Baca is Arrested On Libel Charge

Sheriff Ruperto Jaramillo, of Los Lunas, Valencia county, last night arrested Elfigo Baca, owner of La Opinion Publica, a Spanish daily, and candidate for the republican congressional nomination, here upon a charge of criminal libel.

The arrest of Mr. Baca came in sequence to the service Monday night by Sheriff Jaramillo of warrants charging criminal libel upon four lessees of the newspaper.

Mr. Baca immediately furnished $1,000 bond to appear at 9 o'clock this morning in Los Lunas for arraignment. J. M. Sandoval and J. R. Salazar, of this city, were the bondsmen. Mr. Baca said that he intended to waive preliminary examination and expected to be bound over to await the action of the next grand jury.

TO LOS LUNAS TODAY.

He will go to Los Lunas this morning accompanied, he said, by Mr. Sandoval and Victor Sais, who have agreed to give bond to secure Mr. Baca's liberty pending the action of the grand jury.

Mr. Baca understood that the complaint against him was based upon the same articles, published in La Opinion Publica, that furnished the basis for the warrants against Santa Cruz Ronquillo, Juan Z. Gusman and Luis P. Pierre, publishers of the periodical since Mr. Baca gave up actual management. The articles offensive to Mr. Otero, according to allegations, charge by innuendo that relatives had a hand in the death of Solomon Luna, republican national committeeman. Mr. Baca is said to have made the declaration that he inspired the articles.

LESSEES IN JAIL.

The three men arrested previously were in jail at Los Lunas at 6 o'clock last night in lieu of bond. They had furnished $1,000 bail each for their appearance at their arraignment yesterday morning, but when they waived preliminary examination and were held for the grand jury, they were unable to produce bondsmen at once, so they were committed.

Modesto C. Ortiz, their attorney, came here yesterday afternoon in an automobile, his arrival having been delayed by a breakdown, and departed yesterday evening for Los Lunas. He had signed bonds for the three, it was said. The bond pending the action of the grand jury for each of the three is $1,000. They will be released probably upon the arrival of the attorney and will return to Albuquerque perhaps this morning. Mr. Ortiz is also counsel for Mr. Baca. Mr. Baca said he had been told by Mr. Ortiz that he had bail for the three lessees.

CIVIL SUIT MAY BE FILED.

Rumors were rife last night that civil action was to follow the arrests and that the complaint would be filed this week. Judgment for $25,000 against the men severally and collectively is to be asked, according to report. This, however, could not be confirmed for publication.

Mr. Baca wanted it known that he was not in jail last night. He asserted with insurance that he was just as certain of being in congress after the next election.

Mr. Baca stated yesterday that the articles to which Mr. Otero took exception were of his authorship, but he stated emphatically that they contained no libel. He apparently derived some confidence from the statement that they did not give any name or indicate directly or indirectly the identity of the person who killed Mr. Luna, "if he was killed." The way for investigation by state officials had been thrown open, he said, at the same time expressing assurance that after a probing by competent detectives the public would know that Luna had been slain.

TWO YEARS MAXIMUM SENTENCE.

Mr. Baca said there were circumstances that would convince any person of reasonable understanding that Luna had been killed. They might not be mentioned for publication, however, without inviting an action in libel, he said.

Saying that comment had been made that the articles were printed for political purposes, Mr. Baca declared that La Opinion Publica had taken the same position at the time of the death of Mr. Luna.

He believed that investigation should be welcomed by law-abiding citizens generally. Personally he did not know whom to charge, he said, but he thought the authorities should investigate thoroughly.

The penalty prescribed by the criminal libel law is a fine from $100 to $2,000 and imprisonment not exceeding two years, or both, at the discretion of the sentencing judge. —Albuquerque Journal of July 8.

