FOURTEEN INDICTMENTS RETURNED

The Grand Jury Was Evidently Kept Busy During the Past Week.

GOOD ROAD COMMISSION MEET

More Candidates for Position of Superintendent of Penitentiary.

Governor Mills has not yet decided the matter of appointing a superintendent of the penitentiary to succeed the late J. W. Reynolds. The number of candidates is increasing almost hourly. Among the strongest candidates to enter the field today is former assessor, George F. Albright of Bernalillo county.

Governor Mills today appointed the following notaries public: Homer J. Farr, Deadman, Union county; T. W. Watson, Lincoln, Lincoln county; and Clarence E. Yeager of Fort Bayard, Grant county, and William J. Hannah, Sr., San Marcial, Socorro county.

Now, therefore, I, William J. Mills, Governor of the Territory of New Mexico, do hereby proclaim:

FRIDAY, MARCH 18, 1910 TO BE ARBOR DAY.

Said day to be observed by the people of this Territory by the planting of forest and ornamental trees or shrubs for the benefit and adornment of public and private grounds, places and ways, and in such other efforts and undertakings as shall be in harmony with the general character of the day.

The planting of forest and ornamental trees and shrubs in this arid country is one of the most important concerns of the people; and I order that the above mentioned Arbor Day shall be a holiday in all of the public schools, and that on such date school officers and teachers shall have the scholars under their respective charge observe the day by planting trees and shrubs and by other appropriate exercises.

The respective county school superintendents are requested to give notice of this proclamation to the teachers in their several counties, and to encourage a proper observance of the day.

Tree culture being so important, I hope that the people generally will properly observe the day by each one planting at least one or more trees.

Done at the Executive Office this, the 12th day of March, A. D. 1910. Witness my hand and the great seal of the territory of New Mexico.

By the Governor:

WILL STOP OWENS BILL

House Has Been Aroused to Little Joker Contained in the Measure

STATEHOOD BILL REPORTED

Provisions Are More Favorable to Territories Than Anticipated.

SPECIAL TO THE NEW MEXICAN.

Washington, D. C., March 14.—Owing to prior business on the calendar, the Owens Indian Prohibition law, which would make Santa Fe, Albuquerque, Phoenix, Tucson and other towns prohibition territory, and which passed the Senate without a dissenting vote, will not be taken up for consideration in the House for several weeks and agencies are now at work that will smother it or amend it so as not to apply to towns and cities outside of reservations in the territories.

In the Senate, Chairman Beveridge of the committee on territories, requested that the statehood bill be re-printed. He takes the Hamilton bill and strikes out everything after the enacting clause and inserts the Senate bill. The apportionment of delegates to the constitutional conventions is based on the vote for delegate in 1908. The qualifications of electors are to be the same as for that election. The election is to be not earlier than sixty and not later than ninety days after approval.

The constitutional convention is to meet on the fourth Monday after the election. The debts of the territory and of all the counties are to be assumed and paid by the state and for the railroad bonds a specific grant of a million acres is made. The election for the approval or rejection of the constitution is to be within 90 days after the adjournment of the constitutional convention. Religious toleration is guaranteed and Santa Fe and Phoenix are to remain capitals of the states until 1925. The bill will not be taken up for consideration for several weeks.

Notwithstanding contrary reports there will be no $30,000,000 bond issue for irrigation but it is very likely that certificates of indebtedness will be issued.

The supreme court decision today holding that grazing of sheep on a forest without permit is not a criminal offense puts the kibosh to the forest service and wipes out one of the famous departmental orders issued without warrant of law.

WILL DELAY STATEHOOD LEGISLATION.

Statehood legislation, which has passed the House, and postal savings bank legislation, which has passed the Senate, have been sidetracked for the administration railroad bill. The postal savings bank bill, in view of the fact that hearings have been ordered by the house committee on postoffices and post roads, will not reach the floor for several weeks, and in all probability not until the session nears its close.

Regardless of the fact that the postal bank bill, the anti-injunction measure, statehood legislation and the administration conservation measures are all a part of the administration program, there is not apparent anywhere a positive force pushing them for consideration. If the debate on the railroad bill lags to the extent that has been freely predicted, it may require a presidential message to instill life in the other features of the program.

Washington, March 14.—The Arizona and New Mexico statehood bill was reported to the Senate today from the committee on territories by Senator Beveridge who said it was an entire substitute for the House bill.

PROHIBITION FOR HAWAII.

Washington, March 14.—The Hawaiian prohibition joint resolution, amended so as to eliminate objectionable features, was passed today by the Senate.

Former President Roosevelt Is Met With Shouts of Acclaim

A HAPPY FAMILY RE-UNION

Khartoum Gives the Mighty Nimrod a Rousing Welcome as He Lands.

Khartoum, March 14.—Colonel Roosevelt and party arrived here this afternoon. The former President was given a most flattering reception. Roosevelt was dressed in a khaki hunting suit and wore a white helmet. Surrounding him were members of the Sirdar's staff. The recognition of the American was the signal for a burst of cheers that continued as the vessel slowly found her pier. Colonel Roosevelt raising his hat repeatedly and smiling. Upon the pier, Colonel Roosevelt was pressed by an enormous crowd, anxious for the nearest possible view, but his escort saved him from any possible discomfort. He at once was escorted to the palace of the Sirdar where he stops and where he was received by the high. Sudanese officials. Within the palace, Colonel Roosevelt received all the higher officials of the government. He then hurried to the railway station to meet Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Ethel Roosevelt who arrived on the train shortly after five. The officials of the city had so arranged affairs that this family reunion after years of separation was in strict privacy. This evening no one was permitted to disturb the privacy of the Roosevelts. Tomorrow a round of entertainments and sightseeing begins.

JAMESTOWN LAID LOW BY FLAMES

Series of Fires That Caused Almost Million Dollars of Damage

FIREMAN CRUSHED TO DEATH

Three Other Men Seriously Injured—Hotel Guests Have Narrow Escape.

