SANTA FE RAILROAD TO PAY MORE

Increased Assessments in Raton, Las Vegas and Albuquerque

OTHER ROADS ABOUT THE SAME

Equalization Board's Work Is Not Over—Governor Appoints Delegates to Conference

The members of the board of equalization were in session again today on the matter of fixing railroad values and those in touch with the work of the board predict that the assessed values of railroad property in the territory will be pretty much the same as heretofore. It is stated, however, that the Santa Fe road will have to pay a slight increase on account of assessments on terminal improvements in Raton, Las Vegas and Albuquerque which heretofore were included on the general basis and were distributed over the line. There will, however, be a slight reduction on the value of the mileage outside of those three cities, but on account of the increased values in the cities where the tax rate is higher the Santa Fe road from Albuquerque and northward will pay more cash into the county treasuries.

It is said that the assessments of the other railroads will be scarcely changed.

Reply to Criticism.

In reply to some of the criticisms made in out-of-town papers over the difficulties of procuring an equitable assessment of property in the territory, a well known attorney residing here stated that it not up to the members of the board of equalization as much as to the makers of the law who can easily see that a tax assessor has everything to lose when he is appointed for a two year term and in that term will have to spend every dollar he earns if he makes an assessment that will be "rigid." This attorney pointed out that any assessor making such an assessment knows he will not be elected to office again and suggested that the term of office be made four years instead of two years.

Appointed Delegates.

Governor Curry has appointed delegates to the Conference on Uniform Legislation called by the National Civic Federation which will meet in the nation's capital January 17, 18 and 19. New Mexico having been invited to participate therein the governor has selected the following as this territory's representatives:

Hon. W. H. Andrews, of Albuquerque; F. W. Parker, of Las Cruces; H. O. Bursum, of Socorro; C. A. Spleess and A. A. Jones of Las Vegas; C. A. Richardson, Roswell; J. G. Fitch, Socorro; A. C. Voorhees, Raton, and B. J. Villone, LaMesa.

Governor Curry has appointed Capt. Robert Smart, member of the Albuquerque armory board of control for the term ending April 1910.

The National Guard.

Adjutant General Ford has received invitations for the National Guard to participate in the maneuvers which will be held this summer. New Mexico is not only invited to take part therein, but has been complimented for the increased strength of her guard since last year. This increase makes the guard one company less than a regiment. It is thought that the maneuvers will be held at Atascadero, Calif.

The company at Albuquerque will be inspected soon to determine whether or not it is to be mustered in.

To Leave Friday.

It is stated that Governor Curry will leave Friday night for Washington where he is to take part in a number of conferences of great importance to the territory.

Notaries Appointed.

The Governor appointed the following notaries: Isidore Ferren, Rio Arriba county; John M. Morris, of Sandoval.

This afternoon incorporation papers were filed in the office of the territorial secretary, Nathan Jaffa, by the Santa Fe Hardware and Supply Company, the incorporators being Lucien B. Vick Roy, Thomas G. Vick Roy and Donald D. Vick Roy. The capitalization is $50,000 all subscribed and the period of duration is fifty years. The purpose of the company is to do a general hardware business. Lucien B. Vick Roy is designated as the territorial agent.

YALE MAN GETS PINCHOT'S JOB

Washington, Jan. 12.—President Taft this afternoon decided to appoint Henry S. Graves, head of the Yale school of forestry as chief of the forestry bureau to succeed Gifford Pinchot.

STATEHOOD BILLS TOMORROW

Committee on Territories Will Be Ready to Report

ANDREWS IS WORKING HARD

Trying to Have Capital Remain at Santa Fe Until 1925.

Special to the New Mexican. Washington, Jan. 12.—The House committee on territories has practically completed the New Mexico statehood bill after a two hours session today. It is expected to complete the Arizona bill and report both bills to the House tomorrow. Delegate Andrews is working to have Santa Fe remain the capital until 1925, also to add 50,000 acres for the El Rito normal school. Delegate Cameron and Howell A. Smith are pressing the Arizona bills. The President examined the New Mexico and Arizona bills yesterday giving his approval.

House Refuses to Concur.

Washington, Jan. 12.—The House today refused to concur in the Senate amendments to the Baulinger-Pinchot resolution and decided to ask for a conference. The speaker named Dabzell of Pennsylvania, Smith of Iowa, and Fitzgerald of New York, as the House conferees.

Passed White Slave Bill.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—By a viva voce vote the House today passed the Bennett-Sabath "White Slave" bill.

HE'S STRONG FOR JACK JOHNSON.

Negro is Sure to Whip James Jeffries Says Billy Madden.

New York, Jan. 12.—"It's a hard thing to say that you think a negro is superior to a white man when it comes down to a question of the championship of the world, but in my honest opinion Jack Johnson will leave the ring next July 4 the conqueror of Jim Jeffries," says Billy Madden. "I have been in the fighting game from a managerial standpoint over thirty years and am only using the 'dope' of those many years to form my conclusions. In my time I made John L. Sullivan a world's champion, Charley Mitchell the champion of England, Jack McAuliffe, the holder of the lightweight title, and in addition brought Tommy Ryan, Gus Ruhlin, Peter Maher and others before the public.

"Getting down to big fights I can only say that Johnson is a clever man; as clever a fighter as I ever saw slip on a glove—and he is there with the wallop. This combination generally brings him the money. Another advantage of the black is that he has not led Jeff's kind of life during the last five years. While the big fellow was taking matters easy down in the land of flowers Johnson has had to fight to eat."

LIVED IN THREE CENTURIES.

Augustus Blevins Born in Louisiana, a Subject of Napoleon.

Ardmore, Okla., Jan. 12.—Augustus Blevins, known to Oklahoma people as "Goose" Blevins, who is said to have been born in the eighteenth century, died last week at his home in Connerville, Johnson county, east of here. Blevins was born in Louisiana territory, a subject of Napoleon. From historical facts, which he had personal knowledge of, he must have been born previous to 1800. He engaged in many of the early conflicts with the Cherokees and in their wars as well as the Civil war, in which he served in the Confederate army. At his funeral was his third wife, an old gray haired woman; his daughter, aged 80, and descendants of many generations.

WOULD RESTORE DEAD BY ELECTRIC CURRENT.

Colorado Springs, Jan. 12.—Claiming that he can restore the dead to life, F. W. L. Blackman, who arrived here from New Haven, Conn., proposes to give a series of demonstrations to local physicians showing how medicine may be administered by electricity without passing through the stomach and how the same process may be applied as an anaesthetic for surgical operations.

Dr. Blackman has given the subject of electro-therapeutics 12 years' study and promises some remarkable demonstrations. Where death is sudden he claims that the vital organs can be revived by administering an electrical current and is bringing instruments with which to give his demonstrations.

WILL DEMAND MORE WAGES

Coal Miners Preparing to Reopen Question of Pay

WILL INCLUDE RAILROAD LABOR

Stand is Taken That the Increased Cost of Living Makes Action Necessary.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 12.—Coal miners throughout the United States are preparing to reopen the question of wages after January 20, and a demand for an increase of pay is expected. It may cause a marked increase in the present prices of coal. The stand taken by the miners is that they need higher wages because of the increased cost of living and comes as part of the general movement of organized labor begun by the switchmen and railroad brotherhoods. Movement has already spread to include practically all branches of railroad labor.

No Strike of Railroad Employees.

New York, Jan. 12.—Apparently there will be no strike of the employees of eastern railroads at least this is indicated by the announcement today that railroad officials have agreed to meet representatives of their trainmen next week for a discussion of their demands.

Conference Begins.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—The strike of the switchmen employed by the western railroads, operating out of Chicago, will probably depend on the conference began today between Chairman Knapp of the interstate commerce commission, and Dr. Neill, commissioner of labor, acting as mediators, and representatives of the railroads and their employees. The switchmen demand a horizontal increase of wages and some changes in conditions and hours of labor.

MILITIA IS ON HAND TO PREVENT LYNCHING.

Mobs Have Formed in Illinois Town to Avenge Murder of Mail Carrier.

Vienna, Ill., Jan. 12.—The mobs formed last night to avenge the murder of Allen Clarke, a rural mail carrier, by three negroes on a passenger train near New Burnside, Ill., had not arrived at Vienna early this morning, but a company of militia from Cairo is on the ground, and no fear of mob violence is now felt. Several more companies were expected this morning and Governor Deneen has given the commanding officer orders to prevent a lynching no matter what it may cost.

TRIAL OF CONGRESSMAN HERMANN UNDER WAY.

Portland, Ore., Jan. 12.—The trial of Blinger Hermann former Congressman, charged with conspiracy to defraud the government of public lands commenced today, the jury having been completed yesterday. Francis J. Heney delivered an opinion addressed for the government and the defense with the position outlined by Collis Worthington of Washington, who denied all the charges of the indictment.

