EIGHTEENTH YEAR

CARLSBAD NEW MEXICO, FRIDAY, MAY, 6, 1910.

SCHOOL BOARD ORGANIZES

New Members Take Oath of Office and Elect Officers.

ELECTION OF TEACHERS DEFERRED UNTIL AFTER CLOSE OF SCHOOL

Pursuant to the regular custom with the School Board the members of the new board took their oath of office last Monday, the first Monday in May and entered upon the duties of their new position.

The board which held its first meeting in the office of the superintendent last month, met in the high school building and after perfecting their organization proceeded with routine matters which were to come before them.

D. G. Grantham was elected president, D. R. Harkey vice president, and Prof. V. L. Griffin clerk. Over his protest the remaining member of the board, John T. Rives, was appointed to the position of ex-officio "Business Manager of the Auditorium and Booster." All applications for the gratuitous use of the auditorium are to be presented to Mr. Rives.

The matter of the election of the teachers for the ensuing year was taken up and discussed, and after debate it was decided to defer their election until after the close of the present school term.

After a general discussion of matters relating to the close of school and the commencement exercises, the meeting adjourned.

Roadwork

Road commissioner J. J. Beals has a force of men at work this week grubbing the mesquite from the road east of Phoenix, and putting it in first class shape. The roads of the county have been worked more regularly and kept in better shape under the supervision of the present acting road overseers than they have been in years. The present board of county commissioners has taken more interest in the welfare of the county and had the highways kept in better condition than any board in recent years. In many places the roads are badly worn, but it will require a soaking rain to repair all of the ruts and "chuck" holes. Few culverts are being constructed where needed, and it will be but a short time until every road in the county will be put in fine traveling condition.

A fishing party composed of Mesdames W. S. Jolly, R. E. Yates, Miras Yates, Gladys Jolley and Messrs. J. B. Harvey, C. L. Swaine, Dick, Yates and Cunningham spent last Saturday evening at the Six Mile Dam angling and picnicing. They report an abundance of success at both pastimes.

W. L. Bishop and family, who have been at the Anderson Sanitarium since last fall, returned to their home in Iowa, this week. They came here seeking the benefit of the climate for Mrs. Bishop, who is a sufferer from tuberculosis. Unfortunately they returned with her condition but little improved, if any.

S. T. Bitting was on the streets again yesterday after being confined to his home for the past few days on account of having been kicked on the temple by his driving horse "Wild Bill."

HASKELL'S HIGHWAY PLAN.

Oklahoma Governor Advocates a State Good Roads Commission.

Governor Haskell said recently that he will recommend to the Oklahoma legislature, possibly at a special session, the creation of a state good roads commission and the office of state engineer and will favor the continuance of good roads from one county into another.

"The building of roads—that is, permanent and good roads"—he said, "is quite as large an undertaking as building railroads. They should be of large extent and should not be stopped arbitrarily at the county line just because the authority of the county commissioners does not extend into the next county. The way to build our roads state wide is to create a good roads commission to act as a consulting board for the various sets of county commissioners. The engineer of the board would, in fact, be a state engineer, who would plan the best surveys for good roads from a state standpoint and lay the plans before the sets of county commissioners for approval and the voting of the necessary bonds to defray the expense by counties as must be done under the present good roads law. The only thing that the state can furnish is convict labor."

Sand-clay Roads in Kansas.

Sand-clay roads are made of those two materials, and in some parts of the south are held to be, for particular regions at least, more practicable than macadam. This construction is now being introduced in the sand hill country of Kansas, where the sandy roads have hindered agricultural development by imposing great difficulty on the transportation of farm products.

Garden City, which is in the sandy country, solved the transportation problem by building a sand-clay road through the hills south of that city. Before this road was built farmers had to haul their grain more than twenty-five miles by a roundabout way in order to reach a market that is only ten or twelve miles distant. The property owners of Hutchinson and McPherson counties are now considering the opening of a big territory that has been handicapped by heavy sand hill roads.

More Real Work Needed.

A good roads convention is always a helpful institution, but there are a great many people who would do well to spend more time in making roads instead of attending conventions.

