GRAND DEMOCRATIC RALLIES

ALL ABOUT THE MACHINE

Governor McDonald a Pleasing Surprise—He Talks for Over an Hour and a Half While People Remain Interested.

FERGUSON TUESDAY

Large and Appreciative Audience Always Interesting he Improves Each Time he Comes—Mr. White a Good Speaker.

Governor Wm. C. McDonald and party, consisting of Geo. H. Van Stone, of Estancia, nominee for corporation commissioner and Mr. Lillard, the young president of National democratic clubs, besides several from Artesia who accompanied the party, came as advertised Monday evening.

They were somewhat delayed on account of rain but arrived on schedule time, though the trip by auto from Artesia was difficult. Then some one started a report that their autos were hung up and the engagement was cancelled. This served to keep many away. As soon as Mr. McDonald could get supper and make a hasty toilet, he accompanied a large delegation from the Schlitz to the People's Theatre, arriving there about 8.45.

Dr. Cowan, county chairman, opened the meeting, presenting Captain Bajac, who introduced Mr. Van Stone, who made a ten minute speech. He said he was a business man and not an orator or a politician, and he told way he, a republican, was out to assist in the defeat of the gang that has misruled New Mexico for years. He believed it the duty of all good citizens to assist in good government, which he was doing in an endeavor to elect a democratic governor. He did not ask for the nomination and had no idea it would be given to him when he was nominated. He promised a faithful performance of duty, if elected. Mr. Van Stone made a very favorable impression.

Wm. C. McDonald, the nominee for governor, was then introduced. After paying a high compliment to the progress of this section, since he was here in 1885, when this was called Loving's Bend, now, he said, Carlsbad is one of the most beautiful towns in New Mexico and I have been all over the territory. "I can see the improvement which no doubt escapes you. In my travels I have met many old time acquaintances and in every case whether democrat, stand pat or progressive republican they are all my friends."

Mr. McDonald is a man about five feet, eight inches, with sandy mustache, a very bald head, surrounded by about three inches of sandy hair. He stands erect and looks square at his audience; never in the course of his address did he flinch for a moment from the gaze of the hundreds who faced him. He went at his subject like a man fully imbued with its importance and a determination to impress his hearers with some of his own earnestness and sincerity. As he warmed to his subject he said among other things the following:

"I came to see the people of Carlsbad and let them get a square look at me—not a side view." "Many credit the republican gang with giving us statehood but we never got it until we got a democratic congress, and then we came close to not getting it." We sent a committee to Washington who saw an opportunity to play pretty good politics and at the same time to do good for the people and get the credit. "The men we sent won." "Had we failed to get the amendment we would have been condemned; for the principal objection to the constitution was its difficulty of amendment; for it provided for a two-thirds majority of both houses of the legislature to amend besides other difficult features which amounted to a provision that the four counties of San Miguel, Rio Arriba, Colfax and Socorro could block any amendment and these counties are in the hands of bosses, Chas. Springer, T. D. Buras, Eugenio Romero and Barsum. The provision requiring any amendment to carry by a majority in one-half the counties of the state, would require many more than one-half the votes for there are always many who will not vote either way and this provision places them against amendment. "But this constitution was never intended, by its makers, to be amended, and the republican party in Washington never intended to pass a statehood bill. "We had been trying to get statehood for twenty-five years and a democratic house had passed it four times and when it was rushed through at the last moment they thought we democrats were unorganized and that the machine could control New Mexico. We have no machine politics, no bosses, and are not going to have prefer to be with the people." "They say I am a cattle man, but do not say I have sheep—but I have. However, I have never been able to get them on the registration books." "Our platform declares for a corrupt practices act, good roads, direct primaries and many other reforms not mentioned in the republican platform." "It is impossible to get an appointment without the endorsement of the machine. They will get you into office and then tell you to be good. If you endeavor to escape from the control of the machine, as did Ex-Governor Hagerman, and do right, they will remove you. Roosevelt said he would remove Hagerman if they could get up something against him and charges were easily made and he was removed. Roosevelt wanted the New Mexico delegation for Taft, so removed an honest man and I ask: Is there a man who knows Herbert who will say he is not honest? Larrizolo proved that the republicans stole the delegateship in the election of 1906 and it would seem he has been persuaded (?) that it would be a good thing to stand in with thieves." "When we said we favored good government for New Mexico, one man said: "You have not counted on election day. Remember in 1882, we voted all the sheep in Valencia county." We never had a show until now and with the aid of the progressive republicans who are entitled to the greatest of credit we will win. I have no money to buy votes but will put up to prosecute those who do buy them. There is not a man on the republican ticket that is superior to a man on the democratic ticket."

