PANORAMA OF THE PASSING WEEK IN SOCIETY

Social Events that Mark the Interest Taken in Entertainments of a Social Nature Among Our People as the Week Closes.

Mrs. Bell Entertains

Mrs. Jno. E. Bell very pleasantly entertained a number of friends at Bridge last Tuesday afternoon. The color scheme of "Pink and White" was carried out in every detail from favor to refreshments. A dainty boudoir cap of pink and white made by the hostess was awarded to Mrs. Crawford; she holding the highest score.

Mrs. Reilly holding the lowest score, was presented with a hand made wash cloth in pink and white. A most delicious repast was served at the end of the game consisting of cheese straws, potato chips, pickles, raspberry ice, assorted cakes and coffee. Those present including the hostess were: Mesdames Ulrick, Ziegler, Lewis, Leon, McKeon, Lemon, Farley, Spencer, Allen, Dingwall, Crawford, Wetmore, French, Gokey, Reilly, Bamberger, and the Misses Belle Lutz and Ella Brickley.

Mrs. Allen Entertains

Last Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Sam Allen entertained a number of her lady friends at her home in the western part of town. The afternoon was pleasantly spent at the favorite game of Bridge after which an appetizing two course luncheon was served.

The following ladies took part in the entertainment:

Mesdames Bamberger, Sager, Ziegler, Dingwall, Crawford, Bell, Ulrick, Leon, Fairbank, French, Osborn, Wetmore, Groom, LaFleur, Gumm, Allen, Reilly and Miss Francis Parker. Mrs. McKeon and mother, Mrs. Lewis of Fort Stanton, were out of town guests of hostess Allen.

In Honor of Washington

Last Saturday night, the Juniors of the Carrizozo High School entertained the Freshmen at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lin Branum. As this date was Washington's birthday, the affair was purely one of a patriotic nature.

The party included Miss Catherine Pine of the Sophomores, Edward and Robanna Corn of the lower grades, Orville Smith and the faculty of the school. After an evening of enjoyment during which refreshments were served, each party present was presented with a small hatchet decorated in Red, White and Blue as a souvenir in honor of the occasion. The affair closed at 12 o'clock.

Surprised On Her Birthday

We may well imagine the surprise that Mrs. F. E. Richard experienced last Wednesday night, when a portion of her many friends presented themselves at the Richard home and demanded admittance. Their coming was entirely unexpected and the secret of it all was that Feb. 26th was the ??? birthday of Mrs. Richard and her friends agreed to spring the surprise as an evidence of the fact that they had kept tab on the family directory, and knew the day and date of her next celebration.

As this was a feminine affair decidedly, Mr. Richard who was the only male occupant of the house after the count was made, beat a hasty retreat to the "tall timber" while his credit was good. After a pleasant evening's enjoyment during which refreshments were served, the party dispersed, wishing Mrs. Richard many happy birthdays to come. Those present were: Mesdames Fetter, Forrest, Prehm, Benson, Barnhart, George, Loughrey, Massie, Miller, Richard and Miss Fern Forrest.

Joint Birthday Affair

February the 26th, being the birthday of little Carol Wilson and Feb. 27th for her little friend Lorena Stimmel, the home folks of both children assisted by the children's teacher, Miss Iona Stevens, arranged a joint birthday celebration on the 26th for the two nine year old Misses.

The entertainment was staged at the Stimmel home and lasted from four to six o'clock in the afternoon. There were twenty-two of their little school mates present and the two hours were spent in playing games of a childish nature which were attended by refreshments consisting of two large birthday cakes, containing nine candles each, olive and nut sandwiches, angel food cake and hot chocolate. At 6 o'clock the merry makers separated, thanking the hostesses for the thoughtful and novel entertainment and the royal manner in which they were entertained.

Entertained at Place Home

The W. A. Place home was the scene of unusual jollification and merrymaking on the evening of Feb. 22nd, when the Misses Minnie Zeuch and Bernice Murrell entertained the members of the Epworth League of the Methodist church.

There was not a dull moment during the entire evening. Some R. Set, Flinch, Dominoes, Fortune Telling and Guessing Games were indulged in until a late hour. Just before refreshments were served a short but interesting musical program was rendered in which the following ladies took part: the Misses Hilary Cooper, Iona Stevens and Mrs. E. D. Boone.

Fifty guests were in attendance and all pronounced the affair one of the best on this year's social calendar among the younger set.

Women's Missionary Society

The regular meeting of the above named society was held last Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ray Lemon with a good attendance. The meeting opened with the usual exercises which included a Bible reading, the subject of which was: "The Life of Prayer a Life of Discovery."

A short session followed, after which the study of "Africa Far and Near" and "The Missionary Task at Home and Abroad," were taken up, attended by instructive discussion. Interesting papers were read from which much valuable information was gained concerning the task of the Church in the Missionary field.

As a part of the business session, three delegates were chosen to represent the Society at the District Conference of the Women's Missionary Societies which will meet at Melrose, N. M., March 25th to 27th. A pleasant and profitable afternoon was spent during which time refreshments were served. The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. R. T. Cribb on Wednesday afternoon, March 12th.

Mr. Bamberger Returns

Mr. Oscar Bamberger returned from a trip through the east, where he has been selecting new stock for the incoming season's trade. As the representative of the Carrizozo Trading Co., he has performed the task of making a careful selection of the latest styles in Ladies' and Gent's wearing apparel at prices within reach of all. The new season goods will be displayed in the show windows as they come in.

Here From State College

Miss Ida Grumbles came home this week from the State College where she has been employed in the clerical department of the Extension Service of that institution. After a short visit with her brother Roy, who is expected home from foreign service soon, she will leave for Riverside, Cal.

Mr. Ziegler Returns

Mr. Albert Ziegler returned from his eastern trip last Wednesday, where he has been making purchases of Gents' furnishing goods and Ladies' wearing apparel for the coming season. The new goods have already begun to arrive, and will be on display as soon as they can be opened and checked up to the satisfaction of the firm. The best and latest fashions have received the attention of Mr. Ziegler, and the firm will have nothing short of those redeeming qualities to offer the public when the same is ready for the inspection of patrons.

Guests of Mrs. McKeon

Mesdames French and Fairbank are attending a "House Party" at Ft. Stanton as guests of Mrs. Major McKeon.

From Labor to Rest

The remains of the late John Robinson, whose death we announced last week were brought to Carrizozo from Nogal and through the courtesy of Mr. Henry Lutz placed in the large hall above the Carrizozo Trading Co., where they lay in state until Saturday afternoon.

When it became known that Mr. Robinson was a member of the Masonic order, the Masons and Eastern Stars congregated at the hall, the ladies of the Star offering comfort and assistance to the bereaved widow, while the Masons made all necessary arrangements for shipping the body to Scranton, Pa., the old home of Mr. Robinson.

No. 4 being late that afternoon, the remains were not taken to the depot until 4:30, at which time the procession of Masons and Stars followed the hearse to the depot, the pall bearers being M. U. Finley, J. H. Fulmer, Henry Lutz, J. J. Foster, F. A. English and A. L. Burke.

