The Fourth on Bonito.

An ideal day, a big, good-natured crowd and plenty to eat were the attractive features of the fourth of July celebration on the Bonito. As a matter of fact, it is hardly just only to speak of the fourth, when a large portion of the crowd utilized the third in going and the fifth in returning.

Sunday night the grounds were covered with tents, wagons and other vehicles and probably 200 people spread their blankets, using the blue canopy of heaven for a roof. The morning of the fourth the real rush began, and every road was lined with happy throngs. By noon something like 800 to 1,000 people were scattered among the inviting shades of the cottonwoods that lined both banks of the creek. Many sections of the county were represented, and the meeting of so many old friends produced a handshaking that caused the expenditure of a vast amount of power.

Sports, in the way of pony racing, began early in the morning and continued until noon. A baseball game was also pulled off in the morning, the Fort Stanton second nine and an Angus-Alto team being the contestants. The Stanton team won by a score of 8 to 7. Then dinner was called; and what a dinner! Barbecued beef and mutton, roasted to a brown; juicy and sweet and calculated to tempt the palate of a king. Pies and cakes, salads and such like were there in bounteous plenty, and if any one hungered it must be attributed to dyspepsia.

Following the feast, Attorney Wm. F. A. Gierke, of Lincoln, announced that there would be some speaking, and introduced Messrs. Haley and Canning, of Carrizozo, and Rev. S. M. Johnson, of Ruidoso. Each of these gentlemen spoke for a short time to the best-natured crowd that could be found in a week's travel. No stale vegetables or hen fruit were thrown, and the audience was so good natured and its innate courtesy so manifest that the speakers instead of receiving hisses were given smiles. After the speaking the entire assembly was asked to rise and join in singing "America," which was done with a will.

Sports were again in order, and the broncos were brought forward. Crecensio Carrillo mounted a big gray, and while the old fellow did a few stunts, it was evidently too tame for the sporting blood of an enthusiastic bystander. The enthusiast jumped up behind the man in the saddle, and the old horse again got busy, when suddenly both riders struck terra firma with a dull thud. Tried him again? Yes, and rode him and still another. The next on the sporting program was the roping and tying of goats. There were thirteen entries. Some tied quickly, some did not, and others still chasing their goats. Matt Gilmore won the prize, his time in roping and tying being 21 seconds. A. T. Roberts roped and tied his goat in a fraction less than 20 seconds, but lost out because he tied only two feet. The ball game in the afternoon between Alto-Capitan and Fort Stanton resulted in the defeat of the government by a score of ten to five.

Night found a great portion of the crowd on the grounds, notwithstanding the strenuities of the day, and the dancing platform furnished amusement until daylight the following morning.

It was a great day, in fact as well as name, and we heard no regrets, even though it took some a week to celebrate one day.

Fourth of July Notes.

Carrizozo contributed a large delegation to the Bonito festivities.

The greater portion of the White Oaks people spent the Fourth in the Jicarillas.

Jesse Vandervoort came over from White Oaks Sunday, visited Cloudcroft Monday and returned Tuesday.

The Comrey brothers of Ancho were among those who visited El Paso on the Fourth. A large number from here went also.

Nothing doing in Carrizozo on the Fourth — too many attractions in the mountains. It was probably the quietest day of the year here.

W. M. Riley and family and Ed Harris, of this place, were among those who took in the Tularosa festivities on the Fourth. Ed entered the goat roping competition, but failed to win. A long-horned steer would be more to Ed's liking.

Tularosa had a lively time on the Fourth—goat roping, horse racing and a barbecue. Ex-Governor Curry, Judge A. B. Fall and Judge Sherry were the speakers on the occasion. A public dance in the evening concluded the celebration.

WOMEN'S ILLS.

Many women who suffer with backache, bearing-down pain, headaches and nervousness do not know that these ailments are usually due to trouble with the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills remove the cause.

Mrs. Joseph Cross, Church St., Morrilton, Ark., says: "For weeks I was bent double by pain in my back and the kidney secretions were profuse. My feet and ankles were badly swollen and I had headaches and dizzy spells. Six doctors treated me without relief and I finally began taking Doan's Kidney Pills. They cured me."

