Passenger Agents Discussing Rates to the World's Fair.

POPULARITY OF PRINCE OF WALES.

Chicago, March 17.—Despite the division in the Irish ranks in this city St. Patrick's day is being observed with old time ardor. All kinds of business with which the sons and daughters of Erin's Isle are identified are at a standstill, and the principal streets are crowded with wearers of the green. The parade in honor of the day under the auspices of the Irish National Guard eclipsed all previous efforts of the kind. Rev. Father Michael O'Sullivan was grand marshal, and at the head of every division the Irish flag with the stars and stripes entwined was borne aloft. Among the organizations in line were the Hibernian Rifles, the Emmet Guards, the Patriotic Sons of Father Matthew, Knights of St. Patrick, Clann-na-Gael Guards and a number of Temperance societies. A large number of the city council were also in line. The line of march was a long one, and the participants were pretty well tired by the time the order was given for disbanding.

Planning to the Prince.

New York, March 17.—A dispatch from London says: The Prince of Wales presided to day at the annual meeting of the Royal National Lifeboat Institution, and the event was attended by a remarkable demonstration of loyalty to the heir apparent. The prince, accompanied by Sir Henry Crobyn, drove in an open carriage from Marlborough house to St. Martin's Town Hall, where the meeting was held. As a natural consequence of the celebration of St. Patrick's day the Strand and other thoroughfares between the West End and the East Center were crowded with pedestrians and holiday folk. The people had no difficulty in recognizing the heir apparent, and the passage of the carriage from block to block was accompanied by a fusillade of cheers. In Fleet street the carriage encountered a detachment of the St. Patrick's Day procession, and the paraders waved the Union Jack and the Irish flag while the band struck up the familiar strains of the "Deputy" national hymn, "God Bless the Prince of Wales." Upon reaching St. Martin's Town Hall, the prince was received by a committee which with some difficulty escorted him through the crowd on the sidewalk, and which packed the corridors of the building. His appearance on the platform was the signal for uproarious applause from the immense audience. In calling the meeting to order he made one of the best speeches he has delivered in recent years, touching upon the humanity involved in the lifeboat movement, and appealing for the support of philanthropists and humanitarians in order that the society might be able to maintain and extend its field of operation. He drew a touching picture of a shipwreck, and of the happiness of the survivors after being rescued by the hardy tars of the national institution, and concluded amidst tremendous applause by presenting a prize of a £500 guinea for the benefit of the treasury of the organization.

More Souvenir Coins.

Chicago, March 17.—The design for the Isabella silver souvenir coins granted by congress to the board of lady managers, and of which forty thousand are to be printed, was completed this morning. It bears the portrait of Isabella, of Spain, and is of the denomination of twenty-five cents. It is the first coin minted by the authority of the United States in recognition of the power and influence of its women citizens. It is probable that the coins will command a high premium, the officers of the board having already declined to tender an offer of one dollar each for the entire issue.

Railroad Rates.

Chicago, March 17.—The railroad rates for residents of the immense territory west and south of Chicago will be fixed in making up their estimates of World's Fair expenses are likely to be agreed upon at a special meeting of general passenger agents that was called to order in the Hookery at eleven o'clock this morning. The meeting, in accordance with established precedent, is being held with closed doors, but the indications are that it will be attended with some stormy scenes. A few months ago the roads were inclined to favor a rate of a fare and one third for the trip to Chicago from all western points, but this is now opposed by a number of lines, and notably the Rock Island which in-

ABOUT HOOP SKIRTS.

THEIR RETURN SHOULD BE PROMPTLY DISCOURAGED.

A New York Writer Gives Some Excellent Reasons Why Well Enough Should Be Left Alone—The Stage Faint and Elevator.

[Special Correspondence.]

Word has gone round that in twelve months the passport to the height of fashion will be "hoop skirts." The trend in fashion for two years in coats, capes and dress skirts has been the same that preceded the last attack of crinolines, and within the past month skirts have widened at the bottom and assumed that peculiar flaring cut which must be supported by a framework of thickening rumors of the approach of the hoop skirt begin early to be credited. But what a sensation accompanies the acknowledgment that fashion may again burden women with wire cages. Women take it in about the same spirit that the general world regards the possible cholera invasion next year. Some scoff the idea, but those who really feel the possibility are filled with dismay and wish anti-hoop skirt regulations might be made and enforced as quarantine regulations are.

It was a course in grace to wear crinolines twenty years ago, but with all the modern changes in living a woman will have to take out a pilot's license to navigate New York in such guise now.

Hoop skirts are not aesthetic. No body except the Harlem goat, who was formerly reputed to be fond of them, would have anything but unkind words for them. What would happen in a Broadway crowd? There would be as serious a blockade on the sidewalk as the trucks contrive to get up in the street. What would happen if all the women who board the "L" trains measured two yards in diameter? Would the company put on more cars? If crinolines accomplished that, then even the men would rise up and donate gold medals and benedictions.

Flats are not constructed with crinolines in view. No architect in New York has designed flats to accommodate hoops. Many a parlor would be fully furnished by one hoop-skirted woman, and the pre-Adamic joke about the man who went to call on a friend and had to sit in the hall when another man arrived would be revamped to fit the occasion.

One idea occurs to every woman when the invasion of crinolines is mentioned. "How could we get up the L stairs?" That's a problem for a civil engineer. When two women, one bound up and one bound down met on the stairs, what would be the correct form to observe? Each woman might rather in her hoops with a "Four o'clock" gesture, and pass a crisis safely. Or an etiquette of "I should give the older women the right of way, and the married ones the lead over the pretty girls and elderly maiden ladies. Indeed, the L road might decline to transport hoops.

But the unappealing girl of all would be the hammock girl. All her pretty graces and fetching poses that she has practiced so tirelessly before the mirror would be lost in the harness of wire and tapes. Indeed, it might even start a decline of the popularity of the hammock, for a difficulty would confront at the very beginning. It is hard enough now, as every girl knows, to drop one's self into the meshes of a hammock, but with the added incubation of a hoop it would take two seasons for any girl to master the art.

As it has come to be understood that all fashions are launched on the stage, the wardrobes of champion trousseau actresses will be watched for the first symptoms of the approach of crinolines. Laura Keane used to wear hoops. So did Charlotte Cushman. Probably Fanny Davenport and Rose Coghlan would bear their hoops as gracefully as ever Cushman and Keane did, but the experiment would pack any house. There is a great chance for a novelty. "Aristocracy" and modern dramas teint and die with their toes upstage and hoops wildly fanning the air? Original deaths could be planned with such properties.

The capacity of Fifth Avenue stage is limited, but that would not be half as inconvenient for its patrons as the high steps and narrow doors would be. A new chance for gallantry would be opened up to Fifth Avenue club men. To contraband to hand no fare and offer seats with athletic grace they would have to add the accomplishment of assisting the stately dames and beautiful belles to fold up their tests and get through the stage door.

Shopping would become a burden to the soul of woman. It is all of that now, but under the hoop regime it would be a greater tribulation. Elevators into which six or eight women can now be packed in modish fashion would be well filled with one woman and her attachment. Then, too, the shops themselves would be at a loss what to do to accommodate crowds. Surround a Friday bargain counter with fifty hoop-skirted ladies and the tangle would never be broken in season to shut the doors at 5 o'clock.

Indeed, every woman's life would be a nuisance if these absurd notions prevail again. But it is hard to believe that the American woman of today will submit to the intrusion of crinolines. The New York woman has a little something to say about fashions herself, and if she ever realizes that crinolines does not agree with her style and walk, and that the athletic figures she has been cultivating and the delicate manoeuvres she has been rehearsing will have to be laid aside, she will put her little foot firmly down and the hoop skirt may as well drop anchor off Fire Island, for it will never be taken in here.

MARY McGUIRE.

IN SPELLING A LOST ART.

Words That Puzzle the Great Majority of People.

