BENEDICT XV SUCCESSOR TO POPE PIUS

Cardinal Giacomo Della Chiesa, archbishop of Bologna, Italy, was on September 3 elected supreme pontiff of the Catholic hierarchy in succession to the late Pope Pius X, who died August 20. He will reign under the name of Benedict XV.

The conclave of the sacred college, whose duty it is to elect the pope, went into session the evening of Monday, September 1. The announcement of the outcome of its deliberations was made in the morning of September 3 shortly after 11 o'clock.

At twenty minutes past 11 o'clock Monsignor Misciatelli, subprefect of the sacred palaces and governor of the conclave, received a communication from the new pope asking that the gratings of the basilica of St. Peter be opened because he purported in a short time to issue his proclamation.

At this hour—eleven twenty—the master of ceremonies appeared on the central balcony of St. Peter's and spread out the red carpet. The crowd below which had been waiting for hours in the square in the expectation of an announcement as to the outcome of the deliberations of the sacred college understood that a selection had been reached. The people applauded vigorously.

Twenty minutes before twelve Cardinal Della Voipe appeared on the balcony with Monsignor Capocostosi bearing the pope's cross on his right and pronounced the ritual announcing the election of Cardinal Della Chiesa. To this he added that the new pope had chosen the name of Benedict XV.

Again the crowd of several thousand persons cheered and at once began to make their way to the basilica to hear the benediction of the new pontiff.

The choice falls on a cardinal of Italian birth, as was expected from tradition and also from disturbed conditions in Europe.

It was at the age of 24 that the new pope was ordained in the priesthood. He soon attracted the attention of Cardinal Rampola, later secretary of state for Pope Leo XIII. When Cardinal Rampola was made nuncio to Madrid, he took Monsignor Della Chiesa with him as secretary of nunciature. On Cardinal Rampola's return to Rome to become secretary of state for the vatican, Monsignor Della Chiesa entered the secretariat of state as one of the "minutomi," or minor officials, until 1901, when he was appointed substitute of the secretariat and also secretary of the Cypher.

As secretary to the secretary of state, Cardinal Della Chiesa was then brought into notable prominence throughout the Catholic hierarchy, but his position was not at that time of cardinalistic rank. On the accession of Pope Pius X, Monsignor Della Chiesa continued in the secretariat until December 16, 1907, when the pope gave him a noted promotion to the position of archbishop of the see of Bologna.

Why Food Prices Are High.

It is a very cold day when our friends at the head of the great packing interests of the country, get left. When they mark up the price of meat to the point where it is prohibitive, there is always a ready reason for such action. When they mark down the price of meat on the hoof to the producer, they are just as well prepared to give a salient reason therefor, and when war prices were promulgated a short time ago in the determination to squeeze a few more millions out of people who have already been bled beyond the limit, the packers were right there with the goods to prove that the consumers themselves were responsible for the flow of unearned increment into the strong boxes of the packers.

In a public statement made by Armour & Co., it is stated that the newspapers predicted a rise in prices in consequence of the European war, and prudent housewives began to buy sugar and flour by the barrel, instead of by the small quantities in which they were accustomed to make such purchases. This resulted in a scare, which of course, justified the packers in immediately marking up the price of meats from three to five cents per pound, for the price and demand for sugar and flour so governs the price of meat that when a market woman is known to have purchased a barrel of flour or a sack of sugar, it is a sure indication that she has money enough in her possession to pay a higher price for her meat.

It is thus that our packing friends justify their action in the raising of prices and prove to the world that the consumer is responsible for their further enrichment. If the housewives of the country had not been in such a rush to lay in a supply of sugar and flour, it stands to reason the packers would not have become alarmed over the belief that they were about to spend all their money for those commodities and would not have deemed it necessary to raise the price of meat.

Czar Will Go to Berlin If It Costs His Last Moujik

London, Sept. 9, (3:27 p. m.)—The Evening News has published a dispatch from its Rome correspondent, who says that Emperor Nicholas is reported in Rome to have made the following declaration:

"I am resolved to go to Berlin itself, even if costs me my last moujik."

