ROOSEVELT DOWNS OLD GUARD.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 27.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt was elected temporary chairman of the republican convention, defeating the Old Guard, who supported vice president Sherman.

The decisive vote came on a motion to substitute Col. Roosevelt's name for that of vice president Sherman as a candidate of the regular organization known as the "Old Guard." One thousand and twelve votes were cast, Roosevelt receiving 567, Sherman 445, three not voting.

Mr. Woodruff in nominating Mr. Sherman read a letter he wrote Col. Roosevelt immediately after the state central committee had chosen vice president Sherman for the temporary chairmanship, and Col. Roosevelt's reply to show that he later admitted the correctness of the committee's action. That the latter manifestly meant he desired to propound the doctrine of the new nationalism, "admitting with characteristic frankness," said Mr. Woodruff, "we were right in selecting the vice president if we preferred the traditional republicanism of the administration of Wm. H. Taft.

"President Taft," said Mr. Woodruff, "deeply desires that his party here in convention assembled should unequivocally endorse his administration. This I know from personal knowledge." Mr. Woodruff's mention of the name of Sherman at the end of his speech again brought deafening applause, adherents of the "Old Guard" rising in their seats and cheering like mad for several minutes.

The convention broke into wild cheers when Joseph Hicks, of Nassau, nominated Col. Roosevelt. Abraham Gruber, of New York, who had been selected to fire a broadside of "Old Guard" against Roosevelt's election, then took the platform. In a bitter speech denounced Roosevelt. "Twelve years ago on this platform," said Mr. Gruber, "I warned a republican convention against turning the executive mansion into a shooting gallery. My advice was not heeded. Since that memorable day I who has ever since been a rag has seen his party organization divided in every state, his party's candidates overwhelmingly defeated and business depressed and intelligent and honest working men without employment and hungry.

"Looking for other fields for his shooting practice, this man is now shooting at courts and its judges. Himself posing as a lawyer, who never held a case nor drew a brief, he now finds sport in holding up courts and judges to scorn of the mob. But this is not a new system. It is an old disease. The lungs of the country are not its brains."

The Editor Apologized.

To confess an error and apologize are often the hardest things for a human to do, and many men have gone on the field of honor and sometimes laid down their lives rather than render an apology. Not so with the editor of the Hillsboro News who makes the following retraction:

"Several of the leading society ladies of Hillsboro insist that we apologize for an article appearing in the News two weeks ago, in which we said too much valuable time was wasted by the ladies at their functions on 'cards and flinch.' We humbly apologize for the item and wish to state that we lied. There is not a lady in Hillsboro that knows the jack of clubs from a Jerusalem artichoke, and as for flinch, they never saw the game in their lives, and some of them think it's a new kind of corset. When they meet at social functions they occupy their time in reading the Bible and conversing about the efficiency of the atonement and the whichness of the when."

WRITER OF FAIRY STORIES.

Let us admit, if we can do so without ruffling the feathers of the American eagle, that there are some things other nations do better than we. France, for instance, has a childlike heart, along with the more mature qualities which make for the ascendancy of that country in thrift, in science and in many fields where hard heads count for so much. And in this youthfulness, this simplicity, it is very fond of the fairy tale. Here we are growing so practical, so sordid, so unimaginative, save in our big business transactions which sometimes take away the breath in their utopian sweep and immensity, that we look upon the fairy story not only as a useless waste of time, but even worse, says Cleveland Leader. It makes children dreamers when they should be focusing their minds on money. And so the army of Gradgrinds grows all the time and fights the poor little remnant of imagination left us as bitterly as if it were a terrible foe. But in France there is a vast army of readers of fairy stories and admirers of those who write them, and only the other day "All Paris"—that is to say, its wealth, its art, its society, along with the basic everyday people—turned out to pay tribute to a woman whose only claim to recognition was authorship of charming fairy tales for real children and the grownups who still have their youth in their souls.

Men of science are generally agreed that birds are nature's great check on the excess of insects, and that they maintain the balance between plant and insect life. Ten thousand caterpillars, it has been estimated, could destroy every blade of grass on an acre of cultivated land. The insect population of a single cherry tree infested with aphides has been estimated by a prominent entomologist at no less than twelve million. The bird population of cultivated country districts has been estimated at from seven hundred to one thousand a square mile. This is small, compared with the number of insects, yet, as each bird consumes hundreds of insects every day the latter are prevented from becoming the scourge they would be but for their feathered enemies.

According to the Boston Globe paste jewels are more conspicuous at Newport this season than ever before. One reason why people wear their paste jewels conspicuously at Newport is that they are all prepared to show the real gems which their safety deposit boxes contain if anyone should get the idea that the paste articles are all they can afford.

Homeopaths at Los Angeles reverse themselves by lifting the ban from benzoate of soda and telling us to consume it, if we wish to. Which makes it the more necessary to label it in order that a person with a hankering for the benzoate may not be deceived by an article free from that much-disputed condiment.

Chicago is said to have the worst milk supply in the world, and if we know Chicago at all we know that she'll probably find a way to brag about even this.

SHALL LOVE BE NO MORE?

Scientists Have Said So, but Human Nature Refuses to Class It as One of the Lost Arts-- Many Reasons Why Present and Future Generations May Continue to Hope.

If you are to believe certain scientists and philosophers who have recently been saying things here and in Europe, love—romantic love as we know it—is not to last; is doomed to pass with other things that are giving way to the changes of an inventive age, writes Anna Steene Richardson, in the New York Sunday World.

Today is the age of startling changes, stupendous progress, almost cyclonic sacrifice of old ideas to the new. Traditions, customs, habits and creeds perish overnight. Yet even from this social chaos a few forces may emerge almost primeval. Will love be such a force? Or shall the twentieth century maiden yet taste the bitter truth of the cynic's claim that love-making will soon be classed among the dead arts?

Love! It has made humanity happy and miserable since ever the world was born. Kingdoms have been cut in twain or lost for it. Heroes have gained immortality in its name, and have passed into oblivion that they might first taste its bitter-sweet fruits. Men have been hanged for it and women have smilingly died for it. Armies have been slaughtered that a king might hold the woman he loved in his arms once more, and modern fortunes have been wrecked for the kiss of a woman. Artists, novelists and dramatists have won fame by picturing love as the world would have it.