Eighty-five teachers entered a spelling contest at Teachers' Institute in Lockport, recently. Their participation in the contest was compulsory, although a prize, a dictionary, was given to the winner. Of the entire eighty-five only five spelled "Kensel" correctly. "Acknowledgment" was misspelled by sixty-three, or about seventy-four percent of the entire number of contestants. "Superior" was misspelled by fifty-eight; "excellence" by fifty-six; "benefited" by fifty-eight; "business" by fifty; "timid" and "maintenance" by forty-five each; "milliner" by forty-eight; "pretensions" and "spacious" each by forty-three and "comedian" by forty-two. That is, each of these words was misspelled by over one-half the contestants. In the local columns we enter more fully into detail as to the other words misspelled by a large percentage, but the instances noted above will be sufficient for our purpose and show the general character of the words propounded and misspelled, says the Lockport Sun.

Now, when so large a proportion of teachers misspell so heavy percentages as these, and it is borne in mind that no obsolete, unusual or "watch" word, properly so called, appears in the entire list it justifies, we think, the inquiry with which we introduce this comment. It must not, however, be hastily concluded by any ambitious neighbor that Niagara is alone in the poor spelling of her teachers. Far from it; on the contrary, Instructor Sanford informs us that she averages well with other counties in which he has instituted similar spelling contests. In Rensselaer county, for instance, the sort of literature, laundrying, hawkeries, enlightenment and the Troy Press, seven contestants could not spell the name of their own county. It appears, in fact, to be a puzzler everywhere Prof. Sanford gives it out.

"Genesee" never fails to bag a goodly number of victims, and "Niagara" can always be relied on for a few. Shall we confess to Prof. Sanford that we are not so sure "Niagara" if propounded might not have been misspelled by a half dozen or so? One-fifth of our letters from points within the county come directed "Nigra." Nor do we doubt that a similar number of Chautauques would fail on the name of their county, and we imagine it would be a safe wager that seven teachers, at an Institute held in that place, provided no previous hint was given, would misspell "Nikanotes."

Yet it can not be denied that these are common geographical names, mostly of localities in our own state. Surely, no great proportion of teachers should misspell them. Again, "calleged," "exchangeable," "religible," "chrysanthemum," "parallel," "paralytic," "catastroph," "hemorrhage," "separated" and "symmetry" are words so persistently misspelled that the very fact should attract notice in our schools, and the teachers should not only spell them correctly and without hesitation themselves, but teach their scholars to do likewise.

Restore the spelling bee!

My Billie Deferred.

"I love you madly, Blanche!" the young man declared, with all the ardor of a passionate lover. "Will you marry me?"

"I don't know about that, Charley," replied the girl. "I admit I look on you with favor and could learn to love you—but—but—"

"But what, dear?"

"How are you fixed financially?"

"I must acknowledge that I am poor, but my wealthy great uncle has made me his heir, and he will do any day."

"I don't like the idea of waiting for dead men's shoes."

"Neither do I, but—"

"So I have decided to marry your wealthy great uncle myself, and when he dies you may renew your attentions. Au revoir!"

EDITORIAL NOTES.

This country produced $100,000,000 in gold last year. We can easily spare a few millions for Europe.

The sand storms in the southwest at certain seasons of the year, are disagreeable in the extreme, but they are not unhealthy.

If the day ever comes in the United States when a man is elected president, whose administration please all the politicians, where then will the people be at?

INDUSTRIAL securities in Wall street continue to shrink under the withering influence of Mr. Cleveland's inaugural and the prospect of hostile legislation by the new congress.

The law in regard to registration in cities in this territory is now in force, and it is the duty of the city council in this city to appoint three registering officers in each ward.

The ostriches and farm on which they are kept, near Phoenix, were sold recently for $80,000. George M. Harris, the electric street railway man of Denver, C. I., was the purchaser.

If the banks of the country will follow the example of Denver and Chicago the national treasury can receive $100,000,000 in gold coin and the patrons will be better pleased with currency.

CHICAGO has 20,000 children of school age for whom no school settings are provided. It will not surprise the world if the next crop of anarchists in that city are native born, instead of foreigners.

One drawback about the World's fair will be that it may attract persons from Australia, even though it is a country so far away. We don't want any more people from Australia. They seem to be all pugilists.

The socialist colony at Topogampopo is to be helped out of its troubles by a millionaire, Michael Flurston, of Switzerland. He has sold out his business and is about to devote himself to the development of the colony.

The official figures show that but two Americans were naturalized in England last year. This is a surprisingly small number as compared with the hundreds of Englishmen who became citizens of America within the same period.

It is announced that President Cleveland will return the annexation treaty to the senate with some amendments, probably of such a nature that if the Hawaiian Islands are annexed to the United States it will be by act of their people.

The work of the land court is increasing. The New Mexican says: Small holding claims of land continue to be filed in the surveyor general's office. Up to this time some 1,200 claims out of a possible total of 3,000 have been filed.

The "mighty dollar" will be stamped all over Chicago by the time the Fair opens. The curtains of the theatres are being leased for advertising purposes, and even tickets to the Fair will carry advertisements on one side of the pasteboard.

THE CITIZEN has received Vol. 1, No. 1, of Brotherhood of Railroad Employees Journal. It is eight-page, well printed and well edited by a corps of good railroad writers. C. M. Holmes is the manager, and yesterday he was around freely circulating the first issue.

The first locomotive ever seen in Bangkok, Siam, was recently started on the Korat railway. The native population took immense interest in the trial run over the half mile of railway now laid. The Siamese are the most progressive people on the Asiatic continent.

EMMET DALTON, a member of the famous gang of outlaws, who was brought up for trial at Independence, Kansas, on the 8th of March, charged with murder committed during the raid at Coffeyville last summer, entered a plea of murder in the second degree, and was sentenced to imprisonment for life.

The Durango Herald says: J. R. Hanna gives it out that his parties have raised $2,700,000 towards constructing the Durango and Albuquerque railroad, and others assert that Messrs. Fowler & Cook feel confident that their scheme will win, as one-third of the capital stock has been subscribed. Like the Kentucky who was on hunt of a saloon or faro bank, we will be satisfied with any one or two.

The Algodones grant recently confirmed by the court of private claims comprises 60,000 of the most productive land in southwestern Arizona, lying along the Colorado river, extending from the mouth of the Gila river south into Sonora. The town of Yuma and the military reservation lie within the grant, for which Mr. Coe, the owner of the grant, has given quit claim deeds. The grant is valued at $12,000,000.

Met against his will, the friends of Governor McKinley have contributed enough money to pay off the notes upon which he is surety for Walker, the banker who failed. The money has been sent to the trustee who represents the insolvent Walker, and he will pay the notes as fast as they are presented. Governor McKinley will have to submit. As a tribute of friendship for a public man the contribution of this money—amounting to $65,000—is a remarkable thing. It shows how much Mr. McKinley is admired and esteemed in his own and adjoining states.

It is high time the republicans were getting organized for the municipal campaign. The election occurs April 4, and yet nothing has been done by the republicans toward organization. The inefficient and damaging manner in which the democrats have managed city affairs the past year, makes it an easy matter for the republicans to win a signal victory. With proper organization and a ticket composed of the best men in the party, the republicans will not lose a single man at the April election.

The Durango Road.
The Aztec Index says: Mr. John W. Berry returned from Durango last Saturday, having been in that place on a business visit. He reported that the Durango people are very enthusiastic over the Albuquerque railway and have committed reasons to believe that the bonds have been placed and construction will very shortly commence.

Announcements.
I announce myself as a candidate for city clerk subject to the decision of the republican city convention.

SEYMOUR GRISWOLD.

THE BABY CHIMPANZEE.

He Has an Ear for Music and Knows When It Suits Him.

He is a six-months old baby, of extremely grace and delicate manners, and, perhaps, the most irresistibly comical creature which has ever been seen in London. He is extremely well behaved, not in the least shy, and is as friendly with strangers as with his keepers.

