SUPT. CONWAY TELLS OF MEETING AT SANTA FE

Matters of Vast Importance Taken up and Discussed Previous to Being Presented to Legislature for Good of Education's System.

Supt. Conway, who accompanied by Supt. Mrs. R. E. Blaney, attended a meeting at Santa Fe last week has returned, and gives an outline of the principal work which is interesting and profitable. The meeting was called by the State Supt. of Public Instruction, to consider a number of vital questions that are to come before the State Legislature at its present session.

Prof. Conway reports that a majority of County and City Superintendents were in attendance as well as members of the Board of Education and heads of the different educational institutions of the State. The Conference was opened by a thirty minute address by Governor Larrazola, who emphasized the great need of our State along educational lines, but more especially along the line of improvement and betterment of teachers in the rural schools.

He was very emphatic in regard to having our laws so adjusted that our teachers could receive much better salaries than they are now receiving. He made it very plain that teachers were the only people among the so called professions, that had not been benefitted by a raise in salaries. He was of the opinion that the "Compulsory School Law," should be simplified and made so that no child or parent could willfully evade it.

The Governor was in hearty sympathy with the idea of an extension of the public school service, so that the children who come from these institutions should have not only an idea of industry and good public morals, but should be taught to obey implicitly those in authority. He was of the opinion that great good would come from the strenuous efforts that is being put forth to extend "vocational" education throughout the state.

The following is an outline of the program of the two days' conference:

1. Amendment to Sec. 1, 1915 County Unit Law; Teacher Training; State Aid for Weak Districts; Vocational funds; Balance distributed as it is now; Compulsory education extended to 16 and providing for part time classes; Teacher's Salaries; Free Text Books; Teachers' Retirement fund (Massachusetts Law); Child Welfare; Federal Legislation; General Education Bill; Smith Bankhead Bill.

2. School Supervision; County Board; Eighth Grade Work; Biennial Reports; County Re-

Passing of Miles B. May

Last Tuesday marked the passing of another of Lincoln County's old settlers, Mr. Miles B. May. Mr. May came to these regions thirty-five years ago and settled in the Tortolita Canyon, near the town of Nogal, where he lived continuously until about three years ago, when he sold his interests to Young and Bastian, and moved to Carrizozo where he resided until the time of his death.

Mr. May was a conscientious Christian gentleman, always mindful of the interests of others. Those who have lived the nearest to him in life, have the highest words of praise for him. As an example of the high esteem in which he was held by his old neighbors, one of the nearest to him was heard to say: "I could always feel myself extremely favored after having enjoyed a short season of conversation with him."

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. H. Skinner who was one of Mr. May's neighbors in the early days. The remains were conveyed to Nogal, where they were interred in the local cemetery at that place. The deceased is survived by a wife and eight children, all of whom were present at the funeral except the eldest son.

U. S. B. of E. for R. S.

What does it mean? It means "United States Bureau of Employment for returning soldiers." It means more; it means that this organization solicits the aid and assistance of everyone that employs labor of any kind, to send in to the Secretary of this important organization their wants in the line of labor. How many men they can employ; at what kind of employment; giving preference to our returned soldiers.

The boys are returning, and we must see that we have positions for them. This does not mean that the boys are on the sacrifice block to work for a small pittance, but they are entitled to the best we have. They will not ask for princely salaries, but they will be in need of work and we must see that they have it. The officers of the organization are: Henry Lutz, Chairman; Grace M. Jones, Sec.; the remaining members of the committee are Stuart Sterling and Mrs. Ira O. Wetmore. Address all communications to the Sec. Miss Jones, Carrizozo, N. M.

WHITE OAKS

R. M. Treat and Family have moved to Carrizozo.

The Lacey school was scheduled to open this week, up to this writing the teacher has not arrived.

Mrs. A. L. Price has gone to Miami, Arizona, where Mr. Price has secured a position.

The John Townsend family have moved to the Price home.

S. L. Starkey has moved to the Townsend home.

Mrs. D. L. Jackson is visiting El Paso this week.

Ellis Leslie has returned from Camp Pike with an honorable discharge to his credit. He held the rank of corporal and was held in high esteem by his superior officers.

Mrs. Allen Lane is visiting in El Paso this week.

Mr. Ray Lemon and family visited in White Oaks last Sunday.

Barney Le Roy and Tom Ward have gone to Arizona, but their location is not known.

W. A. Neve has moved to the Robert Taylor residence.

D. L. Jackson has purchased the R. M. Treat residence and will remodel the same in the spring, it is understood.

Last Monday's election of Justice of the Peace and Constable was most astonishing; a school teacher and a soldier were chosen to administer justice and if practice counts for anything, they should be efficient.

White Oaks is still enjoying an unlimited amount of snow, colds in the head and rheumatism; everyone is 'watching his step' these days, for fear he will be suddenly deserted by his understanding.

From Labor To Rest

We are again called to publish the account of the passing of one of our aged and highly respected citizens, Mr. Harry Chant, who departed from this life at 1:20 Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Chant, who had been in the employ of the E. P. & S. W. railway for a number of years, was taken ill about two weeks ago and sent to Hotel Dieu in El Paso for treatment. He recovered in a short time however, in a way that warranted his returning home, and about ten days later he came in on No. 2 at night and not being able to find a conveyance walked to his home which is three miles distant from the depot.

This, it is thought, caused a relapse and in a few days his condition became so serious that he was again moved to the hospital. Mrs. Chant, who remained at home kept in communication with the hospital, and on Wednesday his condition was reported as improving, but this report was shortly followed by the advice that she hurry to his bedside which she did, and at 1:20 as before stated, he breathed his last.

Mr. Chant was an old resident of this place and had been in the employ of the railroad company for years, being one of the oldest employees.

Deceased was a member of Carrizozo Lodge No. 41 of Masons and at this writing it had not yet been decided as to where the remains would be interred, but whether here, or in El Paso, they will be buried with Masonic honors. He is survived by wife and three children, George Chant, El Paso; Mrs. M. O. Hara, Chicago, and Thomas Chant who is in camp at Fort McPherson, Ga.

Died in Native State

Dr. R. C. Burton, who will be so well remembered by Carrizozo people, having resided in this locality for so long, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Zeluk Davis, at Stanton, Tenn., Sunday Jan. 5th.

The Dr. had been ailing for some time before leaving here, and when his son Marvin enlisted and was called to the service, he had his father accompany him as far as Stanton, where he remained with his daughter until his death.

Dr. Burton came to these parts about twelve years ago and practiced until several years ago, when on account of advancing years he gave up his practice and remained in quiet retirement for the balance of his days.

The deceased is survived by three children: Marvin Burton, Carrizozo; Paul Burton, San Francisco; Mrs. Zeluk Davis, Stanton, Tenn. The remains were interred at Stanton, in his native state, and his last days were spent amid surroundings with which he was familiar in his early life.