MAY REFUSE A PERMIT

Wants Jeffries-Johnson Bout Directed by Local Man

FAVORS FORTY-FIVE ROUNDS

Believes Concession Should Go to Someone Who Has Been Working for Good of Game.

San Francisco, Jan. 12.—John L. Herget, chairman of the police committee of the new board of supervisors, but better known to the sporting public as "Young Mitchell" under which name he attained fame as a pugilist a number of years ago, has announced that he will not grant a permit for the Jeffries-Johnson fight unless the match is directed by local men. In explanation he says: "I will not stand by idly and see Tex Rickard come in from the wilds of Nevada and obtain a concession that should go to somebody who has been working for the good of the game." He regrets also to having expressed himself as favoring an extension of the fight to forty-five rounds in this city.

DEMAND GOVERNMENTAL REFORMS

National Live Stock Association Adopts Resolutions

PINCHOT'S POLICY ENDORSED

Oppose Appointment of Interstate Commerce Court—Against Free Hides.

Denver, Jan. 12.—Many governmental reforms are demanded in the resolutions which were laid before the National Live Stock Association in convention today. Railroad rate legislation formed the basis of the morning's discussion and while the granting of power to the interstate commerce commission to renew classifications, annual changes in regulations and institute proceedings on its own motion as recommended by President Taft were approved, the association opposed the appointment of an interstate commerce court. The Pinchot administration of the forest reserves was endorsed and recommendations were made for a lease law governing the use of public lands for grazing. It was also voted to continue the fight against free hides. Today's speakers included S. H. Cowan of Fort Worth, James Callan, President Cattle Raisers Association of Texas, and Joseph M. Carey of Cheyenne.

SAW ROOSEVELT IN AFRICA.

Proprietors of American Zoos Write the ex-President for Specimens.

Washington, Jan. 12.—A government official just returned from Nairobi where he met Colonel Roosevelt is A. B. Baker, assistant director of the National Zoological Park who assembled a fine collection of animals. Mr. Baker said today:

"The day I got to Nairobi I saw Colonel Roosevelt driving by in a carriage wearing a well worn khaki suit and a wide brimmed felt hat. He had come in from the wilds for a rest. Kermit Roosevelt told me his father wanted me to take tea with him. I found that the colonel carried less weight than when he left Washington and appeared as hard as nails. His skin was about the color of saddle leather.

"Colonel Roosevelt said that he believed he had discovered while President every type of folly the American people were capable of, but he had discovered a new one since he had been in Africa. The proprietor of every small zoo in America, he said, had written asking him to send a specimen, anything would do, from a field mouse to a tiger.

"The richest letter he had, the colonel added, came from a society of hunters in New York. The members wanted to give a dinner upon his return, the secretary had written, and would he please pickle, preserve or otherwise keep in condition, a piece of meat from every sort of animal he had killed, so they could have them all for the dinner?"

"It looks as if they want me to give them a dinner instead of letting them give me one," was Colonel Roosevelt's concluding remark.

"While in Nairobi I saw three wagon loads of skins and skeletons collected by the Roosevelt party going to the warehouse."

BROTHER HERMES' FUNERAL TAKES PLACE FRIDAY.

Solemn High Mass Will Be Sung By Vicar General Anthony Fourchegu.

Pending the arrival of Brother Gerardus, the provincial of the St. Louis province of the Christian Brothers, the funeral of Brother Hermes Joseph of St. Michael College, will not take place until Friday morning. At eight forty-five the remains will be taken from the college escorted by the students and the alumni. At nine o'clock at the Cathedral, a solemn high mass will be celebrated by Very Rev. Anthony Fourchegu, vicar general of the diocese. Further details have not yet been arranged.

BRYAN'S PATH TO SENATE OBSTRUCTED BY THOMPSON.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 12.—Even should William Jennings Bryan decide to run for the United States senatorship from Nebraska next fall, he will not have clear sailing. The first snag has appeared in the current which seemed ready to carry the peerless leader into the senate without opposition.

W. H. Thompson of Grand Island, Democratic leader and candidate for governor three years ago, has announced his candidacy for the senatorship under the Oregon plan regardless of what Bryan will do. Thompson is one of the best speakers in the Democratic party and has gained the title of the "Little Giant."

RIVERS STARTING ON RAMPAGE

Heavy Rains in Kansas, Missouri and Neighboring States.

WARNINGS ARE SENT OUT

To Protect Property as Streams Are Gorged With Ice Which Is Now Melting.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 12.—Rain today in Missouri and the north caused the Mississippi river to assume a threatening aspect, and the weather bureau has warned river men to protect property. The Mississippi river is gorged with ice from Chester, Ill., to this city, a distance of sixty miles. Many smaller gorges are reported north of here and the Missouri river is also gorged at Hermann, Mo.

Preparing to Blast Ice Dam.

Pittsburg, Kan., Jan. 12.—With the temperature mounting and that at hand, thousands of tons of ice gorged in the Monongahela, Allegheny and Ohio rivers at this point form an imminent peril to shipping and harbor property. Government engineers are examining stupendous ice dams with a view of blasting them in an effort to save property. The crisis will probably be reached in twenty-four hours.

Kansas Deluged.

Topeka, Kan., Jan. 12.—Kansas is being deluged by a rain which commenced last night and is continuing today. An inch and a half is recorded here so far. Small streams are rising rapidly on account of the frozen condition of the ground. The rain extends to the western limits of the state.

PINO CURES INSANE, SAYS EXPERT.

Ohio Doctor Cites Remarkable Case in Proof of His Contention.

Massillon, O., Jan. 12.—Piano playing is to be added to the many methods already in vogue at the Massillon state asylum for the cure of insanity, according to a statement made by H. C. Eymann, superintendent of the institution. Eymann says he will at once purchase eight pianos with $2,000 placed at his disposal by a philanthropist, actuated by the remarkable cure of a girl patient who was permitted to play on the piano.

The girl, 17 years old, whose name is withheld by the hospital authorities, was violently insane when admitted, and so destructive that it was necessary to confine her in the ward where the most troublesome cases were attended.

Her nurse gained permission and played for the patient several popular airs which the girl then played by ear. Soon her condition began to show improvement and the progress of her case attracted the attention of the authorities.

NEW PROBLEM IN JURISPRUDENCE RAISED.

Killing of Man Took Place on Government Reservation and Jurisdiction of Court Denied.

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 12.—Counsel for Paul Clein, a former officer in an European army, known also as H. W. Wilson and Paul Krausnowald, convicted of murder in the first degree on the charge of killing Jan Soudawski near Fort Wright last February, have raised a new problem in legal jurisprudence on an application for a new trial before Judge J. Stanley Webster in the Spokane county superior court. They declare the killing took place on the government reservation and, as a consequence, the county courts have no jurisdiction. On the other hand, Clein has not confessed nor will he admit that he had knowledge of the killing, though Soudawski's effects were in his possession when arrested. The body was found in the brush early last spring, three or four weeks after death, and the presence of burned sticks and clothing indicated that efforts had been made to destroy it by fire.

TAFT TO EAT COSTLY APPLES.

Sixty Shipped to Him From Colorado Worth Eighty-seven and a Half Cents a Piece.

Denver, Jan. 12.—Next week President Taft will be eating Colorado apples at about ten cents a bite. A local commission firm today shipped to the President a box of sixty winter banana apples raised at Silt, Colo., and recently exhibited at the national apple exposition at Denver where they won first prize. At auction this box brought fifty-two dollars and fifty cents or eighty-seven and a half cents a piece, probably the highest price ever paid for apples. President Taft's noon day luncheon is said to consist of an apple and a glass of water.

IDEAL CONDITIONS FOR AERIAL MEET

Paulhan Will Try to Break Height Record of Farnham

CURTISS IS CONSERVATIVE

Says There Is Still Plenty of Time For Record Making as Game Is Yet New

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 12.—Perfect weather conditions today promised rare sport in the international aviation meeting and further tries at records will be made this afternoon. Paulhan, the French expert had his big Farnham biplane all turned up ready for a try at the altitude record and Curtiss will probably go after the speed record. Curtiss only smiled when he heard Paulhan was so anxious to try to break the Farnham record of 3,500 feet in height. "There is plenty of time for record breaking with aeroplanes," he said. "The sport is new yet, and those indulging in it now are only feeling their way along. We will get up five or six thousand feet after a while, but first we want to be sure of our engines."

VAUDEVILLE INTERFERES WITH TRAINING.

Reports Received in New York Say Jeffries Is Not Getting in Necessary Hard Work.