His arms are as strong as those of a man, while his legs and feet seem to be used less for walking than as a subsidiary pair of arms and hands. He is thus able, when much interested, to hold his face between two hands and to rest his chin on a third, which gives him an air of pondering reflection beyond any power of human imitation.

"He knows there's something up," remarked his keeper, as we entered the house, and the ape, came to the bars and sat down to inspect his visitors.

As the sounds of the violin began he suspended himself against the bars, and then, with one hand above his head, dropped the other to his side and listened with grave attention. As the sound increased in volume he dropped to the ground and all the hair on his body stuck up with fear. He then crept away on all fours, looking back over his shoulder like a frightened baby, and taking up his piece of carpet which does duty as a shield, shook it out and threw it completely over his head and body and drew it tightly around him. After a short time, as the music continued, he gained courage and put out his head, and at last threw away the cloak and came forward again.

By this time his hair was lying flat and his fear had given place to pleasure. He sat down and, chewing a straw, sat gravely listening to the music.

"He looks just like our manager when a nice piece is on," murmured the violinist as he concluded his share of the serenade.

The piccolo first frightened the monkey, but he soon held out his hand for the instrument which he was allowed to examine. The flute did not interest him, but the bagpipes, reproduced on the violin, achieved a triumph. He just flattened his nose against the bars and then, scrambling to the center of the cage, turned head over heels, and lastly, sitting down, clucked handfuls of straw in the air and over his head, smiling, as the keeper said, with delight and approval.

TEA IN CHINA.

How the Monks Prepare the Beverage They Love.

How they do prepare this fragrant beverage in China—that classic land of tea! General Kehong-Ki-Tong informs us upon this point in his work upon Chinese pleasures.

Tea, says he, is the only beverage taken by the people. It has many lovers in the higher classes of society, among whom it is accounted to contribute to the clearness of the intellect.

The tea imbibed by the rich is invariably green tea; that is to say, from the tiny leaves which had scarcely emerged from the bud before they were gathered and dried in the sun.

Black tea is made of leaves which have arrived at a state of maturity and then been dried at the fire.

Properly prepared tea must be mixed with rain or spring water, which must be heated to a certain point. The boiling should last but a few minutes; as soon as bubbles appear upon the surface the water has boiled sufficiently.

The material of the vase or vessel in which the water is heated is a matter of some importance. True tea connoisseurs use only vases of Nihing, a kind of baking earthenware, left unglazed on the inside.

Saving the Hands.

If it is necessary to have the hands in soap-suds for any length of time, as on cleaning and wash days, to keep them white and soft, dip them in lemon juice or vinegar, after washing in clean water.

HILL AND CLEVELAND.
The visit of Senator D. B. Hill to President Cleveland was a notable event in Washington political life and of course it excited a great deal of comment. That it was not a formal call made necessary by official etiquette, is evident from the length of time the senator spent with the president.

It is of course mere guess work as to what the two men said during the interview, but it is not far wrong to guess that they talked about the New York patronage and that the purpose of their conference was to patch up some kind of an agreement which would avoid a conflict between them. If they have reached an understanding of this sort, it augurs no good for the mugwumps, whose digestion would be very much interfered with if they thought that the distribution of the New York patronage had been arranged upon a basis satisfactory to both Cleveland and Hill.

There is more or less talk to the effect that the Tammany leaders have broken with Senator Hill and that they have been making their peace with Cleveland. It is possible that there is some foundation for this, and the frequency with which assertions to this effect are made gives color to it. If Mr. Hill has found that his hold upon Tammany is not so strong as it once was, he may think it wise to refrain from making a vigorous fight on Cleveland. If his followers are going over to Cleveland, it will not do for him to hang back.

On the other hand, there are indications that Mr. Cleveland is not going to follow the dictates of the mugwumps as closely as they would like. He knows that they are after the office as eagerly as anybody, and there is a bare possibility that he will shake himself loose from them and be a democrat during this administration. If this idea is in his head, it will not be difficult for him to satisfy Tammany. But in that event the poor fawning mugwumps will weep and bewail their sad fate and fill the whole country with their lamentations.

WHAT THEY WILL DO.

It is interesting to know what the members of President Harrison's cabinet propose to do now that they are private citizens. Attorney General Miller it is said will return to Indianapolis and practice law. He is by no means a wealthy man, but he is an able lawyer, and should have no difficulty in making a large income. Secretary of the Navy Tracy will form a law partnership and practice in New York. Secretary Rusk will return to Wisconsin and engage in farming and stock raising. Secretary of State Foster will be engaged for two years under President Cleveland as agent of the Behring Sea Arbitration. He has been one of the attorneys for the United States government. After the expiration of this work he will represent the governments of Mexico and Spain as agent and attorney in this country. Secretary of War Atkins will return to New York and engage in various railroad enterprises. Postmaster General Wansamaker will devote his time to his mammoth business in Philadelphia. Secretary of the Treasury Foster, will look after his manufacturing interests in Ohio, and Secretary Noble will resume the practice of law in St. Louis.

COUNTY CONCERNS.

Comparative statements of the amounts of the appropriations made by the Fifty first and the Fifty second congresses respectively have been made by the chairman of the committee on appropriations of the two houses. Senator Allison, the chairman of the senate committee, estimates the appropriations made by the Fifty-first congress at $289,417,183, and those made by the Fifty-second congress at $1,926,822,049. Representative Holman, the chairman of the house committee, presents figures which agree with those of Senator Allison as regards the appropriations made by the Fifty-second congress, but differ from them as far as the total of the appropriations made by the Fifty-first congress is concerned, putting the latter at $1,635,686,921.

WATE TO SEE NEW CO.

The territory loses a valuable citizen in W. A. Leonard, late publisher of the Silver City Enterprise. Speaking of the matter the Silver City Southwest says: W. A. Leonard expects to leave for Velasco, Tex., in a few days where he expects to make his home. He has purchased the Velasco Times and does not intend to go out of the newspaper business for the present at least. Mr. Leonard has been a resident of this place for more than ten years and is one of our most respected citizens. He commenced the publication of the Enterprise before the advent of the railroad and has made it one of the best newspapers in the territory. If he does as well with the Times as he did with the Enterprise, and it is to be expected that he will, the residents of Velasco will have reason to be proud of at least one of their newspapermen.

The books of the county assessor for 1892, show an assessed valuation in the Cerrillos precinct, of almost $300,000.

G. E. Hoemer, the democratic editor of Springer, was a passenger to the city last night from the north and is registered at the San Felipe.

Gustav Becker, brother of John Becker, of Helen, was at the European from Springfield, Arizona. The visitor is a general merchant.

Rev. Clayton is sick at his residence a few miles south of the city. He will not be able to fill his appointment at the Cerrillos Methodist church tomorrow.

C. Breidlove, the hotel advertising manager from Los Angeles, who has just finished some work at this office for the Armijo house, left last night for Las Vegas.

Francisco Quintana, an old gentleman of Baracoa, died this morning from dropsy. He will be buried in Fairview cemetery by Undertaker Strong at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Superintendent Crocker and his excellent Government Indian school brass band serenaded THE CITIZEN force this afternoon. The address of thanks was delivered by the "printer's devil."

Chas. Dormitzer, representing Anheuser-Busch Brewing association, St. Louis, came down from the north last night and is being shown around the city by John Arzén, the local agent.

Charles Dunning, the well known business gentleman of El Paso, was at the European last night. Old timers of Albuquerque will remember Mr. Dunning, for in the early days he was a resident of this city.

Mrs. C. H. Fancher, wife of the agent for the land department of the Atlantic & Pacific, is visiting friends at Flagstaff. Mr. Fancher is also there, attending to some business in connection with his department.

District court has adjourned until Monday morning at 10 o'clock, all the jurors being dismissed until that time. Hon. Eugene A. Fluke, United States prosecuting attorney, left last night for Santa Fe to spend the Sabbath with his family, while Serapio Romero, chief deputy, United States marshal, took the same train for Las Vegas.