WATER WAGON WINS IN THIRTY-SIX STATES OF UNION

Amendment to Constitution Prohibiting Manufacture and Sale of John Barley-corn Effective One Year After Ratification.

The United States today completed the legislation process of voting itself dry.

When the 36th state, Nebraska, ratified the amendment, prohibition leaders declared that the accomplishment was the greatest piece of moral legislation in the history of the world.

The amendment to the federal constitution, prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating beverages, becomes effective one year after the date of its final ratification. Meanwhile, the nation goes dry July 1, next, by presidential proclamation, as a war measure, unless the president rescinds it before that date.

Congress passed the resolution, submitting the amendment to the various state legislatures, in the midst of the seething preparations for war in 1917. The senate adopted the resolution August 1 by a vote of 65 to 20 and, the lower house on December 17, by a vote of 282 to 128.

In California, court action has already been taken to restrain the governor from certifying the action of the legislature to Washington. Every effort of the distillers, with resources of approximately $1,000,000,000, will be employed in the supreme effort to save their business, it is said. An important meeting of the distillers' committee will be held at New York on January 28, when it is planned to adopt a detailed program.

Distilling interests of the country, anticipating enforcement of nationwide prohibition a year hence, have completed plans for the conversion of their manufacturing plants and for export of the whiskies and other spirits now in bond.

Lieut. Lutz Wires Home

The following telegram was received Friday morning by Mr. Henry Lutz from his son, Lieutenant Henry Lutz, and gives us the hope of being able to see him in the near future. We also rejoice with the family to know that he has no further use for his crutches, and is speedily recovering. The telegram follows:

San Antonio, Tex., Jan. 16, '19. Henry Lutz, Carrizozo, N. M.

Arrived here today, but not on crutches. Still have slight discharge from wounds. Don't know how long I will be here. Received your wire at Camp Merritt.

Signed, Henry.

GUNNER DEPEW, IN HOSPITAL, SEES UNUSUAL INSTANCE OF HUN FRIGHTFULNESS.

Synopsis.—Albert N. Depew, author of the story, tells of his service in the United States navy, during which he attained the rank of chief petty officer, first-class gunner. The world war starts soon after he receives his honorable discharge from the navy, and he leaves for France with a determination to enlist. He joins the Foreign Legion and is assigned to the dreadnaught Cassard, where his marksmanship wins him high honors. Later he is transferred to the land forces and sent to the Flanders front. He gets his first experience in a front line trench at Dixmude. He goes "over the top" and gets his first German in a bayonet fight. While on runner service, Depew is caught in a Zeppelin raid and has an exciting experience. In a fierce fight with the Germans, he is wounded and is sent to a hospital.

But there was a nurse there, who took special interest in his case, and she stayed up day and night for some time and finally brought him through. The case was very well known, and everybody said she had performed a miracle. He got better slowly.

Then a few weeks later, when he was out of danger and was able to walk, and it was only a question of time before he would be released from the hospital, this nurse was transferred to another hospital. Everybody knew her and liked her, and when she went around to say good-by, all the men were sorry and gave her little presents, and wanted her to write to them. She was going to get a nurse who knew in the other hospital to turn her letters into English, so that she could write to me. I gave her a ring I had made from a piece of shell case, but I guess she had hundreds of them at that.

But this German doctor would not say good-by to her. That would not have made me sore, but it made this French girl feel very bad, and she began to cry. One of the French officers saw her and found out about the doctor, and the officer went up and spoke to the German. Then the French officer left, and the German called to the nurse and she went over to him and stopped crying.

They talked for a little while, and then she put out her hands as if she was going to leave. He put out his hands, too, and took hold of hers. And then he twisted her wrists and broke them. We heard the snap.

There were men in that ward who had not been on foot since the day they came to the hospital, and one of them was supposed to be dying, but it is an absolute fact that when we heard her scream, there was not a man left in bed.

I need not tell you what we did to the German. They did not need to shoot him, after we got through with him. They did shoot what was left of him, to make sure, though.

Now, I have heard people say that it is not the Germans we are fighting, but the Kaiser and his system. Well, it may be true that some of the Boche soldiers would not do these things if they did not have to: myself, I am not so sure.

But you take this doctor. Here he was, an educated man, who had been trained all his life to help people who were in pain, and not to cause it. And he was not where he would have to obey the Kaiser or any other German. And this nurse had saved his life.

So I do not see that there is any argument about it. He broke that girl's wrists because he wanted to; that is all there is to it. Now, I say this German doctor was a dirty cur and a scoundrel. But I say that he is a fair sample of most of the Germans I have met. And it is Germans of this kind that we are fighting—not merely the Kaiser.

It is like going to college. I have never been there, but I have heard some people say it did not do a man any good to go. But I have never heard a man who went there say that. Probably you have not been over there, and maybe you think we are not fighting the German people, but only the Kaiser and his funkies.

Well, nobody had better tell me that. Because I have been there, and I have seen this. And I know.

CHAPTER X.

Hell at Gallipoli.

After I was discharged from the hospital, I was ordered to report to my ship at Brest for sea duty.

The boys aboard the Cassard gave me a hearty welcome, especially Murray, who had come back after two weeks in the trenches at Dixmude. I was glad to see them, too, for after all, they were garbles, and I always feel more at home with them than with soldiers. Then, it was pretty rough stuff at Dixmude, and after resting up at the hospital, I was keen on going to sea again.

The Cassard was in dry dock for repairs after her last voyage to the Dardanelles as convoy to the troopship Duplex. Everything was being rushed to get her out as soon as possible, and crews were working day and night. There were other ships there too—superdreadnaughts, and dreadnaughts, and battleships, and armored cruisers, all being overhauled.

We received and placed guns of newer design, filled the magazines with the highest explosives known to naval use, and generally made ready for a hard job. Our magazines were filled with shells for our big 12 and 14-inch guns. A 14-inch shell can tear a hole through the heaviest armor plate at 12,000 yards, and will do more damage than you would think.

When we had coaled and had got our stores aboard, we dressed for action—or rather, undressed. The decks were clear; hatch covers bolted and davits folded down; furniture, chests, tables, chairs were sent ashore, and inflammable gear, like our rope hammocks, went overboard. You could not find a single wooden chair or table in the ward room.

When the ship is cleared for action, a shell bursting inside cannot find much to set afire, and if one bursts on deck, there is nothing to burn but the wooden deck, and that is covered with steel plate.

Finally, we had roll call—all men present. Then we set sail for the Dardanelles as escort to the Duplex, which had on board territorial and provincial French troops—Gascons, Parisians, Normans, Indo-Chinese, Spahis, Turcos—all kinds. When we messed, we had to squat down on the steel mess deck and eat from metal plates.

There had been a notice posted before we left that the Zeppelins had begun sea raids, and we kept a live eye out for them. The news proved to be a fake, though, and we did not see a single cigar while we were out.

We made the trip to the Dardanelles without sighting an enemy craft, keeping in close touch with the Duplex, and busy every minute preparing for action.