Mrs. Robinson's condition was considered rather delicate to venture on a trip so long and tiresome without some assistance, and seeing this, Mrs. Ed Monroe kindly volunteered to accompany her, which services Mrs. Robinson gladly accepted. After arriving at their destination the remains will be taken in charge by the local lodge of Masons at Scranton, after which joint services of the Knight Templars and Masons will be held and the body interred in the Masonic Burial Ground.

Last Side Rites

Mrs. Julia Gurney went to El Paso last week to attend the funeral of Miss Nina Willbanks, who was a cousin of Mr. Frank Gurney's by marriage. Miss Willbanks was a talented musician and many Carrizozo people will remember her, as she has made several visits to our town during the past few years. Her death was caused by pneumonia. She was highly identified in all work of a patriotic nature during the late war and as a fitting tribute to patriotism the remains were conveyed to their last resting place by six of Uncle Sam's sailor boys in full uniform.

Masons Meet

Carrizozo lodge No. 41 A. F. and A. M. held a well attended meeting last Saturday night at which two candidates passed the threshold of the time honored institution, being initiated in the first degree. As this was a special meeting for this particular purpose, the next regular meeting will be held on the night of March 15th. All Master Masons invited.

From Phoenix and Albuquerque Mr. Alfred Wilson of Phoenix, Ariz., and Dr. E. N. Wilson of Albuquerque, are visiting the Wilson family of Carrizozo.

PRESIDENT WILSON HEADS PARADE OF TROOPS

President Shouldering Big Flag and Escorted by Citizens, Marches Nearly a Mile and Half in Honor of Returning War Heroes.

Washington gave president Wilson its first formal welcome home yesterday by turning out in thousands to cheer a parade down Pennsylvania avenue, headed by the president in honor of home coming soldiers of the capital.

Marching with a swinging stride, the president took the lead as the procession started from Peace monument at the capitol grounds. Army airplanes and dirigibles hovered overhead.

It was the president's first public appearance in Washington since his return from France. He was given an enthusiastic greeting by the crowds lining the broad avenue as he marched behind the marine band, shouldering a big flag and escorted by a committee of citizens.

The line began to move promptly at 1 o'clock and 35 minutes later Mr. Wilson had marched nearly a mile and a half and was taking his seat with Mrs. Wilson in a reviewing stand before the White House.

Four hundred wounded soldiers and sailors, occupying a place of honor across the avenue from the president, removed their hats in lieu of a salute as he passed.

The Gladstone Company

Notwithstanding the bad condition of the weather the Gladstone Co., showed to a good house at The Crystal Theatre Thursday night. Sig. Carlo Fessia is a past master at the piano and the same may be said of his musical ability in general. The Gladstone Sisters captivated the audience with their songs and dances, while Mlle. Hazel pleased her hearers with her selections on the violin.

The "Queens of Jazzcopation," Saxophone, Trombone and Violin, directed and assisted by Sig. Carlo Fessia on the Piano Accordion, was well received. If you missed the first night, you can't afford to miss the second and third, and you may attend each night as the program changes with each performance. Come early and avoid the rush which is sure to be on for the last two nights.

Returned to the Ranch

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Claunch and baby, Evelyn Rebecca returned to their ranch home last Wednesday, with Conductor Allen Johnson at the wheel.

CHAPTER XVI.

Captured by the Moewe.

When the tugs had cast off and after a while we had dropped our pilot, I said to myself: "Now we are off, and it's the States for me—end of the line—far as we go—IF—!" But the "if" did not look very big to me, though I could see it with the naked eye all right.

I got up about four o'clock the next morning, which was Sunday, December 10, 1916—a date I do not think I will ever forget.

As soon as I was dressed I went down to the forecabin peak and from there into the paint locker, where I found some rope. Then back again on deck, and made myself a hammock, which I rigged up on the boat deck, figuring that I would have a nice sun bath, as the weather had at last turned clear.

As soon as I had the hammock strung I went down to the baker and had a nice chat with him—and stole a few hot buns, which was what I was really after—and away to the galley for breakfast. I was almost exactly lambskins, sitting on an old orange box. I had not been there long when Old Chips, the ship's carpenter, stuck his head in the door and sang out, "Ship on the starboard bow." I did not pay any attention to him, because ships on the starboard bow were no novelty to me, or on the port either. Chips was not crazy about looking at her, either, for he came in and sat on another box and began scoffing. He said he thought she was a tramp and that she flew the British flag astern.

I ate all I could get hold of and went out on deck. I stepped out of the galley just in time to see the fun. The ship was just opposite us when away went our wireless and some of the boats on the starboard side, and then, boom! boom! and we heard the report of the guns. I heard the shrapnel whizzing around us just as I had many a time before. I jumped back in the galley and Chips and the cook were shaking so hard they made the pans rattle.

When the firing stopped I went up to the boat deck. I had on all of my clothing, but instead of shoes I was wearing a pair of wooden clogs. The men and boys were crazy—rushing around the deck and knocking each other down, and everybody getting in everybody else's way. We lowered our Jacob's ladders, but some of the men and boys were already in the water. Why they jumped I do not know.

Then the German raider Moewe headed right in toward us and I thought she was going to ram us, but she backed water about thirty yards away. She lowered a lifeboat and it made for the Georgie, passing our men in the water as they came and crashing them on the head with boat-hooks when they could reach them. I noticed that there were red kegs in the German boat.

When the lifeboat reached the Jacob's ladders I went over to the port side of the Georgie and then the Germans came over the side and hoisted up the kegs. The Germans were armed with bayonets and revolvers. Some of them went down into the engine room and opened the sea cocks. About this time some of the Limeys came up from the poop deck and I told them to stay where I was and that the Germans would take us over in lifeboats. Another squad of Germans hoisted eight of the dynamite kegs on their shoulders and down into No. 5 hold with them.

Menu time the Germans saw us up on the boat deck and came up after us. And over went the Limeys. But I waited and one or two more waited with me. When the Germans came up to us they had their revolvers out and were waving them around and yelling, "Gott strafe England!" and talking about "schweinbunde." Then, the first thing I knew, I was kicked off into the sea. I slipped off my trousers and coat and clogs, and, believe me, it was not a case of all dressed up and no place to go!

Then I swam hard and caught up to the Limeys who had jumped first. They were asking each other if they were downhearted and answering, "Not a bit of it, me lads," and trying to sing, "Pack up your troubles in your old kit bag," only they could not do much singing on account of the waves that slipped into their mouths every time they opened them. That was just like Limeys, though.

Some of the boys were just climbing up the Jacob's ladder on the Moewe when the old Georgie let out an awful roar and up went the deck and the hatches high in the air in splinters.

One fellow let go his hold on the ladder and went down and he never came up. The Germans were making for the Moewe in the lifeboat and we reached it just before they did. Up the ladder we went and over the side and the first thing we caught sight of was the German revolvers in our faces drilling us all into line.

