A Near Tragedy at Lincoln.

An attempt to kill occurred in Lincoln Tuesday morning, Miguel Luna being the man using the gun and Manuel Aragon the man at whom the shots were fired. There were a number of witnesses to the shooting, but only one person, John W. Owen, was actually at the scene of conflict.

It appears that Messrs. Aragon and Owen were on the front porch of the Owen home, when Miguel Luna rode up. Luna got off of his horse, spoke to and shook hands with John Owen, and as Mr. Owen turned around to offer Luna a chair, Luna is said to have accosted Aragon, applying to him a vile epithet, at the same time pulling a revolver and firing at Aragon. Owen whirled around and grappled with Luna, knocking up the revolver. Aragon, in the meantime, had raised a chair in front of his body; and the second shot from Luna's pistol, for which Owen was endeavoring to secure possession, passed through the chair and also through Aragon's shirt, but neither shot taking effect on Aragon's person. Luna was then overpowered and Owen secured possession of the revolver.

Luna was arrested and placed in jail. He was arraigned the following day before Justice Lujan, waived examination and was bound over to await the action of the grand jury in the sum of $4,000.00. This bond, at latest reports, had not been given by the defendant. It is reported that bad blood existed between the principals in the affair, but we are unable to affirm or to deny this report.

A Near Fatality at Red Lake.

Red Lake, a large body of water 12 miles northeast of here, was the scene of an accident last Sunday that came near resulting in a fatality. A party of four five left here early Sunday morning, taking with them a duck canoe, which they intended to use for duckhunting when the season opens.

Arriving at the lake, the canoe was launched, and Jerry Kelly and Stanley Squires entered it. They propelled the canoe to near the center of the lake, and seeing some ducks flying overhead, Mr. Kelly fired at them. The recoil of the gun caused Mr. Kelly to lose his balance, the frail canoe upset and the two occupants were thrown into the water, which was about twelve feet deep at that point. Squires clung to the overturned canoe and managed to keep afloat, but Kelly, who could swim but slightly, did not fare so well. His heavy hunting coat, and other clothes, in addition to several rounds of ammunition, weighed him down, and he sank twice before relief reached him.

However, he finally clutched the canoe to which he held on. After several ineffectual attempts by those on the bank to reach the imperilled men, Lee Singleton and Mason Hull pushed an old water trough into the lake, and with the assistance of a rope rescued the two men, who were in an exhausted condition from being in the water more than an hour, from their perilous situation. Mr. Kelly lost a valuable gun in the mishap, in addition to almost losing his life.

SAVING AND EARNING.

A Chicago millionaire came to this country in 1871, with 12 cents in his pocket. The other day, referring to it, he said he laid down this rule: "Never to be out of work and never to spend as much as you earn." It was that rule that made him a millionaire, and that is the kind of millionaire that is entitled to honor. His idea is that it is good for a man to save, for economy is a healthy habit, says the Ohio State Journal. As a rule men can live on half they spend, have better health, and can do more work. Let a man sit down and make a list of what he needs, not scantily but bountifully, and he will be surprised how many things he can cut out and yet keep body and mind in fine condition. There are many things that one buys that are the objects of his fancy. He sees them and wants them; if he didn't see them he wouldn't want them. We once heard of a man who would not go to market, because he said, he wanted to buy everything, and succeeded in buying much he did not need. It is possible to live well on meals that average only 10 cents per capita. In a school on the west side they do it, and that little club of teachers are hearty and happy as robins in a cherry tree. We must get out of the idea that great chunks of heavy food are required for energy. As a rule they reduce it.

The bureau of animal industry has devised what appears to be a breakfast food for horses, with the purpose to reduce the high cost of their living. This substitute for oats is composed of coconut and peanut meals and it can be produced for $15 less a ton than whole oats cost. It appears that the horses experimented with did not take eagerly to the new ration at first; quite as human beings used to find their breakfast foods cloggy until a taste was expressly cultivated. The horses had to get the habit without the encouragement which a liberal application of cream and sugar affords the bipeds. In due time, however, the animals recovered their form on the novel diet. The ration must be unquestionably justified, nevertheless, before it can be commended to those who truly love a horse. It is not the animal's fault that oats have become a luxury. Human beings have been induced to eat its natural fodder in enormous quantities and that is the reason.