There are rumors all over the city that a railroad construction company have moved its outfit to this city to commence immediate work on the Durango-Albuquerque railroad. Construction work is not the first movement made toward the undertaking of such a stupendous job as the building of a railroad, and therefore don't put any confidence in the rumors.

Leon Hertzog, of the Los Lunas Mercantile company, came up to the city last night and will remain until Monday morning. He states that on last Wednesday night some thief broke into the saloon of L. Hunning, at Los Lunas, and after carting away several hundred dollars' worth of goods, broke into pieces everything they could find. The place the next morning presented the appearance of a visit during the night from a cyclone.

Delegates from the various railroad orders along the Atlantic & Pacific have arrived in the city, and are holding meetings at the K. of P. hall in relation to certain troubles that have occurred on the road. Fred. Littlefield, W. J. Connors, R. C. Brockie, F. Riley and W. F. O'Connor are here from the Needles; B. Allen, D. McCormick, W. C. Barnes and A. H. Pratt from Williams; M. D. Smith and A. J. Henderson from Winslow; S. H. White, C. S. Holmes, Robt. Brockie and H. D. McCarty are the local delegates.

Important to All of Us.
The action of the late legislature, in transferring the deposits of the territory to the Albuquerque National bank, is a move of much importance not only to the public treasury, and to the solid and popular financial institution immediately concerned, but also to the people of the territory at large, and especially to the business interests of this section. It benefits the territory, because it places the funds of the treasury where they will draw interest, instead of being non-productive to the public, as heretofore, and in that way it will add several thousand dollars a year to the cash income of the territory—all of which is clear gain to the public, and is a matter that immediately concerns every taxpayer in New Mexico. It is a matter of importance to the bank, of course, because it enlarges its resources and its business capabilities, and because it gives convincing evidence of the fact that this sterling institution possesses the confidence and esteem of the officials of the territory as well as of the public at large. And it is especially important to the business interests of this section of New Mexico because it places the territorial funds at the commercial center of the territory, where there is always the most demand for money, and where any sum that the treasurer may have on hand can always be used to the mutual advantage of the territory and the business public.

Heretofore, whatever surplus funds the treasurer may have on hand, instead of being so much dead capital to the territory, will regularly earn interest for the benefit of the public treasury, and in the meantime the public money will also be absolutely safe, since it will be secured by an ample bond, and deposited in one of the ablest and most substantial banking institutions in the west.

THE VIADUCT.

The lowest bidders ignored by the Board of Aldermen.

The board of aldermen met in a very quiet session last evening, and the contract for the construction of the Coal avenue viaduct, an improvement which the city could do very well without for several years, was let.

The bids were as follows: King Bridge company, $10,000; Wisconsin Bridge company, $90 per linear foot; Milwaukee Bridge company, $85,000; Missouri Valley Bridge company, $17,400; Chicago Bridge company, $17,500.

Although not by any means the lowest bidder, the contract was awarded to the King Bridge company, represented here by G. H. Wilson, and Aldermen Arzén, Miller, (democratic), will have a very hard time in their attempts to make the people understand why they did not vote to give the contract to the lowest bidder.

Alfred Bowman, Pratt and Rankin know by this time that they stood by the people in their opposition to the viaduct.

The board also fixed the funds for the next fiscal year as follows: Salary, $10,000; fire, $1,000; street improvements, buildings, crosswalks, viaducts, etc., $10,000; jail, $1,000; contingent, $10,000; total, $41,000.

After adjournment, Mr. Wilson, who, it is learned, has frequently boasted that it did not matter how the bids stood he would get the contract anyway, invited the crowd up to the Armijo house bar, where several bottles of champagne were drunk over his "success" in securing the contract.

It is understood that Chas. P. Creary and others now intend to stop work by serving upon Mr. Wilson injunction papers.

Death of "Mark" Edwards.

The Las Vegas Optic contains the following brief account of the death of "Mark" Edwards, whom the reporter of THE CITIZEN knew "at the case" years ago.

The reporter also met type side by side with his brother, Billy Edwards, deceased. The Optic says:

"First, it was Billy Edwards to die. Now, it is his brother, Marcus, ('Mark') Edwards, who has paid the debt of nature. His age was fifty-three years and, like Billy, he had much to do with newspapers in his day. Both had been practical printers, both had had charge of newspapers of some importance, and both were connected with 'The Optic,' 'Mark' being present at its birth and reeking its cradle in infancy. Subsequently, he went to Socorro and began the publication of the Sun, at that place, a part of his outfit being sent down with the company of the Optic, and he was the Optic, for timely and valuable services rendered in times that truly tried men's souls."

"Mark's" death occurred at the American hospital, in the City of Mexico, from pulmonary trouble, after an illness of nearly four years. He was buried with military honors under the auspices of Ord post, G. A. R.

Freedom Close at Hand.

THE U. S. LAND COURT.

A Decision by the Court Against Prefect Grants.

The land court was in session all forenoon, and among other things handed down a decision adverse to that class of claims known as "prefect grants," which is very far reaching in that it applies to at least a dozen grants situated in the several counties of northern and central New Mexico.

In case No. 4, the Rio Colorado grant, involving some 10,000 acres in Taos county, the court held that no authority had been shown for the Mexican prefect to make grants, and announced that the archiving showing the ratification and approval of the prefect's action by the then governor of this province was not sufficient upon which to base a grant, and ordered that the petition be dismissed. A similar order was made in the matter of the San Antonio grant, situated in the Tijera region, in northern Bernalillo county, and said to consist of about 30,000 acres. This latter tract is occupied by some 300 settlers. Messrs. Geo. Hill Howard and N. B. Laughlin, attorneys for these two prefect grants, were unable to say whether the cases would be appealed to the supreme court. However, should no appeal be taken, settlers within the boundaries of these tracts have a remedy under the small holdings clause of the act establishing the land court.

In case No. 9, the Rancho de Galvin grant, decided in favor of the United States at the last sitting of the court, and involving 17,000 acres in Bernalillo county, a motion for rehearing was denied by the court.

The Jose Duran grant, involving 400 acres in the southern suburbs of Santa Fe, was argued by Mr. Laughlin and United States Attorney Reynolds and submitted to the court.—New Mexican.

Saturday evening Patricia Fogley died of croup, aged one year and one month. The little child was buried in Santa Barbara cemetery at 10 o'clock this morning by Undertaker Montfort.

The baggage car of No. 3 passenger train, due at 9 o'clock Saturday night arrived Sunday morning at 8 o'clock in a damaged condition, the result of a slight wreck near Schumaker in Mora county.

C. H. Fancher, local land agent for the Atlantic & Pacific railroad, has gone to the proposed dam site, on Bill Williams' Fork, to investigate the matter. On his return we will give his views on the subject, if obtainable.—See else eye.

Sam. H. Wallace, Sr., ticket agent at the Broad street depot, Philadelphia, Penn., the largest ticket depot in the world, will leave tonight for Los Angeles, accompanied by his son, Sam. H. Wallace, Jr. They have been guests of J. E. Fisher.

The surveying outfit—P. A. Simpson, commander, and N. T. Cavalier, C. E. Kinney, C. M. Doyle and G. S. Middleton—who have been in camp near Alameda, attended religious services in the city yesterday. The survey of the canal along the foothills is progressing finely.

General Passenger and Ticket Agent Geo. T. Nicholson, of the Atchafalaya, to Pecks & Santa Fe road, has issued a circular stating that the road from Ash Fork to Prescott, length 60 miles, will be open for travel about April 1st, and a rate made of $3.00 for single one way fare.

Ex-Sheriff Lockhart, of Grant county, who has been to southern Colorado looking up his cattle interests, was a passenger to Deming yesterday. He was accompanied south by Col. T. B. Mills, of Las Vegas, who was on his way to Las Cruces. The colonel will have charge of the New Mexico exhibits at the World's Fair, and has just returned from Chicago.