The lifeboat brought back the ship's papers from the Georgie and we had roll call. They kept us up on deck in our wet underwear and it was very cold indeed. Then the first mate and the old man and one of the German officers called off the names and we found we had fifty missing.

The Boche commander had gall enough to say that he was not there to kill men but to sink all ships that were supplying the allies! He said England was trying to starve Germany, but that they would never succeed and that Germany would starve the allies very soon.

After roll call some of us asked the Germans for clothes, or at least a place to dry ourselves in, but Fritz could not see us for the dust on the ocean and we just had to stand there and shiver till we shook the deck, almost. Then I went and sat down on the pipes that feed the deck winches. They had quite a head of steam in them and I was beginning to feel more comfortable when I got a good clout alongside of the head for sitting there.

DECK PLAN OF THE "MOEWE"

- A—Armor plate drops, placing 6-in. guns.
- B—Forecabin peak.
- C—Ammunition hold.
- D—Torpedo tube rails.
- E—Torpedo tubes.
- F—Poop deck.
- G—Aft wheelhouse.
- H—Deck house.
- I—Holds.
- K—Disappearing guns aft, mounted on elevator.
- L—Sea gates.

and trying to keep warm. It was a German garby and he started calling me all the various kinds of schweinbunde he could think of and he could think of a lot.

Finally they mustered us all on another part of the deck, then drilled us down into the forecabin and read the martial law of Germany to us. At least I guess that is what it was. It might have been the "Help Wanted—Dog Catchers" column from the Berlin Lokal Taggabelle for all most of us knew or cared. It shows what cards the Germans are—reading all those four-to-the-pound words to us shivering garbles, who did not give a dime a dozen whether we heard them or not. Fritz is like some other hot sketches—he is funniest when he does not mean to be. Every German is a vaudeville skit when he acts natural.

There were hammocks there and we jumped into them to get warm, but the Germans came down with their revolvers and bayonets and took the hammocks away and poured water on the decks and told us to sleep there. They could not have done a worse trick than that.

Then they put locks on the portholes and told us that anyone caught fiddling with the locks would be shot at once. This was because we might sight a British or French man-of-war at any time and as the Moewe was sailing under the British flag and trying to keep out of trouble they did not want us at the ports signaling our own warships for help. If they had backed any of the allied ships and had a fight we would have died down there like rats.

The Moewe had already captured the Voltaire, Mount Temple, Cambrian Range and the King George and had the crews of these vessels between decks with us. These men told us how the Germans were treating them and it looked to me as though the evening would be spent in playing games and a pleasant time would be had by all—not.

The crew of the Mount Temple were on deck working when the raider suddenly opened fire on them. Two or three men jumped into the water and the Germans turned a gun on them while they were swimming and killed them. That was just a sample of what had happened to them.

The men now began running up and down in a line to keep warm, but I took a little run on my own hook and treated myself to as much of a once-over of the ship as I could. I do not believe the Moewe had more than a three-fourths-inch armor plate, but behind that she had three rows of pig iron, which made about a foot in thickness. There was nothing but cable strung along the deck and when I saw that I would have given anything to have had a crack at her with a 14-inch naval. And I sure wished hard enough that one of our ships would slip up on us, whether we were caught between decks or not. I went aft as far as the sentry would let me and I saw that she had three spare six-inch guns under the poop deck and two six-inch pieces mounted astern. The guns were mounted on an elevator and when the time came they ran the elevator up until the guns were on a level with the poop deck, but otherwise they were out of sight from other ships.

For our first meal they slung a big feed bag half full of ship biscuit—hardtack—to us and some dices of ten. After this festival we began roaming up and down the deck again, because it was the only way to keep warm. I guess we looked like some of the advertisements in magazines, where they show a whole family sitting around a Christmas tree in their underwear and telling each other that Wholes Unions—the Roomy Kind—were just what they wanted from Santa. Only we did not have any Christmas tree to sit around. We must have looked funny, though, and I would have had a good laugh if I had not been so cold.

We could not go to sleep because the decks were wet, nor could we sit down with any comfort for the same reason. Besides, we thought we might buck up against a British or a French cruiser at any minute and most of us thought we would stay up and get an eye full before we started for Davy's well-known locker.

About two bells the following morning the Moewe's engines began to groan and shake her up a bit and we could hear the blades jump out of the water every once in a while and tear away. She went ahead in this way for some time and we were hoping she was trying to get away from a cruiser and some of us were pulling for the cruiser to win and others hoping the Moewe would get her heels clear and keep us from getting ours.

The Huns were running up and down the deck yelling like wild men and one of our men began to yell too. He was delirious and after he yelled a bit he jumped up and made a pass at the sentry, who shot at him but missed. The shot missed me too, but not very much. Then they dragged the delirious man up on deck and Lord knows what they did with him, because we never saw him again. But we did not hear any sound that they might have made in shooting him.

Then the Huns began shelling and they kept it up for some time.

Then they ordered us up on deck to see the ship they had been firing at and when we came up the companion way they were just bringing the other ship's skipper aboard. It was the French collier St. Theodore, hove to off the starboard side with a prize crew from the Moewe aboard and wiggling to the raider.

Then the Huns began shouting and they roused us below deck again. The place where we had been was filled with smoke, from what or why I do not know, but it was almost impossible to breathe in it. When the smoke cleared up a bit the Marathos started again, for we were still in our underwear only. One of the boys had asked Fritz for clothing and Fritz said the English had tough enough skins and they did not need clothing. Then he said: "Wait until you see what our German winters are like."

The following morning the engines began to tear away again and the guns started firing. After a while the firing stopped and the engines too, and after an hour they had the old man of the Yarrowdale aboard. She was a British ship chartered by the French and bound for Brest and Liverpool with a very valuable cargo aboard—airplanes, ammunition, food and automobiles.

When they roused us on deck again the St. Theodore was still in sight, but she had the Yarrowdale for company. Both were trailing behind us and keeping pretty close on. While we were on deck we saw the German sailors at work on the main deck making about ten rafts and when they began to place tins ofhardtack on the rafts, a tin to each, we imagined they were going to heave us over the side and let us go on the rafts. But instead they began telling us we would land in the States and then they roused us between decks again.

We had only been there a short time when some of the German officers came down and asked if any of the men would volunteer to go firing on the Yarrowdale and we almost mobbed them to take us. They began putting down the names of the men who were to go and I talked them into putting mine down too. Then I felt about five hundred pounds lighter.

Five o'clock came and by that time I had forgotten to do any worrying. We received our usual rations and most of us who had volunteered figured that we would receive clothes and shoes. In the morning an officer came down below and read out the names of those who were to go and I felt even lighter when he called mine. We were each given a life belt and mustered on deck.

The sea was pretty nasty and some of the men had narrow escapes from falling between the Moewe and the lifeboats when the swells rocked us. One man fell from the ladder and broke his neck on the gunwale of the lifeboat. They took over boat after boat to the Yarrowdale until finally we were all there. Then they mustered us on deck and warned us not to start anything, because they had a time bomb in the engine room and two on the bridge. Meantime they had brought over several boatloads ofhardtack and we threw it into No. 3 hold. This was to be our food for some time.

