General Scott Shoos Mexicans Off Border

And Returns to Capital—Officer of U. S. Army General Staff Secures Agreement Not to Fire Across Line.

That General Villa has gone to Aguas Calientes to prepare the way for an attack on Tampico which he will lead himself, and that he has ordered Zapata to attack Vera Cruz simultaneously, is the report sent by war correspondent John W. Roberts on the 12th.

Naco, Ariz., Jan 12—Having induced both of the warring Mexican factions in Sonora to keep their war away from the American border, General Hugh L. Scott, chief of the United States staff left here today for Washington, accompanied by his staff.

General Tasker H. Bliss will remain here in command of the American border force. It is understood all of the troops will remain here until the terms of the agreement signed by the Mexican commanders to keep the border inviolate have been fulfilled.

Secretary Garrison received early today a telegram from Brig. General Scott, announcement that the agreement between General Calles, commanding the Carranza troops at Naco, Sonora, and Governor Maytorena, commanding the Villa forces, was signed by both commanding officers yesterday afternoon.

President Wilson expressed satisfaction today over the success of the efforts of General Scott for neutralizing the Mexican border and he told callers conditions in Mexico seemed to be improving.

Details Given of Murder in Arctic Region.

Proofs of the death of Henry V. Radford, Arctic explorer, filed today in the surrogate's court with a petition for the probate of his will, reveal for the first time the details of his unequal battle against a band of Eskimos in which he perished in the northwest of Canada.

Mr. Radford's death has been fixed as occurring June 5, 1912, when he and George Street, another explorer, who was killed in the struggle, were about to start from Bathurst inlet, northwestern Canada. Mr. Radford left an estate of at least $10,000, which is divided by his will among his relatives.

H. H. Hall, manager of the Hudson Bay company station at Chesterfield Inlet, Canada, sent a report of an investigation made by the Canadian northwest mounted police to Sameuse Fortisque, head of that body, at Ottawa. The report tells of the interviews with Akulack, a trusted Eskimo, and Kah-Muk, another native, who said they had first-hand details.

"Mr. Radford was about to start," says the report, "in fact, the man supposed to go ahead had started, when the other native backed out and would not go. Radford, to enforce obedience, struck him with the handle of a whip. A fight ensued and Radford was speared in the back by another native. Mr. Street made a run for the sleigh, but was murdered before he had time to put up any kind of a fight.

"According to the story told to Akulack one of the natives who was supposed to have witnessed the fight, Radford put up a fight before he fell. As life still lingered while he lay on the ground, he got the finishing touch by having his throat cut."

Son Kills Father in Fight Near Glovis.

G. W. Jones a well known wheat raiser of the eastern section of New Mexico is dead as a result of threats he is alleged to have made to kill his wife and son and of a murderous attempt made on the son.

It appears from the son's story that Jones had threatened to kill the entire family, and had even armed himself with a shot gun. The son took this from him. Jones then got a revolver and a struggle ensued. Jones had the muzzle of the revolver actually in his son's mouth when Mrs. Jones interfered, preventing him from firing it. The son got hold of another revolver and shot his father through the heart.

We are certainly for the parcel post. You don't need to lug coal in any more from the woodshed at the far end of the lot. The postman will deliver it.

Harmony Prevails Throughout Session

Secundino Romero is Chosen for Speakership After Withdrawal of Nestor Montoya.

Santa Fe, Jan 11;—At midnight the senate republican caucus adjourned after agreeing upon the following employees:

Chief Clerk—Isidoro Armijo, Las Cruces.

Sergeant-at-arms, Squire Hartt Jr., Taos.

Assistant Sergeant-at-arms—Rafael Lucero, San Miguel county.

Chaplain—Rev. J. T. Shimer, of St. John's Methodist Episcopal church, of Santa Fe.

Stenographers—Mrs. Martha McNitt, of Santa Fe; Mrs. R. B. Willison, of Santa Fe; Elsie Willison, of Santa Fe; Pedro Chavez, of Albuquerque and Mrs. McKinley, of Las Cruces.

