MAY LAY BUTTE IN ASHES

From Tuesday morning's Albuquerque Journal we take the following: "Miners openly threatened tonight to lay the town in ashes if either the state or federal troops attempted to enter Butte. One of the leaders of the miners declared that they do not purpose to fight the soldiers, but they would wreak vengeance upon the business men for having been instrumental in bringing soldiers to Butte.

"We have quantities of dynamite and oil," said one leader, "and the troops will find ashes."

Up to today the majority of the miners did not credit the reports that the militia was being mobilized as the local newspapers withheld the news on request of businessmen who feared its publication would excite the miners. An Helena newspaper editor, however, brought an automobile load of newspapers to Butte for sale and newsboys soon began crying the news of the mobilization of the militia.

Calls immediately went forth from President "Muckie" McDonald and other leaders for a meeting of union miners, which was held in secret to discuss the coming of the soldiers. Later a committee of miners were sent hurriedly to the railroad depots to determine whether the troops had arrived.

The miners called a meeting for tonight. The electric light plant and all the larger stores are guarded by many armed men, as are the mines. On the attic floor of the court house there are 50 guards armed with rifles.

County Attorney J. J. McCaffery issued a warrant for the arrest of the Helena editor on a charge of inciting a disturbance, but the editor was said to have left the city early. The officers could not find him. All ammunition in hardware stores has been removed and firing pins taken from the rifles.

Miners are planning a march tomorrow by a committee of forty to the original mine of the Anacoda company to line up the miners there and notify them that they must join the insurgent union, quit work or be deported. Upon learning that the mine approaches are guarded by men armed with rifles, a committee of five from the Mine Workers' union, the insurgent organization, called upon Sheriff Driscoll and County Attorney J. J. McCaffery this afternoon and requested protection when the committee visits the mine.

"We ask this protection to prevent bloodshed," said the spokesman. The request was refused, both by the sheriff and the county attorney. McCaffery replied:

"You intend to enter private property with the intention of deporting men. You talk about armed men. I have the names of more than one hundred Mine Workers who have guns in their possession. You might tell the union that I intend to prosecute every one of them."

One of the committee who admitted to the county attorney that he "went part way with a deporting committee," was arrested immediately by the sheriff upon McCaffery's orders, but upon the miner's plea that he was not a "deporter" the officers permitted him to go.

Mayor Louis J. Duncan also refused protection to the miners' committee upon their mission to the mine.

It was denied tonight by the officers that warrants for the arrest of "Muckie" McDonald, president of the Mine Workers' union; Joseph Bradley and another officer of the union had been withdrawn. Apparently the officers are awaiting the arrival of troops before any attempt to serve the warrants is made. The warrants charge kidnapping in connection with the deportation of Edward O'Brien, a miner. They were issued Saturday afternoon.

Labor Day Proclamation

The custom of annually setting aside a day known as Labor Day has been established by a desire on the part of the people of the United States to emphasize the dignity and importance of all labor. As good citizens we should recognize that it is to labor, both of the hand and the brain, that we owe our marvelous industrial development and our wholesome prosperity as a nation. Toil of the hand and toil of the brain are complements, one to the other, and one is as important as the other in attaining and preserving a people's welfare. Properly directed labor and thrift are the greatest moral and material assets a community or state can have; while idleness and extravagance lead to ruin and moral degradation. Those who know what it is to "eat bread in the sweat of thy face" make our best citizens.

Now, therefore, for the purpose of honoring the forces of labor, of which all worthy Americans form a part, I, William C. McDonald, Governor of the State of New Mexico, do hereby proclaim Monday, the 7th Day of September, 1914, as LABOR DAY and a legal holiday in the State of New Mexico. I recommend that it be universally observed by the people as a real holiday; that business be suspended so far as practicable; that the children in our schools be instructed as to the honor and value of labor, and the dangers of idleness to the end that the efforts of each may be more beneficial to all.

Done at the Executive Office this, the 22nd day of August, 1914. Witness my hand and the Great Seal of the State of New Mexico.

(Seal) WILLIAM C. McDONALD, Attested: ANTONIO LUCERO, Secretary of State.

Word was just received from Santa Fe imparting the sad intelligence of the sudden death of Mrs. A. M. Bergere in that city at noon today; presumably from heart failure. Mrs. Bergere was a sister of the late Solomon Luna.

AUSTRIAS LOOSE THIRTY THOUSAND

London, Sept. 2.—A corner of the curtain over the battle drama in northern France has momentarily been raised. It shows the allies battling desperately to prevent the success of the German assaults on the upper Oise, less than fifty miles from Paris.

