Robber Suspect Arrested.

The man hunt, which began a week ago, with the hold-up of passenger train No. 2, ended Wednesday morning with the arrest of Matt Smith, a well known young man of this town, Territorial Policeman W. E. Dudley made the arrest, and the prisoner was taken to Alamogordo that afternoon by Mr. Dudley and special officer Sadler. A preliminary hearing will be given the prisoner before the United States Commissioner at Alamogordo the 24th of this month.

The reason assigned for the arrest is that the brakeman on the train that was robbed came back through Carrizozo and identified Smith as the man who held up the train. Two passengers, it is reported, have likewise identified Smith. It is said the officers were watching the suspected man two or three days before his arrest, but so far as the public knows nothing else was discovered that would fasten the crime on him.

On the other hand, Smith's friends—and the town is full of them—assert that his whereabouts are easily accounted for; that he has a perfect alibi, and hoot at the idea of his guilt. A number of witnesses are available who state they were with Smith when the train pulled in, during its stay here, when it departed and remained with Smith until 1 o'clock, at which time the crowd separated and Smith went to his room; and at which time the train had gone as far, at least, as Ancho, which is eighteen miles beyond the scene of the robbery.

Whether the identifications spoken of were positive or were qualified we are unable to state; for the officers have kept their own counsel, and what is here given has been obtained from information in possession of the general public. This information, coupled with the good name the accused has borne, the general sentiment is that the wrong man has been apprehended, and that the real culprit is enjoying a good laugh.

Won one; Lost one.

The Carrizozo ball team went to Capitan Saturday morning, and played the Capitans that afternoon. It was a very pretty exhibition of the national sport, replete with brilliant plays, to which our players are entitled to the greater credit. At the close of the game, however, Carrizozo's star was in the ascendant, the game standing 12 to 7.

Another game was matched for the following day with the Fort Stanton team, to be played on the Fort grounds. In order to give the Carrizozoans an opportunity to drive home Sunday afternoon, the game was pulled off in the morning. Bad luck, mixed with a bit of bad playing, easily gave the game to Stanton by a score of 14 to 4. A part of Carrizozo's team returned home Saturday night, but the vacant places were filled by Capitan players, and the team looked like a winner. The Fort, also, drew on Capitan to fill her quota, and the aggregation played ball like fiends. At the conclusion of the game, dinner was served, and the inroads the vanquished made on the eatables proved that defeat had no effect upon their appetite.

Two games have been arranged with the Capitan team for tomorrow and Sunday, both games to be played on the local diamond. Capitan will, no doubt, bring a strong team, and it behooves our boys to get a good line-up and do some practice work.

Probable Census Results.

When the report of the 1910 census is made known, which should be at an early date, we believe it will show a large increase in the population of the county; and, naturally, an increase in agricultural acreage. The increase in population is due largely to immigration; and as proof of this statement, those portions of the county in which immigrants have not come will show little change in population as compared to the 1900 census.

On the contrary, the report will most likely show a decrease in the number of live stock, particularly cattle. For instance, this precinct, now the wealthiest and most populous in the county, was merely an unsettled plain, covered with cattle, in 1900. It now has a large number of homesteaders, thousands of acres under fence and the largest town in the county. The valuation of this precinct this year is given at $775,000.00, out of a total valuation in the entire county of a little over $2,000,000.00. Besides the stock decrease mentioned, the V V's have sold out their entire stock of cattle, the Blocks are not as numerous and many small stockmen have sold their cattle since 1900.

Our guess on the increase of population in this county since 1900 is 2,500. It is true that the precincts along the railroad, Corona, Ancho, Carrizozo and Os-curo, have grown much beyond that figure, but, on the other hand, some of the older precincts have helped to populate the new precincts. And again, the mineral districts are not as populous as ten years ago. Hence, while we know the census will show a big increase in our population in certain sections of the county, yet, taken as a whole, we do not expect the returns to show over 2,500 increase.

Valuation Over $2,000,000.00.

