County Seat Hearing.

Attorney Wm. F. A. Gierke, who was appointed examiner by the district court to take testimony in the county seat hearing, has called a meeting at this place for tomorrow, at which time the taking of testimony will be concluded. Something like seventy pages of typewritten matter was presented at Lincoln last week. It is not believed the hearing here tomorrow will consume much time, as the evidence will consist in the introduction of some documents from the records.

The examiner will make up his report and file it with the District Court Monday, at Santa Rosa, at which time and place Judge Cooley will open court. The appointment of an examiner was for the purpose of getting the evidence before the court in order to ascertain if there was sufficient force in the testimony to warrant the issuance of an injunction.

The complaint has recently been amended by making Ben Bechtel, the contractor, a party to the suit. This last order was issued by Judge McFie, of Santa Fe, over which there has been much misunderstanding. The hearing, as has been stated, will come before Judge Cooley Monday, at Santa Rosa, and the commissioners and contractor have merely been called upon to show cause why an injunction should not issue.

Joined the Silent Majority.

J. H. Leighnor, a resident of White Oaks for the past twenty years, died there last Saturday night, and was buried the following Monday in the local cemetery. The deceased was a veteran of the Union army, and, though in his 75th year, was regarded as hale and hearty until the short illness just preceded his death. Mr. Leighnor had long been an important factor in the social circles of White Oaks, he and his wife having taken part in many entertainments in their home town. He will long be remembered by many friends who sympathize with his wife who survives him.

Fruit In Danger.

Everybody was satisfied that March couldn't behave throughout, and the dying days of the month add an additional proof of the old adage. That it reversed ends is unfortunate; for if the cold had come at the beginning of the month instead of the ending, less damage would have been the result. The first three weeks of the month were so mild that the fruit trees showed their flowery dressing, and it is now feared that the cold weather has done considerable damage.

Storms throughout the southwest have prevailed the past week, in many places accompanied by sleet and snow. The range of mountains on our east is covered with snow, and little hope is entertained for a full fruit crop in this county. If the blow has fallen it will be a double one, for the orchardists of this county suffered almost an entire failure. It is hoped, however, that the apples, which are later in putting forth, may not be damaged.

John R. Patton left Monday Tularosa, where he will visit a few days with his son, after which he will go to the Soldiers' Home at Los Angeles. This will be his second trip to the Home. Mr. Patton is a veteran of the civil war, and soldiered in New Mexico a number of years after the close of that bloody conflict. He participated in a number of skirmishes and pitched battles with the Jicarilla and Mesquero Indians in this county and what is now Otero county. He has a fund of anecdote, is a good story teller, and when in a reminiscent mood, can entertain for hours concerning soldiering in the early days in New Mexico. He has been employed at the Bar W ranch for eighteen years as cook at headquarters ranch. His health is about perfect, and his object in going to the Home is simply to visit his old comrades while taking a rest, and swap yarns. For a veteran of the 'sixties, and a man who roughed it in the Indian campaigns, he is as spry as most men are at forty-five, and seems to feel as young as he did twenty-five years ago when, in the Jicarilla mountains, single-handed, he engaged in deadly combat with an Apache warrior. On the principle that a man is as old as he feels, he has many years yet before him. He expects to return about January 1st, 1911.

Old Veteran Passes Away.

At the home of his son, Rev. S. M. Johnson, on the Ruidoso, Mr. John Johnson died on March 20th, in his 78th year. He was a veteran of the civil war; a member of the 88th Indiana Volunteers; served throughout the war and was honorably discharged at its close. He had long been an elder in the Presbyterian church and was a very devout man.

Two veterans of that civil conflict attended the funeral: one, Capt. P. L. Krause, who wore the blue, and the other, Mr. McKinney, who wore the grey; and when the old veteran of the South placed his wreath on the bier of the departed soldier of the Union it was not only a most touching incident, but it was a proof of the loyalty and respect that one veteran pays to another, even though once enemies; and a recognition of valor of which the world has no equal.