Remember the name—Doan's. For sale by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

AFTER SUFFERING ONE YEAR

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Milwaukee, Wis. — "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me a well woman, and I would like to tell the whole world of it. I suffered from female trouble and fearful pains in my back. I had the best doctors and they all decided that I had a tumor in addition to my female trouble, and advised an operation. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman and I have no more backache. I hope I can help others by telling them what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me." — Mrs. Emma L. Smith, 833 First St., Milwaukee, Wis.

The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, actually does cure these obstinate diseases of women after all other means have failed, and that every such suffering woman owes it to herself to at least give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation, or giving up hope of recovery.

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health and her advice is free.

LINEN NEEDS CARE

COMPARATIVELY EASY THING TO SPOIL FINE FABRICS.

Simple Precautions That Will Add Life to the Table Drapery and at the Same Time Greatly Improve Its Appearance.

The housewife who leaves to an overworked maid of all work the care of her linen need not wonder if her best linen is ruined soon.

The napkins should always be folded so the embroidered initial will show on the outer flap, but this still can be done and the napkin folded in different ways each time it is laundered.

Starch is an abomination in good table linen; however, if one has a well worn cloth which seems to have no "body," and thus becomes soiled quickly, it is wise to add about a quart of thin, hot "made starch" to half a tub of bluing water and wring the linen out of this; sufficient "body" will be given it to make it wear much longer before washing is necessary.

When about to iron table linen prepare some hot borax water, and with a clean whisk broom sprinkle every inch of the linen thoroughly, roll up tightly in a clean towel, and let it lie for half an hour or so, and then iron. A small but heavy brush having stiff, fine bristles and a short, thick handle, should be used instead of a coarse comb for fringed linen and dollies.

When there is no room to put the cloth away with a single fold in the middle, it may be folded first in the middle and then the selvedge sides may be turned back, thus folding the cloth into quarters lengthwise, having each fold appear on the right side; there must be no cross folds, however, nor are these necessary if a cloth is well ironed and aired, since it may be laid lightly away in the drawer and carefully smoothed out by hand when it is laid on the table. Several cloths may be stored perfectly in small space by hanging a wooden curtain pole against the wall of the linen closet, throwing the cloths over this pole, one over the other.

It is unwise to put away a piece of stained linen until the general wash day, which is always a difficult day in any household, and then try to remove it.

The average servant, when anything is spilled on a tablecloth, usually removes it from the table and thrusts it into a bag or hamper, still damp, along with the rest of the soiled clothes of a household.

Long before wash day arrives whole families of little creatures are at work and finally, when the linen is removed from the basket to be laundered, there is a greenish spot which cannot be removed only by the use of a strong bleaching agent which surely injures the fabric, although the injury may not be apparent at once. This is the case even if clean water has been spilled on the cloth; in the case of tea or coffee, wine, or fruit juice, if put into the hamper without first removing the stain and drying the cloth, not only is mildew apt to appear but the stain becomes set in the fabric so that it is well nigh impossible ever to remove all trace of it without using an alkali so strong that the fabric is weakened perceptibly.

Instead of first treating the mildew, after it has been allowed to form, the average servant puts the cloth to soak in strong soapy water—perhaps hot water—along with the rest of the soiled linen, and the last state of this tablecloth when it finally emerges from the laundry is worse than the first.

Rhubarb Jelly.

Cut stalks of rhubarb in small pieces, leaving the skins on, and throwing away all the green upper ends. Stew down well with a little water at first to prevent burning. Strain through a muslin bag, add white sugar, pound for pound. Boil 20 minutes.

When You Think

Of the pain which many women experience with every month it makes the gentleness and kindness always associated with womanhood seem to be almost a miracle. While in general no woman rebels against what she regards as a natural necessity there is no woman who would not gladly be free from this recurring period of pain.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well, and gives them freedom from pain. It establishes regularity, subdues inflammation, heals ulceration and cures female weakness.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private and sacredly confidential. Write without fear and without fee to World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y.