Star Spangled Banner Day to Be Celebrated

Superintendent of Public Instruction Alvan N. White has sent out an official circular to all county and city superintendents asking them to have the schools in their jurisdictions observe the centenary of the writing of "The Star Spangled Banner," by Francis Scott Key, on September 14, by the singing of this patriotic hymn and other patriotic exercises at 9 o'clock in the forenoon. The circular was issued upon suggestion of P. P. Claxton, commissioner of education for the United States. A program compiled for the observance by the school superintendent of the state of Ohio is referred to as a model.

GREATEST BATTLE OF HIS- TORY IN PROGRESS ALLIES CLAIMING VICTORY

Contest May Require More Than Week to Determine Who Will Finally Be Victorious.

Latest official reports from the French government indicate that the offensive tactics undertaken in the last day or two by the allied armies have had the effect of forcing the Germans back at various points in the battle line, which extends from a few miles east of Paris to Verdun, a distance of about 200 miles.

Bordeaux reports officially that the British army has crossed the river Marne and that the Germans have fallen back 25 miles. The efforts of the Germans to break the French lines on the Ourcq river are likewise reported to have failed.

Seemingly the Germans are short of ammunition at the front, and are having difficulties in provisioning and the French war department officially announces that "on the whole the Germans appear to be beginning a movement of retreat."

The Russian and Austrian armies continue to oppose each other in a long drawn out engagement in the Lublin district, Russian Poland. An official statement issued at Petrograd declares that Austrian and German troops have been dislodged from their fortified positions in that section and have retired toward the south.

The battlefield in France is that over which Napoleon fought in 1814, with entrenched camps on both wings and the center. Paris covers the left wing, Chalons the center and Vergun the right, while mobile columns of troops are ready to join in the fighting wherever the line is threatened.

Vitre-le-Francois and Montmirail seem to be the points of the chief engagements and there the carnage has been the heaviest. The allies aim at preventing the German turning movement with a mass of troops composed of many army corps.

King George has addressed a message to the British dominions and colonies, in which he protests that the war was not of Great Britain's seeking and expresses his warmest thanks for the assistance rendered by them.

Maubeuge, a French fortress, has fallen into the hands of the Germans and, according to the report, the Germans took 40,000 prisoners and 400 guns.

The British official press bureau announces the wreck off the coast of Scotland of the White Star liner Oceanic. Officers and crew were saved.—Albuquerque Morning Journal.

Hundreds Pay Last Tribute to Memory of Mrs. Bergere

Santa Fe, Sept. 8.—The Woman's Board of Trade, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union and other organizations to which Mrs. A. M. Bergere belonged, attended her funeral this forenoon.

The pupils of Loretto academy and other Catholic institutions were also among the mourners as were Governor and Mrs. McDonald, United States Senator Tomas B. Catron and nearly all of the other federal, state and county officials.

The casket was completely covered with a beautiful cross of white roses and smilax and the floral tributes were magnificent and numerous. The vast auditorium of the cathedral was almost filled with men, women and children who thus paid their last tribute to one who was much beloved in the community. Vicar General Antonio Fourchegue sang the requiem mass, the ceremony being impressive and solemn. Supreme Court Clerk Jose D. Sena was in charge of the funeral arrangements. There were twelve honorary pall bearers, representing men of note from all over the state, and six active pall bearers. Interment was made in Rosario cemetery, where the scenes of the last farewell were affecting.

May Attempt An- other Revolution

The report comes from Toronto, Canada, where General Felix Diaz has been sojourning for some time, that he is preparing to depart for his native state of Oaxaca, Mexico, for the purpose of taking part in a revolt that has been stirred by his cousin, Rafael Rubio, who is at the head of 11,000 Oaxacan Indians.

Jose Bonales Sandoval, who fled Mexico with General Diaz, is said to be the financial agent of the new revolution, and El Paso is reported to be the point chosen as the scene of his activities in the attempted promulgation of revolt.

Now that there is a prospect of peace in Mexico and the tranquility and prosperity that will attend the establishment of a stable constitutional government, it is to be expected that there will be many rumors of impending revolts, counter-revolutions and forms of rebellion, but it is not

Poor Houses Are Full.