New York, Jan. 12.—Judging from reports that are finding their way to this city from the south, the Jeffries-Berger-Gotch Vaudeville Company is not making the hit of the circuit that was expected. The impression appears to be spreading that the big fellow should drop his theatrical tour and get down to real training if he is to be taken seriously as a contender in the fight with Johnson next summer. Hisses and hoots of derision are not unknown sounds in the ears of the former champion, and it is said that he is seriously contemplating cutting short his tour and heading direct for the Pacific coast.

The "all-champion" troupe was roundly hissed recently in New Orleans, and Jeffries himself came in for a burst of displeasure at his exhibition in Galveston. The constant bombardment by questioners all along the line is also said to have got on the big man's nerve and he is said to be determined to get to work at once and prove to his detractors that he can and will train and get into condition to defeat Johnson. The latest description of Jeffries and his work as reported by a New Orleans sporting writer appears to bear out this idea. It is as follows:

"Jeffries is probably down to weight but he is far from being in condition. The big fellow has very little superfluous flesh, but his flesh is not hard. It is soft and muscular. His condition is readily shown when he and Frank Gotch are seen together. Gotch's muscles are all hard and his flesh is all muscle, while Jeffries is exactly the opposite. Whether 'six months' work will turn this flesh into hard muscle is a question, and a serious one, with Jeffries. Then, too, his wind is exceedingly bad. He boxed three one minute rounds with Berger and was puffing bad after each round. His nose still seems to bother him and he seems to breathe deeply with difficulty. In one thing Jeffries is as fast as he ever was, and that is footwork. He is as light as a cat on his feet and quick and clever. In fact, he is unusually fast on his feet for such a big man. Nearly every one who saw him commented upon his speedy footwork, and those who saw him in his prime said that he was as good as ever in this respect.

"It looks like this theatrical tour will do Jeff no good. All through his stunt when he shadow boxes and spars he does not seem to be in earnest. He goes through it like it was an awful grind. He makes it rather entertaining for the crowd, but a year of such work would never get him in condition. When a fighter has been out of the game for five years it takes hard, earnest work to get him back into shape.

"His sparring with Berger was really funny. Both wear about 15 ounce gloves—young pillows—and the hammering they get would harm no one. Berger swings wildly and Jeff ducks, and the crowd thinks Jeff is very clever. Then Berger shoves his face out and lets Jeff poke him thrice in the face with the pillow. The bout is interesting enough, but so awfully tame.

"Getting off the superfluous flesh was probably a hard task, and the whole Caucasian race ardently hopes that Jeff will make hard muscle out of what is soft flesh now. If he does and his wind gets better, it will be goodby Johnson."

THE DAILY ROUND UP.

AN OLD LOVE SONG.

Ask not how much I love thee;
Do not question why,
I have told thee the tale,
In the evening pale,
With a tear and a sigh.
I told thee, when Love was hopeless—
But now he is wild, and sings—
That the stars above
Shine ever on love,
Though they frown on the fate of kings.

O a king would have loved and left thee,
And away thy sweet love cast!
But I am thine while the stars shall shine,
To the last—to the last!
—Barry Cornwall.

Fined for Drunkenness—At Albuquerque Pedro Palladino an aged Italian was fined five dollars and costs for drunkenness. Palladino denied having been drunk but this assertion was disputed by the policeman making the arrest.

Double Wedding at Alta Vista—On last Monday morning at Alta Vista near Estancia Father Bessett performed a double wedding ceremony uniting in marriage Francisco Gomez with Juana Mirabal and Manuel S. y Sanchez with Lucia Aragon.

Crushed to Death—Hipolito Trujillo, a young ranchman of Manuleito, 12 miles west of Las Vegas, was crushed to death yesterday afternoon by falling under the wheels of his own wagon. He and his brother were bringing lumber to the city when the accident occurred.

Deputy Sheriff Fined—Eliseo Chaves, a deputy sheriff who was arrested last Sunday by Policeman Quier at Albuquerque, on the charge of fighting and creating a disturbance was up for trial on Monday and was fined ten dollars. The charge of carrying concealed weapons when not on official duty was also preferred against him but was taken under advisement.

Are Granted a Franchise—The county commissioners of Taos county have granted to the Rio Lucero Power Company, of which Territorial Coal Oil Inspector Malaquias Martinez is president, a franchise giving the company the right to extend its line and transmit power throughout the county. The company will furnish electric light to Taos and neighboring points.

Lost Life While Stealing Ride—On Sunday last Jose Gonzales, a resident of Old Mexico, was run over and killed by a freight train near Hebron, while stealing a ride. The deceased leaves a wife and two children living in Old Mexico.

And Still They Boost—The Roswell Register-Tribune pays the following tribute to the special New Year's edition of the Santa Fe New Mexican:

"Last Monday's edition of the Santa Fe New Mexican was the special New Year's number, which had been worked up by Brian Boru Dunne, now city editor of the paper. There was the regular issue of eight pages, and a magazine insert of thirty-two pages and cover, devoted entirely to boost stuff, special ads and half tones. The subject matter of the special is good and the pictures are better, and the whole thing is of priceless value for Santa Fe, though excellent as it is, many regular issues of the New Mexican have had even more pulling power, because the boost was unsugared and unannounced. In passing it might be a wholesome thing to admit that as a booster the New Mexican has us all skinned a mile. It never quits, and no section of the territory is exempted from its friendly hoist, all the year round."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

QUICK RELIEF OF ITCHING ECZEMA

Was Surprising—Inflammation Reduced in a Few Hours and Cure Soon Followed—Boy's Torture Had Been Intense for Years—Friend's Child had Eczema, Too.

MOTHER TELLS HOW
CUTICURA CURED BOTH

"When my boy was six years old, he suffered terribly with eczema. He could neither sit still nor lie quietly in bed, for the itching was dreadful. He would irritate spots by scratching with his nails and that only made them worse. A doctor treated him and we tried almost everything, but the eczema seemed to spread. It started in a small place on the lower extremities and spread for two years until it very nearly covered the back part of his leg to the knee.

"Finally I got Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Pills and gave them according to directions. I used them in the morning and that evening, before I put my boy to bed, I used them again and the improvement even in those few hours was surprising, the inflammation seemed to be so much less. I used two boxes of Cuticura Ointment, the same of the Pills and the Soap and my boy was cured. My son is now in his seventeenth year and he has never had a return of the eczema.

"I took care of a friend's child that had eczema on its face and limbs and I used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. They acted on the child just as they did on my son and it has never returned. I would recommend the Cuticura Remedies to anyone. Mrs. A. J. Cochran, 1823 Columbia Ave., Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 20, 1909."

It should be seen by those in the east who are looking toward New Mexico for it could but call attention to the city which is old yet new. We congratulate the New Mexican on this fine edition.—Taos Valley News.

Was of a Remarkable Family—Dona Magdalena Lucero de Ortiz, whose funeral took place this morning, belonged to one of the leading families of the Territory and had a remarkable circle of relatives. Her brother, Jose Nemecio Lucero married Mariana Archuleta, daughter of Diego Archuleta, and died last year at Las Cruces, where his brother Lucas Lucero still lives. Her sister Maria Archuleta married J. Pablo Gallegos of Abiquiu, and was the mother of Mrs. Burns, Mrs. Jaramillo, Mrs. Reyes and Mrs. A. C. de Baca. Her sister Cleofas married Vicente Garcia, and was the mother of Marcelino Garcia of Santa Fe and six others. Her sister Salome married Vicente Martinez of Taos, and was the mother of Julian Martinez, now of Santa Fe, and of Bonifacio Martinez, and others of Taos. It has often been said that the four daughters of Don Diego Lucero made the wealthiest marriages in their generation in New Mexico.

NEEDFUL KNOWLEDGE.

Santa Fe People Should Learn to Detect the Approach of Kidney Disease.

The symptoms of kidney trouble are so unmistakable that they leave no ground for doubt. Sick kidneys excrete a thick, cloudy, offensive urine, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding. The back aches constantly, headaches and dizzy spells may occur and the victim is often weighed down by a feeling of languor and fatigue. Neglect these warnings and there is danger of dropsy, Bright's disease, or diabetes. Any one of these symptoms is warning enough to begin treating the kidneys at once. Delay often proves fatal.

You can use no better remedy than Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's Santa Fe proof:

Hyman Lowitzki, 115 Guadalupe Street, Santa Fe, N. M., says: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, as they have been used by myself and other members of my family with splendid results. The value of Doan's Kidney Pills for relieving pain in the back and other kidney difficulties has been thoroughly proven to me. I take pleasure in making the merit of this remedy known to other kidney sufferers."

