This Week's Court.

There is little to say under this head, for the reason that the court has been occupied, as stated elsewhere, with the Trapp case until yesterday morning.

When the verdict was rendered, at that time, the court took up some contempt proceedings from Otero county, the style of the case being Joseph Morgan vs. S. S. McComas and J. F. Albright, the latter being accused of cutting a ditch in violation of an existing injunction. J. E. Wharton, of El Paso, appeared for the plaintiff, and Byron Sherry, of Alamogordo, for the defendants. Before the testimony had been concluded, however, the case of the territory against Jose Garcia, indicted for an assault with intent to kill, was taken up, and a jury empanelled. The jurors were:

Prospero Gonzales, Antonio Montoya, John Cole, Jesus Maria Padilla, W. E. Kimbrell, C. H. Byfield, Juan Bartlett, Ramon Luna, Manuel Romero, Frederico Montoya, Jose Barela and Epimenio Lucero.

The evidence was concluded at six o'clock last evening, at which time the case was given to the jury. District Attorney Llewellyn appeared for the territory, while Attorney Wm. F. A. Gierke, appointed by the court, represented the defense.

The jury deliberated a short time and went to supper, and on the convening of court at 8 o'clock last night returned a verdict of guilty. No sentence has yet been imposed in either of the two convictions returned at this term. We understand an application for a new hearing will be made on behalf of Malcolm Trapp, and if denied that an appeal will be taken.

The following cases are set for today: Pedro Salazar, larceny of horse, to which defendant entered a plea of guilty.

Sesario Gutierrez, rape—incest—jury now in the box.

Murdock Kelley, obtaining goods under false pretenses; plea of not guilty; probably be tried this afternoon.

Robert Ferris, assault; dropped with leave to reinstate.

The court is certainly on a steady grind, night sessions being the rule, and the entire machinery kept in motion.

Verdict in the Trapp Case.

The long-fought battle in the district court—the joint trial of the three Trapps charged with the murder of W. J. McAdams—has come to a close, so far, at least, as this term of court is concerned. The verdict of the jury acquitted the father, John C. Trapp, and his younger son, John, and found Malcolm, the elder son, guilty of voluntary manslaughter.

This case has been before the court since Wednesday, the 18th, the panel having been completed Thursday night the 19th. A host of witnesses were examined, the taking of testimony not being concluded until Tuesday night of this week. All day Wednesday, and part of the night, was utilized by the prosecution and the defense in summing up the evidence and in presenting the case to the jury. At the close of the argument, the judge read his charge to the jury, and at 11 o'clock Wednesday night the jury retired to the jury room.

On the first ballot the report is that the ballot stood 10 to 2 for conviction, after having eliminated the younger son from consideration. The second ballot stood 9 to 3, and when the third was taken, preceding which the case was discussed by the jury, another change was recorded, the result being 11 to 1 for conviction. Numerous ballots were taken throughout the night, the members of the jury never batting an eye, without arriving at any conclusion until yesterday morning, just before breakfast, when it was finally agreed to return a verdict in accordance with the statement at the head of this article.

This case exceeds any case of recent occurrence in the county in the length of time occupied, the mass of testimony offered, the intensity of feeling displayed and the range of possibilities covered. The territory was ably represented by Major Llewellyn, district attorney of this district, and E. R. Wright, of Santa Rosa, district attorney for the counties of Quay and Guadalupe, while the defense was no less ably represented by Gatewood & Graves, of Roswell. Little eloquence was indulged by any of the speakers, each presenting his side in an argumentative manner, which, though covering a period of about seven hours of actual talk, was attentively and earnestly listened to by the jury and closely followed by the audience that packed the court room.

Gatewood & Graves, who spent the past ten days here in defending the Trapps, left Wednesday night for Roswell.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

PURELY FEMININE

ECONOMY IN DRESS

FOR THE WOMAN WHOSE MEANS ARE LIMITED.

Idea Should Be to Have One Frock Which Can Be Made to Do Duty for Many Occasions—An Illustration.

The woman who can only afford one gown of a dressy nature each season naturally looks out for a model and material which will permit the costume being worn for many different sorts of occasions.

The great vogue of silk allows this all-round use for a fine frock, especially if the gown is made of satin foulard, for this shimmering and handsome texture may be made to look as plain or as elegant as one wishes. Where the dress is to do some duty for evening, it is well to have a round décolletage, which would be filled in on day occasions with a high, long-sleeved guimpe. Then, since no dress can be fine without a tunic of some sort, if one happens upon a short pattern of silk, it is the easiest thing in the world to eke it out with an overdress of marquisette, veiling or chiffon. The marquisette is first cousin to chiffon, and is of so diaphanous a texture, indeed, that it is sometimes used for automobile veils.

