Landslide Assured For Republicans

Odd Bits of News

Kalamazoo.--Albert Toweshepsky couldn't read a "To Rent" sign he saw in a window. He asked Jacob Strifling to read it for him. Strifling did and then presented a bill for $5 for interpreting the two words. Toweshepsky refused to pay and Strifling sued. He got a judgment for $1.

Roseville, Ill.--The oldest Odd Fellow is said to be Joseph Simpson, of this place, who, in proof of his claim, exhibits a certificate of initiation dated 1862, showing that he has been a member of the order for 52 years.

Dugger, Ind.--The biggest barn in the state is being built by W. H. Jones, on his 1800-acre farm near here. The barn is to be 365 feet long and 240 feet wide. When completed it will hold 400 head of cattle. A carload of telephone poles and three carloads of cement were used in the foundation. The silo adjoining the barn is filled with corn from 145 acres or 200,000 tons of silage, which is said to be the largest in the United States.

La Porte, Indiana.--Nicholas Fleck, living near here, set a gun trap for chicken thieves, at his hen house door. He hurriedly went to his chicken house the next morning, forgetting the gun trap, and on opening the door received the full charge of shot in his face, being fatally injured.

Coulton, Calif.--The good old days are gone. A lone bandit held up the day coach on Southern Pacific train No. 101, the Sunset Limited, half a mile west of here Friday night. He escaped by jumping through an open window after disgustingly refusing a collection of $1 taken up for him by a passenger, firing a shot to emphasize his feelings. The bullet ricocheted from the car ceiling and slightly injured a passenger. The bandit was caught within a mile of the "holdup."

Richmond, Va.--In explanation of the passage of the recent dry amendment, it is pointed out here that a large share of the prohibition movement in the South has been complicated with the race question. Dry laws have been passed not because of a conviction on the part of the people that the use of liquor was immoral, but from the desire to place intoxicants out of reach of the colored people. In such cases the laws have been enforced as rigidly as possible against the negroes, and have been largely ignored where white people were concerned.

Redwood City, Cal.--John Gorman, boilermaker, went to bed on the S. P. tracks. An engine struck him and knocked him 20 feet. A wagon starting to a hospital with him, hit a rut. Gorman bounced out. He was laid on an operating table and his wounds dressed. A patrol wagon took him to the county jail and he was carried up a flight of stairs, sound asleep all the time. At 8 the next morning a factory whistle blew. Gorman awoke. "I'll bet I'm late for work," he remarked. He was.

Get in on This!

I do not pine for human gore, yet boldly I assert I'd like to slap the brainless yap who calls a girl a "skirt."--Peoria Journal.

I pine not to bring others woe I trust I'm not so mean; but I would like to swat the bo who calls a girl a "queen."--Houston Post.

I pine to see no injured gink clutch at himself and wail; but I'd like to boot the crude galoot who calls a girl a "frail."--New York Evening Sun.

I am not prone to violence, but I should like to maul and kick and muss the insane cuss who calls a girl "some doll!"--Judge.

I do not wish to seem a crank, but always get a pain, and want to club the awful dub who calls a girl a "jane."--La Follette's.

I do not care to kill the guy nor wish to hear him screech, but I could poke the senseless bloke who calls a girl a "peach."--Marquette, (Wis.) Epitome.

I hanker not to murder, but I may commit it when I land a kick upon the hick who calls a girl a "wren."

Co-operative Farming.

In this age of co-operation, in which manufacturing and commercial interests have attained wonderful development and success by merging their resources, it is not to be wondered at that co-operation has slowly but inevitably wended its way into rural life. The old method of individualism is gradually giving way to the co-operative spirit and the result is a greatly reduced cost of living and lessened expense of farming.

NEARLY 4,000 MAJORITY FOR B. C. HERNANDEZ

Williams Will go Back to Corporation Commission by Substantial Plurality

Santa Fe, Nov. 4.--Hernandez 3,892; Williams, 1,358.

These are pluralities figured out tonight by the returns received at the state headquarters of the different parties.

The returns are still quite fragmentary, not one of the counties having as yet reported the detailed vote of every precinct, although there is no likelihood of the above returns being changed materially in the final count.

