Carrizozo Again Gets Decision.

Santa Fe, N. M.
4:53 p. m.

Carrizozo News.

Carrizozo, N. M.

Judgment in Lincoln County case affirmed.

J. D. SENA.

Tuesday night a telegram was sent to Santa Fe, asking for a report on the decision in the county seat case. At that time it was understood that the supreme court would adjourn Wednesday. However, no answer came, and after waiting until "patience ceased to be a virtue," the supreme court clerk was called up over the long distance phone yesterday afternoon. We were informed that the court had not adjourned; that no decision had been rendered, but that if a decision was reached yesterday afternoon, a wire, announcing the result, would be sent.

At 5:25 yesterday evening the message quoted at the head of this column arrived, which set at rest all doubts, and affirmed the will of the people, expressed a year ago—designating Carrizozo the county seat.

Colonel Roosevelt Speaks Plainly.

Colonel Roosevelt sharply criticized the supreme court of the United States, in a speech delivered Monday before the Colorado legislature. The ex-president cited two decisions by the supreme court which, he declared, were contrary to the principles of democracy, and he said emphatically that if those decisions indicated the permanent attitude of the court, the entire American system of popular government would be upset. In part he said:

"I am anxious that the nation and the state shall each exercise its infinite powers to the fullest degree. Where necessary they should work together, but above all they should not leave a neutral ground in which neither state nor nation can exercise authority, and which would become a place of refuge for men who wish to act criminally, and especially for the very rich men who wish to act against the interests of the community as a whole.

"Let me illustrate what I mean by a reference to two concrete cases. The first is the Knight

Sugar Trust case. In that, the supreme court of the United States, under cover of what a man whose interest is chiefly in sane, constructive stewardship can only call a highly technical legal subtlety, handed down a decision which rendered it exceedingly difficult for the nation effectively to control the use of masses of corporate capital in interstate business, as the nation obviously was the sole power that could exercise this control (for it was quite beyond the power of any one state). It was a decision nominally against national rights but really against popular rights.

"The second case is the so-called New York bakeshop case. In New York city, as in most large cities, the baking business is likely to be carried on under unhygienic conditions. The New York legislature passed, and the New York governor signed a bill remedying these improper conditions. New York state was the only body that could deal with them; the nation had no power whatever in the matter. But the supreme court of the United States unfortunately exercised the negative power of not permitting the abuse to be remedied. By a five to four vote they declared against the action of the state of New York, because, forsooth, that men must not be deprived of their 'liberty' to work under unhygienic conditions. They were, of course, themselves powerless to make the remotest attempt to provide a remedy for the wrong which undoubtedly existed, and their refusal to permit action by the state did not confer any power upon the nation to act. In effect, it reduced to impotence the only body which did have power; so that, in this case, the decision, although nominally against state rights, was really against popular rights, against the democratic principle of government by the people under the forms of law.

"If such decisions as these two indicated the court's permanent attitude, there would be real and grave cause of alarm; for such decisions, if consistently followed up, would upset our whole system of popular government. I am convinced, both from the inconsistency of these decisions, with the tenor of other decisions, and furthermore from the very fact that they are in such flagrant and direct contradiction to the spirit and needs of the times, that sooner or later they will be explicitly or implicitly reversed."

A Water Canyon Party.

A party of young people visited Water Canyon Sunday, and enjoyed a delightful lunch under the pines that fringe that cool retreat. Those in the party were: Misses Hilderbrand, Brockway, Crow, Johnson and Canning; Mesdames Fairbanks and Brown-ing, and Messrs. Brent and Mel Paden, Bamberger, Sharpe, Johnson and McMasters.

The only untoward incident was on the return trip. Brent Paden, who was driving one of the rigs, and had charge of more than his share of the fair sex;—indeed, he was the only member of the sterner sex in the vehicle—upset the rig coming down the canyon, and emptied his entire load onto mother earth. No one was hurt, but it was a badly frightened bunch, and the softly sooghing pines saw more pretty ankles, colored hosiery and dainty skirts on that occasion than in all the centuries of their existence. Brent can't well be blamed, because his duties to the fair occupants demanded his attention, but the ladies are unconvinced, and they say, "Never again, with Brent Paden as a driver."

NEED OF GOOD FERTILIZERS

Application of Commercial Product Enhances Wheat Grower's Chances for Big Yields.

With the majority of farmers the use of commercial fertilizers in wheat seeding has become quite the rule. While they do not use particularly large quantities per acre, they have found from experience that 200 to 400 lbs. per acre annually is a good investment.

In many sections wheat has become rather an uncertain crop, and those who raise it year after year, appreciate the necessity of furnishing complete cultural conditions and seeing to it that the soil contains sufficient plant food to feed the crop through to maturity. In other words, taking every precaution that will reasonably assure fairly good yields and profits.

The season just past has demonstrated that even in good wheat years when fields without special treatment proved profitable, the application of commercial fertilizers pays, the advantage of applying fertilizers is readily apparent. When fertilizers pay in good years, the results from its use is all the more striking in off years when the general crop proves a failure.

The growing of wheat, in fact any crop, is surrounded with enough uncertainties without trying to make good yields on poor soils which have shown their gradual impoverishment by the decreasing yield each succeeding season.

By applying commercial fertilizers the wheat grower's chances for good yields are materially enhanced, and as no one can foretell whether the season will prove unfavorable, it is economy to use fertilizers on every seeding. One of the chief functions of commercial fertilizers with wheat, is to furnish the young plant with plenty of available plant food right from the start, enabling them to make rapid and vigorous growth at a time when it will mean most to the later development of the plant. With such a start the roots soon reach down into the soil where they gather food from the less available sources. This keeps the plant growing steadily all through the season. With the use of fertilizers there is no standing still, which is often the case where no fertilizer is used. The most perfectly prepared seed bed will not present a condition suitable for rapid growth unless there is plenty of available plant food near the surface where the first formed rootlets can readily find it.

SELF-CLEANING LAWN RAKE

Simple Wooden Attachment so Arranged That Implement Will Throw Off Accumulations.