The deceased had secured a number of patents, many of great value, but his most important inventions came when he had become partially blind and old age claimed its due, and they were left unfinished. Two children survive: Rev. S. M. Johnson and a daughter, Mrs. Wade Loofbarrow, the latter of Salt Lake City, Utah, who reached her father's side a short time before his death. The interment was made in the cemetery on the homestead.

Ice Plant Ready for Business.

The local ice plant has been thoroughly overhauled, and is reported to be now in first class order. The first batch of the congealed article was turned out, but the cold snap that set in about that time put a damper on the demand, and it was deemed advisable to shut down until the weather gets warmer. The company will then be prepared to fill outside promptly, besides supplying the local trade.

Married in El Paso.

Miss Lucilla Serrano was married in El Paso Monday of this week to Mr. Jacob Waldorf, Jr. The young couple will be "at home" in El Paso after April 15. The bride is well known in Lincoln county, having, with her mother, resided at Lincoln until the past two years.

THE MODERN FARMER.

The old order changeth and the farmer is coming into his own. Not the farmer of the funny papers, with his patched jeans held up by one "gallus," driving a spavined team with a broken-down cart, says Portland Oregonian. This class of agriculturists is rapidly following the dodo, the great auk and other rare old birds into the dead and forgotten past. In his place has appeared a progressive, well-read, prosperous individual, who seldom gets beyond the reach of the telephone and the daily paper. The old system of haphazard farming has no attraction for this modern agriculturist, and he has reduced his calling to a science. The lessons of adversity have aided in bringing about this change, but to the greatest extent it is due to the spread of good farming gospel, as taught by the agricultural colleges and demonstrated on experimental farms. With the elevation of his calling the farmer is bringing about a remarkable social, economic and moral change. The change that has been wrought by the gospel of better farming is strikingly set forth in a Pullman dispatch, printed in yesterday's Oregonian, announcing the resignation of Prof. George Severance of the agricultural department of the Washington state college. Prof. Severance was drawing the very satisfactory salary of $2,000 per year for his duties as instructor at the college, but has resigned to become a farmer. He is to take charge of three farms just beyond the boundary line in Canada, and is to receive a salary of $3,000 per year, with all his expenses paid, and is also to have an interest in the profits.

The French minister of agriculture has issued an appeal to the farmers of his country urging them to use goads with blunter points in driving their cattle. But not because the sharp steel-pointed goads are cruel; he says nothing about cruelty; he does not suggest that these pricks hurt the cattle. No; he bases his appeal on a complaint from the American Chamber of Commerce in Paris that farmers and leather merchants find so many hides spoiled by the little holes made by the sharp goads that as high as 60 per cent. of some consignments have been rejected. And thus may business accomplish a work of mercy which societies for the prevention of cruelty to animals have failed to bring about.

The New York city employee who wanted his salary cut 15 per cent. was not such a freak after all. He had a string tied to the offer. What he asked for was a general revision downward, not to exclude the controller's own pay, expressing a willingness to suffer himself if the rest did, and explaining why all of them ought to. Evidently he felt safe in anticipating the answer, which was a quick-fire decision by the controller that he had no authority in law to make any such change of salary scale. As things turned out, the city employee got a neat little indictment of public salary methods into print and kept his own wage intact.

That policeman who "pretty nearly got mad" because a person whom he was arresting shot at him should be warned to control his temper. A temper of that sort is a valuable asset for policemen as well as private persons, and should not be deteriorated by undue irritation.

NATIONAL CAPITAL AFFAIRS

Suffragists Plan to Charm the Senate

WASHINGTON.—The annual national convention of women suffragists, which will be held in Washington the week of April 14, will be the most notable gathering of its kind in point of numbers and personnel that ever has taken place in this country. Never before have women of such wealth and social position journeyed to the national capitol to press their cause. Their presence will be celebrated by Washington society with a round of social functions.

There is another and more potent reason for the fair suffragists wearing their most elaborate costumes. For the first time the women delegates will appear in person before the senate. They will present to the upper house of congress the giant petition for which names have been gathered for several years from every state in the union. The petition praying for universal suffrage contains more than 1,000,000 names.