SUPERVISORS INSTRUCTED

Director Durand Directs the Selection of Negroes When Efficient

CONDITIONS ARE DEFINED

Does Not Consider it Desirable That Negroes Should Count Whites.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—U. S. Census Director Durand issued today a letter of instructions to supervisors of census throughout the country, approved by Secretary Nagel of the department of commerce and labor, defining the conditions relative to the employment of the negroes as census enumerators. They are directed to select negroes, so far as competent ones are available, to count the negroes in those enumeration districts in which two-fifths or more of the population consists of negroes. He does not consider it desirable that in the south negroes shall enumerate white families and he informs the supervisors that it will be necessary in many enumeration districts to appoint both a white and a negro enumerator. The director's letter to the supervisor is as follows:

"Sir—It is exceedingly important to the interests of the people of the United States and particularly to the people of the southern states that the coming census should give competent and accurate information with regard to the negro race. It is probable that the census will show approximately 10,000,000 of that race in the United States. In large districts in the south, negroes constitute more than half of the population; in fact, in many of the enumeration districts established by the census bureau, they will constitute from 75 per cent to 100 per cent of the population.

"Negroes can doubtless obtain the information required by the census from members of their own race more accurately than white enumerators. In various of the southern cities the boards of education regularly employ negro enumerators to take the school census of the negro population. This is true, for example, in Montgomery, Ala., and in Savannah, Ga. This practice shows that the white men of the south themselves recognize the desirability of employing negroes to do work of this character among their own race.

"You are therefore hereby directed to select negroes as enumerators of the negro population, so far as competent negroes offer themselves for the position, in those enumeration districts in which a large proportion of the population, say two-fifths or more, consist of negroes.

"On the other hand, I do not consider it desirable that in the south negroes appointed as enumerators should be authorized to enumerate white families. It is certain that in many, if not most, parts of the south negro enumerators would not be able to obtain as accurate statistics regarding the white population as white enumerators could. It will therefore be necessary in many enumeration districts to appoint both a white enumerator and a colored enumerator in order that the entire population may be properly enumerated.

"It is understood, of course, that all applicants for the position of enumerator, whether white or colored, should be subjected to such tests regarding their efficiency as may be prescribed, in order that only competent persons may be employed."

DECEMBER WAS COLDEST MONTH.

Weather Observer Linney Admits That Mercury Played Some Funny Pranks.

The closing month of 1909 was remarkable in several ways. It was the coldest December and the coldest month within the period covered by the climatic records of the territory. Lower temperature were also recorded than in any previous month, save one, February, 1905, 35 below zero at Cimarron. It was a month of comparatively steady, long-continued cold, and the low temperatures were not confined to the northern districts or the higher mountain regions, but over-spread the entire territory, and temperature many degrees below zero were recorded far south in the Rio Grande and the Pecos valleys. Only the extreme southern part of the territory escaped zero weather. The greatest deficiency in temperature occurred in northern Rio Arriba and in San Juan counties, where the average for the month was more than 10 degrees daily below the normal temperature. Almost as great daily deficiency also occurred in southern Colfax and central Mora counties, in Santa Fe and Torrance counties and in eastern Socorro county.

There were three periods of low temperature; the first from the 4th to the 8th; the second from the 15th to the 21st, and the third from the 24th to the 27th. The 10th was generally the coldest day of the month and of the year. On the other hand, the month began and ended with warm weather. The 31st was generally the day on which the highest temperature of the month was recorded, and the highest for the territory, 78 degrees, closely approximated that of previous years. The sunshine of the month was large, despite the rather frequent storms, the heavy snow and the severe cold.

Four periods of precipitation occurred, mostly snowfall. The first, from the 2d to the 6th; the second, from the 8th to the 11th; the third, from the 21st to the 24th, the latter, however, did not touch district No. 7, nor did the second except at one or two northern stations. The resulting precipitation, 0.75, was slightly above the normal, and nearly three times that of December, 1907 or 1908. The snowfall, 8.6, was the heaviest for several years. Five inches or more occurred over the entire territory, except the eastern border counties of Quay, Roosevelt, Chaves and northern Eddy, and ten inches or more in practically all of northern Union and Colfax counties, thence over the Sangre de Cristo range, the Sandias and southwest along the foothills west of the Rio Grande to northern Sierra and Grant counties. Over the headwaters of the Gila river the fall exceeded 20 inches, also over northern Taos and northeast Rio Arriba county, reaching a maximum depth of over four feet near Chama.

The humidity for the month was high for New Mexico. The winds were moderate, although no gales occurred. The prevailing direction was from the west.

Temperature.

The mean temperature for the territory, determined from the records of 62 stations having a mean altitude of 5,000 feet, was 28.1 degrees, or 5.6 degrees below the normal, and 7.5 degrees below the mean of December, 1908. The highest local monthly mean was 39.5 degrees at Carlsbad, and the highest temperature recorded was 78 degrees at the same station on the 31st. The lowest local monthly mean was 13.0 degrees at Hopewell, and the lowest temperature recorded was 23 below zero at Elizabethtown and Estancia on the 19th. Some of the other low readings were as follows: Red River Canon, 27; Luna, 26; Los Lunas and Stanley, 25; Mannelito, 24; Tres Piedras, 23; Wagon Mound, 22; Springer and Blackrock, 21; Nimbanch, 20 degrees. The greatest daily range in temperature was 59 degrees at Luna on the 27th; the greatest local monthly range was 88 degrees at Fort Stanton, and the least 51 degrees at Fort Bayard. The average temperature for the districts was as follows: No. 7 (Canadian) 28.4; No. 8 (Pecos and Rio Grande) 28.2; No. 9 (western) 27.1 degrees.

Precipitation.

The average precipitation for the territory, determined from the records of 134 stations, was 0.75 inch, or 0.63 inch above the normal, and 0.48 inch greater than December, 1908. The greatest monthly amount was 3.32 inches at Chama, and the least 0.05 inch at Cuervo. The greatest in any 24 hours was 1.15 inches at Raton on the 14th. The average snowfall for the territory was 8.6 inches, and the greatest at any regular station was 43.0 inches at Chama. The average number of days with 0.01 inch or more precipitation was 4. There were 17 clear days, 8 partly cloudy days and 6 cloudy days, a large percentage of sunshine considering the low temperatures that prevailed, and the amount of snowfall. The average for the districts was as follows: No. 7, 0.68 inch; No. 8, 0.77 inch; No. 9, 0.84 inch.

ANNUAL MEETING OF NEW MEXICO PIONEERS.

The annual meeting of the society of New Mexico Pioneers was held at the office of the secretary, Hon. L. Bradford Prince, Monday evening at 8 o'clock. This society is formed of persons, or the descendants of persons, who came to New Mexico before the railroad. Its object is to preserve the history and traditions of New Mexico, the genealogy of pioneer families, to protect the landmarks of the Territory, to erect monuments in historic places.

At last evening's meeting the old officers were re-elected, as follows: Governor, Hon. Amado Chaves; captain-general, J. Amado Lucero; alcalde mayor, Hilario L. Ortiz; secretary, L. Bradford Prince; treasurer, Jose D. Sena; councilor, Felix Martinez; vice president, Santa Fe county, A. Staab.

The following resolutions were adopted: Resolved, That we again express our sorrow at the gradual destruction of the Garita in Santa Fe, which is one of the most interesting relics of the Spanish domain in the United States, and we urge those interested in the property on which it stands to use prompt and effective measures for its preservation.

Resolved, That we heartily endorse the project to erect in the town of Fernando de Taos a suitable monument to commemorate the life of Padre Antonio Jose Martinez.

The death of Col. Max. Frost having been announced, some appropriate remarks were made and the following resolution unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, That in the death of Col. Frost, the society of New Mexico Pioneers, as well as the whole Territory, has met a severe and serious loss. Always interested in the history as well as the progress and development of New Mexico he was ever ready to aid every organization and every project which looked to its benefit and advantage. He was one of the early members of this society, always interested in its work and ready to contribute to its success. In his long struggle against discouraging conditions he had our deepest sympathy and by his death that is now transferred to his surviving family.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential.

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local. Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional. The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments.

The "Night Cure," as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, cases nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

OFFICIAL PAPER OF SANTA FE COUNTY.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every postoffice in the Territory, and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the Southwest.

OPENINGS IN FOREST SERVICE.

The New Mexican notes with pleasure that lectures on forestry are to be given at the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque at frequent intervals by men of technical experience and training. This territory has seven millions of acres in national forests and scores of its residents are employed as forest rangers, but very few, if any as technical assistants. Naturally, each year, there will be a greater number of employees in the service for the work of forest preservation and reforestation has been merely begun and instead of employing only a hundred, several thousand men are really needed in the New Mexico forests. This will mean in the near future many openings for men technically trained in forestry and there should be more young men in New Mexico fitting themselves for the service.