A German expedition which went to German East Africa to search for dinosaurian remains reports the discovery of bones larger than any heretofore exhumed in other parts of the world. One specimen which has been secured is a humerus 6 feet 10 1/2 inches in length. This would indicate a thigh bone of nine feet. Heretofore the diplodocus has been considered the great-granddaddy of colossal land animals of all times. But the length of the humerus of the diplodocus was only three feet eleven inches. It is very safe to say of the prehistoric geological ages that "there were giants in those days."

A telephone has been installed near the pulpit of a Kansas church to enable the congregation to hear the sermon without going to church. However, it is a difficult feat to sleep and hold a receiver to one's ear at the same time.

Second Coxe Army Threatens Capital

WASHINGTON.—An army of unemployed men propose to soon swoop down on this city following in the footsteps of Coxe's famous army. James Eads How, of St. Louis, friend of the proletariat and protector of the wandering tramp, will head this great movement that is to overflow Maryland, sweep into the District of Columbia and spend its force against the walls of the national capitol and the great buildings of state along the Washington thoroughfares. It will be the first march of protest since the utter failure of the Coxe movement back in the '90s.

Somewhere between 250,000 and 500,000 of workless workers are expected to join in the march of the discontented. The campaign to gather them up is already under way. The first plans for the great march were made last spring at the Hobo convention in Milwaukee. These have since been perfected and it is hoped now that half a million from the party of discontent will join the protesting column in its march upon the capital city.

James Eads How, the St. Louis millionaire worker in the realms of trampdom, the man who laid aside the dress shirt for the blue flannel of the worker, is the moving spirit in this movement. He has been in the valley towns along the Ohio for weeks pushing the propaganda of this latter-day crusade that is expected to shake the walls of indifference and make it possible for every man who wants it to have a job.

Coxe was the leader of the first of the great marches of protest. His men marched so far that the spirit of the column was gone long before it came within striking distance of Washington. It was a failure. The army dwindled away, and but a handful of those that started on the movement stuck until the end. How and his lieutenants are studying the history of this march and hope to profit by the mistakes of Coxe and his aids. How hopes to make this march a crusade against things as they are.

Midshipmen May Early Become Ensigns

IF congress acts favorably on a recommendation made by the board of visitors to the United States Naval academy and endorsed by the secretary of the navy, a young man who has completed the course at the academy will be commissioned an ensign on graduation. Under the present law a graduate does not get his commission as an ensign until he has completed the two years' cruise at sea. This law, it is asserted, discriminates against the graduates of the Naval academy. A graduate from the Military academy at West Point gets his commission as a second lieutenant on the day of graduation, and a salary, which a graduate of the Naval academy cannot obtain until he has taken his two years' cruise.

Midshipmen receive $600 a year while at the Naval academy, under the new pay table, and during the two years they spend at sea they receive $1,400 annually. Not until they have passed their final graduation—that is to say, not until they have completed their two years' cruise—can they get the $1,700 which is paid to graduates from West Point to become second lieutenants and rank with ensigns.

The board of visitors to the academy has been urged to favor another change in the regulations of the school, but it has not yet consented to do so. This change, if granted, would raise the bar which now prevents a midshipman from marrying until he has completed his two years' cruise, or in other words, has obtained his commission as ensign.

The prohibition against marrying until final graduation is based on the assumption that the midshipman is not receiving salary enough to enable him to support a wife. The plea is made that this regulation discriminates against the midshipmen. There is no bar to a graduate of West Point marrying as soon as he receives his commission as second lieutenant.

Uncle Sam Fights to Save the Salmon

IN the interest of Alaskan salmon the extermination of the fresh-water sculpin, called also "miller's thumb," "bullhead," or "blob," is urgently demanded. It is a worthless fish, with a tendency to feed on salmon fry and salmon eggs, and has a voracious appetite and wonderful digestive apparatus.

Barton A. Bean and Alfred C. Weed of the division of fishes, United States National museum, recently have investigated the "blob" and find that it is extremely destructive to salmon eggs. These fish have no trouble gathering in the fry, two or three inches long, and occasionally manage to corner some larger ones.