I was made gun captain and given charge of the starboard bow turret, mounting two 14-inch guns. I had my men at gun practice daily, and by the time we neared the Dardanelles, after five days, they were in pretty fair shape.

It was about 5 a. m. when we drew near Cape Helles and took stations for action. The Duplex was in front of us. The batteries on the cape opened up on us, and in a few minutes later those at Kum Kaleh joined in.

As the Duplex made for "V" beach and prepared to land her troops, we swung broadside on, raking their batteries as we did so, and received a shell, which entered through a gun port in the after turret and exploded. Some bags of powder stored there (where they should never have been) were fired and the roof of the turret was just lifted off. It landed on deck, tilted up against the side of the turret.

On deck the rain of fire was simply terrific. Steel flew in all directions. It was smash, crash, slam-bang all the time, and I do not mind saying I never thought we would come out of it.

Some of the heavy armor plate up forward was shot away and after that the old Cassard looked more like a monitor than anything else to me. As we drew nearer the shore they began using shrapnel on us and in no time at all our funnels were shot full of holes and a sieve was watertight compared to them.

Naturally we were not just taking all this punishment without any comeback. Our guns were at it fast and from the way the fire slackened in certain places we knew we were making it effective. My guns did for two enemy pieces that I know of, and perhaps several others.

The French garbles were a good deal more excited in action than I thought they would be. They were dodging around below decks, trying to miss the shrapnel that came aboard, shouting, swearing, singing—but fighting hard, at that. They stood the gaff just as well as any other garbles would, only in their own sweet way—which is noisy enough, believe me.

One of our seamen was hit 180 times by fragments of shrapnel, so you can see what they were up against in the dodging line. A gun turret in action is not exactly the best place on earth for a nervous man nor one who likes his comfort. There is an awful lot of heat and noise and smell and work, all the time in a fighting gun turret. But during an engagement I would rather be in a gun turret every time than between decks. At that, if anything does happen in a turret—it is good night sure for all, and no rain checks needed.

One of our junior lieutenants was struck by a fragment of shell as he was at his station behind the wheelhouse and a piece of his skull was driven into his brain. He was carried into my gun turret, but he would not let them take him to sick bay to have his wound dressed. There he sat, asking every now and then how the fight was going and then sort of dozing off for a while.

After half an hour of action we put about and started away, still firing. As a parting slap on the back the Turks tore off one of our big-gun turrets, and then away we went, back to Brest with a casualty list of only 15. We did not have much trouble guessing that it was dry dock for us again.

We got back to Brest after a quiet voyage, patching ourselves up where we could on the way, and again there was the rush work, day and night, to get into shape and do it over again. They turned us out in 12 days and back we went to the Turks and their Hun assistants.

We were lucky getting inshore, only receiving a nasty smash astern, when the Turks got our range and landed two peaches before we got out. We nearly tore our rudder off getting away. But we had to come back right away, because we had carried quite a number of heavy guns from Brest and were given the job of running them ashore. It was day and night work and a great job for fun, because, while you never knew when you would get it, you had good reason to feel you would get lammed by a cute little shell or a dainty bit of shrapnel before the job was over.

Aboard ship it was deck work, of course, and it was not much better there than ashore with the guns, because the enemy trenches were near the shore and they amused themselves trying to pick us off whenever we showed on deck. I guess we were a regular shooting gallery for them, and some of our men thought they did not need all the practice they were getting, for quite a few of us acted as bull's eyes.

But we did not mind the bullets so much. They make a clean wound or put you away entirely; shrapnel tears you up and can play all kinds of tricks with various parts of your body without killing you. As for shells—well, minicement is the word.

The Narrows were thick with mines and there had been a great deal of damage done there, so after a while the British detailed their Yarmouth trawlers to go in and sweep up. They had to go up unprotected, of course, and they started off one night all serene.

Everything went well until they turned at the Narrows and started back. Then, before you could tell it, five or six searchlights were playing on one of the trawlers and shells were splashing the water all over her. Both banks were simply banging away point blank at them and I never thought they would get back.

They did get back, though, but some of them had hardly enough men left to work ship. But that is like the Limeys. They will get back from anywhere while there is one man alive.

A chap aboard one of the trawlers said a shell went through the wheelhouse between the quartermaster and himself and all the Q. M. said was, "Gaw blimey, that tickled."

"But I know their shooting was very bad," said the other chap to me. "Those Turks must have thought the flue was behind them."

Coming back from the Dardanelles a gold stripe sent for me and asked me whether I thought there were other ex-navy gunners in the States that would serve with the French. I told them the country was full of good gunners and he wanted me to write to all I knew and get them to come over. He did not mean by this, and neither do I, that there were not good gunners in the French navy, because there were lots of them. But you can never have too many handy boys with the guns and he was very anxious for me to get all I could. I had no way of reaching the ex-garbles I did know, so I had to pass up this opportunity to recruit by mail.

While we were in Brest I got permission to go aboard a submarine and a petty officer showed me around. This was the first time I was in the interior of a sub and I told the officer that I would like to take a spin in the tub myself. He introduced me to the commander, but the petty officer said he did not think they would let me stay aboard. I showed the commander my passport and talked to him for a while, and he said he would take me on their practice cruise two days later if the Old Man gave me written permission.

So I hot-footed it back to the Cassard and while I did not promise that I would get any American gunners for him in exchange for the written permission, he was free to think that if he wanted to. It seems as though he did take it that way, for he gave me a note to the sub commander and sent him another note by messenger. I wanted Murray to go too, but the Old Man said one was enough.

So, two days later, I went aboard in the morning and had breakfast with the sub crew and a good breakfast it was, too. After breakfast they took stations and the commander went up on the structure amidships, which was just under the conning tower, and I squatted down on the deck beneath the structure.

Then the gas engines started up and made an awful racket and shook the old tub from stem to stern. I could tell that we had cut loose from the dock and were moving. After a while they shut off the gas engines and started the motors and we began to submerge. When we were all the way under I looked through the periscope and saw a Dutch merchantman. We stayed under about half an hour and then came back to the surface. One of the garbles was telling me later on that this same sub had gone out of control a few weeks before and kept diving and diving until she struck bottom. I do not know how many fathoms down it was, but it was farther than any commander would take a sub if he could help it. This garby said they could hear the plates cracking and it was a wonder that they did not crumple up from the pressure, but she weathered it, pressure button and all, and in a quarter of an hour was on the surface. While on the surface they sighted smoke, submerged again, and soon, over the horizon came eight battleships, escorted by Zepps and destroyers.

They tested their tubes before they got in range. Finally they let go. The first shot missed, but after that they got into it good and the garby said all you could hear was the knocking of the detonated gun cotton.

About five minutes later they sighted five destroyers, two on each bow, and one dead ahead. The sub steered in at right angle zigzags and the destroyers stayed with their convoy. The sub launched two torpedoes at less than a mile before diving, to get away from the destroyers and the garby said at least one of them was hit. These ships must have been some of the lucky ones that came down from the North sea. The garby said he thought they were off the Dutch coast at the time, but he was not sure.