CHAPTER XVII.

Landed in Germany.

They had a coolie crew on the Yarrowdale and when they routed them on deck the coolies began to pray, and though it is nothing to laugh at I could not help but chuckle at the way some of them went about talking to their various gods. They were beginning to smell danger and were pretty nervous. Every one of the coolies had a cane and a pair of Palm Beach trousers. The Huns were loading them in the lifeboats to be taken back to the Moewe with their sea bags and one of them got too nervous and was slow about getting into the lifeboat, so the Germans shot him without saying a word.

Then the Germans called out the names of those who had volunteered to go stoking and this included me. We were drilled down the fiddle into the fire room. The fiddle is a shaft that runs from the main deck of a ship to the engine room. I looked around a bit and saw a German standing not very far from the fiddle, so I asked him if we would be given shoes. He said no. Then I asked him if we had to fire in our bare feet and he said yes—that we did not need shoes. Then he went into the engine room.

I looked at the narrow passage he went through and at the narrow passage of the fiddle to the main deck and I talked to my feet like I used to at Dixmude. I said: "Feet, do your duty." They did it and I flew up the fiddle. I never wanted to see that stoke hole again.

I sneaked up to where the rest of the fellows were and the guards drilled us into No. 4 hold. There was nothing but ammunition in it. They battened the hatches down on us, which made the hold waterproof. And as that made it practically airtight the only air the 580 of us got was through the ventilators. That hold was certainly foul.

They next day some of the men had got cigarettes somewhere. In a few minutes they as well as the rest had lit up and were puffing away in great style. I divided a cigarette with another fellow. Remember, we were sitting and standing on ammunition all this time. It shows how much we cared whether school kept or not.

The Germans saw the smoke coming out of the ventilators and they were crazy with fright. A gang of them laid below and roused us out with whips.

They lined us up on deck and read us the riot act.

They drilled us down into the coal bunkers. It was simply terrible there. Coal dust to breathe and eat and sleep on.

Two Prize Captives.

While on sentry duty one night one of the men at Camp "Oit, who had been the butt of numerous company jokes, halted two of his worst tormentors as they were endeavoring to slip into camp after taps. In response to his challenge they stated that they were Kaiser Bill and Von Hindenburg. Thereupon the sentry called for the officer of the guard, reported his distinguished guests, and had the satisfaction of seeing them headed directly for the guardhouse.

TO ALL WOMEN WHO ARE ILL

This Woman Recommends
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Her Personal Experience.

McLean, Ne.—"I want to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all women who suffer from any functional disturbance, as it has done me more good than all the doctor's medicine. Since taking it I have a fine healthy baby girl and have gained in health and strength. My husband and I both praise your medicine to all suffering women."

WERE NOT TRYING TO FLIRT

Nervous Woman Rather Flattered Herself as Being the Object of Strange Men's Attention.

A woman who labored under the delusion that men were always on the lookout to speak to unaccompanied females was rather nervous walking along a city street one evening. Two men were just behind her laughing and chatting in a very queer fashion, she thought.

"May I join you?" she asked of two women walking in front of her.

"Certainly," they replied. The three walked along. Still the two men followed. They were still laughing and making comments which, though inaudible, the woman felt were directed toward her.

"Thank you for letting me go along with you," she said to her two companions as she left them at a subway entrance. "As a matter of fact those two men walking back of us made me very nervous. I think they have been trying to speak to me."

The women glanced back. "Oh, indeed?" replied one, laughing. "Those men are our husbands!"—Judge.

And the coot who is always "showing off" usually has the least to display.

Government Will Not Compete With Wool Men

Wool growers in New Mexico have received word from Washington that it is not the intention of the war department in the sale of wool now owned by the government to compete with the domestic producers of wool.
 From July 1, until producers have had an opportunity to market their 1919 clip, it is stated that the government will discontinue to offer wool to manufacturers at auction or otherwise.

State Cattlemen Meet

March 25, 26, and 27

(New Mexico State Record)

Over five hundred stockmen now belong to the New Mexico Cattle and Horse Growers' Association which will meet for its fourth annual convention this year in Albuquerque on March 25, 26, and 27. A membership of 1,000 is being sought by the organization.

Four hundred thousand head of cattle, or about half now on the range in New Mexico, are represented by the present membership. Every phase of the problems affecting the industry will be discussed at the meetings, and an attractive social program has been arranged.

Among the speakers and their subjects are:

T. W. Tomlinson, secretary of the American National Livestock association, Denver, subject not assigned; Dwight B. Heard, Phoenix, "The Reconstruction Period"; Chas. Springer, subject not assigned; N. A. Field, "The Public Lands"; Paul G. Redington, "Forest Matters"; L. V.
 Medley, "Loco Extermination";
 J. S. Vaught, "Organization." Other speakers whose subjects have not been assigned, are Lieutenant Governor B. F. Pankey, Dr. Austin Crile, Gov. Lar-razolo and H. A. Jastro.

The teacher of a class of small children had asked for a definition of the word "widow." One little girl gave the following as her idea of the term:

"A widow is a poor woman with a large crowd of children who takes boarders."

"Pa, will you give me a good lickin' right now?"

"Why is this, Johnny?"

"Cause I'm goin' to sneak off and go swimmin' and don't want to be bothered as to the future."

LAND OF WEALTH

Western Canada Has Unbounded Possibilities.

Glorious Opportunities for the Stock Raiser, the Wheat Grower, and the Mixed Farmer—Its Fields to Feed the World.

Before there were any cattle in Alberta, or it was known that it was possible to feed them outside all the year round, the Indian hunters could always find the buffalo during the winter months pasturing in the foothills. In the summer the herds wandered on the plains and fed on the prairie grasses. The plains have since become grain fields, but the foothill district extending north from the international boundary for a thousand miles will always be a natural feeding ground for live stock. In the southern part of Alberta the altitude is greater than in the more northerly districts, but while the herds in the south have winter tracts of treeless pasture, in the north from Red Deer on into the Peace river country there are more trees, a richer vegetation and more natural shelter.

Those who have been advocating stock raising and mixed farming for the past few years point to the number of hogs marketed as an evidence of the increased production of the Western Provinces. They may also take credit for the increase in cattle and sheep, which is very great, but perhaps not so marked as what has been accomplished in hog raising. For the first six months alone last year about half a million hogs were shipped from Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. A very conservative estimate value of these animals to the farmer would be $25,000 a head.

The Canadian West is fast forging to the front of the wheat-producing countries of the world, and "No. 1 hard" is without doubt the best wheat in the market today. When it is considered that the three hundred and forty-three million four hundred and seventy-three thousand bushel crop of 1915 was from only eleven million acres of her hundreds of millions of acres, it gives an idea of what her future will be.