Mrs. Clarence H. Mackay, president of the Equal Franchise society, will be one of the delegates. Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont will be one of the representatives of the Political Equality association.

Many suffragists in New York have become greatly exercised over the recent meeting held by Mrs. Belmont at the Mount Olivet Baptist church, at which she took many negro women into her organization. It has caused many to speculate as to the possibility of enfranchising the negro women of the southern states. Many letters have been exchanged during the past week between the New York women and the suffragist workers in the south discussing the manner in which the colored women's vote can be eliminated "if we get the vote."

Monk Chases Longworth Dinner Guests

IF COL. ROOSEVELT is having any more thrilling adventures in Africa than a number of distinguished persons had in the dining room of his daughter, Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, in Washington, they think he owes it to his family to come home at once.

According to the tidings brought to the front by the society reporters, there was a monkey hunt at the Longworths that left the company duly impressed with the terrors of the jungle.

It appears that Representative and Mrs. Longworth were giving a dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt of New York. Along toward the close of the dinner the talk drifted to animals, and Mrs. Longworth described two pet monkeys she recently acquired. The guests expressed a desire to see the animals and Mrs. Longworth had the cage carried into the dining room.

In some way the door of the cage became unfastened and one of the monkeys escaped. It leaped to the center of the table, and, turning a handspring, climbed to the chandelier, where it hung by its tail and chattered at the company. The women shrieked and scrambled to their chairs, while the men fell over each other in trying to evolve measures of protection and at the same time capture the beast.

The monkey eluded the brave hunters with ease. It sprang from the chandelier to the sideboard, ran around the room three or four times, while the women and some of the men went rapidly out of the nearest doors. Then it vaulted into the plate rail, where it did a few stunts to the damage of much bric-a-brac. Finally it intrenched itself behind a jardiniere, where eventually it was captured.

When the monkey was restored to its cage and quiet had settled down over the dinner once more, Mrs. Bourke Cockran, who is visiting Gen. and Mrs. Clarence Edwards, expressed the opinion that there was something wrong with the construction of the nest provided for Mrs. Longworth's pets.

She had been in the Philippines and she thought she knew something about the building of homelike monkey nests. Cotton and soft grass were produced, and Mrs. Cockran proceeded to rearrange the monkey's home.

The beasts did not appreciate her efforts, however, and one of them bit her thumb. A physician examined the wound and said there would be no dangerous consequences.

How Col. Lyon Created a Federal Job

COL. CECIL LYON of Texas is a millionaire ranchman who plays politics for the fun of it, and who plays so well he is now credited with the ownership of the Republican party of Texas.

When Col. Lyon gets up out of a chair he opens up like a carpenter's rule, a section at a time. When he talks you can stay out in the next room and miss none of the story, for Col. Lyon is typical of his big state.

Col. Lyon sat in the Press club in Washington one evening and told of the job he got in Texas for a young gentleman of color who wanted to work for the government.

Lyon looked over the pay roll of employees at the federal building at home. There were no vacancies and most of the jobs had a long waiting list of applicants. Lyon looked abroad at the lists of employees in other federal buildings. He found a job he didn't know about.

It was the job of a char woman.

Col. Lyon looked it up in the dictionary and found that a char woman was one who polished doorknobs and things. There were plenty of knobs in the federal building back home, but his man was not a woman, and the dictionaries made no mention of char men.

This did not stop Col. Lyon of Texas. He created the office of char man, the only one in existence, so far as Washington knows, and the young man who wanted to work for the government is polishing knobs with great eclat.

Marriage.

A game of chance in which the chances are about even. The man leads at first, but after leaving the altar he usually follows breathlessly in his wife's trail. The rules are very confusing. If a masked player holds you up some night at the end of a long gun, it is called robbery, and entitles you to telephone the police, but if your wife holds you up for a much larger amount the next morning at the end of a long hug, it is termed diplomacy, and counts in her favor. In this, as in other games of life, wives are usually allowed more privileges than other outlaws.—Judge.

