow of shipments to Montreal, through which point shipments were much larger than to New York.

Yields as high as 60 bushels of wheat per acre are reported from all parts of the country; while yields of 45 bushels per acre are common. Thousands of American farmers have taken part in this wonderful production. Land prices are still low and free homestead lands are easily secured in good localities, convenient to churches, schools, markets, railways, etc.

There is no war tax on land and no conscription.

John Lee Jr. will leave in a few days with his family for Douglas, Arizona, where it is understood he has secured work. He was former- ly a trusted foreman in the mines here for the Wild Cat Company, but was let out with most of the others, under the new manage- ment. His old time chums and associates will loth to see him leave. But the mining business has its whirligigs and they are liable to get us all in time.

It is learned that a very rich body of gold ore has lately been struck in the North Homestake mine which with the fact that the tungsten is still holding out makes it very encouraging to the new owners. It is known also that a large deposit of this ore, richer than yet encountered in any of the mines here, has just been uncovered in the Old Abe. A large portion of it, from samples shown appears to be about the pure stuff and needs but little work to prepare it for shipment.

It now looks as if the whole roost would go tangling to this Tan- hauser.