Jamestown, N. Y., March 14.—Beginning on Saturday night and ending this morning, Jamestown was visited by a series of the most costly fires it has ever had, resulting in a total loss of $800,000, the death of one man, and the serious injury of three others. John Hanson, captain of the fire police, was crushed to death by a falling wall. The buildings destroyed include the Gokey Factory building, the Gokey business block, the New Sherman house, the Erie Hall block and the J. F. Briggs block. The guests of the Sherman house had time to leave the building, but there was no time for saving property. The burned district includes a large portion of two squares in the center of the city.

SANTA FE EXTENDS ITS TELEPHONE DISPATCHING.

Installations Now Cover Almost Two Thousand Miles—Forty Stations Between Pueblo and Denver.

The Santa Fe system has extended the use of the telephone for train dispatching over its road from Denver to Pueblo, Colorado. The officials of this road were among the first to recognize the advantages of the telephone for dispatching. Telephones have been installed over approximately 1,950 miles of the Santa Fe lines, and it is planned to extend the equipment on other sections of the road as soon as possible.

There are about forty telephone stations on the 120-mile stretch between Denver and Pueblo, and here telephone equipment and Gill selectors supplied by the Western Electric Company have lately been installed. Heavy traffic is carried on over this single track division. There are in the neighborhood of 25 to 30 trains a day, and in the handling of these trains there are approximately 75 regular meeting points. This section of the track is used jointly by the Santa Fe and the Colorado and Southern railways. The dispatching, however, is all done from Pueblo by the Santa Fe.

It is estimated that the installation of telephones on this division will enable the dispatchers to handle the same amount of work as previously in about sixty per cent of the time.

HARD DAY FOR TRUSTS

Standard Oil Company on Griddle Before U. S. Supreme Court

COAL RATE LAW IS UPHELD

North Dakota Railroads Must Carry Commodity Even at a Loss.

Washington, D. C., March 14.—Found by the lower federal courts to be a combination in restraint of trade, the "Standard Oil" appeared today at the bar of the supreme court of the United States to make final argument against its dissolution under the Sherman anti-trust law. The government was present to insist on a decree of enforcement of dissolution. The proceeding is the outgrowth of years of investigation of the "Standard Oil" trust on the part of the government. The defense is represented by John G. Johnson, John G. Milburn and D. T. Watson. On the government's side were Attorney General Wickersham and Frank B. Kellogg, who has fought the case from the first.

HOLYOKE PAPER COMPANY CASE DISMISSED.

Washington, D. C., March 14.—Justice Wright today dismissed the action brought by the Valley Paper Company of Holyoke, Mass., against the joint printing committee of Congress on grounds that the paper company's bid was illegal in form and did not comply with the regulations as set forth by the committee. The case at one time threatened to develop into a contest of authority between the judicial and legislative branches of the government.

NO IMMUNITY FOR HEIKE.

Washington, D. C., March 14.—The supreme court of the United States today declined to vacate the writ of error issued by Justice Lurton in the case of Charles R. Heike of New York, an official of the American Sugar Refining Company, who was denied immunity by the lower federal courts from prosecution on the indictment of the conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with sugar weighing frauds. Heike claimed immunity on the ground that he had testified before the grand jury.

COAL RATE LAW UPHELD.

Washington, D. C., March 14.—The North Dakota coal rate law of 1907 was today held to be constitutional for the present by the supreme court of the United States, despite the claim of the railroads that the law required the transportation of coal below cost of service.

Trenton, N. J., March 14.—Justice Swayne of the New Jersey supreme court, announced today that he will sign the order applied for by Prosecutor Garvin, compelling the National Packing Company and other big western meat concerns to produce their books before the Hudson county grand jury.

KNOCK-OUT BLOW FOR FOREST SERVICE.

Washington, March 14.—By divided bench of four to four, the supreme court of the United States today affirmed the decision of the lower federal court holding that the separate shipment is the proper unit for assessing penalties under the twenty-eight hour law and not the train or car.

IMPORTANT DECISION FOR STOCKMEN.

Washington, March 14.—By equally divided court, the supreme court of the United States, today affirmed the decision of the federal court of California, which held that grazing sheep without permission on the forest reserves was not a violation of law.

FORTY-FIVE HUNDRED LETTERS IN EVIDENCE.

Two Defendants in Maybray Swindling Case Have Been Dismissed Because Witness Vamosed.

Council Bluffs, Ia., March 14.—Two of the defendants in the federal prosecution of J. C. Maybray and his alleged associates on charges of conspiracy, Fred S. Mull and James R. Morrison, both of Superior, Wis., were released today when on motion of District Attorney Temple, the cases against them were dismissed. The government counsel explained that the witnesses in these cases are in Canada and declined to come to this city. BOYCOTT ON ALL BANKS Dangerous Move on Part of the Labor Unions of Philadelphia.

STREET CAR STRIKE IS BROKEN

Company Is Operating Usual Number of Cars and Is Generally Patronized.

Philadelphia, March 14.—Interest in the general strike today centered in the inability of the labor unions to hold the striking workmen together and prevent a break as predicted by the employers and city officials. The morning reports showed that while some men did return to work after a week's idleness there is no indication of a general break, but on the other hand some unions which had hesitated about joining the sympathetic strike cast their lot today with the strikers. The strike declared against banks is a new wrinkle in labor fare. The new move of the labor leaders in calling upon all working men and women not only in this city but throughout the country to withdraw their deposits in all the bank institutions and thus depriving the capitalists, they say, of one weapon with which to fight organized labor, is being watched with great interest. The bankers admitted that the move will be a dangerous one if unanimously carried out, but they do not believe that the unions will be successful in causing every withdrawal of deposits. The Rapid Transit Company was operated almost by the regular number of cars today. The cars are being generally patronized.

PEACE OR NATION WIDE STRIKE.

Cincinnati, March 14.—Industrial peace or a nation-wide coal strike will be the outcome of conferences and committee meetings, preceding and during the international convention of the United Mine Workers here this week. Recognizing the importance of the gatherings, workmen and mine owners arriving here today, sought the members of the sub-committee of the central competitive field with arguments as to whether increased wages should or should not be granted. The sub-committee had its first meeting today.

