GOOD WORK FOR NEW MEXICO

Bursum, Prince, Morrison and Others in Thick of Fight

PROHIBITION FOR NEW MEXICO

Effort to Include Clause in Enabling Act—Hopkins Re-appointed Postmaster.

Special to The New Mexican.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18.—The senate committee on territories is in session now. Ex-Governor L. Bradford Prince, chairman of the Santa Fe committee, addressed the committee on behalf of New Mexico's claims in general and for the relief of Santa Fe county specifically and made a decided impression on the senators. He was followed by Judge N. B. Laughlin, who is a close friend of Senator Hughes of Colorado, a member of the committee, and by Levi A. Hughes, who confined himself to the Santa Fe county matter. Bird Coler of New York explained what the bonds cost, what they sold for and are now selling for, and who now holds them, declaring that most of them are owned in New England. Attorney Charles A. Spiess also spoke at length on behalf of the bond holders and presented an exhaustive brief on the entire matter of the railroad aid bond issues.

Arizona Bosters.
Delegate Ralph Cameron, Attorney R. E. Morrison and Lorenzo Hubbell led the fight for Arizona before the committee. It is believed that the bill will be reported to the Senate in a few days. The Anti-Saloon League is trying very hard to get a prohibition clause into the enabling act.

Hopkins Re-appointed Postmaster.
Upon recommendation of Delegate Andrews and the Republican organization, R. W. Hopkins was for the fourth time re-appointed postmaster of Albuquerque.

Bursum Obtains Concessions.
Chairman H. O. Bursum of the territorial Republican central committee, obtained from the department of the interior and the forest bureau important concessions for the mining industry in the Mogollon and other districts within the Gila national forest. The attorney general of the United States has appointed R. F. Burges of El Paso, and H. B. Holl of Las Cruces, as special assistants in the condemnation proceedings for the Elephant Butte dam.

The appointment was made upon suggestion of the El Paso office of the El Paso Water Users' Association, and was brought about by the efforts of Congressman W. R. Smith.

CONGER MAKES OUT A GOOD CASE OF GRAFT.

Corruption in Empire State Such as Would Never Be Dreamt of in New Mexico.

Albany, Feb. 18.—The legislative bribery scandal, so far as the bridge company is concerned, was definitely put up to the Republican party today at the close of Senator Benn Conger's cross examination. Conger made it clear that the contribution he made to the Republican campaign fund in 1902 was for the purpose of buying protection for his bridge interests. Furthermore, he declared, the bridge company made no contribution to the Democratic state campaign fund. Conger voiced a new charge against Senator Allds when he accused him of trying to "hold up" the bridge company again in 1907, when the present highway law was being drafted by a committee of which Allds was chairman. Several senators cross-examined Conger in an attempt to lessen the damaging effect of his recent allegation against Speaker Nixon and Assemblyman Burnett, but Conger stuck to his charges.

SENATOR BEN TILLMAN SINKING TO DEATH.

His Family Have Given Up Hope for His Recovery—Suffers From Creeping Paralysis.

Washington, Feb. 18.—The condition of Senator Ben Tillman, who was taken ill on the Capitol steps on Wednesday afternoon is alarming. He is unconscious and those close to the family have lost hope for his recovery. It is said that the senator is suffering from progressive paralysis the result of a hardening of the arteries.

BODIES OF MINERS WERE MUMMIFIED.

Cherry, Ill., Feb. 18.—Eleven bodies of miners were recovered from the St. Paul coal mine today. To the amazement of the veteran mine inspectors, the bodies entombed since November 13, when brought to the surface, were found to be almost perfectly mummified.

LAY DYING IN ZERO TEMPERATURE

For Three Hours Sheriff Prevented Any One to Come Near

ANOTHER BLOODY RIOT AT CAIRO

Leader of Mob Is Killed, Two Innocent By-Standers Wounded.

Cairo, Ill., Feb. 18. The militia this morning patrolled the sidewalk in front of the Alexander county court house, where shortly before one this morning, Alexander Halliday, leader of a mob in an attack on the jail, was shot to death by deputy sheriffs and where four others, two of them not members of the mob, were wounded. Halliday, son of a former mayor, lay for three hours dying beside the court house steps in a temperature a few degrees above zero. During that entire time Sheriff Nellis, acting on orders received by telephone from Governor Deneen, refused to permit anyone to remove the wounded man or to allow a physician to enter the enclosure. Nellis says that the governor advised him to wait until the military came and to take no chances of a rise which might result in the renewal of the mob's attack. The wounded are Sam Weesinger, a former policeman; John Maloney, brother-in-law of Mrs. Rose Maloney, whose purse was snatched by one of the negro prisoners sought by the mob; Morton Crehan, and George B. Walker, Associated Press correspondent. Eight of the twelve deputy sheriffs whose shots scattered the mob and killed Halliday, are negroes, and this fact has intensified the feeling. The mob attack on the jail was the outgrowth of a series of petty crimes by negroes, particularly purse snatchings and annoyances to women. John Pratt, a negro was arrested, and confessed that he had grabbed Mrs. Maloney's purse. He also confessed to other robberies and implicated Lincoln Wilson. Another negro, named Wilson also was arrested. Last evening the sheriff heard of mob tactics and notified Governor Deneen, at Springfield, who immediately ordered the local militiamen to guard the jail. The sheriff also called on Mayor Parsons for help, but none of the local police appeared at the jail.

About midnight the mob, which had been gathering for hours rushed toward the darkened jail. "Stand back or I'll fire on you," shouted the sheriff. The deputies and sheriff fired over the heads of the mob and as the sounds died away pistol shots began popping from the mob and bullets fell around the sheriff, one grazing his hand. Then came a second volley. Halliday, in advance of the mob fell, and others, including the wounded, fell back hurriedly. The mob spirit has never died in Cairo since the murder of Miss Pelly last November by a negro which was followed by the lynching of a negro and a white man.

Looks Like Murder.
Cairo, Feb. 18.—Coroner McManus this morning began an investigation of the death of Halliday. Arrests are threatened if he finds, as physicians assert, Halliday died from the loss of blood and exposure. The physicians say that Halliday's wounds were not necessary mortal and life probably could have been saved if he had been taken from the court house grounds immediately after the shot.

