CONSTITUTION CARRIES BY TREMENDOUS MAJORITY.

Twenty-two Counties Give a Majority for Adoption, while Four Counties Oppose by a small vote.

TWO TO ONE VOTE FOR ADOPTION

The constitution was overwhelmingly adopted by the people of New Mexico at Saturday's election. The official figures are not at hand, but semi-official reports place the majority for the constitution over 17,000, and it is believed the actual majority will exceed even that number. From the best information obtainable the following table is made up, showing the majorities by counties:

Good News for Democrats.

The Santa Fe New Mexican says that 12,000 democrats in the territory voted for the adoption of the constitution, and that now they have no business in the democratic party—they should, per se, come to the republican party. This is certainly a magnificent reward to the democrats who supported the constitution, when it is understood that the adoption of the constitution was merely a means to an end. The 12,000 democrats who voted for the constitution were like an equal number of republicans who did likewise—statehood was the object, and few were in love with the constitution itself.

The above figures are not cabalistic, mysterious or misleading. They merely represent, first the total vote cast in Lincoln county Saturday—1111—and second, the majority against the adoption of the constitution. It was like the school teacher's proposition with a class in arithmetic—7 come 11.

No county, perhaps, in the territory was as equally divided as was Lincoln county, and the result also shows that the people of Lincoln are independent, not because they gave a majority against the constitution, but because the vote throughout the county, precinct by precinct, shows that little influence was exerted one way or another.

The following table shows the vote by precincts and the majorities:

Pretty Good Definition.

We hear some funny things in Fleet street sometimes, and the following definition of the height of aggravation, by a gentleman in rather shaky boots, whom we encountered in a well-known hostelry the other day, struck us as being particularly choice.

"The 'eight of hagggravation, gentlemen," said this pothouse humorist, setting his pewter on the counter and looking round proudly, with the air of one about to let off a good thing, "the 'eight of hagggravation—why, trying to ketch a flea out o' yer ear with a pair of boxin' gloves."—London Tit-Bits.

An Alaskan Luncheon.

Runners of woven Indian basketry, with white drawnwork dollies at each of the 12 covers, were used on an oval mahogany table. The dollies were made at Sitka. In the middle of the table a mirror held a tall central vase of frosted glass, surrounded by four smaller vases, all filled with white spring blossoms. The edge of the mirror was banked with the same flowers. Four totem poles were placed on dollies in the angles made by the runners.

Place cards were water colors of Alaskan scenery. Abalone shells held salted nuts, and tiny Indian baskets held bonbons. The soup spoons were of horn, several of the dishes used were made by Alaskan Indians, and the cakes were served on baskets.

The menu was as follows: Poisson a la Bering Sea (halibut chowder), Yukon climbers (broiled salmon, potatoes Julienne), snowbirds avec auroraborealls (roast duck with jelly), Shungnak river turnips, Tanana beets, Skagway hash (salad), Fairbanks nuggets (ripe strawberries arranged on individual dishes around a central mound of powdered sugar), arctic slices (brick ice cream), Circle City delights (small cakes), Klondike nuggets (yellow cheese in round balls on crackers), Nome firewater (coffee).—Woman's Home Companion.

Bankers and Bank Notes.

Four men, three of whom were connected with brokerage concerns in the Wall street district, were discussing United States paper currency and the disappearance of counterfeiters. "We are so sure nowadays," said one of the party, "as to the genuineness of bills that little attention is paid to them in handling, except as to denomination." To prove his assertion he took a $10 yellowback from his pocket, and, holding it up, asked who could tell whose portrait it bore. No one knew, and by way of coaching the broker said it was the first treasurer of the United States. Again no one knew the name. "Why, it's Michael Hillegas," said the man proudly. "But in confidence, I'll tell you, I didn't know it five minutes ago."—New York Tribune.

Vivid at Least.

Dr. Hiram C. Cortlandt, the well-known theologian of Des Moines, said in a recent address:

"Thomas A. Edison tells us that he thinks the soul is not immortal; but, after all, what does this great wizard know about souls? His forte is electricity and machinery, and when he talks of souls he reminds me irresistibly of the young lady who visited the Baldwin locomotive works and then told how a locomotive is made.

"You pour," she said, "a lot of sand into a lot of boxes, and you throw old stove lids and things into a furnace, and they you empty the molten stream into a hole in the sand, and everybody yells and swears. Then you pour it out and let it cool and pound it, and then you put it in a thing that bores holes in it. Then you screw it together, and paint it, and put steam in it, and it goes splendidly; and they take it to a drafting room and make a blue print of it. But one thing I forgot—they have to make a boiler. One man gets inside and one gets outside, and they pound frightfully; and then they tie it to the other thing, and you ought to see it go!"

Two Very Old Ladies.

We have heard a great deal lately about long-lived people, but it is probable that the oldest two people in the world today are Frau Dutklevitz and another old lady named Babavaslika.

The former lives at Posem, in Prussian Poland, and was born on February 21, 1785. She is therefore one hundred and twenty-five years old. The latter, however, is nine months her senior, having been born in May, 1784.

She is still a fairly hale old woman, and for nearly one hundred years worked in the fields. Her descendants number close on 100, and these now make her a joint allowance. She lives at the village of Bavelsko, whose neighborhood she has never quitted during the whole of her long life. She remembers events which happened at the beginning of last century much more clearly than those of the last 40 years.—Dundee Advertiser.