"Malaguez Martinez, the reporter office. I have seen men I would not vote for whom I would help personally."

"We have Mr. McGill nominated for attorney general. He is an able man, went to Washington, spent his own money. His opponent, Clancy, opposes the blue ballot and Ferguson. Appealing to race prejudice they tell the people in the west that if the blue ballot wins that the Texas people here will control, and here they tell us the Mexicans along the Rio Grande will control if a majority can amend the constitution. In Sandoval county, where there never before was a democratic ticket known, a full progressive republican-democratic ticket is in the field. In the convention of that county 57 out of 70 delegates went over to the democrats and progressives and helped nominate a ticket." "Valencia, the banner republican county, Sol. Luna is the worst governed in the United States. There is not a public school in the county, except one at Belen and this is a typical republican county of New Mexico." "The machine republicans don't like me; they are afraid I will go snooking around and find out something. You know we had a traveling auditor. After an expert accountant had found a shortage in Barsum's accounts the auditor found the territory owed Barsum instead far more by several thousand than Barsum owed. Only one defalcation found. If I can get evidence we will put some behind bars."

"My chief crime is said to be that I worked for an English company and did not let them go broke and if I work for you I will serve you as faithful and that will be honor enough for me." We have taken our case to the people and depend on their judgment to elect us November 7. When I am governor I expect to execute the law and see that every wrong doer is punished. No man has asked who I will appoint or what my policy will be. They tell me that I am a prohib in one place and a saloon man in another place. The Optic, New Mexican and Albuquerque Herald say I lie, and I must have, if they say so. If you put the same bunch back in power don't expect any relief from high fees for county officials for there are 260 county officers in New Mexico and they can afford $500 each to hold down the fee system. Note what a powerful lobby this would sustain. If you put the same gang back you will wish you had never been a state. In one county one family holds all the offices and they put up plenty of campaign funds for the state ticket. Do you think their 'salaries' will be reduced if their friends get in? We ask you to get out and vote for we must not only have a majority on election day but for weeks after. What they count on is the ability of sheep. (Laughter and applause.)

There were 387 voters registered in a population of 600 at one place. These facts were shown and the number suddenly fell to 137. The facts are it is impossible to get a vote counted in some places in Sandoval county, where there have been several murders committed, that never were investigated. In Socorro county the district clerk was short and the candidates for judge and attorney general paid the shortage. I look to Eddy county for the biggest democratic majority and expect it to be the banner county of the new state."

After the speaking, the McDonald quartet, Messrs. Armstrong, Woolley, Penny and E. H. Pratt, sang "My Country 'tis of Thee" and the people filed in front to shake the hand of the new governor. The meeting was one of the most enthusiastic ever held here and the governor made a fine impression, many republicans pledging their support.

The Ferguson Meeting

The second democratic meeting of the week was held Tuesday evening in the opera house with a good crowd present. The Carlsbad band furnished the music for the occasion. The meeting was called to order by Dr. W. G. Cowan, who introduced J. W. Eden to present the speakers of the evening.

The first speaker was Judge Dunn, nominee for the supreme court who spoke briefly on the issues of the campaign in general. He drew a graphic word picture of the achievements of Frederic the Great and applied the same to that of Mr. Ferguson and the present campaign, urging all voters, and especially democrats to turn out and cast their vote on November 7th. The next speaker was Alvan N. White, nominee for superintendent of public instruction.