A young man can become a forester just as he can become a lawyer, a minister or a doctor, except perhaps he may have to go farther to attend a professional school, says a writer in The Technical World. More trained men are needed than the schools are turning out. The national government, with its 195,000,000 acres of national forest area, employs about two thousand foresters, rangers and guards and needs a much larger force. Timber land owners, lumber companies, educational institutions and states which are beginning to take up forestry are all seeking good men.

To be a good forester a man should combine something of the naturalist with a good deal of the business man. He must have the power of observation, a fondness for nature and the ability to penetrate her secrets. But if he is to succeed he must also have practical judgment and ability to handle men.

A forester must combine a vigorous mind with a vigorous body. He must be of the kind that likes to get things done and does not give up when things are not going his way. He will have to face difficulties and work out problems for himself, far from outside help, relying solely upon his own resources, supported by his own courage. He ought to be hard to whip.

The professional forester cannot hope for big fees and certain pleasant surroundings of life which crown distinguished success in some other professions. He must be content without much luxury; he will have to spend a good deal of time out of the reach of the ordinary comforts. He must be able and willing to rough it without complaint, to sleep on hard beds, sometimes with only the ground for his pillow and the sky for his blanket, eat homely fare, endure prolonged exertion and get along well with plain people. On the other hand, if he is at all fitted for his profession, and a few weeks of actual forest work will tell him whether he is or not, he can count on a pretty sure, though a moderate, success.

Silver City will next week vote on a proposed bond issue of $25,000 for a new school building. The New Mexican hopes that not a single vote will be cast against the proposition. Silver City has a territorial normal school and has an excellent public school system and it should not let a matter of $25,000 stand between it and a modern public school building. Says the Silver City Enterprise:

"Santa Fe, Albuquerque, Raton, Las Cruces and nearly every town in the eastern part of the territory has a modern and up-to-date public school building. Silver City is woefully deficient in this regard. The question will be fairly before the people at the special election to be held on January 18th upon the issuance of $25,000 worth of bonds with which to provide sufficient funds for the erection of a new building here. Silver City is universally conceded to be the best town of its size in the southwest, and if it is to progress as its resources merit, we must keep in the front rank. Every voter should give this matter serious and intelligent consideration. A vote for the bond issue on the 18th is a vote for advancement."

A Colorado real estate dealer has broken into print with the suggestion that San Juan county be annexed to Colorado. The proposition is as old as that of Texas to seize the lower Pecos valley, and about as futile. Both valleys mean too much to the present and the future of the territory and New Mexico will never relinquish title to them.

A NEW JUDICIAL CIRCUIT.

New Mexico asks Congress to create a new judicial district, the eighth for the territory, and there is no denying it, that this new district is much needed. The growth of the territory has resulted in an increase of litigation, that it takes all the time of the courts to dispose of, without leaving time to the presiding judges to write opinions and to attend their other duties as justices of the supreme court. In federal litigation, too, in the west business has increased to such an extent as to make a new judicial circuit a necessity. Representative Taylor of Colorado has introduced a bill in Congress for that purpose and it should be passed.

The purpose of the act is to divide the present Eighth district, in which Colorado is located, making a new district composed of the states of Utah, Wyoming, Colorado, Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma. To this proposed district New Mexico will be attached whenever it is admitted to statehood.

The present district includes an area of 1,029,712 square miles, with a population of 15,000,000 people. Sessions of the circuit court of appeals are now held at St. Louis, St. Paul, Cheyenne and Denver. The litigation arising from the western part of this circuit court can not be attended to at Denver without great delay. To hasten cases and make oral arguments thereon, counsel is frequently called to St. Louis or St. Paul, which is quite a burden of expense to litigants, and a loss of time to counsel.

Taylor is of the impression that this proposed division will meet with the hearty indorsement of the bar throughout the entire circuit of the twelve states sought to be divided. Such a division is understood to meet with the approval of Justice Brewer, to whose control the Eighth circuit is assigned.

The creation of the new circuit will entail a trifling additional expense, as there already exists in the present circuit four circuit judges, two of whom have their residence in the proposed new circuit, and the other two in the old Eighth, as embraced in the proposed bill. Taylor says that no additional circuit judges would be necessary at present.

The Raton Range liked the New Mexican's New Year's edition and says so:

"The Santa Fe New Mexican's New Year's edition, which is in pamphlet form, has a most progressive look for the 'wild and woolly' whence it emanates. It is well written, well edited and arranged on good paper with plenty of clear illustrations. It speaks well for Santa Fe and vicinity that such a holiday magazine can be gotten up with only local matter in its pages. Few towns anywhere with Santa Fe population can mass such an array of convincing facts about the city and its environments. We are proud of this fact, because such should surely be first in her class. A good word should be added for Paul Walter and his associates on the New Mexican, for the progressive spirit shown in this representative showing of their corner of the most resourceful portion of the west. The Range will soon follow suit with a complete showing of the resources of Colfax county and it cannot be denied that such aids will be materially useful in the promotion of the promising future opening with the New Year."

It is Democratic custom to drag the public schools into politics and they are doing it even in New Mexico whenever they have the upper hand, although the Republican policy of keeping the administration of the schools out of politics has had a good influence. Says the Fort Sumner Review:

"Professor John Taylor, superintendent of the Clovis schools, has retired from office to the merry jingle of a tomato can tied to his official coat tail. It is all a result of the merry row now on among the Democrats of Curry county, in which it seems that Mr. Taylor had the bad luck to get in with the minority.—Roswell Register-Tribune.

"It is a good thing to keep the schools out of politics, and if what the Register-Tribune says be true, factional party strife is even worse than party strife. The situation should be imminent and the demand urgent to cause a school board to discharge or change the principal in the midst of a school term."

Clovis is to have a daily newspaper, the fourth within a year's time and the Roswell Register-Tribune seems to think that the fourth and last venture will have as hard a time to make ends meet as did the first, for it says:

"The report has gone out that the plant of the old Albuquerque Citizen will be moved to Clovis, and the publication of a big Democratic daily commenced, as the first step toward the Democratic evangelization of the eastern tier. It is said that a company has been formed at Clovis to back the scheme, with a capital of $20,000 and that the deal will go through in a few weeks. The report is interesting, if true. It is undoubtedly a phase of the campaign for Felix Martinez on this side of the mountains; the fact that the same interests that publish the Tribune-Citizen have controlling interest is proof sufficient of that. Clovis has had a checkered newspaper experience, and the promoters of this scheme expect to run the old timers out in a little while. Judging from a slight knowledge of the said old timers, we are confident they will have a sweet time doing it. However, if a dig daily goes in at Clovis, it will be a big boost for eastern New Mexico, so that the situation has its recompenses."

On account of the abundance of snow and the prolonged cold weather, eastern New Mexico looks forward to good crops in the fall. It is to be hoped that the settlers will get down to scientific farming and will make the most in preserving the moisture that is now in the ground, but that will be quickly evaporated unless the proper treatment is given the soil. Says the Logan Leader:

"The Logan country is looking forward to a big crop next season. We have already had several big snows and the ground has been frozen down about a foot. The moisture is gradually going deeper into the soil and very little is evaporating. We will start out with a good season in the ground and that is claimed to be half the battle. The farmers have also been doing a good deal of fall and winter plowing which tends to force the moisture farther down. Now don't fool yourself over our next crop, it's going to be a hummer."

Washington society has always regarded it as one of the irrevocable laws that new officials must call on the President first. But President Taft, no matter how great his veneration for judicial precedents, has no compunction about smashing social precedents even though they be regarded as unbreakable as were the laws of the Medes and the Persians. One afternoon last week, he left the White House for his afternoon walk when he learned that Judge Lorton, just appointed to the supreme court of the United States had arrived in Washington and instead of waiting for the judge to call on him, the President walked to the hotel and hunted up Lorton to make the first call on him. It almost akin to sacrilege in the eyes of the old timers of the Washington social set, but Taft gave an instance of his democracy that will endear him to the common herd to which most of us belong.

The Folsom Leader says that during the past two months five deaths have resulted from typhoid fever at Clayton, N. M., the latest victim being Mayor F. I. Burch.—New Mexican.

"It is the greatest wonder in the world that Clovis has not experienced the same thing, considering the very unsanitary condition of the city during the summer, and even now, and we don't propose to withhold any of the facts for policy's sake or the effect it might have on prospective investors, for we believe it is best to have a clean, sanitary town to show the visitor or the investor than a largely populated cemetery. Even at this writing the slop barrels at the rear of Main street business houses are very repulsive, both to eye and nostril, and the whole of the back yards and alleys are filled with rubbish and filth. Some one is neglecting his duty. Who is it?"—Clovis Exchange.