And yet there are modern philosophers, modern scientists, modern sociologists who will tell you that love is an evanescent thing for which the higher intelligence demands a substantial, real, vital substitute.

And for every disorder, physical or mental, science is confident of its ability to find the proper remedy. Therefore in time it will wipe out this particular mental malady.

"Love," says Ernst Haeckel, the German scientist, "is merely the attraction of billions of atoms, electrically charged in your system, corresponding to the same number of the same sort of atoms in a person of the opposite sex."

Any girl kissed for the first time by a man who knows how it should be done will admit the atomic theory; for, small though the atoms may be, she sees them, every one, electricity and all. Yet science will soon be able to calculate the exact number of billions necessary to create the impulse of love and, by carefully reducing the number thereof, will eliminate love and its troublesome train of incidents from the path of progressive men and women.

Take the girls of yesterday, today, tomorrow. What relation have they borne, do they bear and will they bear to love?

Your great-grandmother as a girl went to the village school for a few months in each year. The three R's, a smattering of French, a few lessons in dancing—and her education was "finished." The rest of her girlhood was spent at home, preparing for what? The coming of love. And if he loitered by the way, she became an object of pity. Rather than occupy that position she sometimes did not wait for his coming, but snatched the first counterfeit that came her way.

You went to school nine months in the year and the three R's formed the least important part of your curriculum. You were taught that it was well to let love loiter as he would—and be economically independent while you were waiting. So you taught school, or did dressmaking for your neighbors, or secured a position as village postmistress, which professions were considered as quite compatible with matrimony later on.

But, oh, your daughter! She goes to school nine months in the year, takes a summer course for her vacation, carries a latch-key, is keen for athletic sports, knows what her preparation for business or a profession will yield five years from now, and tells you that men are deteriorating.

Possibilities of the Future.

Will she in time prefer an apartment hotel for bachelor maids to the family roof-tree? Will she preach community living to overworked relatives who are merely married? Will she go to a church where the doctrine is preached that when men and women shall have reached that mental and spiritual plane where thought destroys sex, there will be no giving or taking in marriage?

When love knocks at her door will she open just a few inches and study his make-up, from arrow tips to pin feathers, very carefully?

"Do you earn at least twice as much as I do?" she may ask. "Would you expect me to do my own housework, or would we take a suite in a hotel? May I continue in my career, or must I merge my individuality in yours? Will you make any objection to my marching in a suffragist parade?"

How do you think love will feel after a catechism like that?

Pretty much like taking a sneak back to the days when clinging vines wore muslin frocks and pink ribbons!

Your great-grandmother had 13 or 14 children. Your grandmother had nine. You had four. Your daughter may have one, or none at all. The modern woman counts the cost of each child and checks it against the earnings of her husband. Your grandmother said: "The Lord will provide."

Beckonings of Hope.

And yet—there is hope—for love and for your sons and for your daughters. Moreover, said hope is born of no less hard and prosaic a source than the United States census.

Of the children that enter the lowest classes in public and private schools each year, roundly placed at 15,000,000, only 100,000 will go to colleges or universities, and of this number not more than one-third are girls. In other words, while the present fa-male population of the United States is close to 40,000,000, only about 33,000 of them will enjoy the higher education which jeers at love. And out of those same 40,000,000 women less than 6,000,000 will be self-supporting and in a position to look too critically at the garb which love assumes.

Nature's Balances.

And if the much-educated girl hesitates to yield to the importunities of love and delays marriage until she reaches thirty, this condition is more than balanced by the early marriages among self-supporting girls. In manufacturing centers girls marry young, because they go to work young. If the fad of the American girl today is a taste of independence or a career, it does not seem to take her very long to exhaust the pleasurable sensation. The mill girl goes to work early and marries early. The college girl becomes independent later and marries later. That is the only difference between the two types. Both marry almost as soon as they've learned that independence, like the post card task of "being good," is such a lonely job!

"Lovesickness," as a disease, makes trouble for physicians. They consider it seriously in conventions assembled and Dr. A. R. Hagie, a Chicago physician, says that it can be cured only through mental suggestion. Now you do not see physicians discussing diseases which do not exist and therefore do not represent fees, do you? And if there is such a thing as lovesickness in quantities large enough to cause medical discussion, what a lot of love must be lying around loose!

Science recognizes the presence of love in our midst and spends thousands trying to invent love tests, despite the fact that matrimony is the only sure fire test.

Dr. Lightner Witmer, chief of the department of psychology in the University of Pennsylvania, can tell you whether you love May Brown or Susie Smith by registering your heart beats and your thought waves and your red corpuscle action when the name of the right girl is mentioned.

Unfailing Register.

This machine is called the phthysmograph and it is attached to your heart when the test is demanded. Another machine which scientists consider quite as reliable is attached to your wrist and is called the sphygmograph. Neither machine has yet found its way to the Monday morning bargain sales, however.

Moreover, though a machine may be much more reliable than a gypsy fortune teller or tea cup grounds, or the number of apple seeds you find in a core, the average man or woman prefers to experiment in love's old-fashioned way and take a chance. Seeing your love registered in a jiggly line may be accurate, but it is sort of—well—er—unsatisfying, as compared with analyzing your own feeling in a cozy sitting room with the electroliner properly shaded.

An advertising agent who knows commercial conditions thoroughly places the amount of money paid annually in Greater New York to seers, gypsies, fortune tellers, palmists, clairvoyants and "psychics" at $1,000,000. This represents a quarter of a dollar for every inhabitant of the great city. If you make the rounds of the leading purveyors of future events you will learn that 95 per cent. of the inquiries hurled at them deal with love!

"Does he love me?"

"Can I win her?"

"Will she come back to me?"

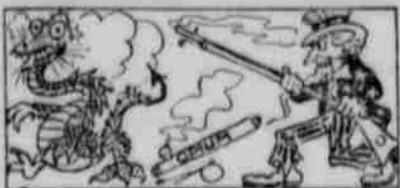

And this in the money-mad city of the Union!