The following are figures at 7 o'clock this evening as to the pluralities on the state ticket:

Discusses Meat Shortage

Chicago, Ill.--Addressing an audience composed of stock-raisers from practically every state in the Union, at the National Dairy Show convention here recently, Secretary Houston of the United States Department of Agriculture declared the short meat supply to be one of the most serious problems confronting American agriculture. Mr. Houston approved the plan of cattle raising on large ranches and declared that no effort would be spared by the Federal Government in further increasing production from this source, but insisted that the proper solution of this problem depended on an increased interest in livestock raising by farmers and in a more systematic control and eradication of hog cholera, cattle tick and tuberculosis.

Figures were quoted from government reports, showing that the production of meat in the United States during the past 14 years had fallen off 3,000,000,000 pounds and that the population of the nation during this time had increased 22,000,000.

Government Makes Report on New Mexico Crops.

Washington, D. C.--The Crop Reporting Board of the United States Department of Agriculture has just completed its estimate of the acre yield of the principal farm crops of New Mexico for this year. The estimates are based on crop conditions during the early part of October. The final figures will be given out within a short time, but it is reported that they will not differ to any great extent with the preliminary estimates. According to the figures the yield per acre of the principal crops of this state in 1914 will be as follows: Corn, 31.5 bushels; Irish Potatoes, 125 bushels; and Sweet Potatoes, 185 bushels.

Let's Have One Here

Seymour, Ind.--The Farmers club, newly constructed, was dedicated last week with elaborate ceremonies. This is the first building of its kind in the middlewest, entirely for the convenience and comfort of the farmers who come here to do their trading, and they have taken great interest in the building. There is an assembly room for farmers' meetings, rest rooms for both men and women and a room set apart for children, in charge of a woman who will take care of the little ones while their mothers do their shopping. There are lunch rooms and other conveniences, and from the hearty endorsement so far received from the visiting farmers, the club is sure to score a great success.

Mrs. E. H. Salazar, wife of the late Hon. E. H. Salazar who died recently at Albuquerque, and her children, returned from Santa Fe where they had gone to attend the funeral of their husband and father; Mrs. Salazar intends to make Belen her permanent home.

Late War News

From this morning's Albuquerque Journal.

London, Nov. 4, (9:30 p. m.)--Turkey has now definitely broken off diplomatic relations with Great Britain, France, Russia and Serbia. Her diplomatic representatives in the capitals of these countries, acting on orders from the porte, today demanded and received their passports. Some of them already have left their posts, while others will depart tomorrow.

Although no statement to this effect has been given out, it is understood that Turkey's apology for the action of her fleet in bombarding Russian Black Sea ports and Russian ships is unacceptable to the powers of the triple entente in that Turkey was not prepared to accede to the demand that the German officers in her service be dismissed and the ships purchased from Germany be dismantled.

The powers which the Ottoman government thus defied are already taking warlike action against Turkey.

The British have destroyed Fort Akabash in Arabia, the Russians have invaded Asia Minor and an Anglo-French fleet is bombarding the forts of the Dardanelles. Now that Turkey has aligned herself among the nations at war speculation is rife as to what the other Balkan powers will do.

Rural Telephones.

The telephone is one of the most profitable business agencies that the farmer can employ. It affords him facilities for keeping in constant communication with the markets, provides a sitting room for the community where the families can assemble and discuss the events of the day without the inconvenience of travel or loss of time, and in sickness and emergencies, it renders a divine service.

New Mexico farmers should encourage the building of telephone lines. Local co-operative companies can be formed and country lines built at small expense.

New Mexico Farmers Complete Hay Mowing

New Mexico farmers produced 510,000 tons of tame or cultivated hay during 1914, according to the preliminary estimates made today by the United States Department of Agriculture. The Yield last year was 399,000 tons. The product is selling for an average of $10.30 per ton, compared with $13 per ton in 1913. The yield per acre this season is 2.50 tons and the quality is two per cent better than the average crop for the past ten years.

War is Fought by Boys

That war is fought by boys is a familiar truth that we often forget. But the records of our own civil war prove it overwhelmingly. The department rolls show that in the great rebellion there were enlisted in the army of the north 2,778,309 men, and of these 25 were 10 years old or younger; 225, 12 years and under; 1,523, 14 years old and under; 844,891, 16 years and under; 1,151,438, 18 years and under; 2,159,798, 21 and under, and 618,511, 22 years and over. Thus the average of the whole army was 19.7 years. When war thus takes away the young manhood of the country, who can estimate its cost?—Chicago Post.