Libel suits do not bring much popularity to the man who brings them in New Mexico and as to seeking a vindication in that manner, the dear public merely laughs. Says the McKinley County Republican in speaking of a libel suit with which it was recently honored:

"If Ole Sue is going into the banking business on the strength of that $25,000 he is suing the Republican for, she had better pinch a little or he may have to float some meal ticket bonds. This isn't said to dishearten the old girl, but just to give her a line on the dope."

MINES AND MINING

Santa Rita—Matters are moving rapidly in Chino Copper Company affairs these days. Announcement was made last week at the office of Shove, Aldrich & Company of Colorado Springs that the Gila & Ray Copper Company and the Chino Copper Company would amalgamate in the near future. The amalgamation when completed will be one of the largest corporations of this kind in the country. A director of the company also makes the following statement: "The Chino has developed very rapidly, and we are now prepared to build a 2,500-ton mill. We were a little at a loss to know just how we should finance this, owing to the existence of options held by the people who sold the property. If they had determined to hold those options until maturity, we should have been obliged to issue convertible bonds, which we should have been reluctant to do, as it would unnecessarily have increased the outstanding capital when the bonds were converted and the options exercised. I am very glad to state, however, that these interests, in the broadest and most liberal way, agreed immediately to exercise their options and have done so, which financed the company without the requirement of the issuance of new securities other than the exercising of the options. This gives the company outstanding 700,000 share of stock, and for the 275,000 shares which were in the treasury $1,375,000, which brings the present working balance up to quite a little in excess of $1,500,000. The properties of the company are showing up most favorably under development. The churn drilling so far has disclosed between seven million and eight million tons of ore. It is of slightly higher grade than that of most other properties or disseminated ore mines, averaging almost two and five-tenths per cent. A considerable portion of the ore lies sufficiently near the surface that it will be mined cheaply by the open cut or stream shovel process.—Silver City Independent.

Sylvanite—Col. Jim Wicks of Goldfield, Nev., has closed a deal for the Knickerbocker property at Granite Gap and will begin sinking a shaft at once. This property was worked in early days for lead and silver, the ore being hauled to Denning and from there shipped to El Paso; this was during Geromino's time, and on one of his raids the owners of this property were all killed and the property lay idle until the discovery of gold at Sylvanite. The entire camp was much excited over some rich specimens of free gold ore brought down from Birchfield brothers' Creeper claim a few days ago. The new find was made just a few feet up the hill from the main working shaft. Specimens of the ore uncovered look to be 25 per cent gold and as near as can be determined without making a cross-cut the vein is 15 or 20 feet wide at this point.—Silver City Independent.

New Magazine for Copper Company—"The resignation of E. A. Wayne as manager of the Savannah Copper Company, which has been under consideration by him for a number of months and which is reported to have been sent in several weeks ago, has finally been accepted by that company, which has resigned I. J. Stauber to fill the vacancy created. Mr. Wayne had been the manager of the Savannah company ever since its organization."—Silver City Independent.

Phosphoric Rock—Prof. R. F. Hare, head of the chemical department of the College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, recently received from S. M. Wharton of Tucuman, a specimen of reddish brown deposit for analysis of its contents of phosphoric acid. The rock was expected to be of value as a source of fertilizing material. It proved to be of little commercial use. However, in the examination of the specimen a number of fossil teeth were found and Prof. E. O. Wooten, head of the biological department, was asked to give some information on the subject. They were recognized by him as being the teeth of some vertebrate, and sent them to the American Museum of Natural History at New York City for identification. Dr. W. D. Matthews, head of the museum, writes as follows on the subject:

"The larger tooth, flattened and with serrate, is of a carnivorous dinosaur, probably the palaeontosaurus. The smaller tooth is of a phytosaurian trassic reported by Cape from the trias of Texas. As these come from a supposed prehistoric deposit I should judge the chances were good of finding more and better preserved material. Triassic vertebrate are rare in this country and especially the dinosaur. It seems well worth following up. We hope to be able before very long to look into some permian and triassic localities in New Mexico for vertebrate fossils.

"We would be glad to have any additional information that may come to you about this one, or if you have time to look into it yourself we would be glad to know what it turns out. This is an addition to the known localities in which the vertebrate fossils have been found in New Mexico. The territory promises to be very interesting geologically and the indications are that it will furnish much valuable information of the life and climatic conditions of this part of North America during the permian, the mesozoic and early tertiary."

S.S.S. RIDES THE SYSTEM OF CATARRH

Catarrh comes as a result of impurities and morbid matter in the circulation, and is a disease that only attacks mucous membranes. The entire inner portion of the body is lined with a delicate skin or covering of soft, sensitive flesh. Thousands of tiny blood vessels are interlaced throughout this mucous surface, and it is through these that the inner membrane receives its nourishment and is kept in healthful condition. When, however, the blood becomes infected with catarrhal impurities the tissues become diseased and Catarrh gets a foothold in the system. The early stages of Catarrh are characterized by such symptoms as a tight, stuffy feeling in the head, watery eyes, buzzing noises in the ears, with partial deafness and often difficult breathing and chronic hoarseness. These are merely symptoms, and while sprays, inhalations and other local treatment may temporarily relieve them, Catarrh cannot be cured until the blood is purified of the exciting cause. S.S.S. cures Catarrh by cleansing the blood of all impure catarrhal matter. It goes down into the circulation and attacks the disease at its head, and removes every particle of the catarrhal impurity. Then the mucous linings are all supplied with fresh, pure blood, and allowed to heal, instead of being kept in a constant state of irritation by the catarrhal matter. Special book on Catarrh and any medical advice free.

ica during the permian, the mesozoic and early tertiary."

Prospects and Mines—John Hays Hammond, in the Mining World discusses the difference between prospects and mines as follows:

"In a discussion of mining investments it is important to distinguish clearly between the two general classes of mining properties—Prospects and Mines.

"By the term prospect the miner designates ore bodies only partially explored or developed. Obviously investments in this class of mining are always of a speculative character and for this reason are often referred to as 'mining gambles.' The capital required to purchase and develop a prospect is, of course, much less than that required for the purchase of a developed mine and the installation of the mining and reduction plant necessary for its exploration. While financial loss in each particular case of failure in investments of this character is smaller, the losses are, nevertheless, more frequent because of the inherent risks involved compared with those of developed mines. In the event, however, of a fortunate selection of a good prospect, the result of subsequent development work may transform that prospect into a paying mine, and then the ratio of profits realized to capital invested becomes far greater than in the case of properties already developed. In other words, one may, if he be of a sanguine disposition, not unreasonably hope for a return of profits amounting to many times his investment in ventures of this kind. While, on the other hand, the most optimistic investor would not be justified in entertaining hopes—far less expectations—of such large profits from his more conservative investment in developed mining properties.

"A peculiar, indeed unique kind of mining talent is essential in 'sizing up' a mining prospect, to determine whether or not the investor is warranted in risking his money chiefly on the strength of surface indications of the ore bodies, in default of more extensive and reliable developments. There are, as I have intimated, few engineers who possess what is called a 'good nose' for a mine in connection with the expertise of undeveloped, or partially developed, mining prospects.

"Nevertheless, it is from just such beginnings, and by just such financial risks that the great mines of the world have been developed. And fortunate indeed is he who has had the ability or luck to invest his money in what ultimately proves to be a successful venture of this kind. Probably not more than one in six of what would reasonably be regarded by experts as prospects deserving exploration proves ultimately to be a winner. And yet it is my opinion that no field of mining investment is more attractive, and at the same time I venture to say more safe than investments in prospects, if carried out by men with good judgment and with the requisite experience. But this kind of mining should be confined to such capitalistic or exploration companies as can afford to incur the risk of several failures before attaining final compensating success. Preferably such operations should be undertaken by those who have had mining experience, and, therefore, who have a proper appreciation of the degree and extent of the financial hazards involved.

"At the risk of the imputation of 'damnable iteration,' I wish to emphasize the relative degree of hazard in investments of this character, and to urge the public to exercise due discrimination in the investment of money in the classes of mines referred to. Unscrupulous promoters and other financial sharks take advantage of the ignorance of the credulous investor to sell stock in a company, the assets of which are the undemonstrated potentialities of a prospect, and not the reasonably assured income of a developed mine. Indeed, the great majority of alluring prospectuses issued to the gullible public, when analyzed by a mining engineer, show that the properties purporting to be mines are in reality only prospects of a highly speculative value.

"A very common cause of the loss of money in mining is due to the precipitate action of companies in installing reduction plants upon the properties before the mines have been sufficiently developed to supply ore. Throughout all the mining districts of the world there are countless monuments of the folly of such investors in the ghastly shape of abandoned mills.