But this cruise that I was on was only a practice cruise and we did not meet with any excitement in the short time that we were out.

In the next installment Gunner Depew tells of the wonderful work of the British and French navies in the Gallipoli campaign. Don't miss it.

Macbeth's Death Place Given City.
Belmont castle, the scene of the final struggle between Macbeth and Macduff when Macbeth was slain, has been given to the city of Dundee by its owner, Mrs. Marryat, who inherited a large fortune from her brother, Sir James Caird. The castle, which is located 17 miles from Dundee, was once the home of the British premier, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman. The property includes 600 acres of park land and is valued at $2,000,000.

DANDRUFF MAKES HAIR FALL OUT

A small bottle of "Danderine" keeps hair thick, strong, beautiful.

Girls! Try this! Doubles beauty of your hair in a few moments.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine for a few cents at any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.—Adv.

Boom The Highway

Paralleling as near as possible the Rock Island railway from Kansas City to El Paso, Texas, and connecting such important military centers as Camp Funston near Fort Riley, the geographical center of the United States, and Fort Bliss to El Paso, the gateway to old Mexico, the Funston-Fort Bliss Military Highway promises to be one of the more important highways that is being proposed at this time and on which federal aid is anticipated.

Many of the links in the proposed highway have already been completed and work is expected to begin immediately on some of the unimproved links. Probably one of the best highways in the southwest has just been completed between El Paso and Alamogordo, New Mexico. The building of this road was possible by the use of local, state and federal funds and extensive use of convict labor by the State of New Mexico.

The Good Roads Club, Guymon Oklahoma, advises that Oklahoma proposes to issue $20,000,000 worth of bonds for the construction of highways in that state. At a recent conference held at Oklahoma City, that organization was represented and attention was called to the proposed Funston-Fort Bliss Military Highway.

Upon return of their representative, the association officials were advised that "you may depend on Texas county."

Local, state and federal funds were also expended in building the highway from Nara Vasa, N. M. to Logan, N. M., and the authorities expect soon to take up the work of building the road from Logan to Tucumcari. The contract has already been let for the construction of the highway from Tucumcari to Montoya.

Concerted action is all that is necessary to accomplish anything worth while and it is hoped that the various committees through which the proposed highway is routed are awake to the possibilities and that the dream of its promoters will soon become an accomplished fact.

ROOSEVELT IS DEAD

LONG ILLNESS, CULMINATING IN PULMONARY EMBOLISM, PROVES FATAL.

PASSES AWAY AT OYSTER BAY

Former President of United States
Had Great Career as Political Leader, Reformer, Soldier, Author, and Big Game Hunter.

Oyster Bay, N. Y.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt is dead, having succumbed to pulmonary embolism early Monday morning at his home in this town. His death was sudden, though he had been in poor health for a long time.

Colonel Roosevelt's last illness may be said to date from last February. On February 5, it was announced that he had been removed from his home in Oyster Bay to the Roosevelt hospital in this city, following an operation on one of his ears. Soon after his arrival at the hospital he underwent two more operations for the removal of diseased tissue in his infected ear, and it was admitted at the time that he was seriously ill. He remained at the hospital until March 3.

Early in November the colonel was taken to Roosevelt hospital, New York, for the treatment of rheumatism and sciatica.

Was Typical American.

Theodore Roosevelt, who was known as "the most typical American" throughout his career, had been famous for "setting records." He was the youngest president the nation ever had, succeeding to the office on William McKinley's death at the age of forty-two.

Colonel Roosevelt is held to have had as diverse interests and as wide acquaintance with all phases of life as any man in history. In addition to his immense political activities, he was the author of many books on travel, sport, history, politics and other subjects, was a fighter for reform from the moment he first appeared in city politics in New York, a holder of many university degrees, an orator, a lecturer, great hunter, athlete, international peace-maker and militant leader of his followers at all times, whether in or out of office.

Was Born in New York City.

Theodore Roosevelt was born October 27, 1858, in New York city. His father was Theodore Roosevelt and his mother before her marriage was Martha Bullock. The boy began life with a small, frail body and not robust health. His ambition from youth was to be strong, an athlete, a doer of great deeds and a scholar as well. His remarkable mental endowment was shown in the way he accomplished the dual object in life, so that after seven years and a half as president, during which he promulgated innumerable reforms and national issues, he went to Africa and for nearly a year was a hunter in the jungles, undergoing hardships, but coming out more robust and active than ever.

It was predicted that Africa would kill Roosevelt, but in a few days' time he had changed the hunting shirt for the clothes of the diplomat and was being idolized and showered with honors in the courts of Europe.

Starts His Political Career.

Roosevelt completed his education at Harvard university in 1880, and the same year married Alice Hathaway Lee, daughter of George Cabot Lee of New York. She lived only four years and was the mother of the present Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, wife of Congressman Nicholas Longworth of Cincinnati, O.

Colonel Roosevelt's interest in politics dates from the year after his marriage to Miss Lee. Some of the Republican district leaders in New York had taken an interest in him. He seemed a likely young fellow, with vigor, ambition and some money. Two years later he was sent to the state assembly at Albany and began a career which marked him out as a man devoted to the public interest.

After three years of assembly, however, Roosevelt thought he had enough, and for a time withdrew from public life. He stepped out cordially hated by the corrupt politicians, disliked by many wealthy New Yorkers and already hailed as the acknowledged leader of the reform element in his party. The death of his wife also was a factor in his temporary retirement, and he went to a ranch in North Dakota, where he was introduced as "that four-eyed tenderfoot."

The tenderfoot, however, put in practice some fundamental rules for honesty in the conduct of the ranch he had purchased and the names of derision were soon dropped. He became popular, a noted hunter, a good shot and provided himself during his years of roughing it with a good constitution which was to prove invaluable to him later in life.

In 1886 Roosevelt became a candidate for mayor of New York, but ran third. His reputation was enhanced, however, and President Harrison named him for a place on the national civil service commission. He dominated the body and later became its president.

It was in 1886 that Mr. Roosevelt married Miss Edith Kermit Carow while in London. She was the daughter of Charles Carow of New York.

In the Spanish War.

In 1893 Roosevelt resigned from the civil service commission and began a fight on Tammany hall. He served two years as police commissioner of New York city, striving up the corruptionists, and then President McKinley made him assistant secretary of the navy. When the Maine was blown up he resigned and helped raise the first volunteer regiment of cavalry for the war with Spain. It was the famous rough riders, of which Leonard Wood was made colonel.

Colonel Wood was later given a brigade and Roosevelt promoted to command of the Rough Riders. Colonel Roosevelt was commended for heroic conduct at the battles of Las Guaymas and San Juan hill.

Governor and President.