The tax rolls of Lincoln county for this year, we are informed, will show a total valuation of a little in excess of $2,000,000. Of this amount the Carrizozo precinct is credited with $775,000. In other words, the valuation of precinct 14 is one-third of the total valuation of the county.

"Automobile Face" Scare Vanishes

WASHINGTON.—A little while after automobiles had come into general use, those newspapers which concern themselves more with fancy than with fact began to worry in their columns about what they termed "the automobile face." They had cartoons showing faces lined and marked, with squinted eyes.

These came, the papers said, from the habit of speeding cars. The papers figured that when a motorist gripped the wheel and started ahead at the strip of dusty road that was spinning under the car, there was so much tension that the lines and squint came without the driver's being aware of them.

The papers have ceased to worry about that now; for such papers do not worry about any particular thing for long. The automobile has established itself, and the human countenance remains about the same, according as the individual thinks and feels.

Which is apropos of horseback riding. Here in Washington the automobile is in more or less general use, but it is not crowding the horse as it is doing in Cleveland. Though Roosevelt is not here to keep the fashion going, to insist upon it by his example, horseback riding is much in vogue. And a majority of the riders are women. This brings us to the "horseback face." It is the haughtiest face we have seen. When the daughter of a diplomat, say, goes forth—riding astride by the way—she looks neither to the right nor to the left. She poises her bare head erect, and spurs over the hills and far away.

Mrs. Herbert Wadsworth started from Mount Vernon, with a party of friends as her guests, recently. After luncheon they began a 300-mile journey, visiting Manassas, Shenandoah, and other places of historic interest. This announcement was made:

"It has been Mrs. Wadsworth's custom for the last six years to ride to her home in Livingston county, Tennessee. This spring, however, she has arranged for a short trip."

Suffragettes Mildly Storm Congress

"IT'S up to you," said the suffragettes to congress, and it took 50 automobiles and a ton of paper to carry the message to the capitol. Those who expected to see a suffragette demonstration, as often occurs in the halls of the English houses of parliament, were disappointed.

With banners aloft and finery aflutter, in a procession of taxicabs nearly a mile long, the suffragists moved on Capitol hill and presented to congress 400,000 individual demands for votes for women. The mammoth national petition was divided into little ones, each nicely tied with a bit of yellow ribbon and grouped into little bundles of just the convenient size for a suffragette to carry under her arm.

Senators and representatives from every state received some part of that petition.

Some of the Iowa delegation were frightened when they heard some members of the house had refused to present the petition. They sent for Senator Dolliver.

"I would advise those members to take a day off and study the Constitution of the United States," declared the senator, as he shouldered an armful of petitions. "I construe that honorable instrument to make the presentation of petitions mandatory, but I would present them gladly even if no such duty were imposed upon me."

The senator made a sweeping bow and the women applauded loudly.

It had been intended to carry the petitions to congress in an automobile truck, making a very impressive-looking load.

"Goodness, no; some of them might get lost!" exclaimed half a dozen delegates. So while the procession was forming at the Hotel Arlington the petitions were unloaded again and distributed among the delegates. Meanwhile some of the enthusiastic did a little electioneering.

Admiral Schley passed by on his morning constitutional. Two suffragettes hopped out of a taxicab and pinned a "votes for women" button on the admiral.

"Thank you, ladies," said he, "I will co-operate."

Biscuits Not Harmful, Says Wilson

SECRETARY WILSON of the department of agriculture has assailed an old-time food notion. We have always been told—at least since food began scientifically to be studied—that hot biscuits were almost indigestible. Wilson has permitted to come from his office a pamphlet which sets forth that hot biscuits will never keep one awake o' nights because of a dull, heavy feeling in the stomach.

"As far as now known," says the bulletin, "the changes ordinarily occurring in good bread as it ages do not affect its digestibility unless it becomes so dry as to be unappetizing."

So that we need no longer run away from the little brown loaves as they come hot from the oven. We mind the time, indeed, when they went very well with maple syrup.