If you want a book that tells all about woman's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 21 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing only, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to-date edition, in paper covers, in handsome cloth-binding, 31 stamps.

When Her Faith in the Lord Failed.

During the progress of a big "protracted meeting" for which the south is famous, an ardent sister of the church, who usually came in an old fashioned buckboard drawn by the family horse, was late for a particularly important service and was being severely censured by the pastor.

Explaining the reason for being late the good sister said that the horse had taken fright at a passing train and bolted and that the wreck of the rig had prevented her from being on time.

"My dear sister, such little things should not make you late for divine services. You should trust in the Lord."

"Well, brother," she replied, and there was a look of calm peacefulness on her face. "I did trust in the Lord till the bellyband busted and then I had to jump."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Spreading the News.

Postmaster Fuller of Rockland, Me., was the sparkling wit at the postmasters' dinner. He announced with mock solemnity that he had just received word from his congressman that his name had been sent in somewhere in Washington for reappointment in recognition of his efficient service and the votes he could swing.

"I have dashed the momentous news of my triumph to distant Rockland to my wife, and if I am acquainted with the lady, as I believe that I am, the glad tidings have ere now penetrated to the most remote sections of that district," was a sally that brought down the house.

HARD ON CHILDREN.

When Teacher Has Coffee Habit.

"Best is best, and best will ever live." When a person feels this way about Postum they are glad to give testimony for the benefit of others.

A school teacher down in Miss. says: "I had been a coffee drinker since my childhood, and the last few years it had injured me seriously."

"One cup of coffee taken at breakfast would cause me to become so nervous that I could scarcely go through with the day's duties, and this nervousness was often accompanied by deep depression of spirits and heart palpitation."

"I am a teacher by profession, and when under the influence of coffee had to struggle against crossness when in the school room."

"When talking this over with my physician, he suggested that I try Postum, so I purchased a package and made it carefully according to directions; found it excellent of flavor, and nourishing."

"In a short time I noticed very gratifying effects. My nervousness disappeared, I was not irritated by my pupils, life seemed full of sunshine, and my heart troubled me no longer."

"I attribute my change in health and spirits to Postum alone."

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Not His Fault.

"I refuse to accept these photographs," said an irate woman to a photographer; "my husband looks like a baboon!"

"I can't help it, madam," replied the photographer; "you chose him, I didn't."

LIKE FRENCH JAILS

Some Prisoners Cannot Be Induced to Escape.

Money Does Much to Bring Comfort and the Way of the Transgressor Is Not Particularly Hard Nor Disagreeable.

Paris.—In England, once you get into the clutches of the law, very little account is taken of sentiment. Stern, implacable justice is all that evildoers have any right to expect, and, as a rule, it is all they receive. English prisons and penal colonies are run on severe, unsympathetic lines, and no excessive indulgence is shown toward their inmates.

But in France different notions seem to prevail as to the treatment of criminals, with the result that the prison does not inspire the wholesome dread it does in England. Take the case of Duez, the official liquidator, who admits having swindled the French religious orders out of something like $2,000,000. Although he is now under arrest, and may be sentenced to four or five years' detention, that unwelcome prospect does not appear to fill him with uneasiness or melancholy. Not for him the head or the heart bowed down! As he passes along the corridors of the Palace of Justice on his way to the cabinet of the examining magistrate his former lady friends salute him with a nod and a smile, and the courtly receiver, with all the Frenchman's proverbial gallantry, bows over their hand and imprints a kiss upon it. Other acquaintances—perhaps accomplices—shake hands with the peccant receiver, and make inquiries as to his health, and the delinquent assures them with a smile that he never slept so well in his life as since he was locked up. Journalists and photographers tumble over one another in their eagerness to interview or snapshot Duez before he disappears, with his guards, through the door of the magistrate's cabinet, and the dishonest official, who confesses to making away with nearly a quarter of a million belonging to others, laughs prodigiously, and tells the men with the cameras that he will charge them five francs a picture.