It is felt, however, that on account of the great money there will undoubtedly be in growing wheat during the next few years there is a possibility that farmers may be tempted to drop the growing of coarser grains, which might result in less stock being raised. Every effort is being made by the Agricultural Departments of the various Provinces to impress on the farmers that forage crops and coarse feed in abundance mean production of flesh and milk, and that in the long run the great future of the Western Provinces lies in mixed farming which will found her prosperity on a more enduring basis.

Mixed farming has always been the rule in the Eastern Provinces where the formation of the land invites variety of crop, but it has not been as common in the Western Provinces, though the practice has grown in recent years. Hitherto the man mowing wheat from the rich soil has purchased most of his household food and necessities, his energies being devoted to getting every possible bushel of grain out of every foot of his land, and he has paid prices for his supplies that have made a big dent in his profits. It has now dawned on him that he can raise vegetables and poultry, and supply his own table; that with very little effort he can raise a lot of garden produce and in a very simple manner solve his own problem of the cost of living. Further, that there is an increasing market for domestic necessities such as poultry, eggs, butter, milk and cheese, which command very high prices, and that there are other roads to prosperity besides that through the wheat field.

In 1916 Canada imported 7,980,269 pounds of butter, most of it from as far away as New Zealand, and for the first time in 60 years failed to ship butter to England, a condition due to the home consumption, which is estimated to be increasing at the rate of $3,000,000 worth a year, being greatly in excess of the increased supply. This condition has brought about a change in farming methods that is far-reaching, and will result in greatly increased production all round of the necessities demanded by the home market.

Natural Resources.

One of the most important considerations to the farmer is fuel. In northern Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, where portions of the country are well wooded, the settler has little difficulty in getting all the wood he requires and thousands of men find employment in the winter cutting wood, which is shipped all over the prairie portions of the provinces. There is an abundance of coal throughout the country. It is estimated that the coal deposits in Alberta cover over 81,000 square miles and represent an available tonnage of over ten hundred thousand million tons, while those in Saskatchewan cover an area of 13,000 miles, containing over 59,000,000 tons. In Manitoba the coal reserve is not as large, but even there 100,000,000 tons is considered a conservative estimate. At the present time these deposits are only worked to a small extent, but there is no doubt that they will be a great feature in upbuilding the country and will exercise a powerful influence on its commerce.

It is a common thing in the coal districts for farmers to get their coal supply off their own farm. Near Edmonton, for example, the farmers not only supply themselves, but they carry coal to the city market and find it a considerable source of revenue in the winter time. The Edmonton coal fields under and around the city have an estimated content of sixty thousand million tons. Farmers sell the coal at $4 a ton for domestic use.

The pioneer of Western Canada knew little of the enjoyments of life, compared with the farmer in that country today. The continual extension of railway lines affords facilities undreamed of a few years ago, closing up the gaps of communication, creating immense business for the East in the West and the West in the East, and drawing the farmer all the time nearer to the zones of commerce. In creating wider markets the railways are doing more than any other agency can do for Western Canada and the country as a whole. The products of the farms, which are now readily marketed, and the vast train of employment that follows the enlargement of the farming industry, is creating new agricultural centers and causing towns and cities of importance to grow all along its lines.

An admirable system of agricultural instruction has been developed through the efforts of the Dominion government and the various provincial Departments of Agriculture. This forms part of the educational system of Western Canada and is doing much for all branches of agriculture. Experimental farms have been established at various points in the provinces, which have done wonders in developing improved methods of farming.

The result has been a great awakening to the necessity of better methods of tillage, scientific stock raising and dairying. Farmers are beginning to realize that to get what they are entitled to out of the land, they must adopt scientific methods, and as a result, careful seed selection, proper rotation and summer fallow is the order of the day. Under the favorable conditions generally anticipated, prospects point to an all round increase in production that will leave a great deal of money in the hands of the western farmer this year, and prosperity for Western Canada as a whole. It will be years before Europe will make up arrears in agricultural production, caused by the enforced idleness and wholesale destruction, and Western Canada will play a big part in filling the void.

The result of the continued shortage in cattle, the future price of beef and the solution of the perplexing problem of feeding the world are vital questions uppermost in the minds of many thinking people today.

There is no doubt that the wide acres of Western Canada can, and will, be made to play an important part in bringing about a proper balance in supply and demand. In the northern parts of Manitoba and Saskatchewan and in Alberta are many thousands of acres of the richest pasture in the world, well watered and treated by the sunniest of climates. These rolling hills for the greater part are still unpeopled and untrodden by the hoofs of domestic animals.

One of the causes assigned for the decline in stock-raising is the reduction in the areas available for grazing on account of so many big ranches being converted into farms. Experiments conducted at Vermilion, Alberta, would rather go to show that the old grazing grounds were too large, and that the feeding is really better when the animal is confined to a comparatively limited area, providing the pasturage is of the right kind and there is plenty of water.—Advertisement.

YOUR FLAG AND MY FLAG

One View of It

President Wilson has invited his critics to test the sentiment of America regarding the proposed league of nations. He expresses himself as confident that the people of the United States want the league.

The people of a democratic country speak through their regularly elected representatives in both houses of congress. By giving the majority of their votes to the republican party last fall, they unmistakably expressed themselves as not entirely pleased with the leadership of President Wilson.

On what ground, then, does President Wilson base his confidence that the people of America support this particular policy of his? If his belief is justified the league of nations project is an exception to the rule.

The burden of proof that he is spokesman for American sentiment is therefore on President Wilson. He must show that, despite the disagreement of the majority of Americans with his ideas—as evidenced by the November elections—they are in accord with him as to his plans for a world league.

There is only one way to demonstrate this accord beyond a peradventure of a doubt. And that is by putting the whole business to a vote of the American people. —Albuquerque Herald.

Jobs For The Boys

Plans are being made everywhere for young men in uniform to occupy as fast as they assume civilian life again. None must be left idle. The boys have given their service and have risked their lives to save the world from tyranny. Their sacrifice is too great at the best and no place of employment or pay is too good for them now.

And too, it is history that after all wars the soldier's service has tended to change the whole life of many, if they fail to take up the place of industry that they should. If any should turn to slackness or dissipation, the

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Forty Five Years of Success The astonishing Record of PERUNA

Not a cure-all, but a rational remedy for catarrh and all inflammation and congestion of the mucous membranes.

Catarrh attacks the mucous linings, in any organ, in any part of the body. It is not, as some imagine, confined to the nose and throat, although nasal catarrh is the most common form and afflicts many people.

Unchecked catarrh soon breaks down the tissue and destroys the organs or part. Evidence of the ravages of catarrh are all around us. Without desire to frighten anyone, we say: "Guard yourself against catarrh as you would against the direst plague. Fortify your system. Take Peruna."

INSPIRING WORDS FOR THE SICK FROM THOSE WHO KNOW.

A Good Medicine in the Family.
I had a bad case of LaGrippe and could get no relief. Peruna cured me. It is a fine medicine. We often use it in the family and find it good.