With a walking skirt—for the more dressy of the tunic dresses are slightly trained—the overdress may be the dinkiest little affair, no more than an apron, in fact, and with the lower edge cut with a fish-tail curve. A distinct madness of the moment is a bunchy overskirt effect, which is made by gathering the outside skirt very full over the foundation one, and then tying it about below the knees with a ribbon sash. This is a very good design for a foulard dress, and there is always the comfort that the next year there will be enough material in the gown to make it over in a new style.

Figured and plain pongees and shantung silk respond excellently to the limp lines and tailored effects of the moment, and a well made dress in any one of these materials is both a comfort and a valuable possession, for such textures are delightfully cool, and old dresses in them may always be dyed and cut down for children. Natural colored shantung—a brownish yellow—is very stylish and washes like a rag. The one-piece dresses in this effective material look very pretty with the white lace and net yokes which still enliven everything.

The illustration shows a girlish model which would adapt itself charmingly to all bordered materials, such as muslin, pongee, marquisette, chiffon, etc., but the dress could also be made in a plain goods with an applied bordering of ribbon or lace, entredeux. As illustrated, the little dress is of novelty veiling, black spots on a dead white ground, and it is put over silk in one of the new rich shades of blue, and belted with the same color. The high guimpe is of all-over lace and put over a gilt webbing.

A more practical gown in this design—for this combination strikes the last note of elegance—could be of any of the little silks now used, and which may be bought for from 49 cents a yard up, and still seem smart and fine; for it all depends on how you treat these cheap silks whether the dress is exquisite or tawdry. My own taste would be to trim them very plainly with tucking or ribbon bands, and have the yoke of a modest rather than a flamboyant nature. There are some fancy nets, which respond most charmingly to well made yokes and guimpes, and to my mind these are far prettier for summer than yokes of richer lace.

A Dainty Overblouse.

A pretty accessory which any girl could make for herself at little trouble or expense is an overblouse formed from satin folds in diamond trellis effect.

This little garment is cut low in the neck, following the lines of a jumper. The folds are of the same color as the dress and must be taken into a belt or sash of ribbon to match. It is surprising how much the addition of this blouse improves a plain frock. A tall girl could trim a plain skirt with a broad band of the trellis a foot or so above the hem and find it becoming to her.

County Seat Hearing.

The inability of Attorney T. B. Catron, who is associated with Attorney Geo. B. Barber, on the Lincoln side of the county seat hearing, to be here, and the indefiniteness about his return, has kept the county seat question drifting. However, as Mr. Catron is in Washington looking after statehood and the confirmation of some of his friends, whose official longevity seems in the balance, the court recognized the importance of this case and the bearing on the entire people of this county, and definitely fixed next Friday, June 3, as the absolute date for a hearing.

"What's in a Name?"

Lincoln county received a jolt this week from one of the attorneys for the defense in the Trapp case, from which, however, we trust she may ultimately recover. In the course of his argument the attorney asserted that "Lincoln county has a hard name, not only in New Mexico, but throughout the country," and appealed to the jury to turn over a new leaf and write a new history for the county.

Now, as a matter of fact, that statement is susceptible to two interpretations. It might be taken to mean that crime was rampant in this county, and that criminals laughed at the law; but that could hardly be, for he was speaking in defense of a man charged with a most serious crime. On the other hand, the assertion might have been intended to convince the jury that many of its predecessors had been wrong in returning verdicts, some of which took away the liberty of the defendants, and others their lives. This latter seems the most reasonable conclusion; for the firm representing the defense in the lengthy murder trial the past ten days comes from Roswell, where it has been quite successful in acquitting most of its clients on similar charges. It's all in the point of view.

A few cases like that Trapp case, just concluded, would soon exhaust the large court fund this county had the opening of court. The cost to the county in this trial alone was about $1,600.

We often hear of the "majesty of the law," the "sanctity of contracts," and our "wonderful system of jurisprudence." Yet after we have listened a week to evidence, more or less contradictory, the long arguments of the attorneys and the charge of the judge, we don't wonder that a jury is often befuddled and has a difficult time in reaching a verdict. We can, therefore, sympathize with a jury, for its members certainly undergo a trial second only to the man being tried. That they are not all like those in Kentucky, "where they always hang the jury and never hang the man," is still more wonderful.