FROM THE DAKOTAS TO CENTRAL AMERICA.
Gigantic Railroad Proposition That is at Present Engaging Attention of Engineers.

San Antonio, Texas, Feb. 18.—Two engineering crews are in the field locating the proposed American Central railroad which is to extend from the Dakotas to the Gulf of Mexico. One of the crews is surveying the line between Miami and Vernon, while the other is looking over the territory between Texola, Mangum and Olathe, Oklahoma. George W. Angle, chief engineer of the Central Construction Company, is authority for the statement that the line from Vernon, via Brownwood, San Saba and Llano, to San Antonio will be surveyed early this summer and that actual construction work on this 160 mile stretch will begin in a very short time.

EARTHQUAKE SHAKES TOWNS OF CRETE.

Minaret Crashes Through Dome of Morgue at Canea—Six Buried in Ruins at Varpetro.

Canea, Crete, Feb. 18.—A violent earthquake was experienced here at 6:30 to 8 o'clock this morning. In this city a number of buildings were damaged and the minaret of the mosque crushed through the dome. In the village of Varpetro a house collapsed burying six people in the ruins.

GLAVIS HAS WORST OF IT

Another Damaging Admission Drawn From Him by Ballinger's Counsel

GIVES MERE OPINION EVIDENCE

Like All Megalomaniacs He Jumped to Conclusions From Faulty Premises.

Washington, Feb. 18.—Continuing his cross examination of Louis Glavis at the Ballinger-Pinchot inquiry today the counsel for Secretary Ballinger, drew from the witness the fact that up to the time Mr. Ballinger went out of office as land commissioner in March, 1908, there had been no evidence of fraud in the Alaska coal cases presented to the department. The Cunningham "Journal" which contained evidence of an alleged agreement had not been found at that time. However, the witness declared that Mr. Ballinger in his opinion had not acted as a man would if the property had been his own instead of the government's.

Mere Hearsay Evidence.

Washington, Feb. 18.—As to Mr. Ballinger's participation in the Wilson Coal Company case, Mr. Glavis admitted that he had no first hand knowledge and had testified merely from hearsay.

Mr. Vertrees questioned the witness more closely than ever today, announcing that he was endeavoring to discover the motive of the witness as to whether it was innocent or malicious. Attorney Brandeis rather heatedly replied that Glavis had no other motive than to tell the truth.

Insurgents Win Out.

Washington, Feb. 18.—Insurgent members of the House were elated over a report that President Taft had overruled Postmaster General Hitchcock again in the suspension of an appointment of a postmaster recommended by an insurgent representative.

The story is that after a spirited controversy lasting some weeks the President sent to the Senate today the nomination of George C. True as postmaster at Oskaloosa, Ia., who had been recommended by Representative Kendall, but disapproved by the postmaster general. It is reported that Kendall protested to the White House that Hitchcock was discriminating against him, and that after two calls the President told Hitchcock he would appoint True.

Hopkins Gets Plum.

Washington, Feb. 18.—The President today nominated Robert W. Hopkins to be postmaster at Albuquerque. Mr. Hopkins has already served three terms. The salary is $3,000 a year.

SEA LEVEL RAILROAD TO SOUTHERN MEXICO.

Negotiations Pending By Which the St. Louis, Brownsville Line Will Be Extended.

San Antonio, Texas, Feb. 18.—Beyond stating that his trip had been successful, A. T. Perkins, vice-president and general manager of the St. Louis, Brownsville and Mexico railroad, would not commit himself when asked whether his trip to Mexico would result in the extension of his system to Tampico and other points in the Mexican republic.

It has been rumored for some time that the St. Louis, Brownsville and Mexico interests were anxious to extend their line down the east coast of the Gulf. For some time the Mexican press has spoken of a sea-level route from Mexico City to the United States and has mentioned Mr. Perkins prominently in this connection. His road has been the principal factor in the negotiations between Mexico and the United States for an international bridge across the Rio Grande at Brownsville.

CLOVIS WILL HAVE GOOD BASEBALL TEAM.

Albuquerque, N. M., Feb. 18.—The Clovis baseball club will be a factor in Brush League baseball this season, and enough firstclass ball players having already been signed up to form the nucleus of a first class aggregation. H. H. Herley, an enthusiastic ball fan, has been elected manager of the team and is communicating with various clubs throughout the Territory in an effort to arrange a schedule that will keep the club busy every Sunday from April to October. Manager Dan Padilla, of the Albuquerque Grays has received a letter from Mr. Herley asking for games with the locals and it is quite likely that articles will be signed up for a series of exhibitions. It is planned to have the Clovis team composed mostly of Santa Fe employees and the cooperation of the Santa Fe will be asked to transfer ball players from different parts of the system to play on the aggregation.

KERMIT BRAVED NILE CROCODILES

Tried to Recover Body of Native Who had Drowned in the Murky Stream

THE FINAL WEEK'S SHOOTING

The Former President Will Devote His Time to Preparing Lectures.

Gondokoro, Upper Nile, Feb. 18.—Colonel Roosevelt, Kermit Roosevelt and Edmund Heller, the zoologist, left on a steamer today for the final week's shooting along the river banks. The party will leave here about February 26, and from then on, Colonel Roosevelt will devote himself to the preparation of the lectures he is to deliver on his arrival in Europe.

Dives Into Crocodile Infested River.

Kermit Roosevelt and Mr. Loring distinguished themselves today. A native fell into the river near the steamer and was drowned. Kermit and Mr. Loring learned of the accident and both repeatedly dove into the crocodile infested river in an effort to recover the body, but without success.

BURIED WIFE HALF AN HOUR AFTER DEATH.

In Consequence, Juan Reyes Valencia, San Felipe Pueblo Indian is in Jail Charged With Murder.

