present democratic Territorial administration, viz: that it is working hard to find out the facts in every case of crime brought to its attention and when found to fearlessly enforce the legal penalty, and this too in the face of much apathy and opposition. Chief among these able and determined officials may be named our Governor, E. L. Thornton, Chief Justice Smith, and our hard working and unflinching judge, A. B. Fall.

If the Associated Press correctly reports E. V. Dels, president of the A. R. U., he has at last said a wise thing. According to the telegram Dels says that he will never again be connected with a strike organization, as the last one demonstrated that the people were against them and the government would put them down even, if necessary, at the point of the bayonet. He further went on to say that he would hereafter advise workingmen to seek redress by the ballot. If this is true he has at last come to his senses. It is only what he should have done at first. The wonder is that any sane man should think of attempting to bulldoze a free country when there was this simple and sure means to correct a wrong, if any existed.

THE Albuquerque Citizen announces that Mr. W. B. McCreight has purchased a half interest in that paper and the firm beneficiary will be Hughes & McCreight; the veteran, Thos. Hughes, serving as editor and Mr. McCreight filling the dual role of business manager and city editor. Success to the new firm.

We hope the Mongolian emperor's 600,000,000 subjects will not be enough to carry on the war that is now on between China and Japan, and that he will have to send for those now on this side of the Pacific.

SANTO, the assassin of President Carnot, has been sentenced to death, and thus is a worthless life taken in payment for one who was a noble specimen of humanity and loved abroad as well as in his native land.

THE following self-explanatory communication has been addressed to the members of the democratic Territorial central committee:

SANTA FE, N. M., July 26, 1894.—Dear Sir: In the course of political events in New Mexico the time has arrived for a meeting of the democratic Territorial central committee for the purpose of fixing the when and where of a democratic Territorial convention for the nomination of a candidate for delegate to the house of representatives to succeed Hon. A. Joseph, whose current term expires on the third day of March, 1895.

Under the authority in us vested, a meeting of said committee is hereby called, to be held in the city of Santa Fe at the hour of 11 a. m. on the 11th day of August next.

In addition to the calling of said convention and appointing the delegates thereto among the several counties, other important business awaits the attention of the committee. If controlling circumstances make it impossible for you to attend, please send your proxy to the chairman or some member of the committee whom you know will attend together with your preferences as to the time and place of holding said convention. Cordially yours,
 J. H. CRIST,
 Chairman.

T. P. GABLE, Secretary.
 The executive committee of the Territorial central committee is composed of the chairman and secretary above named and Messrs. N. B. Laughlin, H. B. Ferguson, W. B. Childers and Felix Martinez. The members at large of the central committee are Messrs. Felipe Chavez, Belen; W. B. Childers, Albuquerque; F. A. Manzanares, Las Vegas; W. S. Hopewell, Hillsboro. The members of the full committee by counties are: Bernalillo county, H. B. Ferguson, Ernest Meyers; Chavez county, G. A. Richardson; Dona Ana county, B. Michelson, Thos. J. Bull; Eddy county, J. W. Fleming, Jos. Boone; Guadalupe county, Pablo Aragon; Lincoln county, John Y. Hewitt; Mora county, Agapito Abeyta, Jr.; M. Gallegos; Rio Arriba county, J. E. Martinez, Wm. Kindermann; San Juan county, Frank Pierce; San Miguel county, Felix Martinez, C. Moise, C. F. Rudolph; Santa Fe county, J. H. Crist, Wm. E. Dame; Sierra county, Fred Lindner; Socorro county, E. V. Chavez, J. G. Fitch; Valencia county, Jose G. Chavez.

Dels now denies that he had anything to do with causing the strike of the American Railway Union. The hindsight of some men is simply marvelous.

