HUDSPETH ANSWERS FALL.

White Oaks, N. M.
January 13, 1911.

HON. A. B. FALL,
Three Rivers, N. M.

DEAR SIR:

My attention has just been called to your letter published in the December 31st, edition of the Otero County Advertiser in which you do me the honor to comment upon my opposition to Section 17 of the Report of the Committee on Taxation and Revenue of the constitutional convention and a substitute offered by me therefor. And inasmuch as the article on taxation in the constitution is so framed that the provisions of this section may, and probably will, become the law of the New State by legislative enactment, a further discussion of the provision in question may be of interest.

The section, which you say was "most thoroughly worked over" and which you praise so highly, is as follows.

"Sec. 17. Timber lands and lands containing coal, mineral oils, precious or other valuable stones, shall be valued and assessed according to the surface value thereof; the annual output of timber lands and all lands containing coal, mineral oils, precious or valuable stones, shall be valued and assessed for taxation according to the value thereof at the place of production in the same proportion and on the same basis as other property in the state is valued and taxed. Provided, that any coal lands owned or held by any person or corporation in one parcel or concrete body when no part or portion thereof shall be in operation producing coal, shall be subject to tax according to its value upon an equal basis with other property."

It will be noted that this proposed tax on the output is limited to the common rate on the value at the place of production—and it was stated by the advocate of this measure in the convention that the actual value of coal at the mine was 90 cents. This tax on an output of 3,000,000 tons at the present rate of about 4 per cent levied "in the same proportion and on the same basis as other property in the state is valued and taxed"—about 25 per cent of the actual value—would produce less than $30,000.00 in revenue for the state and counties. The only acreage tax paid would be based on the value of the coal and timber lands for grazing purposes; and in order that the legislature might not be hampered by any constitutional restrictions a section drawn by me for the purpose of preventing discrimination in favor of grant owners and against the small holder, which appears in the constitution as Sec. 12 of Article 8, was so changed by the revision committee that these lands may be put in a different class to the untimbered, non-coal bearing lands of the homesteader. And I expect to see the old practice of taxing large tracts of coal and timber lands worth, in many instances, $100.00 per acre, on a value of from fifteen cents to fifty cents per acre continued, while the holder of 160 acres of grazing land will pay on a value of from one to three dollars per acre, as in the past.

The holder of timber land would not be compelled to cut one tree in order to escape all taxation, except the tax on the grazing value, and the owner of a thousand acres of coal land would find it cheaper to employ one miner to produce coal (which would give him the benefit of this law) than to pay the tax on the actual value of his land.

Tribute to Painter's Skill.

One of the still life paintings by Jan van Huysen in the museum at The Hague was recently injured, but it is believed the perpetrator was neither vandal nor thief.

The picture represents a basket of fruit on which a number of insects have gathered. On a pale yellow apple, which is the centerpiece in the cluster of fruit, is a large fly, painted so true to nature, so say the officials of the gallery, that the canvas was injured by some one who endeavored to "shoo" it and brought his cane or hand too close to the canvas. "A tribute to the painter's genius," says the letter recording the fact, "for which the work had to suffer."

SAVED OLD LADY'S HAIR

"My mother used to have a very bad humor on her head which the doctors called an eczema, and for it I had two different doctors. Her head was very sore and her hair nearly all fell out in spite of what they both did. One day her niece came in and they were speaking of how her hair was falling out and the doctors did it no good. She says, 'Aunt, why don't you try Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment?' Mother did and they helped her. In six months' time the itching, burning and scalding of her head was over and her hair began growing. Today she feels much in debt to Cuticura Soap and Ointment for the fine head of hair she has for an old lady of seventy-four."

"My own case was an eczema in my feet. As soon as the cold weather came my feet would itch and burn and then they would crack open and bleed. Then I thought I would flee to my mother's friends, Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. I did for four or five winters, and now my feet are as smooth as any one's. Bad BLOOD

"Before I began using Cascarets I had a bad complexion, pimples on my face, and my food was not digested as it should have been. Now I am entirely well, and the pimples have all disappeared from my face. I can truthfully say that Cascarets are just as advertised; I have taken only two boxes of them."

IS CHEAP AND ALSO GOOD

Aladdin Stew Makes Savory Dish—Try it on Your Fireless Cooker.

This is a cheap stew, and is also good. Material: One pound beef, one quart water, one teaspoonful salt, six pepper corns, three allspice berries, one square inch bay leaf, one-quarter cup carrots, one-quarter cup turnips, one cup potatoes, one small onion, two tablespoonfuls flour, one tablespoonful cold water, one teaspoon Worcester-shire sauce. Method of preparing: One pound of beef and one quart of water are brought to the boiling point and then placed in a fireless cooker or similar arrangement for six or more hours. If you want your stew to have a good flavor of the beef it is better to cut the meat in small pieces. One hour before serving the onion, chopped real fine, and the other vegetables cut in half-inch cubes are added. Also add the seasoning at this time. Cook at a temperature just below the boiling point. This can be done easily by using a double boiler. Make a smooth paste of the flour and water and add to stew ten minutes before serving. The Worcestershire sauce is added just before serving.