BURDENS LIFTED FROM BAD BACKS

Weary is the back that bears the burden of kidney ills. There's no rest nor peace for the man or woman who has a bad back. The distress begins in early morning. You feel lame and not refreshed. It's hard to get out of bed. It hurts to stoop to tie your shoes. All day the ache keeps up. Any sudden movement sends sharp twinges through the back. It is torture to stoop or straighten. At night the sufferer retires to toss and twist and groan. Backache is kidney ache—a throbbing, dull aching in the kidneys. Plasters or liniments won't do. You must get at the cause, inside.

TWICE-TOLD TESTIMONY

A Cure of Severe Kidney Disease Verified By Test of Time.

William M. Sears, 423 W. Cherry Street, Nevada, Mo., says: "I was convinced of the great value of Doan's Kidney Pills through personal experience. Four or five months ago I suffered a great deal from a pain across the small of my back, extending at times into my limbs and shoulders. When I stooped or did any work that brought a strain on the muscles of my back, my trouble was aggravated. I tried a number of remedies but without success. After a short time I could see that they were benefiting me, and the contents of two and one-half boxes cured me." (Statement given in May, 1909.)

RE-ENDORSEMENT

On Dec. 3rd, 1908, Mr. Sears said: "I still have great faith in Doan's Kidney Pills. I feel justified in re-endorsing this remedy, as it has done so much for me."

How To Tell When The Kidneys Are Disordered

PAINFUL SYMPTOMS

Backache, sideache, pains when stooping or lifting, sudden sharp twinges, rheumatic pains, neuralgia, painful, scanty or too frequent urination, dizzy spells, dropsy.

URINARY SYMPTOMS

Discolored or cloudy urine. Urine that contains sediment. Urine that stains the linen. Painful passages. Blood or shreds in the urine. Let a bottleful of the morning urine stand for 24 hours. If it shows a cloudy or fleecy settling, or a layer of fine grains, like brick-dust, the kidneys are disordered.

A Complete Cure of Kidney Trouble and Dropsy

Mrs. L. L. Babers, 1615 Terry St., Houston, Texas, says: "I hold a very high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills and with good reason, for three years ago they cured me of kidney trouble that had clung to me for several years. There was a dropsical swelling of my feet and limbs in addition to other symptoms of kidney complaint, and although I used various remedies, I was not helped until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills. Two boxes of this preparation cured me and I have never had the slightest return of my trouble. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to many people who have questioned me about them, and I know of several cases in which they have done the same good work."

J. N. A. HALEY, Editor.

The confessional in Pittsburg has been haunted by councilmen who are confessing guilt as to acceptance of bribes. A convicted councilman gave the snap away, and about forty of the city dads have affirmed his statement.

The bribery investigation in Albany, New York, in which Senator Allds, the republican leader, was accused of accepting a bribe, reached a dramatic point before the charge was put to a vote of the senate. The senator resigned. However, a vote was afterward taken which resulted 40 to 9 in declaring him guilty. The great state of New York is having troubles of its own.

If the statehood bill passes as it will be presented to the senate, there will be no election of legislative and county officials in the territory this fall. The bill specially provides for the present officers to hold over until the adoption of a constitution. When the constitution is adopted and approved by the president and congress, an election will be called, sometime next year for the election of national, state and county officials.

There will be plenty of elections in New Mexico this fall, in the event of an enabling act going through, even if we are deprived the privilege of electing legislative and county officers. There will be an election for delegates to the constitutional convention, and after the constitution is prepared there will be an election on its adoption or rejection. If it is rejected, the enabling act provides for the preparation of another constitution on which another vote will be required. So the usual political stir may be expected one way or another.

And now Mississippi is in the limelight, brought about by a charge of bribery. Senator Percy, lately elected by the legislature to represent that state in the upper house at Washington, is charged with owing his election to bribery. The principals deny the charge, but that should not prevent a searching investigation. No state should allow a representative to rest under an imputation of that character—if he is guilty he should be expelled; if he is innocent he is entitled to exoneration and his traducer should be punished.