When cleaning a lawn of dead grass, leaves, etc., with a garden rake much time is lost in removing the trash clogged between the teeth. I was using a wood back rake for this purpose and decided to make an attachment for self-cleaning, writes John Blake of Franklin, Mass., in Popular Mechanics. I procured a soft and light piece of wood, 1/2 in. thick, 1 1/4 in. wide, and as long as the rake bar, and bored holes in it to match the teeth of the rake. Attached to this piece of wood were two pins which passed through the back of the rake. Two compression springs placed on these pins between their heads and the rake back kept the strip of wood at the base of the rake teeth. If the grass or leaves would stick to the rake teeth after drawing of the rake, all that was necessary to do to clean them was to turn the rake over and strike the heads of the pins on the ground. The teeth would be cleaned instantly.

ARRANGEMENT OF AN APIARY

System of Locating Whereby There is Straight Line to Honey House From Each Hive.

My plan of locating hives is such that a hand-cart may be wheeled straight from any hive to the honey-house. The rows of hives extend in every direction from the honey-house, the plan being like a huge wheel with the rows of hives for the spokes and the honey-house for the hub. The diagram shows the system that I follow for numbering the stands, writes Carey W. Rees, in Gleanings in Bee Culture. Some object to the hives being so far apart, for the reason that it takes too much time to go from one to another; but for convenience I like plenty of room. Of all unpleasant places to work it is an apiary where the hives are crowded together, or where they are under trees. If hives must be set under trees, the limbs should be trimmed high, so as to avoid catching the veil. Since I have no trees or bushes in my yard I use the ventilated covers and shade-boards over them. During the hottest weather I draw the hives back beyond the end of the bottom-board so as to give more air.

Plow Lands Well.

I want soil plowed fairly deep, and insist on having every inch turned over, realizing the truth of the old adage: "Land well plowed is half hoed." I use the disk harrow, going over the piece about once in two weeks until the ground freezes, thus securing a sod bed that is in the best possible condition for the following crop, says a writer in Baltimore American. I have taken a field that was badly infested with witch grass and by following this method have entirely eradicated it, and I believe that I have increased the crop fully 25 per cent. by so doing.

Knowledge in Beekeeping.

With the numerous popular works on bees and beekeeping no one need be so ignorant of the subject as to be deterred from engaging to a reasonable extent in it, and it is best to begin in a small way and increase the number of colonies as knowledge increases.

Egg Plant.

The Early Long Purple egg plant makes it possible to grow this vegetable in the cooler regions. The fruits are not so large as Black Pekin and New York Improved, but they are very satisfactory for the home table, and some gardeners find this variety quite profitable.

EPIDEMIC OF ITCH IN WELSH VILLAGE

"In Dowlais, South Wales, about fifteen years ago, families were stricken wholesale by a disease known as the itch. Believe me, it is the most terrible disease of its kind that I know of, as it itches all through your body and makes your life an inferno. Sleep is out of the question and you feel as if a million mosquitoes were attacking you at the same time. I knew a dozen families that were so affected.

"The doctors did their best, but their remedies were of no avail whatever. Then the families tried a druggist who was noted far and wide for his remarkable cures. People came to him from all parts of the country for treatment, but his medicine made matters still worse, as a last resort they were advised by a friend to use the Cuticura Remedies. I am glad to tell you that after a few days' treatment with Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent, the effect was wonderful and the result was a perfect cure in all cases.

"I may add that my three brothers, three sisters, myself and all our families have been users of the Cuticura Remedies for fifteen years. Thomas Hugh, 1650 West Huron St., Chicago, Ill., June 29, 1909."

FEWER "IDLE RICH"

Some of the Many Activities of Busy Women of Social Prominence That Are Too Often Forgotten by the Satisfists and Detractors.

NEW YORK.—"I think the time has come," said Frederick Townsend Martin, brother of Bradley Martin, patron of the arts, society man and philanthropist, "when the general public is beginning to realize that society people are not all butterflies. The day of the idle rich is fast passing."

Mr. Martin speaks with authority whenever he speaks. He is quite right, as a little research will show. Some, like Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Sr., decline to make public any of their charities. Others, like Miss Helen Gould and Miss Anne Morgan, flee in despair if asked to say a word about the thousand and one good works in which they are interested.

And read some of the other New York names of those women who delight in giving of their own goodly wealth to those less fortunate than they. It is a roster of society—Harriman, Sage, Trevor, Cromwell, Barnes, Gray, Bell, Stokes, Irvin, Westinghouse, Bryce, Turnure, Choate, Parsons, Sloane, Kingsland, Hoyt, Twombly, Jay, Belmont, King and scores of other women all of indisputable social position and wealth.

They look for poor babies; they send fruit and flowers to the sick; they visit hospitals; they run day nurseries; they give crutches and braces to little cripples; they try to do for the afflicted blind babies of the poor; they manage guilds; they lessen the scourge of tuberculosis; they build settlement houses; they get up fresh air funds; they put floating hospitals on the water—these and a thousand other good works are the results of the efforts of the women of New York society.

"No women in the world are more charitable," says Mr. Martin.

Mrs. Harriman's Good Work.

Perhaps Mrs. J. Borden Harriman does more for charity than any other woman in New York society, if work counts for anything. She gives largely, but Miss Gould and Mrs. Sage, being of larger wealth, contribute more actual money. Mrs. Harriman's activities would tax the strength of a less resolute woman. To begin with, she is chairman of the woman's department of the National Civic federation. Her especial work is to make lighter the lot of the women who must toil. To further this end Mrs. Harriman is only too delighted to meet with labor leaders of all kinds. At her splendid mansion, Uplands, at Mount Kisco, last summer she gave a dinner party for one hundred workmen.

Walters in the Harriman livery served the sons of toil; pretty society girls in costume, headed by Miss Edith Harriman, entertained the guests with songs and tableaux, and Mrs. Harriman, John Mitchell and Tim Healy delivered addresses.

To check the spread of tuberculosis is another of Mrs. Harriman's charitable endeavors. She got Governor Hughes to address the Association of Tuberculosis Clinics at the Waldorf-Astoria. She interested John D.