He opened his discourse by a humorous allusion to the personally conducted campaign, referred to his official record as county school superintendent and asked for support for the office sought. He scored the text book monopoly, showed how the curricula of the various public schools were dominated by the text book trust all through the eighth grades and pledged himself to work unceasingly for a remedy of these conditions.

He endorsed the free text book movement for use in public schools, also that he would use his influence to eliminate politics from the school system.

He stated that in his travels over the territory he had found conditions most favorable for the success of the democrats.

He praised the wonderful resources of the Pecos valley, the beautiful fields of alfalfa, shady driveways and the immense orchards on all hands.

He predicted a grand majority and a rousing success for the entire democratic ticket on election day, one week hence.

The next speaker introduced was H. B. Ferguson, nominee for congress. After he had reviewed the ancient history both of English and Roman empires and showed how the down-trodden people were hampered and oppressed by the powers, led up to modern times and applied the same to local conditions, saying the common people today are oppressed by the monied interests and the republican party.

He brought out hearty applause by a eulogistic reference to the staunch stalwart and fearless leadership of William Jennings Bryan.

The speaker showed how the alliance of progressive republicans was brought about by the demands of the people for a change of administration. He showed how La Follette, Cummings and Bristow were fighting for the rights of the people and his reference to Champ Clark brought hearty applause.

He claimed that public opinion and not the republican party admitted New Mexico and Arizona to the Union. He outlined how bossism controlled the politics of the state from the wards in the cities to the county conventions and even legislatures.

He urged every voter to get out and help swell the democratic majority election day, next Tuesday. He praised the Pecos Valley and the opportunities it offered for its growth and development, and predicted a double population within the next few years.

He departed on Wednesday morning for a two days campaign in Rio Arriba county, and thence back nearer home to work unceasingly for the democratic cause until the votes are counted at the close of the election day, November 7th.

The "Blue Ballot" and the Way it Should be Marked.

ARTICLE XIX.

"The Secretary of State shall cause any such amendment or amendments to be published in at least one newspaper in every county of the State, where a newspaper is published once each week for four consecutive weeks in English and Spanish, when newspapers in both of said languages are published in such counties, the last publication to be not more than two weeks prior to the election at which time said amendment or amendments shall be submitted to the electors of the State for their approval or rejection, and the said amendment or amendments shall be voted upon at the next regular election held in said State after the adjournment of the legislature proposing such amendment or amendments, or at such special election to be held not less than six months after the adjournment of said legislature, at such time as said legislature may by law provide. If the same be ratified by a majority of the electors voting thereon such amendment or amendments shall become part of this constitution. If two or more amendments are proposed they shall be so submitted as to enable the electors to vote on each of them separately. Further that no amendment shall apply to or affect the provisions of Sections one and three of Article VII hereof, on elective franchise, and sections eight and ten of Article XII hereof, on education, unless it be proposed by vote of three-fourths of the members elected to each house and be ratified by a vote of the people of this State in an election at which at least three-fourths of the electors voting in the whole State and at least two-thirds of those voting in each county in the State shall vote for such amendment.

"Section 2. Whenever, during the first twenty-five years after the adoption of this constitution the legislature be a three-fourths vote of the members elected to each house, or after the expiration of said period of twenty-five years by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to each house, shall deem it necessary to call a convention to revise or amend this constitution, they shall submit the question of calling such convention to the electors at the next general election and if a majority of all the electors voting on such question at said election in the State, shall vote in favor of calling a convention the legislature shall, at the next session, provide by law for calling the same. Such convention shall consist of at least as many delegates as there are members of the House of Representatives. The constitution adopted by such convention shall have no validity until it has been submitted to and ratified by the people.

"Section 3. If this constitution be in any way so amended as to allow laws to be enacted by direct vote of the electors, the laws which may be so enacted shall be only such as might be enacted by the legislature under the provisions of this constitution.