Not Always to Blame

It has not been a long time ago when the high cost of living was discussed that the farmer got the cussing for it. Recently, before the farmers had a chance at it and the warehouses, cold storages, etc., were full with all sorts of food stuffs the prices went up like a sky rocket. Investigation showed that speculators were the guilty ones. They advanced prices without good reasons. Haven't heard any complaints about farmers raising prices lately. The speculators are hot at him though because he does not run all of his wheat to market and give them a chance to corner and squeeze the public.—The Farmer's Guide.

Printed Stationery for Farmers.

Every farmer who owns his farm ought to have printed stationery, with his name, the name of his postoffice properly given. The printed heading might also give the names of whatever crops he specializes in, or his specialties in stock. Neatly printed stationery gives you a personality and standing with any person or firm when you write and insures the proper reading of your name and address.

If you wish to write to your congressman or member of the legislature, or if you have a request to make of your county superintendent of schools, or if you wish information from any business house, in any case your letter will have increased weight and receive more and quicker attention if you use printed stationery.

Get the habit. Come into the News office and have us print you 500 sheets of good paper with envelopes to match. It will be one of the best investments you ever made.

Compulsory Education Law

To the Teachers and School Directors of Valencia county:

Your attention is hereby respectfully called to the compulsory attendance law.

Gentlemen:

This is to call your attention to the compulsory educational law found in section 1555, C. L. 1897, as amended by chapter 39 laws of 1908 and chapter 121 of the laws of 1909. This law requires the boards of school directors to compel parents, guardians, and other persons having the control and care of children between the ages of seven and fourteen years to send such children to school during the entire time that the school is in session in their respective school districts. Attendance upon denominational schools is accepted under the law in lieu of attendance upon the public schools and children of physical or mental disability such as to unfit them for school attendance as well as children who live more than three miles from the public school are not required to attend. Parents or guardians failing to comply with this law "shall be punished upon conviction by a fine of not less than five dollars nor more than twenty-five dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail not more than ten days." The following steps of procedure under this law are suggested:

First: Clerks of boards of school directors should post or publish notices at once as provided in the act. See section 1555, C. L. 1907. The following form of notice is suggested:

NOTICE TO PARENTS OR GUARDIANS OF CHILDREN OF COMPULSORY SCHOOL AGE.

Section 1,555, C. L. 1897, as amended:

The school directors or board of any school district, town or city in this territory, are hereby empowered and required to compel parents, guardians or other persons having the control, care or direction of children, when such do not attend some private or denominational school, to send such children under their control to the public school during the entire time such school is in session in each scholastic year in their respective school communities, except that children referred to in this act shall be not less than seven nor more than fourteen years of age, or of such physical disability as to unfit them for school duties, which disability shall be certified to by some regular practicing physician. Providing, That the private or denomination school shall be equal in its teaching to the public school of the district, and provided further, That this section shall not apply to children who live more than three miles from a public school.

Any parent, guardian or other persons having the control of children and who shall fail or refuse to send such children to school as required by this act, after the clerk of the school district or the clerk of any town or city school board shall have given public notice containing the substance of this act, written or printed in both English and Spanish, by posting same in some conspicuous place at three separate points within the district, or publishing the same in some newspaper within the district, shall be punished upon conviction thereof by a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $25, or by imprisonment for not more than ten days in any county jail.

County superintendents are hereby vested with general supervisory powers in this matter and shall require directors to comply with the provisions of the preceding section; and it shall be the duty of the presiding judge of the district court to give, at each session of the court, the substance of this law as a special charge to their respective grand juries, and it is made the duty of the district attorneys to give particular heed to the prosecution of causes growing out of violations of this act; and all fines so collected for violation of this act shall be paid into the county treasury and placed to the credit of the school district in which the offense occurs.

Section 12, Chapter 122, Laws of 1909.—Any member of the board of education, county school superintendent, or other school officer who may violate the provisions of this act or other acts concerning their powers and duties in connection with school matters or who shall not faithfully perform all such duties imposed under and by virtue of the law shall, on conviction thereof, be fined in a sum not less than twenty-five dollars ($25.00) nor exceeding five hundred dollars ($500.00.)

Second—All children over seven years of age and under fourteen years of age must attend school for the entire term in the district. If the district holds school for five months, the children must attend school for five months. If the district holds school for seven months, the children must attend school seven months.

Third—In the event that any child of compulsory school age shall fail to attend school regularly, as required by this act, it becomes the duty of the clerk of the district board of school directors to notify the district attorney of such violation of the law and "It is made the duty of the district attorney to give particular heed to the prosecution." (Either justice or district court.)

Fourth—County superintendents are vested with general supervisory powers and shall compel compliance with the law.