There has always been a suspicion that Doctor Wiley, who, Cannon has complained, wants a man to know just what he is putting into his stomach when he goes to take a drink doesn't live up to his pure food notions. And now it comes out that Wiley takes his luncheon at a restaurant known as "The Dirty Spoon." We never have eaten there, so that we can't tell about the usual condition of the pewter ware; but it is a fact that the other noon Wiley was seen in this restaurant munching a ham sandwich, washing it down with large gulps of coffee.

PROPER CARE OF THE LAMP

Several Points That Must Be Remembered by Housewife Who Desires a Bright Light.

If you want to get a good light: Put fresh oil into the lamp every day. Don't fill it quite full, but leave about an inch of space at the top.

Put in a new wick frequently; old wicks get stiff and clogged.

Never cut the burnt part off, but rub it with a soft cloth every day.

Keep the outside of the lamp clean and dry, and you won't be troubled with oily odors.

Wash the burner twice a month, using a lather of warm water, ammonia and soap. Rinse and dry thoroughly.

Before using a new chimney, roll it in a clean cloth and put it in a kettle of cold water. Bring it slowly to the boil, and leave it boiling for 15 minutes. The water should be allowed to cool before the chimney is removed.

Chimneys treated in this way will resist any ordinary degree of heat.

After trimming the lamp, turn the wick down below the top of the burner, or it will syphon up the oil and make the outside of the lamp greasy. Empty all oil out of the lamp occasionally and well wash the reservoir.

AROUND THE HOUSE.

When soaking mackerel or other salt fish see that the skin side is placed uppermost.

When making sweet croquettes add a little sugar to the crumbs in which the croquettes are to be rolled.

Celery can be much improved by soaking it for an hour in ice-cold water in which a lemon has been squeezed.

To clean a copper kettle, rub it with powdered bath brick and paraffin and polish with dry brick dust or whiting. Pans greased with butter will make the bottom crust of pies soft and flaky and prevent them from being soggy.

All cups and jugs should occasionally be scrubbed round the handles with a well-soaped brush. If this is not done they are apt to get a grimy appearance that is anything but appetizing.

To fold a man's coat, lay the coat out perfectly flat with the inside down. The sleeves should be spread out smoothly and then folded back to the elbow until each end of the sleeve is even with the collar. Fold the revers back and then double the coat over, folding it directly in the center seam, and then smooth it out carefully and lay flat in the drawer.

Beef Patties.

Half a pound of fresh rump steak, minced very small; one dessertspoonful of chopped parsley, two tablespoonfuls of good gravy, a little salt and plenty of black pepper. Mix well together and press hard in a basin with a wooden spoon. Line some patty tins with a good pastry, put a tablespoonful of the meat in each, cover with pastry, cut a small hole in the top, brush over with egg and bake half an hour.

Fried Tomatoes.

With cold meat one hot dish is certain to be appreciated, and there could be no better appetizer of this sort than fried tomatoes. Cut fresh tomatoes in thick slices, dip them in flour and fry them a delicate brown with thin slices of bacon. If canned tomatoes are used they should be drained of the liquid, dipped in bread crumbs and egg, and cooked very lightly. Season with salt and cayenne pepper.

Virginia Pudding.

Pare, core and quarter six large apples and stew until soft. Drain the apples, sweeten to taste and mash well with half a cup of butter. Crumb a stale loaf of sponge cake and put a layer of cake and apples alternately into a buttered pudding dish. Season with the juice of a lemon and a dash of grated nutmeg. Beat six eggs well and stir into the pudding. Bake for three-quarters of an hour.

Something to Crow About.

The Gander—Suffering cats! What sort of noise-germ has got into that ridiculous rooster lately? His darn crowing has developed into a continuous performance.

The Drake—Why, he imagines he's in the public eye since the production of Rostand's "Chantecler."

The Overland The Simplest Car

The wonderful sale of the Overland—greater than any other car ever known—is largely due to simplicity. The man who runs his own car wants a trouble-proof car. We are turning out 140 such cars every day, but we never yet have been able to make as many as people wanted.