The republican organization is taking no chances. It does not intend to be caught in the same dilemma again in which it was placed by Speaker R. L. Baca at the last legislative session. It has looked carefully to its fences, and is seeing to it that the republican will present a solid front in both houses.

Representative Secundino Romero was unanimously chosen for the speakership of the house and Nestor Montoya who presided over the caucus and was his only serious rival, will place him in nomination at the opening session of the house tomorrow noon.

Kaiser Sends Fresh Troops Into Alsace

Gains Made if Followed up Will Have Important Bearing on Campaign; German Communication Threatened.

London, Jan. 12—The French attacks to the North of Soissons, on the Aisne and near Perthes, east of Reims, are developing into a serious offensive. The gains the French have made at this points, if followed up, would have a two-fold importance. They threaten the railways which the Germans are using to supply their troops in the fighting line and are a serious menace to the German forces which hold positions to the north of Rheims.

The French have found it impossible to take by frontal attacks those positions from which the Germans are bombarding Rheims, but advances on either side would envelop them and force a retirement, thus giving the cathedral city much desired relief from the German shells.

In the Argonne and on the heights of the Meuse the Germans are on the offensive and claim to have made further progress. It is reported the Germans have sent heavy reinforcements to this district to prevent the French from breaking their lines, which are very close to their own border and not far from Metz.

Fresh German troops dispatched to Alsace, combined with the wintry weather, have stopped the French advance in that region.

Along the rest of the front artillery is doing most of the work. Only isolated attacks are being attempted, the state of the weather and ground making the movements of large bodies of troops out of the question.

Similar conditions prevail in the east, and while they have not completely stopped the fighting they have called a halt over the greater portion of the field of operations. In restricted areas, along the river Rawka, near Bolimow, however, there has been fierce fighting but according to Petrograd correspondents, the Germans have been unable to make any material advance. Severe fighting is also taking place on the Nida river, where the Austrians are opposing the Russian attempts to penetrate Cracow.

The Germans are keeping the Mazurian Lakes open with ice-breakers to block the Russian advance in East Prussia. The Russian troops hold positions around the lakes and have been waiting for them to freeze over before assuming the offensive.

A number of Congressmen honored President Wilson on his birthday by calling at the White House and asking for jobs for their constituents.

SCHOOL NOTES

State School Industrial Director Mrs. M. Myrnes, was in Belen during the latter part of last week and spent a day giving her undivided attention to the industrial work carried on in this school, giving the teachers and pupils a short talk at the close of the day upon what she had seen, and it seems that it was highly pleasing as they were informed that this school is doing more than any other in the state. "Your work is not a surprise to me, it's simply a mystery," she said, she also requested Professor Melvis Fox that he furnish her with outlines on industrial work that she may use them in other parts of the state.

A statement from Prof. Fox which is given below, tends to prove that the teachers and the school board of directors of this district are wide awake, and if we are permitted to use the phrase, working as if inspired:

"We have been working hard to establish the High School and already considerable funds are available for the construction of a new building and I believe the board of directors are by this time getting busy trying to get a convenient sight for its location a prompt and timely action by the board of directors will insure success. The people of Belen are now convinced that there school is taking a prominent place educationally in the State of New Mexico. The time is now ripe to take steps and push the matter forward and get the High School under way. Personally I stand ready to draft plans and specifications for the building free of charge, thus saving the district from $200.00 to $300.00 drafts-men's fee. I do not believe there has been a time when the need is more urgent and the general co-operation more willing than the present, in fact the time is just right for Belen and the County of Valencia to take important steps educationally. A little hustle and a little sacrifice now will do more for the people here than any future prospects can never hope to hold out."

The new foot-ball teams have been formed of strong, sturdy brave boys, this makes it possible to reach practically every pupil in the school along some line of athletics.

Evils of Political Banking.

The evils of political banking were never better illustrated than quite recently at Las Cruces when the First State Bank of that place became insolvent and jeopardized the funds of the Agricultural College which were on deposit in the institution. The tangle has not yet been straightened out although Governor McDonald has held several conferences with the Board of Regents and Morgan Llewellyn has tendered his resignation as treasurer of the college board which has been accepted. The total college funds involved approximately $75,000 and for a time there was serious question of whether the college would open for the winter term until the Albuquerque bank came to the rescue and advanced sufficient funds to tide the institution over.