Belen Hands One to Jarales

In the base ball game played Sunday between the Belen Federals and the Jarales team, Belen added another feather to her cap. The score at the end of the ninth inning standing 13 to 4 in favor of the home boys. Herman Baca and Jake Lemstra did themselves credit: Baca by his heavy batting and infelding, while Lemstra held down the opposing team by his twirling of the ball from the pitcher's box, which he did with ease and accuracy from the beginning of the game until the final wind-up.

The Federals are now putting up a game of ball which compares favorably with some of the best teams in the state.

Anything to Down Andrews

Hillsboro, N. M., July 4. —Elfigo Baca is leaving no stone unturned on his fight on Bull Andrews and his supporters. Now he is after Frank Hubbell. District Attorney Tittman today received a telegram from Mr. Baca to the effect that the county commissioners of Socorro county had reduced the taxes of Frank Hubbell $19,000 and those of Ed Otero a similar amount. The assessor of Socorro county, according to the telegram, had not taken an appeal and Elfigo Baca suggested to Mr. Tittman that he take an appeal himself. Mr. Tittman at once wired to his assistant, Milton J. Helmick in Socorro to investigate the matter and if the facts warranted, to take an appeal. Mr. Helmick replied to the effect that he had entered an appeal from the decision of the board.

The Rise of the Normal

Seventy-five years ago last Thursday the first state normal school in the United States was opened in Lexington, Mass. The parlor of a boarding house was the cradle of this educational system. In those days it was thought that a school "to teach teachers how to teach" was a needless expenditure of time and money. Unable to secure state aid, the pioneers accepted money offered by Edmund Dwight, who later became conspicuously identified with the new educational movement. The first class, consisting of five girls, had the Rev. Cyrus Peirce of Nantucket as its teacher. At the end of the first year the school, known as the Lexington academy, had 25 students—all girls. It had demonstrated its worth so thoroughly that the legislature voted by a large majority to appropriate sufficient funds to establish it as a permanent adjunct to the educational system.

Today the normal school is an indispensable part of the public school system throughout the United States. It exerts a commanding influence over the 523,000 school teachers who are instructing 18,000,000 school children. The old-time pedagogues, who was considered efficient if he or she has mastered the three R's is giving way to the highly trained normal school graduate who has spent two or more years in diligent study to prepare for the profession. There are more than 300 public and private normal schools in the United States today. The number of prospective teachers enrolled as students aggregates nearly 100,000, of which three-fourths are women.

The graduates from the higher teachers' institutions are masters of curriculums equal to those of the most advanced universities—several of these institutions grant pedagogical degrees. The normal school exists today in practically every civilized country.

Las Vegas to Get Convention

Retailers association decides that 1915 meeting must be held there.

At a meeting of the Retail Business Men's association of Las Vegas held last Thursday night at the Commercial club rooms it was decided that Las Vegas shall be in the lead in the race for the location of the retail merchants' convention for 1915. It was announced that Raton and Roswell are pledged to support the movement to have the convention there and judging from the enthusiasm displayed Thursday night Las Vegas will be a sure winner for this big meeting.

It was further decided that a large delegation from Las Vegas should make the trip to Raton for this year's convention, which opens July 8 and continues three days. Thus far twenty Las Vegas merchants have agreed to make the trip, and many more are expected to fall into line. All recruits should see William Shillinglaw at once so that arrangements for the special rate offered by the Santa Fe can be obtained.

A large representation of the Meadow City business men was in attendance.

Sanchez-Jaramillo

Mr. Frank Sanchez, of Peralta, and Miss Lolita Jaramillo, of Los Lunas, will be married by the Rev. Father Docher in the Catholic church at Los Lunas next Wednesday, July the 15th. Miss Jaramillo is the pretty and accomplished daughter of Sheriff Ruperto Jaramillo, while the groom is a popular school teacher of Peralta, having officiated in that capacity both in Peralta and Cerro during the past term. After the nuptial knot has been tied, the happy young couple will visit some of the larger eastern cities, returning home the latter part of the month when they will be at home to their many friends.