Coming back from the war, Roosevelt was elected governor of New York. But he would not be bossed by the politicians, so instead of giving him a second term they persuaded him to take the nomination for vice president on the ticket with McKinley. When President McKinley, shot by an assassin, died on September 14, 1901, Roosevelt became president.

President Roosevelt served out McKinley's unexpired term and was elected president in 1904 by the largest majority ever given a candidate for the office. In his seven and a half years in the White House he had ample opportunity to show the stuff that was in him. He lived deeply and broadly and was at once the accomplished man of the world, the student of national problems, as well as of books, the adroit politician, the forceful writer of books and eloquent public speaker.

He had the happy knack of inventing or reviving phrases that stayed in the memory of his hearers and those who heard him usually carried away with them an apt summary of conditions so cleverly worded as to be not easily forgotten.

As president, Roosevelt's activities and scope of endeavor were immense; he became a great international figure through his many negotiations with foreign powers and took in hand many problems at home seldom touched by a president.

Booms Taft for Presidency.

Roosevelt declined a second elective term in 1908 and fostered the candidacy of his secretary of war, William H. Taft, who was elected president. When he left office, March 4, 1909, Roosevelt was the unquestioned leader of his party. Taft was his close friend. Roosevelt went to Africa to secure specimens for museums and also, it is understood, to be out of the country and escape possible accusations of attempting to influence the conduct of the new administration.

Colonel Roosevelt was a mighty hunter. His exploits in killing big game in equatorial Africa are well known through the book which he wrote on the subject.

It was in the summer of 1910 that Colonel Roosevelt traveled through the country promulgating his doctrine of the "new nationalism," and the next year he editorially attacked arbitration treaties with Great Britain and France, proposed by President Taft.

Candidate of Progressives.

At the Republican convention in Chicago, beginning June 18, 1912, Taft was nominated by 21 votes over a majority, but a few hours before the nomination Roosevelt had withdrawn his name as a candidate, and that night at a meeting in Orchestra hall, Chicago, the Progressive party was given its first real impetus in a demonstration for Roosevelt and at which he was named for president by the new party. A formal convention was held later and he ran as the regular candidate of the third party, drawing support from Republicans and Democrats alike. Woodrow Wilson, the Democrat, was elected, however, and the colonel had to be content with defeating Mr. Taft for second place.

In 1914 Colonel Roosevelt led a party of exploration in South America, especially in the interior of Brazil. Then he made another tour of Europe. In 1916 he was again considered as a candidate for the presidential nomination by the Progressives, but at the last minute he declined the honor, declaring his intention of supporting Mr. Hughes, the Republican nominee. Since that time he had devoted his efforts largely to the task of teaching the need of military preparedness and to helping, with his pen, in the war against the central powers. He sought a chance to serve in the army, but was rejected. His three sons were officers in active service, and one, Quentin, was killed in an airplane combat.

"BEST MEDICINE FOR WOMEN"

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did
For Ohio Woman.

Portsmouth, Ohio.—"I suffered from irregularities, pains in my side and was so weak at times I could hardly get around to do my work, and as I had four in my family and three boarders it made it very hard for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me. I took it and it has restored my health. It is certainly the best medicine for woman's ailments I ever saw."—Mrs. SARA SHAW, R. No. 1, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Mrs. Shaw proved the merit of this medicine and wrote this letter in order that other suffering women may find relief as she did.

Women who are suffering as she was should not drag along from day to day without giving this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial. For special advice in regard to such ailments write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of its forty years experience is at your service.

Comparison.

"It's just as wrong to gamble when you win as when you lose." "Yassuh," asserted Mr. Erastus Pinkley. "De immorality is juss' as great, but de inconvenience ain't."

There's only one way to get ahead, and that's to keep going straight-forward.

In 1948 Sir Arthur Garrod proved that in gout (also true in rheumatism) there is deficient elimination on the part of the kidneys and the poisons within are not thrown off.

Prof. H. Strauss attributes a gouty attack to the heaping up of poisons where there is an abundance of uric acid which is precipitated in the joints and sheaths, setting up inflammation. Before the attack of gout or rheumatism there is sometimes headache, or what is thought to be neuralgia, or rheumatic conditions, such as lumbago, pain in the back of the neck, or sciatica. As Prof. Strauss says, "The excretion of uric acid we are able to effect by exciting diuresis." Drink copiously of water, six or eight glasses per day, hot water before meals, and obtain Anurio tablets, double strength, for 60 cts., at the nearest drug store and take them three times a day. If you want a trial package send 10 cents to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

"Anurio" (anti-uric) is a recent discovery of Dr. Pierce and much more potent than lithia, for it will dissolve uric acid as hot tea dissolves sugar.

After the "Flu" —Fever or Cold

Clean the Acidity and Toxic Poisons Out of the Digestive Tract

Millions are now suffering from the after effects of the deadly "flu," a fever or a cold. Their appetites are poor; they are weak, and they are waiting for their strength to come back.

If these people could only realize that the return to health and strength would be greatly helped by giving attention to the stomach—that is, removing the acidity and toxic poisons from the entire digestive tract, making it act naturally, so that the body will receive the full strength of the food eaten—a great deal of suffering would be saved to humanity.

Everyone knows that the disease itself, and the strong medicines that have been taken, upset the stomach, leave it hot and feverish, the mouth dry, the tongue coated, a nasty taste, and no desire to eat. This is a poor foundation to build new strength on.

Now, tens of thousands of people all over this country are using EATONIC for the purpose of cleaning these poisonous after-effects right out of the system and they are obtaining wonderful results—so wonderful that the amazingly quick benefits are hardly believable. Just as shown in the remarkable letter which is published upon the request of this sturdy old Civil War veteran. He is 77 years old. Read what he says EATONIC did for him:

"I am an old soldier, just turned seventy years. I had the Spanish influenza and it left my stomach in an awful shape. I tried three different doctors but got no relief. As a last resort I sent and got a box of EATONIC and to my great surprise the very next tablet I took helped me. I can now eat anything I want, and feel fine."

Yours faithfully,
Fowler, Indiana

P. S. If you can make any use of this letter for suffering humanity, you are at liberty to do so.
G. S. M.

This is only one case out of thousands. You should make the EATONIC test in your own case at once. You have everything to gain—not a penny can you lose, for we take all the risk. Your own common sense, your own feelings, tell you that a good appetite, good digestion, a good stomach, with the fever poisons and effects of strong medicines out of your system, will put you on the road to strong, robust health again.

You want to enjoy life again after you have battled with the "flu," fever or cold, or any other illness that has taken your strength. You want to get back your old-time vigor, be full of pep and enthusiasm—be able to work with ease. Instead of listlessly, half-heartedly dragging out a mere existence.

So be sure to take a box of EATONIC home with you today. We cannot urge this too strongly. If EATONIC fails to give you positive beneficial results, it will not cost you a penny. There is no risk—the benefit is surely all for you.

15,000 MARINE WORKERS OUT

NEW YORK PORT IS PRACTICALLY PARALYZED AS RESULT OF STRIKE.