Easy to Operate

The Overlands operate by pedal control. One goes backward or forward, fast or slow, by simply pushing pedals. It is as simple as walking, and the hands are left free to steer.

The Overland has fewer parts than any other automobile. One part is made to take the place of many. It is free from complexities. The operations are all automatic.

A novice could run an Overland from coast to coast the first time he tried. One of these cars has run 7,000 miles without stopping the engine.

Very Low Prices

The Overlands are made—as watches are made—by modern automatic machinery. And we devote a whole factory to one model alone.

Because of these facts, and our enormous output, we give more for the money than anyone else. We have cut the cost 20 per cent in the past year alone.

We now sell a 25-horsepower Overland for $1,000 in roadster style, or for $1,100 with tonneau. The car has a 102-inch wheel base, and is easily capable of 30 miles an hour.

We sell a 40-horsepower Overland for $1,250. Other Overland models cost $1,300, $1,400 and $1,500. All prices include gas lamps and magneto.

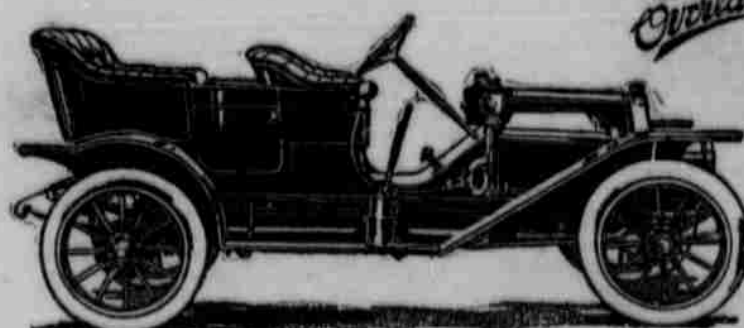

You will find no car that compares with an Overland at anywhere near its price.

The Car You'll Want

You will see why the Overlands outsell all other cars when you make your comparisons. Wherever you are you can do this, for there are Overland dealers everywhere.

But the first step is to send for our catalog—to see all the styles and know all the facts. When we send it we will tell you our nearest dealer. Please send us this coupon now.

STATEHOOD BILL PASSES SENATE.

The statehood bill, admitting the territories of New Mexico and Arizona, which has been on the senate calendar the past three months, passed the senate yesterday afternoon. The house passed a statehood bill many months ago, but the two bills differ so radically that the bill will have to go to a conference of both houses or the lower house be compelled to accept the senate bill without amendment. If the latter course is adopted, there is a chance for the bill to become a law, but if the former prevails and the bill goes to conference it is quite likely to die there, as congress is preparing to adjourn in a few days. Just hold your breath.

"Time for Action."

(Santa Fe Eagle.)

The time is approaching for the democrats of the territory to begin the serious consideration of the nomination of a delegate to congress. The passage of a statehood at this session of congress is among the remote possibilities, so remote in fact, that this ought not to stand in the way of the consideration of an available candidate for delegate for an instant. The work of organizing the party in the territory has been commenced and the work is going along in a very encouraging way; in fact there is every indication that the democrats of the territory will go into the coming campaign with more enthusiasm and a greater determination to win than for many years past.

The availability of a candidate for delegate should be carefully considered. In the first place the democratic candidate for delegate should be a man whose democracy is not of the Roosevelt variety, or the Taft variety, or the Curry variety. The Roosevelt democrats, the Taft democrats and the Curry democrats may follow this year, but the leader of the democratic forces this year should be a man who is just an old-fashioned democrat without any of the modifying adjectives.