Day after day the people of New Mexico have been waiting to hear the statehood bill reported in the senate. A month ago the committee had finished its labors, but one delay after another has prevented its report. Senator Beveridge, the chairman of the committee, has been absent much of the time, and his colleagues are awaiting his pleasure. The chairman has assured the people of New Mexico that the bill will be reported and that it will pass. The delay, however, is very suspicious and advocates of statehood are beginning to fear that the bill will never be placed upon its passage.

The county seat hearing will be taken up here today instead of tomorrow, as reported elsewhere in these columns. Attorney Gierke, the examiner, is here from Lincoln; so is Attorney Barber, who represents the Lincoln people, and Attorney Hewitt, who is looking after the interests of Carrizozo. It may be necessary to return to Lincoln to cover some points not yet introduced, and the report will be delayed a few days.

The Parsons Mines Before the U. S. Supreme Court.

A law suit affecting the interests in a gold mine reputed to be worth a third of a billion dollars, will come up before the supreme court of the United States sometime this month, when the final decision in a legal fight will be given. The mine in question is in Lincoln county, and is known as one of the Parsons group of mines, situated about twenty miles south of Carrizozo. Col. G. W. Prichard, the former attorney general, is counsel for the mining company, and J. G. Fitch is representing the Hamilton heirs, the defendants in the case. Great interest is being manifested in the decision, which will mean that men and money will be used to develop a mine that is regarded as probably the largest gold proposition in the southwest. It has been experted by a number of competent mining engineers, and has been pronounced a very rich property. There are 75 to 100 or more mining claims in the group and the main property is the Hopeful mine, a ledge of low grade gold ore, supposed to be a thousand feet in width, and having a uniform value. One English estimate shows there are 113,000,000 tons of this ore which is worth $3 a ton. There is probably $175,000 invested in improvements at the mine, which will be the scene of much activity as soon as the case is disposed of by the supreme court, no matter what the decision is.

An Accurate Census is Important.

Census Supervisor Paul A. F. Walter, in an interview recently, pointed out the great importance to New Mexico of an accurate and complete census. Representation to constitutional and other conventions may be based on the official population returns, and the apportionment of the general school and other public funds is often made on census returns. Congress and the world at large will base their ideas of the population, the wealth, the resources and the greatness of New Mexico, very largely upon the official census returns, and no claims made otherwise can at any time offset completely the influence of the official statistics.

But there is not only need that every bona fide resident and every farm and its products be enumerated, but the various questions on the population and agricultural schedules must be answered accurately.

Many persons of foreign birth or descent when asked: "Can you read or write?" answer "No," if they cannot read or write English. As a matter of fact, every person who can read Spanish, or German, or Italian, or any other language should answer in the affirmative, and similarly the question whether he can write, if he writes any language.

Among the Spanish-American people the head of the family or other person giving the answers for the household, will tend to answer the questions whether this or that member of the family can speak English, or can read or write, in the same way as for himself. It is important that the correct answers be given for each member of the family. The census in the past has doubtless indicated a larger percentage of people in New Mexico as not being able to read and write than is just, and has thus prejudiced against New Mexico those who have referred to the official statistics. Enumerators should pay special heed to this phase of the census taking.

A special effort will be made to take an accurate livestock census. The livestock industry is of prime importance to the territory. The aggregate number of animals may have an important bearing on future legislation. There should be no reluctance on the part of livestock owners to give out the number of head of stock they own, as the census enumerators are under oath and under severe penalty not to reveal the data they secure to any unauthorized person. Under no circumstances will anyone connected with the assessor's office be appointed an enumerator, nor will the forest service or any other branch of the federal government outside the Census Bureau have access to the returns, which will be kept confidential. Supervisor Walter has assured the Washington census officials that the stockmen of New Mexico will be as public spirited and patriotic as those of other sections, and will truthfully answer the enumerators as to their herds, not only on enclosed farms but also on the public range and in the national forests.