Never mind how copper and cotton are going. Why worry about the tariff? But, oh, you seeress in dingy magenta gown and sequined shawl—"Does he love me?"

It's the same old question handed down from mother to daughter since the world was as young and fresh and green and sweet as love itself. And women—to say nothing of men—will always ask for love, though science fail and the world be made again!

NEWS FROM The CAPITAL

Will Lead in War on the Opium Evil

THE United States will lead the nations in the fight against promiscuous opium traffic at a conference to be held at The Hague in September, according to statements of authorities in Washington. The conference was made possible through diplomatic correspondence with the interested powers by Secretary Knox. The nations represented will be the United States, Great Britain, Germany, France, Italy, Austria-Hungary, Portugal, China, Siam, Persia, Japan, the Netherlands, Russia and probably Turkey.

The work of the conference will follow along lines suggested by the International Opium commission, which met last year at Shanghai, on the invitation of this country. The fight against the promiscuous use of the drug and other narcotics which figure in international trade will be made by means of international agreements through which opium producing countries will protect, by means of government supervision, ports where the importation of the drug is prohibited.

The first realization of the seriousness of the opium traffic so far as the United States is concerned came when the government started to put the Philippines in order. An attempt to regulate the unlimited traffic there called for the appointment of a commission. The commission in tracing the many Americans engaged in the opium trade found that the United States, with some 200,000 American users of smoking opium, to say nothing of the Chinese users here, presented almost as serious a question as the insular possessions. Since that time the United States has led the fight among the powers against the drug.

About a year ago a law absolutely prohibiting the importation into this country of opium for any except medicinal purposes was passed. But there are now about 150,000 Americans using the drug, and in spite of the prohibitory statute about 68,000 pounds of smoking opium is smuggled into this country annually.

Tattoo Suggested for Army Horses

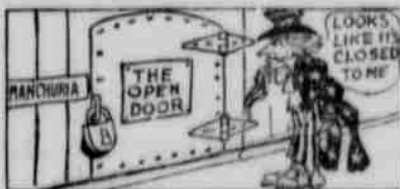

WASHINGTON.—Army horses are to become tattooed animals if a suggestion made by Capt. Casper H. Conrad, Jr., of the cavalry arm, is adopted. Captain Conrad is detailed for duty in the quartermaster's department, and is recognized as an expert on horses required for military use. Horses are now being purchased by members of the quartermaster's department, who are making their selections in various parts of the country.

The success attending this effort has been very gratifying to the quartermaster general, who has established an army remount system, with a view to improving the cavalry mounts and the horses furnished to the field artillery. When a young horse is purchased in any locality to be sent to one of the two army remount depots—at Fort Keogh, Montana, or Fort Reno, Okla.—he is marked with a numeral. The mark lasts about four months, when it becomes obliterated, and it is necessary to apply another. A third marking takes place when the horse is sent from the army remount depot to the troop or battery.

It is Captain Conrad's idea that a more enduring designation could be accomplished by applying a mark to the inside of the upper lip of the horse. He has devised an instrument for this purpose, and suggests the use of India ink, with the result that the numeral adopted will be indelible. This will require, of course, a regular system of marking so that there may be no duplicates. By this means a horse accepted for military service will keep its number. It may be necessary to have legislation to prevent tampering with the designation or making use of a similar mark in the case of horses not used in the military service.

Uncle Sam Is to Test the Open Door

THE United States is to test the sincerity of Russia and Japan in their recent claim of adherence to the open door policy in China made recently coincident with the signing of the new treaty by the Czar and the Mikado. It has been announced at the state department that the government will press at once for recognition from these two powers of the railroad concession recently granted by China to an English-American syndicate.

This is the concession which Russia blocked with an emphatic protest last winter. Since then the negotiations have been in the statu quo. The government is to find out whether or not Russia and Japan intend to bar the United States as well as other powers out of Manchuria by raising unjustifiable objections to the admission of other nations to that rich field.

When the recent convention between Russia and Japan was sprung on the world American diplomats expressed little surprise. The government has believed from the first there is a secret article in this convention which has not been made public. It is felt the unpublished portion is an agreement on the part of the two nations to support each other in barring other nations from the territory in question. The United States intends to force Russia's hand and determine whether such a secret bargain exists. The concession granted to the English-American syndicate was for the construction of the Chin-Chow-Aigun railroad line. English capitalists were to furnish the funds and the materials were to be built in America.

Where Millions Are Entombed.

The catacombs at Rome were the burial places of the early Christians. They are about 580 miles in extent and are said to have contained 6,000,000 bodies. During the persecutions of the Christians under Nero and other Roman emperors the catacombs were used for hiding places. Under Diocletian the catacombs were crowded with those for whom there was no safety in the face of the day. The art of the catacombs is unique and most interesting. Simple designs are etched in the slabs which seal the tombs. Now and then are small chapels where paintings are to be found. All are Bible illustrations, so that the catacombs may be said to be a pictorial Bible in effect.—The Christian Herald.

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN

Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive free the advice of a physician of over 40 years' experience—a skilled and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter of this sort has the most careful consideration and is regarded as sacredly confidential. Many sensitively modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician is pretty sure to say that he cannot do anything without "an examination." Dr. Pierce holds that these distasteful examinations are generally needless, and that no woman, except in rare cases, should submit to them.

Dr. Pierce's treatment will cure you right in the privacy of your own home. His "Favorite Prescription" has cured hundreds of thousands, some of them the worst of cases.

It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. The only one good enough that its makers dare to print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. There's no secrecy. It will bear examination. No alcohol and no habit-forming drugs are found in it. Some unscrupulous medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't trifle with your health. Write to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, Buffalo, N. Y.,—take the advice received and be well.

Nice little bouquets, that handed the progressives by the Old Guard and vice versa, in the New York republican convention at Saratoga this week.

And now it is said the battle got too hot for the "Black Eagle" of San Miguel, and that he has withdrawn from the race for chairman of the constitutional convention. It is reported that the honor is to go to Sol Luna, the "uncrowned king" of Valencia county.

The News acknowledges, with thanks, a complimentary pass to the 30th Annual New Mexico Fair and Resources Exposition, October 3 to 8. The fair promises to be the biggest, most attractive and far-reaching as an advertising project for the whole territory in the history of the association.