On the eastern war stage Russia frankly confesses to disaster to two army corps, with the loss of three generals, elsewhere the Russian arms seemed to have triumphed. Galicia has been successfully invaded and Lemburg will soon be evacuated, according to reports from the St. Petersburg war office. If this is true, the Austrian menace to Russian Poland will be ended and the Russian forces can begin to converge for the march on Berlin, the Russian objective in north Galicia apparently being Koenigsbatte, whence they can march on Berlin via Breslau.

On the upper Oise the British are fighting desperately to prevent the Germans from obtaining one of the most direct routes to Paris. The battle raged Sunday and Monday and by sheer weight of numbers the Germans secured a slight advance.

Military experts point out that from the present position on the upper Oise river the German advance will become increasingly difficult owing to the natural features of the country as well as the artificial defenses that will have to be encountered.

Choice of New Pope

The election of a new pope to succeed Pius X, will probably be held in the city of Rome within the next week or ten days, the choice devolving upon the college of cardinals, comprised of 63 members. The conclave of cardinals will be held in Rome, although there is no ironclad provision in the situation requiring such action.

At the first session of the sacred college assembled for the election each cardinal takes an oath upon the gospels to observe the canons that refer to the election of the head of the church by the conclave. The bulls of the nine popes who have issued pronunciamientos on the methods of election are read aloud and the fisherman's ring, the distinguishing jewel of the high office, is unsealed by the master of ceremonies.

On the second day the officers of the pontifical states are confirmed in their positions and the next three days are spent in elections to the offices of the conclave itself. On the sixth day the cells which the cardinal and his secretary are to occupy are allotted. The vatican palace contains 1,100 rooms and there is a large hall specifically set apart for the meetings of the conclave. Each cardinal occupies two rooms called "cells" and is literally locked up with his secretary until a choice is made. All meals are passed in through apertures in the wall and no communication with the outside world is allowed, not even letters or papers being passed in.

A fact that will be news to most is that the rules of the church do not require the pope to be a priest. Theoretically any Catholic is eligible, be he priest or layman, married or single. In practice and since the time of Urban the IV, the custom has prevailed of electing only a cardinal to the high office.

Two votes are taken daily, one in the morning and the other in the evening. These are taken in the chapel, where each cardinal has a separate desk. Two-thirds of the ballots must be cast for one person before an election is possible.

When the ballots are counted, if there be no election, the papers are burned in a fireplace and the waiting crowd outside keep their eyes on the chimney of the room and the smoke is a sign that there has been no election.

The daily balloting is repeated until one of the candidates receives the necessary two-thirds of the votes, when he is declared elected pope and the conclave adjourns.

Those cardinals who are considered possible candidates are Cardinals Martinelli, Gotti, Vannutelli, De Lai Cavallari, Rampolla and Merry del Val, all Italians.

Until the new pope is elected the cardinals will take care of all matters concerning the administration of the church, although they have no authority to make changes of importance.

There are now sixty-three members of the sacred college, of whom four are Americans. These are Cardinal Gibbons, Cardinal Farley, Cardinal O'Connell and Cardinal Falconio. The latter is a resident of Rome, although he was for many years in Washington and is a naturalized American citizen.

Mr. Narciso Francis, candidate for the legislature from Valencia county, was a visitor in Belen today. Mr. Francis is a very able man and has a very clean record, wherefore we have not the least doubt that he will make one of the most successful legislators that ever represented this county; he is also a very well liked man by the people throughout the county and it is a certainty that he will be elected by a big majority.

Mrs. Apolonia Salazar, wife of Mr. E. H. Salazar, and their family arrived here last Sunday evening. Mr. Salazar, who for the last four years has held the land receiver's office at Fort Sumner, has for the second time sent in his resignation to the department at Washington, this time it seems with more success than the first. Mr. Salazar's family has preceded him to this town where he is expected to arrive in the near future, when he will take personal charge of this paper. Mr. Salazar is an experienced newspaper man and a scholar of the old school besides. He has founded two of the best known newspapers of San Miguel county, and we are confident that with his personal supervision this paper will give the best results.

SHOCKING STORY BY BANKER'S WIFE

Paris, Sept. 1.—Mrs. Herman H. Harjes, wife of the Paris banker, who, with other American women, has been deeply interested in relief work, today visited the North railroad station and was shocked by the sights she saw among the Belgian refugees.

"The station," said Mrs. Harjes, "presented the aspect of a sham battle. It was the worst I ever saw. It was impossible to believe the tortures and cruelties the poor unfortunates had undergone."