Even when sentence is pronounced and the culprit is taken off to gaol, money can do a lot to soften his incarceration. Cases have been known in which criminals in French prisons were able to bribe their warders to smuggle in from their friends outside delicacies which find no place in the ordinary prison fare. Fowl, roast beef, meat extract, wine and brandy were obtained in this way, although the introduction of these luxuries was a district breach of the prison regulations.

Fresnes is notorious for its "hospitality," and so agreeable is a sojourn there that many criminals, at the approach of winter, regularly arrange to get locked up until it is time to come out into the balmy air of springtime and the genial sunshine. Less than three months ago, the story goes, a new prison in France was opened to receive its first prisoner, sentenced to six months' detention. The new establishment had cost nearly $20,000 to build and equip, but, unfortunately, the prison budget made no allowance for the warders and their "guests." The governors finally solved the dilemma by deciding that a policeman, who was married, should take up his quarters in the prison and serve the prisoner with his meals. But after a few days the policeman got tired of this. The profit he made on the arrangement was very small, and in a confidential tone he confided to the prisoner that, if he cared to take French leave, he would see that every facility was given him to do so. But his charge quickly reassured him on the point.

"I'm all right here," he said. "Your wife is an excellent cook. You are all very kind to me. This is a nice, new prison. I haven't been so well off for a long time. You don't catch me running away. What's more, if you discharge me, I'll jolly soon be back."

Philadelphia.—John E. D. Trask, new United States commissioner-general to the international fine arts exposition at Buenos Ayres and Santiago, sailed a few days ago for South America. Mr. Trask is manager of the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts in Philadelphia. The Argentine exposition opens at Buenos Ayres June 5 and the Chilean exposition at Santiago September 15.

The appointment of Mr. Trask by Secretary Knox is regarded in art circles as a particularly fortunate one.

In addition to the fact that the commissioner-general is acknowledged to be one of the best art connoisseurs in the country, his appointment is looked on as a recognition of the importance of the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts.

BABY'S SCALP CRUSTED

"Our little daughter, when three months old, began to break out on the head and we had the best doctors to treat her, but they did not do her any good. They said she had eczema. Her scalp was a solid scale all over. The burning and itching was so severe that she could not rest, day or night. We had about given up all hopes when we read of the Cuticura Remedies. We at once got a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and one bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, and followed directions carefully. After the first dose of the Cuticura Resolvent, we used the Cuticura Soap freely and applied the Cuticura Ointment. Then she began to improve rapidly and in two weeks the scale came off her head and new hair began to grow. In a very short time she was well. She is now sixteen years of age and a picture of health. We used the Cuticura Remedies about five weeks, regularly, and then we could not tell she had been affected by the disease. We used no other treatments after we found out what the Cuticura Remedies would do for her. J. Fish and Ella M. Fish, Mt. Vernon, Ky., Oct. 12, 1909."

An Unusual Attribute.

Little Johnnie, who cannot pronounce S, has been frightened into keeping out of the attic by tales told by his nurse of a dreadful ghost that lives in the dim recesses under the eaves. The other day he was overheard to say confidentially to a small friend:

"We've got an old gh'o't up in our attic!"

To which his friend, much interested, responded: "Do he butt?"

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

The Entering Wedge.

At last Colonel Roosevelt has said enough to indicate his preference for the insurgent wing of his party rather than the regulars. Oyster Bay has been the Mecca of the insurgent congressmen and senators since the Colonel has arrived and all leave the Colonel's presence with their countenances wreathed in smiles.

The ex-president's latest utterance shows that he will support Congressman Poindexter in his race for the United States senate from Washington. Poindexter is a most uncompromising insurgent and the inveterate enemy of Ballinger. This open avowal of support for the administration's foe must of necessity widen the breach between the ex-president and President Taft. There does not seem to be any middle ground, and if the two get together on any kind of an agreement one or the other must yield.

The president appears to have irrevocably lined up with Aldrich, Cannon, et al., and the other side, the insurgents, do not seem disturbed over the situation; for with the colonel's aid they hope to accomplish the overthrow of the reactionaries. In fact, the two wings are as far apart as it is possible for men to be, each of whom vociferously assert they are republicans.

The Constitution.