RELEASE OF QUARANTINE FOR SHEEP SCAB.

As a result of the efforts of federal and state authorities to eradicate the disease known as sheep scab, an order has been issued by the secretary of agriculture, effective March 14, releasing from quarantine the entire state of Washington and large portions of Oregon, Nevada, Utah, Colorado, and Arizona, as follows: That portion of Oregon lying east of the Cascade mountains; the counties of Lincoln, Clark, and Nye, in the state of Nevada; the counties of Beaves, Platte, Iron, Garfield, San Juan, Washington, and Kane, in the state of Utah; all of the territory of Arizona except Navajo and Apache counties, and all of the state of Colorado except the counties of Conejos, Rio Grande, Saguache, Huerfano, Castilla, Las Animas, Baca, Bent, Prowers and portions of the counties of Montezuma, La Plata, Archuleta, Pueblo, Otero, and Kiowa. The release of so large an area at this time indicates the good progress made during the past year in the work of stamping out this disease, which is a great handicap to the sheep industry.

When the bureau of animal industry began systematic work more than ten years ago for the eradication of sheep scab this disease prevailed over large areas in the west and was rapidly spreading. Gradually the infection has been stamped out and the areas reduced until the territory now remaining under quarantine consists only of the states of Kentucky, Texas, and California, the Territory of New Mexico, the southern portion of Colorado, two counties in Arizona, the northern parts of Utah and Nevada, and the western portion of Oregon. The good results have been accomplished with the co-operation of state and local officials and the support of progressive stockmen. It is believed that with a continuation of active work by all concerned the disease may be completely eradicated from the west within a very few years.

Copies of the order mentioned, giving the boundary lines in detail, may be obtained on application to the chief of the bureau of animal industry, Washington, D. C.

BREAKFAST BILL FOR FOUR IS $30

And Menu Consisted of Eggs Bread, Fruit and Water

"HIGH LIFE" IN GUATEMALA

Professor S. G. Morley Writes of Archaeologists' Trip.

How would you like to order a breakfast of eggs, bread and butter, some fruit and a little Apollonaris water, with covers for four, and receive a bill from the waiter for $30? While women and women's clubs as well as bachelors who scoff at keeping house are discussing the high price of food in the United States, the Santa Fe archaeologists who left here a few weeks ago to study the Maya ruins in Guatemala are also being staggered by the price of nourishment even in a land where the necessities of life are supposed to be cheap, but where a breakfast costs $7.50—in Guatemalan money.

A letter just received by Mrs. S. G. Morley from her husband the archaeologist tells of the arrival of Professor Hewett, Jesse Nusbaum and himself in the city of Guatemala and of some of the interesting experiences the travelers have had while on their way across the country.

A fairly good sea trip, with an occasional intermission of choppy sea, is reported by Mr. Morley and upon arriving on land "eternal heat and sunshine" have faced the scientists.

"It is like Yucatan," says Mr. Morley, "only hotter. While crossing the isthmus of Tehuantepec we passed through a beautiful tropical forest of banana and rubber trees and coffee plantations."

Mr. Morley writes amusingly of the way laundry work is done in Central America and says the washwomen go into the water with their walking attire on and carry with them their children whom they teach to swim while the clothes they have finished washing are being bleached by the sun's warm rays. "The Zapotec women are fine looking," says the writer, "but the men are barbarous in appearance."

VOLCANOE SMOKING.

Mr. Morley says that the coast of San Jose is decidedly interesting, being a long level stretch for twenty miles to a range of high mountains all volcanic and a number of them still smoking their morning pipe, but the volcanoes have not been otherwise active for a hundred years.

OFF FOR INTERIOR.

Mr. Morley's letter which is dated a fortnight ago tells of the trip of the archaeologists from San Jose where they landed to Guatemala City the capital of Guatemala where they had to spend a few days to secure passports and permission from the government to explore.

16 TO 1 RATIO.

"We entered a dinky, little train like those we saw in Yucatan," he said, "and there were four in our party: Professor Hewett, Jesse Nusbaum and an Englishman, Mr. Fletcher and myself. While on the way to Guatemala City we stopped at a station for breakfast. This was a frugal repast of eggs, bread, fruit and Apollonaris water. Our bill was $20. But do not think we are fearfully extravagant, for $30 in Guatemalan money is about equal to $2 of our money, it takes from 16 to 18 of their dollars to equal one of ours."

Mr. Morley then plunges into a humorous description of the native occupants of the car in which he and the other archaeologists are riding. He says that the women, young or old, dark haired or gray with age, all wear their hair down their back like American school girls. The train finally stops for lunch and the scientists discover a new fruit on the menu. It is "aguacates" or alligator pears. The Americans however, passed up the alligator fruit and eat only oranges which proved "perfectly delicious." The lunch bill for the oranges and a few side dishes was $12.70. Two meals had cost the four travelers nearly $43 and they had another meal to take before retiring.

Late in the evening they reached the capital and walked out to the plaza to hear the customary band concert. Then the letter ended as it had to be mailed that evening.

AMERICAN SENTENCED IN SINALOA, MEXICO.

Rebstock was flourishing a revolver into a crowd killing one native and wounding another. He was held in jail for more than a year before trial.

THE DAILY ROUND UP.

PRETTY SOON.

I know a land where streets are paved
With the things we meant to achieve;
It is walled with the money we meant to have saved,
And the pleasure for which we grieve.
The kind words unspoken, the promises broken,
And many a coveted boon
Are stowed away there in the land somewhere—
The land of "Pretty Soon."
It is farther at noon than it is at dawn,
Farther at night than at noon;
Oh, let us beware of that land down there—
The land of "Pretty Soon."

