Statehood a Fact.

The Senate Enabling Act was passed by the House Saturday, just as it went through the Senate, and the president attached his signature to the measure Monday morning. The act was far from pleasing to the House members, as the Senate bill made some vital changes in the House bill; but the House realized that if any legislation on statehood was adopted at this session it was absolutely necessary to accept the bill presented by the Senate.

The following are some of the important provisions in the Enabling Act:

A proclamation for a constitutional convention will be issued by the governor within thirty days after the president attaches his signature to the bill. The constitutional convention will be composed of one hundred delegates, which number will be apportioned on the basis of the vote cast for delegate to congress in 1908, the apportionment to be made by the governor, chief justice and secretary of the territory.

The election of delegates shall not be earlier than sixty days nor more than ninety days from the approval of the act. General registration and election laws will govern the election of delegates; and the convention, when called to order, shall be the sole judge of the election and qualification of its members.

The delegates to the convention are to meet in the representative hall at Santa Fe, the capital, the fourth Monday after their election, and shall receive compensation for days actually in session, but not for more than sixty days in all.

The constitution so framed by the convention shall guaranty perfect religious toleration, and forever prohibit polygamous or plural marriages, and the sale of intoxicating liquors to Indians.

That the people disclaim any right or title to the unappropriated and ungranted public lands.

That the debts and liabilities of the territory and the counties thereof which are valid shall be assumed and paid by the state.

That provision shall be made to establish and maintain a system of public schools, free from sectarian control, and that said schools shall always be conducted in English.

That the state shall never enact a law restricting or abridging the right of suffrage on account of race, color, etc., and that ability to read, write, speak and understand the English language sufficiently well to conduct the duties of the office without the aid of an interpreter shall be a necessary qualification for all state officers and members of the state legislature.

That the United States reserves the right to construct reclamation projects, and that the state has no more power nor control over such affairs than had the territory.

That said constitution, when formed, shall be presented to the people for ratification at an election to be held on a day named by the convention, not earlier than ninety days after the convention adjourns, and if a majority of the votes so cast at said election be against the adoption of the constitution, the governor shall order the constitutional convention to re-assemble within twenty days, prepare a new constitution, which shall be presented to the people in the same manner as prescribed in the first constitution.

That, upon the adoption of a constitution, the president and congress must approve the constitution, or the president approve and congress fail to dis-prove at its first session, before the admission of the territory to statehood.

That in addition to sections 16 and 36, heretofore granted New Mexico, sections 2 and 32 in every township not otherwise appropriated are granted for the support of the common schools.

That five per cent of the proceeds from sales of public lands shall go to create a permanent school fund, and the interest derived from said fund only to be used.

The sum of $100,000 is appropriated to defray all expenses, the cost of the election of delegates and the mileage and per diem of the members to be the same as holding such elections now in force in the territory, and the fees of the delegates to be the same as members of the legislature.

All saline lands are reserved from entry.

That the present county and territorial officers shall continue to discharge their respective duties until the territory is a state.

Work on Court House.

Work on the court house began Tuesday morning, and the work will be pushed to completion as early as possible. Contractor Bechtel has ordered his material, has begun excavations for basement and foundation, and is hauling sand and gravel for the cement work.

The litigation that has been in progress the past two months has delayed the building and been a source of loss to the contractor as well as the people. At the meeting of the board of county commissioners this week, an amended contract was made whereby some slight changes were made in the building and a heavier foundation agreed upon. Contractor Bechtel hopes to have the building ready for occupancy by the first of the year.

Menelik is dead—again, or at last.

The hookworm grows fat in the spring.

The "wanderlust" season is here. The shoe man smiles.

Pity "central" on that proposed telephone from Scotland to Paris.

A coffee and sinker breakfast often follows a supper on lobster a la Newburg.

Better make a note in your diary about four years ahead that grape crops are finest in comet years.

King Menelik, rested by his recent decease, is taking hold of his public duties with renewed zest and vigor.

A Chicago man has asked a divorce because his wife drank two cases of beer a day. What she wants is a pipe line.

It is still pretty hard to get anything less than the kidnapping of a millionaire's child into the daily press.

St. Louis man swears that his subconscious self was in control when he got married. Sounds much like the majority of cases.

The movement to teach girls how to cook pie has been greeted with great pleasure by the many men who have heretofore dreaded marriage.

A New York cafe that arbitrarily required its patrons to wear evening dress has been closed, thus striking another blow for freedom of action.

You can step on the grass in New York now. But somehow there are other things we'd rather do while paying hotel bills at the rate of $8 a minute.

A Sing Sing prisoner complains that he was given an ammonia bath. Probably some improvement installed since they started calling the place Ossining.

A Chicago doctor says that a man is as old as his blood vessels. The men in St. Paul also usually are about the same age as their bones, nerves and other paraphernalia.