FORCING DIRT OUT OF SINK

When the sink drain becomes stopped up with matter caught in the trap, unscrew the cap from the bottom of the trap, fill the sink about one-third full of water, place over the strainer a board, and strike several good, sharp blows with the hammer. To prevent the water from splashing, place a stick on top of the board and strike that.

Prize Angel Food.

Nine large eggs, whites, one and one-fourth cups granulated sugar, one-half cup flour, one-fourth cup cornstarch, one teaspoon cream tartar, pinch of baking powder, and salt. Sift sugar four times, then measure. Sift flour four times, then measure. Mix flour and cornstarch and cream tartar and baking powder and sift. Beat whites of eggs to stiff froth; fold in sugar and flavoring. Lastly fold in sifted flour and cornstarch. Bake in moderate oven 40 minutes in any ungreased pan. This makes a cake that will melt in your mouth. Measuring cup should hold one-half pint. If you wish to pour anything boiling hot into glass set the glass on a wet cloth and it will never break. Yolks of eggs can be kept from getting a crust over the top by greasing a cloth with lard and spreading over top of bowl.

Curtains.

Bobinet curtains will be used a great deal this season in parlors, dining rooms, libraries and bedrooms, different styles being chosen to suit the rooms. Cluny lace as a decoration is a little newer than renaissance, although the latter is being used as much as ever.

Imitation Brussels lace curtains are to be had in good designs for very little money. It is often hard to tell them from the real thing. Beautiful curtains come in Nottingham, also in the cheaper grades.

Colored curtains, like the barred Madras, will not be used very much. They are more of a summer than a winter drapery. Colored Nottingham is bidding for favor, however. This drapery comes in one or two tones, a golden brown on tan being one of the prettiest of the latter.

GOOD HOT-BED MANAGEMENT

Valuable Assistant to Gardener and Thorough Knowledge of Same Leads to Success.

(By U. G. PATTEN.)

The hot-bed is a valuable assistant to the gardener and a thorough knowledge of the same leads to success.

My method after the first year is to clean out each spring and mix thoroughly the soil and old manure from the beds and return it upon new, fresh manure, adding new soil as needed.

After the beds become heated up and the temperature drops to 90 degrees the seed is sown in drills four inches apart and covered according to the kind of seed used. Water liberally and never let the soil get real dry.

Insert a thermometer into the soil at the beginning and hold the heat around 60 to 70 degrees by opening or closing the sash as necessary.

In early spring old strips of carpeting laid over the sash at night keep the frost away and help to hold the temperature even. When the plants begin to show the third leaf, remove to boxes three inches deep holding the same kind of soil as that in the bed.

This soil is tamped down smooth and solid. Then use a small stick like a lead-pencil to make the holes for the plants, making them at least two inches apart.

Drop the plants in, firm the soil and then water well and return to hot-bed box and all and proceed in the care of them as though you had not disturbed them at all.

When they get to be four inches high proceed to harden them off by removing the sash during the day, but return it at night until the nights become warm.

This hardening process is very essential before setting into open ground. In transplanting always use care not to injure the roots, and a very important thing to do is to firm the soil about the plant. When setting into open ground, do so on a showery day or at evening, and success is almost sure.

A Man's Suggestion.

Potatoes will bake more quickly if there is a fire in the stove. To keep lettuce fresh and crisp place it in the ice-chest and don't eat it. To tell when a pie is done hold it upside down over the sink. If baked sufficiently it will fall out of the tin. To keep the soup from boiling over remove the kettle from the stove. Butter will last longer if sprayed with kerosene before serving. To keep the dust from flying don't disturb it with broom or cloth. Mere man says it.—Farm Journal.

Building An Icehouse.

It is none too early to think about building an icehouse. Ice is a great luxury in summer and as much or even more so than in the cities or towns. An icehouse should be so constructed as to have a double wall or air space surrounding that portion above ground, and the cost of such will be but little compared with the protection afforded. There should also be double doors. It is not difficult to keep ice in a building above ground if the double walls are used and the ice securely packed.

Farmers' Riches Growing Rapidly.

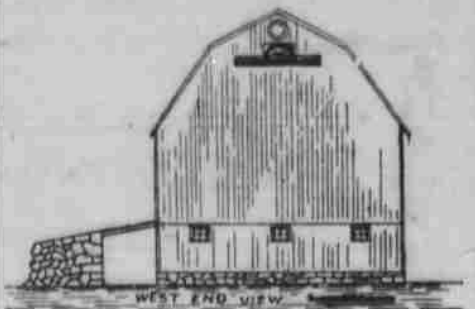

The total value of the farms reported at the twelfth census was about $20,500,000,000; more than double the $9,800,000,000 aggregate capital invested in manufactures. There is every reason to believe the thirteenth census tabulations will show the present value of the farms of the United States is approximately $50,000,000,000.

with five windows, giving ample light and ventilation.

The bridge is water tight and affords a good wagon shed for both summer and winter.

Manure Conserves Moisture.