"I saw many a boy with both his hands cut off, so that it was impossible for him to carry a gun. Everywhere was filth and utter desolation. The helpless little babies, lying on the cold, wet cement floor and crying for proper nourishment were enough to bring hot tears to any mother's eyes."

"Mothers were vainly besieging the authorities for milk or soup. A mother with 12 children said: 'What is to become of us?' It seems impossible to suffer more. I saw my husband bound to a lamp post. He was gagged and being tortured by bayonets. When I tried to intercede in his behalf I was knocked senseless with a rifle. I never saw him again."

"The work which the Red Cross is doing is excellent, but unfortunately it has not sufficient members to cope with the situation. Also its equipment is poor. I saw babies being bathed in dishpans in cold water, no hot water being available. Dr. Andre Collin, who is in charge of the relief work, is almost worshipped by the people, owing to his untiring efforts in their behalf."

"I am told that the French authorities are doing all that is possible to relieve the misery, but the funds at their command are insufficient. I, with the help of policemen, took as much coffee, bread and provisions as an automobile would hold into the station as was greeted as fairy godmother."

Italy and Austria

While the attention of the whole world is fixed upon the Belgian plain where hundreds of thousands of soldiers of four nations are moving toward battle, events are taking place in southwestern Europe too important to be overlooked and not unlikely to exercise a material influence in the general war says the New York Sun.

Most important of all is the bombardment of Antivari by the Austrian fleet. Of itself Antivari is of no real value as a port or as a base for naval or military operation. But with Duleigno it is the single tiny Slav facade upon the Adriatic, the only "wind-down on the sea" of the Serbs.

The Triplice Alliance has broken down at the decisive moment because there was no human method of reconciling Austrian and Italian ambitions. Foreign dispatches allege that the kaiser offered Italy Algeria, Tunis, the Belgian Congo. But the eyes, the ambitions of Italians, are as firmly fixed upon the Adriatic as English upon the German ocean. What the Straits of Dover are to the British those of Otranto are to Italy.

Slavdom and the Italians pursue parallel, not conflicting aims in the Adriatic. Apart from the sentimental alliance between Montenegro and Italian, arising from the fact that the queen of Italy is the daughter of Nicholas of the Black mountain, the Italians are fully reconciled to the prospect of an extension of Serbia to the Adriatic, to the union of Bosnia and Herzegovina and even a portion of Dalmatia to Serbia and the creation on the Danube and the Save and along the Adriatic of a Slav state which shall permanently block Austrian advance along the Adriatic and down the valley of the Morava to Salonica.

War's Cost in Human Life

Of particular interest at this time are the records of killed and wounded in the last European wars—"little squabbles in the Balkans" they are sometimes described. Professor Octave Laurent has summed up these losses of human life in the account of his eleven months' experience as a surgeon with the Bulgarian troops, which has just been published in Paris. He writes for his surgical colleagues, not to produce a sensation.

Bulgaria, with 4,300,000 inhabitants, put 500,000 soldiers in the field. Of these 53,000 were wounded and 30,000 killed in the first war and 16,000 killed and 62,000 wounded in the second. Altogether 150,000 killed and wounded—one-third of the effective force of the army and 3 per cent of the population. There was one death out of every four injuries, a very high figure.

In the last Balkan war 150,000 men on both sides were killed or wounded on the field in a single month. Eighty thousands of these fell on the banks of the Bregalnitz in the six days from the 30th of June to the 5th of July, 1913.

Professor Laurent quotes an authoritative prophecy to the effect that a zero added to these figures would give the losses in an European war which would line up two armies of the great powers. There would be not less than $1,500,000 wounded and killed in a month once the forces were fully in the field. The figures may be an exaggeration, but they come approved by a professional expert who has just had the latest possible experience.—New York Herald.

An exhibit likely to be of exceptional interest to stockmen generally will be seen at the New Mexico state fair, which opens at Albuquerque October 5. That exhibit consists of the display that will be made by Angora goat raisers of New Mexico, when the finest of these animals will be placed on exhibition. The southwest is well adapted to Angora goat raising, and those who are engaged in that avocation are finding it a very profitable occupation.

The New Mexico state law giving a person or corporation the right to graze the open range when such person or corporation has developed permanent water on the range and stocked the range, was held to be valid in a decision rendered by Judge McClure in the Roswell district court. This case is of the greatest importance to the stockmen of New Mexico, from the fact that it guarantees to one who goes out on the virgin plains and establishes ranches, develops the water and stocks the range that he will be protected from all intruders under the state law.