A clubwoman wants college girls protected. She fears they think too deeply. Well, if they didn't think deeply at times how should we know the correct way to make fudge?

Professor Lowell, now in England, tells Britons that the inhabitants of Mars are intelligent organisms, but not at all like men. But he did not mean this as a slur on human beings.

If you have a bad memory, says one of the "good thing" pages, safeguard it by jotting down in a notebook a little memorandum of the promises you make, just as a small reminder. Um! Very good. Believe, at the same time, somebody could make quite a bit of money by marketing a handy forgetter.

Friends of the art league in Chicago are urging the park board to abandon the word "boulevard" and to call the highways connecting the park systems "drives," or "roads," or "parkways." The people of Chicago are rapidly becoming purists. It will be remembered that Eugene Field prophesied that if Chicago ever got interested in culture, Chicago would make culture hum.

CUT TENONS WITH HAND-SAW

Implement is of Great Assistance in Construction of Mission Furniture—How to Do It.

This home-made tool will be a great help in the construction of mission furniture. With its use, tenons may be entirely cut with a saw, discarding the use of a chisel and mallet. The device consists of a convenient length of straight board, A, Fig. 1, wide enough to cover the widest piece to be tenoned, writes W. B. Sanders in Popular Mechanics. A piece of board, B, is fastened to A with brads or small screws. This board should have a thickness equal to the piece to be cut from the side of the tenon. The piece C is fastened to A and B with small cleats at their upper ends. The space between B and C should be wide enough for the blade of a saw to run through easily, and also long enough to take in the widest part of the saw blade. The tool and piece to be tenoned are placed in a vise as shown in Fig. 2. The width of the piece removed for the tenon may be varied by putting in pieces of cardboard between the work, E, and the piece A, Fig. 1.

Asbestos Slates Waterproof.

Asbestos slates, now produced in Munich, are claimed to have been made quite waterproof and as hard and strong as ordinary slates, so that they may be used for walls and roofs without wooden lathing. They can be bored, cut and nailed like wood. They give a fireproof covering, have great value for electrical insulation, and serve for the surface of walls and ceilings of all kinds, doors, bulkheads, etc., to protect them not only from fire, but also from heat, cold, dampness, disease germs and vermin of every variety.

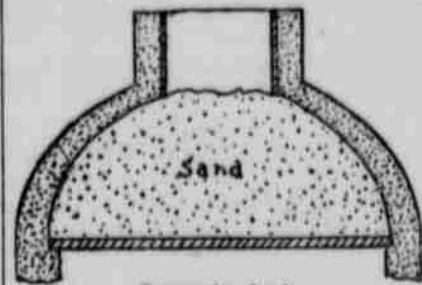

BUILDING A CONCRETE ARCH

Practical Method of Construction Where One Is Desired Over a Well or Cistern.

Where it is desired to arch over a well or cistern, or any other structure the following method will be found of use, says Homestead.

After the wall is to the point where the arch is to begin or the skewbacks, lay a temporary platform of boards on the wall with the edges resting on same just enough to hold and no more; upon this pile up sand into the form the arch is to be made, and within about 18 inches of the top of ground; upon this sand set a box form to mold the man-hole to the well.

Now plaster the concrete around the sand and box form, in the manner shown in illustration; for all ordinary work it should be from three and one-half inches to five inches thick depending on the diameter of the well or cistern.

As soon as the concrete has hardened take out the sand with shovel, then the temporary platform may be removed and the work plastered on the inside. This form of construction may be employed in making a circular roof to a concrete silo, the man-hole finished as a cupola or ventilator to the silo, or the roof may be solid by arranging a door in the platform, and when ready to remove, let down this door and allow the sand to run out, when the boards may be removed.

SCREEN FOR THE REGISTER

Simple and Effective Method for Preventing Articles From Falling Down Air Pipes.

A simple and very effective means for preventing articles dropped on the floor from falling down the hot air pipes is shown in the accompanying illustration, writes J. A. Brophy in Scientific American. Cut a piece of wire mosquito netting, 1, the size of the floor opening. By lifting out the floor register, 2, the netting can be placed over the opening in the hot air pipe, 3, as shown. Better still, bend a piece of stiff wire to the shape of floor opening, and after turning the edges of netting over this frame, sew the netting to the frame with fine wire. Galvanized wire netting is preferable to the painted netting. The writer has been able by this method to reclaim several articles of value that had dropped into a floor register.

Heat From Rain.

Messrs. Muntz and Gaudechon have recently experimented in France on the heat imparted to the soil by rain, which they think may play a part hitherto unrecognized in the phenomena of vegetation. When the soil has reached a certain degree of dryness, the application of moisture produces a rise of temperature, which is greater in proportion to the fineness of the materials. Coarse, sandy soil is not heated by contact with moisture, while soil composed mostly of humus is specially subject to such influence.