Geo. Chavez, a Peruvian, was the first to sail an aeroplane over the Alps, winning a prize of $10,000. The flight cost him his life, however. As he was attempting to land, his machine became unmanageable, fell to the earth, injuring the aviator so seriously that he died three days later. The perils of the air continue to be perils.

From the start the New Mexican has made, and the republication of its editorials by the weekly republican press of the territory, one is naturally led to the conclusion that the race issue would be a winning card. Are they willing to open this question in view of the fact that a republican congress made it impossible for a native who could not read and write the English language to hold a territorial office? If that is their purpose, a statement of this fact, when pushed to its logical conclusion, can scarcely benefit the republicans. False issues are dangerous things to deal with.

For fear the corporations will not receive proper treatment at the hands of the constitutional convention, many advocates of a "safe and sane" constitution are publishing carefully prepared statements showing that the railroads pay a large portion of the taxes of the territory. Well, suppose they do, are the railroads, or their spokesmen, ready to announce that they are overtaxed? On the contrary, is it not a fact that the railroads receive more from the people of this territory in the way of passenger fares and freight charges than they are permitted to take in any other section of the union? The railroads could well afford to pay all the taxes if permitted to write the constitution, as they have written our laws. A demand that the railroads pay their share of the taxes does not mean opposition to railroads; for everyone is willing to concede the benefits a country derives from railroads, and the desire to oppress or suppress a corporation merely because it is a corporation, has lodgment in few minds. The delegates would do well to bear in mind that the corporations are well qualified to take care of themselves, and the greater danger is that they will take more than their share. Give the corporations every right to which they are entitled; to give them more would be special legislation.

ROOT RECOGNIZES DEMAND.

The initiative, referendum and other popular theories of government are demands of no particular party of section. The east as well as the west desires direct legislation. For this statement we have no less an authority than Senator Root, of New York, and the distinguished senator has not been classed with the progressives, either. The senator was made permanent chairman of the New York republican convention, and upon taking the chair made the following reference to these demands of the people:

"There is passing over the entire country a revolt against the timeworn form of political organization. The initiative and referendum, the recall, the direct election of senators and direct nomination are all evidences that the people of our country feel our forms of political organization do not adequately furnish the voters of our political parties the means to give effect to their political will."

The above is commended to the careful consideration of all members of New Mexico's constitutional convention who feel, or pretend to feel, that the people are not interested in these live problems.

Territorial Game Law.

The following is, in substance, the law relating to the killing of game, and only holders of licenses may legally hunt:

1. Deer, with horns, may be killed from October 15 to November 15.
2. Grouse, native or crested, Messina, California or helmet quail may be killed from October 1 to December 31.
3. Wild turkey from November 1 to December 31.
4. Prairie chicken from September 1 to November 30, commencing with the year 1915.
5. Doves from August 1 to October 31.
6. It is unlawful to kill, capture, ensnare or in any manner injure or destroy, or have in possession any antelope, pheasant, bob-white quail or wild pigeon until the year 1914.
7. Snipe, curlew or plover may be killed with a gun only from September 15 to March 1.
8. The hunter's kill for any day is limited to two turkeys, six grouse, twenty ducks and thirty other birds, and no person shall kill, take or have in his possession in any one open season more than one deer, with horns, nor have in possession at any one time more than four turkeys, six grouse, thirty ducks or other birds.

English. You Know.

Lippincott's tells the following story on a Washington street car conductor:

A Washington car conductor, born in London and still a cockney, has succeeded in extracting thrills from the alphabet—imparting excitement to the names of the national capital's streets. On a recent Sunday morning he was calling the streets thus:

"Haitch!"
"High!"
"Kay!"
"Hell!"

At this point three prim ladies picked up their prayer books and left the car.

THE RE-CREATION OF NEW MEXICO.

(An anonymous correspondent from Oseuro requests the reproduction of the following verses. A similar production went the rounds some years ago, but, at this time, their reappearance, perhaps, is not inappropriate.)

The Devil in hell, they say, was chained.
And there a thousand years remained.

He never complained nor did he groan.

But decided to start a little hell of his own.

So he asked the Lord if he had any land

Left over when he made this land.

The Lord said "Yes, I've plenty handy,

But I left it all down on the Rio Grande.

In fact, old boy, the land is so poor

I don't think it could be used as a hell any more."

The devil examined it closely and well,

And decided the country was too dry for hell:

But the Lord, to get it off
his hands,

Promised the devil he'd water
the lands,

As he had some water that was of no use,

Regular bogholes that stunk
like the deuce.

So the trade was made and the deeds were given,

And the Lord went back to his home in heaven.

And the devil said it was all he needed

To start a new hell, and then he proceeded.

He scattered tarantulas along the road,

Put thorns on the cactus and horns on the toad;

He mixed up the sand with millions of ants,

So those who sat down need
half-soles on their pants:

He lengthened the horn of the Texas steer,

And put an addition to the jack rabbit's ear.

He quickened the step of the bronco steed,

And poisoned the feet of the centiped;

He put juahalota in all the lakes,

And under the rocks hid rattlesnakes:

The wild boar roams through the chaparral,

And it's a d——d poor place
he's got for a hell.

New Shipping Pens.

The bridge gang for the railroad company has just completed some most excellent shipping pens at this place. The location is east of town, between the main line and the Capitan branch. The pens are large enough to accommodate five cars of cattle at one time, and substantial enough to hold the wildest steer on the range. The most attractive feature of this improvement over old conditions is the installation of watering troughs fed from the pipe line. Stockmen are greatly pleased by this change, and the advantages offered to shippers here now are so excellent that it will make Carrizozo one of the most important shipping points on the line.

F. M. Crockett of Bonito shipped out nine cars of cattle for Kansas City last night. They were a fine, fat bunch, and he should receive the top of the market on range stuff.

J. E. Clark, territorial superintendent of public instruction, accompanied by Jno. A. Haley, county superintendent of schools, left early this morning by automobile for Capitan and Lincoln on school matters.

DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN BOOK.