Barn-yard manure increases the water-holding capacity of the soil; and instead of dumping the manure in some convenient, out-of-the-way place, or leaving in the yard to deteriorate, or to rot the structures against which it is so frequently piled, the farmer cannot only save money, but at the same time conserve the moisture of his soil, by immediately spreading it upon his fields. To get manure onto the fields quickly and effectively a manure spreader is very useful.

Progress in Railroad.

"Yes," says the lady whose dress case is covered with strange foreign labels, "the way railroads are run nowadays is a great improvement over what they were fifty years ago."

"But surely you had no experience as a traveler fifty years ago," says her friend.

"I don't mean that. But nowadays, don't you notice, when there is a wreck it is always had at some point convenient to a cluster of farm houses where the victims can go for coffee and to get warm?"

What World Lost?

"It was the worst calamity that ever happened to me," sighed the pale, intellectual high browed young woman. "I had written a modern society novel, complete to the last chapter, and a careless servant girl gathered the sheets of the manuscript from the floor, where the wind had blown them, and used them to start a fire in the grate."

"What a burning shame that was!" commented Miss Tartan.

Literary Accuracy.

"You write of your hero as stealing home in the darkness," said the editor.

"Yes," replied the author.

"Well, you ought to know better than that. He couldn't steal home in the dark. If it was dark enough to be worth noticing the game would have been called."

His Means.

"You are charged with vagrancy, prisoner at the bar."

"What's dat, judge?"

"Vagrancy? Why, you have no visible means of support."

"Huh! Heah's mah wife, judge; Mary, is you visible."

EAGER TO WORK.

Health Regained by Right Food.

The average healthy man or woman is usually eager to be busy at some useful task or employment.

But let dyspepsia or indigestion get hold of one, and all endeavor becomes a burden.

"A year ago, after recovering from an operation," writes a Michigan lady, "my stomach and nerves began to give me much trouble."

"At times my appetite was voracious, but when indulged, indigestion followed. Other times I had no appetite whatever. The food I took did not nourish me and I grew weaker than ever."

"I lost interest in everything and wanted to be alone. I had always had good nerves, but now the merest trifle would upset me and bring on a violent headache. Walking across the room was an effort and prescribed exercise was out of the question."

"I had seen Grape-Nuts advertised, but did not believe what I read at the time. At last when it seemed as if I was literally starving, I began to eat Grape-Nuts."

"I had not been able to work for a year, but now after two months on Grape-Nuts I am eager to be at work again. My stomach gives me no trouble now, my nerves are steady as ever, and interest in life and ambition have come back with the return to health."

Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

National Alarm Clocks.

An American and a Highlander were walking one day on the top of the Scotch mountains, when the Scotchman, wishing to impress his boastful "cousin," produced a famous echo to be heard in that place. When the echo returned clearly after nearly four minutes, the proud Scotchman, turning to the Yankee, exclaimed: "There, mon, ye canna show anything like that in your country."

To which the other replied: "I guess we can better that some, stranger. Why, in my shooting lodge in the Rockies, when I go to bed I just lean out of my window and call out: 'Time to get up! Wake up!' and eight hours afterward the echo comes back and wakes me."—Truth.

Cheap Family History.

Even in political defeat there are compensations. A Washington Heights man who aspired to office tells of one that he discovered.

"Must have cost you a pile of money to run, didn't it?" a friend asked.

"About $1,600, but still I came out $400 ahead."

"How?" said the friend.

"On genealogical research. My wife has a society bee in her bonnet, and had about agreed to pay a man $2,000 to look up my family history, but when I became a candidate my opponents did that for me and saved us the money."

Almost Anything to Please.

An influential woman member of a fashionable church in Philadelphia had gone to her pastor with the complaint that she was greatly disturbed by one of her neighbors.

"Why," said she, "that man in the pew behind ours destroys all my devotional feelings when he tries to sing. Couldn't you ask him to change his new?"

The pastor reflected: "Well," said he at last, "I naturally feel a little delicacy on that score, especially as I should have to give a reason. But I tell you what I might do—I might ask him to join the choir."—Brooklyn Life.

Another Purist Breaks Loose.

"Now, sir," said the attorney for the other side, beginning his cross-examination, "you testified that you were handed $1,000 for your vote, didn't you?"

"No, sir, I testified nothing of the kind."

"You did, sir, if I understand the English language."

"That's the trouble with you," testily rejoined the witness: "you don't understand the English language. I didn't say I was handed $1,000. I said $1,000 was handed to me."

"Silence in the courtroom," roared the judge.—Chicago Tribune.

CONSTITUTIONAL RALLY.

A good sized crowd assembled in Real Hall Wednesday evening to listen to the arguments for the adoption of the constitution, to be advanced by the distinguished gentlemen who were with us on that occasion. No. 4, the train on which the greater part of the visitors came, was late, but Hon. Granville A. Richardson had arrived on the noon train, and the speaking began on schedule time.

John H. Canning called the meeting to order and called for the nomination of a presiding officer. Frank W. Gurney nominated Dr. F. S. Randles who was elected. The chairman introduced Judge Richardson, who spoke in a very pleasant vein for about 45 minutes.