ANOTHER WOMAN CURED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Black Duck, Minn.—"About a year ago I wrote you that I was sick and could not do any of my housework. My sickness was called Retroflexion. When I would sit down I felt as if I could not get up. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and did just as you told me and now I am perfectly cured, and have a big baby boy." — Mrs. ANNA ANDERSON, Box 19, Black Duck, Minn.

Consider This Advice.

No woman should submit to a surgical operation, which may mean death, until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made exclusively from roots and herbs, a fair trial.

This famous medicine for women has for thirty years proved to be the most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It cures female ills, and creates radiant, buoyant female health. If you are ill, for your own sake as well as those you love, give it a trial.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

Mrs. Frederick H. Snyder is the only woman impresario on earth, she says. She decided that grand opera would be a good thing for St. Paul and made her first venture so successful that she has continued in the business after the fashion of men engaged in the same work.

Among the primary pupils enrolled in a Baltimore school this term is the son of a prominent business man of that city.

One afternoon, at close of school, the youngster sought out his father in his office, to whom he said:

"Dad, I'm getting tired of school. I think I'll quit."

"Why?" asked the astonished parent; "what's the matter, Tommy? I thought you were fond of going to school."

"So I am, dad," responded the youngster, suppressing a yawn, "but it breaks up the day so."—Harper's Magazine.

BROOM FOR THE FIREPLACE

Hearth Brush Not a Hard Thing to Put Together and Will Be Found Most Serviceable.

Have you a fireplace that you like to keep nicely brushed up, or any other little corner that needs occasional dusting? A hearth brush is a very easy thing to make, a useful thing to have and an attractive addition to the furniture of any fireplace, colonial or modern. The real ones are not, I believe, to be had in this part of the country. Try making it yourself.

Go or send to some broom factory for a handful of the longest broomcorn stalks. You may be lucky enough to get them nearly three feet long, but 26 inches or two feet will be plenty long enough, and ten cents will fully cover the price. Take as many as you can grasp in one hand, say a bundle as thick as your wrist, and soak the stems in water for an hour. Hot water is best. This will make them far softer and easier to work with.

Now take ordinary brown binder or wrapping twine, the rougher the better, make a slipknot around the bundle below the middle, holding the stems uppermost and the broom end on the ground, and wind tightly, as tightly as you can pull the twine, making a collar of twine about an inch long. The ends can be secured by sewing them into the stems with a mattress needle or thrusting them through with a hairpin. Make another collar like it about halfway up, and a third two or three inches from the butt end of the stems, and your broom is done and ready for use as soon as dry. And you will have a real southern hearth broom, practically indestructible, and better looking than any you can buy in the shops.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Pressed Chicken.

Cut as a stew. Skin the feet and place in the bottom of a stew pan. Arrange the fowl on top, just cover with water and cook slowly until tender. Do not let the meat brown. Separate the dark and light meat and throw away the feet, from which the gluten has been extracted. Chop liver, skin, heart and gizzard fine. Add these chopped giblets to a dressing of stale bread crumbs seasoned and moistened with a little hot water and butter. Arrange the large pieces of meat around the sides and bottom of a baking dish, alternating dark and light, and fill alternately with dressing and chicken until the dish is full. Remove the fat from the water in which the chicken was cooked, heat boiling hot and pour over the chicken. Put into a press for several hours and when cold slice.

A Good Boiled Dressing.

For those who do not like a mayonnaise made of oil this dressing will find favor. When bottled and kept in a cool place it will last a long time.

Beat the yolks of two eggs until lemon colored and thick, then add to them one-half teaspoonful each dry mustard and salt. Next heat in slowly four tablespoonfuls melted butter and six tablespoonfuls hot vinegar. Cook in a double boiler until it thickens. When cold, and just before serving, a cupful of cream, sweet or sour, may be folded in. This is especially adapted to use with lettuce, celery, string beans, asparagus and cauliflower.

Relish.

At this time of year, when pickles and chili sauce run short, while the craving for acids is much greater than usual, a delicious chili sauce can be made from canned tomatoes. Put in the preserving kettle one quart of canned tomatoes, three green peppers chopped fine, or four small ripe ones, two minced onions, two tablespoonfuls each of salt and sugar, one of cinnamon, and three scant cupfuls of vinegar, or less if you do not like it very acid. Simmer gently two or three hours, then bottle. This will keep for a long time. Stone jars are better for chili sauce than glass.

Importation of Leeches.

Leeches are enumerated by the bureau of statistics under its general head of animals imported, the total value of the imports of this species in 1908 having been $5,341; in 1907, $6,922; in 1906, $4,494; in 1905, $3,862; in 1904, $3,589; in 1903, $3,240, and in 1902, $2,412—the commerce in leeches being thus of a growing character. The total value of the leeches imported into the United States in the decade ending with 1908, is about $40,000. Leeches are imported free of duty. Snails were at one time enumerated as an article of importation, the records from 1894 to 1898 showing snails imported to the extent of about $5,000; but the snail trade so dwindled, showing only $24 of imports in 1898, that the bureau discontinued its statements of this article.