It is recognized that the taking of a census in New Mexico is a most difficult undertaking on account of the two languages that prevail, the long distances, sparse settlement, the topographic and climatic conditions, and the many absentees at that season who are temporarily in shearing camps either in New Mexico or adjoining states, or who are away from their homesteads on leave of absence. Therefore this appeal is made to the newspapers and the public in general to assist in the work, to report promptly any shortcoming of enumerators, any omissions they may make, and to answer all questions frankly and as accurately as possible.

While it is true that the census act provides for penalties for those who refuse to answer the questions or who wilfully give misinformation to the enumerators, Supervisor Walter believes that it will not be necessary in any instance to appeal to the United States District Attorney for action, as he is certain that the local interest in the results of the census is such that every citizen will co-operate with him to give New Mexico a complete and accurate count.

NEVER TASTED FLESH

Philadelphia Girl Vegetarian All Her Life.

Miss Ora Kress is Not Interested in the Boycott on the Meat Trust—She Bars Feathers on Her Hats.

Philadelphia, Pa.—There is one young woman in this city who is not at all concerned about the outcome of the anti-meat crusade, or the beef trust investigation, and that is Miss Ora Kress, a junior at the Woman's Medical college. Miss Kress is a vegetarian, not one who adopts it as a fad, but one who has never tasted meat from the time of her birth, 22 years ago.

Her father, Dr. D. H. Kress, superintendent of the Seventh Day Adventist sanatorium at Washington, D. C., is an ardent advocate of vegetarianism, and he has brought up his daughter in accordance with his views.

Miss Kress is none the worse off for her abstinence from meat. Healthy and robust, with a clear complexion, a pleasant temperament and genial disposition, she is the favorite of friends and fellow-students.

Time and again her chums endeavored to tempt her with a "sirloin, well done," or a brown turkey drumstick, but she resisted the temptation.

"Do you know, it often strikes me so funny," said Miss Kress, with a laugh, "to see people gorging the carcass of some dead animal or fowl down their throats. It is repulsive to me."

"Why kill living things for food when the earth is so generous with her bounty of healthful, nourishing food?"

"Do you believe in vegetarianism because it is healthful or because it is humane?" she was asked.

"Both," she answered.

"Do you wear plumes or feathers?"

"Oh, no; that would be inconsistent."

"Is not the human alimentary canal so constructed as to be able to digest meat and fat?" she was questioned.

"Fat, not meat," was the answer.

"Butter is fat, too. Then, it must be remembered that wheat and nuts contain a great deal of fat."

"The ancient Greeks, who attained the highest point in the development of the human form and who gave so much to the world that is beautiful and artistic, subsisted almost entirely upon vegetable food. Flesh food was a luxury to them, and when they ate meat abundantly they began to degenerate."

"Do you find your light food nourishing and satisfying?" she was asked.

"Do I look as if I were underfed?" she retorted. "And then remember that I work rather hard and need nutritious food."

Oatmeal, eggs, butter, milk, bread and ice cream are the principal articles of food in this remarkable young woman's diet. Sometimes fruit and candies relieve the monotony of her course.

"You see, we are not vegetarians in the fullest sense of the word," added Miss Kress. "Extremists insist upon vegetable food only, and place the ban upon milk and eggs, as well. We, however, use milk and eggs, because it does not require the killing of life. But fish, of course, is in the same category with meat."

CAUSES CLASH WITH POPE

Rev. B. M. Tipple, Head of Methodists in Rome, Figures in Fairbanks Incident.

New York.—The man who was almost directly responsible for the situation in Rome, when the pope denied an audience to a former vice-president of the United States, Charles W. Fairbanks, went to the Italian capital from New York. He is Rev. Bertrand Martin Tipple, in charge of the American Methodist Episcopal church in Rome.

Dr. Tipple is a forceful man, the embodiment of tremendous energy. Because of his great patriotism, it is said, he rejoiced in the opportunity to welcome Mr. Fairbanks, and, inasmuch as Mr. Fairbanks is a Methodist, Dr. Tipple expected the event would prove a notable one in the history of the American church.

Friends of the minister assert there was no thought during all the preliminary arrangements of an affront to the vatican, and that when the clash became apparent he offered to release the former vice-president from his engagement to address the Methodist congregation. Mr. Fairbanks, however, insisted on fulfilling his appointment, exercising care to avoid saying anything which might offend the Roman church, even praising the work of that organization in his address before the Protestant body.