Fourteen blobs were found to have made way with 39 salmon and 46 eggs, an average of almost three salmon and a little over three eggs for each fish. These blobs were not at all particular about holding to the average, as some of them had exceeded it materially, nor did they bear out the theory well known to every fisherman that the bait is first turned by the fish and swallowed head foremost. The blobs, it seems, eat them both ways.

The destructive average of the blob is estimated at six salmon a day, which is maintained for about sixty days a year. This would make the destructive capacity of one fish total 360 salmon annually, to say nothing of the little trout gathered in and sometimes little blobs. The latter kind of feeding, however, meets with the approval of the fish experts.

TOO HARD WORK.

"You are charged with having four wives living."

"Well, I don't know whether they are all living or not, judge; I can't keep track of them all."

BABY'S HAIR ALL CAME OUT

"When my first baby was six months old he broke out on his head with little bumps. They would dry up and leave a scale. Then it would break out again and it spread all over his head. All the hair came out and his head was scaly all over. Then his face broke out all over in red bumps and it kept spreading until it was on his hands and arms. I bought several boxes of ointment, gave him blood medicine, and had two doctors to treat him, but he got worse all the time. He had it about six months when a friend told me about Cuticura. I sent and got a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. In three days after using them he began to improve. He began to take long naps and to stop scratching his head. After taking two bottles of Resolvent, two boxes of Ointment and three cakes of Soap he was sound and well, and never had any breaking out of any kind. His hair came out in little curls all over his head. I don't think anything else would have cured him except Cuticura."

"I have bought Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap several times since to use for cuts and sores and have never known them to fail to cure what I put them on. Cuticura Soap is the best that I have ever used for toilet purposes." (Signed) Mrs. F. E. Harmon, R. F. D. 2, Atoka, Tenn., Sept. 10, 1910. Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere, a sample of each, with 32-page book, will be mailed free on application to "Cuticura," Dept. 16 L, Boston.

RUBBER SHOES FOR HORSES

Growing Popularity of Soft Heels for Human Feet Results in Similar Idea for Animals.

The growing popularity of rubber spring heels for human feet has resulted in a somewhat similar idea being adopted for horses, although in the latter instance the resistance of the rubber heel-pad is reinforced by a spring. The rubber pad, as shown in the illustration, is in the form of a cross bar, with the spring in a chamber between it and the top of the shoe.

EXCELLENT FOR LITTLE PIGS

Rape Has Bloating Effect on Cattle and Sheep and They Must Be Gradually Accustomed to It.

(By J. H. SHEPPERD.)

Rape is commonly sown either broadcast or in rows 30 inches apart, and cultivated. I like the row system. When it is sown broadcast alone, it is put in at the rate of five pounds of rape seed per acre of the Dwarf Essex variety; allowed to grow until it is about 14 inches high, and then pastured down with pigs or sheep as the grower may desire.

It is advisable to have two pasture lots of it, so that the stock can be changed to a fresh one, while the one which has been fed down until the stalks are about five inches high and no leaves remain on them can grow up again. It will take a very short while for it to throw out new leaves and be as heavy a growth as it was before it was pastured down. When it is sown in drill rows and cultivated, three pounds of seed per acre is sufficient. It is cultivated as corn or potatoes would be until it is so that it shades the ground completely between the rows.

Rape will stand a vast amount of stable manure, and give a surprising growth of green feed. It is excellent for growing pigs and for brood sows and their litters.

It is frequently sown in a mixture with field pens, barley and millet. It is the only one of the list of plants that will grow after being fed down and while it makes a rather quick growth after it is pastured off the first time, it springs up and supplies a vast amount of forage after the other plants have once been fed off and given a chance to grow without being crowded.

It has a very severe bloating effect on cattle and sheep and they must be very gradually accustomed to it before they can be allowed to pasture on it as long as they would naturally do. When it is damp with dew or light rain, it causes bloating to be very much worse and to come on more quickly. They can gradually be accustomed to it as they are to clover and alfalfa, so that it will do them no harm. It causes no trouble when feeding pigs or horses on it.

INDIVIDUAL PENS FOR HOGS

Many of Best Swine Growers Are Providing Themselves With Two Types of Houses for Animals.