HIGHWAY OF THE FUTURE.

One Constructed of a Material Durable For Heavy Motor Traffic.

All road builders are now engaged in trying to devise a road which will stand motor traffic. Many new methods have been tried with varying degrees of success, but none of them seems to be perfectly satisfactory.

If broken stone is to form the wearing surface, then some means must be found to hold the binding particles so firmly that they cannot be sucked out, and sufficient strength must be given to the mass to enable it to withstand the sliding action of the wheels at bends and turns. Several kinds of tar macadam answer fairly well, but they are expensive.

It would seem that the most promising kind of road for heavy automobile traffic is what is called durum in England. It is a pavement of three inch irregular cubes of hard stone laid in small segments of circles.

These stones can be cut by machinery and are comparatively inexpensive. They are laid without grout, but there seems to be no reason for its omission except the cost. Great quantities of this kind of pavement have been laid in Germany.

Caused by Lack of Good Roads.

The lack of good roads to remote regions is held to be one of the chief causes of the decline of British agriculture.

MORE OIL TALK AGAIN

Good Prospect for Work to be Done in the Oil Field This Coming Season

REVIVED INTEREST TAKEN BY LOCAL CAPITALISTS

After having enjoyed a "Rip Van Winkle" for the past eighteen months the interest in the oil field adjacent to Carlsbad has again become active and those who are interested in the development of the field are beginning to show some signs of life and there is an unmistakable and decidedly energetic activity manifested.

For the past three months there has been symptoms of "something doing" and while those who are on the inside refuse to divulge much of their plans, and of the secrets of the order there is every reason to suppose that the coming season will see some development work which will undoubtedly result in a flow thicker than water and will smell worse than a Dutch lunch.

William Crump, of Geary, West Virginia, arrived in Carlsbad the early part of the year, and immediately began the organization of an oil company which was composed of local capital and which has already incorporated for $500,000 and has direction, presumably connected with the oil field known as the Toyah Creek Oil Field across the state line in Texas.

As cumulative and corroborative evidence in the matter of development of the Carlsbad field Recorder O'Quinn this week received a letter from Prof. Leopold Balbach, in New York, which stated that he had succeeded in interesting a number of eastern capitalists in the undeveloped oil field which lies at the door of our town and which has been throwing out inducements to oil prospectors for the past two years, promising the most flattering results if they would put down wells which would permit the oil to escape.

Prof. Balbach spent several months in Carlsbad examining the prospective field and the geological formation, and while here, he endeavored to interest capital in the matter through correspondence, but the repeated delays in correspondence, incident to the remoteness from the field, the recent money panic, and the reverses met by many in the oil boom of other fields, caused capital to become reluctant in enthusing over the proposition and he hopes to return to Carlsbad within the near future and begin an active campaign for the development of the field. He stated that several wells would be drilled and a thorough test made to determine the nature, size, and value of the field. Prof. Balbach has had years of experience in this line of business, and while here expressed the utmost confidence in the future of the field, as is evidenced by his persistent efforts since leaving Carlsbad, the result of which he has just announced.

It is earnestly hoped that his efforts will be fruitful, and that his hopes will be fully realized both for his own success, those who are interested with him, and the welfare of Carlsbad and the entire Pecos Valley.

If an embargo of the same force were laid on the ports that is laid on farm traffic by bad roads the noise that would follow could be heard around the world.

If the money is expended wisely and honestly a people can tax themselves rich for the construction of good roads.

UNCLE SAM AS ROAD BUILDER

Government Constructing Great Highways in Newly Developed Country.

Experts of many countries are marketing at the great roads which the United States government has constructed and is now constructing on the reclamation projects in the far western states and territories.

More than 600 miles of the most excellent highways that it is possible for man to produce have been completed and are in daily use.

These, of course, do not include the byroads leading to many farms or the many other roads being used for the time being until the macadamized kind can be built.

The dry farmers have had good horses and vehicles since the reclamation work began seven years ago, and these good roads are enabling them to haul their products to the towns and railroad stations and to send their children to school. They regard them as the most important of all aids to progress and prosperity.