Dr. Tipple has been in Rome only four months. He was educated at the Cazenovia seminary in this state, at Syracuse university and at the Drew Theological seminary. He was a member of the New York East conference from 1887 to 1909, serving three churches in New Haven, Brooklyn and Stamford, Conn.

As an example of his energy, he raised the money in two years, while stationed in Brooklyn, to burn a $40,

Rev. B. W. Tipple.

000 mortgage. At Stamford he secured the gift of $50,000 with which to establish an old people's home, and he opened a home for self-supporting women.

Superstition of Chinese.

The Chinese are a superstitious people, and think it a bounden duty to keep the body intact, and if by any misfortune they are compelled to lose a limb by amputation they invariably ask for the severed member and keep it in a box. Sometimes they will actually eat it, thinking it only right that that which has been taken from the body should be returned to it. On this same principle an extracted tooth will be carefully preserved or ground to powder and swallowed in water.

Common Sense

Leads the most intelligent people to use only medicines of known composition. Therefore it is that Dr. Pierce's medicines, the makers of which print every ingredient entering into them upon the bottle-wrappers and attest its correctness under oath, are daily growing in favor. No SECRETS. No DECEPTION.

The composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines is open to everybody, Dr. Pierce being desirous of having the search light of investigation turned fully upon his formulae, being confident that the better the composition of these medicines is known the more will their great curative merits be recognized.

Being wholly made of the active medicinal principles extracted from native forest roots, by exact processes original with Dr. Pierce, and without the use of a drop of alcohol, triple-refined and chemically pure glycerine being used instead in extracting and preserving the curative virtues residing in the roots employed, these medicines are entirely free from the objection of doing harm by creating an appetite for either alcoholic beverages or habit-forming drugs.

Examine the formula on their bottle-wrappers—the same as sworn to by Dr. Pierce, and you will find that his "Golden Medical Discovery," the great blood-purifier, stomach tonic and bowel regulator—the medicine which, while not recommended to cure consumption in its advanced stages (no medicine will do that) yet does cure all those catarrhal conditions of head and throat, weak stomach, torpid liver and bronchial troubles, weak lungs and hang-on-coughs, which, if neglected or badly treated lead up to and finally terminate in consumption.

Take the "Golden Medical Discovery" in time and it is not likely to disappoint you if only you give it a thorough and fair trial. Don't expect miracles. It won't do supernatural things. You must exercise your patience and persevere in its use for a reasonable length of time to get its full benefits. The ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are composed have the unqualified endorsement of scores of medical leaders—better than any amount of lay, or non-professional, testimonials although the latter are received by thousands.

Don't accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this time-proven remedy OF KNOWN COMPOSITION. ASK YOUR NEIGHBORS. They must know of many cures made by it during past 40 years, right in your own neighborhood.

World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

Plain Facts Plainly Stated.

If girls were educated to take care of themselves they would not be so ready to marry, and they would marry better, and there would be less trouble—fewer divorces. If they were brought up to work they would know how to use the broom, the duster and the rolling pin. There are certain qualities which are just as valuable in the housekeeper and the mother as they are in the business man—skill, intelligence and good sense. When these qualities are rated a little higher in women, domestic machinery will run a great deal smoother, and the children will be brought up to fight their own battles and earn their own bread. We all know what that will mean—less crime, fewer paupers. The press and the loom instead of the prison; the altar instead of the scaffold. Again and again the question is asked can a woman follow any special calling and be a good mother? Love is born, so is good sense. The woman who has those qualities will be a good mother whether she is a hard worker or head worker. It is no difference in station or in occupation that makes the good mother—it is the spirit. Furthermore, some of the best mothers according to the old standard—women who toil early and late, who never leave their homes, who deny themselves every comfort and give up to every right—have the worst children. They do the hardest work, wear the poorest clothes; they try to save their children from every hardship, only to learn, when too late, that they have made them idle and selfish.