CHOOSE GOOD MEN.
 Mr. Chas. Longueville sounds the key note. He says: The present depression in business and demoralized condition of society and industry throughout the country is due in a great degree to the repeal of the Sherman act without compensating legislation—in other words to the demonetization of silver. This fact is now generally conceded. So much so that the state conventions of all parties that have been held recently, from Maine to California, have inserted in their platforms a bimetallic plank. Citizens, however, must not permit themselves to be deluded by transparent fictions. There is but one test of true bimetallicism, and that is when the candidate for the suffrage of his fellow citizens boldly asserts his adherence to the time honored monetary system of the country and the restoration of the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 of gold. Citizens can not be too careful in selecting those who will represent their individual and aggregate interests, and none but those of unquestioned loyalty to the cause of the restoration of the traditional coinage and fiscal methods of the country should be chosen during this critical period of the progress of our republic.

Mr. JOSEPH BOONE of Deming is out with a card in this issue announcing himself as a candidate for the office of County School Superintendent. Mr. Boone has lived for several years in Deming, is a lawyer in good practice, a married man, and will undoubtedly make a good superintendent if nominated and elected.

HIS LAST JOKE.
 The Danbury News Man was a Philanthropist as well as a Humorist.
 The Danbury News man made fun almost everywhere and all the time to the end of his life. He was just as funny in his office and at home as he ever was in the funniest copy of his newspaper. It was quiet, unexpected, quaint, homely, funmaking on his part, with nothing strained or pedantic or pretentious—as natural and spontaneous as a sneeze or the rippling of a hillside brook. Like sunshine, too, his jollity cheered, warmed, delighted every one and wounded none. Everybody was his friend, and he was everywhere beloved. He was the life and light of every gathering, but was never forward or obtrusive.
 He was also a philanthropist. Every year he gave away a small fortune to the unfortunate and unhappy, to vagrants and the most notorious tramps and beats. Every tramp who drifted into Danbury wandered into Bailey's office eventually, and none ever failed to get a pecuniary lift there to help him on his thorny path in life.
 One of the worst of professional bums, scooting Bailey on the street not long ago, said, with the self assurance of a friend addressing another:
 "Ten cents, Mr. Bailey, please. I want to get a drink with it."
 "What do you say?" was the quick reply. "You mean to get a drink? Now, don't you try to deceive me. You intend to buy sandwiches with it."
 The Danbury News man's last quip was unique and pungent. He had been ill of pneumonia, but rallied temporarily and visited his office one day about three weeks ago. An office employee greeted him as he came in, looking weak and feeble, with:
 "Well, how are you today, Mr. Bailey?"
 "Oh, I am very much better. I was able to get down Iowa today in one back."
 Not many hours after he had passed away from the world which he had done so much to brighten and cheer.—Danbury Special.

Who Considers It a Libel.
 Kentucky editors cannot be too careful about what they print. The citizens of the line grass commonwealth are touchy, and statements published with the most laudable intentions are likely to cause trouble. Here is the editor of the Mount Sterling Times, for example, who printed what he thought was a graceful obituary notice, winding up with the perfunctory statement that "the deceased had gone to a happier home." He is now the defendant in a libel suit brought by the widow, and when he goes home after seeing the paper to press he takes the middle of the street and carries his shotgun at full cock. The notice was gratis too.—Chicago Herald.

Went Mad on the Beach.
 A case was being heard in a Berlin law court the other day, and the evidence of a lady was being taken, when suddenly, apropos of nothing in particular, the judge said sternly, "Do you like potatoes, madam?" Naturally the people in court were much surprised, and their surprise was intensified when the judge proceeded to make primas at the witness and to talk at random on incongruous subjects. The unfortunate gentleman had to be led from the bench and placed under the care of a keeper.—London Tit-bit.

TYDALL'S IMAGINATION.
 This instructive imagination—for we are not concerned with mere reminiscent imagination—here resulting in the creation of the past and future in the coarser of the mind of science, is the highest of human faculties. With this faculty Professor Tydall was largely endowed. In common with successful investigators in general, he displayed it in forming true conceptions of physical processes previously misinterpreted or uninterpreted, and again in conceiving modes by which the actual relations of the phenomena could be demonstrated, and again in devising fit appliances to this end. But to a much greater extent than usual he displayed constructive imagination in other fields.
 He was an excellent expositor, and good exposition implies much constructive imagination. A prerequisite to the forming of true ideas of the mental status of those who are to be taught, and a further prerequisite is the imagining of methods by which, beginning with conceptions they possess, there may be built up in their minds the conceptions they do not possess. Of constructive imagination as displayed in this sphere men at large appear to be almost devoid, as witness the absurd systems of teaching which in past times, and in large measure still, have stupefied and still stupefy children by presenting abstract ideas before they have any concrete ideas from which they can be drawn. Whether as lecturer or writer, Professor Tydall carefully avoided this vicious practice.—Herbert Spencer in McClure's Magazine.