Rockefeller and other men of vast wealth.

She is interested in the public care of children and in the Presbyterian hospital. She has voluntarily assumed the duties of a factory inspector. And with her sister-in-law, Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Sr., she contributes $5,000 a year for sending trained nurses into the homes of the poor. This fund is to be increased to $50,000 a year.

Much more is done for charity by Mrs. Vanderbilt, too, than ever becomes public. In fact, Mrs. Vanderbilt flees from even the mere mention of her name. Besides the trained nurse and tuberculosis work, in which she plays an equal part with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Vanderbilt is especially interested in model tenements.

Building Model Tenements.

There are building now at East Seventy-seventh street and Avenue A, New York, four large model, sanitary tenement houses financed by Mrs. Vanderbilt. They are designed especially to resist the breeding and spread of disease, the pest of the old-fashioned tenements of New York. In them will be housed 382 families in suites of from two to five rooms, and they are built to afford the maximum of light and floor space. They are vermin-proof and fireproof, and on the roofs are loggias and open gardens.

"They are not a charity but a humane and philanthropic investment," says Mrs. Vanderbilt, who contributed the necessary $1,000,000, "and I hope to see them self-sustaining."

Another pet project of Mrs. Vanderbilt's is the curing of crime in children by the use of surgery. She is one of the patrons of this movement, which aims to aid defective children with the consent of their parents and the presiding officer of the children's court. Further to inform herself about youthful wrongdoers Mrs. Vanderbilt has paid many visits to the children's court to see for herself the youthful offenders who may be saved from growing up into full-fledged criminals.

In further support Mrs. Vanderbilt has bought seven fine farms in Lebanon township, New York, which will be devoted to the care of youngsters from the city. As yet plans for an institution are not completed, but it is expected that upon her return from Europe Mrs. Vanderbilt's representatives will make public what she intends to do there.

Miss Helen Gould's many charities are so widely known that it is only necessary to call passing attention to a few of them. Soldiers and sailors are her hobby. She made possible the fine clubhouse for sailors in Brooklyn. During the Spanish war she was the guardian angel for hundreds of sick and wounded sailors. She takes little children to her beautiful home at Irvington-on-the-Hudson. With her friend, Mrs. Sage, who has given away many of her husband's millions already, she is active in every good work. In fact, Miss Gould cares nothing for society, as do the rest of her family, but devotes herself wholly to good works.

Anne Morgan, Philanthropist.

It is only lately that Miss Anne Morgan, daughter of J. Pierpont Morgan, has come into the public eye. In the navy yard, Brooklyn, she has established a splendid restaurant for the workmen and sailors. She helped found the club for the employees of the Third Avenue railway, in which her friend, Mrs. Charles Greenough, formerly Miss Eleanor Whitridge, is so interested. She goes out socially very little except in the evenings, but devotes her energies to educational movements among the working classes. She is a member of the National Civic federation and she has donated much of the money to make possible clubs for working girls.

"My idea," says Miss Morgan, "is to help the poor to help themselves."

To that end she has planned a $500,000 club for working women in Washington; she has started a movement in San Francisco toward unionizing working girls; in Denver she has done the same thing, and has studied the children's court there; in Chicago she is interested in the stock yards settlement; in New York cigar shops and printing establishments where women are employed are her special hobby and many are the improvements she has forced upon unwilling employers.

She is also one of the hardest workers in St. George's church, where her father is a warden. In the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Miss Morgan is one of the leading workers, and now she is learning parliamentary law in a class of 30 earnest women in order that she may be able to preside at some of the meetings for charitable and educational purposes in which she is so interested.

Volumes could be written about the charities of other society women, but space forbids more than a mere mention. The fresh-air movement of each succeeding summer grows more and more, and each year finds more society women giving of their time and money.

Mrs. Henry Trevor and Mrs. Seymour Cromwell give their time to thoughtful generosity where poor little children are concerned. The members of the Anson Phelps Stokes family devote themselves to settlement work. Mrs. Robert Hunter, who was Miss Caroline Stokes, lives herself among her charges, though her family owns a town and country mansion. Mrs. Richard Irvin devotes herself to many charities of the Pro-Cathedral, and each year interests the debutantes of the season in helping her with her classes of well-nigh homeless children. The Junior league, an organization of the younger set, annually earns a large sum for some worthy charity.

To Mrs. William D. Sloane, who was Miss Vanderbilt, New York owes the splendid Maternity hospital. St. Luke's hospital is indebted to her sister-in-law, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, for the nurses' hall and the new wing for private cases. Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont and Mrs. Joseph H. Choate devote their charitable energies to the Presbyterian hospital. Mrs. Belmont has also given $100,000 to the Nassau hospital at Mineola, L. I. Mrs. Ambrose Kingsland and Mrs. Edward King give their time and financial assistance to the Children's Day nursery. Mrs. Charles Marshall, Mrs. Kingsland, Mrs. Ernest Flagg, Miss Catherine Cameron, Mrs. Charles E. Lawrence, Mrs. G. A. Irving, Mrs. Courtlandt Anable and Miss Low run the only institution of its kind in the United States—the Home for the Children of Destitute Seamen.

On the other hand, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, who was Miss Gertrude Vanderbilt, spends much of her time in helping poor struggling young women with artistic tastes to make themselves self-supporting. Mrs. Whitney is herself a sculptor of great talent.

Mrs. Clarence Mackay's hobby is the bettering of the educational facilities for children. She is also tremendously interested in the suffrage movement.

Junior League Work.

Mrs. Charles Cary Rumsey, who was Miss Mary Harriman up to a few days ago, is devoted to the work of the Junior league. This labors among the poor children of the slums and is especially interested in raising money to provide dental clinics for the children of the poor. Mrs. Rumsey has also equipped a ferryboat and given it to the Red Cross committee of Brooklyn to be used in the fight against tuberculosis. It accommodates 300 patients, takes them out on the water, gives them the much-needed fresh air and provides three nourishing meals a day.