We wish to repeat that a constitution is the thing that should be uppermost in the minds of the people at the present time. It is true that the convention to draft the instrument will not meet for nearly three months, yet the material that goes to make that constitution is now being considered—the election of delegates. Good men are more absolutely essential in this capacity than they have been in previous campaigns, and we again say, a good constitution cannot be expected without first having good men to formulate it.

The question is not so much—or should not be—whether the constitution is framed by the republicans or the democrats, but the most vital thing is "Shall it be drafted in the interest of the people or in the interest of the interests?" If the convention is dominated by the interests nobody doubts what the nature of the instrument will be, and in that case it is up to the people to vote it down. Don't be afraid to vote against a bad constitution; statehood is not such a boon that it could overcome all the ills that could be foisted upon a people by a constitution; few conditions are so bad that they cannot be made worse. Nor is this all. The enabling act provides that in case the people reject the constitution, the convention is to reassemble, formulate another constitution and give the people another chance. So do not hesitate to oppose a bad constitution and thus give due notice to its makers that a better one must be forthcoming—that birthrights are not to be sold for a mess of pottage.

It must not be forgotten that the adoption of a constitution is a serious thing, the most serious that the people of New Mexico have ever faced, and that when once adopted it will require almost a lifetime to alter it. It is, therefore, no holiday matter, it is not a passing fancy to be spoken of today and forgotten tomorrow. And while thinking over a constitution don't forget to give thought to the men who are to make it. Elect only good men and intelligent men to the convention, and fail not to remember that if a good constitution is not framed, you are responsible as well as the delegates themselves.

The Fourth of July.

The recent celebration brings to mind this incident. Years ago Joe Cottrell, a jolly go lucky sort of a preacher, was walking the streets of Tuscaloosa, Ala., and on the curb stone sat a very unprepossessing urchin picking his nose. Thinking to have some fun at the boy's expense, Cottrell chided him sharply for his position and conduct in general, and ordered him to get up and play the man. With a quizzical look at the well dressed stranger, the boy replied: "Sir, this is a free country and this is the 4th of July, and it is my nose and I will pick it as much as I please. Truly he laughs best who laughs last.

On prize-fighter Johnson's arrival in New York he will be met by two brass bands. One hundred automobiles will be in the parade.

Teething children have more or less diarrhoea, which can be controlled by giving Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Gold Strike at White Oaks.

The last few days a gold strike of startling values has been reported at White Oaks. The strike is in the Rita mine, between the Old Abe and the North Homestake, and was made in a cross-cut from the old shaft at a depth of 50 feet below the surface. A vein, or what appears to be an ore chute, was encountered and has shown a width of 3½ feet of mineralized matter, with two feet in the center so rich that it is almost beyond belief. It is said to run something like $2,000.00 per ton. The property is owned by John W. Harrison, of St. Louis, Missouri. The strike was made, however, by some local miners, whose names we have been unable to learn, who had the property under lease.

The Negro Won.

The fistie encounter at Reno, Nevada, on the fourth, ended in the fifteenth round, with Jack Jackson as winner. The world has probably never witnessed as tame an affair by two heavyweights. They tapped each other a little, it is true, but a real sound blow was scarcely struck during the entire fight. At last, when Jeffries was almost out, Johnson rushed and hit him, and the big boiler maker went through the ropes. Jeffries made no showing at all, and Johnson did little better. Both made a pretty good day's wages, however, receiving more than $100,000 each.

THE ELECTRICAL WORLD

ELECTRICAL NOTES.

There are 6,300 electric lights on the Mauretania.

Venezuela is establishing wireless stations and using American apparatus.

Though heat will make a solid or liquid incandescent, it can only increase the pressure of a gas.

Chicago is to have the biggest electric plant in existence this side of the aurora borealis.

Professor Blondel of Paris has made improvements in the wireless telephone which makes conversation possible at a distance of 400 kilometers.

Storage battery street cars weighing but five tons, as compared with the ten tons of the ordinary trolley cars, are being tried out in New York.

A cent's worth of electricity, at the average price in this country, will raise ten tons 12 feet high with a crane in less than a minute.