Keep Cool.

The local ice plant is now running full blast and is making a first class quality of ice. The company has had printed some coupon books, each coupon 10c., the price of the books being $2 and $5. This is a local enterprise and should receive the patronage of the town but of the entire county. See the ice man, buy a coupon book and be in a position to enjoy the hot weather.

It is very dry in this section—drier than any year since 1904. The snow has disappeared, and there is usually snow until July, and sometimes August, on the north mountain side.

The many friends of Johnnie Greer are pleased to learn that his case in the district court, under the charge of manslaughter, has been dismissed. The affair, over which arose the accusation, was an accident, pure and simple, and was so regarded in the vicinity of its occurrence. "All's well that ends well," however, and this chapter lowers the curtain on an unpleasant and regrettable tragedy.

Three inches of snow fell at Cloudcroft and in the White mountains Sunday, which caused a drop in the temperature in this part of the county.

Bali Games Saturday and Sunday.

Arrangements have been made for two games of ball on the local diamond, Saturday and Sunday afternoon. It might be more correct to say three, for the kid nine is scheduled to play the losers after the Sunday afternoon game. Vaughn is to come with a team to meet our on the local diamond. What sort of players Vaughn will bring is, of course, only a matter of conjecture, but it is said to contain some good material, and that our boys will have to play ball in order to take down the plum.

As an added feature of interest the local management have arranged a contest for a long throw between the teams. A player from each team will be chosen, a prize will be offered and the longest distance covered in the throw decides who wins. The Carrizozo team has added a number of new players, and will select a strong arm from the number to carry off this prize. Two days of interesting sport are promised.

The large number of Corona people who have been attending court the past ten days, left for home yesterday at the conclusion of the Trapp case. Besides the great number of witnesses not only to the tragedy but to circumstances leading up to it, there were a host of character witnesses.

R. S. Trumbull, agricultural agent of the El Paso & Southwestern, has been here and up the line this week. Mr. Trumbull is discussing scientific farming with agriculturists along the line, and desires to meet the farmers and discuss the latest approved methods of producing crops without irrigating.

The charge of manslaughter against Johnnie Greer, for which an indictment was returned by the grand jury at the November term of court, has been dismissed. Our readers will remember that the charge arose from the death of R. J. Kester, from the accidental discharge of a pistol, in Mr. Greer's hands. The scene of the tragedy was Bonito, and the time was October, 1908. No animus existed, in fact, the two men were good friends, and it was a tragedy—one of the saddest—where a man lost his life at the hands of a friend.

To Test Jicarilla Placers.

W. L. McLaughlin, president of the Gold and Silver Reducing and Smelting company, of Oskaloosa, Iowa, was in town yesterday, and made a pleasant call at this office. Mr. McLaughlin has recently come to Jicarillas with the purpose of making a test of the famous placers of that district. He represents some capitalists who are seeking investment in mining properties, and if the tests which he is now preparing to make in the Jicarilla mountains prove satisfactory, a reduction plant will be installed. That camp has been a steady producer of placer gold for half a century, and the main difficulty has been to find suitable machinery to handle the dirt in large quantities.

CARRIZOZO NEWS

CARRIZOZO • NEW MEXICO

CONTROL OF THE AIR.

Who owns the air? That question will have to be decided one of these days, both in relation to airships and to wireless telegraphy and telephony. With airships it still remains an academic question, but it is a live issue on the Atlantic coast in connection with the telegraph, says Indianapolis Star. Amateur operators, some of them with high-power stations, are very numerous, and they assume that they have a right to use their apparatus at any time. The most of them are boys without a sense of responsibility, and many are mischievous. Because of these complaints a Massachusetts member of congress proposes that some action be taken to regulate this form of telegraphy. His plan is for the president to appoint a board of experts, which shall formulate rules for the control of its operations, these rules later to be submitted to congress to be enacted into law. This plan meets with approval, but strong opposition to it has developed. It might be thought that amateur operators could not muster much strength, but they have certain commercial interests behind them. It is estimated that there are not less than 60,000 amateur wireless stations in the United States with the number growing rapidly. New York city has a thousand, Boston 150, and they are especially numerous along the coast, where are many regular stations and much communication with ships. The dealers in wireless apparatus are interested in encouraging the demand and are opposed to the regulation suggested.