Superintendent Young, of the Wells Fargo express company, received information this morning that at 3 o'clock a. m. the baggage express car, on the passenger train coming east, was discovered to be on fire, and before any of the baggage or express could be removed the car and contents were entirely consumed. The accident occurred on the California Southern, and was responsible for the delay in the arrival of the last night's Atlantic & Pacific train, which did not reach the city until 10:30 this morning. The fire is supposed to have originated from sparks from the engine.

The blame Saturday night.
At 7:45 o'clock, last Saturday night, an alarm of fire was sounded, and the fire was soon located in an adobe house, the property of Lawrence Silva, in ward No. 1. The fire companies rapidly appeared but only one stream of water was ordered on the flames, that stream being from the Scott Moore hose company, and in twenty minutes work the fire was completely subdued. The house did good work removing the charred debris from the burned building. The adobe is partitioned off into five rooms—the east end room occupied by a musician from Mexico, the west end room by William Barker, and the three middle rooms by a Mexican woman, named Stefana Campos. She had built a rooming fire in the kitchen stove, and then left the place to sit up with the family of a neighbor, who had just lost a child. During her absence the wafting current around the wall of the room near the stove ignited the roof, and from this cause the blaze originated. She lost all her household effects, valued at about $100, upon which there is no insurance. The musician had his goods damaged by water, but Barker's room was undisturbed, so effective did the firemen do their work. The building was damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars, fully covered an insurance of $500 held in a company represented by James M. Winslow.

A few mishaps occurred to some of the firemen, viz: Foreman Arzén, of the Hook and Ladder company, stepped on a nail, running it through the sole of his shoe and into his foot. He is, however, around at his business today. Hookman McCann badly wrenched the first finger of his right hand, and Ralph Dunbar will be laid up for a few days with his left leg sprained, the result of the miserable sidewalks in that part of the city. Nick Gehring, an outsider, volunteered to assist the firemen in hitching on cart No. 1. To a hook, and when the driver rushed his horse, the speed was too swift for Mr. Gehring to free himself from between the cart and hook, and in consequence he was dragged along Railroad avenue for several hundred yards. When he finally rolled himself out of danger, he picked himself up and commenced feeling it, as if he was alive. Marjorie, as it appears, he only received a few bruises.

Chas. Eitel died.

A messenger arrived this morning from Las Cruces, five miles north of the city, bringing in the news that early this morning Gus Eitel died from pneumonia. About two weeks ago, The Citizen's reporter had occasion to visit Las Cruces, and at that time Gus was just recovering from a slight attack of pneumonia. It seems that he did not have proper care, and several days ago had a relapse. His decline from that time until this morning was rapid, when the old bloodshot of the early days of Albuquerque yielded to the ghost. A few months ago his wife died from a complication of diseases after a brief illness, and now comes the death of the husband, leaving behind three little orphan children. Undertaker Strong sent a coffin, and the remains of Gus Eitel will find a resting place in the Las Cruces graveyard.

Now for Arzén's War.

J. D. Bush, of Roswell, N. M., arrived in the city yesterday. He comes to our town under contract to bore for artesian water, and is confident of success, but says you can not always tell what you will find under untested ground. He and others have been very successful in securing artesian water in the Pecos valley, and says they now have twelve good flowing wells in the town of Roswell.

Mr. Bush came across the country in company with Mr. Ed. Goodson, who also thoroughly understands operating the machine to be used. They expect to be ready to begin operations not later than Wednesday, and are hopeful that Albuquerque will within a very short time have a first class flowing well. The place where the well be bored will be decided upon to-day, and THE CITIZEN will keep its readers advised as to the progress of the work being made by the pioneer artesian well borer.

Prof. Hall Insane.

Prof. Hall, the barber, was arrested about 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Policeman Cooper and taken to the city jail. The old colored barber has gone crazy, and it is feared that his insanity will develop dangerously. When the policeman arrested the professor, the latter struck at the officer with a piece of soldering iron and came very near landing a serious blow. However, it was avoided, and to-day the professor is in chains at the jail. For several years the professor has shown a touch of a disturbed mind, and his friends have frequently intimated that as he always carried around with him several razors he would commit some fearful crime. When at himself he possessed a very revengeful disposition, and it is a wonder that he has not been guilty of some awful deed. He will be confined in the county jail until the insane asylum at Las Vegas is ready for such subjects.

Cholera in Pennsylvania.

Swickley, Penn. We had an epidemic of cholera, as our physicians called it, and I made a great hit with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy. I sold four dozen bottles of it in a few days, and have since sold nearly a gross. This remedy did the work and was a big advertisement for me. Several persons who had been troubled with diarrhoea for two or three weeks were cured by a few doses of this medicine. P. P. Knapp, Jr., G. Sold by T. H. Burgess & Son, druggists.

The Coroner's Verdict.

The following is the verdict in the Meliton Romero case, the lad who was crushed to death under a passing train.

We, the undersigned, justice of the peace and jury, who sat upon the inquest held this 10th and 11th days of March, 1893, on the body of Meliton Romero, found in precinct No. 26, of the county of Bernalillo, that the deceased came to death by reason of being crushed to death under the care of a passing train of the A. T. & S. F. R. R. Co., the afternoon of March 8, 1893, and that it was unavoidable, so far as the road or its employees is concerned, according to all the testimony produced before this jury.

Signed—Henry Lockhart, justice of the peace; J. H. Madden, foreman; C. G. Lott, E. D. Fluke, H. A. Montfort, A. G. Otero, D. Weiler.

A Million Friends.

A friend in need is a friend indeed, and not less than one million people have found just such a friend in Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. If you have never used this Great Cough Medicine, one trial will convince you that it has wonderful curative powers in all diseases of throat, chest and lungs. Each bottle is guaranteed to do all that is claimed or money will be refunded. Trial bottle at T. H. Burgess & Son's drug store. Large bottles 50c. and $1.00.

HORRIBLE DEATH.

Eugene Hahn Meets his Death in a Frightful Manner.

Bryant Kelly, night caller for the round house in the southern part of the city, found the dead body of a man just opposite the machine shop, lying along side of the main railroad track at 3 o'clock this morning, and at once reported the matter to the authorities. The body, the head of which was cut in two, with a portion of the brains and skull bone lying near by, was packed up with the fragments of the head, and carried to Undertaker Strong's where the remains were identified as those of Eugene Hahn, tank repairer for the Atlantic & Pacific railroad. Yesterday and last night Hahn was up town and around with friends, but those who saw him when he left for his home at about 1 o'clock a. m. did not in any way consider him ill or even under the influence of liquor. He occupied a room at the adobe residence of D. Sperry a few squares south of the hospital, and when up town he usually took the railroad track for his lodging quarters. He did this last night, and the general theory is that when he got to the machine shop his foot got caught in the frog of the switch, or he stumbled and fell, being unable to extricate himself until struck by the work train, under Conductor Durbin, going south at about 1:35 a. m., Engineer French being at the throttle of engine 11. Besides the head being severed lengthwise, the right foot and leg was also horribly crushed.

Chas. Hensch, of the Dryoli, states that he knew the deceased years ago in Bismarck, Minn., where he was born in 1853, thus being forty years old. He came to Albuquerque about five years ago, almost direct from Germany, and for a few months worked at the Southwestern brewery, but since then has been in the employ of the Atlantic & Pacific. His wife and daughter, a young girl of 13 years, are at their German home, and only last week he purchased a pair of gold earrings and a lace pin. Mr. Hensch states that it was the intention of the deceased to send for his family the coming summer, as he had saved up considerable money from his wages earned by hard, industrious labor. A step daughter, Miss Caroline Meyers, is the domestic in the family of C. W. Lewis, old town. When the body was searched at the undertaker's, three $10 gold pieces were found in a pocket book, besides a few dollars picked up with the body by Policeman Kriegermeister.

A coroner's jury was empaneled this morning and a meeting held this afternoon before Justice Lockhart. After hearing the testimony of several witnesses, the jury adjourned until 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

(From the Daily, March 11.)
C. H. Noble, M. D., is at the Armijo, registered from Ohio.

