CANVASSING THE VOTE.

The following, from republican sources, outlines a rather queer situation at Santa Fe, concerning the election:

Santa Fe, N. M. Nov. 29.—With the official returns from 22 precincts missing and three precincts not having held an election, the official canvassing board of the November election, when it convened this forenoon, was confronted by a peculiar situation with returns from six counties to be sorted, which will probably swell the missing precinct returns to 30.

This process of sorting the returns before beginning the actual canvass may be completed today. While neither party has made any charge of fraud thus far, the withholding of 30 precinct returns for three weeks has made such charges possible and has revived talk of congressional investigation and the delaying of President Taft in issuing the proclamation, which the law directs he shall do immediately upon receiving officially the result of the canvass.

However, neither republican nor democratic leaders desire such delay and would fight such a proposition, but the canvassing board may adjourn until Monday, so as to give time to have the missing returns located and the ballot boxes brought to Santa Fe.

The republicans having the supreme court, half of the state officials, and most of the district and county officers, besides the legislature, assuring them two senators, would bitterly oppose delay at Washington, especially since delay might mean the going over of the appointment of federal judge and other federal officials to another administration, with the risk that the next national administration might be democratic.

On the other hand, the democrats would also fear risking the advantages they have gained and would oppose holding another election under possibly a special congressional election act. It is not believed, therefore, that any movement to set aside the election, providing for another election next November, will crystalize into any organized or definite movement.

Dark Forebodings for Mexico.

Tombstone, Ariz., Nov. 29.—The El Paso Herald correspondent is in receipt of a lengthy communication from Frank O. Anderson, now located in the interior of Mexico, who declares that much unrest is being manifested among the lower classes of Mexicans, and further that the inauguration of Francisco I. Madero as president of Mexico was but the signal for another revolution.

For the past two months the many jails and penitentiaries of the interior, he says, have been filled with all classes of Mexicans, who are suspected of being implicated in the hatching of another revolution against the Madero regime.

In many instances members and officers of the federal army have been placed under arrest and charged with conspiracy against the government, for the reason that they were taking part in the Reyes gatherings, which have been rather frequent of late throughout the interior.

According to Mr. Anderson's letter, on the fourth of the present month, three box cars en route to the state of Jalisco were seized by the federal officials. They contained thousands of rounds of ammunition, besides many hundred army rifles. The shipment was consigned to Arturo Alvarez, a wholesale hardware dealer in that state.

Every effort within the power of the Madero government is being made to quell any attempt to launch another revolution in the republic, and during the past two months over 75,000 recruits have been enlisted in the federal army throughout Mexico, the majority of whom have been sent to the border states to strengthen the various garrisons.

Everything points to another revolution in Mexico within the very near future, as many small bands are being organized daily in the interior, especially among the lower classes, and when the word is given, the insurgents will commence mobilizing in the mountains throughout the republic, and it is thought that a more bloody insurrection will take place than was ever recorded in the history of Mexico.

PICK CHICKENS BY VACUUM.

Can chickens be picked by the vacuum cleaner process? If so, there will be a great saving of labor. A New Jersey man who raises broilers for the market had his attention called to the subject when his wife bought a vacuum cleaner for use around the house. When the idea occurred to him that the vacuum cleaner might be utilized to pick feathers, he set the machine at work at full speed, and rubbed the nozzle over a broiler. Even the pin feathers were removed and no singeing was needed, says the Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin. Then he thought he would save the feathers, and in place of the bag to receive the dust he tied pillow casings to the receiving end of the tube. This plan worked well, too, and he can pick his broilers and make feather pillows at the same time. If his plan lowers the price of broilers the chicken man will receive the thanks of a grateful public. There is only one chance for criticism of the summary process here described, and that is that it packs feathers into pillow-cases without cleaning them, which of course will not do. But the picking plan is great. If vacuum cleaners can be made to pluck fowls they will relieve farmers' wives of drudgery which has done much to put gray into their lives, and will mark a new era in the triumph of machinery over hand labor.