Dr. Frank H. Roberts, president of the Normal University at Las Vegas, N. M., has filed the annual report of that institute with the educational department at Santa Fe. The report shows a wonderful growth under the presidency of Dr. Roberts. In 1908-1909 the net total enrollment was 338, of which 64 were credited to the summer school, while last year it was 572, with 290 in the summer school, although the kindergarten, sub-normal and music departments were not included in the figures. The attendance of the summer school this year was 382. The growth in six years was 115 per cent. Of the summer school this year 249 students came from outside points; 291 were women, and 91 men, 34 being of training school rank and 348 above training school rank.

What can be done with apples in the southwest is well illustrated in the case of Neil Ferguson, of Albuquerque, N. M., who has just an acre and a half in an apple orchard. Mr. Ferguson will harvest from that small apple orchard this year 1,500 boxes of choice apples, and will begin to gather his apples about October 1. While some of his neighbors are complaining of worms in their apples, Mr. Ferguson's fruit is as sound as a dollar, owing to the fact that he had the good judgment to spray his orchard at the proper time.

Plain Robbery of the People

With the development of the war in Europe and the cutting off of all European demand for provisions, food manipulators and speculators have taken advantage of the opportunity to arbitrarily advance the price of all food stuffs in this country.

There is no more justification for the action taken than there is in the act of the highwayman who holds you up on a dark corner at the point of a pistol and relieves you of your valuables. The inspiration of the two acts is the same.

It makes no difference to these scoundrels that the cost of living is already abnormally high. It makes no difference that there is no war in the United States and no reason why war prices should be in effect here. With their cornering and control of the markets they are in a position to gouge millions of dollars out of the American consumer, and they have set their gougers to work.

The packers are forcing the price of meat to the point where it cannot be touched by the poor man, simply because they believe they control the supply and can force any price they choose to dictate.

The milling trust has advanced the price of flour to the point where it means many millions of dishonest profit wrung from the American people.

The sugar kings are forcing the price to more than double its usual figure, and all because they think they see the opportunity to make the public pay the price.

And so it is down the list of the common necessities of life. There has been no cost increase in production. There is nothing behind this conspiracy but human greed and avarice has overstepped itself.

The entire power of the American government is being invoked to break up this damnable conspiracy, and it is a well established fact that when the square-jawed man at Washington goes after a thing he generally lands it. Investigations are in progress, grand juries are at work, and the charlatans who are trying to thus bleed the American people are going to be brought to a realization of the fact that this is one time when greed was too avaricious.

European War Will Not Interfere With California Expositions.

"We do not anticipate that the European war will in any way effect the two expositions to be held in California at San Francisco and San Diego in 1915," said J. M. Connell, General Passenger Agent of the Santa Fe, yesterday. "On the contrary, it looks as if our passenger traffic to California will be better than ever this season because Americans who go abroad every year will be forced to seek places of amusement in their own land. The tide of this traffic will automatically set for California, which in climate and attractions bears considerable resemblance to the French and Italian Riviera.

"A telegram just received from C. C. Moore, president of the Panama-Pacific Exposition company, positively states that the exposition will open on schedule time February 20, 1915, and that it will be fully completed by that time.

"Various nations of North and South America have already asked for increases in exhibit space and domestic participation will probably be increased through war, as there is a general belief that a larger market for American manufactures will be created in South America and the Orient. The expositions will afford a golden opportunity for the display of these goods.

"Already 275 congresses and conventions have been scheduled for San Francisco during 1915 and positive dates have been assigned from February 17 to November 15.

"Our plans to handle this traffic are extensive and in addition to $2,000,000 worth of new equipment now being delivered, embrace the carrying out of many improvements at Grand Canyon," Mr. Connell continued. "New rest houses and lookouts are in course of construction about the rim of the canyon, notably at the head of Hermit and Bright Angel trails. An addition to Bright Angel camp, one of the canyon hotels, is being built and many new rim trails are to be opened up."

Mr. Connell also pointed out the advantages which this country would derive from increased travel within its borders.

"It means," he said, "that all the American dollars which annually go into the coffers of the English, French, German and Italian hotel and resort keepers, will this year be spent in America—one of the many things which spell prosperity for the United States at this time."