Too Lavish.

Mrs. Dobbs was trying to find out the likes and dislikes of her new boarder, and all she learned increased her satisfaction.

"Do you want pie for breakfast?" she asked.

"No, I thank you," said the new boarder, with a smile. "Pie for breakfast seems a little too much."

"That's just the way I look at it," said Mrs. Dobbs, heartily. "I say pie for dinner is a necessity, and pie for supper gives a kind of finishing touch to the day; but pie for breakfast is what I call putting on airs."—Youth's Companion.

Noisy Nuisances.

Ill-fitting doors and windows represent a happy hunting ground for the disturbing winds. In fact, so annoying does the constant rattle of these openings become that many determined individuals, who resolve to admit the fresh air, choose the lesser of two evils and close the openings in preference to sleepless nights. This can be remedied if a small wedge of wood be driven in at the side of an open window; a door can be prevented from rattling if a pad or strip of thick felt be nailed on the edge of the door.

The annoyance of creaking drawers can be eliminated by rubbing common soap upon the top, sides and bottom of each.

Creaking hinges on anything should be well oiled, while the grating, irritating noise of a sewing machine can be overcome in a similar manner.

The little noises wear away the patience that is required for other things. It were foolish to dissipate energy through the channels of irritated nerves when a little time will obviate the nuisances.

Out of the Race.

Because of the general scrapping match between the various cities as to who shall have the honor of the National or International Congress of Aviators, Washington and Baltimore have both withdrawn from the whole business.

Under the provisions of the enabling act, New Mexico will have 1,000,000 acres of land with which to pay her debts, instead of 3,000,000, as provided in the house bill.

That we have statehood is due largely, if not wholly, to President Taft. Congress was more than indifferent, and but for the president's urging no new stars would have been added to the flag this session.

Now, that a statehood bill has passed both houses and been signed by the president, we hear little about the part our delegate took in bringing it about. Could it be possible that, in the exuberance of spirits, Andrews has been lost in the shuffle? Perish the thought!

The fight between the big bruisers—Jeffries and Johnson—will not take place at San Francisco. At the eleventh hour, Governor Gillett interfered and invoked the law against pugilistic contests. Tex. Ricard, the promoter, soon made arrangements to pull the fight off at Reno, Nevada. Therefore, the Sage Brush state will have the eyes of the world on it for the next ten days.

In the special school election held here Tuesday, on the proposition to issue $6,000.00 in bonds and to levy 5 mills additional to pay interest and to defray school expenses, fifty-nine votes were cast. Of this number fifty-eight voted for both propositions, while one was recorded against. This means that Carrizozo will erect another building similar to the one we have, or rather, the addition will be a duplicate of the present one, doubling its capacity. The people of Carrizozo saw the necessity for more school room, and though the improvement will add some to the tax burden the tax payers faced the music without a murmur.

At the special meeting of the board of county commissioners here Monday, all differences with Contractor Bechtel were adjusted and work on the building authorized. In addition to this, the board authorized Road Supervisor Ferguson to begin work on the Roswell-Carrizozo road, between the Nogal hill and Capitan, and appropriated $500.00 as a beginning on the work. The right of way for this important highway has been secured, and it is the intention of the board to complete the work as soon as possible. More funds will be available in July and with aid from the Lincoln County Good Roads Association all financial difficulties should be overcome.

Statehood is promised us after a fashion, and while it is possibly better than none, that is about as far as one could go in approving it. And yet, we may not actually achieve statehood in the end; for if we should adopt a constitution, whether good or bad, and it failed to meet the approval of the president or congress, we would still be out in the cold. Many steps are to be taken before we really become a state, and it is a little early to begin setting off fireworks. A constitution has to be prepared, the people have to approve it and then it must meet the approval of the federal authorities. The path is a long and tedious one, and it will take two years or more to cover the distance.

The Fourth of July committee is making great preparations for that great day that is so dear to the hearts of the American people. Phil Reasoner will have charge of the barbecue, assisted by R. E. Bruce; so we look forward to a grand feast.

A. L. Jennings, of Cripple Creek and Aspen, Colorado, has bonded a claim from Wishar & Hedges for $10,000.00, and expects to get to work in a few days, or as soon as Chas. E. Anderson arrives from Aspen.

A foot race has been matched for Monday, June 27th, at Ancho, the runners representing the Jics and Ancho. The contestants will be Juan Montoya and a man from Mexico, name unknown.

Miss Pearl Taylor, our school teacher, with the pupils of the school, will render some national songs and patriotic pieces on the morning of the 4th. Come early and enjoy the entire program.

Saturday and Sunday Games.