Mrs. Walter Harkness and two children, of Greenville, Texas, are the guests of the former's grandmother, Mrs. O. P. Mallow, and daughter, Miss Grace.

Salome Jaramillo, of Los Lunas, son of Sheriff Ruperto Jaramillo, was in Belen today on business. While here he made the News a friendly little call.

Martin Gilbert, one of the popular and accommodating salesmen for the John Becker General Merchandise store of this place, is enjoying a well deserved vacation of two weeks' duration. Mr. Gilbert will spend the greater part of his "lay-off" on the ranch, west of town.

Card of Thanks.

Superintendent Saturnino Baca expresses his gratitude to the people of Los Lunas for the cordial treatment given to the teachers during the Institute. He expresses that this was the best Institute during his administration.

Indignant at At- tacks on Luna Family

Santa Fe, N. M., July 4. —Deep indignation is being expressed here among friends of the late Solomon Luna and of the Luna family at the publication in La Opinion Publica, a Spanish newspaper published at Albuquerque by Elfigo Baca, republican candidate for congress, of ugly hints at the manner in which Mr. Luna met his tragic death and hints that he might have met with foul play. Translations of the matter have been circulated here quite generally, as well as the paper, and the inferences the paper makes are to the effect that a member of the Luna family was responsible for the late New Mexico leader's death.

Not only this ugly inference, but the effort to draw Mr. Luna's name into a political fight has aroused anger among people of all parties. Members of the Luna family, it is learned, are being urged to take action against Baca.

Ed M. Otero, nephew of the late Solomon Luna, one of his heirs and successor to the control of the great Luna sheep interests in Valencia and Socorro counties, is in the city today. Mr. Otero refused to comment for publication on the publications in La Opinion Publica, referred to in Herald dispatches from Santa Fe.

Stop the Indecency

"The Albuquerque Morning Journal" of July 4th, contains the following well deserved roasting to a certain aspirant for the nomination to congress: "The Journal insists upon decency in politics. Just at this time we have the spectacle of one of the candidates for the nomination for congress attempting to drag the late Solomon Luna from his grave in an effort to use the corpse to further his own ambitions.

There is not the slightest evidence that Mr. Luna met with foul play. There was every reason to know that Mr. Luna's death was due to accident. Dr. Spindler and a meat market man of this city were at Mr. Luna's ranch when the accident occurred. Frank Hubbell of this city was on his ranch thirty-five miles away, was sent for and was one of the first persons to arrive after the accident.

Mr. Hubbell found where Mr. Luna's foot had slipped on a board near the edge of the vat into which he fell. The reason for his leaving his sleeping quarters in the night is well known. The question that he was murdered is indecently preposterous and should be and is condemned by all right-thinking people in New Mexico.

Such method of conducting a campaign or of getting revenge is outrageous and it is difficult to believe that a sane man would indulge in it.

It is up to the people of this county, regardless of race, to express emphatic disapproval on such methods and of any man who lends his open or tacit support to such methods. The whole disgusting performance must be ended at once.

An Ideal Candidate

The chances in favor of Hon. Harry P. Owen for candidate on the Republican ticket for district attorney for this district are growing better every day due to his prominence and competency to fill the position. In fact he will have no opposition whatever in getting the nomination by the Republican Convention of Valencia county, which will meet at Los Lunas, the county seat, sometime next August. Mr. Owens is an ideal candidate and if nominated, will surely be elected by an overwhelming majority.

Mr. Owens has been a resident of the state of New Mexico for the last thirty years, was married here, has a large family and is happily domiciled in a nice home in Los Lunas. During the many years that he has lived here he has filled several positions of honor and trust; because of his honesty and integrity he is a well deserving man. He is not after the office, his friends are the ones who will stand and support him to get the nomination, cognizant of the fact that he is the right and proper man for the position. The good name and influence that he has acquired is due to his honesty and capacity to fill any position entrusted to him.