The Democratic National Congressional Committee has issued its Campaign Book and is now distributing it. The committee has no funds save as it obtains them through contributions and is selling the book at $1 per copy, or for 50c. a copy in lots of ten or more.

The book is replete with valuable matter and is said to be the best Campaign Book ever issued. Every democrat should have it and in this year of democratic effort for supremacy should gladly contribute to the committee by purchasing the book. The committee did valiant service in Maine with notable results, and if democrats everywhere will rise to the occasion, by their dollar contributions, the democratic sun will rise triumphantly, not to set for fifty years to come. Send your orders or contributions to F. F. GARRETT, Treasurer, Democratic Campaign Committee, 821, 15th Street, Northwest, Washington, D. C.

New Mexico's Name.

Whence came the name of New Mexico? The country now called Mexico was not so called until 1810, when the revolt against Spain began. Up to the independence the country was called New Spain, and was divided into the same number of provinces as Spain, each with the name of a province in Spain, with the prefix "new," but New Mexico was not included in this division. It got its name in this way: In 1756 Francisco Ibarra was in charge of an expedition of exploration into what is now northern Durango and southern Chihuahua and discovered an Indian village near where Santa Barbara now stands, in which the houses were white washed and the people made and wore cotton cloth, raising the cotton in the neighborhood. He wrote an account of his discovery to his brother in the City of Mexico telling him that he had discovered "una nuevo Mexico," (a new Mexico—another Mexico), meaning that he had found a town like the City of Mexico, and therefore all this portion of northern New Spain was known as "Nuevo Mexico," that is New Mexico, which name it has retained, though now much reduced in extent.—Ex.

Young Child Dies.

The little two-and-a-half-year-old girl of Mr. and Mrs. George Baker, of Nogal, died here Tuesday morning at six o'clock, and was buried the following morning in the local cemetery. The little one swallowed something, supposed to be a button, Saturday, which lodged in the windpipe. Its mother gave it temporary relief and hastened with it to Carrizozo for medical assistance. The choking sensation seemed to disappear until Tuesday morning, at which time it was attacked with a fit of coughing and died in a short time. The father was absent when the accident happened, but reached Carrizozo before the death of his little one. A large number of friends of the family attended the funeral, and the entire community sympathize with the grief-stricken parents. Rev. W. W. Graham conducted the funeral services.

An Old Citizen Passes Away.

George S. Treat was found dead on the streets in White Oaks Sunday morning. Mr. Treat had been living alone for some time, and when last seen Saturday night was going in the direction of his home. He was buried Sunday in the White Oaks cemetery.

The deceased had been a resident of White Oaks for almost a quarter of a century. He leaves a wife and daughter, who are in Kansas, and two sons in this county, one of whom, Roy, is conducting a meat market at this place.

Centenarian Dies.

J. C. Hightower, Sr., for thirty years a resident of the Eagle Creek country died at his home last Friday and was buried in the Angus cemetery Sunday. The deceased had passed the one hundredth milestone, and up to the time of his death his mind was full of reminiscences of his long and active career. He leaves a number of children, two of whom, John C., Jr., and William N., reside on Eagle Creek.

Geo. H. Clements was in town today on his return to El Paso. Mr. Clements is traveling in the interests of the El Paso fair, which is to be pulled off in that city October 29 to November 6. Many sections of New Mexico have become interested, and he hopes to stir up something for Lincoln county. This has been a bad season, it is true, but we have some of the finest fruit that was ever grown, and other farm products that are worthy of mention, all of which should be given attention.

A Water Canyon Party.

Last Sunday a party of the soon-to-be-young-folk made a trip to Water Canyon, chaperoned by Mrs. Hattie Pons. Lunch was served under the pines and by the rippling brook. No accident happened to mar the pleasure of the occasion; because, forsooth, only expert drivers handled the ribbons. Besides the chaperone, Mrs. Pons, there were in the crowd, Edna Baird, Helen Canning, Ida Grumbles, Lulu Brookin, Mildred Peters and Kittie Reily, and Roy Grumbles, Pete Johnson, Morgan Reily and Roy Baird.

Card of Thanks.

I wish, through the columns of the NEWS, to return my sincere thanks to the people of White Oaks and Carrizozo, who so kindly assisted on the death of my father.

A. R. TREAT.

Notice to Parents.

Notice is hereby given, by the directors No. 8, Lincoln county, New Mexico, to all parents or guardians residing in said district, that the compulsory school law will be strictly enforced. All children between the ages of seven and fourteen years, residing within three miles of the public school, are required to attend said school during the entire time the public school is in session; provided, that children attending private schools of equal length and capacity shall be excused from such attendance.

Any parent or guardian who shall fail or refuse to send such children to school, as required by this act, shall be punished, upon conviction, by a fine of not less than $5.00 nor more than $25.00, or by imprisonment for not more than ten days in the county jail.

It is not the purpose of the board to cause anyone trouble, but the law imposes this duty on the board, and in order to avoid any difficulty the attention of all parents and guardians is called to this law.

Very respectfully,
E. H. B. CHEW, Clerk Board of School Dist. No. 8.

FOREST FIRE PROTECTION.

Forest Reserve Circular.

Washington, September 26.—One of the lessons which will finally be drawn from the trying experience of the present forest fire season, in the belief of officials of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is the need of wider organization among private owners of timber to safeguard their holdings.

It is pointed out that already in the Northwest, both on the Pacific coast and in Montana and Idaho, timberland owners have formed themselves into associations which assess the members on an acreage basis and thus meet the cost of maintaining a regular patrol and fire-fighting organization. Only by getting together can private owners usually assure themselves protection, for fire is no respecter of boundary lines and the man who undertakes to keep it out of his own timber will want it kept out of his neighbor's, too. Wherever possible the government's forest officers cooperate with the force put in the field by the associations, so that the employees of the government and those of the private owners are handled practically as a unit in fighting the common enemy.

This cooperation is advantageous to both sides. Protection of National Forests necessarily carries with it a good deal of protection of adjoining or interior holdings. If the private owners would everywhere shoulder their reasonable share of the burden, the public would gain both thru more general forest conservation and thru relief from the necessity of paying for the protection of private timber in order to protect its own.

PERSONAL MENTION.