Albuquerque, N. M., Feb. 18.—Juan Reyes Valencia, a San Felipe Indian, is in jail at Bernalillo, charged with the murder of his wife, Maria Garcia Valencia, as the result of a preliminary hearing held several days ago before Justice of the Peace Juan A. Chavez, at Algodones. Valencia's wife died at the village of San Felipe, several miles north of Algodones, on February 1, under circumstances which caused much comment among the Indians. Apparently in perfect health, the woman died very suddenly and was buried by Valencia a half hour after death. It was nearly ten days before the suspicious held by the San Felipe regarding the woman's sudden death were communicated to the authorities and it was then necessary to take the matter up with the government Indian officials before permission could be secured by the civil authorities to disinter the remains and perform an autopsy in an effort to determine the cause of death. District Attorney G. S. Klock finally made arrangements for an autopsy, which was performed by two government physicians, Dr. Geck, of Albuquerque, and Dr. Dillon, of Laguna. The examination discovered the fact that the woman's neck had been broken and that this was the sole cause of death, no other marks of violence or evidences of illness being found. Valencia was immediately arrested charged with murder and following a preliminary hearing, in which the territory was represented by Mr. Klock. The principal witness for the territory was Valencia's step-daughter, a small child of the dead woman, who testified that Valencia and her mother became involved in an argument and that Valencia had struck the woman on the neck either with his first or some instrument and that she sank to the floor and never regained consciousness. Justice of the Peace Chavez bound Valencia over to await the actions of the grand jury in the sum of $5,000. In default of the bail Valencia was taken to the Bernalillo jail, where he will probably remain until his case is acted upon by the grand jury.

THE DAILY ROUND UP.

BILLY'S FUTURE.

My father an' my mother have
Ben thinkin' lots 'bout me;
They say they can't decide jist what
I some day ought to be.
I wish they'd quit a-tryin' fer
My plans is all laid down;
When I'm sixteen I'm goin' to be
A funny circus clown.

My father thinks that I would make
A doctor easy 'nough.
My mother says a lawyer like
Her Pa 'ud be the stuff;
'Course them two jobs 'ud be all right
Fer common kids, but gee!
They wouldn't show the talents uv
A feller smart as me.

My sister chooses business an'
My aunt sez, "engineer."
But to all them suggestions I Say nothin' an' look queer.
When I'm sixteen they're bound to be
The proudest folks in town,
Fer then you know I'm goin' to be
A funny circus clown.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable.

Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment.
Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause.
Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet. That tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablet—coaxes blood pressure away from pain centers.
Its effect is charming, pleasantly delightful. Gently though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure.
If it's painful periods with women, same cause.
If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.

Brise your finger, and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is—always. It's simply Common Sense.

We sell at 25 cents, and cheerfully recommend

Postoffice Names Changed—Postmaster Grimshaw has received word that Uncle Sam has changed the name of the postoffice Lebola, in Rio Arriba county to "Cebollo." The change went into effect February 10.
Taylor, in Colfax county, has been changed to Taylor Springs but this will not go into effect until April 1.
Thomas D. R. Woods has been commissioned postmaster at Langton which has been moved two and a half miles northeast of its former location. The postoffice at Cuates, Union county, has been moved four and a half miles northwest.

Colder Elsewhere—Santa Fe suffered with the cold weather but it was colder elsewhere during this snap.
The temperature this morning at 6 o'clock was 9 degrees above zero and the maximum reached yesterday was 19 degrees. The minimum was below
3 with a humidity of 64 which made the cold disagreeable. The lowest temperature during last night was 8 degrees above zero. The weather elsewhere was frightfully cold. Word was received here this morning that the mercury plunged to 27 degrees below zero at Tres Piedras and that there was three feet of snow there too seems assured. It dropped to 14 below at Roswell, famed for its mild climate, and the total plunge in twelve hours at Roswell was 58 degrees. It it any wonder that people get pneumonia? In Colorado, proverbial for its sunny skies, the mercury dug down 17 notches below 0 point. Even in Albuquerque the silver bulb registered 8 above zero and with the wind that they have down there it is easy to picture the discomfort of Duke City folks. A year ago today was fairly pleasant, the maximum having been 40 and the minimum 22 degrees with 83 per cent of sunshine. A cool north wind blew in the afternoon.

NEW MEXICO'S FINE SCHOOL OF MINES

An Institution Which Is a Paying Investment for the Commonwealth and of Which Every Citizen Has Reasons to Be Proud.

The annual register of the New Mexico School of Mines at Socorro for 1910 is from the press of the New Mexican Printing Company. It is beautifully printed on heavy paper, with an insert view of the main building of the college. The catalogue gives an excellent idea of the great work that the school is doing under the efficient leadership of Prof. Emmet Addis Drake, A. B., A. M., president of the faculty, which includes such strong men as R. V. Smith, L. C. Walker, G. I. Kemmerer, F. P. Paul, B. K. Coghlan, R. I. Kirchman and C. C. Smith, experts and authorities in the subjects that they teach. Anne W. Fitch is the registrar. The school was founded 21 years ago and while handicapped for years for lack of proper financial support yet achieved important results for the mining industry of the territory as well as for the education of mining engineers. The school is ideally located for its ing, Fierro, Silver City, Pinos Altos, work, climatically, geographically and physiographically. With famous mining districts in the immediate vicinity and mills and concentrators within easy reach, the college gives that practical insight into operations with which a mining engineer must familiarize himself.

The New Mexico School of Mines enjoys the natural advantage of being located in the midst of a region peculiarly rich in minerals of nearly all kinds, and is within easy reach of the most varied geological conditions, all of which are within a radius of thirty or forty miles of Socorro. Almost the entire geological column from the Precambrian to the coal beds of the Tertiary is here exposed. The industrial processes connected with mining and metallurgy may be seen admirably illustrated at Magdalena, Kelly, Rosedale, San Pedro, Hillsboro, Deming, Fierro, Silver City, Pinos Altos, Los Cerrillos, Gallup, Carthage and elsewhere within easy reach of the school. These illustrate the most modern methods of mining, milling, ore dressing, concentrating, smelting, liquation, cyaniding, and other metallurgical processes.

A number of mines of various kinds, smelters, irrigating systems, and other engineering works are accessible to the school. Within a few hours' ride by rail are many important mining camps. The longer excursions bring the student to some of the most famous mines in southwestern United States. Some of the longest worked lodes in America are in this region. For more than 30 years they have yielded their wealth to the European and centuries before his advent gave up even greater treasures to the native races.

The history of modern mining schools shows that each becomes most celebrated along the line for which its locality is best known on account of its natural surroundings. Few institutions of learning are more dependent for success upon what may be called the accident of geographical location. It may be truthfully said that no mining school is more fortunately situated so far as natural environment is concerned than that of New Mexico.