The entire matter has an unsavory flavor which shows up better than anything else, the evils of mixing politics with educational institutions and the banking business. The Republican administrations of the state have had to stand for considerable abuse at the hands of their political opponents in past years over alleged misdemeanors in office but never have they been accused of anything so rank as this Las Cruces banking affair appears to be. The Republican party of New Mexico can well congratulate itself that this is no affair of theirs and that the responsibility so far as any political responsibility can be attached, lies wholly with their "holier-than-thou" political brethren who led the voters to believe they were little tin gods sprouting wings and that they did come to lead them into ways of civic righteousness.

Note the Difference.

We desire to note the difference between an advertiser and a merchant who does not advertise. We once knew a merchant who bought 2000 pretty Christmas post cards for which he paid $5.00. Another merchant bought 500 of the same grade. The first man was an advertiser.

er and readily sold his supply for $20.00 or a penny each. The other merchant does not advertise and sold about 100 at 5c each or three for 10c, having the others to store away until next Christmas. The first merchant made good money on his investment while the other made practically nothing and overcharged the customers who chanced to be in his place of business. The merchant who advertises does not believe in robbing his patrons, but believes in selling his goods while they are new and serviceable. "Quick sales and small profits" is the motto of the successful merchant.

Trustees Named For College Fund.

Assistant State Traveling Auditor E. A. Mossman, as registrar and P. F. McCanna, of Albuquerque, member of the board of regents, as treasurer, have been appointed by the regents to take charge of the financial affairs of the New Mexico State College at Las Cruces, pending adjustment of the situation caused by the First State Bank of Las Cruces, in which $75,000 of the college funds were on deposit. Governor McDonald and Attorney General Clancy attended the meeting which was called to devise means of continuing uninterrupted the work of the college. Steps will be taken to recover on the $75,000 bond of Treasurer Morgan L. Llewellyn, whom McCanna succeeds.

Beating High Living Cost.

A rancher living near Deming has made a discovery and put it to practice, whereby a one hundred pound pig is made to produce two hundred pounds of excellent sausage. This should in time prove the solution of one of the problems of the high cost of living. The farmer in question had been overrun with jack rabbits, which were so numerous that tight wire fencing would only keep them out for a few days at a time. Finally he decided to try rabbit meat as an adulterant for pork sausage and the idea proved successful. Half pork and half rabbit makes a sausage which cannot be told from all pork and, if anything, has an improved flavor. The ranchman says that he is able to gather a hundred pounds of rabbit meat in two hours with a shot gun.

New Mexico Third in The Production of Wool.

Wool production of the United States in 1914 totaled 290,192,000 pounds, according to estimates by the bureau of crop estimates of the department of agriculture. This is about 6,000,000 pounds less than 1913, estimated by the National Association of Wool Manufacturers. Montana ranked first in production of raw wool in 1915 with an output of 30,117,000 pounds; Wyoming was second with 28,476,000 pounds, and New Mexico third with 19,077,000 pounds.

Deaf and Dumb School.

The school for the deaf and dumb school at Santa Fe reports to Gov. McDonald that it has 45 pupils in attendance and that its expenditures last year were $15,279.08, leaving a balance of $1,014.66 in the treasury.

PAYROLL OF CIVILIZATION MET BY FARMER

WANTS NO "DEADHEADS" ON LIST OF EMPLOYEES.

A CALL UPON THE LAW MAKERS TO PREVENT USELESS TAX UPON AGRICULTURE.

