NEWS NOTES

Dr. Donald D. Brand of the Department of Anthropology is one of the "Flying Professors" of the University of New Mexico. The University has a new plan of weekly extension courses given by the outstanding members of the faculty who fly once a week to their classes. Dr Brand is teaching Southwestern Archaeology at Clovis, New Mexico.

Dr. W. W. Hill, of the Department of Anthropology, University of New Mexico has taken a leave of absence for one year beginning February, 1939. He has accepted a position as assistant curator of American Ethnology at the United States National Museum, for that time.