MINOR CITY TOPICS

Denver, Colo., March 14.—
Weather forecast for New Mexico: Generally fair except rain or snow in northwest portion late tonight or Tuesday.

querque, who made a trip to Los

Will Make Arizona Dry—The Owen or McGuire bill pending in Congress that the sale of liquor within 25 miles

Romance at San Marcial—Says the San Marcial Standard: "In our issue of January 14, the following innocent looking little personal item appeared: Mrs. Hunt and two sons,
Rob and Little Dick of New York
City, en route to southern California, stopped here last week and visited her friend, Mrs. Quinn." It has since developed that the woman was a Mrs.
Lyle of Memphis, Tenn., who has parted from her husband, and was kidnapping the boys, as it is said that the law in that state gives the father the right to the children. Mrs. Lyle had hoped to stay here longer and had already started the boys to school, but San Marcial is not so far in the back woods as some might think, for detectives were close on her trail. It is said she traded her clothing and drove out of town in the night, taking the train at another station. During their visit here the boys were often at the Standard office. Of course, there are two sides to every question and the underlying facts of the case in hand are not generally known here, but we don't blame any mother for running a whole lot of risks to be able to keep with her two chaps as bright as Rob and Little Dick are."

Silver City Votes Sewer Bonds—
Silver City by a vote of 192 against 19 last week voted a $59,000 bond is-Raton for twelve years previous. She was a native of Hornellsville, New York, and two daughters and a son survive besides the husband.

Seems an Unfortunate Name—Two men named Frank Hall are in trouble

NEEDFUL KNOWLEDGE.

Santa Fe People Should Learn to Detect the Approach of Kidney Disease.

The symptoms of kidney trouble are so unmistakable that they leave no ground for doubt. Sick kidneys excrete a thick, cloudy, offensive urine, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding. The back aches constantly, headaches and dizzy spells may occur and the victim is often weighed down by a feeling of languor and fatigue. Neglect these warnings and there is danger of dropsy, Bright's disease, or diabetes. Any one of these symptoms is warning enough to begin treating the kidneys at once. Delay often proves fatal.

You can use no better remedy than Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's Santa Fe proof:

Hyman Lowitzki, 115 Guadalupe Street, Santa Fe, N. M., says: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, as they have been used by myself and other members of my family with splendid results. The value of Doan's Kidney Pills for relieving pain in the back and other kidney difficulties has been thoroughly proven to me. I take pleasure in making the merit of this remedy known to other kidney sufferers."

CHILDREN'S HOME SOCIETY
DOING GOOD WORK.

Dr. C. E. Lukens in Santa Fe to Look After a Local Cause That Needs Attention.

Dr. Charles E. Lukens, superintendent of the Children's Home Society, which maintains a home at Albuquerque and is placing homeless or neglected children in good families, is in Santa Fe looking up a case in which four children are involved. The New Mexican prints two pictures, the first of which shows a girl before being taken care of by the society and the other is a picture of her at present. The system of the society embraces the following points, illustrative of its excellence and superiority over all other child saving methods:

1. A confederation of states, through a voluntary society, to find family homes for homeless children.
2. National and state directories and local advisory boards.
3. General state and district superintendencies.
4. Thorough supervision of all children placed, until of legal age, also of officers, work and records.
5. Quarterly and annual reports at state and national headquarters.
6. Co-operation with state, county and municipal authorities, on the theory that such a voluntary agency is supplementary to the commonwealth and necessary to the proper care of the dependent classes, and especially homeless children.

7. The missionary spirit, through which the society is organized in unoccupied states and wherever there is a homeless child or childless home.

8. Adaptation of the child to its home—the former such a child would naturally be born there.

9. Transfer of the child from the locality where born to one where it may begin a new life, with a new name, in a new home, and where it cannot be unsettled by the interference of relatives or friends; the placement quietly and unostentatiously effected.

10. Taking homeless children, when young, in the small towns and rural districts before they have time to reach the poor-houses or drift into the cities.

11. Doing and reporting exclusively one work—finding homes for homeless children.

12. The average expense of finding and placing children of all ages, including subsequent supervision until of legal age and re-placement when necessary, reduced to the minimum, is usually about $100.

13. The child is a pearl, and hence not to appear in pictures, or in life, in filth and rags, to awaken sympathy merely; but in beauty, to inspire in a good family a desire to receive it.

14. Superintendents and other agents active in seeking children, homes, funds, giving information, and extending the organization.

15. Officers chosen with reference to their aptitude for the work, trained, and kept in it during good behavior and efficiency.

16. The outlook for homeless children as large as the inlet; city and country in sympathetic touch and active co-operation.

17. Largest in territory, agencies and results, and expense the least for permanent work.

18. Prompt re-placement, when necessary for the good of the child or the home.

19. In all cases satisfactory reference and guarantees to accompany application for a child.

20. Comforting ministrations to parents living in fear of leaving their offspring penniless and homeless.

21. Temporary homes, in which the average time is about thirty days.

22. Education of the people of every community in city and country in the principles, methods, needs, and moral duties of the work; principally through instructive public addresses in churches, and suitable literature, embracing a vigorous monthly paper and a working manual for the guidance of officers in the discharge of their duties.

23. A system of records in the form of "State," "Children," "Family," "Membership," "Field," "Home," and "Final Settlement" registers, valuable for statistics and information, and, as a history of the society showing the progress of its work.

24. Continual abuse or neglect of a child under such a system almost impossible.

25. A voluntary, widespread organization, uniting city and country; non-political, interdenominational; impartial as to nationality, social condition and color; helpful without offensively antagonizing the institutional methods of fraternity, municipality, church or state; and offering to the people in the rural districts, as well as cities, everywhere a charity which they gladly use and liberally support.

26. A firm conviction, the result of experience and observation, that there is a good family home for every placeable homeless child in the United States, and that the bringing of these two factors, together in every commonwealth would be the crowning glory of nineteenth century American

CRUCIAL TEST FOR SOCIETY; WILL CHICAGO'S FAD "TAKE"?

Will Mrs. Palmer's Leadership Backed by Foreign Standards and Prudence Make Domestic Science "the Thing"?

Chicago, Ill., March 14.—Now for the crucial test of social leadership: Will Washington and New York and Boston, not to mention Pittsburg, follow the lead of Chicago where household economy not only has become a paramount problem in most exclusive circles but quite "the thing." No less a social personage than Mrs. Potter Palmer has opened her home to a chafing dish affair, at which the guests were of the social elite. The Chicago Woman's Club, one of the largest organizations of its kind in the country, which numbers among its membership some of the city's most influential women, has become vitally interested in the subject.