By Peter Radford
Lecturer National Farmers' Union
The farmer is the paymaster of industry and as such he must meet the nation's payroll. When industry pays its bill it must make a slight draft upon agriculture for the amount, which the farmer is compelled to honor without protest. This check drawn upon agriculture may travel to and fro over the highways of commerce; may build cities; girdle the globe with bands of steel; may search hidden treasures in the earth or traverse the skies, but in the end it will rest upon the soil. No dollar will remain suspended in midair; it is as certain to seek the earth's surface as an apple that falls from a tree. When a farmer buys a plow he pays the man who mined the metal, the woodman who felled the tree, the manufacturer who assembled the raw material and shaped it into an article of usefulness, the railroad that transported it and the dealer who sold him the goods. He pays the wages of labor and capital employed in the transaction as well as pays for the tools, machinery, buildings, etc., used in the construction of the commodity and the same applies to all articles of use and diet of himself and those engaged in the subsidiary lines of industry. There is no payroll in civilization that does not rest upon the back of the farmer. He must pay the bills—all of them. The total value of the nation's annual agricultural products is around $12,000,000,000, and it is safe to estimate that 95 cents on every dollar goes to meeting the expenses of subsidiary industries. The farmer does not work more than thirty minutes per day for himself; the remaining thirteen hours of the day's toll he devotes to meeting the payroll of the hired hands of agriculture, such as the manufacturer, railroad, commercial and other servants.

The Farmer's Payroll and How He Meets It.

The annual payroll of agriculture approximates $12,000,000,000. A portion of the amount is shifted to foreign countries in exports, but the total payroll of industries working for the farmer divides substantially as follows: Railroads, $1,252,000,000; manufacturers, $4,365,000,000; mining, $655,000,000; banks, $200,000,000; mercantile $3,500,000,000, and a heavy miscellaneous payroll constitutes the remainder. It takes the corn crop, the most valuable in agriculture, which sold last year for $1,692,000,000, to pay off the employees of the railroads; the money derived from our annual sales of livestock of approximately $2,000,000,000, the yearly cotton crop, valued at $220,000,000; the wheat crop, which is worth $610,000,000, and the oat crop, that is worth $440,000,000, are required to meet the annual payroll of the manufacturers. The money derived from the remaining staple crops is used in meeting the payroll of the bankers, merchants, etc. After these obligations are paid, the farmer has only a few bunches of vegetables, some fruit and poultry which he can sell and call the proceeds his own.

When the farmer pays off his help he has very little left and to meet these tremendous payrolls he has been forced to mortgage homes, work women in the field and increase the hours of his labor. We are, therefore, compelled to call upon all industries dependent upon the farmers for subsistence to retrench in their expenditures and to cut off all unnecessary expenses. This course is absolutely necessary in order to avoid a reduction in wages, and we want, if possible, to retain the present wage scale paid railroad and all other industrial employees.

We will devote this article to a discussion of unnecessary expenses and whether required by law or permitted by the managements of the concerns, is wholly immaterial. We want all waste labor and extravagance, of whatever character, cut out. We will mention the full crew bill as illustrating the character of unnecessary expenses to which we refer.

Union Opposes "Full Crew" Bill.

The Texas Farmers' Union registered its opposition to this character of legislation at the last annual meeting held in Fort Worth, Tex., August 4, 1914, by resolution, which we quote, as follows:

"The matter of prime importance to the farmers of this state is an adequate and efficient marketing system; and we recognize that such a system is impossible without adequate railroad facilities, embracing the greatest amount of service at the least possible cost. We further recognize that the farmers and producers in the end pay approximately 95 per cent of the expenses of operating the railroads, and it is therefore to the interest of the producers that the expenses of the common carriers be as small as is possible, consistent with good service and safety. We, therefore, call upon our law-makers, courts and juries to bear the foregoing facts in mind when dealing with the common carriers of this state, and we do especially reaffirm the declarations of the last annual convention of our State Union, opposing the passage of the so-called 'full-crew' bill before the thirty-third legislature of Texas." The farmers of Missouri in the last election, by an overwhelming majority, swept this law off the statute book of that state, and it should come off of all statute books where it appears and no legislature of this nation should pass such a law or similar legislation which requires unnecessary expenditures.

The same rule applies to all regulatory measures which increase the expenses of industry without giving corresponding benefits to the public. There is oftentimes a body of men assembled at legislatures—and they have a right to be there—who, in their zeal for rendering their fellow-associates a service, sometimes favor an increase in the expenses of industry without due regard for the men who bow their backs to the summer's sun to meet the payroll, but these committees, while making a record for themselves, rub the skin off the shoulders of the farmer by urging the legislature to lay another burden upon his heavy load and under the lash of "be it enacted" goad him on to pull and surge at the traces of civilization, no matter how he may sweat, foam and gall at the task. When legislatures "cut a melon" for labor they hand the farmer a lemon.