Many of these pioneers own automobiles, and it is no unusual sight to see on Saturdays or Sundays a dozen or more motometers of the latest designs in any of the towns of the older projects. It is interesting to note that Uncle Sam has only fairly begun the building of roads in this newly developed country and that in a very few years the mileage will be reckoned in thousands where it is now counted in hundreds.

The warm weather of the past few days has created a demand for ice and the local ice plant has been running night and day to supply the demand. Mr. Lewis has been casting about for another engineer to assist in the operation of the plant, as he has been working over time to meet the constant call for ice. The plant has been overhauled and put in first class shape and furnishing ice for the smaller towns up and down the railroad. Ice is now considered a necessity rather than the luxury it was prior to the advent of its manufacturing process.

Later: A cold wave arriving since the above was written makes it real like pure fiction. The editors affidavit can be procured upon request.

Rev. A. A. Davis, recently of Mexia, Texas, who has just accepted a call to fill the pulpit of the Presbyterian Church in this city delivered his first sermon last Sunday morning to a fair sized congregation. His sermon was one of unusual interest and contained many valuable lessons relating to the duties of every day life and to the life to come. The music by the choir was up to the usual standard and added materially to the service as a whole. Rev. Davis will conduct the services of the church regularly, each Sunday, from this date forward.

The steel for the new railroad bridge across the Pecos River, north of town has arrived and the work of putting it in place, supplanting the wooden structure which is now there will begin in the near future. It is the intention of the read officials to raise the grade of the roadbed, also, from the bridge, south, as far as the corporate limits of the city.

The railroad company has a force of men and teams at work this week filling in the earthwork or approach at the west end of the new county bridge which has just been constructed across the river east of town. It will be completed within the next few days and the bridge opened for traffic.

Joe Plowman came in from the Guadalupe Sunday evening bringing the hide of a big lobo wolf which he killed near Rocky Arroya Sipe a week ago last Saturday. The wolf got into one of Joe's traps at Montgomery tank about six miles west of Ares place where it broke the chain and one spring getting away with the jaws of the trap and one spring on the hind leg. After four days a fresh trail was found and the animal trailed ten miles and Joe ran it four miles after jumping it out with a dog. The stockmen Mountain Pool paid Joe fifty dollars and the county fifteen so the wolf paid well for the trouble after all.

The auto users will be glad to learn that a concrete culvert will soon be put in across Cass' Draw ten miles southeast of town.

Last Saturday evening was a popular one for the anglers of Carlsbad. The banks of the river at Lake Avalon was lined with men, women and children, each armed with a long pole and line vying with each other in their endeavor to persuade the unsuspecting fish to feast upon all sorts of meats and worms. Many of the fishermen reported good success and offered in evidence a nice string of fish.

The work of taking the census in the Pecos Valley and the country, began last Friday morning. The staff in that part of the country which is really worth while are:

The actual collection of data will continue fifteen days in the cities and thirty days in the country districts. Each enumerator is assigned a certain area to cover. First, the location of the house, the street, and the city or town will be taken. Then will come the full name of the person, his or her relationship to the head of the family, sex, color or race, age at last birthday, whether single, married, widowed or divorced, and number of years of present marriage. Then will be ascertained the place of birth, trade, profession, general nature of industry, whether employee or employer, ability to read and write, physical defects, whether the home is owned or mortgaged, and whether the person is a survivor of the Union or Confederate army or navy.

Statistics will be taken in respect to all lines of industry, but of greatest importance of all is the farm census. Now inquiries in the general agricultural schedule are expected to develop important data on the questions, whether the American farmer is holding his own against the foreign born homeseeker in this country; the age period when the "hired farmhands" becomes an independent farmer himself; the age when the tenant farmer ceases to be a "renter" and becomes an owner, and also other vital facts relative to the social and industrial tendencies among the millions of tillers of the soil.