Two games of ball were played in the local diamond, Saturday and Sunday, between the Capitán and Carrizozo ball teams. Saturday's game resulted in the defeat of Capitán by a score of 8 to 2. In the Sunday game Capitán left the post in a run, and up to the beginning of the inning, the score stood 7 to 3 in favor of the visitors. The first half of the ninth, when Carrizozo came to bat, a rally occurred in which Carrizozo made eight runs, and most of them were made after two men had gone down, and the third man died hard. Capitán came to bat the last time, and it looked as though they would duplicate the effort of Carrizozo, but they were retired after having sent three men around the bases, and the score stood 10 to 11 in favor of Carrizozo.

Obituary.

Joseph Henry Adams, son of J. D. and Maud Adams, who live in the Highland addition, was born Feb. 14, 1908, and after an illness of only 3 days, died in great peace June 18, 1910, aged 2 years, 4 months and 4 days.

We can speculate on some things and have honest doubts about some others, but in this case there is no room whatever for either.

Little Joseph is in heaven for a certainty. There is room enough in Paradise for father, mother and all the rest of the family to have a home in glory. Your servant in deep sympathy,
W. W. GRAHAM.

LINCOLN LOCALS.

Fred Burleson, Willie Norman and George Sisneros gave a dance at the court house Friday night in honor of Miss Helen Canning of Carrizozo. The attendance was large and all present had a nice time, young and old participating in the functions of the evening.

Miss Bessie Dolan returned home a few days ago from California. She graduated with first honors at the Kings Conservatory of Music of San Jose, Cal., and was awarded the degree of "B. A." She expects to resume her musical studies this fall.

Misses Genevieve Riggie and Helen Canning were the guests of the family of Emil Fritz last Friday and were very pleasantly entertained.

A jolly crowd of young folks started for the Cole ranch close to Tinnie last Sunday horseback and returned safe and sound for supper. Those in the party were: Misses Genevieve Riggie, Iona Stevens and Reatha Owen. Fred Burleson acted as the chaperon of the party, a very wise selection as Fred is known as a lady's man and possesses all the graces of chaperon.

Fred Riggie gave a party to his friends on the occasion of his 10th birthday last Friday. A very pleasant entertainment awaited the youngsters and after the program had been carried out, refreshments were served. All the participants report a good time.

On account of the 4th of July falling on Monday, the regular July meeting of the Board of County Commissioners has been postponed till the 6th of July and the session of the Probate Court till the 5th of July.

Former Lincoln County Boy Killed.

News reached here this week of the accidental killing, at Dawson, of Alvis Bradford, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Bradford, who formerly lived at Capitan. Alvis was about sixteen years old, had attended the Military Institute at Roswell one term, and was preparing to re-enter that institution this fall. The mere announcement that his death was accidental is all the information we have as to the nature of the young man's death. The people of Lincoln county, many of whom were warm friends of the family for years, deeply sympathize with them.

Not A Baptist.

Born, Friday night, to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gray, a fine baby boy. Mother and child are doing well, notwithstanding some of the proclivities evinced by the youngster. As he was being made ready for the reception of company, and the young fellow was receiving a large share of attention, a question arose as to what name should be given. One lady, wife of a well known man of the town, suggested the name of "John;" "for," said she, "he won't stay awake long enough to take his bath." It is to be hoped, however, that age will correct this proclivity, so early developed, and that he will not go through life with such an indifferent feeling for nature's beverage. As "Johns" are numerous and we fear to tread too far on dangerous ground, we will merely add that the reference to the aforesaid "John" the lady was alluding to one of the prominent characteristics of her husband.

We failed to note last week the arrival of Wesley Reily and family from Louisiana. Mr. Reily is a cousin of W. M. Reily, and has decided to exchange, for a time at least, the swamps of Louisiana for the plains and mountains of New Mexico.

W. W. Slack passed through yesterday on his way from Eagle Creek to his home at Gallinas. On his Eagle Creek ranch Mr. Slack has a twenty acre field of Irish potatoes, from which he anticipates a yield of 200,000 pounds—10,000 to the acre. This is some spuds, ain't it?

The hearing of Matt Smith, charged with holding up train No. 2, near here, on the night of June 9th, has been postponed till tomorrow. Smith's attorney, George Spence, and witnesses will go to Alamogordo tonight. No new developments in the case, so far as the public is aware, have been brought to the surface, and the public await the result of the hearing tomorrow with interest.

J. L. Poole, wife, daughter and baby reached Carrizozo Wednesday, and went yesterday to Capitan from which point they drove to the Jap N. Coe homestead on the Ruidoso. Mr. Poole pur-

A forest fire in Alamo Canyon, near Alamogordo, last Saturday night, burnt over considerable ground, and, we understand, killed quite a number of sheep. The fire was plainly discernable from this place, and considerable speculation was indulged in as to its location. The general opinion was that it was in the San Andres, which are forty miles from where the fire actually occurred.

HELP FOR THE AGED.

No Need to Longer Suffer from Kidney Trouble.