Originally made merely for ornamentation, electric light shades now are designed along purely scientific lines to diffuse or reflect the light with the greatest economy.

ELECTRIC POWER FROM WIND

Form of Energy Which Costs Nothing to Produce, but Unfortunately Not Controllable.

Wind power is a form of energy which costs nothing to produce, but this advantage is seriously diminished by the fact that wind is not under human control, blowing or ceasing to blow regardless of the tasks depending upon it. The possibility, however, of combining the power of the wind, when it wills to blow, with specially governed dynamos and batteries in such manner that this erratic power can be transformed into a perfectly steady flow of current available for use at any moment, may mean a future for the windmill that its centuries of usage in the past could never reach.

The windmill shown in the first illustration is on a shop in London and is constructed on principles calculated to utilize the energy of wind currents of varying force and direction in the most efficient manner, says Popular Mechanics. The turbine is mounted on a light steel tower on the roof of the workshop. The power is transmitted by worm gear from the shaft or axle of the wind wheel to a vertical shaft which is carried down the steel tower. At the lower end of the vertical shaft is an ordinary pulley of large diameter, and this is joined up by belt to the electric generator or dynamo, mounted vertically on a swinging bracket, which has an arrangement of heavy weights attached so that the driving belt is always automatically maintained at driving tension. The speed variation of the dynamo ranges from 800 to 1,600 revolutions per minute, the total gear ratio between the wind wheel and the dynamo pulley being about 35 to 1.

The regulation of the dynamo is effected by a series of electro-magnetic contacts. These contacts come into operation successively as the speed of the wind wheel rises, and once the minimum dynamo speed is reached an automatic device connects the battery up and it begins to charge. When the wind ceases to such an extent that the power generated is not enough to force current into the battery the connection is automatically broken until the wind rises again.

A wind of about six miles an hour causes current to be generated, and the plant has been tested up to a gale of 60 miles an hour with perfect regulation. The power generated increases enormously, of course, as the wind increases.

The second illustration shows a self-contained plant, with dynamo room and battery room built into the bottom of the tower.

Experimenting With Cement.

In experimenting with the use of cement for the construction of tanks designed to receive wines in storage, it was found that when unlined tanks were used the acids in the liquid often decomposed the cement and the walls absorbed the freshness and "bouquet" of the wine. Acid-proof coatings were applied to the concrete walls, but did not prevent absorption. However, a lining consisting of small squares of glass, joined with cement mortar, is said to have given satisfaction, as a tartar forms on the thin surface of cement and resists acid attacks. The lined tanks are made in sizes which contain from 530 to 66,000 gallons, and are recommended not only for storing wines, but also for storing cotton seed and other oils.

NATIONAL CAPITAL AFFAIRS

Girl Asks Senators for Day's Income

WASHINGTON.—The millionaires of the senate have been pleadingly requested by a young country girl of Virginia to donate their aggregated income for 24 hours in order that she may be enabled to acquire such an education as will qualify her for the profession of teaching school. She feels that this would not in the least impoverish them, while it would enrich her beyond hope's desire.

The ambitious girl who has made this unusual appeal resides at Volney, Va. She describes herself as being fifteen years old and earnestly seeking to better her condition and provide some means by which she can become self-supporting. Her communication is entirely frank and fearless and the writer is apparently convinced that a favorable reply will come along at no distant date.

The little Virginia lass simply addressed her letter: "The Senate Messrs.," and then branches right out with her request, merely prefacing it with the announcement that she understands the senate is chiefly composed of millionaires, who would never miss the trifling assistance she requires. And then comes the direct statement that their income for 24 hours would never be needed, but would be amply sufficient for the additional education necessary to make her a teacher.

The hope was expressed that early attention will be given her letter and that there will be no objection to complying with her wishes.

But, alas, for the little daughter of the old commonwealth! No millionaire senator will ever see her neatly written, grammatically arranged and utterly frank letter. It was opened by a busy and unsentimental secretary, tossed into the "files of the senate."