Purpose.

The idea to which the New Mexico School of Mines tenaciously holds is the practical directing of young men to take active part in the development of the mineral wealth of the world.

The school is a territorial institution. It was established primarily to promote the development of the mineral resources of New Mexico and to provide facilities for the young men of the territory to secure a practical education in all departments of mining. Naturally, however, the institution's field of usefulness has steadily grown broader. Not only New Mexico but also other parts of the southwest have felt its influence through its graduates.

The board of regents, of which the governor and superintendent of public instruction are ex-officio members, consists of Aniceto C. Abeita, president; C. T. Brown, secretary and treasurer; A. H. Hilton, James G. Fitch and W. A. Fleming Jones, who give much time and thought to the institution with results that are very gratifying. The entrance requirements to the school are being raised yearly and the standing of the graduate is as high as those from any other technical school in the land. The college has the advantage of confining itself and concentrating all its efforts upon the four courses: Mining Engineering, Metallurgical Engineering, Mining Geology and Civil Engineering, and therefore avoids that scattering and lowering of standards that hamper other institutions which seek to cover everything from the classics to the technical and professional branches. The college is especially well equipped with laboratories, apparatus, machinery, owns a mine of its own and has a well selected museum and library. The tuition fees and expenses are nominal and Socorro offers good homes and living at very low cost, so that even the poorest student finds it possible to work his way through the institution. The School of Mines is one of the most valuable institutions maintained by the territory and deserves the most liberal support from the commonwealth.

WRIGHT BROTHERS STILL IMPROVING AEROPLANE.

Working on Muffler That Will Make Its Flight as Silent as That of a Bird at Night.

San Antonio, Texas, Feb. 18.—Speaking of the usefulness of the aeroplane as a military means, Lieutenant V. D. Foulois of the U. S. signal corps, in charge of an aeroplane at Fort Sam Houston, said, that the Wright brothers were now working on a muffler that would effectively deaden the noise now made by the motors used in their machine, and that an instrument was being perfected that would make it possible to receive wireless messages on an aeroplane in flight.

The impression prevails among army officers that improved to this extent the aeroplane will become of great importance. The noise of the motor would make it extremely doubtful that the machine could be used effectively in reconnoitering either by day or night for this reveals its presence when other factors might still keep it hidden. According to Lieutenant Foulois it will be quite possible to send, as well as receive, wireless messages from the aeroplane, it being in this respect the superior of the dirigible balloon, experiments having shown that the electric sparks of the wireless have a tendency to explode the gas in the balloon, a condition that does not exist in the aeroplane.

NOT BRIBERY BUT BLACKMAIL SAYS SENATOR.

Nice Distinctions Too Subtle for the Ordinary Mind Made in New York Graft Investigation.

Albany, Feb. 18.—Senator Alder's attorneys devoted much time at the Senate investigation, to the charges against their client today, by trying to discredit his accuser, Senator Benn Conger, by proving himself a confessed giver of bribes. Conger insisted that the circumstances under which he and his brother Frank distributed $6,000, nine years ago to protect the American Bridge Company did not constitute bribery and declared: "I should call that blackmail." His answer was not allowed to stand on record but it revealed the defense he will make if the proceedings result in an attempt to punish him as well as the man he accuses.

EFFECTIVE METHOD TO KEEP HIS MOUTH SHUT.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 18.—Becoming possessed of an idea that he might make some remark for which he would be sorry later, Vernon E. Bennett, a retired missionary, closed his mouth with safety pins. He had pushed three pins through his lips and snapped them when found by his wife.

At the receiving hospital Bennett would not give any explanation except he thought this was a good method to keep from talking.

A certificate charging him with insanity was filed.

VERIFY IT

The Proof is in Santa Fe Almost at Your Door.

The public statement of a Santa Fe citizen is in itself strong proof for Santa Fe people, but confirmation strengthens the evidence.

Here is a Santa Fe citizen who testified years ago that Doan's Kidney Pills relieved sick kidneys and now states the cure was permanent. Can any sufferer from kidney ills ask better proof? You can investigate. The case is right at home.

Lino Romero, Palace avenue, Santa Fe, N. M., says: "I know that Doan's Kidney Pills fulfill the claims made for them. If I were not confident of this fact, I could never have been induced to give this remedy my endorsement. There was a dull ache in the small of my back that bothered me for a long time and had by spells been the cause of my laying off from work for two or three days. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Stripling, Burrows & Co.'s drug store, brought me entire relief and the few slight attacks of back-ache I have had since then have quickly yielded to this remedy. I will always hold a high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills."

Mr. Romero gave the above testimonial in January, 1907, and when interviewed on June 29, 1909, he said: "I can speak as highly of Doan's Kidney Pills now as when I publicly endorsed them two and a half years ago. This remedy always gives me the desired benefit when I use it."

OFFICIAL PAPER OF SANTA FE COUNTY.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every postoffice in the Territory, and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the Southwest.

EVERY KNOCK IS A BOOST.

This is most convincingly set forth by implication in perusing an address of the editor of the Country Gentleman, which says that irrigation enterprises should be discouraged because under irrigation the farmer can raise "five to twenty times as much" as he can in regions where he must depend upon the rainfall. The Country Gentleman therefore argues that the growth of reclaimed acres will ruin the rain water farmer. The only flaw in this argument is that while the irrigation farm "can" do these things, there are mighty few that "do" them. The El Paso Herald makes the following comment:

"Opponents of irrigation are attempting to stir up animosity against it in regions of the south which fear competition from the irrigated fields of the west. This is a dangerous piece of work and one against which Senator Carter cautioned the people of the west when he made his tour last fall. He declared that the people in certain sections of the south were actually opposing the reclamation work because they said it brought 'the cheap lands of the west' into competition with 'the high priced lands of the south.' That people could be so narrow minded, we of the west were little willing to believe, but an editorial from the Jeffersonian, of Atlanta, Ga., bears out all the senator said and more. Says the Atlanta paper:

"Gilbert M. Tucker is editor of the Country Gentleman, one of the oldest, high class agricultural newspapers in America. Not long ago he made a speech in Macon, Ga., his subject being the 'Menace of the Irrigated Farm.' I wish that this address could be read by every white voter in the United States.