Whether the large house with individual pens is better than the individual cot is an open question, perhaps largely a matter of individual preference. Each has its distinct advantage which cannot be secured in the other. Many of the best hog raisers are now providing themselves with both types of houses, and this seems to be the most satisfactory method. It is no more expensive in the long run, for all the buildings can be kept in use the year around. In such cases the large houses are used for farrowing quarters, and as soon as the pigs are a week or two old, or as soon as the weather permits, the sows and litters are removed to the individual cots. During the remainder of the year the large houses are utilized for sleeping quarters.

SALT SHED FOR THE PASTURE

Permanent Covering May Be Easily Made and Is Quite Inexpensive—Thatch Keeps It Dry.

A shed covering a permanent salting place for animals in the field or pasture, may be cheaply and easily built. It may be either circular or square and covered with boards, or thatched with straw. The stump of a tree or post may be used, and a wooden measure firmly fastened on top, or set into the top, should be filled frequently with rock salt. The post should be of a height to enable sheep to reach the salt. The thatch keeps it dry at all times.

Grain for Draft Colt.

Don't forget that your draft colts need some grain this summer. You may let them eat with the mares, but it is better to provide a place where they may eat undisturbed and get the amount they ought to have. There is nothing better than oats for young colts, but it is a good idea, also, to give a little corn. That is the way to make big horses out of them.

Keep Pigs Coming On.

Keep the pigs coming right along. Provide shelter for them as well as wallows. If you are carrying over any big sows remember that there is danger of their succumbing to the heat if there isn't some water or mud for them to lie in, and don't forget that they need water inside as well as outside. Keep the drinking troughs well filled with pure, clean water.

THEY CHEATED AT CARDS

Experienced Shopper, Who Was Wise, Put Hubby Onto Facts of the Case.

Speaking of family poker parties this really happened:

A young married couple attended such a session at the home of a neighbor the other night. And when this young couple got home, the female end of the sketch said:

"Jim, I hate to say anything about the Halls—they seem to be nice people. But I'm afraid they cheat at cards."

"Nonsense!"

"I knew you'd say that, and it's dear of you to be so unsuspecting. But—well, what was the price of the chips, tonight? Five cents each? That's what I thought. Jim, I examined those chips carefully, and they're the very same thing that I could have bought at Jones' store for a dollar a hundred in all three colors, too!"

Nothing Doing but Talk.

The following is told of a federal official, formerly a senator of the United States from Kentucky.

In the days of his youth the Kentuckian was asked by a friend to second him in a duel. He consented, and at sunrise the parties met at the appointed place.

Now it was this Kentuckian's duty to say the last words touching the terms of the duel. But, although he faithfully performed this duty, the duel never took place.

A murmur of "Why not?" invariably goes round whenever this story is told, whereupon the answer is as follows:

"For a very simple reason. When Joe finished speaking it was too dark for a duel."—Chicago Journal.

Bella—Yes. She believes that matches are made in heaven.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Peoria, Ill.—"I wish to let every one know what Lydia E. Pinkham's remedies have done for me. For two years I suffered. The doctors said I had tumors, and the only remedy was the surgeon's knife. My mother bought me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and today I am a healthy woman. For months I suffered from inflammation, and your Sanative Wash relieved me. Your Liver Pills have no equal as a cathartic. Any one wishing proof of what your medicines have done for me can get it from any druggist or by writing to me. You can use my testimonial in any way you wish, and I will be glad to answer letters."—Mrs. CHRISTINA REED, 105 Mound St., Peoria, Ill.

Another Operation Avoided.

New Orleans, La.—"For years I suffered from severe female troubles. Finally I was confined to my bed and the doctor said an operation was necessary. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial first, and was saved from an operation."—Mrs. LILY PEYROUX, 1111 Kerlerec St., New Orleans, La.

The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

For County Clerk.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for County Clerk of Lincoln County, pending the action of the Democratic primaries and nominating convention, at their regular call.

D. W. ROBERTS.

For Sheriff.

I hereby announce my candidacy for the nomination of Sheriff of Lincoln county, subject to the action of the democratic party.

ANDY S. MAYES.

Announcements to Candidates.

The campaign for state, district and county offices is beginning, and, naturally, we expect announcements from candidates for the respective offices. A fee is charged for each announcement, just as a price is charged for any and all advertising. Liberal space will be devoted to the candidate announcing for office, for which no additional charge will be made.