The Long Hour Men

When close upon the sunset hour
The welcome whistle blows
The workman takes his dinner pail
And homeward gaily goes.
He finds the table neatly spread
And supper smoking hot,
And softly hums a little tune,
Contented with his lot.
He trots the baby on his knee,
And when the paper's read,
Knocks out the ashes from his pipe,
And early goes to bed.
His health is good, his heart is light,
His slumber sweet and sound
How different it is with men
Who make the wheels go round!
The banker sits before his desk
Till far into the night,
A thousand things demand his care
And thread his locks with white.
The manufacturer is late
When notes are falling due.
And threatened strikes and damage suits
The merchants path pursue.
Eight hours, and then the toiler drops
His yoke beside his tools,
Eight hours and all the spindles
rest,
The flaming furnace cools,
But still the business man, altho'
His eyes for sleep are dim,
Must grind away, there is as yet
No eight-hour law for him.

BUILDING A BICYCLE BOAT

Directions and Illustration Given Will Assist Materially in Construction of Craft.

Get two pine planks four inches thick by eight inches wide, and fourteen and a half feet long. Plane all four sides smoothly, and round off edges. Then measure back 15 inches from the bow and shape the bow end, as in the illustration. Round the under edges, that is the edge that goes in the water, writes Fred Crawford of West Virginia in the Farm News.

Now measure back from the stern eight inches, and shape the stern end as shown in the illustration. Get some seven-eighths inch pine boards, grooved and cut them four feet long, and nail them across the planks. Start 12 inches from the stern and lay them as close as possible to within 20 inches of the bow.

An old bicycle frame is now firmly set upon a block, at such a height as to allow free turning space for the bicycle pedals. In the center of the craft, a little to the stern, from the chain wheel the chain runs to another sprocket wheel on the paddle shaft. The latter is made of hard wood two inches in diameter.

The shaft is supported by two blocks set near the edge of the boat. At each end of the shaft four paddles are attached of such a length as to dip six inches in the water. Have each paddle one foot long.

State Railway Troubles.
Complaints have been made for some time past of the unsatisfactory financial management of the Belgian state railroads, and now the traffic management also appears to have broken down. From all parts of the country there are accounts of delayed passenger trains and of the detention of consignments of freight for three or four days, or even a week, because of the overcrowding of the lines. Various causes are assigned for the breakdown—discontent among the engine drivers, malingering in view of the fact that they receive full pay during illness, the substitution of inexperienced men for the absentees, promotion for political reasons, instead of by merit, and the inefficiency of the engines and rolling stock, or neglect to keep them in good condition.

QUEER LITTLE PRISON BIRD

How a Beautiful Variety of Hornbill Becomes Prisoner During Nesting Time.

Sylvia and Betty drew their chairs close to Uncle Ellis.
"Oh, yes," he said, "I promised to tell you about the queer little prison bird. Well, its home is in Africa, and it is called 'prison bird' because it is really a prisoner during its nesting time."

"Father and mother prison bird build their nest in the hollow of a tree; they go through an opening in the bark. With downy feathers plucked from her own breast, the mother prison bird makes the nest quite cozy and comfortable; then she enters and settles down in it."

"Father bird at once plasters up the entrance, leaving an opening that exactly suits the form of his beak. The opening is only large enough for air and food to pass through."

"Mother bird lays her eggs, hatches them, and stays with the baby birds until they are old enough to fly."

"During all of that time, which is said to be several weeks, the father bird stays near his home, and keeps a faithful watch. Without fail he brings food to her as often as she needs it."

"It is a sad thing if the father bird dies, or in any way is kept from taking care of his family. The mother cannot free herself, and so she and the baby birds starve to death."

"As soon as the baby birds are able to fly, the father tears away the barrier to his home with his beak, and sets them and their mother free, and the little prisoners greet the light and the unknown world."

"It seems to me that the father bird must be glad when the task of feeding his mate and babies is over."

"Has the prison bird any other name, and is it a pretty bird?" Sylvia asked, when Uncle Ellis had finished.

"Yes," said Uncle Ellis, "it is a kind of hornbill, and it is a beautiful bird." —Virginia Farley in Youth's Companion.

Correct Diagnosis.
Doctor—What seems to be your trouble?

Old Lady—Our neighbors have purchased a parlor organ and it is going night and day so that my nerves are all to pieces.

Doctor—Ah, I see a little organic trouble.

An Old Plan.

"What do you think of the new profit-sharing plan?"

"That's not new. We've had it in our house for years."

"You've had it in your house?"

"Yes, every time I win money at cards I have to give my wife half."

PITY THE UMPIRE

Dinks—I had no idea you were so perceptive.
Winks—I'm not.
Dinks—But you were carrying a horseshoe when you entered the ball park yesterday.
Winks—Oh! that was to leave at the umpire in case he got gay.