The farmer will be questioned in regard to his mortgage indebtedness, the acreage to be planted to crops in 1910, breed of pure-bred animals, and acreage of mixed, timothy and clover hay. He will be asked to tell also the amount of four-penny raised for live stock, the amount and value of the live stock, the value of eggs sold, the amount of pasture land under irrigation and numerous other things of interest and value to the student of farm conditions. The new inquiries concerning wheat are expected to reveal the immense progress made in this crop. In the inquiries concerning the amount of woodland may be directly traced the agitation during the last few years in favor of forest extension and conservation.

Dr. E. Dana Durand, the chief of the census bureau, hopes to be able by June 1 to report the number of inhabitants in the United States, probably between 88,000,000 and 91,000,000. It will take four months to cover the manufacturing interests and probably three years to tabulate and study the vast undertaking. The completed task will represent the labors of 75,000 men and women enumerators and 750 regular and 3,000 temporary clerks in the Census Bureau. The census will cover not only the United States but Hawaii, Porto Rico and Alaska. Nothing will be left undone to make the enumeration as correct and complete as possible. A total of $14,000,000 is to be expended in the work. In this connection it is interesting to note that the sum of $14,000 was thought sufficient to cover the cost of the first general census in 1790. This census covered the original thirteen States and showed a population of 3,200,000 whites and 700,000 slaves.

When the census man knocks at your door, you had just as well answer his call and save your temper and the time of both by refraining from announcing "Get out of here quick! It's none of your business where I was born, whether I am married, or whether I can read or write."

All the census man has to do is to refer to his "rules of procedure under fire," and read "Should any person object to answering any question upon the schedule, you should explain that the information is strictly confidential; that it will not be communicated to any person, whatsoever, and that no use will be made of it which will in any way seriously affect the interests of the individual. In case your authority is questioned, show your official badge, which you should carry with you. After all other means have failed, call the attention of the person refusing to give the information to the penalty in section 23 of the census act."

This section provides that any person over 21 years of age, who refuses to answer the regular questions, or who gives false information, shall be fined not to exceed $100. Boarding house proprietors will be haled into federal court and forced to pay a $500 fine for refusing to answer questions or for giving false information.

If your memory is none too retentive, you had best begin refreshing yourself with pertinent dates. "Give the date of your marriage," will be one of the first questions asked. Perhaps your mother or father was born on some South Sea island, or in some other foreign port. You should be able to announce it offhand. Perhaps you have been masquerading under the age of 32 when you are really 45. The census enumerators are supposed to be given the proper age. If you have 10 unmarried daughters in your family, whose ages range from 2 to 35, it makes no difference to the census man.

The information gleaned by the enumerators will be recorded on numerous schedules. Separate blanks are provided for city residents; country residents; domestic animals not on farms and ranges; irrigated farms, and farms you have seen—or heard of—where the "ditch" is not necessary for growing a crop.

BAND COMES TO THE FRONT

Carlsbad's Musical Aggregation; One of Which the Town is Justly Proud

THE WEEKLY CONCERTS PROVE A DECIDED SUCCESS.

The many valuable assets of the town of Carlsbad have been repeatedly exploited, but one which is rapidly demanding recognition, not only from the town itself, but from the entire lower portion of the valley, is the band which is making rapid strides toward a position of prominence among the bands of the territory and south-west. Although in its infancy, being but a few months old, it now consists of thirty-four pieces all of the members of which are either experienced musicians or are young, ambitious and enthusiastic players, who take a keen interest, not only in their individual playing, but also in the success of the organization. The instrumentation is well balanced and well selected for the given number of pieces.

The director, Prof. J. C. Bunch, who took the leadership of the organization last September, and has proved himself thoroughly competent and to him is due a no small amount of credit for the success which has been attained.

There is in the treasury of the band at this time funds sufficient to purchase uniforms for the entire aggregation, the order for which will be forwarded within the next two weeks. They will be of the regulation style and when worn by the members will present a neat and attractive appearance.

The concert which was given last Friday evening on the court house square was generally pronounced by those who were in attendance as being the best entertainment yet given. The program follows:

1. Gymnast March.
2. Swastika March.
3. Living Pictures—Overture.
4. Baritone Solo—G. E. Benson.
5. Thelma Waltzes.
6. Serenade, to Alice.
7. Washington Times March.
8. Sacred Selection.
9. Goodnight Waltzes.