Too Ardent a Lover.

Georgotto Fontano, an embroiderer who lives in the Rue Sevres in Paris, has found himself condemned to a month's imprisonment for what seems to her a harmless act.

She was going home from a concert a few evenings ago when she decided she would like to see her fiance. As he happens to be a fireman whose station is in her own neighborhood it occurred to her it would be very easy to summon him to her side by breaking the glass of the fire alarm and sounding a call.

She did so and in a few moments fire engines came from several directions, all laden with firemen, of course, but alas! her fiance was not among them, and more than that all the firemen were angry, and before she knew what had happened she was taken to a magistrate, who proceeded to make the course of true love run unsmoothly by sending her to prison for a month in spite of her tears and protests that she thought it would be a simple way of bringing her fiance to her side.

Planting Wedding Oaks.

Princess August Wilhelm, wife of the Kaiser's fourth son, has set herself the task of reviving one of Germany's oldest customs, that according to which newly wedded couples immediately after the marriage ceremony plant a couple of oak saplings side by side in a park or by the roadside of their native town.

The town of Mulchausen, in Thuringia, is the first to respond to the princess' appeal. A municipal official appears at the church door after every wedding and invites the bride and bridegroom to drive with him in a carriage to a new road near the town and there plant oak saplings.

The tree planting idea was started by a former elector of Brandenburg with the object of repairing the ravages caused by the 30 years' war. The elector forbade young persons to marry until they had planted a number of fruit trees.

An Unnecessary Confession.

A hearty laugh was occasioned at the Birmingham police court by a prisoner who gave himself away in a very delightful manner. The man was the first on the list, and the charge against him was merely one of being drunk and disorderly. He stepped into the dock, however, just at the moment when the dock officer was reading out a few of the cases which were to come before the court that morning, and a guilty conscience apparently led him to mistake these items for a list of his previous convictions.

He stood passive enough while the officer read out about a dozen drunk and disorderlies, but when he came to one "shopbreaking" the prisoner exclaimed excitedly, "That was eight years ago, your honor." Everyone began to laugh, and the prisoner, realizing the blunder he had made, at first looked very black indeed, but finally saw the humorous side of the matter, and a broad smile spread over his face. His blunder did not cost anything.—Birmingham Mail.

That Suit for Libel

Against the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Gave a Splendid Chance to Bring Out Facts

A disagreement about advertising arose with a "weekly" Journal.

Following it, an attack on us appeared in their editorial columns; sneering at the claims we made particularly regarding Appendicitis.

We replied through the regular papers and the "weekly" thought we hit back rather too hard and thereupon sued for libel.

The advertisement the "weekly" attacked us about claimed that in many cases of appendicitis an operation could be avoided by discontinuing indigestible food, washing out the bowels and taking a predigested food Grape-Nuts.

Observe we said MANY cases not all.

Wouldn't that knowledge be a comfort to those who fear a surgeon's knife as they fear death?

The "weekly" writer said that was a lie.

We replied that he was ignorant of the facts.

He was put on the stand and compelled to admit he was not a Dr. and had no medical knowledge of appendicitis and never investigated to find out if the testimonial letters to our Co. were genuine.

A famous surgeon testified that when an operation was required Grape-Nuts would not obviate it. True.

We never claimed that when an operation was required Grape-Nuts would prevent it.

The surgeon testified bacteria [germs] helped to bring on an attack and bacteria was grown by undigested food frequently.

We claimed and proved by other famous experts that undigested food was largely responsible for appendicitis.

We showed by expert testimony that many cases are healed without a knife, but by stopping the use of food which did not digest, and when food was required again it was helpful to use a predigested food which did not over-tax the weakened organs of digestion.

When a pain in the right side appears it is not always necessary to be rushed off to a hospital and at the risk of death be cut.

Plain common sense shows the better way is to stop food that evidently has not been digested.

Then, when food is required, use an easily digested food. Grape-Nuts or any other if you know it to be predigested (partly digested before taking).

We brought to Court analytical chemists from New York, Chicago and Mishawaka, Ind., who swore to the analysis of Grape-Nuts and that part of the starchy part of the wheat and barley had been transformed into sugar, the kind of sugar produced in the human body by digesting starch (the large part of food).

Some of the State chemists brought on by the "weekly" said Grape-Nuts could not be called a "predigested" food because not all of it was digested outside the body.

The other chemists said any food which had been partly or half digested outside the body was commonly known as "predigested."

Splitting hairs about the meaning of a word. It is sufficient that if only one-half of the food is "predigested," it is easier on weakened stomach and bowels than food in which no part is predigested.

To show the facts we introduce Dr. Thos. Darlington, former chief of the N. Y. Board of Health, Dr. Ralph W. Webster, chief of the Chicago Laboratories, and Dr. B. Sachs, N. Y.

If we were a little severe in our denunciation of a writer, self-confessed ignorant about appendicitis and its cause, it is possible the public will excuse us, in view of the fact that our head, Mr. C. W. Post, has made a lifetime study of food, food digestion and effects, and the conclusions are indorsed by many of the best medical authorities of the day.