REFUSE TO MEDIATE

FOOD SUPPLIES WILL BE EXHAUSTED WITHIN FORTY-EIGHT HOURS REPORTED.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

New York, Jan. 10.—The port of New York is practically paralyzed as the result of the strike of approximately 15,000 marine workers. The city and its environs is confronted by a situation which is believed by many to be the most precarious in its history.

Except for a small fleet of ferryboats, tugs and lighters engaged in debarkation of home-coming troops and loading of perishable supplies for the American expeditionary forces, harbor shipping is at a standstill following the strikers' attempt to force arbitration of their demands for higher wages and an eight-hour day.

Not only privately-owned craft, but the boats of the railroad administration, 1,200 in number, were tied up, and the sailing or berthing of ocean steamships, as well as the ferrying of passengers between Manhattan and its neighboring boroughs and suburbs, was impossible.

A vote will be taken by 45,000 longshoremen today to determine if they will walk out in a sympathetic strike.

Unless railroads can bring food into New York by roundabout routes, the hunger point may be reached within forty-eight hours, and the lives of thousands imperiled as the result of the marine workers' strike, which tied up virtually all traffic in the harbor.

A. H. Smith, regional railroad director, asked for "a forty-eight-hour armistice," and stated if this was granted, the strike could be settled "across the table." At a conference with Mr. Smith, however, the men told him the proposal could not be considered until the general strike committee held a meeting. It was stated at Mr. Smith's office that to avert possible famine, livestock, foodstuffs and milk were being given preference over all other freight coming into the city. The milk situation was described as "even worse than that of solid food," as there were thousands of babies and invalids who must be supplied.

Agree on Income for 1920.

Washington.—The conferees of the Senate and the House on the revenue bill agreed to the Senate amendments on the normal income tax rate, the individual income surtaxes and the exemption of state, county and city bonds from taxation. The normal income tax rate for the ensuing year under the agreement will be 12 per cent of the net income in excess of the personal exemption of $1,000 for a single man and $2,000 for a married and $200 for each dependent child; upon the first $4,000 of such income, however, the rate will be only 6 per cent.

Cecil Next British Envoy.

Paris.—The earl of Reading will not return to Washington as British high commissioner and special ambassador to the United States, according to a London dispatch. It is said that Lord Robert Cecil, former assistant secretary of state for foreign affairs, will succeed him.

Cancel Fuel Saving Orders.

Washington.—All orders and regulations as to fuel conservation, except one relating to natural gas, are withdrawn by the fuel administration. Regulations as to zones and prices and some others remain in effect, but in accordance with the announced policy of the administration, the question of fuel saving is now once more a matter for individual determination.

Montreal.—"Every German who has committed murder on the high seas must be taken out to sea on a sailing ship and strung up on the yard arm," said Harry Lauder, the Scotch comedian, in an address before the Canadian Club here.

Are You Open-Minded?

The average American is open-minded.

American business is conducted by true Americans of vision, open-minded men who believe in their country and strive to meet their country's needs. The men in the packing industry are no exception to the rule.

The business of Swift & Company has grown as the nation has progressed. Its affairs have been conducted honorably, efficiently, and economically, reducing the margin between the cost of live stock and the selling price of dressed meat, until today the profit is only a fraction of a cent a pound—too small to have any noticeable effect on prices.

The packing industry is a big, vital industry—one of the most important in the country. Do you understand it?

Keep Yourself Fit

You can't afford to be laid up with sore, aching kidneys in these days of high prices. Some occupations bring kidney troubles; almost any work makes weak kidneys worse. If you feel tired all the time, and suffer with lame back, sharp pains, dizzy spells, headaches and disordered kidney action, use Doan's Kidney Pills. It may save an attack of rheumatism, dropsy, or Bright's disease. Doan's have helped thousands back to health.

Meet Me in Waco, Louie

Mr. Louis Adams left the first of this week for Waco, Texas, where he expects to settle down for the future. In view of this fact, his old friend Ernest Dingwall arranged a six o'clock dinner in his honor at the Carrizozo Eating House, and amid a good natured lot of his associates Louis spent his last pleasant evening in the old town for some time at least.

We can ill afford to lose young men like Louis, but we must not forget that others have their eyes on our boys as well as ourselves and they are hard to keep, but we may retain the hope that some day he may see his way clear to visit his old home; but for the present it is hard to convince him there is another place like Waco.

To intensify the sadness of the family, a third member was taken, Mrs. Charles Bragg. Thus it was, that in the short space of one week's time, three deaths had occurred in the Purcella family. The surviving members of the family have the sympathy of the entire community in their bereavement.

NEW TELEPHONE TOLL RATES

Effective January 21, 1919, as Announced on December 13, 1918, by the Postmaster General, Washington, D. C.

A new method of computing charges on telephone toll calls (to points outside the local service area) under which all toll rates throughout the United States are placed on a standard basis, becomes effective 12:01 a. m. January 21, 1919. A brief description of this new method and of its application to the several classes of service, is given herewith.

"STATION TO STATION" RATE

When a person makes a toll call without specifying that conversation is desired with a particular person, and the connection is established and conversation held, the "station to station" rate applies.

This rate is determined by the air-line distance between toll points and is computed on the basis of 5c for each six miles, up to twenty-four miles, and 5c for each eight miles beyond that distance.

"Station to station" calls should be made by number wherever Telephone Directory information is available. Where this information is not available at the calling telephone, such calls may be made by giving the toll operator the name and address of the subscriber at the telephone called.

"PERSON TO PERSON" RATE

When a person makes a toll call, specifying that conversation is desired with a particular person and the connection is established and conversation held with that person, the "person to person" rate applies.

As this service requires a greater amount of operating effort, the rate for such calls is about one-fourth greater than the "station to station" rate.

This "person to person" rate is computed on the day rate between the points involved, whether the call is made during the day or during the night, and the minimum charge is 20c.

No "person to person" call is accepted where the "station to station" rate is less than 15c.

"REPORT CHARGE"

When a "person to person" call is made and the particular person desired is not in or will not talk, or when an exact telephone address of the particular person desired has not been given and he cannot be reached at a telephone within one hour a "report charge" applies.

Such a charge also applies if the calling party is absent when the connection is completed within one hour, or if he refuses to talk.

This charge is to cover compensation for the operating work performed and is usually about one-fourth of the "station to station" rate.

In any case where a "report charge" applies, the minimum charge is 10c and the maximum $2.00.

"APPOINTMENT" RATE

When the calling party in placing his call appoints a definite specified time at which he will talk on a "person to person" basis and the conversation is held at the specified time, the "appointment" rate applies.

The "appointment" rate is usually about one-half greater than the "station to station" rate.

The "appointment" rate is computed on the day rate between the points involved, whether the call is made during the day or during the night, and the minimum charge is 25c.

No appointment call is accepted where the "station to station" rate is less than 15c.

"Report charges" apply under the same general conditions as specified for "person to person" calls.