F. Hopkinson Smith denounces New York as the most insolent city on the face of the earth, apparently on the ground that people in New York are in a hurry, and, being in a hurry, neglect some of the little amenities of social intercourse, says Minneapolis Journal. This is far from making his case. Insolence may be of two kinds, the insolence of hurry, and the insolence of leisure. We have in this country practically none of the latter. It springs from the presence of a class of society upon which another class waits. We lack this in America, where outside of sleeping car porters and the negligible class of waiters in restaurants where the dishes are more notable than the food, every man works for what he gets and gets only what he works for. One must go to the lands where the tip has blossomed to reach the acme of insolence. In America it is only in the bud. Would that it might be nipped there.

One of the daring aeronauts of the day is planning to cross the Atlantic Ocean in a dirigible balloon, starting from Tenerife in the Canary Islands. This would mean an aerial trip across the north Atlantic at about the widest part, and the intention is to strike the West Indies and then reach New York by way of Porto Rico, Cuba and the south. That would seem to be a sufficiently venturesome trip, and if accomplished will go far to demonstrate the practicability of airships of the character to be used.

A man who was paid for singing in a choir in his youth sends back the money with interest. Conscience-stricken, it is supposed.

The story that a girl contracted leprosy from hair imported from Europe may be false. The hair certainly was.

FARM NOTES.

Plant breeding is not a new science. No farmer should buy shelled corn for seed.

The hardy vegetables can be sown as soon as the ground is ready.

As a fertilizer, the peanut is almost as valuable as when raised for food.

Cowpeas and soy beans sown the latter part of May make good green manures.

Portable trellises of wood or wire are convenient for peas, running beans and tomatoes.

All of the cabbage family do very well if the seed is planted in hills, then thinned out.

The peanut crop is extensively grown in five continents, but first used as a delicacy in America.

The larger vegetables, as peas, corn, tomatoes, etc., need rows three to four feet apart, and melons even more.

There should be a great abundance of peas, lima and bush beans, and tomatoes, for these are easily grown.

For use as a fertilizer, ground limestone should be fine enough to pass a sieve having 50 meshes to the linear inch.

There is as much work, sometimes more, seeing a weakly plant through the season as there is caring for a robust, strong one.

The better the arrangement of crops with good provision for the supply of humus to the soil, the greater the profit from farming.

As to garden tools, it is best to own a plow, a harrow, and a horse cultivator, if one can afford to, even if the horse must be hired.

Peas, corn, beans, tomatoes, the melon family and potatoes, should be grown from seeds selected year after year from the best specimens in one's own garden.

Many of our best farmers practice the system of sowing some clover seed with all grain crops and they find that splendid returns are received on money invested in this way.

GOOD SUPPORTER FOR REINS

Keeps Lines From Getting Beneath Horse's Tail and Makes Driving Easier and Safer.

More than a mere matter of convenience is the rein supporter devised by a California man. It not only makes driving easier, but safer, for it eliminates the danger of a fractious horse holding the lines under its tail and getting the bit in its teeth. A base strap with an arched frame connected extends over the crupper straps and fastens to them. A wire rod, bent to form a gutter for the reins, rises from the arched frame and over this the lines pass. Supported in this way they never become tangled nor get under the horse's tail. Anyone who has ever driven to any extent knows how annoying it is to get the reins caught under the horse's tail as the animal switches it. Sometimes, too, the beast will hold its tail down tight for several minutes, preventing the driver from getting the reins free for guidance, and, indeed, many a runaway has resulted from this common and apparently innocent accident.

EXCELLENT GATE FOR FARM

Take board strips one inch thick, three inches broad and the proper length and width you want your gate, nail them across each other as shown in the illustration, making about three inch cracks.

Then take the same size and width pieces and double the crosses, nailing securely. A half pound of No. 8 nails will do the work.

Use ordinary light hinges. I use seven cross pieces, and then by doubling these, which is absolutely necessary, you will have to use 14, with four pieces lengthwise, making a total of 18 pieces. This makes a cheap and very durable gate. In making the latch, use any convenient method.

VARIETIES OF MILO TO GROW

Yellow is Superior and Varies in Height from Two to Fifteen Feet—Avoid Extremes.

(BY ALVIN KEYSER, COLORADO AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.)