Mr. Richardson acknowledged that he, as a member of the constitutional convention, had opposed most of the features of the constitution, but acquiesced in the endorsement of the hodge-podge affair because he wanted statehood. He spoke of the hateful provisions of the enabling act—mind you, he used the word "hateful"—and everyone present must have felt that the judge was swallowing a rather bitter dose when he announced his determination to support the constitution, notwithstanding his condemnation of almost every important feature in the proposition, from the enabling act to the constitution itself. To the man who is for statehood regardless of the constitution, the appeal was effective but useless; but to the man who was undecided as to whether the constitution contained more of good than of bad, a microscopic examination of the speaker's deductions would fail to guide him to support an instrument that the speaker was asking the people to endorse, but confessing, almost item by item, that he didn't approve. The Judge's remarks were well received, however, first because he is a genial, pleasant gentleman, and second, because he is an old Lincoln county man and the audience contained many of his old-time friends; but the dual feat of riding two horses going in different directions was not accomplished on this occasion with any more dexterity than it had been in the past by others who have attempted it.

The next speaker was Judge A. B. Fall, who spoke for an hour or more, but who, it was readily to be seen, was not at his best. The speaker was not at his best because he failed to indulge in his usual vitriolic utterances, and a speech from Judge Fall without vitriol is like the play of Hamlet with Hamlet left out. The judge had on the soft pedal, indeed, and, unlike the speaker who preceded him, he endorsed the constitution from Alpha to Omega. The only thing that seemed to trouble the judge was the misrepresentation of the press and a bad memory—the bad memory relating to the third member from Lincoln county who failed to vote with the judge and the other two members from Lincoln county, and all four of whom were elected on similar platform declarations. The third member from Lincoln county, whose existence the judge's forgettery would not permit him to recall, was foolish enough to take his instructions from the people to mean what they said, and was therefore lost in oblivion. The speaker admitted that a few slight changes might have improved the constitution, but that they were not secured was no fault of his, nor that of Messrs. Canning and Aragon. As the third member from Lincoln county, whose name was never breathed by the speaker—possibly because it was not the purpose of the speaker to point the finger of scorn at a delegate simple enough to endeavor to carry out his instructions—was in the minority, it must have been his fault. With reference to the speaker's statement that ignorance and duplicity played its part in the defeat of the proposition to tax the gross output of mines, we simply refer the reader to a letter published in this issue, written by Hon. A. H. Hudspeth and addressed to Hon. A. B. Fall. As to the judge's antipathy to the press, few could take exception to that; for there are only about a half a dozen papers in the territory opposing the adoption of the constitution, and if they are causing the judge so much concern, when there are more than half a hundred supporting it, it can be regarded as a compliment. The judge delivered a smooth, rather pleasant speech, but, as has heretofore been stated, he was not at his best. Not one time did he rend the air in condemnation of socialism or anarchism, nor did he even hint at "irresponsible demagogues." No, the judge was not at his best.

The other members of the party, owing to the lateness of the hour, declined to speak, and the

THE NEXT NIGHT.

Another meeting was called last night, at which Ed R. Kelley presided, and a large crowd was entertained for an hour and a half by Hon. A. H. Hudspeth, who spoke against the constitution. Time and space does not permit a review of the speech, but suffice to say, his opposition to the constitution was presented in a clear, logical and forcible manner, and was delivered with telling effect. At the conclusion of Mr. Hudspeth's address, a call was made for W. C. McDonald. He made just a few remarks, announcing that his position as the chairman of the democratic central committee of New Mexico placed him where any statements he made might be misconstrued; that such expressions might be garbled as party declarations rather than individual; but he did call attention to some of the features demanded by the people that the constitution makers failed to recognize, and closed by saying "BEWARE!"

Constitution Advocates Here.

The town was honored this week by a number of the prominent officials and ex-officials of the territory, the object of their coming being to put our people right on the constitution. The personnel of the party was: Governor W. J. Mills and Geo. Armijo, of Santa Fe; Ex-Governor Geo. Curry and Dr. Howell, of Tularosa; Judge A. B. Fall, of Three Rivers; Granville A. Richardson, of Roswell. Mr. Richardson made an address and caught the train out the same night for home, while the other members of the party remained until yesterday, each departing for his respective home.

Alto Locals.

The regular meeting of the White Mountain Literary Society was held last Saturday evening, January 14th. It was the regular election of officers, and after the adjournment of the society the citizens held a meeting for the purpose of discussing the proposition of our new school building, which we are to have in the near future. There will be another meeting in two weeks to further the plans.

There was a good crowd at the school house Sunday afternoon, and a Sunday school was organized with the following officers:

Miss Mae Gilmore, superintendent; Mrs. J. W. Stuart, secretary and treasurer; Bible class, Miss Gilmore, teacher; Intermediate class, Mr. Porter, teacher; Junior class, Miss Annie Hagee, teacher; Primary class, Miss Claude Linam, teacher; Kindergarten class, Mrs. C. B. Lane, teacher. Sunday school will be held every Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mr. Tom Wilder is on the sick list this week.