Is it possible that we are at fault for suggesting, as a Father and Mother might, to one of the family who announced a pain in the side: "Stop using the food, greasy meats, gravies, mince pie, cheese, too much starchy food, etc., etc., which has not been digested, then when again ready for food use Grape-Nuts because it is easy of digestion?"

Or should the child be at once carted off to a hospital and cut?

We have known of many cases wherein the approaching signs of appendicitis have disappeared by the suggestion being followed.

No one better appreciates the value of a skilful physician when a person is in the awful throes of acute appendicitis, but "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Just plain, old common sense is helpful even nowadays.

This trial demonstrated Grape-Nuts food is pure beyond question.

It is partly predigested.

Appendicitis generally has rise from undigested food.

It is not always necessary to operate.

It is best to stop all food.

When ready to begin feeding use a predigested food.

It is palatable and strong in nourishment.

It will pay fine returns in health to quit the heavy breakfasts and lunches and use less food but select food certainly known to contain the elements nature requires to sustain the body. May we be permitted to suggest a breakfast of fruit, Grape-Nuts and cream, two soft boiled eggs, and some hot toast and cocoa, milk or Postum?

The question of whether Grape-Nuts does or does not contain the elements which nature requires for the nourishment of the brain, also of its purity, will be treated in later newspaper articles.

Good food is important and its effect on the body is also important.

WHITE AND BROWN NOUGATS

How the Two Varieties Are Made and What Ingredients Are Necessary.

There are two distinct varieties of nougats, white and brown. For the white take 10 ounces of sugar, 1 tablespoon of glucose, ¼ pound of almonds, blanched, dried and chopped, 2 ounces of chopped pistachio nuts, 1 teaspoonful of vanilla extract, 1 gill of water, whites of 2 eggs, 2 ounces of honey. Put honey into double boiler and when melted add stiffly beaten whites and stir the two together until it begins to get quite firm. Boil sugar, water and glucose together to 260 degrees if you like a soft nougat, and 268 degrees if you like it stiffer. Add this to honey and eggs, stirring quickly all the time. Add almonds and pistachio nuts and vanilla. Continue cooking till sugar breaks with a snap when tried in cold water. Pour into prepared frame or dish lined with wafer paper. Cover with wafer paper, then put a board on top and heavy weight on that. Then turn out and cut into bars with a sharp knife. Wrap each bar in wax paper or tinfoil. For cherry nougat add a few drops of red coloring and add 1 ounce of chopped cherries. For rose nougat color a delicate pink with red coloring and add a few chopped crystallized rose leaves.

For brown nougat, take ¼ pound of almonds, blanch, dry, chop and gently brown almonds. Put sugar, glucose and lemon juice together in a saucepan and melt without stirring. When sugar is quite liquid add nuts and mix well together. Turn mixture on oiled slab and roll thin. Cut into small squares.

EASY NOW TO OPEN CANS

Device of New York Man Will Do Away With Much That Has Caused Complications.

A new kind of can opener has been designed by a New York man. It is radically different from the types heretofore in use and resembles nothing so much as a nut cracker. A pair of levers are pivoted together at one end. On one of the levers is a spike, which is thrust into the top of the can and holds that arm stationary for the other to revolve upon. The other lever has notches along it and has a movable cutter device with projections on the inside to engage the notches and hold it in a particular place. This arm of the implement describes a circle and as it does so the blade shears through the tin and removes a circular piece, leaving the piece fast by one small strip which can act as a hinge or can be broken off and the top entirely removed. The cutter can be adjusted so that the circle described is the size of a small or large can or comes within the boundaries of a rectangular can. The device is said to be much easier of operation than the openers which are pumped up and down along the edge of the can.

Pointing to the red-headed girls, the young man answered: "I'm trying to see a white automobile."—Youngstown Telegram.

THE MAJORITY RULES.

The people of New Mexico have said by their votes that the constitution was satisfactory, and whatever a majority says in a representative government should go, and generally does. Many, strictly speaking, it is true, were not satisfied with the constitution itself, but by supporting the constitution they believed statehood would be hastened, and thus, with this end in view, they are satisfied with the result.

Just when statehood will become an accomplished fact, after this overwhelming endorsement of the constitution, authorities differ. Some seem to think we will get in at this short session; others, equally well informed, say our actual admission will be delayed until the next congress. It is contended by many, both anti and pro, that we will not be admitted at the present session except upon the recommendation by the president and the passage of a joint resolution by congress. Time, however, will tell, and in the meantime all may now rest assured that statehood for New Mexico is a certainty, whether it is to be this summer or that of the coming year.

NOW FOR STATEHOOD.

The people of New Mexico have spoken in no uncertain terms on the constitution which will ultimately lead to statehood—about 17,000 majority—and under a representative form of government a people are entitled to have that for which a majority declares. There is nothing to be gained in delay, since the constitution has been adopted, and the sooner we secure a statehood government the better pleased will be the immense majority that voted last Saturday. Statehood was the milk in the coconut in that day's election to a large per cent who voted for the constitution, and the earlier the swaddling clothes of a territory are exchanged for grown-up statehood garments the sooner will satisfaction reign.

There is one thing the constitutional election did last Saturday, if nothing more. It forever took the question of statehood out of the congressional campaign, and the next election every man can cast his vote for whom he pleases without having the statehood proposition dragged into the contest.

