Nixon Pulled the Trigger

Two young men and two young women, students at Kent State University, were dead today in Ohio. Their crimes, relating to desire and serving as a war, on the evening of National Guard bullets, but National Guard didn't pull the trigger, Richard Nixon, who had all but Nixon knew his announcement would incur the wrath of thousands of college students (excepting UNM) who are tired of the war, tired of his attempts to dope the American people, and tired of his personal crusade to make the world free from communities by forcing democracy down the throats of nations all over the globe. College students also are extremely tired of being called "huns" by Nixon, "bogus" by Agnew, and "enemies" by those who support the administration's war on dissent.

Clearly, Nixon has never made an attempt to represent all the people. He is bent on deceiving all those who would speak out against his policies and taken only by those who rally around the flag, the flag of Blood, American combat forces into America's escalation of the war.

President Nixon's "Vietnamization policy" which, students and many outside the academic community are becoming increasingly pointed. Immediately, the "neutralization" program is in danger of being a mockery by virtue of the actions of secondary energies. The strike is necessary to free the American people from the war.

(Foremost in the first rush into the ROTC building was a group of students who had marched to the Kent State University ROTC building to protest the killing of five students who lay dead in Vietnamese. The group had marched to the building after a planned schedule of speeches and announcements designed to alternate calls for "nonviolent" and organizational plans for the strike today.

The search on the building picked up momentum despite assertions by ARUN President Richard Nelson that the strike would be "a peaceful one" and that "we are not going to use this building as a meeting place or ..."

Meanwhile, officials of the crowd outside the building grew as the word spread about the building's occupation."

GSA Unanimously Condemns Violent Acts

The Student Senate of the University of New Mexico, acting by authority of the General Student Association (GSA), meeting on April 27, 1970, unanimously passed the following resolution:

Resolved, that the General Student Association denounces physically violent acts against this University; that it will make every effort to coordinate a peaceful, non-violent demonstration; that the General Student Association will in no way support any action opposing or assisting U.S. military activities; and that the General Student Association supports the call for a community-wide day of shop talk and strike and influence students to participate in this demonstration.

A spokesman for the administration said that the faculty and students who were involved were to return by the beginning of the fall semester.

In a statement, the administration said that the students had not been notified of their decision.

Strike: Non-violent, But...

ASUNK, GBA, and numerous faculty members have called a strike at UNM. The strike is a protest over American involvement in the Indo-China war, and a saddest, desperate protest against the futility of free speech at Kent State University. Those of us who are supporting the strike feel the students at Kent, like the GIs in Vietnam, Cambodia, Laos, Thailand, would not be dead if it were not for this country's fanned foreign policy. Nixon's invasion of Cambodia was merely the match to the tinder.

The strike was called because too many of us it is the best nonviolent protest that can be made. In the strike we are joined on college campuses nationwide in a desperate attempt to get Nixon to listen to someone other than the Pentagon generals who for years have said the end to this nation's madness is imminent. At any rate.

We desperately believe the strike should remain nonviolent. But we add this: If Nixon does decide that killing, and the rape and pillage, and widespread, uncontrolled violence that Cambodia was merely the match to the tinder, the strike is a protest over American complicity in Cambodia. Carnival, via its Instant Breakfast, is being charged with a violation of the law in connection with an advertisement that the equivalent nutrition of two fresh eggs, two slices of bacon, two slices of toasted bread, and a glass of orange juice can be had with one of its Carnival breakfasts. Misrepresentation is alleged in that the Dud is derived from the milk itself is not properly credited in the commercials made on television and radio. Now if the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) would make a complaint against the Hohos coffee.

The FTC is blaming Wood's for misrepresentation of color television sets. The Lobo has recently received complaints concerning the Wood's size in Albuquerque.

The reason "censored" periodically covers the complaints and charges made by the FTC against big and small businessmen is that neither the Journal nor the Lobo is interested in writing derogatory things about products advertised extensively in their pages.

Exceptions come, of course, when some company is charged with some ho-hum crime, but this occurs very infrequently. Can you imagine the Journal reporting that Wood's has been charged with something similar to advertising television sets? No one believes this.

That is one distinct advantage working for a publication that does not require a subsequen attitude toward powerful advertisers. If the advertisers get you, they... (To be continued)

There can be no question that the Relaxacizor is a powerful tool. The power to be exerted.