"MESSENGER" CALLS

When a call is made on a "person to person" basis and a messenger is required to secure attendance of the designated person at a public pay station at the distant point, the "messenger call" rate applies.

This rate is the same as the "appointment rate" for the same distance, plus any charge for messenger service.

The "messenger call" rate is computed on the day rate between the points involved, whether the call is made during the day or during the night, and the minimum charge is 25c.

Messenger charges incurred are to be paid even if desired conversation is not held.

No "messenger call" is accepted where the "station to station" rate is less than 15c.

"Report charges" apply under the same general conditions as specified for "person to person" calls.

STANDARD TOLL NIGHT RATES

The following reduced rates for night service on a "station to station basis" only are effective 12:01 a. m. January 21, 1919.

8:30 p. m. to 12:00 midnight—
About one-half of the "station to station" day rate.

12:00 midnight to 4:30 a. m.—
About one-quarter of the "station to station" day rate.

For the purpose of applying night rates, the time of day at the point at which a "station to station" message originates is used.

The minimum night rate is 25c. Day rates apply on calls made at night when the "station to station" charge is less than the minimum night rate.

"COLLECT CALLS"

"Collect calls" are calls for which the charges are reversed; that is, are to be collected from the subscriber at the distant station at which the call is completed.

Such "collect calls" or reversed charges are allowed only in connection with "person to person" calls.

EXAMPLES SHOWING HOW METHOD IS APPLIED

Assuming the air-line distance between toll points to be more than 144 miles, but not more than 152 miles, the following initial period rates for service under the various classes offered would apply:

"Station to station" rate	$1.00
Completed "person to person" rate	1.25
Completed "appointment" rate	1.50
Completed "messenger call" rate	1.50
Plus messenger charges.

Rate between 8:30 p. m. and 12:00 midnight "station to station" service only50
Rate between 12:00 midnight and 4:30 a. m., "station to station" service only25

Come Over Again, Boys

Messrs. J. J. Burns, J. H.
 Kallsen, J. H. Gentry, J. Herbert and the "Jazz" boys, Messrs. Kelley and McNeff were over from Fort Stanton last Saturday night to attend the dance.

It was the original intention of the boys to return to the Fort early Sunday morning, but when about to make the start it was discovered that through some blunder of some member of the party, the car in which they came had been thrown out of commission.

This was bad; the boys employed the best of mechanical skill on the car, but to no avail—
 "VAIN HOPE." They must wait until Monday. On Monday however, the experts seemed to be able to locate the trouble, and the car was in readiness, but when about two miles out from town they encountered the same old trouble, and were forced to return. The second attempt proved more successful, for they sailed away to the Fort making the trip in record breaking time, and now some of the boys are wondering who could have been deeply enough interested in another day's stay in Carrizozo, to prevent that car from returning Sunday morning. It certainly could not have been Dr. Burns!?

Wool Industry to be Safe-Guarded

Western wool men are encouraged by government solicitation and the inducement of war prices to increase their flocks and they are now seeking protection from a speculative movement to drive down prices, in which imports and government holdings are being used to try and accomplish disastrous result in the wool industry, that is vital to the whole nation.

With the beginning of the year
 the war industries board has gone out of existence and marks the end of government control but this does not mean the industry shall not get favorable consideration.

A bill has been introduced in Congress to give the President power to fix rates of duty arbitrarily to prevent slumping markets against its own supply and incidentally protect western growers.

The work of the Boston Wool Trading Association is to be broadened during the coming season and the warehousing system is to be continued for the protection of the growers.

Under that system the grower consigns his wool to where it is sorted, graded and baled and then sold for him or guaranteed samples in some thirty varieties.

The grower gets all there is in his wool and has every incentive to grade up his stocks and permanently improve his holdings, while the evils of speculation are eliminated.

A mouse scares a woman almost as much as a milliner's bill scares a man.

Bags Huge Lion

Near Lone Mountain

Last Sunday morning, Mr.
 Erastus Lacey left his ranch near White Oaks shortly after sunrise, accompanied by his two dogs,
 and traveled in the direction of Lone Mountain; they had not gone far when they encountered the trail of a large Mexican lion. The dogs were quick to scent the trail, and an exciting chase followed.

Mr. Lacey, who was on horseback, followed the dogs for a distance of twelve miles, when the lion becoming weary of the chase, sought refuge on a tree,
 the dogs holding the huge beast
 at bay until Mr. Lacey arrived.
 Then with a well aimed shot from his rifle, he brought the destroyer to the earth. The lion measured eight feet in length and weighed 125 pounds.

Important to Taxpayers

If any person fails to render a true and complete list of his property between the first day of January and the last business day of February the Assessor must make a list according to the best information he can obtain and add a penalty of 25 per cent and allow no exemption, and any person who knowingly makes a false statement as regards to his property is liable to a penalty of 25 per centum, and shall be deemed guilty of perjury and punishable accordingly.

Further any assessor who knowingly receives and accepts from any person a false list of property or fails to assess any property of which he obtains knowledge or which is called to his attention may be removed from office and subject to criminal prosecution.

Please turn in your taxes and avoid all of this unpleasantness as it is only a few minutes' job to do so and I don't want to add a penalty to any one in the county. There will be some one at the office all the time either myself or Deputy and we will be only too glad to make out your schedule for you.

Frank R. Miller,
 Assessor Lincoln County.

Big Dance at Lutz Hall

Lovers of dancing certainly were satisfied with the provisions made for them last Saturday night, when a dance conducted by several of our boys was given at the above named hall.

The Fort Stanton "Jazz Band" furnished the music and the good natured crowd danced until a late hour. This it is claimed, is only the forerunner of a series of these popular dances to be given in the near future. The Sweet Shop burned midnight oil in order to accommodate the dancers who took advantage of this convenience, and between dances refreshed themselves at this popular resort.

YOUR FLAG AND MY FLAG

He Will Return

Where is the wandering "Weary Willie" of former days? Has he departed from us forever, or has the cruel "Work or Fight" order been successful in bringing into action muscles that before the order was issued had lain dormant and inactive for years, and brought into use to enable him to dodge the order, or has he joined the colors in his lack of an appetite for work?

Are we no longer to be allowed the pleasure of hearing the familiar, faint rapping on the back door, or see him reclining on the hillside peacefully enjoying his "handout?"

Are we in the future to be deprived of listening to the hard luck story which has cost him aimless days and sleepless nights to commit to memory? No; he will come again! Soon we shall see his familiar face, that will bring back recollections of the advertisement of the Blue Jay corn plaster.

But the new "Willie" will assume a new role; he will be either thrown out of employment for standing up for a higher wage scale, or he will heroically tell the sympathizing housewife of how he led his comrades on to victory after hopes had vanished.

The medals awarded to him for deeds of valor were stolen from him by those who sought to profit from what he had so honorably earned.