The battle on the constitution closed Saturday evening at six o'clock, but the truce only lasted six hours. At twelve o'clock midnight the battle royal began between the aspirants for the two senatorial togas from the New State of New Mexico. The senatorial fight promises to furnish amusement for months to come.

The appeal in the Lincoln county seat injunction case will come up before the territorial supreme court next Monday, 30th inst., at Santa Fe. T. B. Catron will represent the appellees, and John Y. Hewitt will argue the Carrizozo side of the case.

Twelve precincts in the county gave majorities against the constitution Saturday and four gave majorities for. White Oaks, was the banner precinct against, and San Patricio holds the record in its favor. Over 88 per cent of the vote cast at White Oaks was against the constitution, while almost 80 per cent of San Patricio's vote went for the constitution.

Progressive Republican League.

The progressive republicans of the nation organized a league at Washington, the Capital, on the 22nd inst., and promulgated a platform that will hurry the old stand pat organization to its doom. The organization consists of governors, senators and representatives, or insurgent, states, and demands reform of the national government along the lines of the "Oregon Plan." The declarations seem especially good, and are given herewith:

Election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people. Direct primaries for the nomination of all elective officials.

Direct election of delegates to national party conventions.

Amendments to State Constitutions providing for the initiative and referendum and recall.

A thorough-going Corrupt practices act.

Myrtle Lodge K. of P. to Entertain on Washington's Birthday.

The local lodge Knights of Pythias of Capitan are arranging to entertain friends on the 22nd of Feb., Washington's birthday. Myrtle Lodge usually entertains on the 19th of February, the anniversary of the birth on the order, but the 19th this year falls on Sunday, and the lodge, being patriotic as well as loyal to its fraternity, decided to celebrate the anniversary of the Father of his country. Invitations, in large numbers, are being sent out, and the dance will be free. A supper will also be served, but not at the hall—one of the local hotels having charge of that feature.

Considerable moisture has fallen throughout the territory during the week—snow in the north and west and rain in the southern counties. Light rains fell in this town and vicinity several days this week—enough to lay the dust but not enough to satisfy the ambitions of the farmers. However the year is still young, and considerable moisture is expected later.

OLD PIONEER CROSSES DIVIDE.

Patrick Coghlan died at Tularosa last Saturday. All old-timers in this section were personally acquainted with the deceased, and in his death recognize the passing of a character that the southwest will never again see. The following from the El Paso Times is an apt portrayal of the old man's character:

Early yesterday morning, after reaching the advanced age of 89 years, Patrick Coghlan of Tularosa, N. M., died of old age at his residence in that community. The remains were brought to El Paso last evening and the funeral will be held this morning from the Catholic church on Myrtle avenue at 8 o'clock. Interment will be made in the Catholic cemetery at Concordia beside his wife, who was buried there in 1902.

Patrick Coghlan, or "Pat," as he was better known in this section, was one of the real pioneers. He drifted into New Mexico in 1876 in connection with his service in the United States army, and remained in the country around Fort Stanton from that time. He was an athlete in every sense of the word, 6 feet 1 inch in height, and built in proportion, and in his old age used often to sit out under the trees in Tularosa and tell stories of his youthful prowess.

Born in Ireland, he immigrated to the United States when about 25 years of age, and soon after enlisted in the United States army, with which he came west.

When a boy and young man in the old country, he was a runner of such parts that it is said he was never beaten in a race, although he ran many of them in England, Ireland and the United States.

During his service on the frontier in the army, and after leaving the service, he was engaged in many Indian fights.

At one time he was reputed very wealthy, but of late years misfortune overtook him and he lost nearly all.

Services were held over the body in Tularosa yesterday and the little church in the town was crowded with old timers who knew him in the early days, and with many younger residents who had learned to know and admire the simple-hearted old Irishman.

Back from the Engle Dam.

Ervin Gray, Joe D. Adams and Ben. F. Goff returned Tuesday evening from an overland trip to the Engle dam. The preliminary work of excavating has been under way for several weeks. About two hundred men, mostly from Mexico, are employed on the project, and the indications are that the force will be doubled within thirty days. They were not favorably impressed, however, with the conditions existing there, and believe it is a good place for labor to keep away from, for some time at least. The dam site, for a radius of one and a half miles, is patrolled by watchmen, who warn all strange outfits to "keep off the grass," compelling them to cross the Rio Grande to camp. No one, except those actually employed, are allowed inside the limits of the site.

The town of Cutter, twelve miles distant, is reported trying to boom, and preparations are being made to hold a big picnic there soon, to entertain an excursion party from El Paso. The principal buildings there at present are a large hotel and an ore mill.

J. H. Greer, of Nogal, returned this week from a month's visit in Texas.

Two Weddings.

Last week two marriages were solemnized in Lincoln county that were of more than passing interest to the public, as the contracting parties were of the old families of the county. The first was David A. Smith to Miss Imogene Peters, and the second was James Robinson to Miss Mabel Wingfield.

Miss Peters is a daughter of P. G. Peters, a business man of long standing in the county, who has interests at Capitan and Carrizozo; and the groom is an employe of the Bar W company and enjoys a large circle of acquaintances and friends. The newly-wedded pair took a trip to El Paso after the ceremony.

The contracting parties in the second marriage are son and daughter of two old families; Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Robinson, of Bonito, being the parents of the groom, and the bride a daughter of the late C. W. Wingfield and Mrs. Elizabeth Wingfield, of Ruidoso.