The democratic candidate must be a man in whom the democrats of the territory have confidence, and one who will inspire confidence among the masses. The voters of New Mexico have had enough of broken promises within the past ten years and want a man who will promise less and perform more. New Mexico has had a Sphinx in congress long enough. It is time that this territory should be represented by a man who, when he wants anything at the hands of congress, can get up and tell what he wants, not one whose eloquence is of the same variety as that of an oyster. The democratic candidate should be a man who is known over the territory and who will not have to spend the major part of the time of the campaign getting acquainted. There are dozens of such democrats in New Mexico, but there is one who lives down in Lincoln county and whose name is A. H. Hudspeth who fills the bill exactly. Nobody ever questioned his democracy. He can tell what he thinks in vigorous English, the meaning of which cannot be mistaken. This was proven beyond question when he was a member of the house of representatives three years ago when he gave the republican majority more trouble than any member of the minority ever gave them before. His ability is unquestioned and he is such a man as the democrats of New Mexico might feel proud of in congress.

Where is Our Wandering Bill?

The following verses, clipped from the Tombstone Prospector, were supplied us by an old-time friend, John Keith, formerly of White Oaks but at present marshal of the City of Imperial, Cal. Notwithstanding the title, the verses have no connection with "Delegate Bill," but refers to the sixteen-string statehood bill:

Where is our wandering bill tonight,
The bill that made us a state?
Is it lost or strayed, or merely mislaid;
Oh, why is our bill so late?

Where is our wandering bill tonight,
The bill of our tenderest care?
Has Beveridge hid it, or Cameron did it;
Please where is our bill, oh where?

Where is our wandering bill tonight,
The bill we were told would go?
Is it far from the fold, or just pigeon-holed,
Oh, why is our bill so slow?

Where is our wandering bill tonight?
Our hearts are most anxious still,
We would love to be shown, where our bill has flown;
Oh, where is our statehood bill?

Will S. Kirby came in last night from Douglas, Arizona. He will visit friends in the Hondo country before returning to his Arizona home.

N. M. Scoggin intends to leave next week for east Texas. The high altitude of this place interfering with his health, he was advised to seek a lower and more humid country.

Ed. Massy, who was appointed justice of the peace of this precinct at the last meeting of the commissioners, vice N. M. Scoggin resigned, has qualified and assumed the duties of office.

Attorney Geo. Spence, Elvin Gray and Joe R. Adams went to Alamogordo Wednesday night to look into the accusation against Matt Smith, who was arrested on the charge of train robbery.

Harry S. and Edward F. Comrey were in town yesterday. They are sinking two wells in the Coyote and Tecolote country, each of which is down over 200 feet. These boys have been in this county twenty-seven years, and during that time have sunk something like fifty wells, many of them 500 feet in depth, and a great number of them dry holes.

Robt. Bourne left yesterday for El Paso, where he went to buy telephone supplies. He will at once begin the erection of a telephone line from Duran to Carrizozo. He will put in an exchange at Corona as well as at Duran, and will connect with ranchmen in that section desiring to communicate with any of the towns along the route. This line will be a great convenience to the people north of us, as well as ourselves, and should produce a profit to Mr. Bourne.

Bishop Eats His Own Boots.

Few bishops have to lead such a strenuous life as Bishop Stringer. In company with a missionary companion he made a tour recently to Herschel Island, in the Arctic ocean, and back to Dawson City, where the bishop resides.

Their small supply of food becoming exhausted, they were obliged to eat their mukluks and moccasins. These, made of raw seal skins, were soaked until they became glutinous, the fire. The bishop says the food and were then toasted in strips over was real good, especially the mukluks.

Knew Her Latin.

"De-f-en-d-a-m," spelled the youngster on the rear seat as the "rubber-neck" wagon was passing the Twenty-second Regiment armory, at Broadway and Sixty-eighth street. "What does that mean, auntie?"

"I didn't quite catch what the guide said," replied the old lady. "Oh, Mr. Guide, won't you kindly tell us what it says on that building?"

"Def-en-dum!" roared the guide through his megaphone, dividing the word into three sections.

"That's what it is," said the old lady. "A deaf and dumb asylum."

ANNUAL CLEAN UP

HOW TO LESSEN THE DRUDGERY OF SPRING OVERHAULING.