J. V. Edwards was up from Oscuro Tuesday.

Ira O. Wetmore was up from Monterey this week.

John H. Canning made a business trip to Tularosa Monday.

Robt. H. Taylor and wife were down from White Oaks Saturday.

Will Titsworth and C. D. Wilson were over from Capitan on Tuesday.

Wallace L. Gumm has returned to the 'Doso to superintend the packing of apples.

Wayne Van Schoyck returned Wednesday night from Roswell, and went to White Oaks yesterday morning.

A number of Lincoln county people are preparing to take in the territorial fair at Albuquerque next week.

Samuel Kelsey and family are at Hondo, where, on the 19th, Mr. Kelsey began a six months' term of school.

Phillip Blanchard was over this week from the Blanchard ranch, beyond Richardson. Phil says grass is fine in his section.

R. J. Copeland and family were over from Angus Wednesday to attend the funeral of Reverte Baker, a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Copeland.

Felix Braune was over from Bonito Saturday, having brought his brother George's family over on their way to El Paso. Felix returned Sunday.

J. C. Hendrix and family intend to leave for Oklahoma about the end of this week, where they will make their future home. Will Kennedy has leased their ranch.

The Lincoln county delegates to the constitutional convention—Messrs. Aragon, Hudspeth and Canning—will leave Sunday for Santa Fe. The convention will meet Monday.

John J. McCourt, the popular Armour salesman, was up this week from El Paso. He reports Joe A. Gumm quite low, as a result of three operations undergone recently.

Phillip Holzman, father of Joseph and Arthur Holzman, of Corona, died at Albuquerque last Saturday. The deceased was a native of Germany, and had lived in New Mexico for almost forty years.

A. C. Austin, accompanied by his wife, came over from the Willows Tuesday. Mrs. Austin will leave the latter part of the week for Kansas City and Chicago, where she will remain for two months.

The Gallacher Brothers have struck what promises to be a sufficient quantity of water in a well near Indian Tank. The tank has also a large amount of water, and the surrounding range is good.

Wm. M. Ferguson was down a couple of days this week from his ranch on the Mesa. The Mesa farmers this year, he says, have joined the non-productionists—very little results from the farm.

Messrs. Geo. and Chas. Spence and their families and Brent Paden returned this week from the Jemez hot springs, Sandoval county. They had been absent since the early part of this month.

The courthouse work is making good headway. The cement floors of the upper story are all in, the walls are going skyward, and the whole thing begins to look housey. The jail work is also going right along.

Samuel W. Hale of Capitan, Alford James of White Oaks, and Jno. A. Haley of Carrizozo, expect to leave Sunday for Albuquerque, where they go attend the annual convention of the Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias.

"Dad" Kahler met with a mishap on the water wagon Tuesday. The coupling pole broke, the mules made a dash and "Dad" was thrown violently to the ground. He was stunned by the fall, for a time, but otherwise only slightly hurt.

L. Szily, of the firm of Szily & Goetz, architects, Clovis, is in town and expects to remain for about ten days. Mr. Szily is well pleased with the manner the courthouse work is progressing.

Capitan has decided to make a little fuss on her own account, and invites the people of Lincoln county to join her in the merri-ment. A fair programme has been arranged, to be pulled off Friday and Saturday, October 21 and 22. Two days of excellent sport are promised, and arrangements are being made to accommodate all who come. Let's join our sister town and have a good time.

John M. Rice was in town yesterday from Parsons. The ore mills at Parsons are running day and night, but the management is giving out nothing as to the value of the ore. That the returns are satisfactory is to be inferred by the continuous operation of mine and mill. The fuel supply is hauled from Capitan, the company, three years ago, having purchased the coal dumps at the old mines near Capitan. The coal is screened before hauling and good results are obtained from its use.

THE ELECTRICAL WORLD

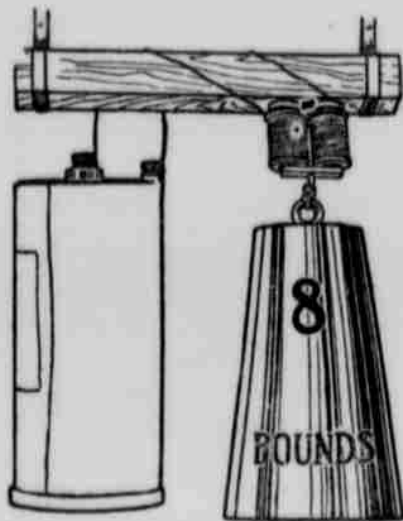

LIFT OF STORAGE BATTERY

Dry Devices Have Many Uses Where Relation of Weight to Normal Output Is Important.

Storage batteries have many uses where the relation of their weight to their normal output in electrical energy is quite important, says Popular Mechanics. For instance, any vehicles propelled by storage batteries must carry the dead weight of these batteries, and the less this weight is in proportion to their output, the less energy will be spent in moving the batteries themselves. The last two decades have shown decided decreases in the weights of such batteries, but how about the so-called dry batteries? What improvement has there been in the dry cells most of which have carbon and zinc elements with a pasty sal-ammoniac solution?

Some years ago one experimenter found that with a carefully proportioned electromagnet he could get a single dry cell to lift almost its own volume of iron. Has this record been surpassed, so that we can now get a dry battery with a lifting power fully equal to its bulk in iron? It is so easy to modify the contents of so-called dry cells by pouring in different solutions that many of our readers have undoubtedly tried it. Now who can show the best record with such a battery for holding up its own volume of iron, and for how long a time?

Facts About Telephones.

There are 1,800,000 telephones in Europe, 56,000 in Asia, 9,000 in Africa, 7,700,000 in America (of which $7,500,000 are in the United States), and 53,000 in Australia. Denmark is the European country with the largest number of telephones per number of inhabitants—viz., 33.2 per 1,000 inhabitants; and Denmark has now ousted Sweden from that position, the figures for Sweden being 31.8 per 1,000 inhabitants. Still, all things considered—the long distances and the often difficult country, Sweden must be said to hold the premier position in Europe, at least; and Stockholm is first of all the world's cities as regards number of telephones per number of inhabitants. The Stockholm Telephone company has 180 subscribers per 1,000 inhabitants.