SMOKELESS FIREPLACES.
 Next to the man who invented or discovered fire, the greatest benefactor of the human race will be the man who abolishes smoke. Nothing else will so change the conditions of life in our great cities. Without saying that this result is already at hand, a great step toward it is made by the new invention in fireplaces. By this system a fire can undoubtedly be produced without smoke, and though at present a special fireplace must be employed for the purpose there is no reason why every one who henceforth fits up a kitchen range or a furnace should not have a smokeless one. I expect to see the time when every household as well as every manufacturer will be compelled to consume his own smoke. In the meantime, however, there is the strongest inducement, short of compulsion, for doing so, for the system, like all which are based on perfecting the combustion of the fuel, gives a largely increased heat for a reduced consumption of coal.—London Truth.

OUR LANGUAGE.
 The little leaflet called "Our Language" is well illustrated in the following extract:
 "But a fortnight ago a child met his lost aunt or riding—act flourish, but well—loosh in fonstuck and in cardinal's books, in thrit months, al off in twenty aurz or thorse instrakchun—a task which is raeel akomphish in thrit flire or toll bai dhd sold alifant. Dhis paragraf konteins oai dhi saseid in dhi English languagej.—New York Tribune.

A Steamship on Lake Titicaca.
 A triumph in engineering is reported from the mountains of Peru, where a twin screw steamer of 840 tons, 176 feet long and 30 feet wide has been successfully launched on Lake Titicaca, the highest navigable waters in the world, more than 18,000 feet above the sea. This steamer, which belongs to the Peruvian government and is to be used for freight and passenger traffic, was built on the Clyde, then taken apart in more than 1,000 pieces and shipped to Mollendo by sea. It was then carried to Puno by railway and transported over the mountains on the backs of llamas and mules and put together by a Mr. John Wilson, a Scotch engineer, with great skill and success.—Chicago Record.

Not an Unusual "Leopie."
 Certain physicians who are ardent specialists are accused by their brethren—the general practitioners—with seeing everything through the eyes of their specialty and of jumping to conclusions. This note from an alienist's or "nervous specialist's" diagnosis of a certain case is cited:
 The patient Q. is of unusual mind; suffers singular lapses of the memory. There is manifested, moreover, a curious correlation in these lapses between ideas of persons and ideas of money. Thus it is noted that on several occasions he has totally failed to recognize his creditors when he has met them on the street.—Youth's Companion.

Two Scenes.
 Scene One—Schoolroom. Small Boy (as the rattan falls gently on his hands)—Wow, wow, o-o-ought! I'm killed! Boo-hoo! Me hands are tender, teacher! Boo-o-oo!
 Scene Two—A Field. Same Small Boy (same day)—Sneak der hair in hunder, Chimney! Why dencher put some speed inter it? Let'er go! It don't hurt me hands a bit! Sing'erial!—Boston Traveller.

Legislation in Ohio.
 In Ohio a bill to enable women to vote at all school elections passed the senate on April 10 by a vote of 21 to 9. As a similar bill was defeated by only a few votes in the house, it may be called up again and passed. The Dayton Herald and fronton Republican indorse the measure.
 During the summer season Erupp supplies his workmen with cold coffee and vinegar at intervals through the day, and each of the men employed in connection with the peddling works receive one-eighth of a quart of brandy.

Conscience was a very stupid talbot.
 Descartes usually spoke when in company. Addison could not converse at all; neither could La Fontaine, while Dryden's conversation was slow and dull.
 The only half oat probably which was ever outrooted was a piece now in possession of Jesse Rogers of Newbury, Mass. It is an old Massachusetts coin presumably cast on an experiment.
 Tricycles may be had for hire, like cabs, in Milan. An attendant goes with the machine to propel it. The fare depends on the distance traveled—not the time consumed.