"Section 4. When the United States shall consent thereto, the legislature, by a majority vote of the members in each house, may submit to the people the question of amending any provision of Article XXI of this constitution in compact with the United States to the extent allowed by the Act of Congress permitting the same, and if a majority of the qualified electors who vote upon any such amendment shall vote in favor thereof the said article shall be thereby amended accordingly.

"Section 5. The provisions of Section one of this article shall not be changed, altered, or arogated in any manner except through a general convention called to revise this constitution is herein provided."

any. When a republican convention was called, and we have the right to take the word of State Superintendent Clark, who was there with his delegation, instructed for him, after a half-dozen men had made the ticket, his name was not even mentioned. The bosses had the power to make the officers for the new state and used it. But, they forget the people and the people will make the officials not the bosses of that convention. The democrats held a convention and nominated Mr. Van Stone and Mr. Hanna who are progressive republicans and they did not ask for the nomination. They are entitled to your votes as much as any democrat, for they are fighting for the same principles. Mr. Hanna has fought the republican gang, in Santa Fe, for years. I could have kept still and made more than by being governor. I could be with Curry, Fall, Larrizolo and Pope and do well, but I lican candidate for lieutenant governor, has enough to do at home with bank affairs. He has been busy; he can't get out of Taos county. He is too busy."

"Curry is a good fellow but I know he does not deserve your vote as does Paz Valverde. You can't tell by Curry's talk when he is in this valley but what he is a democrat but when he goes over on the Rio Grande he says he is a good republican. He was always a democrat but saw something good in the machine of New Mexico, so he got on the band wagon. Here he even talks elect Ferguson and Curry, but over there it is different. I know I am censured for exposing this but I intend to be plain. Paz Valverde is working hard to carry Union county. Curry never before was known to express a republican sentiment until he got office from republicans. I have very little use for the man who changes politics to get office or just after he gets Bursum Wouldn't Look Up.

He arose to speak, deep silence fell
And all who listened, listened well
To hear what Bursum had to tell.
But Bursum wouldn't look up.

We sat and gazed with entranced grace
On the top of his head at a little bald place
But we sought in vain to see his face.
For Bursum wouldn't look up.

Some said his movement was keen,
While others said his eye was mean,
To both we say it must have been
Or Bursum could have looked up.

The stand pattern tell us he is clean,
That in him is no streak of mean,
But to everyone it was clearly seen
That Bursum wouldn't look up.

He either sought for his eyes retreat,
Ashamed the gaze of men to meet,
Or else he must have loved his feet,
For Bursum wouldn't look up.

Portales Herald

The "Progressive" Circular.

The circular signed "Progressive Executive Committee" was gotten up and circulated by the Hartshorns and their assistants and is done to get even with Mr. Beeman or his par in the following order of the county board made April 5, 1911: "And it further appearing to the board that certain lumber and bridge material or property of the county to an approximate value of $100 has been appropriated and used by the Hagerman Development Company without any authority and without the permission of said county and without the county having been paid therefor, therefore it is ordered that the district attorney demand of said Hagerman Development Company the return of said lumber and bridge material or the payment of the reasonable value thereof, and in the event that the said material is not returned or said payment made on or before the 15th day April, 1911, the district attorney is ordered to institute the necessary proceedings to recover to the county the said material or its value. Moved by Beeman, seconded by Graham and carried."

As is well known the Hagerman Development Co. is none other than John Hartshorn, E. E. Hartshorn and others. Ever since that order was made to protect the county, both the Hartshorns have had an undying hatred for Beeman because he is too square to stand in with such men.

After this order had been made the matter was finally compromised by the Hagerman Development Co. paying $30.25 for the lumber.

The people of Eddy county are not the class of cattle the Hartshorns would have them. They are too square to break their pledge.

Vote the straight democratic ticket. Honest men at both heads is McDonald and Nymeyer and all honest men between.

A man that will break a pledge will do worse.

L. G. Ryan, who opposed Mr. Beeman in the primaries authorized the Current to say that he is for the ticket from top to bottom and will vote the ticket straight and advises all his friends to do the same.