Mrs. Will Broocke, who has been quite sick with la grippe, is now improving.

The next regular meeting of the White Mountain Literary Society will be held January 28, and the following programme will be rendered:

Music—Misses Claud and Maud Linam.

Essay—Miss Tressie West.

Dialogue—Marvel Lane, Joe Phillips, Cordie Lane and Nora Coleman.

Music—Misses Claud and Maud Linam.

Recitation—Ethel Stuart.

Attorney J. E. Wharton of El Paso was in town a short time Saturday, on his way up the line.

Ferguson and McDoanld are loading out several cars of cattle today for the Kansas City market.

Price Bentley is down this week from Vaughn, visiting with relatives. Price is employed at the Vaughn shops.

T. J. Grafton and son and Bert Baird were in Tuesday from Parsons. Mr. Grafton says his district has about completed the new school house, and that school will begin soon.

Ervin Gray, B. F. Goff and Joe D. Adams left Monday for the Elephant Butte dam. They intend to take a hand in the construction of the immense project Uncle Sam has started at that point.

Mrs. A. A. Highfill and children came down from Tucumcari last week. They are now in charge of the Burrell House. J. B. Burrell coming over from Capitan Monday and placing them in charge.

Henry Lutz passed through last Friday, on his return to his home at Lincoln from Santa Fe. Mr. Lutz is a member of the board of equalization, and had been in attendance upon a meeting of the board in the Capital City.

See the beautiful line of tablets, paperterres and writing material of all kinds, at Paden's drug store.

John W. Owen came down Sunday from his ranch in the Mesa del Gallo country. He left for Lincoln Monday to join his family.

Mrs. Mary Pellman, mother of Mrs. J. B. Garven, left last week for Dubuque, Iowa. Mrs. Pellman has been visiting with her daughter here the past six months but now goes to Iowa to make her home with her son.

Some light-fingered gentlenan, with an improper regard for the rights of property, entered the store of Winfield and Bell Tuesday night. The intruder took several pounds smoking tobacco, three or four boxes of cigars and some canned goods, also Mr. Winfield's sky piece. The intrusion was effected by breaking the panes in the rear window.

A small pox scare was started last week, but prompt measures were taken by Health Officer Paden to isolate the case, and there is little or no danger of the disease passing the quarantine mark. The infection came from Mexico, and the patient is Juan Reglado's child. The school on the east side was closed and every precaution taken.

A Surprise Party.

Regardless of the inclement weather and darkness of the night Mrs. John Eric Bell gathered more than a score of matrons and maids at her home Tuesday evening to surprise Mrs. William T. Peoples, who is soon to leave to make her home in Nevada. The surprise, which it really proved, planned by Mrs. Clarence Spence, Mrs. John Eric Bell and Mrs. E. B. Walker, was beautifully carried out. After many jolly games including "Old Stage Coach," "Spin the Plate" and "Rabbitt," a pleasant hour was spent over dainty refreshments. The ladies presented to Mrs. Peoples a beautiful silver "gravey boat," a silver spoon and a Navajo cushion cover, as tokens of remembrance. This gay little evening of sociability was ended by merry songs and dancing, with Miss Lorena Sager at the piano. The departure of Mrs. Peoples is looked upon with regret by all who know her.

The Whist Club.

The last meeting of the Carri-zozo Whist Club seems always the one most enjoyed, proving the unflagging interest of its members in their weekly diversion at cards, and the generous hospitality of the hostesses entertaining in alphabetical order.

To Mrs. Frank Mudge fell the pleasure of honoring the ladies of the club Wednesday afternoon. With her ever ready humor and wit, Mrs. Mudge made each guest feel herself specially favored during the game and throughout the afternoon in her home. The playing cards were marked with the letter "M," correspondingly in decoration were also the gilt-and-white hand painted score cards.

An elegant three-course supper was served on the small tables, the menu consisting of oyster patties, cheese straws, pickles, salad, olives, sandwiches and coffee.

Miss Clancy, of Santa Rosa, a guest of the club, won first prize, a handsome box of writing paper with a sheet of stamps. Mrs. Whittingham won the mirth-inspiring "snookums" as the booby.

Miss Lorena Sager will preside as hostess next Wednesday afternoon.

CARRIZOZO NEWS

CARRIZOZO - NEW MEXICO

NO DOUBT ABOUT THE FLAVOR

Mr. Simon Was Fully Satisfied That He Got All There Was in the Mixture.