Washington, Sept. 7.—With the pinch of poverty tightening among families left in the United States when thousands of European reservists hurried away to war, government officials today found themselves left without means of offering aid. The problem of relief would have to be handled, it was declared today, by state and local governments through public subscription and by such help as the warring governments found themselves able to extend.

Unofficial reports received in Washington indicate that relief would soon be required among the wives and children whose bread winners went to war. Hundreds already are dependent upon public support in New York. In the coal regions of Pennsylvania, where thousands of alien miners quit work and hurried to their regiments, the poor houses are said to be filled beyond their capacities. In other centers where aliens have established homes, the situation is the same.

None of the dependents of the aliens who went back to Europe to fight can be deported under the law defining "public charges" because their plight results from causes that occurred after they landed in the United States.

The government is exercising leniency even among undesirable aliens now here if their deportations means exposure to danger abroad.

More than 500 aliens subject to deportation at the outbreak of the war have been allowed to remain until conditions permit their expulsion with safety. Many of these are in public institutions, where they will stay.

New arrivals found ineligible are not deported unless they can return direct on ships flying friendly flags to the ports from which they sailed. A German ineligible reaching the United States on a ship of one of the allies, would not be deported until the steamship line declared it safe to return to the port from which he took passage.

A few aliens have been sent back upon their own request.

probable that any of these will assume formidable proportions, for the people of Mexico have grown sick and weary of the strife that has so long raged in the republic. They have reached the point virtually where they are determined to have peace at any cost, and the Diaz movement only means trouble for its promoters and participants.

Twice General Felix Diaz has attempted movements of this kind in the republic of Mexico and each of his efforts resulted in disaster for himself, and instead of seeking to stir up further strife in his unhappy country, if he has the real love of his country at heart, he will join heart and soul with those who are striving to restore peace and tranquility to the country.

General Diaz is going to find no sympathy or encouragement in El Paso for his contemplated movement, and his emissaries had better give this city a very wide berth. El Paso has sympathized with the movement to restore constitutional government in Mexico, but El Paso has no sympathy to bestow on any malcontent who has no other object than the bringing of additional miseries upon the Mexican people.

The revolution business is no longer popular on either side of the boundary line, and the men who undertake such movements are going to find themselves up against such an adverse popular sentiment that absolutely no progress is possible.

PRAY FOR PEACE, PRESIDENT WIL- SON'S APPEAL

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—President Wilson today signed a proclamation calling on the people of the United States to pray for peace in Europe.

The President's proclamation sets aside Sunday, October 4, as a day of prayer.

President Wilson's proclamation was as follows:

"By the President of the United States of America

"A PROCLAMATION:

"Whereas, great nations of the world have taken up arms against one another and war now draws millions of men into battle whom the counsels of statesmen have not been able to save from the terrible sacrifice,

"And Whereas, in this as in all things, it is our privilege and duty to seek counsel and succor of Almighty God, humbling ourselves before Him, confessing our weakness and our lack of any wisdom equal to these things,

"And Whereas, it is the special wish and longing of the people of the United States, in prayer and council and all friendliness, to serve the cause of peace;

"Therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do designate Sunday, the fourth day of October next, a day of prayer and supplication and do request all god-fearing persons to repair on that day to their places, there to unite their petitions to Almighty God, that overruling the counsel of men, setting straight the things they cannot govern or alter, taking pity on nations now in the throes of conflict, in His mercy and goodness showing a way where the men can see none, He vouchsafe to His children, to make peace again and restore once more that concord among men and nations without which there can be neither happiness nor true friendship nor any wholesome fruit of toil or thought in the world. Praying also to this end that He forgive us our sins, or ignorance of His holy will, our wilfulness and many errors, and lead us in the paths of obedience to places of vision and to the thoughts and counsel that purge and make wise.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the city of Washington, this eighth day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand, nine hundred and fourteen and of the independence of the United States of America, the one hundred and thirty-ninth.

(Signed) "Woodrow Wilson."

"By the President:

"Williams Jennings Bryan,
"Secretary of State."

The Methodist Ladies Aid gave an ice cream social in the grove west of the church Tuesday night.

Suggestion to the Advertiser

During the unrest that has been brought about as a consequence of the great European war, there has been something of a disposition on the part of advertisers to curtail operations, judging from the columns of the average newspaper, but it is a noticeable fact that it is not the case with the astute and up-to-date business man.