We wish it understood that our columns are open to any and all candidates at the regular fee, but that, while appreciating a liberal patronage, we assume no obligation to candidates, and proffer no assistance merely because our columns are used and paid for in making announcements. The mere fact that we place a man's candidacy before the public is full remuneration for the small outlay. We do not believe that a newspaper should advocate any man for nomination to office, particularly to a local office, until the people have spoken, and in the pursuance of this belief the News will remain neutral as to any man's candidacy until after nominations have been made.

The Right of the People to Govern Themselves.

From the Saturday Evening Post.

A really big question is involved in Arizona statehood; but with that question the recall of judges has nothing whatever to do. The real question is that of the right of the people of Arizona to govern themselves within the limits of the Federal constitution. A veto of the Arizona statehood bill is a flat denial of that right.

The Arizona constitution is progressive. It provides for initiative and referendum; for the recall of legislative and executive officers who have betrayed the trust reposed in them; and it may easily be amended by the people in any particular at any time.

All this, naturally, is highly offensive to the reactionary mind that turns with admiration to the exceedingly conservative and almost unamendable constitution of New Mexico. But all of these features are found in the constitution of other states, and the right of the people of a state to frame such government as they choose—provided it is not in conflict with the Federal constitution—is so clear that conservatism would not have ventured to deny statehood to Arizona upon any of those counts. No one could seriously argue that recall for judges, any more than recall for governors, violates the Federal constitution; but that further provision in the Federal constitution afforded conservatism a means of expressing its abhorrence of the spirit of the whole document.

Being progressive is Arizona's sin.

For County Clerk.

The announcement of Capt. D. W. Roberts for county clerk appears in this issue of the News. Captain Roberts announces his candidacy for clerk, subject to the will of the democratic party. The captain has so long been a resident of Lincoln county, so well known and so thoroughly identified with the affairs of the county, that, to all old timers, it seems superfluous to review his history here. But the country has filled up with strangers the past few years, and they should know something of the candidate's standing and capability. Captain Roberts has been a resident of Lincoln county since the early eighties; has been engaged in stockraising, merchandising and mining. He was elected sheriff of Lincoln county in 1890, and performed the duties of that office impartially and satisfactorily. He is a good penman, capable of keeping a neat set of books—a necessary attainment for the office to which he aspires. The duties of the county clerk, under the constitution, are dual; he must also act as district clerk of his county, and the many old friends of the captain regard him as peculiarly fitted for this double duty. We have no hesitancy in saying that he is an honest, capable citizen of whom the county is justly proud, and if chosen to the clerkship will render faithful and efficient service.

Prof. Cardwell left on a pleasure jaunt to Vaughn Friday to return in time for business. The school under his care will continue through September we learn.

The weather has moderated considerably in the past week. These first autumn days are almost severe enough for frost.

There is talk of a picnic and barbecue here, at the same old place, about the middle of this month. The date and program will probably be settled upon by next week, and will be published in the News.

The Littell mining company has had a small force prospecting the Geneva, a claim belonging to the company, for the past week, and the prospects are very gratifying, as from the very start free gold was in evidence, which may lead to a larger force being put to work.

Difference of Opinion.

When the board met here Tuesday to accept the assessor's tax rolls for the year 1911, Treasurer Watson was requested to receipt for the tax roll that went to the auditor's office. Dr. Watson asked the board if he was to be allowed anything for coming here to receive the tax rolls. The board replied in the negative, basing its action upon the opinion of Judge Wright, that no official was entitled to pay for coming to Carrizozo. The treasurer then said he did not want to sign for the auditor's roll except the board allowed him remuneration for his trip over here. The roll was then sent in without the treasurer's receipt attached.

It appears to us that the treasurer should have receipted for the auditor's book, which is a facsimile of the other two, in order that the treasurer might be charged, by the auditor, with the 1911 tax roll. It is true the treasurer must receipt the clerk for one of the rolls, but his receipt to the auditor also would simply make it possible to keep a complete check by two separate officers. This is merely a statement of the difference existing between the board and the treasurer, without any embellishments, one way or another, and our readers may judge for themselves the merits of the case.

A Serious Accident at Fort Stanton.