With Mrs. Rumsey in the Junior league work is Miss Dorothy Whitney, who inherited a large fortune from her father, the late William C. Whitney. Her other pet charity is the founding of diet kitchens for the poor. She is also interested in the fight for equal suffrage.

Indeed, as Mr. Martin justly says, society is not all given over to bridge and cocktails and monkey dinners, for these very women mentioned here are part and parcel of New York society.

EASY TO ANSWER.

The Teacher—Who was it that climbed slowly up the ladder of success, carrying his burden with him as he went; who, when he reached the top gazed upon those far beneath him, and—

The Scholar (aged 8)—I know, ma'am. It was Pat O'Rourke, president of the Hodcarriers union.

A Knowing Girl.

When young Lord Stanleigh came to visit an American family, the mistress told the servants that in addressing him they should always say "Your Grace." When the young gentleman one morning met one of the pretty house servants in the hallway and told her that she was so attractive looking he thought he would kiss her, she demurely replied, clasping her hands on her bosom and looking up into his face with a beatific expression, "O Lord, for this blessing we are about to receive, we thank thee."—Lippincott's.

More Serious.

"Mathilde Browne was very rude to an overdressed old woman she met on the street the other day."

"I know the story. The old woman turned out to be Mathilde's very rich aunt, and now she's going to give all her money to a hospital for decrepit dogs."

"Nothing of the sort. In fact, it's worse. The old woman was the Brownes' new cook—and now they haven't any."

Comparing Notes.

Mrs. Newly—My little Robbie is remarkably strong; he is only four years old, but he can raise his high chair with one hand!

Mr. Spoodler—Oh, that's nothing; in the apartment house where I try to do my sleeping there's a baby that's only four months old, and that child can raise the roof with no hand at all.

"It was about something that stings like an adder and bites like a multiplier."

PEOPLE'S TICKET

LINCOLN COUNTY

For Delegates to Constitutional Conventional.

JOHN H. CANNING
ANDREW H. HUDSPETH
JACOB J. ARAGON

INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM.

If the people of New Mexico are capable of governing themselves, the initiative and the referendum are desirable for the reason that these measures will give the people a chance to govern themselves. With the initiative in the constitution the people may, at any time they see fit, pass a law regulating other matters; they may pass a law providing for the selection of senators by direct vote of the people and bind the legislature to elect them; they may pass a law restricting taxation and indebtedness; they may pass election laws which will safeguard the ballot, and any other law that a majority may favor. If the people want to rule they should not fail to vote for delegates to the constitutional convention who are pledged to the initiative.

If the people of New Mexico want to have something to say as to whether laws passed by the legislature and which are inimical to the interests of the state shall be repealed there must be some provision in the constitution to enable the voters to have a voice in the matter. The referendum gives the people an opportunity to review the acts of the legislature and to repeal such laws as they see fit. With these two provisions in the constitution the foundation for the rule of the people will have been firmly established. With these provisions the people will be safe. They will have the government of the state in their hands absolutely, and legislatures will be powerless to fasten undesirable legislation upon them. The people of New Mexico should not, and we believe will not, throw away the right to govern themselves.

PROGRESSIVES IN THE MAJORITY.

The indications now are that New Mexico constitutional convention will be controlled by the progressives, and that the initiative and referendum will be incorporated in our fundamental

law. In many counties both democrats and republicans have declared for these provisions, and fusion has resulted in a large number of counties, the delegates, regardless of their political faith, pledging support to these popular measures.

Lincoln county led off in this matter, and notwithstanding the candidates named differ on national politics, all are united on the features that the constitution should be written for the people. Both parties in this county, and a number of other counties, have recognized the rights of the people, and have signified their willingness for the people to initiate and to pass upon legislation. These questions are not political, at least not partisan; for they have been adopted alike in democratic and republican states; and the parties in this county simply got together upon a broad platform—a people's platform.

The battle of the ballots will be on in full blast next Tuesday in various parts of the territory, but in Lincoln county the contest will attract little attention, for the reason that all parties have agreed upon the selection of men, and there will be but one ticket and one platform. In some counties the Old Guard is putting up a stiff fight against popular legislation, but the tide seems to be running against them. The progressives will control, and a constitution will be written for the people.

We believe it is not only possible, but think it quite probable, that the New Mexico constitutional convention will contain more republicans than democrats. But, on the other hand, we feel that the progressives in both parties will write the constitution, and that will be good enough. In other words, we believe that delegates without collars, representing all political parties, will be in a majority, and that they will take no orders except from the people. The people are to be congratulated upon the rosy outlook that bursts upon the view on the eve of election.

Notice of Dissolution.

ADDITIONAL LOAN.

Miss Georgia Lesnet, who has spent the past year in Roswell, is now in Carrizozo visiting her sister, Mrs. Jno. A. Haley.

Attorney A. H. Hudspeth came down Sunday and took the noon train for Santa Fe, where he had business before the supreme court. He returned Tuesday afternoon and went to White Oaks the following morning.

Work on the addition to the school house began this week. The contract calls for the completion of the building by January 1. In the meantime, it is quite likely the board will have to engage an extra room to accommodate the scholastic population of the district. Tennis & Beagles, of Polly, have the contract.

Some very good rains have fallen in this vicinity the past week, and so far as we have been able to ascertain, they have been general throughout the county. The season is so far advanced, however, that it is questionable about feed on the range. In the mountains earlier rains started the grass, and the ranchmen in these favored sections will quite likely pass their herds and flocks through the winter in good condition. On the flats it is believed that most of the stock will have to be driven to other sections or shipped out of the county.

A Mal Pais Party.

A mal pais party, and it was possibly a peach and apple pie party as well, for they had a lot of good things to eat, visited one of our natural wonders Sunday, and spent the day viewing the lava beds. After a delightful lunch the party explored the inmost recesses of this particular piece of Nature's handiwork, and returned in the evening tired but happy. The party consisted of the Misses Collier and Miss Boykin, and Messrs. Fred Smythe and Phoebe Guthrie.

Mine Decision Reversed.