But will society in general follow even as a lenten fad this conspicuous example? Will the dictates of prudence triumph where lavish display has revealed? The lecturer at Mrs. Palmer's magnificent home, Miss Anna Barrows, declared that the problem was "the cost of high living and not the high cost of living." If Chicago can lead in things social the movement is on, kitchen economy will come in for consideration in most brilliant setting soon throughout the east and west. As it is a subject in high standing abroad, in England, France and other countries the prediction is made that a new milestone has been passed in American standards of what is "proper" and "good form."

Miss Barrows declared: "Waste and extravagance in purchasing meats, fruits and vegetables accounts in great part for the increased cost of living. Persons demand the choice cuts of beef, while other parts could be procured cheaper and when properly prepared would be as nourishing and as palatable. There is a great waste in buying fresh fruits where dried fruits would be as good if properly prepared."

"The trouble with American women," declared Mrs. Edward L. Upton, president of the Woman's Club, at a meeting enlivened by arguments for domestic economy in preference to other topics, "is that we have been taught to buy only the most expensive things, even when we cannot afford them, just because we think we will be losing caste if we try to be frugal."

"The cost of living problem will be solved when we get rid of some of our false pride, which even extends to the things we eat as well as the things we have and wear. There is no disgrace in serving other cuts of meat than porterhouse or sirloin steak or loin roasts. That is commendable economy. The disgrace is in being wasteful. We all know that is impossible because it is high to cut meat from our diet, especially from the menu of the working people."

Mrs. William H. Tyler, chairman of the Home Department of the Club, thinks the meat question is the most important part of the living problem. "If women knew how to buy meats intelligently," she said, "and prepare them properly there wouldn't be such an outcry against high prices."

"Just because there are expensive cuts is no reason why every woman should think she would lower her dignity by buying anything else. Eggs are cheap food, but isn't very expensive now, and a good and nourishing meal can be prepared at moderate cost by using the rump, chuck or shoulder, or other so-called cheaper cuts of meat. Dried beef, though apparently costly, is cheap because of its nutritive value, and it can be used as the basis for many delicious dishes."

VALUATION OF FARM PRODUCTS FOR CENSUS.

Bureau Must Necessarily Follow the Lines Laid Down By the Law Which Governs.

Washington, March 14.—Inquiries have been made of the census bureau whether farm products should be valued by farmers, in replying to census enumerators, at the general wholesale prices or at the actual prices obtained by the producer. It was pointed out by the inquirers that many farmers sell a proportion of their eggs for breeding, at much higher than the regular price. Others sell part or all of their milk, butter, and cream, at retail. Quite a number sell pure-bred live stock of various kinds at more or less fancy prices. The bureau's correspondents are of the opinion that if sales are quoted in this way in the census reports, the results might be somewhat uncertain as a basis for the average market prices.

Responding to these inquiries, Census Director Durand states that in forming its inquiries and instructions with reference to the value of domestic animals and fowls, the census bureau must necessarily follow the lines laid down in the law governing its action. That law requires the bureau to ascertain the number and value of animals and fowls. The value sought is not the value of some particular class of animals or fowls, but of all animals and fowls. It is the amount at which the animals and fowls can be sold. Good pure-blooded animals will sell for more, and thus have a greater value, than the poor animals. Where there are many pure-blooded the average will be higher than where the opposite condition of affairs prevails, but, as a matter of fact, the pure-blooded animals are so thoroughly distributed that they left no appreciable influence upon the average published by the twelfth census, except in the case of the young colts of the state of New Jersey.

No appreciable influence on the average price or value of eggs, milk or butter is observed in consequence of the practice mentioned by the inquirers. The high-priced eggs, milk butter, etc., are found about as much in one part of the country as in another. The average which the census will publish is not that of a particular class of eggs, but of all eggs produced. It is the same for all animals, fowls and animal products. The relative number and value of the animals and products to which specific attention has been called does not exert, for the country as a whole or for many of the states, an influence sufficient to make the average published by the census materially different from the average market prices.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF SANTA FE COUNTY.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every postoffice in the Territory, and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the Southwest.

CLIMATE BETTER THAN MEDICINE.

In the Overland Monthly for March, John L. Cowan, well known in Santa Fe, discusses the old question of the climate cure for consumption. He covers very little new ground but emphasizes with convincing logic that there is more in climate than in medicine and that the physician who fails to diagnose tuberculosis in time and fails to advise that the only hope for alleviation or cure is a change of climate, is as much a murderer as the physician who will send a penniless consumptive in the last stages of consumption away from home to die among strangers. He sums up the result of his own experience and observations as follows:

"Four years of travel and personal observation in New Mexico, Colorado, Arizona and California lead to these conclusions: That the climate of the southwest, other things being equal, is unquestionably a great assistance to recovery of consumptives; that Arizona and New Mexico possess advantages offered by no other section."

However, the New Mexican does not agree with Mr. Cowan in his fear of high altitude for certain cases. The average visitor would not take notice of the change of altitude had he not been told before hand that he is going to a high altitude. As a rule, the higher the altitude the patient can bear, the more favorable the prognosis. The writer has seen case after case sent to a lower altitude terminate fatally; he himself came to Santa Fe with what the physicians had pronounced a lesion of a valve of the heart and had suffered torments from symptoms that accompany heart disease. Strange to say, he lost these symptoms quickly in this high altitude. In certain cases of heart enlargement or disturbance of balance, the life in the higher altitude establishes what is called compensation and virtually cures certain phases of nervous and cardiac diseases. It is in such cases, that many physicians in Europe prescribe moderate mountain climbing and graduated exercises, growing more vigorous each day, contrary to the old idea that a man with heart trouble ought to avoid hill climbing and exercise. Again and again, a man or woman is taken from Santa Fe to the sea level under the false impression that it is the altitude that is harmful, only to find too late that sea level neither mitigates nor cures, but simply hastens the end. The extraordinary longevity of the people who never leave the high mountains would at least seem proof that there is nothing harmful in altitude itself, although there are certain cases of advanced tuberculosis that do not fare well on the high plateaus, nor anywhere else. But such cases were sent to the wrong climate altogether. They would suffer just as much at a low altitude in a dry and arid climate and should have been sent to the West Indies or the Riviera to die, rather than to the mountains.