The first cool days of the waning summer are always attended by financial losses, which, instead of arousing sympathy, provoke smiles of derision. These particular losses result from making use of the parlor or sitting room stove as a bank, in which hard-earned savings, or hard-earned earnings, are deposited from time to time by the head of the household. Generally the reason for this method is a fear on the part of the hoarder that it would be running too great a risk to entrust the savings to a regularly established and responsible bank. But, be the reason what it may, the savings from the garden truck, eggs, poultry and other produce are secreted in the stove as the most unlikely place to be inspected by thieves, and in due time a snug little sum is accumulated, says the Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph. By and by a cool day comes along, and fire is started in the stove, and the cash goes up in smoke before it occurs to the depositor that he has unintentionally robbed himself. Then comes the usual frenzied search of the ashes, followed by the usual tearing out of hair by the handfuls.

The fascination for adventures upon the borderland of the unseen continues to enthrall scientific men of a certain temperament, who look for discoveries where others assert that in the nature of things there must ever be mystery. A number of young stenographers and typewriters in Boston have volunteered for experiments by professors at the Carnegie laboratory who entertain hopes of throwing some light upon the union of the body and the soul as well as of discovering improved methods of treating certain diseases now considered incurable. The line of observation is expected to demonstrate to a hair's breadth the value of mental healing. It will be interesting to watch for these investigators' report. They may make useful discoveries, if not those in search of which they have set out.

PAPER BAG COOKERY

VEGETABLES COOKED IN THIS MANNER ARE DELICIOUS.

Combines the Advantages of Baking and Boiling—Delights of New Method Are Many, But It Has Limitations.

The Soyer method of paper bag cookery is never better than when applied to fresh vegetables. A great many vegetables are better when baked in the oven than when cooked in water on the top of the stove, because the juices are better preserved. But the one great objection to baking a vegetable has been the fact that it is likely to grow dry with cooking and acquire a hard crust over the surface. When inclosed in a paper bag the moisture arising from it as it cooks forms an envelope of steam around it and keeps it from drying. The steam cannot escape while inclosed in the bag.

Beets are delicious, cooked in this way, if the oven is hot and they are allowed plenty of time to bake. None of their juices and flavor is lost as in boiling, but when done they are perfectly tender and their skins can be as easily slipped off as when they have been boiled. Very young carrots have a most delicious flavor when baked in one of these cooking bags, a flavor that is quite foreign to the when the are boiled in water. Tomatoes cooked in paper bags are also delicious. They taste much like the boiled ones, but are better, and retain their shape perfectly. If sealed up tight and placed on a grid shelf none of their juices will escape from the bag.

New potatoes baked in bags are without a dry, hard crust, the skin being so tender it can be pulled off with the hand, but many people will prefer to bake potatoes in the old way, as when cooked in the steam filled bag they are too much like boiled potatoes. They lack something of the nutty flavor of the ordinary baked tuber.

Kohlrabi when cooked in this way does not give forth its cabbage-like odor as when boiled, but it is not improved in flavor.

If the summer cottage does not furnish a stove with good broiling facilities, and a porterhouse steak is wanted for dinner, try baking it in a paper cooking bag in the oven. The juices of the meat will be retained and form a delicious gravy, which will not soak through the paper as might be supposed if it is placed upon a grid shelf, where the hot air of the oven can circulate under it as well as over it. It makes a very nice change from broiling, too, as the flavor is different. For ordinary occasions, however, many people will prefer the broiled steak, in spite of the fact that some of the juices are lost in the fire. M. Soyer allows about fifteen or twenty minutes to cook a steak in a paper bag.

The delights of paper bag cooking are many. To the weary housekeeper the best of all is the fact that it alleviates to some extent the burden completely, as writers in search of a sensation would have one believe. The originator of the idea does not assure the housewife of any such good luck. Soups, omelettes and similar egg dishes, the homely cabbage, with some of its relatives; jams, except in limited quantities, and all pasties, such as macaroni, are baked by M. Soyer from this novel method of cookery.

Successful Economy in Baking.

Most housewives assume when they buy a big can of baking powder at a low price that they have been economical. They have to a slight extent—but when they use that cheap "big can" baking powder, and find it so uneven in quality, or so unreliable that the baking fails, there isn't so much economy in it after all, for the wasted materials far outweigh the few cents saved in the price.