Mr. Owens has no axe to grind, consequently, we are safe in saying that if nominated and elected, he will stand by the people who put him in power. He has been a staunch Republican all his life, has been a faithful worker in the party and the party will be only fair in recognizing his great services by tendering him this office.

Call for Republican Convention

By order of the Republican State Central Committee a delegate convention of the republican party of the state of New Mexico is hereby called to meet at the city of Santa Fe on the twenty-fourth day of August, A. D. 1914, at Salmon's theater, at the hour of 10 o'clock a. m. of said day for the purpose of nominating a candidate for representative, from New Mexico, in the 64th congress of the United States; a candidate for member of the state corporation commission; of considering and acting upon the resolution adopted in December, 1913, by the republican national committee as a proposed basis for the call for the national convention in 1916, and of transacting such other business as may regularly come before the convention.

The several counties of the state will be entitled to representation as follows:

Bernalillo	20
Chaves	9
Colfax	12
Curry	3
Doña Ana	12
Eddy	5
Grant	9
Guadalupe	10

In all legislative or judicial districts composed of two or more counties, the joint memberships of the delegates selected to the state convention under this call from the counties composing any such district shall meet at the city of Santa Fe, not later than August twenty-fifth, A. D. 1914, and there hold district conventions for the purpose of nominating candidates for legislative or judicial district officers.

Flattens Them Out.
William Dean Howells, at his country house in York Harbor, was admonishing a young novelist who, after writing a successful novel, had written only slight things.
"Two critics," he said to the young man, "were discussing a certain author."
"His laurels," said the first critic, "already seem faded and bedraggled."
"That," the other critic agreed, "is because he has been resting on them."—Washington Post.

"What would that be?"
"Society for Prevention of Useless Talking."

It Ought To.
Bacon—Is your daughter interested in neighborhood improvement work?
Egbert—Oh, yes.
"What is she doing?"
"Taking singing lessons."
"Gee! I can't see how that's helping the neighbors much."
"You can't? Doesn't it make 'em forget their other troubles?"

HIS SCHEME.
Applicant—Give me a position as proofreader—we'll get along all right.
Magazine Editor—What do you mean?
Applicant—Well, whenever you make any mistakes in the magazine, just blame it on me, and I'll never say a word.

Greene—My wife gave it to me for Christmas.

"I know it. They must have run out of colors when they were making it."

No Merit in That.
Litigant—Your fee is outrageous. Why, it's more than three-fourths of what I recovered.

Don't Try.
"Isn't there any way of stopping these cyclones?" asked the Eastern man.
"No," replied the Westerner; "the best way is to go right along with 'em."

WITH ROUGH TIMBER

EXAMPLE OF EXCELLENT RAILROAD CONSTRUCTION WORK.

Estimates Show That Cost Was About Half of What It Would Have Been If Dressed Lumber Had Been Used.

An example of the extent to which rough timber can sometimes be used in the construction of railroad spurs or temporary lines is given in the recently completed extension of the Ruskin-Stave Falls in British Columbia. About 230,000 feet board measure of hewed and rough timber were used in crib and trestle work on this extension, which is 3,300 feet long and cost about $20,000.

The line follows along a very steep side hill in loose, sliding earth and required a large amount of retaining wall construction. The heavy timber growth was, therefore, utilized to good advantage, and cribs and trestles were built from cedar timber cut on the right of way or adjacent thereto. The cribs were built up as the grading and steeper slopes it was found convenient to terrace them in one of more sections.

Several trestles were required at ravine crossings, and in order to give greater stability to these structures, timber crib foundations were built wherever the footings came on sloping ground. The road is of standard gauge and was built on a uniform grade of 5 per cent, compensated, with a maximum curvature of 15 degrees.

The timber on one trestle totals 59,000 feet board measure. Including engineering supervision, the structure cost $975.75. The amount of timber used in this trestle, if bought from the mill as dimension lumber at the regular rate of $20 per 1,000 feet board measure would have come to $1,180, while a probable addition cost of $650 for erecting would have brought the total up to about twice the amount actually expended on the structure.