Mrs. Catherine Sullivan, 1712 Mofatt St., Joplin, Mo., says: "Like most elderly people, I suffered from kidney trouble for years. My back ached intensely and there was a feeling of numbness in my spine. My hands cramped and the urinary passages were profuse. Doctors prescribed for me but I was not benefited. At last I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills. They drove my troubles away, and I now enjoy excellent health."

"The chap who works on one side of me," said an office man, "has been married six weeks and he sneaks to the telephone about four times a day and calls up his wife, and then I hear him saying: 'Dear, how is your headache now? I hope you are feeling better.' Then pretty soon he comes back to his desk and goes to work again all smiling."

"The man who works on the other side of me has been married six years and he goes to the telephone only when he's called and then I hear him saying: 'Why, I can't possibly do that, I can't spare the money;' and then he comes back to his desk all scowling."

"And, really, when I hear the way these two men go on I don't know what to do. I don't know whether to get married or to stay a bachelor."

CHOOSING THE FOWL

POINTS HOUSEWIFE WILL DO WELL TO CONSIDER.

Small Matters Tell of Much of Advantage to the Prudent Cook—Treatment of Old Turkey a Matter of Some Moment.

In choosing poultry the age of the bird is the principal thing to consider. The best chickens are plump on the breast and back, with smooth, yellow legs, skin that tears easily, and the lower part of the breastbone soft and pliable. If the bird selected has a tuft of clean feathers at the knees and neck the buyer will be certain of its excellence, for only the higher priced chickens are sold in this way. Cold storage chickens, which are practically poisonous to delicate stomachs, look bruised or very yellow, and the meat is dry and generally tasteless.

A young turkey may be known by its short spurs and black and smooth legs, and the age of a young duck told by tearing the skin of the foot between the toes. If it comes easily apart the duck is young; if the skin stretches like rubber the bird is old. The good-eating goose is the one whose windpipe makes a crackling sound under pressure between the fingers, and whose under-wing skin breaks through delicately when the thumb is pressed against it. All poultry should hang for 48 hours in a cool place after the killing. If it is cooked before this, or the blood is not properly drained off, the flesh will be tough and unwholesome.

The dry-picked fowl tastes 90 per cent. better than the one which has been scalded for the removal of the feathers. The plucking is easily done while the bird is still warm, and if the intestines are removed before it is hung up for the day and night it will be all the sweeter. This rule applies to all birds, domestic or wild, though where a wild turkey or duck needs to be kept for two or three weeks before eating it need not be drawn. Epicures like their wild birds hung up by the bill; when this gives way and the bird drops to the ground it is thought ready for eating.

Old fowls or geese are made more tender if rubbed outside and inside with salt and left this way over night. A final good washing with soda will make the flesh still more delicate. An old turkey may also be rubbed with salt over night, and be treated, as well, to several teaspoons of vinegar. When ready to cook it wash all the vinegar away and rub the bird finally with a freshly cut lemon. Guinea fowls and rabbit are not fit to eat unless they have been kept hanging up in a cool place quite ten days after being killed.

The freshness of fish may easily be told, even in the coldest weather. Look always for color in the gills, for fresh whole eyes, and for bright scales. Never take a fish which looks dull and dead, for this means it has been a long time out of water. The safest choice is made from those lying on the tables and not from the ice box. Trust the nose a little, too. If the fish smells rank, is faintly suggestive of carrion, flee its presence. It may be quite stale, frozen and refrozen to conceal its true condition. Five minutes in a hot kitchen would make such a fish unbearable. Before cooking any fish wash it thoroughly in cold, salted water. It must then be carefully dried on a clean towel, or it will be soppy when cooked.

Rhubarb Ginger.

Wash, but do not peel, the rhubarb. The pink skin gives it a pretty color. Measure the rhubarb and allow as much sugar as you have fruit. To four pounds each sugar and rhubarb allow the juice of two lemons and the yellow rinds, cut thin, with an eighth of a pound of green ginger root cut in thin slices. Cook until thick as marmalade.

Fortune Telling

Does not take into consideration the one essential to woman's happiness—womanly health.

The woman who neglects her health is neglecting the very foundation of all good fortune. For without health love loses its lustre and gold is but dross.

Womanly health when lost or impaired may generally be regained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This Prescription has, for over 40 years, been curing delicate, weak, pain-wracked women, by the hundreds of thousands and this too in the privacy of their homes without their having to submit to indelicate questionings and offensively repugnant examinations.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free.

All correspondence held as sacredly confidential. Address World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Great Family Doctor Book, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, newly revised up-to-date edition—1000 pages, answers in Plain English hosts of delicate questions which every woman, single or married, ought to know about. A Storekeeper Says:

"A lady came into my store lately and said:

"I have been using a New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove all winter in my apartment. I want one now for my summer home. I think these oil stoves are wonderful. If only women knew what a comfort they are, they would all have one. I spoke about my stove to a lot of my friends, and they were astonished. They thought that there was smell and smoke from an oil stove, and that it heated a room just like any other stove. I told them of my experience, and one after another they got one, and now, not one of them would give hers up for five times its cost."