The lying circular gotten out by the Hartshorns, of Malaga, about C. W. Beeman, asks the people of Eddy county to break their pledge made at the primaries. It asks that you take the man you don't know for the man you do know. It is in keeping with the tactics of the Hartshorns who paid $30.25 for lumber taken from Eddy county after Mr. Beeman had threatened to have them indicted. This is why that rotten outfit is against Mr. Beeman.

The Hartshorns, at Malaga, after voting all their employees against Beeman in the primaries, now claim his box went against him and allege that as an excuse to oppose him at the general election. As is well known they are republicans and went into the primaries pledging their support to Mr. Beeman and all others nominated. Now they have instigated a movement endeavoring to make the nominee of the primaries trouble. People who pay attention to their circulars are simply made cats' paws and tools for a little gang of republican tricksters, made obnoxious as the perpetrators of the famous Malaga Land and Improvement Co. boomerang.

With shameless audacity the Hartshorns, of Malaga, with a few other republicans, have issued a circular full of false and malicious statements concerning C. W. Beeman, democratic nominee for commissioner of District No. 3, charging him with all sorts of crimes, from being a saloon man to a thief. Those who know Mr. Beeman need not be told that he will be fair and just even to his enemies and will make them a better commissioner than any new and untried man possibly could. Those who voted in the primaries under the pledge to support the nominees, will vote the straight democratic ticket for county officials unless they deliberately break their pledge.

A Word to Socialists from Mr. Metcalf.

The Willard convention made no nominations for supreme court judges nor for district judges. Probably the reason why they refrained is to be found in the lack of judicial timber in the socialist party. The question arises as to whether socialists ought to vote for any judiciary candidate. All socialists will remember the Milwaukee incident when the socialists made no judicial nominations at a bye election and Victor L. Berger mildly suggested that if socialists voted at all they had better pick out the better man of the two. It was not incumbent upon them to vote and in fact strict party discipline forbade it, when there were no socialist candidates to vote for. He was attacked on all sides for this suggestion and there was quite a rumpus over the incident. Nevertheless, I think Berger was quite right and that such a matter may safely be left to each party member. His suggestion was interpreted to be an indirect admonition to vote for the candidate whom he named as being the more progressive of the two; and the more likely to consider the working class as human beings.

The omission of the judicial nominations by the convention and the absence of any recommendations as to the course to be pursued by reason thereof has placed many party members in a quandary. It seems to me that each man must decide this question for himself and the lesson will not be lost to him whatever may be the results.

W. P. METCALF.

ARCHBISHOP PITIVAL NOT AGAINST BLUE BALLOT

Santa Fe, N. M., October, 31.—Archbishop Pitival is not against the Blue Ballot. The Catholic church is not taking any part in the present campaign. A telegram from the Archbishop was received denying that he is furthering the interest of the Republican party. The message is concise and to the point.

There can be no misunderstanding. The Republican party stands convicted of the grossest misrepresentation ever perpetrated on the Catholic church. Catholics are not required to vote against the Blue Ballot. Read what Archbishop Pitival says:

New York, October, 31.—Editor Albuquerque Journal, Albuquerque, N. M.—To the people of New Mexico:

"I am informed that an attempt has been made to make use of my name as head of the Catholic church in New Mexico to further the political ambitions of one of the political parties in the territory. If this is so I wish to assure all true followers of the church that such statements are entirely untrue and that I am in no way entering into party issues in this campaign."

(Signed) PITIVAL.

There can be no misunderstanding in the above. The Republican party has attempted most unprincipled deception for the purpose of electing candidates on its ticket to office in the new state. The very baseness of their attempts should prove to every thinking voter that he cannot afford to put in power men who would stoop to such depths as the Republicans have in their widespread attempt to defeat the Blue Ballot by misrepresenting and misquoting the head of the Catholic church in New Mexico. The Catholic church is not in politics. The archbishop says so. Whom do you believe? The archbishop or the Republicans.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When the tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. No cure can be effected by local remedies, which do nothing but irritate the inflamed condition of the mucous surface. BOWSER'S CANCER

He Is Morally Certain That His End Is Near.