To both couples the News extends best wishes, and joins the multitude of friends of all parties in expressing hope for a long, happy, and prosperous journey through life for each of the principals.

Geo. L. Ulrick made a trip up the line Saturday.

Samuel W. Hale was over from Capitan a short time Wednesday.

Rev. F. M. Wadley will preach at the Baptist church Sunday, morning and evening. A cordial invitation to all.

W. A. Conner was down from Ancho several days this week receiving medical treatment for a severe case of la grippe.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. French are in from Ancho. Mrs. French has been quite ill, and came here for medical treatment.

Attorney Gillenwater, of Portales, was in town yesterday. Mr. Gillenwater is looking into conditions here with a view to locating.

Rev. Frank M. Wadley visited the home of Dr. R. C. Burton Tuesday, who resides south of town, and spent a delightful day.

Frank Marsh was down from the Jicarillas Saturday to Monday. He reports mining conditions in the celebrated placer camp encouraging.

A. T. Roberts has been out with some cattle buyers this week interviewing our local cattlemen. The buyers are from Trinidad, Colo., and expect to ship out about 300 head.

All is quiet in this section except the elements. The bloodless constitution campaign ended Saturday night, and antis and pros have buried their differences.

Grandma Simmes is quite ill this week from a severe cold. Her age and delicate condition make the attack worse on her than those of average health.

Many in this community are suffering from colds and a worse companion—la grippe. The air seems full of microbes of infection and few are immune from attacks of these kindred maladies.

G. Friz, a representative of the El Paso Herald, was in town a short time yesterday. Mr. Friz was returning from a trip through Kansas, Oklahoma and eastern New Mexico points, reached by his paper.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spence returned Wednesday from a visit to the old home in Iowa. Mr. Spence says the people of Iowa are quite prosperous, but from complaints he heard they don't seem to realize it.

The registered vote of the county in the recent election was 1940, and a little over 57 per cent of number voted—1111. Many other counties cast a much larger per cent, the average throughout the territory being about 70 per cent of the registration.

CARRIZOZO NEWS

CARRIZOZO - NEW MEXICO

The race for wealth ends at the cemetery.

A clean flue may save the house from burning down.

The earth remains safer than either the sea or the sky.

The consumer hopes the ice crop, too, will be a bumper.

Nearly every gift that is made has some sort of a string tied to it.

Developing the aeroplane is one thing and reckless tomfoolery is another.

Just think! Angels' food cake is made in New York of "rots" and "spots."

The aeroplane is becoming a dangerous rival of the automobile in the toll of deaths.

Things go by contraries. When a man is on his "uppers" he is really down in the depths.

When sold merely by weight, diamonds are still a little more valuable than breakfast bacon.

An airship that will break down without falling is one of the crying necessities of the age.

The New York milliner who built an aeroplane doubtless utilized some of the models in the shop.

The hobble skirt has gone out of fashion even in Paris, and it will soon be marked off the list everywhere.

Miladi says a man's clothes always seem to fit him real loose after his wife's relatives have looked him over.

An Iowa man paid $105 the other day for ten ears of corn. Yet there are people who risk their lives hunting for gold.

The least that can be said of that rotten egg industry declared to exist in New York is that it will be in bad odor with the public.

They are building liners so big the globe trotters will expect to find on them golf courses, porte cocheres and outdoor sleeping porches.

A prominent New York college has been invaded by infant paralysis. The doings of the average student make this invasion entirely credible.

Fifty-six Indiana counties have lost in population since the 1900 census. As soon as people make a fortune in literature, they move out of Indiana.

Hereupon the enthusiastic lover of horses climbs into his automobile, orders the chauffeur to "hit 'er up," and is whisked away to the horse show.

A New York woman is enraged because her son wants to marry an actress. She might as well cheer up. He'll be back home again in a little while.

Marriage may be a lottery, but the proposal of a woman in the west to raffle herself off for a dollar a chance is emphasizing the fact a little too strongly.

"Hangar," the French word which is used in connection with flying machines, means merely shed—a place in which an aeroplane may be kept when it is not in use. Shed is short, but it will not be as hard to learn to say hangar as it was to get chauffeur to roll correctly from the tongue.

AUTOMATIC SIGNAL FOR CAR

Operated by Controller Handle Illuminates Sign as Warning to Street Car Passengers.

August May has invented an automatic danger signal for street car passengers, which, it is believed, will be the means of averting accidents. A small "housed" circuit closer, as shown at 13 in the drawing, is arranged on top of the controller box of an electric car, and in the path of movement of the controller handle, says the New Orleans Times-Democrat. This circuit closer, acting in combination with the controller handle, operates to illumine two sets of advertisements, which may be located anywhere inside or outside the car, but which are preferably located on the upper and lower plane of the now unoccupied car roof.

When the controller handle is in the "current-on" position and the car is in motion, one set of advertisements is illumined. When the car stops to put off passengers and the controller handle is in the "current-off" position the first set of advertisements is darkened and the second set illumined, and vice versa. The first set of ads. may be on the lower roof plane and the second set on the upper roof plane, or wherever desired. With the second sets of ads., the car being stopped, a danger signal may operate on the rear platform, to warn passengers alighting from the car that another car may be passing on an adjacent track. By a proper contrast of colors the ads. may be operated day and night. The danger signal may be used or not, as desired. The sign structure may be as desired, consistent with standardizing and attractiveness.