Pecos Vs. Carlsbad.

Mrs. C. R. Jones left yesterday morning for an extended visit with her parents and friends in Kansas City, Mo., and also at her former home in Emporia, Kansas. Mr. Jones expects to join her in Emporia later in the summer for a short visit after which they will return and take up their abode in their attractive and comfortable home in Carlsbad.

Barney and Birch Hubbs, two small lads giving the ages of fourteen and eleven years respectively, were arrested this week and given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Cunningham charged with forging two orders for merchandise amounting to six dollars and ninety-five cents at the store of Joyce-Fruit & Company. One order bore the signature of W. M. Coates and the other that of Mrs. W. M. Coates. The orders were well worded and well written and bear the ear-marks of having been dictated by some older and more experienced person than the two juveniles who presented them for the goods, which consisted of some canned goods and canvas for irrigation dams and a miscellaneous lot of groceries and dry goods. The boys were bound over to the grand jury.

Death of Sam B. Smith Jr.

Sam B. Smith Jr., the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam B. Smith died last Friday in Ft. Worth, where he had been attending school for the past term. The remains were brought to this city and the funeral services held in the Methodist church last Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock conducted by Rev. Wallace R. Evans, pastor of the church. The remains were laid to rest in the city cemetery.

"Sam, B." as he was familiarly known to all of his many friends was born October 6, 1893 in Carlsbad and would have been seventeen years of age next October. He had reached that age where he was just entering manhood and having spent the early years of his life here in Carlsbad, following his father in business as cattle grower he made many friends with all of whom he was a favorite.

Last fall he went to Ft. Worth for his third year at college and was progressing nicely in his work when only about six weeks ago he was taken suddenly ill while in the swimming pool at the college. He readily recovered and indulged in a ball game shortly afterward, soon after, however the trouble returned. While still in bed suffering with the second attack a fire broke out in the residence adjoining the one in which he was he was living and he hurriedly dressed and left the building the excitement and exercise was to grieve and he suffered a relapse. Having undergone some two or three operations, also it was more than his constitution seemed able to

ABOUT SEWER CONNECTIONS

The Council Says, "Please Connect; if You Want, You Must."

THE TOWN OF CARLSBAD MUST BE SANITARY

Mayor McLenathen and W. S. Jolly, the chairman of the committee on sewers, wish to have it distinctly understood by the property owners that the ordinance requiring all property owners to connect their premises with the sewer will be strictly and unreservedly enforced. By a vote of the citizens of the town the sewer was asked for, and now that a first class system has been installed, all property owners are required to connect. A large number have already availed themselves of its convenience, others are doing so as fast as the plumbers can do the work and those who are dilatory in the matter or think they slide along and not make the connections are notified that unless they do so voluntarily they will have it to do at an additional cost. The matter of completing the cement sidewalks will also be taken up, and the delinquents forced to complete the missing links.

Fire Boys Elect Officers.

The annual election of officers of the Carlsbad Volunteer Fire Department was held last Wednesday evening in the fire hall. Richard M. Thorne was elected chief and Ed M. Hoose was elected assistant chief. M. S. Groves, treasurer and Milton Smith, secretary. Sam Eakin endure and after making a desperate and ever hopeful struggle death came to relieve him of his suffering, during all of which he exhibited an unusual degree of fortitude.

His parents were called to his bedside as soon as his trouble was considered to be of dangerous nature. He was the youngest of four children who are Mrs. Nettie Campbell, Mrs. Ella Clark Will Smith and Richard Smith. All are married except the latter who is the only one of the family remaining at home to comfort the bereaved parents. The pall bearers were selected from among the friends of the deceased and were George Adams, Sam T. Bittling Jr., Charlie Dannelly, Roy Duncan, Arthur Linn and Tom McLenathen.

The church was filled with the sympathizing friends of the grief stricken family and a long concourse followed the remains to their last resting place in the City Cemetery.