The timber crib in another place contains 41,000 feet board measure, and cost in place $970, or about $24 per 1,000 feet board measure. This cost is considered somewhat higher than the average on the work, due to the very soft earth encountered at this point.

In making a fill near the lower end of the line a rough timber trestle 600 feet in length, with an average height of 28 feet and a maximum height of 32 feet, was built at a cost of $2 per foot, including ties and 56 pound rails. This structure was only used until the fill was graded for permanent roadbed, and its heaviest loading was a 12-ton dinky engine with three 6-ton (loaded) dump cars.

Grown-Up Children.
A railroad guard related an amusing little incident the other day.

"At an out-of-the-way little station in the north," he said, "a party of workmen wished to book a town in the Midlands. Unfortunately, the booking clerk had only a limited number of tickets for the journey at his disposal.

"Eventually he got out of his difficulty by dividing the pieces of pasteboard and issuing children's tickets to the party, at the same time explaining how matters stood.

"They've paid full fare, of course," he remarked, "so you must let 'em through."

"I had almost forgotten the matter, when a ticket-examiner at B— came to me and remarked, with a sorrowful shake of the head:

"This under-age dodge is getting too warm!"

"What's the matter?" I asked.

"Matter?" he echoed disgustedly. "Why, here's a whole carriage full of children wot plays cards, drinks whiskey, and wears whiskers!—London Tit-Bits.

QUEEN QUALITY SHOES
AT GOEBEL'S

JUST A LITTLE SMILE

Weak Man.

At a New Year eve supper at the Players' club in New York, Witter Bynner, sonneteer, remarked:

"A New Year resolution is the only thing on earth that is stronger at birth than at any time."

At this witticism the eyes of Butler Glaesner, essayist and critic, snapped behind the lustrous pince-nez, and Mr. Glaesner said in his calm, fluent voice:

"And of New Year resolutions, above all other things, it is true that the good die young."

A Frank Talk.

"Wombat, I have always been a true friend to you. I have spoken nicely of you behind your back as well as to your face. And yet you have always been suspicious of me."

"I admit it, old chap. You act so different from my other friends that I have never known what to make of you."

His Experience.

Shoe Clerk—What size rubbers do you wear?

Uncle Josh—I dunno. I guess when you buy rubbers you have to take your choice between ones you can hardly get on at all and ones that'll slip off as soon as you begin to wear 'em.—Puck.

ASTRONOMICAL.

First Boarder—This is the third time the actor over there has dipped up a saucer of cream and strawberries.

Second Boarder—Yes, he is the star boarder.

First Boarder—Ah! I see; the Big Dipper.

Pedal Pedantry.

Every girl who rides a bike
On country road or street,
Always has two ends in view:
Those two ends are her feet.

Ghost of a Smile.

Rosemary—Have you ever been impressed by the mystery of Mona Lisa's smile?

Thornton—No. She looks to me just like some woman who is doing her best to laugh at one of her husband's jokes.—Judge.

A Good Drive.

"Did you enjoy your drive in your new electric?"

"Very much. I annoyed three traffic policemen, held up two auto trucks and kept a whole string of gasoline cars driven by men waiting until I said good-by to a friend."

The Frost.

Flora—I gave Jack the thirty-second degree last night.

Dora—Are you a Mason?

Flora—No; but that's the freezing point, isn't it?—Judge.

A Generous Soul.

"Here, my good man, is a cent. Don't be discouraged."

"Oh, not at all, madam! Such a magnificent gift comforts one immediately."—Le Rire (Paris).

Reno-vated.

Mrs. Ardly—Mrs. Graawid looks ever so much younger since she secured her divorce.

Ardly—Yes; it's a remarkable case of Reno-vation.—Judge.

A Bald Fact.