"President Taft is committed to a bond issue of $10,000,000 for the reclamation of arid land; and one of the Montana senators demands the government issue of $31,000,000, in certificates, for that purpose—a system of federal taxation which robs us of $5,000,000 per day is not enough. We must add to this crushing load the expense of furnishing a favored few of the farmers with a never-failing supply of water for their crops. Wouldn't it make a drouth-ruined farmer of Texas, Oklahoma or Kansas feel happy to reflect that he was being taxed to furnish abundant moisture for the crops on the irrigated farm? A proposition more monstrously unjust could not be made.

"If the government keeps on pushing that reclamation work, do you know what it will mean to the average grower of the crops that are made on the non-irrigated farms? Why, it means his ruin. The average farm, which has to depend on the heavens for the rain, cannot compete with the man who can get water whenever he wants it. Those irrigated farms produce from five to twenty times as much as the rain water farm. How on earth are you going to be able to meet the prices of the man whose land yields a dozen times more than yours? You simply cannot do it. You'll be driven out of business. Your land will be worthless. Neither you nor any one else can work it in competition with the irrigated farms. And they propose to get, at your expense, the irrigation which will paralyze you! Get after your two United States senators about it; also your United States representative.

"As an El Paso irrigationist remarks 'of all the arguments that can be raised to justify an injustice, and to feed selfishness, nothing can equal the above.' The idea that because irrigated lands can produce more than unirrigated lands that the United States of America should kill all possibility of irrigating because the acreage thus farmed and irrigated is more productive than the non-irrigated! It shows the smallness of some men's minds. Might as well ask Congress to pass a law that no acre of land within the confines of the United States should be farmed that will produce any more than the poorest acre in the United States.

"America has not only her own people to feed, but she has the world to supply, and indeed, she must cultivate her farms far beyond what is now done to keep up with the demand to any extent.

"Yet we are told that the President should be condemned for doing that which he is bound to do as the representative of 90,000,000 of people. To him they necessarily must be all alike. He helps the south to curb floods and get deep water, yet the south howls at the first attempt to help the west.

"Moreover, the ridiculousness of the argument can be better appreciated when it is understood that this money is being raised by the southwestern and western states concerned, and all the government is doing is to make a temporary loan and collect its money back again, with a just rate of interest.

"Nobody is taxed outside of those interested; it is not a direct government appropriation like those that are given to the people of the south for deepening their harbors, widening their rivers and erecting levees to curb overflows. The west is paying its way, while the south is not, and all that the west asks of the south, north or east, is a fair chance and hands off things that concern nobody but the west."

AN AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

The College Record of the New Mexico College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, just from the press of the New Mexican Printing Company, answers concisely the question "What is an Agricultural College?" The field such institution covers is briefly defined and it convinces the reader that there is not only room for such colleges but that they fill a great want, especially in a commonwealth where industrial education is neglected. But even after each school has its manual training school, the Agricultural College will have its important place in the scheme of general education for the masses, a place that no other institution can fill so well or so completely. In President W. E. Garrison's address on "A Modern Ideal of Culture," printed in the same number, this is set forth in scholarly and convincing manner, and it presents at the same time a coherent argument for manual training in the public schools. Doctor Garrison sums up his conclusions as follows:

"First, we may accept as final the fact that the average boy does quit school at fourteen. In doing so we attempt to turn back the process of evolution and declare that human infancy ends and maturity begins, economically at least, at the age of fourteen. At this age then the boy must begin to 'earn his keep.' He can generally do it, but the chances are that he will never earn a very good keep and that the shortened infancy will mean a stunted maturity. This is the position of the parent who insists that his boy must leave school and 'get a job' when he is fourteen.

"Or, second, we may stand stiffly for a prolonged period of general culture, make a high school course whose chief end is to prepare for college, and a college course which gives only general culture, and send out young men and women of twenty-two with good general education but no specific preparation for earning a living. No sympathy need be wasted on these young men and women. They will get along admirably, because general culture, if it is genuine in quality and ample in quantity, is a real economic asset. But if we adopt this scheme as sufficient, we must do it with our eyes open to the fact that about ninety-eight per cent of the young people will quit our schools and turn their backs on our cherished culture courses at a far earlier age and will go forth to the fight both immature and unprepared.

"Or, third, we may make vocational training a part of school work; begin it as far down as necessary to catch the bulk of the pupils before they begin to drop out; continue it through the crucial years of adolescence so that they will be less likely to drop out but will be more effective if they do; carry it on into the more advanced fields of collegiate and professional work for those who can take time for a fuller course and get the benefit of their whole infancy.

"The formulation of courses of study for such vocational and industrial training for the young people of New Mexico affords an intricate problem, the solution of which can be only gradually worked out. The chief essential is that in working it out, the actual conditions of the territory be kept in mind and the course be adapted to the industrial and economic conditions of New Mexico. It will not be sufficient merely to imitate the courses given in Massachusetts or Pennsylvania."

IT'S THE TRUTH.

In an address made at Minneapolis recently the speaker paid the following tribute to the newspaper profession, which necessarily must blow its own horn for there is no other horn blowing agency that can compare with it:

"There is no profession more honorable or more exacting than yours. To it you must contribute your brain's best product and you should dignify it. The politician should see you in your office and you not be subject to his call. Your place of business is accessible and should be the place to consult with you when any man wishes to use your columns. Then, too, your space, like the goods on the merchant's shelves and counters, is for sale for all legitimate purposes. Why should you give it away?

"There is no institution in a town that can do as much for its growth, prosperity and the peace and happiness of the people as the newspaper. The teachers in your schools devote about nine months per year to educate the young. The paper as an educational factor devotes 52 weeks of each year to the cause, for every such paper is an educator as well as a purveyor of news, and the town's historian.

"Your paper is worth more than the subscription price, which you should receive promptly. When the reader does not pay in advance you are practically loaning him your money without interest. A single issue is often worth more to a reader than a year's or several years' subscription.

"No man works harder to earn his money than you do. It is well earned and value received is given for every penny of it that comes to you. It should not be slow in coming any more than should your meals.

"Educate your clientele to the fact that you are a producer, a builder and entitled to a position among the best in your community and to the money you earn."

THE SCHOOL OF MINES.