SAFETY LOCK ON ELEVATORS

Object of Device is to Prevent Accidents Caused by Careless or Intoxicated Persons.

The lock here illustrated and invented by L. E. Michael of Spokane, Wash., is adapted particularly for use on elevators, says Scientific American. It is electrically controlled, and comprises a pair of magnets, one of which controls the latch, while the other operates the dead-lock. The push button for energizing the magnet is located on the elevator and is under control of the elevator.

GOOD ELECTRIC LAMP REACH

Great Convenience of Home-Made Affair That is Inexpensive—How to Make One.

Every electrician who has to care for lamps in fixtures and chandeliers that are out of reach will appreciate this home made lamp reach, writes O. O. Brooker in Popular Electricity. Two pieces of heavy clock spring, a piece of one-eighth-inch gas pipe, two hollow metal balls which may be had at almost any fixture house, being made from two small ceiling canopies, a piece of heavy iron wire and some stout fish cord are needed to make it. Bend the clock spring as shown in the sketch. The iron wire need not be used if the gas pipe is extended up as shown in the dotted lines, as the string may be connected directly to the clock spring if the end of the pipe is made smooth so as not to wear the cord. Pulling the string draws the two springs together, grasping the lamp, the tension being relieved when the string is released. Wooden handles of various lengths may be provided for attachment to the gas pipe. Rubber may be glued to the edges of the metal cups if difficulty is experienced from breakage of lamps.

TALK THROUGH A TELEPHONE

Strained, High-Pitched Voice Absolutely Not Needed in Carrying on Conversation Over Wire.

Most men—and women—use more nervous force in speaking through the telephone than would be needed to keep them strong and healthy for years.

Nature knows no strain. True science knows no strain. Therefore, a strained, high-pitched voice does not carry over the telephone wire as well as a low one, writes Annie Payson Call, in Nerves and Common Sense.

Impatience, rudeness, indecision and diffidence blur communication by telephone even more than they do when one is face to face with the person talking.

It is as if the wire itself resented these inhuman phases of humanity and spit back at the person who insulted it by trying to transmit over it such unintelligent bosh.

To a demanding woman, who is strained and tired herself, a wait of 10 seconds seems 10 minutes. I have heard such a woman ring the telephone bell almost without ceasing for 15 minutes. I could hear her strain and anger reflected in the ringing of the bell. When finally she "got her party" the strain in her high-pitched voice made it impossible for her to be clearly understood. Then she got angry again because "central" had not "given her a better connection," and finally came away from the telephone nearly in a state of nervous collapse, and insisted that the telephone would finally end her life. I do not think that she once suspected that the whole state of fatigue which had almost brought an illness upon her was absolutely and entirely her own fault.

CLAIMS TO BE SQUARE MAN

Big Man With Good-Natured Face Submits Reasons Why—BUILT That Way.

"I don't want to blow my own horn," said the big man with the good-natured face, "but I think I come under the head of square men."

"Did you find a lost purse and restore it to some millionaire?" was asked.

"A little better than that, I think. Ten days before the state election a man came to me and asked: 'John, how do you think things are going to go?'"

"All my way," I replied. "Will it be a landslide?"

"Sure." "But I'm told that it will go the other way."

"Don't you believe it. I'm seeing the signs in the sky. Bet my way. But even up. But all you've got. You'll be a sure winner."

"And he took your advice, did he?" "He did. Went right off and made a bet within an hour."

"And about the landslide?" "It landed the other way. Yes, my party got buried ten feet deep."

"But where did the square deal come in?" "Oh, I saw him afar off on the street next day and ran to him and handed him 50 cents."

"But—but—" "He'd bet that and lost. It was his all. I restored it to him. Square deal, and he is a happy man. No compliments, gentlemen: I am built that way!"

WONDERED WHY.

Found the Answer Was "Coffee."

Many pale, sickly persons wonder for years why they have to suffer so, and eventually discover that the drug—caffeine—in coffee is the main cause of the trouble.

"I was always very fond of coffee and drank it every day. I never had much flesh and often wondered why I was always so pale, thin and weak."

"About five years ago my health completely broke down and I was confined to my bed. My stomach was in such condition that I could hardly take sufficient nourishment to sustain life."

"During this time I was drinking coffee, didn't think I could do without it."

"After awhile I came to the conclusion that coffee was hurting me, and decided to give it up and try Postum. I didn't like the taste of it at first, but when it was made right—billed until dark and rich—I soon became fond of it."

"In one week I began to feel better. I could eat more and sleep better. My sick headaches were less frequent, and within five months I looked and felt like a new being, headache spells entirely gone."

"My health continued to improve and today I am well and strong, weigh 125 pounds. I attribute my present health to the life-giving qualities of Postum."

BUYING FAMILY MEAT

MARKET CONDITIONS SHOULD BE CAREFULLY STUDIED.

No Matter What Cut is Selected It Can Not Be Utilized to Best Advantage Unless It is Well Cooked.