With the incoming of prosperity will come a plentiful supply of the weary class who have LONG AGO found a hair in work; it has become distasteful to them and they should, after a full review of their hard luck, be introduced to the ax and woodpile—"free chops."

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE CANOE BIRCH.

"A canoe was being put away for the season," said Daddy, "and after the canoe was hanging upside down in a nice old cellar which was not too near a furnace, and yet not too damp, some little brownies jumped upon it."

"We would like to have a talk with you," said Billie Brownie.

"I'd like to have a talk with you," said the canoe.

"We can understand you, for we're brownies," said Billie.

"Yes, we're very much like fairies," said Bessie Brownie, "except that fairies are beautiful and we are funny and round and fat."

"That makes no difference," said the canoe.

"Thank you," said Billie Brownie.

"Thank you," said Bessie Brownie.

"Then I'm being well thanked," said the canoe, "and that is nice—for I like to be thanked when I have said something polite. It's a bit hard for a canoe to be polite, you know. A canoe can go through the water so easily when people paddle it, and a canoe is very useful and lots of fun if it is properly understood, but it isn't the habit of a canoe to make polite speeches."

"I Have a Very Pleasant Life."

"It was most good of you to make the effort," said Billie Brownie.

"It was extremely kind of you," said Bessie Brownie.

"Well," said Billie Brownie, after a pause, and after they had all chosen places about the canoe so they could hear its story, "won't you tell us all about yourself. We have heard that you came from a tree."

"I did," said the canoe. "I came from the Canoe Birch tree. There are many kinds of birch trees, but my family belonged to the Canoe Birch tree family. I'm so glad I belonged to that family, for we are so useful."

"Now I have had a useful and very pleasant life as a canoe. The people who own me are so fond of me. They won't let holes get into my sides by nailing me up on rocky shores. They are careful of me. They like me and they want to keep me a long, long time."

"You see," the canoe continued, "the Canoe Birch tree family can do many things. People can get delicious slaps from our sap. They can make wooden shacks out of us, too—and of course, as you know, they can get canoes from us."

"The partridges enjoy our buds, but most of all are we useful to men, for we can be made into so many things. But best of all, the very best of all, to my canoe mind, is that we can be made into wonderful bark rafts."

"That's fine," said Billie Brownie. "I had no idea your family could do so many things and that so much could be made out of you and your relatives."

"I beg your pardon," said the canoe, "but my relatives are different. They are the other birch trees, and some of my relatives can't do much of anything, such as the White Birch family, for example."

"They don't live long, they must have swampy ground, and they aren't at all useful. Although," the canoe added, "I must say one thing. The White Birch family will grow in ugly places where there have been fires and where the land looks shabby."

"But I am glad that I belong to the Birch family, or that I did belong to it—for we are considered the finest members of the whole Birch Tree family."

"Often some branches of my family are thrown into a merry bonfire and how gayly they crackle and burn, and how they do add to an autumn bonfire party."

"Well, we're delighted to have heard about you," said Billie Brownie.

"And we thank you most extremely for telling us your history," added Bessie Brownie, as they all said good-by and left the canoe for its winter's rest."

OLD CUSTOMS IN UKRAINE

Wedding Celebrations of Country Peculiar; Horse Thieves Summarily Dealt With.

The Little Russian costume became fashionable for women in the Ukraine after the formation of the republic; red boots, short skirt, allowing the embroidery of the chemise to be seen; a pretty apron; jacket without sleeves. Around the neck large beads of many-colored glass, always in great numbers. The married women wear on their heads a kind of fish arranged as a diadem, the unmarried girls a simple Ukrainian kerchief, the betrothed, flowers.

They have an amusing custom: after the marriage celebration the whole procession goes to drive, adorned with broad red ribbons; even the horses are abundantly provided with them. That is a sign of the bride's virtue. If the contrary is the case she has neither ribbons nor music, not even a white veil, because the pope refuses to bless the marriage.

The Little Russians are very superstitious. At midsummer they light a large fire of ferns. The young people jump over the fire. Those who succeed in not touching it will marry within the year. If anybody puts it out, it is a sign of death. Everybody tells fortunes with cards, predicts what will happen in the future. On the eve of Saint Andrew somebody places mysteriously under the bed a pond and a bridge (a saucer filled with water and a few pieces of wood). Without knowing it one sleeps "on the bridge." Then one may be sure that the dream of the night will come true. If one wanted to act according to the rules one ought to spend the night on a bridge above a real pond and look at the water; there you would be able to read your whole future life.

In the country some of the old barbarian customs are still in force; the konokrades, or horse thieves, are condemned to be quartered, or to be attached by a rope to a horse's tail and dragged until death follows.

Hoodoo Ship Redeems Herself.

The American transport Sierra, which steamed into harbor recently carrying more than 1,500 wounded soldiers, is a ship that "came back," according to stories told by old-timers who follow the sea. A dozen years ago she rammed a coral reef in the south seas and was, apparently, wrecked beyond hope of salvage. If the stories told about her are correct, she has crashed into vessels anchored in harbor, but she has sailed serenely through the mined waters of the English channel and evaded the German submarines on the high seas as she carried the troops to France. So she has evened the score and lifted the spell.

Incidentally, despite her misfortunes, she is a comfortable ship and a good sea boat. Once she was regarded as unlucky and it was almost impossible for her owners to get a crew. When the war broke out the Sierra broke her spell of misfortune and performed her share in driving autocracy and militarism into exile. Any sailor will tell you that ships have a personality. The Sierra just exudes personality and temperament. Having shown the world what she could do in the line of tantrums she reformed. She has made money for her owners, despite her accidents, and has an excellent record in the service of her country.

Find Steel Ladle in Oak Tree.

A steel ladle, seven inches long, supposed to have been used by Indians in melting lead for bullets many years ago, was found imbedded in the heart of a red oak tree sawed up for fire wood at South Algonquin, Pa. Rings on the tree indicate that it was more than one hundred years old. The ladle, made of the finest charcoal steel, is believed to have been driven into the tree when it was a sapling.

Deceitless D.D.

"The ancient Greeks would allow a man to divorce his wife."

"Well?"

"But he could not marry a younger woman."

"No sound law," declared the attorney. "Wouldn't hold today."

"Perhaps it wasn't sound law, but it stopped a lot of divorces, I bet you."

—Louisville Courier-Journal.

An Exceptional Case.

"I feel dubious. I hear the lady we are to sue is a great beauty."

"For once that will help our case."

"Huh?"

"We're suing to recover the bill of a beauty doctor."

Zero in Values.

"I wish to express the absolute zero in values."

"Ahem! Let me think."

"Well?"

"Why not say, 'As worthless as an iron cross?'"

Said the facetious fellow: "No girl would consent to wear jumpers at a lead year hop."

LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE IF SICK, CROSS, FEVERISH

HURRY, MOTHER! REMOVE POISONS FROM LITTLE STOMACH, LIVER, BOWELS.

GIVE CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS AT ONCE IF BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative"; they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Adz.