Cowan, however, speaks in accordance with facts when he says:

"When the same writers and physicians that advise against removal to the climate of the southwest advise sufferers (as they all do) to sleep in the open air or with windows open, to shun damp places and beware of low-lying, swampy localities, and to spend as many hours as possible in the sunshine, they expose the fallacy and bad faith of their own position. If fresh air is beneficial, it follows that the ideal place for the treatment of consumption is a place where fresh air may be obtained winter and summer, night and day, with a minimum of discomfort, with no sudden and violent changes of temperature; where there are no blizzards, no extremes of heat in summer or of cold in winter; where the outdoor life is not only possible but pleasant at all seasons of the year."

"Similarly, if sunshine is beneficial, it follows that the best place is the place in which there is the most sunshine, where there are no fogs, where cloudy days are few and far between. If damp, swampy localities are to be avoided, why not seek the place where the humidity of the air is the lowest; for the most obtuse can understand that the dry air of the plains and plateaus differs from the moist atmosphere of the seacoast and lake shore as widely as day from night."

"If deep breathing is essential in order to correct the habitual tendency to bring only a portion of the cellular tissues of the lungs into use, it follows that the rarefied air and high altitudes of the plateau region are just what the consumptive needs—unless, of course, a weak heart makes high altitudes dangerous. When one is a mile or more above sea level, deep breathing is natural, requiring no conscious effort; one cannot help it, and in nearly every case a noticeable chest expansion results after a short residence.

"It would be difficult, indeed, to convince the tens of thousands of healthy and prosperous citizens of the southwest, whose death sentences were pronounced years ago by eastern physicians, that there is nothing to be gained by a change of climate. Many of these were told that their cases were hopeless—that at best they had but a few months of life left, and not a few were carried from their Pullman berths on stretchers; but notwithstanding the dicta of the doctors the favorable climate conditions of Colorado, New Mexico, West Texas, Arizona or Southern California restored them to health and vigor."

The article is beautifully illustrated, among the views being fine pictures of Sunmount, Fort Stanton and Fort Bayard. Santa Fe is mentioned several times as one of the most favored spots for the cure of tuberculosis. Mr. Cowan has an evident liking for this city where he spent several months and which he has widely advertised in his well written articles and sketches for the leading magazines of the country.

THE SCHOOL ELECTION.

The school elections throughout New Mexico on April 4 are of the utmost importance to the future welfare of the commonwealth. There has been a notable advance in the educational line among the rural schools of the Territory thanks to the activity of the territorial department of education and the superior caliber of the men elected in 1908 to be county school superintendents. It has been hard work in many districts to bring directors and parents into harmony with this progressive movement but the awakening is general and the cause of the public schools can be advanced very much if the right kind of men are elected next month to fill the places of school directors. There are still too many districts where an unsanitary adobe shack is thought sufficient for a school house, too many districts where a three months' term each year is deemed plenty long enough, too many districts where a balance in the school treasury at the end of the term is regarded better evidence of wise school management than a well educated child, too many districts where inferior teachers are chosen for political reasons. The hunger for a good education has seized the majority of native parents on behalf of their children and that desire should be met not only half but all the way by school directors and school authorities. It doesn't matter so much who is governor of New Mexico or delegate in Congress if the voters will next month place their schools in the hands of competent, public spirited, progressive, honest citizens who have the welfare of the schools at heart.

A glimpse of the future of Taos county is given by the fact that actual work has been started on the Hondo reservoir and the Red River ditch and will be started soon on the Cerro reservoir. The completion of these irrigation works, which are only a few of those planned, will be followed by efforts to settle colonies of immigrants on the land reclaimed and this must result inevitably in a rush of homeseekers to the public lands, the establishment of new towns and a doubling and tripling of the present population. Taos county is among the fairest portions of this great commonwealth and as it covers a greater area than the state of Rhode Island or even the state of Delaware, it is not so small. As the Questa Gazette says pointedly:

"This valley has been called a 'little valley,' probably because things here are made on a big scale generally, but don't run away with the idea that this is one of those little dinky valleys where men climb around with ladders and ropes. This is not that kind. If it was, it would be useless for the Gazette to exploit its many virtues."

The passage of the Owens bill by Congress which prohibits the sale of liquor within twenty-five miles of the borders of any reservation would make Albuquerque a dry town for the San Felipe reservation is just within twenty-five miles. Santa Fe is within twenty-five miles of the Santa Clara and Nambe reservations and Gallup and Capitan within twenty-five miles of other reservations so as to make prohibition sure for those towns in case the bill becomes a law.

Curry county will have a county seat election on April 30, in accordance with the act that created the new county and provided that the permanent county seat should be determined within a year at a popular election. Clovis is by far the largest, even though not the oldest town, of the county. Still, its population is less than one-third of the county and if there were only one outside rival, a combination might be effected that would result in a very close contest. This is not likely, however, and as Clovis is conveniently located, is a progressive city with every modern accommodation that can be expected from a new town of five thousand people, the voters of Curry county will do the wise and proper thing in voting to make Clovis the permanent county seat.

Governor Mills today issued a proclamation for the observance of Arbor Day. A copy will be sent to every school superintendent in the Territory in an effort to arouse widespread interest in tree planting. It is a praiseworthy propaganda, for tree planting will do wonders in turning arid wastes into oases of fertility and beauty. In towns like Santa Fe, especially, the school grounds should be gardens, civic centers of idyllic beauty where trees, rosebushes and other flowers flourish with such vigor that every householder will be swayed by the example to make his yard a bower of beauty as it might as well be at little expense and with little trouble. If you can't endow libraries or build monuments, plant trees!