John W. Hepler, of Lawrence, Nebraska, who recently purchased the Ralph Grandi Farm, near Loving, arrived in Carlsbad last evening and spent the day here. He was joined here by the remainder of the family and they went to their new home, where they expect to make their abode in the future.

Herbert Hagerman, accompanied by his mother, arrived from Roswell in their auto, last Sunday, and spent several days in Carlsbad, the guests of the family of his uncle, I. S. Osborne.

was elected foreman of the large chemical engine, Sidney Bearup foreman of the small chemical engine, Henry Smith foreman of hose cart No. 1 and Emmett Polk foreman of hose cart No. 2. The foremen of the engines and hose carts were elected to succeed themselves, having held the same positions for the past year.

The department discussed the advisability of purchasing two hundred fifty feet more hose, as was recommended by Mr. Grey, the insurance adjuster, who recently inspected the city's fire apparatus. The matter will be presented to the city council for action.

The chief was instructed to appoint a captain of the running team which will compete for the territorial prize at the tournament which will be held at Clovis, this coming fall. It will be remembered that Carlsbad won in the tournament which was held in this city last fall and she will have the trophy to defend at Clovis.

A collection was taken by the treasurer for which to purchase a medal to be presented to R. Ohnemus, the retiring chief. The medal will be presented at the next regular meeting. Chief Ohnemus, has been a faithful and efficient chief for several years past, and a suitable memento will be presented to him by the members of the company as a token of the esteem in which he is held by them.

It was announced that the members of the band will tender a reception and concert, compli-

LA MUJER Y EL MATRIMONIO.

El gran diario de la capital de Londres, "Daily Mail," ha hecho meditar a los ingleses sobre el matrimonio.
Yo creo que las mujeres solteras, a un lado, y las casadas, a otro, no necesitan de la exaltativa de ningún periódico para pensar detenidamente en las ventajas y desventajas de la union conyugal;
y bien deben creer en las primeras cuando tanto se apresuran a contraer el sagrado vinculo.

Sucede que Miss Mary Soutton, que se ha hecho famosa ganando campeonatos de tenis, les ha dado calabazas a sus pretendientes, porque cree ella que ninguna mujer sensata se casa antes de los veinticinco años. Y de aqui el problema planteado dondarosa y galantemente por el "Daily Mail." "A que edad deben casarse las mujeres?"

Mrs. Stannard, que es conocida en la república literaria inglesa con el pseudónimo de John Strange Winter, sostiene que, para ambos sexos, el perfecto es el del matrimonio, y que cuanto mas pronto se casa uno o una es mejor. No opina lo mismo Miss Winifred Graham, quien llama ro-mántico el primer amor y cree que la edad buena para casarse una señorita, debe oscilar entre los treinta y treinta y cinco años. Reconocemos que Miss Winifred Graham tiene un buen sentido práctico, porque con una esposa proxima a llegar a los cua-renta, no hay el peligro de llenarse de familia. He aqui el matrimonio visto desde el punto de vista economico.

No esta mal Miss Helen Mather al sostener que no puede haber union feliz, si existe un espíritu crítico de los conyuges; acepta, por buena, la teoria de que un hombre para ser fidel, debe haber visto a todas las mujeres o bien unicamente a la que debe ser su esposa. Es una reflexion psicológica.

Mrs. Chaurton Braby, que ha escrito un libro sobre el matrimonio moderno, viene a condensar su opinion en unas cuantas palabras: pero tam-bien muy peligrosas. Lo mismo piensa Miss Mortimer Mawell.

"La cuestion esencial dice por ultimo la novelista Mrs. Coulson Kernahan, es que cada muchacha se conozca a si misma, la edad es lo de-menor. Las que quieren casarse, deben preguntarse a si misma con una franquicia brutal: ¿cuales son las cualidades esenciales que yo exijo de aquel con quien debo pasar el resto de mi vida? Si los novios se han aprendido mutuamente, tienen asegurada una vida dichosa, y ni siquiera veo la razon por la cual no puede suceder asi si el marido no cuenta con medios suficientes para hacer cara a los gastos del hogar. La edad de los contrayentes es de poca importancia si realmente han nacido el uno para el otro."