Last Thursday, Ben Coe, a son of B. F. Coe, employed at Fort Stanton, while attending a sawing machine, narrowly escaped losing an arm by having his hand caught by the fast moving saw: as it was he lost the third and small fingers, besides having his hand badly lacerated. It appears that while feeding wood to the machine, the saw caught the top of his right glove, pulling the hand and arm down between the saw and frame, the blade splitting the hand longitudinally between the second and third fingers for three inches above the wrist before the power was turned off. His injuries were attended to almost immediately by the Fort Stanton doctors, and he is reported to be getting along all right, although minus two fingers. The doctors are of opinion that he will have almost full use of his arm.

A Lynching Averted.

A lynching bee was organized here Monday night, the participants unknown, but more for the purpose of getting an undesirable character out of town than for doing him bodily injury, it seems. One of the colored patients had been run out of Fort Stanton for making improper proposals to some woman at the Fort. He came to Carrizozo Monday, and it was reported that he did a similar thing here, but in neither case did he lay hands on the women. A crowd gathered that night, made a bluff at a lynching, but in reality gave the offender a very bad scare and told him to hit the road, which, from current rumor, he was not long in doing.

As usually treated a sprained ankle will disable man for three or four weeks, but by applying Chamberlain's Liniment freely as soon as the injury is received, and observing the directions with each bottle, a cure can be effected in from two to four days. For sale by all dealers.

For bowel complaints in children always give Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy and castor oil. It is certain to effect a cure, and when reduced with water and sweetened is pleasant to take. No physician can prescribe a better remedy. For sale by all dealers.

Decision in the County Seat Case.

News reached here Saturday morning by wire, from Santa Fe, that the territorial supreme court had, the day previous, handed down a decision in the Lincoln county seat case. The message was to the effect that the supreme court affirmed the decision of the lower court, which was in favor of Carrizozo. From this decision an appeal was taken to the supreme court of the United States. It is now believed that the injunction will at once be dissolved, and that work will soon recommence on the courthouse and jail buildings.

For Sheriff.

In another column will be found the announcement of Andy S. Mayes for the office of sheriff of Lincoln county. Mr. Mayes announces his candidacy subject to the action of the democratic party. Though a resident of Lincoln county since 1881, Mr. Mayes has never been a candidate for office, and in thus announcing for office has no enemies to conciliate nor friends to reward. He is free from entangling alliance and asks support for nomination and election upon his reputation as a citizen of long standing in the county, and his ability to acceptably fill the position to which he aspires. Mr. Mayes was married at Nogal in this county, and has reared his family here. He has been in the cattle business practically all the time of his residence in this county, and now owns a ranch below Oscuro. His long residence in the county gives him an acquaintance with the county and its people enjoyed by few men. His acquaintances recognize in him a man of sterling integrity, fearless in the performance of duty, and a man well suited for the office of sheriff. His candidacy is bringing forth a substantial support, and he has many friends who are lending him aid for the nomination.

ZIEGLER BROS.

"The House of Good Taste"

SUFFERED AGONY.

Backache, Headache and Dizziness Caused Untold Misery.

Henry J. White, 416 No. 3rd St., Ft. Smith, Ark., says: "I suffered everything but death from terrible kidney trouble. I did not have a moment's peace. The urine resembled blood and left a red stain when it touched the linen. When passed, fire could not have burned more. I had awful headaches and dizzy spells and my back ached constantly. I began using Doan's Kidney Pills after various remedies had failed to help me and was completely cured. I have had no sign of kidney trouble since."

Remember the name—Doan's. For sale by druggists and general storekeepers everywhere. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

A Clue.

"How did the accident happen?" asked the reporter on the scene of the railway horror, the Cleveland Plain Dealer records.

"Somebody stopped the train by pulling the airbrake cord," answered the conductor. "So the second section ran into us. It will take six hours to clear the track so that we can go ahead."

"Six hours?" shrieked a passenger. "And I was to married today!"

"Have you any idea who pulled the rope?" continued the reporter, disregarding the interruption.

"I didn't have until now," whispered the conductor. "But what do you think of that fellow that just butted in? I'll sic the detectives on him."

New Penal System for Ontario.

The Ontario government has recently abolished the system of prison labor contracts in that province. In future the majority of the prisoners in the penal institutions of Ontario will be employed upon farms and the making of roads in the newly opened districts. There will, however, be a percentage of the prisoners whose health or other circumstances prevent them from joining in this open air work. These men will manufacture hospital supplies—beds, blankets and so forth.