The choice of meat cuts should correspond to the needs of the family and the preferences of its members. Careful consideration of market conditions is always useful not only to make sure that the meat is handled and marketed in a sanitary way but also to take advantage of any favorable change in price which may be due, for instance, to a large local supply of some particular kind or cut of meat. In towns where there is opportunity for choice, it may sometimes be found more satisfactory not to give all the family trade to one butcher; by going to various markets before buying the housekeeper is in a better position to hear of variations in prices and so be in a position to get the best values. Ordering by telephone or from the butcher's boy at the door may be less economical than going to market in person as the range of choice and prices is of course more obvious when the purchaser sees the goods and has a chance to observe market conditions. Each housekeeper must decide for herself whether or not the greater convenience compensates for the smaller range of choice which such ordering from description entails. No matter what the cut, whether expensive or cheap, it can not be utilized to the best advantage unless it is well cooked. Poorly prepared meat dishes are almost inevitably wasted at the table. As an illustration of the losses arising through unwise selection and poor cooking may be mentioned facts observed in dietary studies carried on by the experiment stations. In many families where the income was fairly good the table and other conditions were far from satisfactory. In such cases the marketing was quite commonly done by a child or someone without knowledge or experience. In a particular instance the selection was expensive steak, which later was so badly cooked that it was hardly possible to eat it. A cheaper cut well cooked would have been much more satisfactory as well as more economical.

There is sometimes an advantage in using canned meat and meat products, and, if they are of good quality, such products are wholesome and palatable.

Ironing Table Linen.

It is said that an experienced laundress never sprinkles her table linen. She dries it thoroughly in the air, then dips it into boiling water and puts it through the wringer. Each article is then folded in a dry cloth as smoothly as possible and allowed to remain there for a couple of hours or so. Irons must be hot, but not scorching, because the linen must be ironed perfectly dry. Herein lies the secret of table linen that is guiltless of starch.

Shirt Waist Ironing.

It is difficult to iron between the buttons on the shirt waist without breaking them loose or leaving a puckered edge. A good plan is to have a very thick, narrow pad of flannel or cotton flannel to slip under the right side for the buttons to stick into while you iron the wrong side, then run the iron once around the outside edge on the right side.

Fried Potatoes and Celery.

To six raw potatoes sliced in the usual manner add a medium sliced onion and three stalks of celery sliced rather fine. Salt and fry in hot olive oil, or ham or bacon fat. (I use the outside stalks of celery, reserving the centers for table use.) The celery gives the fried potatoes a delicious flavor, and all those who have tasted this recipe say it is fine.

FIGHTING THE WHITE PLAGUE

Number of State Institutions is Double During the Past Two Years.

Sixteen state sanatoria, 28 county hospitals and 21 municipal hospitals for tuberculosis have been erected and provided for since January 1, 1909, says a recent bulletin of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

Within the last two years the number of state institutions for tuberculosis has doubled, and the number of county and municipal institutions has increased from about 30 to 80. The expenditures of public money for the treatment of tuberculosis also has more than doubled. Not less than $3,000,000 of state money was appropriated for tuberculosis institutions in 1909, when 43 legislatures met, and over $600,000 in 1910, when only 11 legislatures were in session. The appropriations of counties and cities for tuberculosis hospitals and sanatoria in the last two years will aggregate fully $2,500,000, bringing the total of official appropriations for tuberculosis hospitals up to over $6,000,000 in the past two years.

In spite, however, of this good showing, the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis states that not one-tenth of the public provision for tuberculosis that is needed has been made. More than 250,000 tuberculosis patients are constantly without proper institutional treatment.

A BOOK FOR SPORTSMEN.

Every one interested in hunting should write for copy of 1910 Game Laws which contains 120 pages telling where the various kinds of game abound, when the seasons open and close, and what laws govern the hunting and game in each state. This book can be had free by writing to M. H. Hartley Co., 299 Broadway, New York, merely by mentioning the name of this paper.

Without Malice.

"What have you done?" exclaimed Mrs. Cumrox, as she flourished a letter at him.

"Has that anything to do with the correspondence I tried to help you with?"

"It has. It's an indignant protest. I told you to address that distinguished pianist as 'Herr Professor.'"

"And I did so."

"Yes. But you wrote it 'Hair Professor!'"

Cured.

"Your son used to be so round-shouldered. How did you get him cured of it? He seems to be so straight now."

"He has become an aviation enthusiast, and spends most of his time watching the bird-men."

His Talent.

"Is he a great artist?"

"No."

"But he gets good prices for his stuff."

"Yes. He's a great salesman."

Its Office.

"This cork is very tight in your brandy bottle. I can't budge it."

"Yes, that's the nature of cork. It was put there to keep the bottle's spirits from going down."

Fresh Air in Winter

In winter, it is hard to get fresh air in certain rooms. Some rooms in a house are usually colder than others, and if you open the windows it is hard again to heat the room properly.

If you keep the windows closed you don't get fresh air; if you keep them open you cannot quickly reheat the room. The

PERFECTION
OIL HEATER

Absolutely smokeless and odorless

solves the difficulty. You can leave the windows in a room open all day in winter, and when you close them apply a match to a Perfection Oil Heater and heat the room to any temperature you desire in a few minutes.

The Perfection Oil Heater is finished in Japan or nickel. It burns for nine hours. It has a cool handle and a damper top. It has an automatic-locking flame spreader, which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so that the wick can be quickly cleaned. An indicator always shows amount of oil in the font.

The filler-cap does not need to be screwed down. It is put in like a cork in a bottle, and is attached to the font by a chain.