The Dolph-Robertson Co., owners of the Helen Rae group of mines at Nogal, secured a favorable decision in the territorial supreme court against the Mine & Smelter Supply Co., of El Paso. Some years ago the El Paso company sold machinery and supplies to a company that was then operating the Nogal properties. The machinery was not paid for, and the El Paso company entered suit, attaching the machinery and also the mine, the title to the latter never having passed from the Dolph-Robertson Co., altho a sale had been effected. Dolph-

Robertson intervened, but lost in the lower court. The case was appealed, with the result stated above. Hewitt & Hudspeth, of White Oaks, represented Dolph-Robertson Co.

Bed Bugs and Lawyers.

John Z. White, who spoke here last Friday afternoon to a good-sized audience, on popular government, interspersed his very interesting address with a number of telling stories. He told one on the lawyers, presumably because he thought them able to take care of themselves. Be that as it may, the story is worth repeating; for many of our readers may be in the same boat with us—never heard the application.

The speaker admitted that he had been educated for the bar; that his brother was a lawyer as had been his father before him; but that he, the speaker, did not follow the profession, giving his reason for not desiring to become a lawyer, that he would endeavor to make an honest living. He said, notwithstanding this, that people in trouble would go to lawyers and were glad to intrust their property with them; and that the people were still more happy if they got any of it back.

The joke came in the illustration. He used one of Jerry Simpson's stories, and likened the legal fraternity to the bed bug. The former Kansas statesman was quoted as follows when describing the nocturnal visitor:

"He is not a bad looking fellow; he is industrious, which is commendable; he is very quiet and unassuming, and goes along attending to his own affairs, but my objection to him is the infernal business he's in!"

Announcement of the CARRIZOZO PUBLIC SCHOOLS For the Year 1910-11.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:

W. E. Winfield, chairman.
Jno. H. Boyd, clerk.
J. N. White.

TEACHERS:

Chas. L. Schreck, Principal.
Mrs. Wallace Gumm, Primary.
Miss Jane Brockway.
Mrs. Nora Massie.
Miss Pearl Taylor.

[to be selected]

School begins Sept. 12, 1910.
Length of term not less than nine months.

COMMON SCHOOL DEPT.

The work of the first eight grades, or the common school department, will be based upon the "Manual of the Common School Course of Study for the Public Schools of New Mexico," published by the Territorial Board of Education. This course of study sets a high standard of excellence and compares favorably with the published courses of study of the older states and communities. Every effort will be made to keep the classification up to the standard of the "New Mexico Course of Study."

Mrs. Wallace Gumm will be in charge of the primary work. Mrs. Nora Massie, Miss Jane Brockway and Miss Pearl Taylor are other teachers who have been employed for grade work.

HIGH SCHOOL DEPT.

The High School Department provides for a course of study extending over a period of four years. Not more than the first two years of the course will be attempted this year, but it is the intention of the board to increase the teaching force in this department whenever the situation demands it, and pupils entering the first year of high school work this year may feel assured that the opportunity will be given to complete the four years course.

The work of this department is especially planned to meet the needs of those students whose school days will not extend beyond the High School, but at the same time preparation for college or normal school has not been neglected. Every effort will be made to make the work such that students who complete the four years course will find no difficulty in securing full recognition for their work on entering the collegiate department of the University or other territorial schools.

The requirement for admission to the High School will ordinarily be the essential completion of the New Mexico Common School Course of Study as shown by the Diploma issued by the Territorial Board of Education, or by an examination in the subjects of the course, and pupils will not be advanced from year to year of the course except upon essential completion of the work of the year preceding that which the pupil desires to enter.

A tuition fee of $3.00 per year will be required of all students above the eighth grade.

Carrizozo is well located at the foot of the White Mountains, and is supplied with water from the famed Bonito, a water that tests 98 per cent. pure. Parents desiring to send their children to school here will be able to obtain board and room at rates as cheap as ordinarily obtain in railroad towns in New Mexico.

Most normal schools and colleges require 15 high school credits as the condition for admitting students to their collegiate departments. A credit is given for the satisfactory completion of a high school subject studied for a school year of not less than 36 weeks, with five recitation periods of not less than 45 minutes each per week. A half credit is given for a study similarly extending over a period of 18 weeks. The high school outlined below provides for credits and half credits sufficient in number to give the equivalent of four full credits each year or 16 credits for the entire course.

In no case will promotions be made upon the mere lapse of time involved, but pupils must show that a full year's work in standard high school studies has been completed.

ROOSEVELT ON THE CONSTITUTION.

Warning the people of New Mexico and Arizona against the dangers of having iron-clad constitutions not easily amended, Colonel Roosevelt took occasion to speak of the affairs of those new states in Pueblo one day this week in explaining that he would be unable to visit them on this trip. He said: "I wish I could go down into New Mexico and Arizona, but this is the nearest place to them I can reach on this trip. Many of the friends there have written, asking me to advise them about their constitution. I have not felt familiar enough with conditions to do so, but there is one point on which I would like to advise them, and that is to leave their constitutions easy of amendment at any time the people feel they should be amended. Experience has shown that not only doctrinaires, but also designing corporation attorneys; often get put into the constitution matters which are not thoroughly understood by the people at the time, and my plan is that the people of the new states should be left with their hands free, so that if at any time they find that something has been put into their constitution which they did not know was there, or if they find something working badly which they thought would work well, they shall have opportunity easily to make any changes deemed necessary."

Companionship.

Much has been written on the subject of truth, love and duty; suggestions to mothers, methods of housekeeping and home-making and many other subjects, helpful, inspiring, all of them; but it is to the greatest hero of every-day-life, the provider of the home, the protector of the fire-side, the husband and father, we wish to say a word of praise and for his benefit offer a few suggestions to the wife; with what unselfish devotion he labors to secure for you the comforts, luxuries and pleasures of life; whether it is in the shop, behind the counter, in the mill, or on the farm, it is with one purpose in view—he works, strives and slaves, patiently, uncomplainingly for the happiness of those he loves—wife and children. The man who, for their sakes, faces a combination of discouraging circumstances, distressing financial difficulties, numberless failures, and keeps steadily at his post, defying them all, is a hero and nothing less. We meet them every day. Such they are, and doubtless will continue to be as long as there is a home worthy of protection, a child worthy of care, and a woman worthy of love.