In growing milo it is essential to get the right variety to start with. There are two types of milo on the market—the yellow and the white. Yellow milo is superior to white milo. There are quite a number of varieties of the yellow milo. These vary in height from two feet to fifteen feet. The extremely dwarf and the extremely tall forms should be avoided. Those varieties which grow to a height of from four to six feet, under ordinary conditions, are preferable. The extremely dwarf sorts do not yield well enough. The tall varieties mostly come from the south, consequently, they are late maturing and less drought resistant than those which grow to a medium height.

Home grown seed is preferable whenever it can be obtained.

Start Beans and Melons.

It is a good plan to start lima beans, water melon, musk melons and squash in tin cans. Fill the cans nearly full of rich soil and set them in a moderately warm room where they will have plenty of sunshine.

Plant lima beans with the eyes down and soon as the plants have long shoots and are ready to climb transplant them to the garden.

Be sure that all danger of frost is over before transplanting as the young bean plants are very tender and it does not take much frost to kill them.

The Important Problem

confronting anyone in need of a laxative is not a question of a single action only, but of permanently beneficial effects, which will follow proper efforts to live in a healthful way, with the assistance of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, whenever it is required, as it cleanses the system gently yet promptly, without irritation and will therefore always have the preference of all who wish the best of family laxatives.

The combination has the approval of physicians because it is known to be truly beneficial, and because it has given satisfaction to the millions of well-informed families who have used it for many years past.

To get its beneficial effects, always buy the genuine manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

Something Stronger Than Wind.

Senator Depew, apropos of March winds, said, at a dinner in Washington:

"An old-fashioned fellow, one year when Easter came in March, paid too many Easter calls and drank too many cups of eggnog, and, alas, was quite overcome.

"As the old-fashioned fellow lurched, in the late afternoon, toward home, a little girl watched him from her window, curiously.

"Oh, mamma," she said, "come and look at Mr. Stuyvesant. Isn't the wind blowing him about!"

GIFT THAT PLEASES

CRYSTALIZED FRUIT PEEL ALWAYS WELCOME.

Simple Method of Preparation That Is In Every Way Satisfactory—Full Directions for its Manufacture Given Below.

An attractive gift that may easily be made at home and that gives an amount of pleasure quite disproportionate to the labor involved is a box of crystallized fruit peel. The charm of the gift lies partly in the delicious flavor of the candy and partly in the attractiveness of the packing. One especially effective box was packed with crystallized pineapple and candied orange, grape fruit and lemon peel, with a decoration of candied mint leaves, cherries and angelica on the top. After packing carefully, before putting on the box cover, the candy may be covered with a paper lace doily.

There is a simple method of preparing the crystallized peel that is in every way satisfactory. Take the rind of two grape fruits or four oranges, removing any portion of the tough fiber separating the sections that may adhere, but leaving the white lining of the yellow rind. With scissors cut the peel in strips one-quarter or three-eighths of an inch wide, cover with plenty of water and boil slowly for half an hour. Drain, cover with fresh cold water and boil again for another half hour. Then pour off all the water, add a large cup of granulated sugar and half a cupful of cold water and boil until all the sirup has been absorbed. Scatter on pieces of brown paper to cool and dry a little, then roll in fine granulated sugar. The peel of lemons, mandarins and limes may be prepared in the same way and a few strips of each mixed in a box of candied orange and grape fruit afford a pleasant variety.

Candied pineapple strips are delicious and are easily prepared. The fruit is first peeled, then cut in strips two inches long, half an inch wide and about a quarter of an inch thick. Measure the fruit and add half the quantity of granulated sugar, and let it stand until the sugar is dissolved, which may be nearly twenty-four hours. Drain off the juice and boil it five minutes, then add the fruit and cook for three or four minutes; drain the pineapple and spread on a platter to dry. The process may be hastened by putting the platter in the sun, the warming closet, or even on the top of a radiator. The fruit should be turned once and then rolled in fine granulated sugar. The process is a much more lengthy one than that required for the fruit peel, but a few pieces put in each box make a delicious addition.

The cherries and mint leaves may be prepared in similar fashion, but as they are easily secured at large groceries or confectionery shops, together with angelica, which has such an exquisite flavor, and as only a small quantity is required for a dozen or more boxes, it seems hardly worth while to make them at home. A single cherry in the middle of a box with a circle of mint leaves and narrow strips of angelica about it gives to the sweets an artistic touch.—Los Angeles Herald.

Easy Way to Wash.