Electric Fishes.

A special study of "electric fishes" has been made by a Scotch authority, with a view to ascertaining the source of their peculiar power, a power that is said to be possessed by about fifty species having electrical organs capable of imparting a shock.

IS CONTROLLED BY WIRELESS

Submarine Boat Operated by Wireless Telegraphy Is One of the Latest Inventions.

One of the latest inventions is that of airships and submarines controlled by wireless telegraphy, which recently formed the subject of an interesting demonstration given at Dagenham in Essex by Mr. A. Roberts, a young Australian inventor of great promise.

Submarine Controlled by Wireless.

The lecture was attended by Major Buckley on behalf of the war office, and many other distinguished people, who listened with rapt attention to the latest application of Mr. Marconi's wonderful invention. Several experiments have been carried out in this direction with much success.

GRIP FOR ELECTRIC LIGHT

Decided Improvement Over Old Style Form of Slack Take-up Invented by Eastern Man.

A decided improvement over the old-style form of slack take-up for electric-light cords is that designed by a Massachusetts man. The primary advantage of the new type of grip is that it can be attached at any time and by any person, whereas the old-style take-up needed to be attached before the lamp was on. The device shown in the illustration is a spindle with two spring gripping members on the ends. As will be seen, the method of manipulation is simple in the extreme. If the electric light cord is too long all that needs be done is to take up whatever slack there is over the desired length and clip on the grip at either side of the slack. Even a child could regulate the length of the cord by this type of take-up. It is understood, of course, that the use of this device refers most particularly to pendant electric lights, hanging over desks or tables.

NATURE'S SIGNALS.

The first indication of kidney disorder is often backache. Then comes pain in the hips and sides, lameness, soreness and urinary troubles. These are the warnings—nature's signals for help. Doan's Kidney Pills should be used at the first sign. Mrs. W. R. Cody, 402 15th St., Lewiston, Idaho, says: "I had a bad case of dropsy and bloated 40 lbs. in weight. My ankles swelled and I had to wear shoes two sizes larger than usual. I was nervous, restless and much run down. After using Doan's Kidney Pills I came down to natural weight and my kidneys became normal."

Selfish Youth.

"Youth is apt to be selfish," said Mrs. Mary E. Wilkins-Freeman, the distinguished novelist, at a Matuchen picnic.

"Woman in her youth," she went on, "is especially apt to be selfish. I'll never forget the story of the young man from Boston who stood in the center of Boston common in a down-pour of torrential rain.

"As he stood there, soaked to the skin, a little boy in a mackintosh accosted him.

"Excuse me, sir," said the boy, "but are you the gentleman who is waiting for Miss Endicott?"

"Yes," the young man answered.

"Well," said the boy, "she asked me to tell you she'd be here just as soon as it clears up."

He Had No Eye for Color.

There came to the home of a Negro in Tennessee an addition to the family in the shape of triplets. The proud father had the first man who came along the road and asked him in to see them. The man, who was an Irishman, seemed greatly interested in the infants as he looked them over, lying in a row before him.

"What does yo' think?" asked the parent.

"Waul"—pointing to the one in the middle—"I think I'd save that one."—Everybody's Magazine.

KEEP BABY'S SKIN CLEAR

Few parents realize how many estimable lives have been embittered and social and business success prevented by serious skin affections which so often result from the neglect of minor eruptions in infancy and childhood. With but a little care and the use of the proper emollients, baby's skin and hair may be preserved, purified and beautified, minor eruptions prevented from becoming chronic and torturing, disfiguring rashes, itchings, irritations and chafings dispelled.

To this end, nothing is so pure, so sweet, so speedily effective as the constant use of Cuticura Soap, assisted, when necessary, by Cuticura Ointment. Send to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., sole proprietors, Boston, for their free 32-page Cuticura Book, telling all about the care and treatment of the skin.

ORIGIN OF STYLES

AMERICANS TAKE THEIR IDEAS FROM PARIS.

Fashion Must Be Followed Even Though the Styles of Gowns and Millinery Cannot Be Made to Look Attractive.

BY FRANCES GROSVENOR.

All at once, from the quarters of the compass, comes an inquiry into the origin of the styles with which American women are blessed—or afflicted—in the fashioning of their clothes. It seems that our apparel, especially in the matter of millinery, has not only failed to please our men folks (who fain would worship at the shrine of beauty adorned), but has provoked a revolt on the part of many women during the past year.

The "Merry Widow" and the "Peach Basket" (alluring names for hats), called down the wrath of our male relatives, made us the sport of the caricaturist in the daily press, and even provoked a revolt on our part.

How did we come by such atrocious millinery? Mr. Boh tells us it was foisted on us by the French, in whom we have had such faith for so long a time. All this commotion served as advertising, and thousands of us went on our way—not serenely—getting in everybody's else way with our "merry widows," and resembling toadstools under our "peach baskets," defeating our own efforts to look attractive and meriting the settled conviction in many minds that women are hopelessly foolish when it comes to following the fashion.

Our conglomeration of models comes to us through many channels and "It is the style," or "They are wearing this" are bound to cease to be a big stick. We are destined to become more independent in our choice of styles and to wear millinery of which even our male kin will be compelled to admit "It is beautiful" and "It is suited to you." We will not care a fig about who is wearing it or whether somebody else made it the style or not. It will be in the trend of fashion, otherwise our menfolk would pronounce it too conspicuous, and everybody will be happy when everybody is suited.

FOR THE SMALL GIRL

Sky blue zephyr is used for this simple little dress, which has a plastron front put on with a wrapped seam; the material which is set to this is pleated; a band draws the pleats in at the waist; the collar and cuffs are just stitched at the edge.

Hat of soft straw trimmed with ribbon.

Material required: 3 1/4 yards 36 inches wide.

VARIATIONS OF DEEP HEMS

How the Upper Line Can Be Modified—Materials of Contrasting Color Favored.

The deep hem varies from eight inches to a depth that extends from the knee to the ground.

The upper line can be modified in numerous ways. It is effective when dropped at the front or sides in square lines. Then, again, it can be crossed in a point at the front, which gives the effect of a pointed tunic of the upper material.