FEELS LIKE A DIFFERENT PERSON.
Peruna has cured my stomach and I feel like a different person. I only took twelve bottles of Peruna and can eat anything without distress, something I have not done for fifteen years.

I recommend Peruna to everybody suffering with catarrh of the stomach.

FOR ALL FORMS OF CATARRH.

Peruna is indicated for all forms of catarrh or catarrhal inflammation and congestion of the mucous linings in any part or organ, such as nose, throat, bronchial tubes, lungs, stomach, bowels, kidneys, bladder, etc. It is fine for coughs, colds and effects of the grip and an excellent preventive remedy.

If you want health, insist upon having Dr. Hartman's World Famous Peruna Tonic.

Acid-Stomach Now Quickly Relieved

These painful attacks of indigestion, heart-burn, belching, disgusting food-repeating; that puffing bloated, lumpy feeling after eating, dyspepsia and stomach aches—all point to just one awful American disease—commonly known as ACID-STOMACH.

Fortunately there has been discovered a wonderful modern remedy—called EATONIC—that brings instant relief from all these stomach miseries because it absorbs the harmful excess acid in the stomach and drives out the bile and gas. You won't know you have a stomach, so free of pain you'll feel. Besides, it saves you from more serious ailments because it is a scientific fact that ACID-STOMACH frequently creates conditions which baffle the best medical skill. Many cases of chronic stomach trouble, biliousness, severe headache, general weakness, rheumatism, gout, fumbago, intestinal ulcer, cancer of the stomach, heart pains and even heart failure can be traced directly to Acid-Stomach.

Avoid these dangers—don't let acid-stomach wreck your health. Don't drag out your days feeling all in, down and out, weak and ailing. Keep the vital spark flashing. Eat the things you like and digest your food in comfort. Then you'll feel fine—be fit—mentally alert—have pep and punch—the power and will to do things.

Take EATONIC and give your stomach the help to put it in a fine, healthy condition so that it will digest your food perfectly and make every mouthful you eat register 100% in enriching your blood and building up your bodily strength.

Get a big box of EATONIC TABLETS from your druggist today. They taste good—just like a bit of candy. The cost is trifling. It is absolutely guaranteed. If it fails to relieve your stomach misery, your druggist will refund your money.

BERGER GETS TWENTY YEARS

FEDERAL JUDGE LANDIS GIVES LIMIT TO SOCIALIST LEADERS.

OBSTRUCTED THE DRAFT

WILL TAKE CASE TO UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT, REPORTED.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Chicago, Feb. 21.—A maximum prison sentence of twenty years was imposed by Federal Judge Landis yesterday on Congressman-elect Victor L. Berger of Milwaukee, and four other Socialist leaders, who in final pleas likened themselves to history's greatest martyrs. The five men, convicted of conspiracy to obstruct the draft in violation of the espionage act, obtained release on bail from Judge Aischuler, and declared they would carry their legal fight to the United States Supreme Court if necessary. Besides Berger, publisher of the Milwaukee Leader, the other convicted men are: The Rev. Irwin St. John Tucker, lecturer and writer; Adolph Germer, national secretary of the Socialist party; J. Louis Engdahl, editor of the American Socialist; William F. Kruse, head of the Young People's Socialist League. Judge Landis granted a filing of a petition for a writ of error. Counsel for the convicted men then went before Judge Samuel P. Aischuler of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals and asked for bail.

Judge Aischuler said he hesitated to grant the motion for bail, lest the defendants continue their Socialistic agitation. He interviewed each of the five, and then granted them bail.

The new bonds had been fixed at $25,000 on each count and each of the five was found guilty on two counts. The surety, too, was required to be double the sum fixed, or $100,000 each, or $500,000 for all. Late yesterday $500,000 surety was given and approved by Judge Aischuler and the five men were released.

Berger and his four associates took full advantage of the customary inquiry of the judge whether they had anything to say before sentence was passed, and the Milwaukee congressman-elect finished reading his 2,000-word typewritten statement with tears streaming down his face. He professed no surprise at the verdict, though declaring his conviction was in violation of the constitution, and asserted he would retract nothing he had said or written. He declared that if the present "system" continued the "capitalists would surely create anarchy," and "would prepare this country for a revolution such as the world has never seen before."

Heavy Penalty for Anarchists.

Washington.—Without waiting the outcome of the inquiry into radical propaganda now under way, the Senate Judiciary committee unanimously recommended legislation to punish anarchist activities or propaganda and the display of flags or other emblems of violence. The bill drawn by the committee combines the "red flag" measure introduced by Senator New of Indiana and other bills designed to check unlawful agitation against the government, and is expected to meet the demands of authors of these other measures, which were aimed principally at the activities of the I. W. W. Persons convicted of violations of the new law would be subject to a fine of not more than $5,000 or imprisoned for not more than five years, or both.

American Run Out of Mexico.

New York.—Edgar M. Wilkins of Savannah, Ga., arrived on the Ward line steamship Monterey, accompanied by his wife and boy, after having been driven out of Mexico. Wilkins is an engineer with the Pueblo Tramway, Light and Power Company at Orizaba, Mexico, and recently was charged, he said, with furnishing dynamite to blow up the plant of a rival concern operated by Mexicans. He declared he established an alibi and the affair was dropped temporarily. The Mexican returned later, however, with an armed guard, and ordered him to leave the country. Wilkins is going to Washington to present his case to the federal authorities.

Mayor Morphine Peddler.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa.—Dr. E. M. Brinnemann, mayor and physician of Afton, Iowa, was held to federal grand jury in $1,000 bonds here on charge of violation of the Harrison drug act. The government authorities charge he sold $15 worth of morphine to one person, and that he has been doing a wholesale business in narcotics for months.

Why Swift & Company Handle Poultry, Eggs, Butter and Cheese

Swift & Company went into the produce business because they saw a crying need for the kind of service they were equipped to perform.

The produce business was in chaos. Collecting, transportation, preparation and distribution was hit or miss, with delay, deterioration and loss on every hand.

The farmer was at the mercy of an uncertain, localized market. He had no way of reaching through to the people who needed what he was raising for them. There was no premium upon improving his stocks, for grading was lax or lacking.

The consumer had to accept produce that, as a rule, had no known responsible name behind it. He had no way of knowing how long the eggs or the butter he was buying had been lying around in miscellaneous lots in the back room of a country store. Much of the poultry was not properly refrigerated before shipment or properly protected by refrigeration in transit.

Swift & Company's initiative brought system to this chaos. Their organization, equipment, and experience in handling perishable food products were already adjusted to the task. Their refrigerator cars, branch houses, central points, far-reaching connections, trained sales force, supplied just what was demanded.

Now the farmer has a daily cash market in touch with the nation's needs with better prices. Standardization makes better produce more profitable. More consumers are served with better, fresher, finer foodstuffs.

Nothing suffers from this save inefficiency, which has no claim upon public support.

Swift & Company, U.S.A.