Fifth—Section 12, Chapter 21, Laws of 1909, imposes a fine upon the county superintendents or any other school officer for failure to perform his duty.

We believe that the compulsory education law as it now stands on our statutes can easily be enforced. In behalf of those children who have not been sufficiently interested in school or whose parents have not looked carefully after the children's schooling, we urge that the school directors, the teachers, the county superintendents, the district attorneys, and all patrons of every public school lend all possible aid in the enforcement of our compulsory education law.

SATURNINO BACA,
County School Superintendent
Valencia County.

MEANS OUTLAY OF MILLIONS

What It Would Cost the Country's Railroads to Replace Wooden Cars With Steel Ones.

That it will cost the railroads $614,419,100 to comply with the proposed federal law requiring them to replace their present wooden passenger equipment with steel cars is the statement contained in a bulletin issued by a special committee on relations of railway operation to legislation which represents all of the leading rail lines in the country.

The annual interest charge on this amount at 5 per cent. would total $30,730,955. According to the committee, the construction of wooden passenger equipment practically has ceased, and rapid strides are being made toward fully equipping railways with either steel or steel underframe cars.

Reports received by the committee from 247 companies operating 227,764 miles of track, disclose that between January 1 and July 1 of the present year orders were placed for 1,140 passenger equipment vehicles, including postal, mail, baggage, passenger, express, parlor, sleeping, dining and business cars, says the Railway Reporter and Traveler's News. Specifications for 1,064, or 93.3 per cent., of these cars provide for all steel construction, while the remaining cars have steel underframes.

A table prepared by the committee shows that of 1,880 passenger equipment vehicles acquired in 1909 by the rail lines, 26 per cent. were built of steel, 22.6 per cent. had steel underframes and 51.4 per cent. were constructed of wood.

In 1912 the railroads purchased 1,660 cars for passenger service, and of the total 88.7 per cent. were of steel and only 10.4 per cent. of wood. A comparison of the number of steel passenger equipment cars in use January 1, 1910, and January 1, 1913, shows that there was an increase during that period of 1.055 per cent.

BIG FACTOR IN RAILROADING

Effective Work That Has Been Done
by the Master Car Builders' Association.

That every railroad does not live unto itself alone is due in a large measure to the work of the Master Car Builders' association. One could hardly imagine the chaotic condition in which we would find railroading had there been no association to do what has been done by the master car builders.

We all recognize the value of the work of this association. Even the United States government through its proper department and officials, has shown that it appreciates the far-reaching effect of what has been accomplished.

The letters "M. C. B." if they stand for anything, stand for just that which is opposed to chaos, and are synonymous with system, economy and operation.

Without the M. C. B. rules of interchange, freight traffic would become a tangle impossible of unraveling; without M. C. B. standards, the expense of car maintenance would be doubled; without M. C. B. recommended practice, not only would we be making no progress, but as railroads we would be going backward.

To Make Travel Safer.

A new device for greater safety of railroad travel has been tested by an eastern line and the test is declared to have been entirely successful. It is an airbrake system that can be operated with either pneumatic or electric control, and it can stop a train of 12 steel passenger cars and locomotive, all weighing nearly 1,000 tons, running with a speed of 60 miles an hour, within 1,000 feet, or the length of the train. Emergency application of high speed brakes now in general use would bring the same train to a stop in 1,600 to 1,800 feet. It is claimed for the new device that it can stop the same train going at 30 miles an hour in 300 feet.

"Yieldable Extension" Cars.

A western car manufacturer is building "yieldable extension" railroad cars, which, it is asserted, will greatly lessen the danger to life and limb in railroad accidents. The cars are especially constructed, with a framework which is designed to yield and to a certain extent telescope under a severe shock, instead of going to pieces, while remaining rigid under ordinary bumps, such as would be received in every-day use by the coupling of cars or the sudden application of the emergency brakes.

Dobbin as Cannon Food

Within a few months thousands and thousands of American horses, many of them family pets, will be galloping into the shrapnel and bayonets of German soldiers, tugging and straining at the traces as they drag the heavy artillery over the half-frozen roads or lying wounded, helpless and dying on some French, Belgian or German battlefield. For, despite the peace talk, despite the humane sentiment of our people and despite everything, trainload after trainload of American horses are leaving Chicago every day, for Canada, to be shipped to England. Other trains leave St. Louis, Kansas City and Louisville, daily for New Orleans, whence the horses are shipped to France. These horses are being bought now, today, in the districts of the middle west, as well as from the ranges further west. Many a family pet will be bullet-shattered and will die a lingering death in the cold of the coming winter, for there are no Red Cross societies to care for wounded horses.