"Those experienced in the investments in prospects almost invariably insist upon what is called a 'working bond,' to enable them to determine the value of the prospect by actual developments before the payment for the property. Sometimes, for this privilege, they are willing to pay a reasonable sum to be applied to the purchase price of the property in case their option should be exercised, or as a forfeit if the results of the developments are adverse and they decide to 'turn it down.'

"It is often difficult, indeed at times impossible to define at what point in its stage of development a prospect ends and a mine begins. But in general terms it may be stated that where a property is sufficiently developed to enable the engineer to make a calculation of the net value of the ore reserves, and in addition to this to form an opinion as to the continuation of the ore body in depth beyond the limits of the ore in sight, with such a degree of probability as to assure the return of the capital invested in the erection of the necessary mining and reduction plants, such a property may then be dignified by the appellation of 'mine.'

"It is not always the amount of development work upon a property that determines to which category it belongs. Indeed, some few classes of ore deposits, owing to their peculiar geological features, possess such reliability in respect to their persistency as to warrant the investor in regarding them as mine, and not mere prospects, in spite of the relatively small amount of exploratory work actually performed."

SOUTHERN AND UNION PACIFIC SYSTEMS TO SEPARATE.

Such is the Report Following a Conference Between Government and Officials.

New York, Jan. 12.—A proposition looking to the separation of the Southern Pacific and the Union Pacific systems is now under consideration between President Taft and Attorney General Wickersham and the officials of the Harriman railroads. Following yesterday's conference between Attorney General Wickersham and Judge Lovett head of the Harriman system at which President Taft was present it was said in Wall street today that a definite announcement of a separation was only a question of time. There is reason to believe that at yesterday's meeting a proposition was made along the lines laid down by the government in its suit. The proposition came from the railroad interests and is likely to be fully entertained by the government.

Beyond the Pale

By GEORGE BRYDGES RODNEY

(Copyright, by J. B. Lippincott Co.)

"Yes, suh; I've seen bad men— plenty of 'em, in the early days, before this yere country was a white man's country past disputin'. I've seen 'em ride into a settlement, an' jest' natchally hold up the whole bloomin' outfit. I've seen men what was shot, an' men what died o' thirst; an' onct, when I was a boy, I seen a man—a maverick— what the Mesclero Apaches 'd staked out over a ant-hill. It was bad—rotten bad. The ways o' rough men is some queer, but they cain't touch the devil's tricks they teach in civilization. I seen one o' them onct that fer clean devilment would ha' put the everlastin' kibosh on even ol' Cochise, an' he was some bad."

I asked a question.

"Yes, I'll tell you. Wait till I ketch up the burros, or they'll wander off into the brush an' 'll be the Lord only knows how fur off by mornin'."

"Twenty-five year ago I was manager of one over in the Progresso country—a good ranch, with two hundred thousand head on the runs. It was owned by a New York company—Bar Lazy O, they called it. I started in as herder till I near went loco from loneliness. I was there for ten year, and when the old company sold out, young Mr. Hirtion, the treasurer of the new outfit, offered me the place as manager, an' I jumped at it, 'cause, you see, I'd been waitin' fer a chance fer money, an' two thousand a year is wuth some waitin'. Mr. Hirtion come out every summer fer three or four months; he was a lunger, you know. His sister come out an' kept house fer him. She sure was a good-lookin' girl—tall and straight, an' eyes blue'n ever I seen, an' hair like the bottom of a new copper kittle when the sun shines on it.

"One day she says to me: 'Mr. Connor, my brother expects two gentlemen out here next week, an' I'd like you to go to the railroad to meet 'em, if you can.'

"Sure I can," says I.

"So when the time come I lit out in a buckboard fer the railroad. 'Twas a three days' trip an' rough ridin', an' I was durned glad when they shoved them two tenderfeet off 'n the train an' dumps about four trunks around 'em.

"One of 'em was a feller about twenty-six, built from the ground up, name o' White. The other was a man of about forty or forty-five, clean-shaven, wearin' specs, an' mighty keener in his dressin'. Perfesser: Cringle was his name, an' I found out later he was a bugologist fer some museum in Chicago.

"Course I was makin' bets with my self all along that both of 'em was after Miss May. I never yet seen two men what'd travel three thousand miles to see a lunger.

"It turned out that I was half right, fer while had knowed Miss May fer about six year, but the perfesser was a man Hirtion picked up in Chicago, an' got him interested in loco weed, an' he come out to investigate it. He'd never met Miss May. But that didn't make no difference, there's got to be a first time to all things, an' pretty soon things was gay on that ranch with the two men tryin' all kind o' ways to git a corner on Miss May's time. She liked White—anybody could see that—an' ol' Cringle wasn't even an 'also ran'.

"One evenin', while I was a-settin' by the bunk-house a-smokin' before turnin' in, I heered the front door shet in the big house, 'n' I looks up an' sees Miss May 'n' White standin' on the porch in the moonlight. The vines was all about 'em, an' by an' by I heered the murmur o' the voices like that water yunder, 'n' then I sees White hold out both arms to her. She kin o' wavered fer a minute, like a young cottonwood in a breeze, an' he catches her, an' then on a sudden I seen the curtain go up about two inches in the settin'-room winder, an' I seen the gleam o' the light on a pair o' specs, an' a minute later ol' Specs comes out by the back door. He didn't see me a-settin' by the bunk-house in the shadow, so he passes over an' stands there within ten feet o' me, his hands in his pockets, a-watchin' the two on the porch. Then he says soft-like: 'It is not good fer man to live alone, but ye're not goin' to marry him. No, ye're not. Fate has reserved fer ye the consolin' influences of a man o' science. I'm older 'n him, 'n' I know more, an' he shan't have ye, any way,' he says, gazin' at 'em till I thought he'd lose his sight.

"The nex' mornin' 'bout daylight ol' Specs comes out to me in the corral. He was always politeful to me, an' he says: 'Mr. Connor, will you step over to the chicken yard? There's a strange animal there that I don't know.'

"Skunk, maybe," says I, follerin' him.

"There," says he, pointin' to a pushy tall a-stickin' out from the coop. 'Wait till I ketch it,' he says.

"You let that alone," I hollers. It's a hydrophobia skunk. If it bites you, it's sure death; an' I pulled my gun an' plugged it.

"Ol' Specs jumped fer it. 'Mephisto adyralnaks,' says he."

"Mephisto mephista hydrophobia," I suggested, brushing some hot cigarette ashes from my blanket.

"Aye, that's it. I thought he was swearin' in bug Latin. Ol' Specs jumped fer it like a duck fer a June bug.

"I've heered of 'em, Mr. Connors," says he, 'but I never seen one before. I allus thought it was a yarn like you western men give to a tenderfoot,' he says.

"Yarn hell! One bit Mallory last year when he was roundin' up cattle in Tonto basin, an' he went out sudden."

"One day Mr. Hirtion come to me and says: 'Connor, how would you like to put in six weeks hunting mountain sheep?'

"Fine!" I says. 'Up near the line there's lots of 'em.' There was no fine in them days fer killin' 'em.

"Mr. White an' the perfesser would like to go, he says, 'so fix up fer all of ye to go to-morrow. Ye can take Smith to help with the packs.'

"So the next day we pulled out. I was expectin' the two to be hardly on speaking terms, an' White he was sure close-mouthed. But Specs was always good-humored, an' he'd ride along chewin' jerked venison all day, gittin' off his horse every now an' then to pick up a toad or bug.

"We finally hit the foothills of the White Water Range, after about two weeks' travelin', an' made up near the head of the canyon. I'd seen some o' them durned hydrophobia skunks loafin' around the camps, an' every night I'd take my beddin' roll an' prop up the edges o' the canvas with sticks or sling it up between two trees. Ye see, on a cold night they loaf around pickin' up scraps, an' crawl in yer beddin' fer warmth, an' the first thing ye know ye're bit.

"Specs wasn't much on huntin', 'ceptin' bug huntin', so he says, 'You folks go hunt yer sheep, an' I'll lie around camp an' git my game here,' he says. So he generally had grub fixed fer us in the evenin'.

"One night when we come in I went up the stream to catch some fish, an' about a half-mile up the stream I seen a empty on the bank with slats nailed over it, an' inside it was one o' these yere animals. 'Specs got a pet,' I thinks, an' I meant to josh him about it. But when I went back to camp I forgot all about it.

"Next night I moved my beddin' roll an' hung it up between two trees away out from the fire, an' lay there a-watchin' Specs chop up a squirrel he'd shot. White had turned in, an' presently Specs goes down to wash his hands in the stream. When he come back he come by the rear of the tent, an' got in on the side away from me.