And now, little woman, a word with you. If some manly man has chosen you to reign queen in his heart and home, know that capacity you fill the most sacred, the most honorable position to which woman can aspire. In it you appear in your most sacred and dignified character. "To be able to reinforce your husband in the work of life," and rear your children for positions of usefulness is a work worthy of your most careful and prayerful consideration.

There are many ways in which you can lighten his labor and strengthen his hands and gladden his heart (for this purpose were you created the "help-meet," the comforting, ministering guardian angel of man), but in no way more effectively than by studying to make yourself the intelligent, interested, sympathetic companion of your husband. The power and influence of the wife in beautifying and blessing or blighting and cursing the life and prospects of the husband can hardly be estimated. One thing is certain, no man succeeds so well in life as he who has in his life's partner a woman who can share in all his purposes and hopes, a counsellor in every difficulty, a sympathiser in every sorrow. Then nothing prevents you giving him your sweetest smiles and your kindest words. They are worth more to him, he cares more for them, than all the gold he earns. Arrange your household affairs so that you can spend the evening in pleasant companionship with him; you will be amply compensated for any sacrifice you may have to make. With all our heart we believe that a proper understanding of the term "companionship," as applied to the wedded state, would have saved many a home from ruin and kept the pure and holy flame of love from dying out in many a heart, and besides many hearthstones. Again we charge you, be your husband's companion.

P. C. BAIRD.

The Interstate Fair and Exposition at Denver, September 3-17, promises to be bigger and better than ever before. Special low rates on all railroads leading to the "Queen City" guarantees a large crowd. The fair opens with the Colorado Derby, and the first week's program includes a horse show, automobile show and an aviation contest. The horticultural, floricultural and agricultural exhibits with all their various branches are to be seen throughout the two weeks of the fair.

Perfecto Archuleta came down from Elchel Saturday night to attend the funeral of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Catarina Archuleta. He returned Tuesday, and will be followed by his wife soon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Williamson of Capitan returned last week from McAllister, Okla., where they have been the past six or eight months.

Joseph Ashford, merchant and postmaster at Oscuro, and Martin L. Goodin, a Three Rivers ranchman, were up yesterday and gave this office a pleasant call.

Manager Wateman James is seriously contemplating taking his aggregation of ball tossers to the Albuquerque Fair next month to compete for the grand prize.

Miss Cherille Wells came down from White Oaks yesterday morning, and left on the noon train for Arizona. Miss Wells goes to our sister territory to assume a position as a school teacher.

M. B. Foreman presented this office with two watermelons Monday, grown on his ranch near the mal pais. They were not quite as large as those grown in more favored localities, but were as sweet and juicy.

Attorneys Hewitt & Hudspeth returned Saturday from Santa Fe, where Mr. Hewitt was arguing the Carrizozo side of the county seat removal question before the supreme court. Mr. Hudspeth had other business before that tribunal.

Will T. Coe came over yesterday from his home on Ruidoso, and took the afternoon train for Fort Worth, Texas. He goes to enter the Brantly-Draughon Business College. He expects to complete the regular course of that institution before returning.

The members of the Baptist Sunday School are going to the cottonwood grove at the Bar W ranch, tomorrow, on a picnic. The children will no doubt have a pleasant time in that delightful spot, particularly as this will likely be the last outing before the public schools open.

Mrs. Catarina L. Archuleta, wife of Isidro Archuleta, died Saturday at 2.45 p.m., aged 18 years and 6 months, and was buried Sunday in the local cemetery. The deceased was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andres Lucras, and, besides a husband, leaves an infant nine days old.

The Baptist church has received and installed some pews, though not yet enough for the entire building. The Ladies Aid Society is responsible for the improvement, and are entitled to a vote of thanks for their untiring energy which produced this pleasing condition.

Ervin Gray left Sunday for Kelly, Socorro county, to take charge of a saloon recently purchased in that camp by the Gray Brothers. Kelly is an old mining town, which has been comparatively dead for some years, but is now reported to be getting its second wind. Several mining deals have been made there lately, one for $50,000.

John Grayson and Fred Pfingsten came in yesterday morning from El Paso. Mr. Pfingsten went home, at Angus, later in the day, but Mr. Grayson, who lives at Tucumcari, will spend several days with friends in this county before returning home.

Chas. L. Schreck, principal of the Carrizozo schools, left Saturday night for his former home in Guadalupe county. He will pack his household goods and return with his family next week, and be ready to enter upon his duties at the opening of school, Monday, September 12.

G. F. Hawks, general superintendent of the E. P. & S. W. railway company, was here last week for the purpose of looking up a site for a Y. M. C. A. building for railroad men. It is the intention of the company to erect such buildings at all division points on the system, where employees, when off duty, may spend a few hours with pleasure and profit.

THING GOT ON HIS NERVES

Irascible Old Gentleman Found Himself Compelled to "Butt Into" the Conversation.

It happened on an elevated train. A nervous man was sitting in front of a couple. The man of the couple was explaining to the woman the wonders of the elevated system.

"That's the third rail," he said.

"O, yes," she answered. "Why do they call it the third rail?"

"Why, because there are three rails, you see."

"Do you know, I have often wondered why it was. It looks like it was higher than the others."

"It is. They have to have it that way."

"Really! It seems to be higher. So that's the third rail. Do you know, I have read and heard so much about the third rail, and never knew what it was. It appears to be lighter than the other two."

"Yes. It is. That's the third-rail system, you know."

"Uh-huh. I never could understand it before. It really looks higher than the others, too, doesn't it?"

"It is higher. You see, they raise it above the others."

"My! Don't they do things in the city? So that is the third rail? It doesn't look any different from the others, only it seems to be higher."

"Yes. It's higher. You see—"

At this point the nervous man jammed his paper into a wad, turned about and glared at the couple and snapped:

"For the sake of argument, madam, we will concede that it is the third rail and that it is higher than the others. Now, what's the next point in dispute?"