Edgar Selwyn, the actor-playwright, was dining at the Cafe Madrid the other day when the proprietor came to his table, according to a New York correspondent. "I want to thank you for having referred to my restaurant in your latest play," said George Rector. "In what manner can I reciprocate, Mr. Selwyn?" Mr. Selwyn said that he might name a cocktail for Mrs. Selwyn—who is Margaret Mayo in playwriting ranks. "Not being an expert on cocktails," said he, "I'll send my brother Mike in to sample it." So Mr. Rector devoted his skilled attention to the work of building a new gargle. Mr. Simon—Selwyn's name was Simon before he went on the stage—proved uncommonly hard to suit. Mr. Rector would toss together a new collection of acids and Mr. Simon would come in, drink the mixture wisely, head on one side. "Let me try another," he would say. "I don't quite make that." So the patient Mr. Rector would scramble some more liquor, and Mr. Simon, after painstaking investigation, would finally go out giggling to himself, but declaring that Rector had not precisely caught the knack of it yet. Until the other night Mr. Simon came in jauntily. Mr. Rector hailed him. "I have got it at last, Mike," said he. "This is the most wonderful cocktail that was ever put together. Try it." Mr. Simon tried it. A moment later Mr. Simon robbed a water glass of all its ice and went about with his mouth open, and panting for fresh air. By and by he sat down and watched Broadway through the window with eyes dull and glazed. His hand went to an aching forehead. "Try another, Mike," said the malicious Mr. Rector. "Maybe you didn't get the full flavor." "The devil I didn't," said Mr. Simon crossly, as he went out.

Where Women Divulge Their Age. Said the new waiter:

"There's a woman at the phone trying to tell how old she is. Thirty-five, I think she said."

"Wants to come here to dinner, I guess," said the proprietor. "Tell her it is all right. She can come."

Then he went on to say that over the telephone some women are not afraid to tell their age.

"Confidences of that kind are imparted to us every day," he said. "They are telephoned in by women who have heard that women without an escort are not permitted to dine here. Even if they do play a lone hand, they like to eat out once in a while where there is something going on, but rather than take chances of a public rebuff, they telephone down to find out if they will be admitted. First thing they tell is their age. The figures mentioned run all the way from 30 to 50. Apparently they hope to convince us that at that age women have become pretty sedate and are desirable guests."

Pointed Retort.

"Say," sneered the bulldog, "you don't know much about scientific fighting, do you?"

"Perhaps not," replied the porcupine; "however, if you want to try a little bout with me, I think I can give you a few points."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Another "Jam."

"We are seeking a more polite phraseology in our political discussion," said one campaigner.

"Yes," replied the other, "What used to be called a short and ugly word is now held as an 'Ananiasism.'"

INDUSTRY AND MECHANICS

SAVES LIFE OF WORKINGMAN

Respirator Prevents Fine Dust From Entering Lungs of Men Working at Different Trades.

The Chicago man who invented the respirator here described was not only a business man, but a public benefactor. It is probably not too much to say that it will save the lives of hundreds of workmen who would otherwise die of the various forms of tuberculosis induced by the eating away of their lungs by the fine dust they inhale. The respirator is a simple enough device. It is merely a metal cap shaped to fit over the nose and mouth with an elastic band passing around the back of the head to hold it in place of a strip of flexible material around the edge to prevent the air penetrating there. The only air that enters comes in through a fine gauze wire screen in the front that is of such close mesh that while it will admit the atmosphere it excludes all extraneous matter. Men who work at metal, stone or glass cutting, typographers who continually stir up the dust from type, or engravers, especially those who use zinc acid, need no longer fear that the fine particles that float through the air about them will be taken into their lungs and wear the latter away.

this illustration, says Popular Mechanics. Vertically it covers 360 degrees, and laterally more than 180 degrees. The hose is lined with a rubber tubing, and hangs vertically on the extinguisher, a universal joint giving it the wide range of action.

CENTER POINT IN CALIPERS

The purpose of the tool here illustrated, invented by Mr. W. H. Harris of Laurium, Mich., is to provide means by which centers of bodies of different cross-sectional forms can be determined, says Scientific American. The centering device does not have to be adjusted for each piece of work with which the calipers are used. The calipers are provided with the usual legs pivotally associated, and a centering rod connected with the legs which maintains a central position between them at all times. In the rod is a spring-pressed point that adjusts itself automatically to the body with which it is brought in contact.

VACUUM FOR FAMILY WASHING

Australian Discovers Method of Cleaning Clothes Without Twisting, Rubbing or Beating.

Australia has discovered a way of washing clothes without twisting them, rubbing them, beating them, or in any other fashion treating them harshly. It is dependent upon the simplest kind of a mechanical device and in its results it is ten times as effective in turning out the snow white garments as any of our old fashioned methods. The laundry of mediaevalists was not one of the problems of life, so the science of washing clothes has never been highly developed except in recent years. We have improved our washing devices so much and so frequently that there is no occasion to look with suspicion upon a machine that does away with all the evils of old instruments that either broke a woman's back or tore the clothes.

The clothes are put into any kind of a boiler available in water, and the boiler is set in a perforated metal cone, at least that is what it looks like, though it is perhaps a little more elaborate when put up as a commercial product. The water is boiled and as the steam fills the cone the water is forced through the holes or perforations leaving a vacuum in the cone which is in its turn promptly replaced by water. This gives a circulation of about four gallons per minute and the hot water is drawn rapidly through the clothes cleansing them thoroughly and quickly.

Does Your Cat Cough?

