AS PART OF UNM's ongoing energy conservation initiative, the Physical Plant Department is making compact fluorescent light bulbs available to employees with office lamps. To receive a CFL bulb e-mail Toni Burris, tburris@unm.edu, with your building, room number and phone number and PPD student employees will deliver the CFL and exchange it for your incandescent light bulb. PPD will track energy savings and report UNM's progress.

THIS FALL, UNM's Recreational Services begins administering fitness classes for UNM's faculty and staff to allow the Division of Human Resources' Employee Health Promotion Program to focus more outreach to various departments and branch campuses, promoting the benefits of physical activity. EHPP continues to advocate for faculty and staff by working with Recreational Services to ensure that fitness classes address their needs. <http://www.unm.edu/~market/cgi-bin/archives/003122.html#more>

THERE ARE MORE options than ever before for students wanting to get a graduate business degree from UNM's Anderson School of Management. Anderson School joins the nation's top schools – Stanford University, Johns Hopkins University and MIT – in accepting the Graduate Record Examination as part of its admission process.