J. B. Manly, the Trinidad sheep buyer, is again in the city.

F. H. Madge, cousin of H. U. Madge, is at the European from San Marcial.

Mrs. George Emerson and daughter, of Winfield, Kansas, are at the San Felipe.

James Powers, an old citizen of Helen, was being introduced around last night by Dr. Macbeth.

Mrs. Mahan, whose husband died a short time ago at the Armijo house, gave birth to a son Sunday night.

C. H. Fancher, of the Atlantic & Pacific land department, headquarters here, returned last night from his trip out on the road.

Chas. F. Hunt, clerk of the district court, went up to Las Vegas Sunday on business. He is at Santa Fe to-day, and will arrive home this evening.

F. A. Whitney and family, hailing from California, are at the Armijo. They are health seekers, and have come prepared to remain a month if necessary.

It looks very much as if Sam. Goldberg and Nele Shannon, two young men who have been reading considerable trash about prize fighting and bruises, will come together.

Juan Sanchez, a section workman on the Atlantic & Pacific from Gallup, died at the hospital this morning at 11 o'clock, from pneumonia, and will be buried by Undertaker Strong in Fairview cemetery tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

In order to let Prof. Hall, the colored barber, have a whole jail to himself in which to sober up, Justice Lockhart last night sentenced him to the county jail for thirty days. The professor's insanity, no doubt, comes from excessive drinking.

Col. Marmon, of Laguna, came down from Santa Fe last night. The colonel has just completed the survey of some government land about thirty miles north of Wingate. He found the country terribly dry—no water and no grass, and stock looking thin.

A fellow, named Chas. Johnson, approached Zuni Nick, a Zuni Indian, on First street last evening and asked for the loan of fifty cents. The Indian refused to let the vag have the money, when Johnson, who is one of those common, dirty vagrants, attempted to assault the Indian. The fellow was arrested, and this morning Justice Lockhart sent him to the chain gang for fifteen days.

T. L. Bockett and G. H. France, who came over from London, England, a few weeks ago and after arriving here, visited their English friends on the Rio Puerco, returned to the city last night. They are well pleased with the valley occupied by the Fruitvale settlers, and will probably purchase a section or two of ground, thus becoming also identified with the cultivation of the Rio Puerco country.

That baggage express car did not burn on the California Southern road, as the types made us say yesterday, but it took fire on the Atchafalaya & Pacific at 1:30 Monday morning, between El Rito and

San Jose. Messenger Goodman was in charge of the car, and he barely escaped with his life, pulling out of the car, however, the safe and contents. Forty pieces of baggage were destroyed, and a large amount of express.

Major J. W. Green, wife and daughter, of Gallup, are at the Windsor. The major is here as an important witness in the witchcraft murder case against two Zuni Indians, and as a witness also in several cases against parties for selling liquor to Indians.

T. F. Moore, the Cerrillos builder of railroads and water works, who has been on a few weeks' visit to his family at Los Angeles, Cal., came in from the west last night, accompanied by Hon. W. F. Kuch, engineer, of Gallup, and both are registered at the European. Mr. Kuchbacher will go with Mr. Moore to Cerrillos, for the purpose of investigating the water works system of that town with a view of establishing such works at Gallup.

The funeral of Eugene Hahn, who was run over and killed in the lower part of early Monday morning, took place at 2 o'clock p. m. at the undertaking rooms of O. W. Strong, the services being conducted by Rev. Father Fode. The remains were buried in Santa Barbara cemetery, and a large number of mourners followed the hearse to the cemetery. The inquest over the body is still in progress before Justice Lockhart. Chas. Hensch has made application to be appointed administrator of the estate of the deceased.

THE MILITIA.

The sum of $7,000 in the credit of the Territorial Militia.

Senate executive document, 31, lately received from Washington, gives some interesting information in reference to militia matters, says the New Mexican. It is of interest just at this time in New Mexico, because many people think that because the late legislature failed to pass the militia law, no law is in force. This is a mistake, as the territory with nearly $7,000 to its credit due from the general government, is in better condition than ever to use this money in arming and equipping its militia. The following letter explains itself:

WAR DEPARTMENT,
Washington, Feb. 6, 1893.

Sir: In obedience to the requirements of section 232 of the revised statutes of the United States, I have the honor to transmit herewith an abstract of the militia force of the United States, as defined by the latest returns received at the office of the adjutant general, United States army, for the year 1892.

Very respectfully,
S. B. Eakins,
Secretary of War.

The report of Adjutant General Fletcher shows that the militia force of New Mexico consists of thirteen staff officers, fourteen field officers, thirty six company officers, 110 non-commissioned officers, 130 private cavalry, 252 private infantry, an aggregate of 517.

Since the above figures were made up two companies, those at Albuquerque, have been disbanded, and others may follow, but at any rate the organization will be placed on a solid basis, with probably half of the above number of companies in the territory, whose members will be soldiers in fact and not on paper. It leaves the live militia companies of New Mexico to amount to the fact that they must show they are in existence.

Notice.

The assessor will be at the following precincts as follows, to wit:

Precinct No. 1, Bernalillo, March 28 and 29, house of J. M. Montoya.

W. E. Ratliff, a popular young gentleman of San Pedro, is in the European.

Sheriff Luna and wife came up this morning from Las Lunas, and are stopping at the San Felipe.

Enrico Back, well known in the city and non-law of old man, Palmer of old town, is in the city from Socorro.

C. B. Pierce, manager of the Antelope springs cattle ranch, came into the city this morning. He is at the European.

Henry Essinger, the Las Vegas commission merchant, who always calls for the best room at the European, is in the city.

D. H. Bonbright, of "The Racket," has returned from his trip to the east, where he purchased a big stock of spring and summer dry goods.

Meyler Bruner, the lawyer, returned to his office this morning from a legal trip to Las Vegas. W. P. Metcalf also returned from the Meadow town.

J. Y. Jackson, representing the Colorado, Cal. mineral waters, is in the city and was introduced at the Commercial club this morning by J. G. Baldridge.

At 1:30 this afternoon Dr. W. G. Hope and wife were blessed with a bright little girl. The doctor is as lively as a cricket, and the Citizen congratulates him.

Mrs. Mary Crockett, sister of Mrs. Joseph Anders, of this city, died Sunday morning in Shelbyville, Ill. She was 79 years old. Mrs. Anders has many friends in this city, who offer her sympathy.

The singing contest between the colored quartet club of Albuquerque and the Pueblo club, announced to take place at the A. M. E. church to-morrow night, is "off," caused by a slight misunderstanding between the clubs.

H. B. Hamilton, the Socorro lawyer, whose municipal bill, before the recent legislature was killed upon N. C. Collier, of this city, and caused the latter gentleman considerable worry, was a passenger from Socorro last night. He is here to attend district court and is stopping at the San Felipe.

The two Atlantic & Pacific passenger trains, due here at 7 p. m. and 8 p. m., are delayed by the burning of a bridge near Daply station. The bridge was about 250 feet long and is insured for $3000. No. 2 is running as first section of No. 1, and is scheduled to arrive at 1:30 p. m. and No. 4 is marked in at 5 o'clock.

Hon. R. W. Thompson, of Terre Haute, Ind., secretary of the navy under President Hayes and who nominated President Harrison at the Minneapolis convention, writes to Judge W. D. Lee that he left Terre Haute for New Mexico and Arizona last Monday. The judge thinks his old friend will reach Albuquerque this evening, and therefore will be at the depot for the purpose of greeting the venerable republican politician. Mr. Thompson is accompanied by several members of his family.

Manager C. M. Holmes, in his card in THE CITIZEN yesterday, referring to a meeting of representatives of the different orders of railway men, said the meeting was held at the Commercial club, and that the delegates were "wined and dined" there. The CITIZEN feels it is its duty to correct this statement, since it is entirely erroneous, and is liable to cause a false impression in regard to the character and management of the club. The meeting was held at the office of Judge Sterry, general solicitor of the railway. His rooms are rented from the Commercial club company, but the club has no more to do with them or what goes on there, than any other landlord has to do with the private affairs of the tenant. There was no meeting at the club, no "wining" or "dining" there, and it is not fair to try to draw the club into the quarrel.