Poor pussy! As if the immemorial charges against her of keeping us awake o' nights and of eating canary birds whenever she gets the chance were not enough, the doctors have just discovered that for years she has been responsible for the spread of diphtheria. Dr. G. J. Awburn of Manchester, England, having traced an epidemic of this disease in a suburb of that city to a pet cat belonging to one of his patients, has found, after much clever investigation, that all cats are peculiarly susceptible to diphtheritic affections of the throat. He has therefore recently been warning all families who own cats to watch them carefully, and, if they develop coughs, to forbid their being hugged and petted. Dr. Awburn further recommends that if the cough persists and the cat begins to grow thin to have the animal destroyed at once. The only really safe way, he says, is to let the first wheeze be pussy's death warrant.

Russia's Growing Population.

This year's census of the Russian empire adds another five millions to the population as enumerated in 1908. The czar's subjects now number 160,000,000 and increase every year by 2,500,000 despite wars, epidemics and internal disturbances. As there is no lack of cultivated soil in Russia there seems no reason why this big annual increase should not continue.

DOINGS AT THE CAPITAL

Outclass Other Countries in Savings

WASHINGTON.—More than 9,000,000 depositors in the savings banks of the United States hold over $4,000,000,000. In the last year the number of savings bank depositors has increased over 300,000. The total amount of their deposits has risen $357,000,000 in twelve months. The average amount of every depositor's account is $445, which is nearly $25 more than the average the year before.

It is certain that not less than $6,000,000 in bank deposits can fairly be counted as savings. The national banks hold about $800,000,000 of such deposits. The trust companies have about $700,000,000 in savings accounts. The state banks hold over $500,000,000 on savings bank conditions. Total savings deposits of the country cannot fall under $6,000,000,000. There are more than 15,000,000 separate accounts in that immense sum.

The contrast between these figures and the statistics which measure the savings of other countries is proof of the difference between the ability to save and the wide diffusion of prosperity in the United States and the conditions in foreign lands.

In Germany, for instance, there are more than 19,000,000 savings accounts, but the total amount represented by that multitude of deposits is only about $3,400,000,000, or little more than half of the savings deposits in American banks. The United Kingdom, with nearly half as large a population as that of the United States, has about 13,000,000 savings accounts, including postal savings banks, of course, but the deposits amount to only about $1,050,000,000, or 16 per cent. of the American total.

Austria and Hungary together have about $1,600,000,000 in savings deposits owned by nearly 8,000,000 depositors. Italy stands high in the number of savings accounts, with 7,000,000 of them, in round figures, but low in the total amount of the deposits, which are under $700,000,000.

Japan is a marvel in respect to the wide use of savings banks, including the postal savings department of the government, but the amount of the deposits is very small in proportion to the multitude of accounts.

White House Season Formally Opens

FORMAL announcement of official functions to be given at the White House during the season has been made. These official affairs are quite distinct from those given by Mrs. Taft when the occasions are surrounded by a more private and personal atmosphere.

According to established custom the reception to the diplomat corps will be given first, and the date chosen is January 10, to be followed a week later by the diplomatic dinner. At the reception all persons connected with the embassies and legations, and the members of their families, are invited to be present, but at the dinner only the diplomatic chiefs and their wives, if there are any, receive invitations.

On January 24 the annual reception to the judiciary will take place, which a week later will be followed by the customary dinner to the members of the Supreme court. Mr. Justice Hughes and Mrs. Hughes will attend these functions at the White House as guests of honor for the first time.

The reception to the congressional circles will be on February 7, and as a dinner to these same people would be a practical impossibility at the White House, one is not given, but President and Mrs. Taft conceived the idea of giving a dinner in compliment to the speaker when they took possession of the White House, and last year the custom was inaugurated.

The following Tuesday, February 21, the state functions, which last a trifle over two months, will be concluded with the reception to the army and navy, an affair which has more brilliancy than any of the others, owing to the fact that most of the men guests are in full-dress uniform. Most people are uncertain whether they prefer to be present at the first or the last of the receptions, for, of course, that given especially for the diplomats is particularly brilliant.

Harem Refugee Goes Back to Turkey

"I SHALL return to Turkey and minister to the persecutions of my people," says Bernice Baherion, an Armenian girl, who is looking forward to the time when she will return to Constantinople, whence she fled six years ago, disguised as the servant of an American missionary, to escape life in a Musselman's harem.

She will return as an American citizen, an unordained minister of a Christian creed and a graduate nurse with a diploma from the Seventh Day Adventist sanitarium of this city and six months' experience in the famous London City hospital. She is just finishing her third and last year at the local institution, and this winter will go to England for the post-graduate course in the London hospital before going to Turkey.

Asked if she no longer dreaded those who had attempted to harm her, she replied: "They dare not molest me. I have lived in this country for six years. I am now an American citizen. I have taken out my first papers and am now ready to swear allegiance to the land of my adoption."

As Miss Baherion talked her voice was tense with emotion and her hands worked nervously, as she lived again the days that preceded her flight. She told how, as a child, reared in the Armenian faith, she had been converted by her father, himself a convert of the Adventist mission house in Constantinople.