Luke McLuke Says

Every time a girl thinks of her dimples she has to smile.

A whole lot of married men regard Home as a place where you change your clothes.

Our idea of a glutton is a grown man who can eat as much as a 10-year-old boy.

The popular idea of Economy is to go without a lot of little things that we need so we can get one big thing that we don't need.

Most self-made men are satisfied with the job, but a self-made woman never gets through putting on the finishing touches.

A man will stand around and brag that no woman can boss him. And then the fathead will go and get married.

You may tickle a mule's heels and get away with it. But don't monkey with a man who grins when he gets mad.

The trouble with the fellow who says "Lemme Have a Couple of Bones Till Tomorrow" is that there ain't no such animal as Tomorrow.

Gay Life in the City

It's about time to put the kibosh on all this talk about keeping the boys on the farm. Why should a boy or young man want to stay on a farm when he can go to the city, and, after tramping through the heat, or cold, or rain, or snow for five or six weeks, land a fine, fat, easy, soft snap of a job as a motorman? Then all he will have to do will be to get up about five g. m., winter and summer, swallow a boarding house breakfast that a hog on his father's farm would spurn, dash merrily to the car barn, take the abuse of a slave-driving car-starter, and go gaily to work. Ah, what pleasure to stand all day in a vestibule that is perfumed with the smells of the unwashed bodies of just-over-immigrant laborers, on their way to work in a sewer! Think of the fragrance of all grades of tobacco in cigarettes, in cigars and in pipes of many degrees of strength! It is simply great to breathe this spicy air all day. In the meanwhile one hears the sweet compliments of the ladies and gentlemen who do not happen to think of signaling when they want to get off, but who rightfully feel that the motorman should have known, if he was not such a flat-headed lob, and who do not hesitate to tell him so. Oh, yes, it's great. Every farmer boy ought to leave home at once and dash to the city. Think of the wages he'll get! Why, at the end of a month, after paying for board, room, laundry, clothes and uniform, union dues and assessments, he'll have almost enough left to go to a movie show. But he probably won't go, because he'll be so all-in and so full of the poisonous reek that he inhaled all day, that he will tumble into bed to forget it until the alarm clock calls him to begin all over again.

Imported Draft Horses No Longer Necessary.

Washington, D. C.—With the exception of a very limited number from England, importation into the United States of pure bred draft horses for breeding purposes has been practically stopped by the outbreak of the European war. For several years previous, from 2,500 to 4,000 stallions and mares have been brought annually into this country. In the opinion of experts in the United States Department of Agriculture, however, the standard of draft horses in America will not suffer from the interruption of these importations. There is, it is said, a sufficiently large amount of pure blood already in the country to answer all requirements, and the American draft horse will now have an opportunity to demonstrate its own qualities.

The Horrors of War

A soldier of the legion lay dying at Przemyśl, he remarked that Sherman told the truth when he said that war was hmysl. "It was in a glorious cause," he said "in which I fought and hmysl, but what we have been fighting for, God knows I can not hmysl!"

The Germans and the French have been a-fighting on the Aisne, they fight a week without a rest and then they fight again. They stop not for the thunder or the lightning or the raise, but what the fight is all about, will some one please explain? ---Hillsboro News.

New Indian Animal Stories

How the Hawk Set the Sun in the Sky

By JOHN M. OSKISON

Get Out Your Paint Boxes and Color the Animals.

(Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Long time ago, all of the animals lived up in the world above the arch of the sky. They lived there so long that it was hard to find room for all of them, and so the water beetle was sent down to the water earth beneath, which is the earth we now live on, to see if she could find more room for them.

The water beetle didn't find another earth, but only a wide, wide sea of water, so she dived to the bottom of the water and brought up a tiny bit of mud which grew and grew until it became the earth. For a long time this new earth was too soft for the animals to live upon, but they waited until it became hard, and then came down and set to work to make it a good place to live in.

"Why, it's dark down here!" said the lizard, who loved plenty of sunlight and heat.

"Who cares," said the hoot owl and the horned owl and the whip-poor-will, who all liked the dark and could fly better when there wasn't much light.

"We all care!" cried the animals who lived in the fields and forests and got their living by daylight. One after another, the grasshopper, the bluebird, the bear, the meadow lark, the long-eared jack-rabbit, the cottontail bunny, the little buffalo, the teetering snipe and the squirrel came to the Great Beaver and said that they wanted light.