The conductor induced him to get off at the next stop.—Chicago Evening Post.

Drainage Area of Ohio River.

Beginning in 1907 the United States geological survey undertook to define the full drainage area of the Ohio river basin in square miles. Its first important subject has been the Kanawha river, where an intensive study has been in progress. At the mouth of the Kanawha, where it empties into the Ohio river, its drainage has been placed at 12,000 square miles.

In 1908 25 gauging stations were maintained in the Kanawha basin, averaging one station for each 49 square miles of drainage. Final estimates of the flow of the river for each month in the year will require more time or accuracy in the full report, but from four of these stations an approximation has been made, interesting as to water versus steam power. In the bulletin of the survey is the statement:

"The Kanawha river drainage basin contains abundant water powers and also great resources of good coal, and if hydraulic power can compete with power developed from steam in this area it will be possible for it to compete with steam in almost any other part of the country."

Havoc Wrought by Rabid Dog.

Some three years ago a rabid dog ran across the international bridge at Buffalo into Ontario. Many cases of rabies have since occurred in that province, some fifty persons bitten by dogs having had to go to New York for treatment at the Pasteur Institute.

Choice of Evils.

"According to statistics," read Mrs. Peckem from a magazine, "75 per cent. of male criminals are unmarried."

"Which shows how many men prefer the penitentiary to matrimony," rejoined Mr. Peckem, significantly.

SCIENCE AND INVENTION

SCIENTIFIC NOTES.

Violet tinted potatoes are said to stand highest in nutritive value.

As a general rule, a man's hair turns gray five years earlier than a woman's.

Infants' foods form a considerable item of importation, $41,000 worth in 1908.

During the year 1909 the London dogcatchers caught 44,900 and dispatched 21,253.

So powerful are the jaws of a wasp that the insect has been known to puncture a sea shell.

In strong contrast to the many hot water geysers of Yellowstone park, a new one ejects ice cold water.

To gather a pound of honey, scientists have figured that bees make nearly 23,000 trips from their hive.

Banana oil, applied with a soft brush to any metal surface after polishing is a good preventive of rust.

Balloons are usually yellow, because that color protects the rubber used as outer sheath against the disintegrating effects of light.

In certain parts of Mexico the natives hang the nests of a large species of spider in their houses to entrap flies and other small insects.

A single cylinder engine of 5,000 horsepower, weighing close to 750,000 pounds, recently was built in Ohio for use in a steel rolling mill.

To deal cards from a pack without danger of misdeals or turning them over is the idea of a machine recently patented by a New York man.

A baseball with a cork core instead of one of solid rubber, the invention of a Philadelphian has been officially adopted by one of the big leagues.

A French aeronaut has patented a balloon which, when deflated, can be packed in its basket and the entire equipment carried on a man's back.

DECOY DUCK IS COLLAPSIBLE

Invention Will Be Found Convenient to Hunters—Folded Into Small Space.

A collapsible decoy duck that will be found very convenient by hunters has been invented by an Illinois man. When not in use it can be folded into a small compass and tucked away anywhere. An oval base has two legs hinged to the bottom so that the decoy can either be floated on the water or stuck in the mud. Hinged to the back of the base, on top, is a curved wire that serves as a tail support and in front is another curved wire, terminating at the bottom in a spring, that holds the head. This wire is turned to one side when laid back against the base so the head will lie flat. A collapsible body with thin wire ribs is stretched over these wire supports so that when they are opened up the body is stretched out in semblance of the form of a duck. Hunters who have lugged along the bulky old style ducks on their trips will appreciate the advantage of one of this kind that can be adjusted in a jiffy and is light and practically indestructible.

LONE SUBMARINE RESCUE SHIP

Germany, Alone of All Nations, Possesses Vessel Capable of Dealing With Accidents.

The French navy's lack of adequate means to rescue the submerged Pluviose, which was run down recently in the English channel by the Calais-Dover mail steamer, calls attention to the fact that Germany alone of all nations possesses a vessel capable of dealing with such accidents. Although Germany has only eight completed underwater boats, compared with Great Germany's Submarine Rescue Ship.

Britain's 63, France's 56, Russia's 30 and 18 of the United States, Teutonic thoroughness has already provided a rescue ship, illustrated in the accompanying sketch plan.

She is named the Vulcan and was launched at Kiel in 1907. The vessel, which has a length of 230 feet, consists of two separate hulls, marked AA and BB in the sketch. These are fitted with engines which give a speed of 12 knots. GG are the funnels.

At either end the separate hulls are connected by a deck, marked D, so that viewed from forward or aft the ship presents the structure of a tunnel.

A large space, F, sufficient to allow the largest German submarine yet designed to pass through, is left clear between the two hulls, and over this are erected two steel girder bridges, with two others connecting them. They are marked EE.

These bridges are fitted with a powerful electric crane, capable of lifting a weight of 500 tons, and when a submarine has thus been raised it can be rested upon movable girders which can be placed beneath it.

The ship itself is more or less a floating workshop. With the exception of the men directly concerned in the navigation of the ship all on board are skilled engineers and a number of divers are carried, so that operations can be commenced as soon as the vessel arrives on the scene of an accident.

STUDYING AIR OVER LONDON

British Scientist for Several Years Industriously Explored Atmosphere Above City.

With the aid of a balloon a British scientist has for several years industriously explored the atmosphere over London, and the results of his investigations afford a strange picture of the skyward extension of the world's greatest city.

Somewhat fanciful and yet with a certain degree of truth, London might be said to be six thousand feet high, or deep, for up to about that level the air over the vast town is unmistakably London air.

Between three thousand and five thousand feet above the housetops is a region where dust resembling chaff, filaments and woolen fiber, such as would arise from thoroughfares and from the sweeping of houses, seems especially to accumulate. At least there is more there than nearer the ground. In calm weather aerial London becomes to a certain extent stratified. From about six thousand feet one can often look down upon the surface of the haze, as if it had a definite limit.

Ticket Gives Fare Due.

A taximeter for use on public vehicles, now being tested by the London authorities, issues a ticket at the end of the journey stating the amount of fare due.