Why Do They.
Why women like the baldheaded man it is somewhat difficult to define. It may be because he appears to be: Thoughtful and kind. Trustworthy and confiding. Whimsical. Past the follies and frivolities of youth.

Usually successful.
A man of property.
Opinions why women like the baldheaded man obtained by the Daily Mirror are as follows:

He is not silly like young men.
He accepts refusals of marriage so nicely that one is sorry one did not accept him.

The bald patch looks so clean and nice. One would like to kiss it.

A doctor welcomes baldness when it comes to him, as it is a sign of sedateness and dignified learning, which invariably increases his practise.

Which is the Star?
"We are thinking of putting an electric sign over the church."

"It might be a good idea."

"But there are factions. We can't decide whether to feature the minister or the soprano of the choir."

A Woman's Privilege.
"What is the latest thing in weddings?"

"Generally, it is the bride."

The girl in the silk stockings never gets her skirts muddy.

me, which provided that coal land should be taxed on a value of $20, per acre, and a tax on the improvement and net annual proceeds in addition, the tax on the land of one corporation alone, which owns 550,000 acres of coal land, according to its representations and the report of the U. S. Geological Survey, and which is bonded for $11,000,000,00, would have amounted to $440,000.00 under a tax rate of 4 per cent, while under the provisions of Section 17 quoted above its taxes would not amount to one-twentieth of that sum. This is a large sum for one company to pay annually in taxes, but in view of the fact that the United States has recently put a price of $250.00 per acre on coal land in the same field it would seem that it is not out of proportion to the value of its property.

The failure to tax these lands according to their actual value, in addition to the injustice of releasing the owners of large tracts of timber and coal lands the two most valuable items in the schedule of the commonwealth's resources, with the exception of railroads—from their just share of the burden of taxation, would encourage the holding of these lands for speculative and monopolistic purposes, and thus retard the development of the natural resources of the New State.

The coal barons did not agree with you that the substitute offered by me afforded them "protection," on the contrary, it was quite evident in the convention that they preferred to chance getting the provisions of Section 17 enacted by the legislature.

Your statement that Sec. 17 was approved by the republican caucus is, no doubt, true, but you, apparently, have forgotten that it was decided later that this section would not appeal to the voters; so it was quietly eliminated and a discussion on the floor of the convention avoided—other sections of the article on taxation being amended so that the legislature might have power to enact such provisions.

That this method (by legislative enactment) of procuring special favors desired presents no insurmountable difficulties I think you will agree. Having been a member of the Assembly which passed the Hawkins bill you know with what facility legislation desired by special interests is procured in New Mexico.

Your strictures on the democratic members for not advocating the initiative before your committee, I take it, is the excuse you offer for not favoring the measure. You failed to state that every democrat, including Messrs. Dougherty and Brice, voted for the report signed by Mr. Fergusson and myself, which was a workable initiative and referendum, although the percentages had been raised from five and eight per cent (which both Mr. Fergusson and myself favored) to eight and twelve in the hope that republican members would give the measure their support.

I note that you say you were "for the initiative." It is a source of profound regret that you did not see fit to favor it in the constitutional convention. Had you and other republicans pledged to support the initiative and referendum given those measures earnest support I sincerely believe they would have been written into the constitution in workable form.

NOTICE OF SALE OF MORTGAGED PROPERTY.

WHEREAS, on the 9th day of December, 1909, L. J. Glenn and Jessie G. Glenn, of Lincoln county, Territory of New Mexico, did make, execute and deliver to Dr. George C. Bryan, of Otero county, New Mexico, a certain mortgage upon the following described real estate, to-wit: Lot No. One (1) in Block No. Eleven (11) in the town of Corona, in Lincoln county, New Mexico territory, together with all and singular the lands, tenements and appurtenances thereunto belonging, said mortgage being given to the said Dr. George C. Bryan, to secure the payment of one certain promissory note for the sum and at the time following, to-wit:

One note for $110.00 due December 9th, 1910, together with eight (8) per cent interest per annum thereon from maturity until paid, and ten per cent on the amount of this note as attorney's fees.

Whereas, default has been made by the said L. J. Glenn and Jessie G. Glenn in the payment of said promissory note and the interest thereon, and in the performance of the stipulations and covenants contained in said mortgage, and there is now due and unpaid upon said note the sum of $110.00 as principal, and the further sum of $11.00 as attorney's fee; and

Whereas, the said Dr. George C. Bryan, who is the holder and legal owner of said note, has by reason of said default, declared the conditions of said mortgage broken, and has, as provided by the terms of said mortgage, seized and taken possession of the above described property mortgaged as aforesaid to secure said indebtedness.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that upon the fourth day of February, 1911, at the mortgaged premises in the town of Corona, in said county, between the hours of ten o'clock a. m. and four o'clock p. m. of said day, said mortgagee will sell the said above described property, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy said indebtedness and costs and accruing costs, at public auction to the highest bidder for cash in hand.

Witness my hand this 23rd day of December, 1910.

DR. GEORGE C. BRYAN, Mortgagee.
GEO. SPENCER, Agent and Attorney for Mortgagee.