Numbers and Value of Sheep, Swine and Cattle

(For 1918)

According to the census this state had 3,346,984 sheep in 1910. The government estimated 3,135,000 on January 1, 1919. This estimate probably indicates a considerable number of sheep that are owned in Texas, Colorado, Utah and Arizona, but are grazed part of the time in this state. The number of sheep have rapidly diminished since the census year and is likely to continue as the country is settled and the ranges become smaller. 1,840,000 sheep were assessed in the state last year. There are a great many Indian sheep in the state that are not subject to taxation. The average value per head of the sheep during the census year was $3.61, compared to $8.50 January 1, 1919. This makes an aggregate value for the sheep at present of $26,648, compared with $12,072,000 in 1910.

There were 45,409 hogs in the state in 1910, compared to 93,000 on January 1, 1919. The average value per head in 1910 was $6.08, compared to $19.00 on January 1, 1919.

The 1910 census reported 51,461 milk cows in the state, on January 1, 1919, there were 84,000, or an increase during this period of about 63 per cent. The value per head has increased from $33.16 in the census year to $75.00 in 1918. It is very likely that the 84,000 cows estimated as milk cows for 1918 include many range cows that are milked for only a very short lactation period, and the number actually kept for milk will be somewhat less than this figure.

The census of 1910 showed 1,024,202 cattle other than milk cows in the state. On January 1, 1919, the number estimated for the state was 1,325,000. This shows only about 3 per cent increase in the ten years. The number of cattle in the state has fluctuated during this period. In 1913 the government estimate was 891,000. Since that time the numbers have gradually increased, and an increase of 75,000 for January 1, 1919 is shown over January 1, 1918, in spite of the severe drought in the state during the past year.

Activity in Stock Sales

The Carrizozo Live Stock Commission Company's books for the present month show that they have sold 10,000 head of sheep; bought 1,000 head of Block Ranch Steers, 12,000 head of steers of Jernigan & Son of Hope, N. M., and 450 steers from other parties.

This Company aside from their regular business keep themselves well informed on conditions of the range in the different portions of the state, and find that the outlook for good feeding in the coming spring has not been so good for the past four years. President M. U. Finley of the Company, has visited Duncan, Hope and Pecosco during the past week, and says that grass is coming nicely, there being need of but very little feeding.

Cloudcroft To Be Removed

(Cloudcroft)

The Cloudcroft has been sold to the Alamo Publishing Co., of Alamogordo, N. M., and in order to enable it to perform its duty to the people of Otero county, will move to the county seat. The plant will be enlarged to take care of such increase in business as may come to it, and will endeavor to, at all times, boost Otero county to the fullest extent.

The paper will be strictly a county paper; will not favor one locality over another, but will work continuously for a better and more prosperous county. It is also being arranged to get some good live, wide-awake man at Cloudcroft to represent the people of Cloudcroft in the paper. One page will be devoted exclusively to Cloudcroft and the mountains, and a good man with Cloudcroft and the mountains at heart will be employed to see to it that this is done.

As to the ownership of the paper; The Alamo Publishing Co., is a newly organized corporation and it has and will have stockholders in each neighborhood in the county, thus making it truly a people's paper, of the people, for the people and by the people.

PIGS IN POKES

It is an American characteristic to shout when you win but never cheer when you lose. More's the pity.

And shrewd stock swindlers have made the most of it.

If only ten per cent of the victims who have traded their Liberty Bonds for worthless stocks in wild cat companies alone were to tell the country of their losses it would discourage this sort of bartering.

But they will never do it. The man who is stung the hardest is the least likely to admit it. He simply grins and bears it.

Meantime thousands of Liberty Bond owners are considering surrendering their 3½, 4 and 4½ certificates for neatly printed and highly illuminated certificates that are 90 per cent pipe dreams.

Nine times out of ten these gulls are the small investors, the fellows who can the least afford to lose.

There is some excuse for the man who lives in a developing oil field and sees and knows what is being done investing in a promoting company there.

But there is no apology to be made for the man who invests at long range. Who never sees what he is dumping his money into. Who takes only a salesman's word. Who, above all, trades in a Liberty Bond for a stock certificate.

Keep your bonds. They're an investment, not a speculation.

THAT WHEAT GUARANTEE

Because of his price guarantee of $2.25 a bushel Uncle Sam stands to lose from 50 cents to a dollar on every bushel of wheat harvested this year. Having made this guarantee to the farmer he will make it good That is Uncle Sam's way.

But what is the Farmer going to do for Uncle Sam in the Victory Liberty Loan?

Europe is buying wheat right now from the big accumulations of the last two or three years in Argentine and Australia at something like $1.50 a bushel.

Without the government guarantee the American farmer would be getting no more than this price now. And he doing well at that.

If he is to retain the respect of the American public, if he is to continue to be regarded as the backbone of the nation, he must do his part in this next bond issue.

Read what these patriots and sports said when asked what they were going to do in the Victory Loan Campaign. These are extracts from letters received from Liberty Loan chairmen by Frank M. Smith, Federal District Director of the War Loan Organization at Dallas.

"After having put through four loans with the last one 159 percent in excess of our quota, do you think that we sound like a bunch that would lay down and not finish the job? When you are ready for us to shoot, give us the 'high sign' and then watch us bring home the bacon."

Yours truly,

LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE IF SICK, CROSS, FEVERISH

HURRY, MOTHER! REMOVE POISONS FROM LITTLE STOMACH, LIVER, BOWELS.

GIVE CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS AT ONCE IF BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED.

Look at the tongue, mother! It coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative;" they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Adv.

Belief is growing at Deming that the shops and round house of the Southern Pacific will be soon under construction.

R. E. Brown, former county treasurer, was the unanimous choice of the City Council last week for the newly created position of city manager in Clovis.

The New Mexico newspaper men, although not a great many were present, held the most successful convention ever attempted by the fraternity of the state.

Word was received from the manufacturers by the local manager of the water and light plant that the last of the new equipment has been shipped for Columbus.

The Senate passed Dr. M. P. Skeen's bill declaring abortion a felony and prescribing fines ranging from $500 to $2,000, or a penitentiary sentence ranging from one to five years. The bill also provides that in case the patient dies after such an operation, the physician shall be guilty of second degree murder.

Proceedings in the Barth-Christman senatorial contest were formally started in the Senate when the committee on privilege and elections brought in a majority report asserting that Christman had been elected by sixty-nine votes and urging that Barth be unseated at the senator from the San Joaquin, San Juan, Bernalillo district.

The community hall, being erected at Las Cruces by Mrs. Kate Raymond, is nearing completion and when finished will be one of the most handsome buildings in Las Cruces. A library room and reception room will be among the rooms on the first floor. Later tennis courts will be built near the buildings and the grounds parked and improved. These grounds adjoin the swimming pool erected in the fall by Mrs. Raymond.

The local draft boards are busy winding up their work, according to Captain R. C. Reid, in charge of the selective draft in New Mexico. The boards in the following counties have completed their work and are ready to forward their records to Washington: Colfax, Curry, De Baca, Eddy, Lea, Lincoln, Mora, Otero, Rio Arriba, San Juan, Santa Fe and Union. All cases of delinquents are referred to Captain Reid for his attention and decision.