The New Mexican on another page reviews briefly the work of the New Mexico School of Mines. New Mexico has been rather neglectful of the opportunities that have come to it by reason of its great mineral resources and the possession of a modern technical college that fits young men for engineering work. Thus far, when New Mexico has wanted engineers, it has depended upon the outside supply, but the School of Mines is now graduating enough young men each year to step into the gaps left by the old timers who were the pioneers in mineral and irrigation development. Colorado is making of its school of mines one of the greatest technical colleges in the country, as famous as Lehigh University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, just because the school is so favorably located for practical work; but the location of New Mexico's School of Mines, is still more favorable, as far as climate and accessibility to mines, mills, concentrators and smelters is concerned. The school has a great future and its creation and maintenance is one of the best investments by the Territory. Under the efficient management of President Drake and a capable faculty as well as the support of a public spirited and wise board of regents, the institution has entered upon an era of prosperity which is enhanced by the fact that the last legislature has made the most liberal appropriation in the history of the Territory, for the maintenance of this school which is already splendidly equipped with buildings, laboratories, apparatus, machinery and even owns a gold and silver mine near its campus, a mine having timbered shafts, tunnels, drifts, machinery and full equipment for practical work. Parents, when deciding upon a future for their sons and a school for their training, should carefully weigh the advantages offered by the New Mexico School of Mines.

A young woman of Cleveland, Ohio, appeals to Speaker Cannon to have Congress provide husbands for all women above a certain age who have thus far failed to find their mate. She says that such a law would usher in the millennium. Legislation of that kind should be a dead easy problem for the national legislators and might divert the attention for the time being from statehood, corporations, income tax and other uncomfortable topics. This is what the Cleveland girl writes:

"Our beaux cannot marry us girls because all foods and clothing is too high. What good is it to us girls if we do not have husbands? Why don't you make Congress provide husbands for us? You will do the country more good by seeing that all the young people are married. If all the young people were married we would not need a Congress or a President. This world would then be a paradise. We must have husbands. Get some for us."

It was a most strenuous day that the friends of statehood had at Washington and whatever concessions are made in the enabling act will be due to the concentrated efforts of the delegations from the territories that appeared before the senate committee today. It is certain that the rough edges will be polished off the Beveridge bill before it is reported to the Senate. After it is once reported, it seems certain that little time will be lost in passing and sending it up to President Taft for his signature. It will be an eventful twelve months for the territories that will follow and the Republican party must give its loins for the most important fight in its history in this commonwealth.

The completion of the Harvey House at Lamy will materially hurt the hotel and other business in Santa Fe unless the Hotel DeVargas is completed in the quickest possible time.

IN MEMORY OF FRANCES E. WILLARD.
All over the world the anniversary of the death of Frances E. Willard is kept, not only to keep alive and green in hearts the memory of her noble, self-sacrificing life, but to extend and strengthen the work she so heroically began.
To review her life is to be filled with wonder at the marvellous faith, the courage, the heroism that could lead one woman to attempt so stupendous a work. Great was her vision and it should be an inspiration to those who grow weary and discouraged at the difficulties that now beset them, for they are as nothing compared with those through which her dauntless soul successfully passed.
The Santa Fe Woman's Christian Temperance Union will hold memorial exercises at the Woman's Board of Trade building on Sunday, February the 20th at 7:30 p. m. to which the public is cordially invited. The program will be interesting as some of the best speakers in Santa Fe will pay a tribute to Frances E. Willard.

MINSTRELS MADE HIT;
JAMES SELIGMAN A STAR.

Jay Gould is coming within a few days for his regular spring trip over his western properties.

Grover Cleveland is having himself interviewed to a great extent of late. He has "got it bad."

The Minstrel.

Every opera chair was occupied when the new minstrel troupe's performance began at the opera house last night. Sixteen performers in regulation burnt cork costumes appeared after a delightful overture by the Philharmonic Orchestra and the fun continued for two hours and a half. The performance was excellent. The end men Messrs. Twitchell and Seligman on the right, with tamborines, and Messrs. Gregg and Ireland on the left, with the bones, sprang a great many happy hits on the unsuspecting public. The vocal music was superb, while the chorus was full and strong, in the line of catchy plantation melodies.

Mr. Twitchell and Mr. Littlehales each received a hearty encore for the happy hits they made in rendering solos, as also did Mr. Olinger and Volk for their guitar music. Mr. Clark Gregg's stump speech was intensely funny.

In the second part the musical burlesque "Mr. Mikado or the Yip From Abiquin," was presented with brilliant costumes, rich music and a perfect stage setting, for which Lieut. Van Vleet should receive a vote of thanks.

The Three Little Maids from Agua Fria was splendidly taken by James Seligman, A. C. Ireland and Charlie Way. Mr. Seligman took the part of Yum-Yum.

In regard to foreign population in New Mexico the Gallup Elk states: "There are several states with a larger foreign population than New Mexico. Wisconsin and Minnesota have more people that cannot speak the English language than the total population of this Territory. The majority of the inhabitants of the earth do not speak the English language and only a few college professors speak it correctly."

Plays AND Players

"Las Golondrinas," the entrancing, charming Spanish ballad, has a new significance to those who heard Mme. Yaw at the Elks' theater last evening. Familiar, practically, to every one in Santa Fe, no one had ever heard it sung with so bewitching an effect. No wonder therefore, that she had to respond to a second encore and men and women stood up in their seats and cheered and encored the beautiful woman with a voice like a nightingale, and dramatic talents that enabled her to portray to the eye what the voice carried with such brilliant effect. And then, when she sang Dixie as an encore, ah, there was the spirit of the south, the soft cadences, the fervent patriotism, the love of the home land—it was superb! It was then, when Mme. Yaw came nearest to moving the audience to tears and to shouts, a feat most difficult in a concert where the stage settings, the chorus effects the movement of the drama are missing.