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, because of a new device in construction, and consequently, it can always be easily unscrewed in an instant for reworking. The Perfection Oil Heater is strong, durable, well made, built for service, yet light and ornamental.

Lincoln Locals.

(Crowded out last week.)

Gean Louise Watson made her appearance at the home at Dr. and Mrs. T. W. Watson on the morning of the 11th. inst., the stork calling at 3 a. m. Both mother and baby are getting along fine.

Mrs. Lujan, mother of justice of the peace Ramon Lujan, died last week at the home of her son several miles above Lincoln. The immediate cause of her death was old age.

Fred Burleson is confined to his bed at the home of his parents above Lincoln with a severe cold. Fred will be out in a few days again.

Probate Clerk J. G. Riggle and family spent last Sunday with friends at Capitan.

The county commissioners met last Monday in adjourned session for the purpose of canvassing the vote for justice of the peace and constable, cast at the election held on the 9th. inst.

John M. Brown, the government irrigation statistician, came back last Sunday and left Monday morning for other parts of the territory.

Several speakers from Alamo-gordo are busily engaged on the Upper Ruidoso expounding the provisions of New Mexico's constitution and soliciting the support of the people of that section.

L. W. Galles, a representative of the Occidental Fire Insurance Co. is here this week in the interest of his company.

Mr. Henry Corn of Richardson was in the city on election day to cast his ballot.

Mrs. Jose Gutierrez, who resided several miles above Lincoln died last week leaving a husband and several children.

Mr. Eugene C. Dow, and Miss Jennie Peppin, two of Lincoln's prominent young people, were quietly married at the home of the bride by Justice of the Peace Ramon Lujan, last Sunday. All their friends join in wishing them a most pleasant journey through life.

Geo. Sisneros of Carrizozo came in last Monday on a visit with relatives and friends.

Mrs. J. G. Riggle, Free and Gladys are all confined to their home with an attack of La Grippe.

Jicarilla Happenings.

(Received last week too late for publication.)

Beautiful, spring-like weather.

Ted Reasoner came out Saturday from White Oaks.

Robert and Bivian Brookin were out from White Oaks Sunday.

We learn that Mr. McBrayer will apply for the post office, left vacant by Mr. Thorp's death.

W. A. Franklin returned to Chicago Friday. He expects to return in the spring and start the "Revenue" to "humming."

There are people here from Colorado, inspecting the mineral of this camp. We do not know their intentions or the result of their work.

T. W. Stoneroad is hauling brick from Ancho for parties here, for the erection of an office building near the big well in Ancho canyon.

There is preparation being made for putting in a long sluice line for the purpose of getting water to the placer field in Rico canyon, by parties from Colorado. They will lease the big well.

A. N. Price was out Sunday from White Oaks; Messrs. Deel and Stewart were also here from Ancho, all attending the funeral of George Thorp.

In the election here for justice C. L. Kennedy and O. G. Handy, both republicans, were the candidates. Kennedy was the favorite with the native element and was elected. Mr. Handy's health is very bad and he was unable to do active work. His friends, mostly democrats and socialists, tried to elect him. We are sure there could not have been a more able or less prejudiced man for the office.

Sunday, the 15th, all that remained of George Thorp was consigned to rest in the cemetery of this place. May he rest in peace and tranquility, freed from the sorrows of suffering which haunted him to the grave. To the absent mother we offer our sympathy, and hope that comfort may be hers in the realization that he is free from earthly pain.

NOTICE OF SALE OF MORTGAGED PROPERTY.

WHEREAS, on the 9th day of December, 1909, L. J. Glenn and Jessie G. Glenn, of Lincoln county, Territory of New Mexico, did make, execute and deliver to Dr. George C. Bryan, of Otero county, New Mexico, a certain mortgage upon the following described real estate, to-wit: Lot No. One (1) in Block No. Eleven (11) in the town of Corona, in Lincoln county, New Mexico territory, together with all and singular the lands, tenements and appurtenances thereunto belonging, said mortgage being given to the said Dr. George C. Bryan, to secure the payment of one certain promissory note for the sum and at the time following, to-wit:

One note for $110.00 due December 9th, 1910, together with eight (8) per cent interest per annum thereon from maturity until paid, and ten per cent on the amount of this note as attorney's fees.

Whereas, default has been made by the said L. J. Glenn and Jessie G. Glenn in the payment of said promissory note and the interest thereon and in the performance of the stipulations and covenants contained in said mortgage, and there is now due and unpaid upon said note the sum of $110.00 as principal, and the further sum of $11.00 as attorney's fee; and

Whereas, the said Dr. George C. Bryan, who is the holder and legal owner of said note, has by reason of said default, declared the conditions of said mortgage broken, and has, as provided by the terms of said mortgage, seized and taken possession of the above described property mortgaged as aforesaid to secure said indebtedness.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that upon the fourth day of February, 1911, at the mortgaged premises in the town of Corona, in said county, between the hours of ten o'clock a. m. and four o'clock p. m. of said day, said mortgagee will sell the said above described property, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy said indebtedness and costs and accruing costs, at public auction to the highest bidder for cash in hand.

Witness my hand this 23rd day of December, 1910.

DR. GEORGE C. BRYAN, Mortgagee.
GEO. SPENCE, Agent and Attorney for Mortgagee.