The business man who knows what advertising really is, does not curtail his operations in such a time as this, for he realizes that it is a time when the newspapers of the country have their greatest circulation. That it is a time when every man, woman and child able to read are reading the newspapers, and that by keeping his business in the newspapers he is getting more publicity than he is able to obtain at any other time and without any increase in cost.

The war in Europe has not affected the number of buyers in the local markets. It has not reduced the number of shoppers who throng the big department stores. It has not reduced the volume of currency in circulation or brought any semblance of hard times to any of the American people. It has, however, greatly stimulated the reading of the newspapers—people who ordinarily pay no attention to the newspapers are eagerly reading them daily now, and the business man who fails to be represented in the columns of his local newspaper in a time like the present is contributing a great deal to the success of his rival who realizes that it is the best of all times to appear in the advertising columns.

The business men who reap the greatest benefit from the business activity that is sure to result from the European war, are those who keep themselves and their business constantly before the public in the columns of the press.

The Love of Children

A distinguished Massachusetts jurist, in granting a divorce to a husband, gave the small child to the erring wife. The unusual decision was explained in these words:

"A mother's love survives the deepest degradation of which the female creature is capable, and it is capable of a lower state than man's nature. When a woman comes into my court claiming the custody of her child I always grant it. She may be a bad woman and yet a good mother, at least the best, if not the only mother the child can have. In this way I have at times saved both mother and child. For the sake of the child the mother will at least strive to appear virtuous.
It is not a rare event for a father and son to be engaged knowingly to each other in crime; it is never the case with mother and child."

This may not universally be the law of the land, but it is the inflexible law of nature.

Children bring out the best that is in us, particularly in the mother. Fresh from the hands of their Creator, pure and sweet in their innocence and trust and helplessness, not contaminated by sinful life, they bloom about us like flowers from Paradise.

A wise man has told us that in old age, when the frame weakens and the faculties decay, the mind returns to its early youth and then its childhood. We pass from life as we entered, and the mother's teaching goes with us to that other life.

When one is born the world
begins; when one dies the world ends; and sage and seer indeed is he who can pass out as pure as he came in.

The wisest and best among us, as well as the lowest and vilest, may learn our highest lesson from the little ones. Their tender touch attunes our heartstrings to the purest of the emotions.—Memphis News-Scimitar

The New Army Law

One of the greatest reforms is the act which brings about the co-ordination of the regular soldiers and volunteers in time of war. State militia can not be used in a foreign country. It has officers, organization and enlistment of its own.

In the Mexican war General Scott lost whole regiments simply because their terms had expired, and they disappeared from the service. Under the new law militia regiments enlist in a body and they will be in for three years "or the war." They will maintain their separate existence and will be recruited to make up losses, and so will live as regiments, with their honors and their record.

In the federal service they will be under the control of the president, who may displace old officers for inefficiency and appoint new. Provision is made for the transfer of regular army officers to the militia, and so the old scandal of "political generals" will be minimized.

Volunteers can not be called for until the state militia has gone to the front. Volunteers for the state militia may be called for in any regiment that has been depleted by passage into the federal service.

Many good things are expected from the law, such as obviating the payment of bounties, doing away with the short term service and the creation of a superior esprit the corps. State militia officers becoming United States officers, with all of the attaching prestige and advantages.

At this time the regular service consists of 68,000 men, besides 13,000 in the coast artillery. The paper strength of the state militia, or national guard, is about 112,000. If both regulars and militia were brought up to full war strength they would aggregate about 350,000.

Wonderful Training

Mr. Craig was reading the evening paper, while his wife sat near by, knitting.

"Just listen to this, Debby," he said, "It says here in the paper that more than 5,000 elephants a year go to make our piano keys."

"Gracious!" cried the wife.
"Ain't it just wonderful, Dan, what some animals can be trained to do!"

No Polly Ticks

During a political campaign a candidate for the legislature was driving through the country seeking votes among the farmers when he met a young man in farmer's garb walking by the roadside.

Having in his mind a prospective vote, he stopped his horse, and saluting the farmer in a familiar manner, inquired:

"Are you paying any attention to politics nowadays?"