An Austin dispatch says that "Attorney General Lightfoot of Texas is making preparations to leave for Washington to appear before the department of the interior in support of the claim of Texas to a large strip of land along the boundary of New Mexico which the authorities of that Territory have encroached upon." In other words, the big and wealthy state of Texas is preparing to swipe a strip of desirable land along the eastern border of the Territory if Mr. Lightfoot can bring it about. New Mexico's attorney general ought to "hotfoot" it to Washington so as to cover Mr. Lightfoot's tracks in the department of the interior.

Here is a valuable lesson to Santa Fe orchard owners. A dispatch from Roswell says that a drop to 28 degrees in the temperature last week failed to hurt the peach, cherry and other fruit trees which are in full blossom, the orchard owners having used smudgepots to save the blossoms. While the initial installation of smudge pots costs a few dollars per acre, the subsequent cost is slight and will save thousands of dollars in the aggregate to fruit growers in such sections as the lower Pecos, the Mesilla, the upper Rio Grande, the Santa Fe and San Juan valleys, whose bane is the late frost.

The Democratic Journal of Clovis, Curry county, does not like the manner in which the Democratic bosses are already distributing the offices, many months before the election. The only crumb of comfort in the situation is that there will be no election this fall for county officers and that by the time the state election rolls around Curry county will no longer be hopelessly Democratic, and that the fairer and juster methods which prevail among the Republicans will have to be adopted by the Democratic machine in order to enable it to hold its own.

Silver City, last week by a vote of 92 to 19 votes, decided to issue $50,000 in bonds for a sewer system. Silver City is less populous, less wealthy has fewer resources and less promise of permanency than Santa Fe and probably does not need a sewer system one-half as much as does this town. But Silver City is in the go-ahead class and believes in giving its people the best that there is to be had in municipal improvements and management.

The Republican primaries and city convention having been called it behooves all Republicans to attend the ward primaries and lift their voice and give their vote for a progressive city administration. With Frank P. Sturges as mayor and a city council composed of progressive, public spirited men, this old city will take its rightful place among the communities of the southwest, as a leader.

Democratic ex-Delegate Mark Smith in an interview in the Washington Post reiterates his belief that the present session of Congress will not pass the statehood bill. Certainly a case where the wish is the father of the thought.

With the interstate commerce commission fixing the rates and the labor unions the wages, railroad managers will have nothing else to occupy their time except arranging to borrow the money to pay the annual deficit.

It was a bad day in court for the trusts today, including the forest reserve trust and the end is not yet, for if President Taft gets the legislation he is after the unlawful trust will have to shut up shop altogether and the individual business man will again come into his own.

S.S.S. CURES CHRONIC ULCERS

There is nothing that causes more worry and discomfort than a chronic, festering ulcer. As it lingers, slowly eating into the tissues and surrounding flesh, and by its tendency to grow worse in every way, it suggests the possibility of being cancerous in its nature. Efforts to heal the ulcer by means of salves, washes, lotions, etc., always result in failure, because such treatment can have no possible effect on the blood where the impurities and morbid matters form, and are carried through the circulation to the place, to keep it open, irritated and diseased. The impurities in the blood must be removed before the healing process can begin. S. S. S. goes to the fountain-head of the trouble, and drives out the germ-producing poisons and morbid impurities which keep the ulcer open. Then as this rich, purified blood is carried to the diseased place the healing commences, the inflammation gradually leaves, the discharge ceases, new tissue and healthy flesh are formed, and soon the sore is permanently cured because the source has been destroyed. S. S. S. does not make a surface cure, but by supplying the blood with healthful, tissue-building properties it begins at the bottom and causes the flesh at the diseased spot to firmly and permanently knit together, and the place is left sound and well. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice free to all who write.

WAR ON COLD STORAGE HITS AT CONSERVATION.

TUMOR OF YEARS GROWTH

Removed by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Holly Springs, Miss.—"Words are inadequate for me to express what your wonderful medicines have done for me. The doctors said I had a tumor, and I had an operation but was soon as bad again. I wrote to you for advice, and began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as you told me to do. I am glad to say that now I look and feel so well that my friends keep asking me what has helped me so much, and I gladly recommend your Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. WILLIE EDWARDS, Holly Springs, Miss.

One of the greatest triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the conquering of woman's dread enemy—tumor. If you have mysterious pains, inflammation, ulceration or displacement, don't wait for time to confirm your fears and go through the horrors of a hospital operation, but try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once.
 For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and such unquestionable testimony as the above proves the value of this famous remedy, and should give everyone confidence.
 If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

ors of the Great Northern Railway Company, took up the cudgel in behalf of these concerns.

"The widespread and unfavorable general discussion directed against principle of conservation and to the detriment of increased food supplies to meet the requirements of our constantly increasing consuming population.

"There are few subjects which afford greater benefits than the one termed cold storage, the system of holding perishable food products in specially constructed cold storage warehouses supplied with cold air, from seasons of plenty when nature is prolific to the time when nature is dormant, and in transporting them from the heavy producing sections of the country in specially constructed refrigerator cars and refrigerated ships to the consuming sections and to all parts of the world, where they are delivered in prime condition and of excellent quality.

"It encourages the fruit grower to increase his orchards and vineyards," continued Mr. Hill, "the farmer to increase his herds and flocks, which conserve and increase the fertility of his fields, all with the assurance that the products of his orchards and his farm can be handled and preserved until the season of scarcity, and placed on the markets of the world to find ready sale.

"It insures the consumer a steady supply of the products of orchards and farms during the season of scarcity, whether he is located in the midst of producing sections or remote from them.

"Before cold storage facilities came into use, in holding and transporting perishable food products, production was discouraged on account of lack of market, and, while at that time production was lighter, large quantities of these products actually went to waste, representing vast amounts of money.

"For centuries the farmer has had practical cold storage when he has buried his apples, potatoes and other vegetables in the ground and covered them over with straw and loose earth, to keep them from freezing.