Systematic Planning Will Do Much to Get Away From Hard Labor Involved—No Need to Do All Work at Once.

If we could rejuvenate our house as easily as nature rejuvenates hers in spring what a joy housecleaning would be, and it is barely possible if we approach the subject as intelligently as Dame Nature does we might increase our delights and lessen our labors.

Include in your plan a scheme of decoration and think it over several times seriously and carefully, considering not only the room itself but its relation to other rooms, for that is equally essential, as every room bears an intimate relation to those adjoining.

When the rooms are ready for decorating have the decorator ready for them, and be ready for the decorator with a definite plan and a fixed limit to the cost to be incurred.

Plan your backgrounds so as to give not only the best effect to carpets, furnishings and bric-a-brac, but also to the occupants of your home. Don't put a blonde woman in a rose colored room, or a brunette in a green room. Remember, too, that excessive pattern on your wall gives the room a crowded effect.

Now to the actual cleaning.

Start at the closets upstairs and begin by removing all the clothing, giving each piece a thorough dusting, brushing, and airing, and washing all washable fabrics so as to remove every trace of soil or dust.

Now, with good soap and water, wash woodwork and floors, and if walls are soiled or paper torn tint the whole surface.

Clean all closets first and settle them again before beginning in the bedrooms. Leave mother's room to the last so that she may have a comfortable bed every night as a certainty. Then, too, it is wiser to have one room in good order in case of illness or accident.

The cleaning of bedrooms includes the washing of blankets, the washing of beds if they are of metal, of springs, the thorough airing of mattresses and pillows, the careful wiping of the floor, and, if the carpet is not removed, the going over of that with damp cloths which have been immersed in a carbolic acid solution.

Standing woodwork, windows and doors require vigorous treatment, for the bedrooms must be scrupulously clean.

Next comes stairs and halls, and then we are ready for downstairs. Better, far better, take a day's rest here, or leave it for another week, that the tired nerves and the strained backs may recuperate.

The downstairs ordeal begins at the front of the house in living room, reception hall, or den, and moves vigorously to the back of the house, the final work being done in the kitchen.

Carpets, woodwork, and rugs, rugs, woodwork and carpets in each room and every room require thorough cleaning, and walls everywhere require wiping down with dry cloths to remove all possible soil and dust.

Housecleaning is hard work, but it need not be drudgery. The secret lies in the definite plan, in unceasing patience, and possibly in limitless endurance and infallible and unflinching good nature.

Rhubarb Marmalade.

Rhubarb Marmalade: For three quarts of this delicious marmalade take three pounds of rhubarb, 3½ pounds of sugar, juice and grated rind of lemon to suit taste. Boil all together till thoroughly cooked, then, on removing from stove, add one pound of almonds chopped fine. Can and seal in fruit jars. For winter use this may be made in the fall of the year when the rhubarb is ripe.

Kidney Troubles Lower the Vitality of the Whole Body.

Don't wait for serious illness; begin using Doan's Kidney Pills when you first feel backache or notice urinary disorders.

John L. Perry, Columbus, Texas, says: "I was taken sick about a year ago. My limbs and feet began to swell and my doctor said I had Bright's disease. I then consulted another doctor who told me I had dropsy and could not live. Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me promptly, and I owe my life to them."

Fool Remark.

"The inanity of courtesy remarks that some people feel called upon to interject into conversation calls for a permanent commission in lunacy," said the man with the ingrowing grouch. "Now, the other day I was telling Jones going down on the subway that my four-year-old had swallowed a safety pin, and we were up half the night with him."

"It was an accident, of course," said that idiot Jones.

Each of the chief organs of the body is a link in the Chain of Life. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link, the body no stronger than its weakest organ. If there is weakness of stomach, liver or lungs, there is a weak link in the chain of life which may snap at any time. Often this so-called "weakness" is caused by lack of nutrition, the result of weakness or disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases and weaknesses of the stomach and its allied organs are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the weak or diseased stomach is cured, diseases of other organs which seem remote from the stomach but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, are cured also.