EXAMINES HIS WILL AGAIN.

Mrs. Bowser Applies Camphor and Gives Good Advice—He Admits That He Has Been Hard Man to Live With and Then Pleads For Forgiveness.

By M. QUAD.
(Copyright, 1911, by Associated Literary Press.)

AFTER dinner Mr. Bowser lighted a cigar and took a stroll in his garden—that is, he called it his garden. He had planted five hills of sunflowers, and three bird-docks were already showing their green heads above the soil, and so he had a right to call it a garden. The sun was sinking away to rest, having been on the move all day. Now and then some weary woman threw a tomato can from a second or third story window, and now and then a boy peered at a cat licking herself on the fence.

It was a peaceful scene—fit ending for a peaceful day.

There might have been more robins and bluebirds and orioles and to-do birds and nightingales to sing the sun to rest, but even Mr. Bowser realized as he gazed around him that we can't have all the good things of this world at once. A feeling of balminess was stealing over him, and he was about to speak to the cat in tones of kindness and courtesy when—

Well, the stroller in the garden suddenly uttered a wild yell and jumped two feet high. Mrs. Bowser, who was standing in the back door, rushed out to him, but he pawed and pranced and pushed past her into the house.

Wife Applies Camphor.

"Will you tell me what on earth's the matter all of a sudden?" she asked as she followed him up to the sitting room. He held a hand on the back of his neck and glared at her.

"Have you been stung?" was the further question.

No answer.
"I saw bees about this afternoon, and there was a mosquito buzzing around last night. Let me see the spot. If it's a sting or bite I'll put some camphor on it."

"Woman, it's too late," said Mr. Bowser in a hoarse voice.

"Too late for what? I'm sure it's a trifle."

"Too late. It's what I've been expecting for a week past. It's what Dr. Slinger told me must inevitably happen. It's what I've been hiding from you so as to not worry you. I will be down on the lounge."

"Now, then," said Mrs. Bowser as she drew nearer and bristled up, "what's all this talk about? Who is Dr. Slinger? What did he tell you? What is it you've been concealing from me? Speak right up."

"Can cancer?" he gasped.

"Cancer nothing! Did the idiot tell you you had cancer?"

"Yes."

"Fiddsticks!"

"He said I had it in my blood and it would break out all of a sudden, just as it has."

Ready For the End.

"Then he ought to be put where he can't break out all of a sudden! Hold still now while I look. You have simply been bitten by a fly or stung by a bee."

"It's worse than that, woman—far worse," he answered, with doleful shakes of the head. "Mrs. Bowser, I've got a feeling that my time has come."

"Well, I haven't, and you hold still while I rub some camphor on. If I had that old friend of a Dr. Slinger here I'd make him swallow a bottle!"

"But—why should he have told me so?"

"How do I know or care why? It's sufficient to know that he's a fraud. There isn't the pain about all gone?"

She was answered with a long drawn groan.

"The redness has almost disappeared."

"The same sort of groan, but a trifle more hopeless and dismal."

"You ought to know that a cancer doesn't come like a bullet. It is months or years coming. The doctor must have taken you for an ass. You certainly feel better now."

He struggled part way up, to sit back in despair, and then he reached for her hand and whispered: "Don't leave me to die alone!"

Word was received here last week of the death of Miss Frances Pocklington, at Fort Worth, on the 21st day of October, aged nearly twenty-one years. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pocklington, who were residents of our city for two years, leaving last May for Fort Worth in the hope that the lower altitude of that city would prove beneficial to the daughter's health, she being a victim of the White Plague. The family came to this city from Ridgeway, Michigan, and the remains of the beautiful girl were taken to that place, for interment the parents accompanying. Many expressions of sympathy are heard from the friends of the family on the death of this lovely and promising young lady.