The young man stopped, looked at him suspiciously and drawled out: "No, stranger; that don't happen to be my gal's name, but if it was I wouldn't think it was any of your darned business."

This ended the interview as well as the process.

Who Started the War?

(Springfield Union.)

Who started the war?
Not I, says the Kaiser.
I've been an adviser
Of peace from the start.
I wouldn't depart
From my peaceful position
On any condition.
A fight I deplore;
I am dead against war.

Who started the scrap?
Not I, says Franz Joseph,
This war I'd opposed if They'd listened to me.
But they will not, you see.
These war-loving Serbs
Are the class that disturbs
My peace-loving nap;
I detest a vile scrap.

Who started this muss?
Not I, says the Czar;
It gives me a jar
To think of the shooting
And burning and looting,
And sacking and pillage
Of city and village.
I'm the kind of a Russ
That despises a muss.
Who started the fight?
Not I, replies France;
Not by any mischance
Would I force the occasion
For German invasion.
What though Alsace-Lorraine
May become mine again---
It doesn't seem right,
And it grieves me to fight!

Who started the row?
Not I, says John Bull;
Lud, they had just to pull
Me into the rumpus.
Sit still while they thump us?
Well, that isn't our game,
But we're grieved just the same.
We abominate war;
It's a thing we abhor!
Who started the war?
Though none will admit it,
On thinking a bit it Seems certain to us
That some onery cuss,
Some Kaiser or King,
Must have started this thing.
Let us know, we implore!
Who started this war?

Roy Francis

The daring birdman, who will show how European airmen throw bombs at the enemy; during the coming New Mexico State Fair at Albuquerque October 5 to 10.

Albuquerque, N. M., Sept. 10. have been few. From varying elevations Francis will throw bombs at a light and highly inflammable frame shack, set in the middle of the fair grounds' enclosure so that from grand stand seats fair visitors will be given an extremely realistic idea of how the unprotected citizens of Paris and Antwerp have felt upon the approach of the aircraft of the hostile forces. Francis had an accident at Albuquerque two years ago which marred his exhibit to some extent. Since then both he and the wonderful machine he drives have improved wonderfully and he is going to outdo himself in his effort to give his New Mexico audience the real thing. In addition to the bomb throwing, which is not part of his regular program, he will do all of the tricks of aerial tumbling and will put on a race with an automobile, flying low over the contesting car. This automobile race, Francis declares, is more dangerous to the airmen, and more trying to nerves and skill than all of the summersaults and slides and glides done at high altitudes.

Francis is under contract to make two complete exhibitions daily during the six days of the fair, or forfeit the $2,000 week's salary, which the Fair Commission will pay him on completion of his contract.

The John Becker Co., who last week received a carload of Ford Automobiles, has sold cars to the following persons: One runabout to Mr. Knowles, manager of the Ice plant in this town, and touring cars to Mr. Jesus C. Sanchez, Mr. Miguel E. Baca and Mr. José Sanchez, all of Tome, N. M. Mr. Adolfo Sanchez, of Belen, has also bought a touring car.

PITY THE UMPIRE

Dinks—I had no idea you were superstitious.
Winks—I'm not.
Dinks—But you were carrying a horseshoe when you entered the ball park yesterday.
Winks—Oh! that was to heave at the umpire in case he got gay.

Why War Is Hell

About twenty years ago a young German who had invented a valuable process of certain chemicals came to this country to be nearer his chief markets. Business prospered, the money flowed in, and the young German chose a wife from the people of his fosterland.

Last July he took his wife across the ocean on a vacation trip, and chiefly so that their first child might be born in the fatherland. He expected to be back in America by now with his wife and new baby, but the iron finger of war reached out and tapped him on the shoulder. Within a few days after the child was born the government's military emissary stopped at the German's door and notified him that his services were required in the armies of the kaiser. There was no escape. He had neglected to take out naturalization papers.

His wife has not heard from her husband since the day they kissed in a heartbroken farewell. For all she knows he lies six feet deep in the hastily dug trenches before Liege or stark on the plains of Charleroi. The business he built up in this country with such cheerful pains is rapidly going to ruin in the hands of an inexperienced and distracted relative.