Soak all the white clothes the day before in lukewarm water rubbing the soiled spots with naphtha soap. Then put over fire to melt two bars of any good washing soap with one cup of water. When thoroughly dissolved "take out of doors" and add one cup of gasoline. In the morning fill your boiler half full of water and put in two cupfuls of the soap mixture, turn your clothes out of soak and put in boiler and boil as usual; then rinse in two waters. You will find the clothes a snowy white without any rubbing. You may wash the collars in this suds without having them fade as the gasoline sets the colors, and a painful may be strained through cloth to free from lint for the stockings.

Kidney Troubles Grow Worse Every Year.

Charles S. Bailey, 808 Locust St., Yankton, S. Dak., says: "I suffered agony from kidney complaint and was almost helpless. The disease grew worse each year although I doctored and used many remedies. There were excruciating pains in my back and the urine passed too freely. Doan's Kidney Pills gradually helped me and soon I was cured. Some years ago I recommended them and have had no trouble since."

Pity the Poor Cowboy!

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the famous food expert, said at a dinner in Washington, apropos of the meat boycott and the cold storage discussion: "The trend of modern life seems on the surface to be toward preserved instead of fresh foods, but there is no such trend, save among certain dealers."

"Who," said Dr. Wiley, "would like to be in the boots of the cowboy in the barren sagebrush country who used to send in week after week, the same order to the storekeeper:

"Canamilk, canacow, canajam, canabatter, canacake, canascrapple, canacorn, canaham, canaplums."

Care of Horse's Feet.

If the horse already has defective feet keep them carefully trimmed and shod if necessary. The soft hoof should be shod and reshod every six or eight weeks in winter where the ground is frozen and at all times of the year where the roads are rocky or gravelled. By keeping the horse with poor feet properly shod it will do good service without loss of time. But it is best to breed for good feet.

AN UP-TO-DATE STOVE

Do you realize there is no longer any reason why you should use a coal range? Oil is cheaper than coal; it is lighter and easier to handle, and gives an intense heat. Provided you have the right stove, oil is more economical, cleaner and less trouble. Have you seen the

New Perfection Oil Cook-stove

The accompanying illustration gives you only a rough idea of its appearance. You really can't appreciate it until you either use it yourself, or talk to someone who has used it. It does everything that a coal range will do—except heat the room. The New Perfection Oil Cook-

Cautionary Note: Be sure you get this stove—see that the name-plate reads "New Perfection."

Stove will do anything, from heating a kettle of water to cooking a course dinner, but it won't heat a room. It doesn't "smell," it doesn't smoke. It can't get out of order. Light it and it is ready. Turn it down and it is out. Only a woman who knows the trouble of carrying coal and cooking in a hot kitchen can appreciate what it means to have a clean, perfect stove that will cook anything, boil, bake or roast, and yet won't heat the kitchen. How is it done? The flame is controlled in turquoise-blue enamel chimneys, and directed against the bottom of pot, pan, kettle or oven, and only there. The flame operates exactly where it is needed—and nowhere else. With this stove your kitchen is cool.

The nickel finish with the bright blue of the chimneys makes the stove ornamental and attractive. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet.

The President Refuses to Accept Judge Cooley's Resignation.

A portion of the following dispatch from Washington, dated the 24th inst., is of keen interest to the people of this section, and the other portion is a matter of general interest to the people of the entire territory:

President Taft has refused to accept the resignation of Judge Alford W. Cooley of Alamogordo from the New Mexico supreme bench, and has offered him leave of absence until fall during which to recuperate.

It is understood that the senate committee on judiciary has declared informally to report with favorable recommendation the appointment of E. C. Abbott and the reappointment of Judge John R. McFie to the senate for confirmation and will take official action at the first meeting of the committee.

Some Facts About the Comet.

The following are some of the facts given by astronomers on our celestial visitor—Halley's comet:

This is the comet of 1835, 1758, 1682, 1607, 1531, 1456, and so on back to the first recorded observation before the time of Christ. It will next appear at the end of 1985. Now it is starting on a trip that will carry it more than 3,000,000,000 miles away from us, a little beyond Neptune, the outermost planet of our sun's family. It will reach its remotest point in a little less than 38 years. If it should travel onward for 500,000 years it would still be within the influence of the sun and would have to come back to us. Other comets must travel not less than a million years in the routes on which we see them before they come close to any such body as the sun. Space seems to be filled with comets, and undoubtedly there are millions of millions of them under the sun's control. Four or five comets every year come within observation from the little point which our earth occupies in the solar system. Comets move with tremendous rapidity, and three million miles a day is recorded of the present visitor.