It was a matter of individual taste and perhaps, musical training or lack of it, that made this or that selection the favorite with the individual hearer. To the writer one phrase, in the Bell Song from Lakme, was the most beautiful thing of the evening, that recurred to him again and again after the concert, in which the deep resonant notes, revealed more of the true singer, more of the human touch, of the woman, then the brilliant calisthenics that carried the voice beyond the realms of the highest notes usually attained by concert or operatic artists. A brief German ditty, one of a sheaf of four love songs, beginning with the deeply emotional and beautiful, "My Mother Bids Me Bind My Hair," from Haydn, was sung with such abandon, such charm, and the words pronounced with such pure German accent, that it was justly considered one of the gems of the evening. In Caro Nome, from Rigoletti, of course, a high standard has been set by the great vocal artists, the latest of them Tetravini, and it takes the illusions of the opera and of the stage, to bring out its superb melodic and emotional beauty, but Mme. Yaw, it seemed, could measure her rendition with any that was ever heard at the Metropolitan opera house. In the concluding Mad Scene from Lucia di Lammermoor, she reached tragic heights that proved her dramatic power beyond all argument.

Mme. Yaw has attained the highest attainable pinnacles in her art; nothing superior was ever heard in Santa Fe, or perhaps, anywhere else. Her phrasing, her shading, her coloring, are magnificent, but it takes just a little bit more than high art to move an audience so that it will cry or laugh or forget everything but the singer and the song. Mme. Yaw, no doubt possesses the dramatic possibilities to attain such triumphs; they are certain to be hers within the next few years, but she must cut lose from a management that is so mean, so stingy, as to count the pennies when it comes to advertising or making the arrangements for a performance. When Schumann-Heine can command $1,500 for a concert and Mme. Yaw must be satisfied with $200 and less, it is not because Schumann-Heine is so much greater but because she had a management that does not work Women's Clubs, or lodges, or some charity racket to pay all the expenses of a performance, look after all the advertising so that a few pennies might be saved. This is not said in bitterness, but because an artist like Mme. Yaw should have her due mead of fame that is being withheld her by a niggardly management that does not know how to advertise or is too mean to do it if it does know.

Says a member of the New Mexican's staff:

Holding an immense bouquet of American Beauty roses under her left arm and waving her right hand as she sang in golden tones the last notes of "Dixie Land," Mme. Ellen Beach Yaw, the noted coloratura soprano, aroused tumultuous enthusiasm at the Elks theater last night. It was a beautiful finale of a beautiful program, replete with brilliant vocal and instrumental selections by persons who merit the name of artists.

Although Albuquerque, according to the newspapers of the Duke City, may fail to appreciate a singer of Mme. Yaw's attainments, Santa Fe gave her a warm welcome and a large and appreciative audience greeted this nightingale when she sang her opening number which by the way was Alabieff's "Russian Nightingale."

It did not take the music loving audience long to realize that Mme. Yaw's picture did not belie her beauty and press criticisms do not exaggerate the beauty of the silver bell like tones of her voice. Of course, she does not possess the physique of a Nordica, an Eames, a Tetravini, a Schumann-Heine or even a Calve and lacked the volume that those singers possess. But she is an artist to her finger tips and last night displayed a musical intuition that was worthy of a grand opera diva. The farther she got in her program the greater delight of the audience and whether the song was in English, French, German, Italian or Spanish, her meaning was understood just as Mme. Yaw had said in an interview a day or two ago. Her enunciation was so clear and her facial expression so illuminating, thanks largely to a pair of "sparkling" blue eyes, that the foreign language was forgotten, and the message of the song writer and its interpreter alone held one's attention. One did not have to know much about music to derive pleasure from the songs sung by Mme. Yaw, for true to her promise, she made efforts to please everyone. Her classic selections were greeted perhaps with no more enthusiasm than her old time melodies sung in English for into both she threw the fire of a truly musical soul and her hearers were touched, whether they tried to feel the warmth of the music or not.

Mme. Yaw was perhaps heard to best advantage in the final number on the program the mad scene from Donizetti's opera Lucia di Lammermoor. Mme. Yaw's girlish beauty and sweet voice were well suited to the role of Lucia, the victim of the cruel trick played by her brother Lord Ashton who makes her believe by forged letters that her lover had betrayed her. It was not Mme. Yaw, the California girl, but Lucia herself, that the audience saw and sympathized with.

It was in this selection that the singer reached and held high G, a feat in itself. And in a Swiss song, for a moment Mme. Yaw's highest note—and the highest sung by human throat. A lullaby was heard. It was one of a bouquet of four love songs, one a German ballad.

A Great Flutist.

Jay Plowe, as solo flutist, also scored a great success. Although many flattering things had been written about Mr. Plowe, he came up to great expectations. He has a big tone and a fluency of technique that is tremendous. What is most pleasing is that Mr. Plowe is an American and does not think it necessary to disguise the fact.

Like Mme. Yaw he was generous in Cottolene Comes from Dixieland!

The source of lard is against it. Lard-cooked food may not cause indigestion and throw your stomach out of kilter, but it will be only a matter of luck if it doesn't.

The source of Cottolene is pleasing—the product is healthful. The oil is extracted from the cotton seed grown in the fields of the Sunny South. It is then refined and rendered odorless and neutral in taste. From Cottonfield to Kitchen—human hands never touch the oil from which Cottolene is made.

Cottolene is an absolutely pure product—of pure origin and ancestry, and will make palatable, digestible, healthful, wholesome food. It is the best frying and shortening medium made to-day. If the best is none too good for you, ask your grocer for Cottolene, and do not let any prejudice stand in the way. The only way to know Cottolene is to test it yourself.

COTTOLENE is Guaranteed

Your grocer is hereby authorized to refund your money in case you are not pleased, after having given Cottolene a fair test.

Never Sold in Bulk

Made only by THE N. K. FAIRBANK COMPANY

his encores and vociferous applause greeted him as often as he appeared on the stage. His flute obligato in the Lucia di Lammermoor selection was delightful and worthy of the artist.

Mr. Deming, Pianist.

As solo pianist Currier Deming, an American, proved himself worthy of being in the company of such artists as Mme. Yaw and Jay Plowe. He did not have a grand piano to give full rein to his excellent technique and strength, but he made the most of an upright instrument's possibilities. In the Wind selection he gave a good imitation of Borealis blowing around the federal building and playing havoc with Gainsboroughs and Stetson felt cow boy hats on their way down Palace avenue.

Mr. Deming has a modest manner that is pleasing and the observer of externalities found little about him to distract.

The recital, or perhaps one had better say concert, last night proved that Santa Fe has a right to the title of a music loving city and the Woman's Board of Trade is to be congratulated on its success not only in bringing great artists here, but in getting the people to turn out to hear them.