SUCCESSFUL economy, is in the reach of every woman that desires it. She has only to order Calumet Baking Powder, and use it according to instructions. Then, she will achieve economy. For not only does Calumet sell at a reasonable price—25c per pound—but it is so carefully made by experienced chemists that failure is impossible. Only the best materials are used and the proportions of the ingredients are so exact and so uniform that EVERY baking comes from the oven, light, sweet, and beautifully raised. Calumet guarantees you against failure, and that is what constitutes real economy in baking.

Why not use Calumet, a baking powder that you can always rely upon? You can get no better at any price, for at the World's Pure Food Exposition, Calumet received the Highest Award.

WHAT I WENT THROUGH

Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Natick, Mass.—"I cannot express what I went through during the change of life before I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in such a nervous condition I could not keep still. My limbs were cold, I had creepy sensations, and I could not sleep nights. I was finally told by two physicians that I also had a tumor. I read one day of the wonderful cures made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it, and it has made me a well woman. My neighbors and friends declare it had worked a miracle for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold for women during this period of life. If it will help others you may publish my letter."—Mrs. NATHAN B. GREATER, 51 N. Main Street, Natick, Mass.

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

SOME DAINTY APPLE DISHES

Toothsome Concoctions Easily Prepared From This Most Healthful of Fruits.

Apple Compote.—Four apples, one-third cup sugar. Wash, core and pare the apples. Boil sugar and water five minutes. Cook apples slowly in covered pan until clear and tender. Remove to serving dish. Boil syrup several minutes longer until thick. Pour over apples and serve cold.

Apple Compote.—Pare four round apples, core, fill with sugar, little butter, and one raisin. Put in baking dish, add hot water until apples are half covered, sprinkle well with sugar and bake until soft. Serve in ice cream glasses, with own juice.

Children's Apple Bread.—An old-fashioned dish for children is prepared as follows: One quart of corn meal, one pint of ripe chopped apples, three tablespoonfuls of butter, a pinch of salt and one and one-half cups of water; sweeten as desired and bake as ordinary corn bread.

HINT FOR CANNING TIME

Economy Is Found by Practical Housewife in Providing New Rubbers Each Season.

It will be found much more economical when canning fruit or vegetables to always provide new rubbers each season, for by doing this one need not exert oneself when opening the jars, as the rubber can be caught with a knife edge and torn out when one wishes to open them. It not only saves the exertion, but saves the jars from cracking once ever so often when in the act of opening, making the contents unfit to use on account of the danger of there being tiny pieces of glass in them, and also it averts the necessity of turning up the edge of the lid with a knife, thus making it liable to admit air at the next season's filling. New rubbers make a sure success, but old ones are a gamble. Tear them off when opening the jar and the lid will come off easily.

To prevent tomato soup from curdling add hot tomatoes (with soda) into the thickened milk.

If doughnuts do not take on a golden brown crust as soon as they are dropped into the lard, it is because it is not hot enough.

Even delicate glass can be safely washed in very hot water if slipped in edgewise.

Insects like neither salt nor alum and enough adheres to the carpet to keep them away.

Starch should be mixed with soapy water, for thus the linen will have a more glossy appearance and be less likely to stick to the iron.

Clotheslines and pegs will last much longer if they are boiled for ten minutes when new. It is a good plan to repeat the boiling occasionally.

A good knife cleaning board is made by taking a piece of board ten inches long and six inches wide. Tack on to this a piece of Brussels carpet and sprinkle with fine emery. Knives rubbed on this will clean well and with little labor.

To remove grease spots from carpets mix fuller's earth and magnesia together in equal proportions (by scraping and pounding). Form this into a paste with hot water and spread on the spots. Next day brush off and, if necessary, repeat the process.

When, after much service, a broom becomes shorter on one side than the other, and the ends of the straws as sharp as needles, dip it in hot water and trim it down quite evenly with the shears. The result will be a broom as serviceable as when new.

HALEY & DINGWALL - PUBLISHERS.

It Looks Like the "Bull".