Old Beau—When I was a tiny boy with long, golden curls, they called me Archie!

Mrs. Golightly—And now they call you Archibald?—Judge.

Not So Bad as That.

Old Lady (to library boy)—Have you got "Epictetus?"

Boy—No, thank you, mum; it's only a bad cold and a sore "front."

Not Abstemious.

Wabash—Would you call him an abstemious man?

Dearborn—Certainly not. He's had six wives!

LANGUAGE.

Dr. Oeler tells the following to illustrate the elasticity of the English language, as used by the Southern negro.

One day there came to the clinic a negress with a broken jaw. The examining physician, intent on discovering the exact nature and extent of the injury, asked numerous questions. To all of them the negress returned evasive answers. Finally, she admitted that she was "hit by a object."

"Was it a large object or a small object?" asked the physician.

"Tol'by large."

"Was it a hard object or a soft object?"

"Tol'by hard."

"Was it coming rapidly or slowly?"

"Tol'by fast."

Then, her patience exhausted, the negress turned to the physician. "To tell the truth, doctor, I was jest simply kick'd in the face by a gen'lman friend."—Everybody's.

NO CHANCE FOR ARGUMENT.

"Once my wife and I were very disputatious. Now we never quarrel at all."

"That so?"

"You see, we don't speak to each other any more."

My Pen Is Bad.

My typewriter's worn out;
My ribbon's no better,
But my love for you
Will finish this letter.

His Choice.

"Which do you prefer?" asked the Old Fogey, "a preacher who is an orator or a preacher who reads his sermons?"

"Give me the preacher who reads his sermons," replied the Grouch.

"Why," asked the Old Fogey.

"He can tell when he gets to the end," replied the Grouch.

And Brought Forth a Mouse.

Chollie—I figured out this morning how many ancestors I really had, and found there were several thousand.

Miss Blune—And just think of the insignificant result of all those ancestors.

Hated Rival.

"Why these tears?"

"Harold has written a poem for another girl."

"To whom is the poem addressed?"

"Aurora Borealis—boo-hoo!"

New Rakings.

"What's that long line of people trailing away from the prison gates?"

"Why, that's the waiting list of reform writers who are waiting their turn to get into jail and write it up."

READY FOR HOSTILITIES.

Dinks—Why do pugilists shake hands when they go into the ring?

Winks—For the same reason, I suppose, that two women kiss when they meet on the street.

She Scored.

"You threw yourself at my head."

Quoth he:

"I wanted a good soft mark."

Not Too Tough.

"We will have beefsteak for the piece de resistance tonight."

"Try and get some that won't offer too much resistance, my dear."

Where the Shoe Pinched.

Stork—Hey! Got a working card?

Eagle—What? Who are you?

Stork—Flying delegate to the Kid Carriers' union.—Puck.

A Thorough Cure.

"And has the famous doctor cured your friend of the hallucination that she was sick?"

"Oh, completely. She's really sick now."—Fliegende Blaetter

Quite So.

"Here's an item about a dog that can sing, after a fashion."

"He'll be in vaudeville next."

"Yes; and vaudeville has enough of that kind of singers."

LIBERTY AND SERVICE

On July 4th, 1776, the ringing of the Liberty Bell announced to the world the birth of a new nation.

In the century and a half that has passed since that day, the Spirit of Liberty has been the keynote of the Republic's progress.

Just as the Republic is founded on the Spirit of Liberty, the Bell System is fostered and guided by a Spirit of Service.

The Spirit of Service has made the Bell System, one of the largest and most useful corporations in the country.

The telephone, a plaything of thirty years ago, has kept pace with the nation's growth until today there are 8,500,000 in daily use.

In the seven mountain states operated by you telephone company, there are 222,582 telephones giving daily service.

Private enterprise, guided by a Spirit of Service with a Liberty of effort, has made this development possible.

There are more telephones giving better service in the United States, than in any country in the world.