The farmers of the United States are not financially able to carry "dead heads" on their payrolls. Our own hired hands are not paid unless we have something for them to do and we are not willing to carry the hired help of dependent industries unless there is work for them. We must therefore insist upon the most rigid economy.

Legislative House-Cleaning Needed.

While the war is on and there is a lull in business, we want all legislative bodies to take an inventory of the statute books and wipe off all extravagant and useless laws. A good house-cleaning is needed and economies can be instituted here and there that will patch the clothes of indigent children, rest tired mothers and lift mortgages from despondent homes. Unnecessary workmen taken off and useless expenses chopped down all along the line will add to the prosperity of the farmer and encourage him in his mighty effort to feed and clothe the world.

If any of these industries have surplus employees we can use them on the farm. We have no regular schedule of wages, but we pay good farm hands on an average of $1.50 per day of thirteen hours when they board themselves; work usually runs about nine months of the year and the three months dead time, they can do the chores for their board. If they prefer to farm on their own account, there are more than 14,000,000,000 acres of idle land on the earth's surface awaiting the magic touch of the plow. The compensation is easily obtainable from Federal Agricultural Department statistics. The total average annual sales of a farm in the continental United States amounts to $516.00; the cost of operation is $340.00; leaving the farmer $176 per annum to live on and educate his family.

There is no occasion for the legislatures making a position for surplus employees of industry. Let them come "back to the soil" and share with us the prosperity of the farm.

When honesty is merely a good policy it is a poor virtue.

Lazy farmers are just as useless as dead ones and take up more room.

When the soul communes with the spirit of nature the back to the farm movement prevails.

There are two kinds of farmers. One tries to take all the advice he hears and the other won't take any at all.

Issues Message

Governor McDonald has issued his message to the Second State Legislature on the 13th day of this month. The message strongly recommends economy and efficiency in the administration of public affairs and brings forth the increased cost during recent years which has been faster than the increase of wealth and population, accounting for the increase to a great extent by the expansion of government functions.

THE RURAL PRESS

The Local Paper a Most Useful Agency on the Farm—The Press, Pulpit and School a Trinity of Influence That Must Be Utilized in Building Agriculture.

By Peter Radford
Lecturer National Farmers' Union

A broad campaign of publicity on the subject of rural life is needed in this state today to bring the problems of the farmers to the forefront. The city problems are blazoned upon the front pages of the metropolitan dailies and echoed in the country press but the troubles of the farmers are seldom told, except by those who seek to profit by the story, and the glitter of the package oftentimes obscures the substance. A searching investigation into the needs of the farmers will reveal many inherent defects in our economic system that can be easily remedied when properly understood and illuminated by the power of the press.

The rural press, the pulpit and the school are a trinity of powerful influences that the farmer must utilize to their fullest capacity before he can occupy a commanding position in public affairs. These gigantic agencies are organized in every rural community and only await the patronage and co-operation of the farmers to fully develop their energy and usefulness. They are local forces working for the best interests of their respective communities. Their work is to build and their object is to serve. They prosper only through the development and prosperity of the community.

Every farmer in this state should subscribe for the local paper, as well as farm periodicals and such other publications as he may find profitable, but he should by all means subscribe for his local paper, and no home should be without it. The local paper is part of the community life and the editor understands the farmer's problems. It is the local press that will study the local problems and through its columns deal with subjects of most vital importance to local life of the community.

A Noble Task.

In too many instances the country papers mimic the city press by giving prominence to scandals, accidents and political agitation. The new rural civilization has placed upon the rural press renewed responsibilities, and enlarged possibilities for usefulness. It cannot perform its mission to agriculture by recording the frailties, the mishaps and inordinate ambitions of humanity, or by filling its columns with the echoes of the struggles of busy streets, or by enchanting stories of city life which lure our children from the farm.