His Criticism.

An old man stood on the street corner in Cherryvale when the trolley stopped and let off a woman passenger. She had on a linen dress, a Panama hat, champagne-colored hose and strapped pumps. "Gosh!" exclaimed the old man. "I'd spend less money on my bonnet and buy some socks."—Cherryvale (Kan.) Journal.

A Crime.

"What do you think of the plot?" asked the theater manager. "That isn't a plot," replied the man who had paid two dollars to see the show. "That's a conspiracy."

STRAINER AND DRIP CATCHER

Combination Tea Table Implement That Will Prevent Getting Spots on Cloth.

In order to catch the drip from the strainer after tea or coffee has been poured through it a new invention provides a drip bowl which may be swung under the strainer. The strainer is pivoted in a pair of arms extending upward from the drip bowl. The handle of the device is attached to the bowl and not to the strainer, so that when the handle is turned to one side the strainer will maintain its normal position, while the drip bowl is swung out of the way. When the handle is turned past a certain angle the arms engage a lip formed on the strainer, so that the strainer will also be tipped, and may be inverted to free it of the dregs of grounds that have collected therein.

PORK MUST BE WELL COOKED

Many Suffer From Trichinosis by Eating Pig Meat That is Carelessly Cooked.

Cases of illness sometimes occur from eating uncooked or insufficiently cooked pork which is infested with a microscopic parasite commonly known as trichina or flesh-worm, the scientific name being Trichinella spiralis. An average of 1 or 2 per cent of the hogs slaughtered in the United States are infested with this parasite. When transmitted to human beings, trichina may cause serious illness, sometimes resulting in death. Out of about 15,000 cases of trichinosis recorded in medical literature, most of which occurred in Europe, 830 resulted fatally.

A temperature of about 160 degrees Fahrenheit kills the parasite, therefore pork when properly cooked may be eaten without any danger of infection. Fresh pork should be cooked until it becomes white and is no longer red in color in all portions of the piece, at the center as well as near the surface.

Dry salt pork, pickled pork, and smoked pork previously salted or pickled, providing the curing is thorough, are practically safe so far as trichinosis is concerned, but as the thoroughness of the curing is not always certain, such meat should also be cooked before it is eaten.

Honey Soap.

Honey soap is very softening to the skin. Many of the soaps sold under this name have little or no honey in them. It is quite easy to make at home as follows: Put into a lined saucepan one pound of good primrose soap cut up into shreds and just enough water to keep it from burning; add quarter pound of pure honey and one ounce of glycerine, a few drops of perfume with two tablespoonfuls of fine oatmeal; stir till the soap is dissolved, let it boil two or three minutes, then pour into a deep dish. When quite cold cut into convenient size pieces; store it in a dry place so that it gets quite hard.

GOWNS FOR DOG DAYS

STYLISH MODEL FOR GIRL WHO IS OWN DRESSMAKER.

Simple, Cool Afternoon Frock That Launderers Well and Costs Little Money is Most Needed During Hot Spell.

It is astonishing how many girls make their own frocks nowadays and what taste and good sense they put into the buying of the materials. The primary reason for the industry, of course, is that so many changes are needed for a smart appearance, and where money is not plentiful there is nothing to do but to acquire the gentle art of the needle. As to the discretion displayed with the purchasing, it must be due to the fact that so many mothers give a dress allowance and wisely stop with the sum agreed upon, no matter how many other things are wanted. In this way the girl learns how to make the dress money cover everything needed and the experience gained thereby is certain to benefit her all her life.

The dress most needed at this dog day time is the simple, cool afternoon frock that launders well, that costs little money and yet, somehow, presents an appearance dainty enough for all the little social occasions that come up. This simple and girlish gown can be turned out for $2, and if the material is carefully chosen and the work well done, it will have a stamp of real distinction. Ramie linen, in a dull shade of coronation purple, is one of the textures much used now for the semi-dress frock the smart girl wears in the afternoon. This material and various muslins of effective pattern—preferably stripes—are made up into one-piece effects, with the inevitable collarless neck and elbow sleeves. There is always a dainty flat collar in white, too, flare cuffs matching, or the collarless neck line will end with a little bias of the gown material, this bit of color showing smartly on the white.