"Two Merry Tramps," the great musical success for the past eleven seasons, will appear at the People's Theater, Carlsbad, Monday November 6. This play abounds in music of the high class order, while the play is one of the most interesting and novel ever written for the backgrounds of a musical comedy. In song hits "Two Merry Tramps" is specially prolific and from the list of them are no less than twelve, it is wholly a matter of individual opinion as to which is the "singiest and most whistly." They include "The Tale of a Belgian Hare," "The Belles of Bartlesville," "Good Bye, Isabella," "The Love Bug and the Lady." They range in theme from the serious to the comic from sentimental to patriotic. Miss Fannie Meroney has furnished good verses and the Jerome Travers music is of the kind you carry from the playhouse and hum on your way home.

Miss Beth Hensel, past mistress of unconventional vaudeville frivolity, is one of the principals with "Two Merry Tramps" and her volatile impersonation of "Peculiar Julia" has been a decided hit.

Halloween in Carlsbad.

Halloween was observed in Carlsbad this year in much the usual fashion, "ghost parties" being the order of the evening. The little girls of about ten years of age, met at the home of Mattie Roberts, and properly masked and sheeted, proceeded to make a tour of the town.

Young misses met at the home of N. T. Daugherty, on Fox street and had such a time as is only possible to girls in their teens.

The P. E. O. met at the residence of one of their members, Mrs. A. C. Heard, and had an old fashioned celebration to which their husbands were invited. The gentleman have for some time been unduly exercised over the meaning of the mystic letters, "P. E. O.," and after much grave deliberation decided that the meaning must be "Petitecats Enter Only." Acting on this hint, each gentleman was provided with the above mentioned article of ladies' apparel, properly embellished with the color of the order, a bright yellow. Souvenirs were provided for the guests of the evening, in the shape of six-pointed stars, which were much admired.

The gentlemen were initiated, with much pomp and ceremony, into an auxiliary called by the euphonious sounding initials, "B. I. L." The oath was administered at the point of a pistol and was of an iron-clad order.

Refreshments of an elaborate nature were served in four courses in the dining room, which was lavishly and tastefully decorated in yellow and white with candelabra and individual candles, etc.

The happy affair closed at a late hour. About twenty were in attendance.

A number of "ghosts" gathered at the home of M. R. Smith and had an evening of fun. The hospitable mistress of the home served dainty refreshments to the ghostly visitors, which doubly grateful after their labors in the early part of the evening.

Your Money Back if You Are Not Satisfied With the Medicine We Recommend.

We are so positive that our remedy will permanently relieve constipation no matter how chronic it may be, that we offer to furnish the medicine at our expense should it fail to produce satisfactory results.

It is worse than useless to attempt to cure constipation with cathartic drugs. Laxative or cathartics do much harm. They cause a reaction, irritate, and weaken the bowels and tend to make constipation more chronic. Besides, their use becomes a habit that is dangerous.

Constipation is caused by a weakness of the nerves and muscles of the large intestine or descending colon. To expect permanent relief you must therefore tone up and strengthen these organs and restore them to healthier activity.

We want you to try Rexal Orlisties on our recommendation. They are exceedingly pleasant to take, being eaten like candy, and are ideal for children, delicate persons, and old folks, as well as for the robust. They act directly on the nerves and muscles of the bowels. They apparently have a neutral action on other associate organs or glands. They do not purge, cause excessive looseness, nor create any inconvenience whatever. They may be taken at any time, day or night. They will positively relieve chronic or habitual constipation, if not of surgical variety, and the myriads of associate or dependent chronic ailments, if taken with regularity for a reasonable length of time. 12 tablets, 10 cents; 36 tablets, 25 cents; 84 tablets, 50 cents. Sold only at our store. The Rexal Store.

Children Like Flowers.

"Children are the flowers of life and the mother a gardener who trains them into beautiful blossoms or useless weeds."

When Miss Ernestine Schumann Heintz, the world famous prima donna, gave voice to this interesting opinion she smiled in pardonable appreciation of the garden which she had raised. It is a product of Mrs. H. G. Schumann, a woman who is proud of her garden of six acres and a good two-story girls' school.