Reception Follows.

After the concert Colonel and Mrs. Pritchard whose guest Mme. Yaw was, gave a reception at their home on Washington avenue. It was a brilliant and enjoyable affair. Mme. Yaw once more became the pretty California girl, her face wreathed in smiles and reminding one of the full bloom rose which she had in one hand. Mr. Plowe and Mr. Deming were of course there and shared with Mme. Yaw in the congratulations as well as good wishes bestowed by an admiring, music loving, assemblage.

ALL CENSUS INFORMATION IS STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL.

All Employees Under Oath and Heavy Penalty Not to Divulge Information They Gather.

Washington, Feb. 18.—The United States census bureau is making extraordinary preparations to ascertain approximately the exact number and value of livestock in New Mexico on April 15 as required by the act of Congress providing for the thirteenth decennial census.

Fearful that for some reason or another the livestock raisers may be deterred from freely stating the number and value of their holdings, the census bureau is exerting unusual efforts to assure the ranchmen and farmers, especially of the western range states, that their interests, whether personal or corporate, can not possibly be affected in any way by their frank and full disclosure of their livestock possessions. The information gathered by the census office is held strictly confidential not only in respect to the fact that under no circumstances is it ever imparted to any one not connected with the census office, but in respect to its ever being given to any other branch of the government.

"In behalf of the census bureau," said Assistant Director Wm. F. Willoughby, "I can give as positive assurance of the confidential treatment of information called for by the livestock questions in the general agricultural schedule as I could if a confidence were to be imposed upon me personally and privately. The census bureau is concerned only in the collection and publication of statistical facts. The spirit of every act of Congress providing for the various decennial censuses has been, and is, that the information as to individuals, firms and corporations is to be given inviolable secrecy.

Information Sacred.

"It is as much 'privileged information' as that imparted by a client to a lawyer, by a patient to a physician by a dying man to a minister. It cannot even be imparted to another branch of the federal government, no matter how much the information may be desired. No court ever has or ever will ignore this 'immunity' from personal or business involvement bestowed in return for information required by United States census inquiries. To do otherwise would impair, if not wholly destroy, the scientific efficiency of the census work. So far as the livestock census is concerned, the bureau, following fair, impartial, and unbiased methods, quickly separates the person, firm, or corporation from the facts furnished, and private or corporate identity in connection with any census data remains forever sealed and sacred in the great safes of the census office."

In his annual report for 1909 to Secretary Nagel, of the Department of Commerce and Labor, Census Director Durand stated:

"The thirteenth census act is more specific than that for the twelfth census with respect to penalties upon supervisors, enumerators, or other employees who disclose information which they secure, or who make false returns. While there is no evidence that employees of the census bureau in the past have been guilty of improper disclosure of information—except, possibly, in a very few cases—these more specific provisions for penalties are highly advantageous. Although the census law requires persons interrogated to furnish the information called on for on the duly authorized schedules, reliance for prompt and accurate returns must rest upon the good will of those making the returns. Manufacturers, farmers and others will not freely disclose the needed information unless they feel assured that it will be treated in strict confidence. The census bureau exists solely for the collection of general statistics and is not, and should not be, an instrument, for disclosing the affairs of individual persons, firms or corporations. Returns made by the census bureau are in no case published in such a way to identify the business operations of individual persons or concerns nor are they disclosed to any person aside from the employees of the bureau itself—not even to other departments of the government or to other bureaus of the department of commerce and labor."

SAN ANTONIO REACHES OUT FOR WINTER TOURIST TRADE.

San Antonio, Texas, Feb. 18.—Negotiations now going will result in the creation of a large winter spa at the Southerland Thermal Springs near this city. Kansas capitalists are the promoters of the venture. The property to be used for this purpose comprises about 1,000 acres and is well parked.

CENSUS ENUMERATORS ON THE RANGE.

Livestock Census to be Taken by Them Instead of Special Agents as in Former Years.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18.—It has been decided by the census bureau authorities to have the census enumerators take the census of the number and value of the live stock on the ranges of the western states as a part of the thirteenth decennial census beginning April 15 next.

The census authorities are convinced that the enumerators will be able to gather these statistics even more expeditiously, correctly, and economically than would be possible by special agents under existing conditions.

This decision was not reached until after Assistant Director William F. Willoughby had returned to the bureau from a series of conferences throughout the west, which were attended by all the census supervisors in the range states. He was accompanied by Chief Statisticians William C. Hunt and LeGrand Powers, of the population and agricultural divisions, respectively.

The supervisors in conference recommended that the work be placed in the hands of the enumerators. They assured the assistant director the enumerators can do it, in connection with the count of population and farms, with greater dispatch and economy than could special agents. They stated that there would be no difficulty whatever if the livestock owners were made to appreciate the fact that in giving to the enumerators the information regarding their livestock holdings there is absolutely no danger of it being communicated to county assessors or forest service officials. The supervisors stated that otherwise there might be hesitancy to furnish this data for fear it might mean extra taxation or larger grazing charges.

Mr. Willoughby pointed out to them that under the act of Congress providing for the present census every supervisor, supervisor's clerk, enumerator, interpreter, special agent, or other employee must make oath not to divulge any information contained in the schedules, lists, or statements obtained for or prepared by the bureau of the census to any person or persons. He informed them that the penalty clause in the law provides that a violation shall constitute a misdemeanor, to be punished by a fine not to exceed $1,000 or by imprisonment not to exceed two years, or both fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. The bureau authorities have always maintained the position that all information gathered by it was for its statistical use solely, and would no under any circumstances be imparted to any other branch of the government.

of troubles yesterday afternoon at his home on Agua Fria street in this city. He was 35 years of age and came here in October for his health. He formerly lived in Leavenworth, Kansas, and was an employee of the Wells Fargo Express Company and had won the esteem of the officials of that company by his hard and conscientious work in its interests. Mr. Griffin undermined his health, however, by too close attention to business. He is survived by a widow, whose family live in Winchester, Kansas. Mr. Griffin also leaves a brother, John Griffin and a sister, Mrs. Jacob Biddle, both of Kansas and who came out here when his condition grew alarming. The body will be sent to Kansas for interment tonight by Undertaker J. D. Mulligan who has prepared it for burial.