"The only way to have light," said the Great Beaver, "is to send some one to get the sun and set it on a track overhead so that it will travel across the earth from east to west every day."

"Well," said Mamma Bear, who had to look after feeding the animals with what they had brought down from the world above until they could raise some corn in the new world. "I wish you would send some one for the sun at once, for I find it hard to set the table at meal time, and the fox is always stealing some of the corn cake off the table before I am ready."

"Who will go for the sun?" asked the Great Beaver. No one was anxious to go, for the sun was so full of light that it would almost make anyone blind to get close.

"Let the fat possum go—he spends nearly all of his time anyway with his eyes shut," said the rabbit.

"No," said the possum, "I will not go and get half melted!"

One after the other, the animals all refused to go, until the Great Beaver said: "I know what to do: I will send the Great Hawk, who flies high and high until you can no longer see him, and who will not be afraid to go close up to the sun." So he whistled for the Great Hawk to come down, and said to him:

"Go and get the sun and set it in a track one hand's breadth above the earth." But though a hand's breadth in those days was very much greater than it is today, it was too close; the sun gave too much light, and was hot—so hot that it scorched the feathers of the Great Hawk and pulled his tail for food.

So the Great Hawk raised his tail higher by one hand's breadth, and it was too hot, and the Great Hawk went on raising the sun until it was seven hand breadths above the earth. And that was just right—the place where it has stayed to this day.

"Cured"

Mrs. Jay McGee, of Stephenville, Texas, writes: For nine (9) years, I suffered with womanly trouble. I had terrible headaches, and pains in my back, etc. It seemed as if I would die, I suffered so. At last, I decided to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and it helped me right away. The full treatment not only helped me, but it cured me."

Farm Facts

Help to organize rural life and make the country a better place to live in.

The problem that confronts the farmer next in importance to distribution is diversification.

Agriculture has gone through two thousand years of evolution and is still in an experimental stage.

Over-production is the stumbling block, and systematic marketing the stepping-stone of agriculture.

It is the duty of every farmer to see that his wife is supplied with every equipment to lighten her labors.

To eliminate waste and inefficiency in marketing, the farmer should keep in close touch with market conditions.

The problem of marketing is the biggest business proposition of any age or nation and one that will require the combined efforts of all the agencies of civilization to solve.

Tommy Atkins and His Jam

Cawfee is bloomin' good,
'Ard tack, too, is fine,
A nip o' rum, it ain't so bum,
Some coves fancies wine;
But of all the eats an' all the drinks

From champagne down to ham,
The one as tickles my palate most

Is jam, jam, jam!

Barrack Room Ballad.

Kipling didn't write that. He couldn't. We wrote it ourself in a moment of inspiration and divine afflatus, whatever that is. The rhymes may hike up in the back, it may have more feet than an Arizona centipede and the metre may give short measure, but it is as full of truth as Mexico is full of presidential timber. And we are strong for the truth. Tommy Atkins simply must have his marmalade or jam. The British war relief societies, backed by the press, are calling for contributions of jam. This says the London correspondent of the Associated Press, may lead strangers to think that Tommy is the most pampered of fighting men.

But this is not true, since the hard Egyptian campaign of 1884 proved that jam is not a luxury but a necessary preventive of scurvy. Millions of pounds of jam were consumed by the British troops in the Boer war, and the army in France has been kept well supplied with it in the present campaign. The British soldier is the best fed in Europe. A force of 200,000 men is given four months' rations on this scale: 24,000,000 pounds of hard tack, 18,000,000 pounds of beef, 1,600,000 pounds of compressed vegetables, 720,000 tins of condensed milk, 800,000 pounds of salt, 800,000 pounds of coffee and 400,000 pounds of tea, 40,000 gallons of rum, 64,000 bottles of port and 24,000 bottles of whisky and 2,900,000 tins of jam of one pound each.

THE WASTE OF WAR

The war that now engulfs Europe is only a preface to the story of sorrow and desolation that will follow.

The lives that are lost, the cities that are destroyed and the resources that are wasted will have their greatest effect upon future generations.

Untill the last chapter is reached there will be a story of stagnant industries, desolate homes, barren fields and fatherless children.

While this great conflict of waste is being waged we Americans are fighting the Battle of Peace.

An army of 150,000 men and women enlisted in the ranks of the Bell System serves the telephone wants of the American public.

Over 6000 of these people work right here in the seven mountain states every day of the year.