In our illustration are given two frocks which may be used for both indoors and out, and be made up most inexpensively. The one at the left is a collarless morning frock for a girl of sixteen, the bodice and attached skirt fastening down the front. With the blue and white check a stripe in the same is employed for making the neat collar and cuff bands and a deep skirt edge. Five yards and a half of wide gingham would turn out this trim and useful gown and the girl would find it invaluable for outdoor sports, such as tennis, boating or golf. Then it is fine for the small housekeeping duties the daughter of the family so often takes upon herself and whose cares are lightened by half if she feels herself prettily dressed.

The second dress in this cut is a one-piece model with side fastening for an older girl. Ramie would be appropriate for this and coronation purple the first choice for color. The pretty braid and buttons used would be most effective in white, although the same color could be used and the result be even handsomer. Here the dress is of ramie in a soft gray shade, with braid bands in the same color; the dark piece on the turn-over collar is of coral pink linen, the round bone buttons matching the tone.

Either of these dress styles, with some change, is adapted to handsomer textures, but as this is the season for the simple frock of so-called wash sort I would advise tub textures with the present simplicities of make. Seven yards of 27-inch goods would turn out this frock for a girl of eighteen.

ONE ON THE OLD GENTLEMAN

Absolute Fact Destroyed Force of Well-Meant Argument for Temperance.

On a pleasant Sunday afternoon an old German and his youngest son were seated in the village inn. The father had partaken liberally of the home-brewed beer, and was warning his son against the evils of intemperance. "Never drink too much, my son. A gentleman stops when he has enough. To be drunk is a disgrace."

"Yes, father, but how can I tell when I have enough or am drunk?"

The old man pointed with his finger. "Do you see those two men sitting in the corner? If you should see four men there, you would be drunk."

The boy looked long and earnestly. "Yes, father, but—but—there is only one man in that corner."—Lippincott's.

LUCKY MISTAKE.

Grocer Sent Pkg. of Postum and Opened the Eyes of the Family.

A lady writes from Brookline, Mass.: "A package of Postum was sent me one day by mistake.

"I notified the grocer, but finding that there was no coffee for breakfast next morning I prepared some of the Postum, following the directions very carefully.

"It was an immediate success in my family, and from that day we have used it constantly, parents and children, too—for my three rosy youngsters are allowed to drink it freely at breakfast and luncheon. They think it delicious, and I would have a mutiny on my hands should I omit the beloved beverage.

"My husband used to have a very delicate stomach while we were using coffee, but to our surprise his stomach has grown strong and entirely well since we quit coffee and have been on Postum.

"Noting the good effects in my family I wrote to my sister, who was a coffee toper, and after much persuasion got her to try Postum.

"She was prejudiced against it at first, but when she presently found that all the ailments that coffee gave her left and she got well quickly she became and remains a thorough and enthusiastic Postum convert.

"Her nerves, which had become shattered by the use of coffee have grown healthy again, and today she is a new woman, thanks to Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich., and the "cause why" will be found in the great little book, "The Road to Wellville," which comes in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Some Feeling.

One day small Tommy was given a piece of fish for his dinner. "What kind of fish is this?" he asked. "Shad," replied his mother. "Well," said Tommy, "a shad must be pretty sure of anything it feels in its bones."

And Spreads Rapidly.

"I've given up telling my wife anything."

"So have I mine. It simply goes in at one ear and out at the other."

"That isn't the trouble with my wife. It goes in at one ear and comes out at her mouth."

The Worst of It.

Merchant—It seems to me that you ask high wages considering that you have had no experience in this business.

Clerk—Ah, but you forget that that's just what makes it all the harder for me.

Quotations of History.

With extreme reluctance Hercules had put on women's garments and was spinning wool.

"Look at me!" he exclaimed bitterly. "Ain't I a lovely thing to be courting a Queen of Lydia!"

Worse than that, he suspected the wool of being three-fourths cotton.

A Good Carriage.

"Ma, I didn't know the Swift's kept horses."

"They don't. What made you think so?"

I heard pa telling a man that Mrs. Swift has the finest carriage of any woman he knows."

Not the Same.

"Do you believe a fish diet is calculated to strengthen the brain?" asked the innocent youth.

"Can't say that I do," replied the wise guy, "but I believe that going fishing invigorates the imagination."

Pointed Paragraphs.