The strong man has a strong stomach. Take the above recommended "Discovery" and you may have a strong stomach and a strong body.

A Boomerang.
One of the officials of the Midland railway, coming from Glenwood Springs the other day, was telling a young woman on the train how wonderfully productive Colorado's irrigated ground is.

"Really," he explained, "it's so rich that girls who walk on it have big feet. It just simply makes their feet grow."

"Huh," was the young woman's rejoinder, "some of the Colorado men must have been going around walking on their heads." — Denver Post.

MERIT IN THIS JAR HOLDER

Most Useful Article That Will Be Found of Value in the Preserving Season.

A useful article for housewives who do their own preserving is the jar holder designed by an Iowa man. It will not only keep the jars from breaking and allow them to cool quickly, but will save the person who handles them from burning her hands.

There is a circular metal frame with holes in it to permit the tops of jars to pass through. Arms with their ends bent down extend out from this frame and sit over the rim of a basin or other large pan, and one of these arms is adjustable so that it can be screwed tight to hold the whole contrivance firmly in position. The jars can be placed in the basin and the framework drawn over them and screwed fast.

This leaves space between each jar, so that they may cool quickly, where otherwise they stand close together and each helps the other to retain the heat. Then the jars are filled with the preserving mixture, whatever it may be, the lids screwed on and the basin removed to a convenient place till the preserves cool.

FOR LUSCIOUS BAKED BEANS

Just as Easy to Have Them Right as Wrong, Only Simple Observances Being Necessary.

Wash and pick over one quart of navy beans, cover with fresh cold water and soak over night. Then drain, cover with fresh water, and bring slowly to boiling point; let simmer until the skins will crack, which may be tested by taking a teaspoon of beans and blowing on them; if the skins burst, the beans are sufficiently cooked. Drain beans, throw away water. Scald rind of one pound of salt pork, scrape and remove two one-inch slices; lay these in the bottom of the bean pot, peel and slice one medium sized onion over pork. Score the rind of the remaining pork every half inch, making gashes one inch deep.

Put beans in pot and bury the pork in them, leaving only the rind exposed. Mix in a bowl one tablespoon salt, one tablespoon molasses, and two of sugar; add one cup boiling water and pour over beans; then fill up bean pot with boiling water until water bubbles up among the beans. Cover bean pot, and place in oven. Bake slowly six or eight hours; remove cover the last half hour of cooking to brown and crisp the pork rind. When necessary add more water. One-half tablespoon of ground mustard may be added with the other seasonings. It seems to add to the digestibility of the beans. Serve with steamed Boston brown bread.

Cream of Indian Soup.
Mix together a tablespoonful of flour, a quarter cupful of cornmeal and a half teaspoonful of salt. Stir gradually into a quart of boiling water, and after boiling up well put into a double boiler and cook an hour and a half. Add a cupful of rich milk or cream and serve with popcorn or croutons.

DIDN'T GET THE SITUATION

Flight of Eloquence Wasted by Friend of Dobkins — Pretty Enough, But Not Appropriate.

"What makes you act so grouchy this morning, Dobkins?"

"Had an addition to my family."

"What? Why, you ought to be ashamed to be gloomy over that! To think that a normal human being should be angry because of the advent of such a cherub! Do you actually grudge a place in your happy home to an innocent creature fresh from heaven, bringing with it the very fragrance of these celestial realms? Do you greet with an unwelcoming chill a small epitome of all purity and sweetness given into your keeping as a priceless, though undeserved treasure by a too benevolent Providence? A lovely copy of what fancy feigns the angels to be like—a tiny shred of grace and glory, snatched from the—"

"Say, that's very pretty, but do you know you're talking about my mother-in-law?"