The Hequade Fire.
Last night, at 9 o'clock, the pretty frame residence of J. W. McQuade, in the Crossman & Kennedy addition on the Highlands, was discovered to be on fire and to-day nothing but ashes remain of the once pretty home. The fire companies were on the ground as early as possible, and although the fire was well beyond the city limits a line of hose, nearly 100 feet long, was laid from the nearest hydrant at the corner of the alter street and Tijera avenue, and soon thereafter a good stream of water was turned upon the fast devouring flames. In the meantime, however, the Hook & Ladder company had arrived, and were doing noble work in tearing down the burning frame, so as to give the firemen an opportunity to play directly upon the fire. The wind was blowing a fearful gale, sparks were tossed in the air in all directions, but the fire, by heroic work of the firemen, was kept confined in the burning building. The fence surrounding the house, the large windmill, and the bachelor home of Cal. Scott, only a few feet east, were not in the least damaged, so effectively did the ladies maintain their reputation as fire fighters. Every fireman worked like a Trojan, and when the fire was under control the No. 1 hose cart was ordered back to quarters in case of emergency should another alarm be sounded.

Mr. McQuade states that he, wife and baby, and the servant girl, Cristina Simonda, were in the kitchen popping corn, when the servant girl got up and went to the closet to make her bed. As soon as the closet door was opened, flames burst into her face, and she screamed "fire." In one instant he saw that the house was doomed to destruction, and before anything of value could be gotten together, the whole inside of the house was a sheet of flame. The house contained a double closet, one for the storage of groceries and the other for clothing, etc. The stove pipe from the kitchen entered the brick chimney between that room and the latter closet, and there was a fire on the inside of the closet for a long time before it got to the parlor. This fire was covered with a tin cap, and Mr. McQuade believes, which theory is not the proper one, that the cap became loose and from sparks falling among papers, etc., the fire originated. He completed the residence last year at a cost of about $1250, upon which there is an insurance of $500 in a company represented by J. M. Wheelock. The furniture, which was almost entirely new and of the best material, is insured for $1400 also in a company represented by Mr. Wheelock. Mr. McQuade estimated his loss at about $1250, more than the insurance.

The Perjury of the Order of Railway Conductors.
The above named organization agree to swear, and stand by their employees if the security clause is not stricken from the schedule in force on the Denver & Rio Grande railroad. The schedule was passed by the board of directors of the railroad. The conductors are a copy of a schedule passed by the Order of Railway Conductors.

At the meeting of the Commercial club yesterday, and agreed upon the main features of the order of exercises to be observed on Friday, the 24th inst. It is now expected that the people of the city without regard to race, color, sex or previous or present condition, will take hold of the matter in earnest and assist in carrying out the program in such a manner that we shall all have a good time on Arbor day, and have several thousand good, growing trees stand as living witnesses to the fact, adding to the beauty of the city and the comfort and good health of all the people.

It was resolved to ask the school board to provide for the planting of trees around and in the vicinity of the four new school houses, and to ask the city authorities to use the "street" lands for digging holes along the streets, in the public park, and wherever holes are needed in all parts of the town. This work should be done under the direction of the mayor or some one representing him, and should be commenced at once, so that as many holes as possible can be made ready.

The school board has been asked to provide for purchasing the trees, as well as digging the holes, in the vicinity of the several school buildings, but as the city will have the expense and labor of watering and caring for the trees put out in all parts of the town, it was thought proper to ask the city authorities to do more than to give the labor of the prisoners.

A resolution was also adopted asking the school board to order half holiday on Friday, the 24th inst., for the purpose of having all the school children in town to act as a committee to wait upon our citizens and request each one to put down his name and the number of trees he will agree to plant on Arbor day, or those who prefer can pay to the committee 25 cents for each tree and the children will bring them and plant them for him.

The superintendent is requested to see that the teachers in the several schools attend to organizing their pupils to equal, and properly distributing the town, and assigning territory to the several committees, so that nobody will be missed.

A committee of two was then appointed, consisting of W. S. Burke, for the city at large, and H. C. Orser, for the school board, to attend to carrying out the general idea of the committee and making such additional arrangements as may be necessary.

The matter of naming the new schools was referred to the school board, with a request to present a list from which the name of the school in each ward may be chosen, and to prescribe the manner of voting.

ARMOR DAY.

Attractive Program for the Observance of the Day.
The joint committee on Arbor day had a meeting at the Commercial club yesterday, and agreed upon the main features of the order of exercises to be observed on Friday, the 24th inst. The school board met last evening and transacted some important business. The Fourth ward school building was accepted, and the architect and contractor paid in full. Regarding Arbor day the board thought that as they had to grade the job four feet or more, that they would delay the planting of trees until the same was done. The old Highland school building will now be advertised for sale. The board, after paying for the buildings, has $12500 balance to the account of building fund. The high school will hereafter be in the first ward school building.

The fashionable ball at the opera house last night was in honor of the Misses Schultz, of El Paso, sisters of Mrs. Noa Iffeld, and was indeed a very brilliant affair. Dancing commenced at 9:30 o'clock from delightful music rendered by the Dr. Mauro orchestra, and it was long after the midnight hour that the party dispersed to their respective homes. Mrs. Hawley served the lunch, and she again sustained her reputation as a first class caterer.

H. R. W. Thompson, the venerable Indiana republican politician, who has almost as good a political record in the councils of his party as Hon. Wm. E. Gladstone of England, was a passenger on the morning's delayed No. 1 passenger train from the north. Judge W. D. Lee met the distinguished gentleman at the depot, and for the short time the train remained at the depot these two well known jurists were engaged in pleasant conversation. Mr. Thompson is being accompanied by a party of his immediate family, and on his return he will stop over a few days in the New Mexico metropolis.

A majority of the carpenters carpenters met pursuant to call at the Modern building on south Second street last evening for the purpose of making a formal report on the nine hour schedule. D. J. Hines was chosen chairman, and Frank Johnson, secretary. Messrs. Crosby, Rogers and Tibbitts were appointed a committee to draw up resolutions and petitions asking the signatures of all the journeyman carpenters favorable to the object of the meeting—nine hours work for ten hours pay. Messrs. Hines, Gorty and Scott were named a committee to present same to contractors. The wishes of the carpenters are supposed to go into effect on May 14, and definite plans for carrying out their views will be arranged at another meeting to be held next Wednesday evening. It is understood that the contractors will grant the demand, and as soon as remarked the afternoon. "If the brickmasons and plasterers are working on the nine hour plan, why not the carpenters?"

"The Noble Art of Self Defence."
Self defence is instinctive. Persons who find themselves afflicted with heart disease as manifested by its many symptoms, palpitation, short breath, irregular pulse, pain in side or shoulder, smothering, etc., or feeling of oppression, naturally desire a defense against what may terminate fatally. For this express purpose no remedy has ever approached Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, sold by Dr. Thos. H. Burgess & Son on a guarantee. Mrs. O. F. Herkins, of Northwood, Ia., says Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure saved her life. She suffered from palpitation and her heart would frequently beat as high as 125 a minute. Was not expected to live. Was a mere skeleton, no relief from physicians. New Heart Cure cured her.

The Fitness of Things.
On behalf of the public allow me to congratulate the gentlemen of the school board upon their action last night in refusing to have anything to do with Arbor day. The hideously homely things which they have set up in the several wards, and to which they have sentenced the children of this town, constitute the most appropriate monuments that this board could lead to posterity, and to plant trees and flowers in the vicinity of such buildings would sadly mar the symmetry of the situation. The gentlemen of the board may be a little off in architecture, but this action shows that they have eminently good eyes for the eternal fitness of things. W. S. BURGESS.