Materials of contrasting colors are most favored, although a deeper shade of the predominant color is always good. Charmeuse, or any supple silk, is most successfully combined with voiles, silks or mulls.

When edging the top line of the deep hem, a cording is easily adjusted when the upper part of the skirt is attached. The method is the same as that employed in piping. A stitched strap or bias band is another easy finish to the top.

When there is any variation of the top line, the additional braid to simulate buttonholes and buttons of silk or soutache, gives a change. Place these so that the effect of the deep hem being buttoned over the upper part will be obtained.

Deep hems must not be extremely scant, for, although the freedom of movement has been decidedly curtailed in France, we are in America and should "cut our cloth" accordingly.

A woman who suffers from that malady known as sick headache finds quick relief in drinking a half glass of water to which has been added one-half teaspoon of soda and the juice of half a lemon.

HEARD IN A GROCERY STORY.

"I just had a fall on your sidewalk." "I am very sorry, my dear sir." "Well, I wish you would sell your sugar straight and put your sand on the sidewalk."

Mrs. Wiggin's Idea of London.

During the recent visit of Mrs. Wiggin, the American author, in London, an interviewer called on her. With pencil poised, the interviewer asked:

"And what do you think of London, Mrs. Wiggin?"

"You remind me," answered the author cheerfully, "of the young lady who sat beside Dr. Gibbon at dinner. She turned to him after the soup."

"Do, dear Dr. Gibbon," she said, "tell me about the decline and fall of the Roman empire."

The Close of the Year.

Mr. Editor—We hope to meet all the people at church Sunday next, and that they will join with us in one more sacramental service. Our success in this half year's pastorate has been only partial. Not so with the Home Mission Society. During the year these noble women have paid $241 on the parsonage debt, besides contributing generously to the support of the pastor. All honor to whom honor is due.

We will be able to report the general collections paid in full, which will help most of all to secure efficient service for Carrizozo for the next conference year. The annual conference meets at Artesia Oct. 6, 1910.

W. W. GRAHAM.

He is Pledged.

Jacobo Aragon, of Lincoln, Lincoln county, New Mexico, has been elected on a fusion ticket as a delegate to the constitutional convention. "Jake," as all his old-time Sierra county friends are used to calling him, is a republican of the progressive kind and is a man of ability and good business capacity, and we believe he will stand with the democrats and progressive republicans in framing a constitution by and for the people and not for the "Monopoly Lodge" element who will, if possible, frame a constitution to suit the ideas of the standpat party at Washington. We believe "Jake" will stand hitched.—Sierra County Advocate.

El Paso Fair Association.

A round-up feed from the rear end of a chuck wagon is the novel way the El Paso Fair Association is planning to entertain the editors of the southwest who will attend the editorial association during the week of the El Paso Fair and Exposition October 29th to November 6th.

A real range chuck wagon has been obtained from the famous T O ranch and manned with sure enough cowboy cooks, and the pencil pushers of the southwest will be fed as the old-timers were from the tail of the camp kitchen. The range banquet is to be provided as one of the attractions on Statehood day which is to be the feature day of the southwestern exposition. During their stay in El Paso the editors who attend the meeting will be guests of the association and special arrangements are to be made for their entertainment.

Complimentary season tickets are to be provided for each newspaper representative and he will be a privileged character on all parts of the big fair grounds.

The El Paso Fair and Exposition is to extend nine days and nights of fun and entertainment. It will include educational and instructive exhibits of all the departments which will make up this representative exposition of the resources of the southwest. The Overland trail is to be the amusement thoroughfare of the big show and the baseball tournament for the championship of the southwest, the horse show, electric pageant, Venician carnival and other events are also scheduled for the second annual El Paso Fair and Exposition.

Lincoln Locals.

A crowd of Las Palas people came over to Lincoln Saturday to attend justice court.

Mr. Noah Burch and Miss May Rogers, both of Capitan, were married in the Clerk's office one day last week, justice of the peace Ramon Lujan officiating.

Chaperoned by Mrs. Stevens, on Sunday, Misses Bellomy and Walters drove down to the Storms ranch and spent the day, bringing back with them some very fine apples and peaches. They reported a pleasant outing, and were most courteously treated by Mr. Storms.

Within a few weeks we will be permitted to see Sheriff Stevens on the streets again. Dr. Laws was up to see him the other day and told that he might eat almost anything he wished that he was accustomed to eating without injury. The stitches were also removed from the wound made by the operation and so far as visible his improvement is highly satisfactory.

Notice to Parents.

Notice is hereby given, by the directors No. 7, Lincoln county, New Mexico, to all parents or guardians residing in said district, that the compulsory school law will be strictly enforced. All children between the ages of seven and fourteen years, residing within three miles of the public school, are required to attend said school during the entire time the public school is in session; provided, that children attending private schools of equal length and capacity shall be excused from such attendance.

Any parent or guardian who shall fail or refuse to send such children to school, as required by this act, shall be punished, upon conviction, by a fine of not less than $5.00 nor more than $25.00, or by imprisonment for not more than ten days in the county jail.

It is not the purpose of the board to cause anyone trouble, but the law imposes this duty on the board, and in order to avoid any difficulty the attention of all parents and guardians is called to this law.

Very respectfully,

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Rosa Vogenitz was born January 9, 1842; died at Polly, New Mexico, September 22, 1910. Death came very unexpectedly to the family, but she was ready for the summons, and had been for a long time. She was a Methodist and did not keep her light under a bushel, but on the candlestick, so that all could be benefitted by the light of a true Christian life. Her fond husband and several of her children preceded her to the Glory Land. What a happy meeting there must have been when she reached the beautiful Gate on High. May we all follow her as she followed Christ, is our prayer.

Wisconsin Republicans Radical.

The state convention of republicans of Wisconsin, in session at Madison this week, adopted the most radical platform that has been promulgated since the civil war. The national administration, only to its discredit, was mentioned. The Payne tariff law was strongly condemned. Platform demands were: Physical valuation of railroads, and more thorough regulation; Federal ownership of Alaskan railroads; second choice primaries; initiative, referendum and recall; a graduated income tax; national control of natural resources, and regulation of working hours for women and children.