AN INTOLERABLE ITCHING

"Just about two years ago, some form of humor appeared on my scalp. The beginning was a slight itching but it grew steadily worse until, when I combed my hair, the scalp became raw and the ends of the comb-teeth would be wet with blood. Most of the time there was an intolerable itching, in a painful, burning way, very much as a bad, raw burn, if deep, will feel and smart when first beginning to heal. Combing my hair was positive torture. My hair was long and tangled terribly because of the blood and scabs. This continued growing worse and over half my hair fell out. I was in despair, really afraid of becoming totally bald.

"Sometimes the pain was so great that, when partially awake, I would scratch the worst places so that my finger-tips would be bloody. I could not sleep well and, after being asleep a short time, that awful stinging pain would commence and then I would wake up nearly wild with the torture. A neighbor said it must be salt rheum. Having used Cuticura Soap merely as a toilet soap before, I now decided to order a set of the Cuticura Remedies — Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills. I used them according to directions for perhaps six weeks, then left off, as the disease seemed to be eradicated, but toward spring, eighteen months ago, there was a slight return of the scalp humor. I commenced the Cuticura treatment at once, so had very little trouble. On my scalp I used about one half a cake of Cuticura Soap and half a box of Cuticura Ointment in all. The first time I took six or seven bottles of Cuticura Pills and the last time three bottles—neither an expensive or tedious treatment. Since then I have had no scalp trouble of any kind. Standing up, with my hair unbound, it comes to my knees and had it not been for Cuticura I should doubtless be wholly bald.

"This is a voluntary, unsolicited testimonial and I take pleasure in writing it, hoping my experience may help someone else. Miss Lillian Brown, R. F. D. 1, Liberty, Me., Oct. 29, 1905."

Didn't Care to Mention His Name.
A colored woman presented herself the other day in an equal suffrage state at the place of registration to qualify for the casting of her vote on the school question at the next election.

"With what political party do you affiliate?" inquired the clerk of the unaccustomed applicant, using the prescribed formula.

The dusky "lady" blushed, all coyness and confusion. "Is I 'bleged to answer that there question?"

"Certainly; the law requires it."
"Then," retreating in dismay, "I don't believe I'll vote, 'case I'd hate to have to mention the party's name. He's one of the nicest gent-mums in town." — Ladies' Home Journal.

Where Was John?

A San Francisco woman whose husband had been dead some years went to a medium who produced the spirit of her dead husband.

"My dear John," said the widow to the spirit, "are you happy now?"

"I am very happy," John replied.

"Happier than you were on earth with me?" she asked.

"Yes," was the answer; "I am far happier now than I was on earth with you."

"Tell me, John, what is it like in heaven?"

"Heaven!" said John. "I'm not in heaven." — Lippincott's.

Could Do It, Too.

A female lion-tamer, young and fair, beckoned to a big lion, and it came and took a piece of sugar out of her mouth.

"Why, I could do that trick!" exclaimed a gentleman in the front row.

"What! You?" retorted the fair performer.

"Certainly—just as well as the lion." — Lippincott's.

The Plumber's Bequest.

Dying Plumber (to son)—You'll find I ain't bin able to leave you much money, Bill; it's all got to go to yer mother and sisters. But I've bequeathed you that there job at Mugley's we've bin at such a time. Don't 'urry over it, Bill, and it'll always keep you out of want, anyway. — Tit-Bits.

One Big Difference.

Heck—in my view, the partnership of marriage is precisely like a partnership in business.

Peck—You're away off! In business a man sometimes gets a silent partner; in marriage never. — Boston Transcript.

It May Come.

"There's one thing we will have to change if these ladies who wish to vote have their way," said Senator Sorghum.

"What is that?"

"We'll have to quit talking about 'the wisdom of the plain people.'" — Washington Star.

Wrecked by Wind.

A strong wind, assuming almost cyclonic proportions, struck the editor's home Sunday, about 6:30 p. m., and wrecked every shed and building on the place, save the dwelling. Sheds and chicken house were scattered over the flat, torn into kindling wood, much of it, and a number of chickens killed. The storm missed the dwelling, or another story might be told. The loss was about $100.00.