Terrible Misfortune.
Many suffering from it to-day.
The cry of misfortune is never heard without a responsive throb of sympathy from those who hear it. Thousands have had in gripe, which left them with that constant tired, worn out feeling, sleeplessness, dull headache, depression, hysteria, etc., have often prayed for relief, and are obtaining it from Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. M. Law Enart, Macy, Ind., says: Your Nervine has cured me of prostration; it is just what your advertisement said it was. "Two bottles of Nervine cured me of sick headache."—Chas. Wilber, Palmyra, N. Y. Sold on a guarantee by Dr. Thos. H. Burgess & Son, Call for the doctor's book, "New and Startling Facts," free.

Arbor Day Proclamation.
Whereas, in accordance with law, the governor of the territory has, by proclamation, called upon all the citizens of the territory to observe arbor day in an appropriate manner.
Now therefore, I, Geo. S. Easterday, mayor of the city of Albuquerque, do hereby name and appoint Friday, the 24th day of March, as arbor day, to be observed in said city, and I request the same to be observed as a holiday; that all business houses be closed, and that the citizens generally observe the day by planting trees and shrubs, and by other appropriate exercises.

Geo. S. EASTERDAY,
Mayor of the City of Albuquerque.

Each season has its own peculiar malady; but with the blood maintained in a state of uniform vigor and purity by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla little danger need be feared from meteorological influences. No other blood medicine is so safe and effective.

LOOKING UP EXHIBITS.

Superintendent Mills on his Trip to the Counties.
Col. T. B. Mills, who was appointed by the Territorial Board of World's Fair Managers of New Mexico superintendent of our exhibit at the great fair, returned from a trip in the interests of the exhibit to the southern counties last night, and made a pleasant call at THE CITIZEN office this morning. The colonel states that Sierra and Grant counties will make a very grand, costly mineral exhibit.

From Sierra county there will be the Haskell cabinet of ores, valued at $5,000, and which was exhibited in Denver in 1894; R. C. Tronger's special cabinet of free gold ore from the Good Hope and Bonanza mines, for which the gentleman has refused $10,000, and a general ore cabinet from all the well known mines of that county. Beside these cabinets, aggregating at least $23,000, there will be several minor cabinets from private properties.

From Grant county will come the D. Abram's general cabinet of copper ore exclusively; J. E. Sheridan's cabinet, which is largely of native silver, and valued at $12,000, and the general cabinet of W. A. Leonard and D. C. Hobart, each valued at $10,000. There will also be a few private cabinets. The county will also make a general exhibit from the well known mines of the county.

The agricultural college of Dona Ana county has arranged a magnificent agricultural exhibit, and N. Spatier will make an extensive exhibit of three varieties of native wines, besides 200 pounds of green apples. Thos. J. Bull, the old Mesilla vinticulturist, will have on exhibition a quantity of his famous fruit brandies, besides a lot of his most excellent white and red native wines. The result map of New Mexico, issued by Prof. Carriers and purchased by the board, showing everything a person wants to know about the territory, will be one of the exhibits from Dona Ana county. The map is 16x17 feet, and very valuable. The professor's mineral cabinet of ores from all sections of the world was also secured.

The colonel is here to-day, and is making strenuous efforts to find out what exhibits from the county will have on exhibition at the fair. He regrets very much to discover a lack of enthusiasm, and states that if this county, one of the richest in the territory, desires to be known at the fair, something should be done at once. He will go up to Santa Fe to-night and on Monday visit Socorro county.

Death of H. M. Farr.
This morning at 8 o'clock H. M. Farr, the photographer over THE CITIZEN, died at the sanatorium on the Highlands from consumption of only eight weeks' illness. Yesterday a week ago he was at his gallery, but was not considered seriously ill. He, however, seemed to give up all hope of living that evening, became prostrated to bed. The next day, Friday, his case was reported to the local order of Odd Fellows, and by their direction he was tenderly removed in a hack that afternoon to the sanatorium, where he gradually grew weaker and died in his sleep this morning. Every morning the night nurse called at the gallery in order to make a report to the wife on the condition of the sick husband, and this morning he called at 7:30 o'clock, stating that "he passed a peaceful night—resting and sleeping easily." The next day the news was received by the wife, who had been cheered up by the report, that he was dead. Unlike the average consumptive, he did not have the courage to wage a vigorous warfare against death, and absolutely gave up all when he was taken to his bed last Thursday morning. The body was taken in charge by Undertaker Strong, and will be arranged for the funeral at the undertaking rooms Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the sermon preached by Rev. Thompson, and the burial under the auspices of the local lodge of I. O. O. F. and A. O. U. W., the deceased being an honorable member of both lodges back in Minneapolis, Minn.

H. K. Farr was 54 years old and was born in Vermont. Some years ago he moved to Minneapolis, Minn., and on the 1st of July, 1922, he was taken to the city in quest of health. On the 16th of August, 1922, he purchased the photograph gallery from M. B. Howard, and since then has enjoyed a most excellent business. His mother, who resides at Durango, near Chicago, Ill., and two sisters, one in Chicago and one in the city at Chicago—have been notified of his death. Mrs. Farr has the sympathy of the community. At the request of the deceased, the remains will be buried in Fairview cemetery.

Meets an Old Friend.
"A Model Husband" was presented at the opera house last night by John Dillon and company to one of the largest audiences of the season. It is a rip-roaring play from beginning to end, and is considered by Mr. Dillon as the greatest amount of laughter and fun he has had since last year, but the people he has here this season are far superior in every respect. They put a lot of ginger in their playing, so essential in comedy pieces, and keep the crowd in a good humor through the four acts.

While here, Mr. Dillon met an old friend of years ago in Ed. U. Bliss, book-keeper and artistic job printer of THE CITIZEN office, and the meeting was a very delightful reminiscence, for these two veterans of their respective callings were little boys together. Mr. Dillon now being on the sunny side of 80 and Ed. U. Bliss rendered Mr. Dillon one of the greatest kindnesses imaginable in Mineral Point, Wis., before the latter gentleman became a foot-sore, and the deed was well remembered and recalled several times in their conversation.

Kind Words.
Dr. Henry Kirby, specialist, who left last week to look up a new location, has settled down in Albuquerque, New Mexico. His wife, Mrs. Dr. Kirby, also a physician, will open an office in the same building. Mrs. Kirby left on Tuesday for her new home. Mr. and Mrs. Kirby, during their high residence in this city, were held in high esteem by a large circle of friends. Their object in leaving was to seek a more congenial climate and a larger field for their special lines of practice. The citizens of Albuquerque will find in them pleasant, congenial people, useful citizens and able practitioners. Dr. Kirby has held several positions of trust in this city and county. Served one or two terms as coroner, several years as pension examiner and has served on both the city council and board of education of this city. Their friends here will be pleased to learn that they have found a desirable location so soon, and will wish for their health and prosperity in abundance.—Orange City, Kansas, Free Press.

Correction.
THE CITIZEN apologizes to Las Vegas for a mistake in a little item referring to their railroad. The copy was plainly written "Bernal," but set up "Bernillo." When the proof was sent into the front office the error was also plainly corrected, but by oversight the error failed of correction at the hands of the compositor. THE CITIZEN desires that Las Vegas shall have all the credit for the boom it is now enjoying over the news of the extension of the Peoos valley road to Bernal, for the meadow town really needed some kind of a boom, and the prospects of the extension has undoubtedly brought about considerable activity there.

Permanently Organized.
The Edison New Mexico Photography company held a meeting late yesterday afternoon, per notice in THE CITIZEN, and permanently organized by the election of the following officers: Norman C. Raff, president and treasurer; Mariano Armijo, secretary. The president informed THE CITIZEN that 100,000 shares of stock will be issued, to be sold $1. per share. Mr. Raff states that the company sees "millions ahead," and also states that the nickel-in-the-slot machines, which will be found at several places in the metropolis, and other large cities will produce a valuable financial move for the company.

Stricken Down with Heart Disease.
Dr. L. L. Garner, of El Paso, Tex., writes: "I feel it my duty, as well as a pleasure, to publish, unasked, to