It has a higher and nobler task. Too often the pages of the city dailies bristle with the struggle of ambitious men in their wild lust for power, and many times the flames of personal conflict sear the tender buds of new civilization and illuminate the path-way to destruction. The rural press is the governing power of public sentiment and must hold steadfast to principle and keep the ship of state in the roadstead of progress. The rural press can best serve the interests of the farmers by applying its energies to the solution of problems affecting the local community. It must stem the mighty life current that is moving from the farm to the cities, sweeping before it a thousand boys and girls per day. It has to deal with the fundamental problems of civilization at their fountain head. Its mission is to direct growth, teach efficiency and mold the intellectual life of the country, placing before the public the daily problems of the farmers and giving first attention to the legislative, co-operative, educational and social needs of the agricultural classes within its respective community.

The Power of Advertising.

The influence of advertising is clearly visible in the homes and habits of the farmers, and the advertising columns of the press are making their imprint upon the lives of our people. The farmer possesses the things that are best advertised.

The farmer is entitled to all the advantages and deserves all the luxuries of life. We need more art, science and useful facilities on the farms, and many homes and farms are well balanced in this respect, but the advertiser can render a service by teaching the advantages of modern equipment throughout the columns of the rural press.

The farmers are in need of personal leadership. They have political leaders, but they need local industrial community and educational leaders.

THE COUNTY FAIR

By Peter Radford
Lecturer National Farmers' Union

The farmer gets more out of the fair than anyone else. The fair to a city man is an entertainment; to a farmer it is education. Let us take a stroll through the fair grounds and linger a moment at a few of the points of greatest interest. We will first visit the mechanical department and hold communion with the world's greatest thinkers.

You are now attending a congress of the mental giants in mechanical science of all ages. They are addressing you in tongues of iron and steel and in language mute and powerful tell an eloquent story of the world's progress. The inventive geniuses are the most valuable farm hands we have and they perform an enduring service to mankind. We can all help others for a brief period while we live, but it takes a master mind to tower into the realm of science and light a torch of progress that will illuminate the pathway of civilization for future generations. The men who gave us the sickle, the binder, the cotton gin and hundreds of other valuable inventions work in every field on earth and will continue their labors as long as time. Their bright intellects have conquered death and they will live and serve mankind on and on forever, without money and without price. They have shown us how grand and noble it is to work for others; they have also taught us lessons in economy and efficiency, how to make one hour do the work of two or more; have lengthened our lives, multiplied our opportunities and taken toll off the back of humanity.

They are the most practical men the world ever produced. Their inventions have stood the acid test of utility and efficiency. Like all useful men, they do not seek publicity, yet millions of machines sing their praises from every harvest field on earth and as many plows turn the soil in mute applause of their marvelous achievements.

FARMER RADFORD ON WOMAN SUFFRAGE

The home is the greatest contribution of women to the world, and the hearthstone is her throne. Our social structure is built around her, and social righteousness is in her charge. Her beautiful life lights the skies of hope and her refinement is the charm of twentieth century civilization. Her graces and her power are the cumulative products of generations of queenly conquest, and her crown of exalted womanhood is jeweled with the wisdom of saintly mothers. She has been a great factor in the glory of our country, and her noble achievements should not be marred or her hallowed influence blighted by the coarser duties of citizenship. American chivalry should never permit her to bear the burdens of defending and maintaining government, but should preserve her unsullied from the allied influences of politics, and protect her from the weighty responsibilities of the sordid affairs of life that will crush her ideals and lower her standards. The motherhood of the farm is our inspiration, she is the guardian of our domestic welfare and a guide to a higher life, but directing the affairs of government is not within woman's sphere, and political gossip would cause her to neglect the home, forget to mend our clothes and burn the biscuits.

Backache
Miss Myrtle Colthrum, of Russellville, Ala., says: "For nearly a year, I suffered with terrible backache, pains in my limbs, and my head ached nearly all the time. Our family doctor treated me, but only gave me temporary relief. I was certainly in bad health. My school teacher advised me to TAKE Cardui The Woman's Tonic. I took two bottles, in all, and was cured. I shall always praise Cardui to sick and suffering women." If you suffer from pains peculiar to weak women, such as headache, backache, or other symptoms of womanly trouble, or if you merely need a tonic for that tired, nervous, worn-out feeling, try Cardui.