Plenty of Material.

"Son," said the press humorist, "you have inherited some of my humor."

"Not enough to make a living with, dad."

"Never mind. I'm going to leave you all of my jokes."

Try This, This Summer.

The very next time you're hot, tired or thirsty, step up to a soda fountain and get a glass of Coca-Cola. It will cool you off, relieve your bodily and mental fatigue and quench your thirst delightfully. At soda fountains or carbonated in bottles—5c everywhere. Delicious, refreshing and wholesome. Send to the Coca-Cola Co., Atlanta, Ga., for their free booklet "The Truth About Coca-Cola." Tells what Coca-Cola is and why it is so delicious, refreshing and thirst-quenching. And send 2c stamp for the Coca-Cola Baseball Record Book for 1910—contains the famous poem "Casey At The Bat," records, schedules for both leagues and other valuable baseball information compiled by authorities.

THE REASON.

Janitor—I know the water is turned off. I'm sorry, but it isn't my fault.
Tenant—I know, and I guess that's why you're sorry.

Advice.

"Father," queried Bob, just home from college, "you've worked for me pretty hard nearly all my life, haven't you?"

"Quite right, quite right, son," mused father, retrospectively.

"Just so," returned Bob, briskly. "Now, you had better get busy and work for yourself a bit—eh, dad?"—Life.

Initials.

"What are Mr. Wise's initials?"
"Can't say. He has been taking so many college degrees that nobody can keep track of them."

IN BRIDAL ARRAY

WHAT SHOULD BE PROVIDED AND AVOIDED.

Lavish Expenditure of Money Not Necessary Providing Good Taste
Is Exercised—Garments That Must Be Included.

For the bride with $500 or more,
(and good taste), the selection of the trousseau is simplified. But, for the girl who only has one-fourth that amount, or less (and good taste), a lot of thinking must be done. But there is considerable pleasure in economy planning, and much satisfaction in se-

For Morning or Afternoon.

curing bargains. In the case of the girl with the small amount the shopping-tour must become a bargain hunt.

Whatever the state of the fair one's purse, there are some items which must be of excellent quality. Her under muslins should be substantial, dainty and not overtrimmed. She must possess a plain, beautifully tailored street suit and smart street hat, with shoes and gloves in keeping. She will need a dressy cloth gown for visiting,
and for church wear, and shoes, gloves and dress in keeping. These will be the most often worn and pass under the notice of the greatest number of people and they are to be provided for, therefore, before even the wedding gown is considered.

It is foolish for a bride in moderate circumstances, who is to marry a man in the same state, to attempt a lavish and splendid gown for her wedding, and skimp everything else in order to have it. She will have a white elephant on her hands afterward, of no practical use to anyone. And besides she will not look any prettier in it than in a simpler gown which may do service for many a future occasion.
Let the plain street or traveling dress, and the costume in which you must pay your calls, be excellent in every way and content yourself with a simple wedding gown. You will look pretty dressed all in white anyway.

Moreover, the cleverness with which your gown is made and its general effect will count for more than anything else when the great day arrives.
Choose a high-class model for your design and indulge in beautiful lines to your heart's content.

MANY HINTS ABOUT THE BABY

What to Do When the Little One
Falls and Is Injured—Refreshing
Drink for Hot Weather.

When baby falls and bruises himself, provided the skin is not broken, apply a clean cloth wrung out of water as hot as can be borne. A little olive oil, butter or vaseline should then be rubbed in to prevent discoloration.

If the skin is broken, however,
bathe the place carefully with warm water, to which a little boracic acid has been added, to remove the dirt.
Then apply some boracic ointment,
and the abrasion will very quickly
heal, says Home Chat.

Barley water makes a cooling and refreshing drink for the little ones
during the hot weather.

It should be prepared like this:
Well wash two tablespoonfuls of pearl barley and simmer gently in a pint and a half of water for two hours.
Then strain, add a little lemon juice
and sweeten very slightly.

In hot weather it should be made fresh every day, as it "turns" quickly.

Venice Fashions.

The ladies of Venice have formed a league to discourage Paris fashions and bring back the medieval Italian styles. They hold that the vision of a Venetian woman attired in the latest Paris creation and seated in a gondola in one of the picturesque canals of the city, is a sight so ridiculous as to become pathetic. Headed by Signora Rosa Genoni, the novelist, these daughters of Venice have started a crusade that promises to bring renaissance styles back to Italy. Fortunately for Paris, American women do not care for our aboriginal costumes.

Velvet Cream.

Put three-fourths ounce gelatine into a basin and pour on it one-half pint of fruit juice (or sherry). Let it soak an hour. Put into a saucepan and stir until dissolved. Add six ounces lump sugar and the grated rind and juice of one lemon to the mixture and stir until the sugar has dissolved.

Strain and let it go nearly cold, but not set; then mix one pint cream and stir until it begins to thicken.

Pour into mold that has been dipped in cold water. Let stand until cold.

For Traveling.

Large sewing cases for travelers are to be had in abundance, but have you seen the tiny affairs put up in boxes about the size and shape of a round stick of shaving soap?

These contain a tiny spool of white and black silk, a small pair of scissors, a silver thimble, and a tiny inner box filled with needles. The entire case can easily be slipped in a handbag and kept there for emergencies.

Caught Too Quick.

"I pleads guilty ter stealin' dem

I wants de mercy er de court."

"On what grounds?" asked the judge.

oner: "I stole de melons, but de sheriff didn't give me a chance to eat
'em!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Women's Secrets

There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr.
R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help.
That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations is proved by the fact that ninety-eight per cent. of all women treated by Dr. Pierce have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable if the cases treated were numbered by hundreds only. But when that record applies to the treatment of more than half-a million women, in a practice of over 40 years, it is phenomenal, and entitles Dr. Pierce to the gratitude accorded him by women, as the first of specialists in the treatment of women's diseases.

Every sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, absolutely without charge. All replies are mailed, sealed in perfectly plain envelopes, without any printing or advertising whatever, upon them. Write without fear as with-