"I turned out at daylight, an' while I had my face in the creek I heard a yell up in camp that made me jump; then a shot, follered by two more, I made one jump an' lit by the fire. White was standin' by the fire with his gun in his hand, his face white'n chalk, an' at his feet was a hydrophobia skunk—dead.

"What's the matter?" says I.

"One o' them varmints was in White's boot, an' bit him on the hand," says Specs. 'Heat a knife,' he says. 'The fire was out, an' it took about twenty minutes to start it an' get a blade hot. We done the best we could by tyin' a string 'round the arm an' cuttin' into the hand.

"That broke up the party. We got the packs ready to pull out after dinner, an' I went up-stream to catch some fish. I'll jest go up an' look at Spec's pet,' thinks I, an' when I get up-stream to where he had it, I seen the box, but there wasn't nothin' in it. 'Wonder how he got out?' thinks I, an' the first thing I seen was that there wasn't no hole in the box, but the top slat was knocked off. Now, there ain't no animal livin' what'll knock the top slat off'n a box to git out.

"We pulled out after dinner, an' I never want to see a worse trip. White was nervous an' worried, an' would look fer hours at his hand. After four or five days it turned red an' angry-lookin', an' White got mighty irritable, an' his eyes was bloodshot, an' he had the meanest grin on his face that I ever seen. Old Specs was devotin' all his time to him, even makin' poultices fer him out'n rattlesnake weed.

"One night after we'd hit the back trail fer about three weeks we camped fer the night. I handed White his tin cup full of coffee. He took it, an' I seen him strain an' strain, an' the big swallerin' muscles on his throat stand out, but he couldn't drink. He says to me quiet-like: 'Connor, I guess I'm all in.'

"I says, 'Nonsense, White! Buck up. It's all fancy.' There wasn't no Pasteur treatment in them days.

"The next night we had to tie him. He was foam'n' at the mouth.

"God! what a awful sight!" says Specs.

"I took my gun an' spun around the cylinder, an' says: 'No law runs west of the Colorado line, but them animals is sure bad medicine. There may be some things around to-night that need killin'.'

"Specs looks queer, but says nothin'.

"That night about moonrise I heerd a shot, an' come out o' my beddin' roll all standin'. White was layin' by the fire with his feet in the ashes, his revolver in his hand, an' a tin cup half full o' water beside him. His head was — Well, there was a letter lyin' by him, writ on a label off a tomato can, an' Specs was a-leavin' over him. He says: 'God forgive him, poor devil! What do ye make of it, Connor?'

"I says nothin', but looked at him.

"It liked to 'a' broke Miss May's heart when Hirtion told her about White's death."

Connor lapsed into silence.

"What became of Specs?" I asked incautiously.

"I put rocks over him," said Connor, "so the coyotes couldn't dig him up; fer, after all, he was a white man."

DELIGHTS OF THE CITY LIFE

How Pleasant to Have Everything Brought to Your Door at No Inconvenience to You!

The rear door opened with a jerk and closed with a bang that shook the house. Heavy footsteps resounded; there was a crash and then more footsteps, another bang and all was still.

The householder sighed wearily and dozed off again. At first he thought it must be a cyclone at least, but this was because he had been asleep. He recognized it in the light of awakened faculties as the ice-man.

After awhile he stretched his arms above his head and consulted the alarm clock that stood on the table beside him. There was plenty of time, and he dozed off again—

Another bang of the rear door, more footsteps, another slam as of a dropping lid, more footsteps, another bang and then stillness. Now what? Oh, yes, the milkman.

A ponderous knocking came on the door and the householder arose in his night clothes to see what manner of trouble it might be, for his wife was away and he was keeping bachelor hall.

It was the breadman. As the householder dressed another knocking brought the grocery's order man.

Before he had shaved a ring at the doorbell indicated another commercial visitor. This one was the laundry man.

Hurriedly the householder completed his toilet, but not quite soon enough to escape a little girl selling soap in order to get a set of silver-plated teaspoons, a negro who had decided the grass needed cutting and a vegetable peddler who had strawberries to sell at bargain rates.

Then the householder locked the door and hurried to the car, deciding to take all his meals down town and maybe sleep at a hotel.

He looked back and saw a disappointed looking man coming out of his gate carrying a package that suggested sample books. And as he waited for the car he saw the washerwoman with a basket of clothes go in, but he did not return.—Galveston News.

Cleared Up.

Bewilderment was written in the face of the richly gowned lady that hurried into the elderly physician's private office.

"Dr. Swallow," said she, "this morning I received your bill for $10, and I can't understand it. Some time ago I settled our account and have had no occasion to consult you professionally since."

"Did I not call at your house one day since that?"

"Only as my guest at dinner, doctor. That was four weeks ago."

An apprehensive shade overspread the dignified physician's countenance, as quickly he withdrew his notebook from his pocket and rapidly flattered over the leaves.

"Here it is," said he, stopping at a certain page. "Dinner at Mrs. Penelope's. Uneventful. Eked out the hour by giving hostess my opinions on the digestibility of mustard pickles, scalloped oysters and plum cake," added the physician, "without thinking I annexed the amount of the bill which you received. Madam, it should have been twenty-five."—Life.

AFTER THE HONEYMOON.

She (sentimentally)—Jack, darling, wasn't that a lovely gorge up the mountains?

He (practically)—Yes, the best meal we had for a month.

A Keen Lad.

"I had always heard that New Englanders were 'smart,'" a young physician who has "graduated" from a village practice remarked the other day, "but I hardly thought it developed at such an early age."

He smiled reminisciently, then continued:

"Just after I settled in Dobbs Corners a 12-year-old boy called on me one evening.

"Say, doc. I guess I got measles," he remarked, "but nobody knows it 'cept the folks at home, an' they ain't the kind that talks, if there's any good reason to keep quiet."

"I was puzzled, and I suppose I looked it.

"Aw, get wise, doc, my small visitor suggested. 'What will you give me to go to school an' spread it among all the kids in the village?'"—Lippincott's.

Kept Guessing.

"Dese yuh white politicians—dawgawn 'em!" petulantly remarked a pessimistically inclined colored citizen.

"Dey shakes nands wid me so frequent dat it keeps me buzzin' most o' de time countin' muh fingers to see dat dey isn't stoie none o' 'em. Got so's dat when I meets 'em I socks muh hands down deep in muh pockets, but—bless goodness!—dey dess roaches in an' pulls 'em out an' howdy wid me, whudder or no. Muh education an' so pow'ful scatterin' dat I dess knait scally keep tally on de scoun'rel!"

Col. Prichard Makes Correction—Col. G. W. Prichard, representing creditors to the amount of $85,000 against the New Mexico Central railroad was misquoted in the New Mexican yesterday in the story of the appointment of a receiver. Instead of stating that he had aspired to be appointed the road's receiver Colonel Prichard wished it to be understood that he had desired to have a hand in the selection of a receiver. "Of course I myself representing these creditors was disqualified to be receiver," he said, "but I do think that a resident of the Territory should have been named." It is said that this opinion is shared by several other attorneys who represent creditors of the road.

UNCLE SAM LOOKS AFTER FORTIFICATIONS.

But Will Spend in 1911 Over Two Millions Less Than in 1910.

Washington, D. C. Jan. 12.—Fortifications for the United States and insular possessions for the year 1911 will cost $5,617,200—over two and a half millions less than for 1910, if the House adopts the recommendations of the appropriation committee, submitted. The committee cut the department estimates for the coming year $1,109,524.56.

The largest single item in the appropriation is for the sea coast batteries of the Philippine islands, where it is recommended that $800,000 be expended during the coming year. For light and power plants in the Philippines $45,000 is recommended, for searchlights for important harbors in the island, $139,000; with some thousands of dollars for scattering items including $7,000 for the reclamation of land for fortification purposes.

The total fortifications in the Philippines and Hawaii is $2,689,300. The sum of half a million is recommended for sea coast guns and carriages and for the purchase and manufacture and test of land turrets, $624,800 with two hundred thousand dollars is recommended for the construction of fire control stations and accessories.

The total for armament and fortifications for defense in the United States is $1,970,000, the principal item in which is one $600,000 for mountain, siege and field cannon and equipment.

An appropriation of $440,000 is recommended for ammunition and sub-caliber guns for sea coast artillery practice, which is practically the same amount appropriated for the present year. The sums of $300,000 appears for searchlights for important harbors and $200,000 for the construction of fire control stations, range finders, etc. The estimate of $370,000 to be used for the alteration and maintenance of sea coast artillery is allowed in the bill.

The principal cuts from the 1910 appropriations are in ammunition for sea coast guns, sea coast batteries in the Philippines alteration and maintenance of sea coast artillery, submarine mines and sites for fortifications and sea coast defenses in the United States.