In an effort to induce thrift among the younger school children and promote industry among the older boys and girls of New Mexico, the State Department of Education is sending out to the county and city school superintendents posters furnished by the Department of Labor to be used in a campaign to enroll all boys of the state between 16 and 21 years of age in the boys' working reserve, the slogan of which is "Fight World Hunger," and both posters and bulletins to the girls and boys below 16 urging them to become thrift club members and cultivate a small garden.

The most important among the new bills introduced in the House was a measure by Judge Barnes of Albuquerque containing numerous amendments to the law of 1911 providing for the collection of delinquent taxes. The amendments are designed to put teeth into the collection of delinquent taxes arising enough to hold on to money of the dodging taxpayer. The forty-five day period heretofore existing after which judgment could not be applied for by the county is repealed and the county may seek judgment at any time. The mailing of a written notice is sufficient notice of suit.

Forty-five thousand dollars worth of bonds have been ordered issued by the Municipal Council to erect a waterworks plant at Roy.

The new cotton ginning company at Otis will not merely operate a gin but will also be in the market for the entire cotton crop of that section.

A bond issue or small tax over a long term of years, or if constitutional a reappropriation of the balance of the public defense money, are three suggestions for defraying the expense of needed new buildings for public institutions made by Governor Laramore in a special message to the Legislature accompanying the biennial budget which the government and budget board submit to the solons. A 2-cent tax on gasoline to raise $400,000 annually; an increased tax on automobiles, yielding $100,000 and over annually; a franchise or license tax on corporations, 2-cent tax on movies, an inheritance tax and tax on incomes over $1,000 and collection of $2,500,000 in delinquent taxes are measures suggested by the governor to raise revenue for the eighth and ninth fiscal year.

GIRLS! LOTS OF BEAUTIFUL HAIR

A small bottle of "Danderine" makes hair thick, glossy and wavy.

Removes all dandruff, stops itching scalp and falling hair.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—it costs but a few cents—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower, destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp, and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this. Adv.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it. A prominent druggist says: "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments; corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Adv.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

LAZY SNOW-STORM

"I don't feel like working hard today," said old King Snow.

"Let's rest every little while," said the snow flakes.

"Good idea, children," agreed old King Snow. "We'll do that."

So the snow came down to the earth so slowly and just as though it didn't want to rush or hurry or work.

"We're lazy today," said old King Snow, "but I suppose everything must feel lazy at times. I feel more like talking than working."

"Snow flakes," said old King Snow, "I saw a chickadee the other day, and I said, 'Little bird, how can you stand this weather?'"

"Well," said the chickadee, "I'm here because I want to make the people cheerful. I love to cheer them up. I don't want to make people live without us all winter you see."

"You're a cheerful little bird," I said. And then the chickadee sang such a cheery little song which went like this, "Chickadee, dee, dee, chickadee, dee, dee."

Old King Snow stopped talking then for a few moments and the snow flakes stopped listening and they all began to go on with the lazy snow storm.

"Little Bird, How Can You Stand This Weather?"

"This is the funniest snow storm the people have had in a good long time," said old King Snow. "They must think I'm feeling lazy today, all right."

"And they must think we're feeling lazy too," said the snow flakes.

They dropped to the earth very slowly, without any hurry or worry or scurry. And then, after awhile, the snow flakes said, "Dear old King Snow tell us of something else you've seen this winter. We're too lazy to fall any more for a time."

"So am I," said old King Snow. "I will tell you of the train I saw go by this morning. I got on top of the train and I talked to the snow there."

"Cousins," I said, "from where have you come and where do you go?"

"You know from where we come," they said, and I chuckled and nodded my snowy head—for of course, it was true, I did know from where they came!

"Well," I said, "tell me where you are going?"

"Ah," they said, "we do not know. We are traveling. We fell on this train and our cousins fell on the other trains and the engines and the icicle neighbors joined us and we're all going on and on and on."

"What mystery! What joy!" I said. "And what are you stopping here for? I asked them."

"We're stopping here to let on passengers." And then we heard some people who were getting on the train say, "Oh look! The train is covered with snow. How cold it looks. We hope it will be warm inside."

"And then we thought how lucky we were to be outside for if we had gone inside we surely would have melted away."

"And then the trainmen called 'All aboard,' and the snow on the train shouted to me, 'Good-bye old King Snow, sorry you won't go along too, for we're going to see the world and go along on top of this good old train. We're going to compliment Mr. Winter for we're going to look good and cold."

"Good-bye, old King Snow. You're the best king that has ever been."

"So I dropped down to the earth and I am still here feeling lazy as I did then. But ah, I've seen such wonderful sights—a chickadee bird who didn't complain of the cold, and our snow cousins going on a wondrous trip on a great train of cars through the country."

"You've most certainly seen a lot," said the snow flakes. "Well, we'll fall some more but not too much, for we're the lazy snow storm, we are."

"We are indeed," said old King Snow. "And we could easily sing this song."

"We may seem slow, but we will get there. And we can sing, can snow?"

Every Little Task a Burden?

To the women worn-out with weak kidneys, housework is a heavy burden. Backache, sick headaches, nervousness, dizziness, "blue" spells and a weak, tired condition, make the simplest tasks difficult and the ever-present daily duties give the weakened kidneys no time to recover. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. They have brought relief and comfort to thousands of weak, suffering women.

A Colorado Case

Mrs. Mary Decker, 222 E. Second St., Salida, Colo., says: "I was so crippled up on account of pains in my back that for two weeks I was unable to walk. My back was played out completely and I didn't have strength enough to get up from a sitting position. The trouble was all caused by disordered kidneys. It sometimes seemed as if my back were broken. I tried Doan's Kidney Pills, as I had read such good accounts about them and they cured me."

GOING BACK TO NATURE

BY DR. W. LUCAS.

People get sick because they go away from Nature, and the only way to get well is to go back. Something grows out of the ground in the form of vegetation to cure almost every ill. Some of these vegetable growths are understood by man, and some are not. Animals, it would seem, know what to do when they are sick better than men and women. Observers have noted that a sick horse, dog or cat will stop eating food and seek out some vegetable growth in the field or yard, which, when found and eaten, often restores appetite and health. Haven't you seen these animals do this very thing yourself?

Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., long since found the herbs and roots provided by Nature to overcome constipation, and he had these vegetables collected and made up of Mispapple, leaves of Aloe, root of Jalap, into little white sugar-coated pills, that he called Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. You must understand that when your intestines are stopped up, poisons and decayed matter are imprisoned in your system, and these are carried by the blood throughout your body. Thus does your head ache, you get dizzy, you can't sleep, your skin may break out, your appetite declines, you get tired and despondent. As a matter of fact, you may get sick all over. Don't you see how useless all this suffering is? All that is often needed is a few of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, which he has placed in all drug stores for your convenience and health. Try them by all means. They are probably the very thing you need right now.