Shelled Eggs Before Supreme Court

WITH summer at hand, the Supreme court of the United States was asked a few days ago to adjudicate a case involving 50 cans of eggs. Nearly five months ago the United States district court for the southern district of Illinois decided that the eggs were not just the thing for human consumption and directed its marshal "totally to destroy them." The Supreme court was asked to pass on jurisdictional questions, but the eggs themselves were not brought into court, as the marshal may have performed his duty.

These eggs came into existence probably some time in the early part of 1908—long enough ago to have permitted their strutting around the barnyard by this time with chicks of their own at their sides.

They made their way to the Hippolyte Egg company of St. Louis, Mo. There the shells were stripped from them and Plymouth Rocks and Leghorns were as one in five-gallon cans. They were preserved in boric acid. When they were shipped to Thomas & Clarke, bakers, at Peoria, Ill., in the fall of 1909, the government obtained an order to seize them. The court held that the boric acid was a deleterious ingredient.

The egg company asked the Supreme court to dispose of the case at once. One of the reasons for this request is that this is the first case in the Supreme court which involves the question of the jurisdiction of a federal court under the national pure food law and the extent to which the law applies to an article of food "after it has been shipped into a state."

Champ Clark's Boyhood Dream Is True

WHEN Champ Clark was making the speech which "riled" Cannon, so that the speaker retorted with more or less ferocity, Clark gave his hearers a glimpse of his own boyhood.

"When I was a lad, hoeing corn in Kentucky, I made up my mind to be a lawyer and to come to this congress," he said. "I had never even seen a courthouse. I had no idea what congress was like. But I made good on both propositions. I like the place. If the salary were cut to $5,000 a year I would still want to be here. If it were cut to $3,000 a year I would still want to be here. If it were cut to nothing I would still want to be here, provided I had a sufficient bank account."

And it is said that the bank account of the man who, as a boy, hoed Kentucky corn, is just about big enough to enable him to indulge in the luxury of sitting in an unsalaried congress.

According to one of the Washington publications Senator and "Mrs. Theodore Burton" were among those invited to a recent social function at the capitol.

In the course of duty a reporter asked Senator Burton solicitously regarding the costume that Mrs. Burton was wearing at the function, intending that its description should be added to the others in the general list.

Senator Burton is fifty-nine years old, and during a varied political career has figured frequently in Washington dispatches as a congressman, as a senator and in other prominent roles.

"What did Mrs. Burton wear at the function?" asked the society reporter.

"Nothing."

"Eh-what?" stuttered the reporter. "I guess you do not gather me, senator. I mean, can you give me a description of the gown that Mrs. Senator Burton wore at the reception?"

"Nothing," again replied the senator from Ohio, and then before the reporter could again gasp his surprise, Mr. Burton continued his remarks.

"Because there is no Mrs. Senator Burton, and according to the present feelings of Mr. Senator Burton of Ohio there is not liable to be any Mrs. Senator Burton."

"Mr. Senator Burton is a bachelor and intends to remain one."

English Press Criticise Reno Fight.

London, July 6.—The racial conflicts following the Jeffries-Johnson fight are the theme of general discussion in the British press. Varying opinions are expressed, but the universal admission that Johnson's victory has made the problem for the United States much harder than before.

The Daily Telegram in an editorial says:

"It is useless to hold up the hand of reprobation here. These things are brutal and vile, but behind them lies the absolute necessity to keep the negro race a little in check, for if it once gets out of hand, there will be worse scenes under the Stars and Stripes than have ever yet been witnessed there."

The Times in an editorial this morning contends that the fight at Reno, which was conducted creditably and in a fair and orderly manner, proves nothing. A thousand picked American whites, the paper says, would probably beat on equal terms a thousand picked negroes in any conflict or form of physical endurance.

"The American feeling must frankly be recognized," says the Times. "It is easy in England, where there is no color problem, to express indignation at the lynchings. If confronted with entirely similar conditions, there is much reason to fear that Englishmen would not be more tolerant."

The Times thinks that the pivot of the whole question is the world-wide instinctive feeling against color inter-marriages, and hopes that the conscience of the Americans will in the future make itself effectively felt against such exploitations as the Reno fight.