The lady who said this had thought an oil stove was all right for quickly heating milk for a baby, or boiling a kettle of water, or to make coffee quickly in the morning, but she never dreamed of using it for difficult or heavy cooking. Now—she knows.

Do you really appreciate what a New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove means to you? No more coal to carry, no more coming to the dinner table so tired out that you can't eat. Just light a Perfection Stove and immediately the heat from an intense blue flame shoots up to the bottom of pot, kettle or oven. But the room isn't heated. There is no smoke, no smell, no outside heat, no drudgery in the kitchen where one of these stoves is used.

Cautionary Note: Be sure you get this stove—see that the name-plate reads "New Perfection."

New Perfection WICK BLUE FLAME Oil Cook-stove

It has a Cabinet Top with a shelf for keeping plates and food hot. The nickel finish, with the bright blue of the chimneys, makes the stove ornamental and attractive. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet.

THE SMART BODICE

TWO DISTINGUISHING CHARACTERISTICS THIS SEASON.

Girlishness of Effect and the Velling of One Material With Another. Mark These Garments Always So Popular.

Two qualities distinguish the smart bodices which are now being put forth—girlishness of effect and the velling of one material with another. The daintiest waists defy time, paying no more heed to the middle-aged wearer than if she did not exist, and it is not enough for you to buy one material for your fine corsage; you must have quite three to look as if you were keeping up with the times. The exceptions to this rule are the bodices made or altered to suit some wearer who is very conservative in taste, the spinster or matron who confesses candidly: "Really, I am too old for those dear, giddy things," and also for the girl of quiet habit of dress who does not like to be conspicuous by the more dashing phases of fashion, as the very newest kinks are apt to make one.

The most notable waist feature of the moment is the kimono sleeve, which appears in every species of dress and odd bodice, giving the wearer a decidedly jaunty and up-to-date stamp. But the new kimono sleeve is by no means like the old one. It is narrow to the point of actual discomfort when the arms are lifted, for then the close, seamless fit over the shoulders declares that the style is chiefly for looks. With this smart and uncomfortable arm covering goes often a collarless neck, and under the edge of the little elbow sleeve there will be a dainty undersleeve some inches longer, or wrist length, which matches the texture of the guimpe.

With a really fine bodice the guimpe and undersleeves may be of some unbleached tissue—dull silver or gold—but these dazzling materials will be veiled with the gauze or net which is used for the waist.

A pretty freak for afternoon dresses is to veil satin foulard in checks and figures with a plain velling or chiffon, either of these textures forming a blouse and tunic, and softening the somewhat hard effect of the silk immensely.

I show a waist in white linen with a hand scalloped edge, which would be useful as an odd garment and most effective as part of a white dress for a young woman.

If needlework of this sort is impossible for the sewer, an edge of machine embroidery or a bias band may be used instead of the hand scalloping. A pongee dress made with a waist in this style would be an excellent hot weather garment and one that would resist the destroying influences of the laundress. For all garments must be made with a degree of plainness to wash well.

HANG COAT UP CAREFULLY

Either Masculine or Feminine Garment Can Easily Be Put Out of Shape.

"If anything distresses me," said the particular woman, "it is to see a person, whether man or woman, hang up a coat by the collar, or even by a loop on the collar.

"There is nothing that so quickly destroys the shape of a garment and pulls the collar, be it ever so carefully fitted, out of shape as this.

"If there is not a coat hanger handy there undoubtedly is a chair over which the garment may rest. If I were a man I should see to it that my business office closet was provided with coat hangers. Then, when I took off my coat and exchanged it for the office one I would be happy in knowing that my coat was not getting out of shape.

"I believe I can tell at a glance the men who are particular about hanging up their coats, for there is no tell-tale bulge at the back of the collar."

Transportation.

At a progressive euchre recently given a clever manner was devised for first winner to secure a handsome gift. The tables were arranged to represent various forms of transportation. At the first table the tally cards were decorated with ox carts and the others with buggies, street cars, railroads, automobiles, balloons, airships, etc., in their regular order. At the goal was a box of chocolates decorated with a miniature airship. The booty prize, which was inclosed in a box, was a little metal mule. At each table, however, were trifles to be bestowed upon whosoever happened to be at that table when time was called. All gifts, with the exception of the principal prize, were concealed.

Handkerchiefs.

The border on your handkerchief, if you color it with hand embroidery, should match your tailored suit.

You would have observed, had you lived in France, that the kerchief is very small and the embroidery is, usually large.

The colored work consists of huge coinspots across one corner or round the entire edge. They are worked in solid stitch, padded, and are very rich and, at the same time, dainty.