"The refrigerator of the home has long been a necessity to the housewife," said Mr. Hill in conclusion. "Circumstances and inadequate as it often is, nevertheless the residence refrigerator does on a small scale what cold storage houses do perfectly on a large scale."

WEATHER SUMMARY FOR FEBRUARY IN NEW MEXICO.

Month as a Whole Was Changeable But Fairly Pleasant—Deficiency in Precipitation.

February was a changeable month but, as a whole, fairly pleasant, dry and rather windy. The average temperature was considerably lower than in 1909, and the minimum readings were generally far below those of the previous year. The lowest recorded, 32 degrees below zero, has only been exceeded once during February in the records of the territory; 35 below zero was registered in 1905. Two periods of low temperature occurred; the first, from the 2nd to the 4th; and the second, from the 16th to the 18th; the latter proving by far the most severe, with temperatures below zero in all parts of the territory, except the southern tier of counties. The 13th-14th and 23rd to the 25th were the warm periods of the month, the 25th being generally the warmest day.

A deficiency in temperature occurred in practically all parts of the territory; only a small area in the southwest had an excess. The deficiency exceeded 3 degrees daily at many northern stations, reaching a maximum of 6.8 degrees at Chama, Rio Arriba county.

The precipitation of the month was light and mostly confined to the higher northern districts, although a fair amount was received in the central counties of Torrance, eastern Valencia, western Guadalupe, and northern Lincoln. From southern Union county southward, and from southern Lincoln westward, a large number of stations reported none whatever, and yet three fairly general periods of precipitation occurred. The first was on the 2nd and 3rd; the second, on the 15th and 16th; and the third, from the 19th to the 21st. Scattered showers (or snow flurries) also occurred on the 7th and 8th, and the 25th-26th. There was generally a marked deficiency in the precipitation for the month, exceeding one inch in western McKinley county, and running from a third to a half inch or more elsewhere throughout the territory.

About the normal amount of sunshine occurred. The average number of clear days was 17, partly cloudy 7, and cloudy 4. Considerable wind was reported, but not as much as during February 1909. The prevailing direction was from the west.

Temperature.

The mean temperature for the territory, determined from the records of 73 stations, having a mean altitude of about 5,000 feet was 35.2 degrees, or 1.5 degrees below the normal, and 3.4 degrees below the mean of 1909. The highest local monthly mean was 47.6 degrees at Carlsbad, and the highest recorded was 81 degrees at Roswell on the 25th. The lowest local monthly mean was 15.8 degrees at Hopewell, and the lowest recorded was 32 below zero at Elizabethtown on the 17th. The greatest local range in temperature for the month was 92 degrees at Wagon Mound, and the least, 54 degrees, at Fort Wingate, while the greatest daily range in temperature was 66 degrees at San Rafael on the 18th. The following are some of the other low temperatures of the territory: Rociada, 29 below zero; Red River Canyon and Vermejo Park, 26 below; Hopewell, Miami Ranch, Springer and Wagon Mound, 24 below; Fort Union, 23 below; Estancia (on the 5th), 21 below; and Albert, 20 below zero. The district average temperatures were: No. 7 (Canadian and Northeast) 36.6 degrees; No. 8, (Pecos and Rio Grande) 35.6 degrees; No. 9 (Western) 35.5 degrees.

Precipitation.

The average precipitation of the territory, determined from the records of 137 stations, was 0.35 inch below the normal, and 0.09 inch below the average of February, 1909. The greatest monthly amount was 3.04 inches at Chama, and the greatest in any 24 consecutive hours 1.10 inches at Corona on the 2nd. There was no precipitation at 18 stations, and but a trace at as many additional. The average snowfall was 4.2 inches. The higher stations and the northern districts received fair amounts of snowfall in the storms of the 2nd-3rd, and the 15th-16th. The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Plays AND Players

What is declared to be the greatest play in which she has ever appeared will be the attraction at the Elks' theater tomorrow night when Miss Blanche Walsh will be seen in "The Test." The work is that of Jules Eckert Goodman and is pronounced to be one of the most powerful plays ever produced on the American stage. The author has treated the problems of today in a most forceful, intelligent and highly interesting manner. He has woven into four acts of absorbing dialogue, heart interest and action, a phase of modern life that save Tretman from prison. The girl consents but the man proves false. Tretman goes to the penitentiary for ten years. When the stage story opens Emma has fallen in love with Arthur Thone, a young novelist of broad views who knows a great deal of her past. His sister Peggy, a young woman high in society, wants to marry McVane, whom she knows to have lived an extremely unconventional life but who has given many assurances he will reform.

The motive of the play is furnished by the opposition to the marriage of

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific New sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of this now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had.

For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend.

Personal Mention

W. J. Russell, a traveling man from New York City, is at the Claire.

Mrs. Fred Grundler and her two beautiful children, Helen and Harold, will leave this evening for their home in Chicago. They have been the guests of Mr. and James J. Gontchev.

Ex-Governor George Curry of New Mexico, came to El Paso last night from Tularosa, en route to Santa Fe, stopping at the Zeiger hotel. He will spend a few days in this city pleasure seeking, and thinks he deserves a little vacation after his many years of service. Mr. Curry, although having been in El Paso many times before, said that he always liked to get back. After a few months the ex-governor expects to return to this city and enter business.—El Paso Times.

Mrs. S. O. Fletcher, for many years a teacher in the public schools, and especially of the kindergarten, will leave this evening for Billings, Montana, where her husband and son have located and are prospering. Mrs. Fletcher's going causes great regret for she has been the most successful and most beloved teacher that Santa Fe has had in its public schools and over 600 children have passed under her tutelage, to every one of whom her retirement from school work will cause a pang.

Hon. and Mrs. W. E. Martin and H. T. Mayberry and cousin, James Mayberry, engaged passage with Zim Gibbons in his auto Tuesday from Magdalena to the Mayberry ranch. From there Mr. and Mrs. Martin were to go on with Mr. Gibbons out to the Mogollon country, expecting to return in three or four days. The trip is a long one, about a hundred and twenty-five miles one way, and this is the first time it has ever been undertaken in an automobile.—Socorro Chieftain.