The most extreme among them show a single dollar-sized dot in one corner. This, done in a velvet blue or a rare azalea pink, is indeed fetching for the young girl in the gay linen costume.

"O'ive thried, Dinnie, but the job's too big for me."

"Thry this once more, Moike. Here's a church forninst us. Go in there, old man, and confess and take a frish start. I'll wait outside."

BABY WASTED TO SKELETON

"My little son, when about a year and a half old, began to have sores come out on his face. I had a physician treat him, but the sores grew worse. Then they began to come out on his arms, then on other parts of his body, and then one came on his chest, worse than the others. Then I called another physician. Still he grew worse. At the end of about a year and a half of suffering he grew so bad that I had to tie his hands in cloths at night to keep him from scratching the sores and tearing the flesh. He got to be a mere skeleton, and was hardly able to walk.

"My aunt advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. I sent to a drug store and got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of the Ointment and followed directions. At the end of two months the sores were all well. He has never had any sores of any kind since. I can sincerely say that only for Cuticura my child would have died. I used only one cake of Cuticura Soap and about three boxes of Ointment.

"I am a nurse and my profession brings me into many different families and it is always a pleasure for me to tell my story and recommend Cuticura Remedies. Mrs. Egbert Sheldon, Litchfield, Conn., Oct. 23, 1909."

The Simple Shepherd!

Let a young woman pin a four leaf clover over the door and the first unmarried man who comes in the door will be the one she is to marry.

By No Means Angelic.

Eugene Walter, the playwright, at a dinner, was accused of pessimism.

"Well," said Walter, "I am not a pessimist, but I don't believe that human nature is by any means angelic. We are all much alike. The best we can do is to curb our faults and favor our virtues."

"What faults should I curb," a very pretty young lady asked.

"Well," said Walter, "I should think you'd have about the same faults to curb as a little girl I talked to yesterday. She's a charming little girl and as we conversed alone in the drawing-room while waiting for her father and mother to come down, I said to her:

"Have you got a sweetheart?"

"She smiled and wriggled. 'Yeth,' she said softly.

"Well," said I, 'I'll give you a quarter if you tell me who he is.'

"Tommy," she answered in a low voice, and I gave her the quarter.

"A few minutes afterward she said suddenly:

"Now, if you'll give me another quarter, I'll tell you who my other sweetheart is."—Rochester Herald.

Fooled by the Ladder.

Clang, clatter, bang! Down the street came the fire engines.

Driving along ahead, obliviously of danger, was a farmer in a ramshackle old buggy. A policeman yelled at him: "Hi, there, look out! The fire department is coming."

Turning in by the curb the farmer watched the hose cart, salvage wagon and engine whizz past. Then he turned out into the street again and drove on. Barely had he started when the hook and ladder came tearing along. The rear wheel of the big truck slewed into the farmer's buggy, smashing it to smithereens and sending the farmer sprawling into the gutter. The policeman ran to his assistance.

"Didn't I tell ye to keep out of the way?" he demanded crossly. "Didn't I tell ye the fire department was coming?"

"Well, concern ye," said the peeved farmer, "I did git outer the way for th' fire department. But what in tarnation was them drunken painters in sech an all-fired hurry fer?"—Everybody's Magazine.

What Robert Was.

The mother of Clara, aged 4, and of Robert, aged 6, was looking at flats. Robert accompanied her. Finally she found an apartment at her price which she thought she would like. The janitor's wife, who acted as agent, thought she would like Robert's mother, too, but she wasn't so sure about the children.

"You say there is another one at home?" she said. "That makes two. We have a rule against admitting children. Still, if the little girl is as nice as the little boy seems to be," here she patted Robert's head affectionately, "I don't know but what it will be all right."

Robert brushed off the approving hand impatiently.

"Don't you fool yourself about me," he said, indignantly. "I'm a regular devil of a fellow, I am."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Attorney General Renders Decision. Board of County Commissioners, Grant County.

Silver City, N. M.

DEAR SIR—Your letter of the 8th instant, was received yesterday and I take the earliest possible moment to answer. Ordinarily, I would feel unwilling to give any opinion about county affairs as that business is committed to the district attorney, but in view of his absence and illness, and in view of my personal relations with him, which are such that I am sure he would not make any objection, I take pleasure in giving you my views of the matters referred to.

My understanding of the law is that neither sheriffs, justices of the peace nor constables, are entitled to any fees from the county treasury for services in cases in the courts of justices of the peace except in felony cases. No statute in terms authorizes the payment of such fees in other cases and without explicit statutory authority the county commissioners ought not to allow such bills.

As to the sheriff's bills for feeding prisoners sentenced to the county jail by a justice of the peace for offenses against the territorial statutes, I see no way of rightfully refusing payment nor is there any practical way of controlling the judicial discretion of the justice of the peace, who is also the city judge, in deciding as to whether any particular offense for which a man is tried before him is one against the territory or one against the city.

FRANK W. CLANCY,
Attorney General.