The success of the gum shoe politician was never better illustrated than is now being presented to the people of New Mexico. And that is, that, judging by appearances, "Bull" Andrews will get one of the United States senatorships. This is all the more remarkable when it is considered that the gentleman from Pennsylvania had almost dropped out of the minds of the people.

Since the election of the delegates to the constitutional convention and the formation and adoption of that peculiar document, the "Bull" was lost sight of by most people, and even by those most interested, who had out their rods. Catron, Fall, Springer, Spies, Bursum, Luna, Mills and others, who were looking for a toga, discounted the recuperative powers of Pennsylvania's politician. They thought, as did a host of others, that Andrews was a dead duck, and that all they had to do was to secure a republican legislature, make a strong combination, leaving out the "Bull", and the work was an accomplished fact. But no! the biggest duck in the puddle is this same Pennsylvanian, whose political demise was heralded from one end of the territory to another. If one thing is more apparent now than another, in the mixup, it is that Andrews is the only one of the vast number of republican candidates for the senate who has a walk-over—all the other candidates scrapping among themselves for the second place. That this should be so is not a favorable commentary on the citizenship of New Mexico, but that Andrews will be a true representative of what republicanism WAS in New Mexico cannot well be denied.

No Election in Three Precincts.

The canvassing of the returns of the election of the 7th, which began at Santa Fe Monday, brought out a number of peculiar features, and more will likely be encountered as the canvass proceeds. One is that about thirty precincts in the state are missing, and the canvassing board quite likely will have to send messengers to recover the missing boxes. Another is that three precincts failed to hold an election, because, according to reports, no election supplies were furnished. Two of these precincts are in Roosevelt county and one is in Eddy county, all solidly democratic.

To offset these three democratic precincts, Lincoln county has three precincts that could be named, where, if no election had been held, the results would have been more satisfactory from a democratic standpoint. For instance, Ruidoso, Rabenton and Corona; or, if our friends, the enemy, don't like to consider those three, how would San Patricio, Los Palas and Corona do? Either triplet was disastrous to the democrats of Lincoln county—but they had election(?)supplies, and all went as merry as a marriage bell—for the republican county ticket. Threes are lucky, anyway, for somebody.

A Crystalizing Sentiment.

We have heard, since the recall has become a burning question, much about the freedom and sanctity of the courts. We have often asserted our belief as to judges that, on the bench, they were no more infallible than before they donned the ermine and that their judicial services failed to make them super-human, after retiring. Corroborative of this theory, we take pleasure in quoting from an article in Pearson's, for November, written by Allan L. Benson. He says:

"Federal judges make our laws. Not that they write all of them. Not that they change all of them after congress has written them. But no law that is brought into court can be administered until the federal judges have passed upon it, if any interested party chooses to have it so passed upon.

Until they have read words in or words out, as they like. Perhaps the federal judges kill it by declaring it unconstitutional.

This is not a rule by the people. It is a rule by judges. How can rule by the people be established if judges who are above the people are at liberty to do with the law as they please? This is the crucial question. Either we believe in rule by the people, or we do not. If we believe in rule by the people, we do not believe in rule by judges. And, if we do not believe in rule by judges, we do not believe in an "independent judiciary".

Local republicans had a quiet little meeting here this week, the import of which was not made public. It is reported that a certain product of the Pennsylvania machine was to have had an emissary to meet them here. Be that as it may, the "Bull" seems to be getting in his work.

Albuquerque Journal.

A murderer the other day, in the shadow of death, confessed his crime for the "purpose of standing right with God and man." That is a splendid reason for doing anything, for nobody inspired by that sentiment does deeds which ought not to be done, comments the Kansas City Journal, editorially. Of course, the real time to "stand right with God and man" is at the very beginning, long before evil deeds have brought the evildoer to the bar of justice. But the condemned murderer, shrinking on the brink of death from going out into the great silence with falsehood in his soul, is not by any means the only one to whom the truth applies. He has received his full meed of denunciation—perhaps more. He has paid the dread, utter penalty and perhaps it would be well to turn from his grave to face the thronging millions of those upon whom the obligation rests quite as strongly and who are possibly doing very little more than he to fulfill it.

One might begin at the beginning and say that the best way to "stand right" is to stand straight up. The more one thinks of it, the more he is impressed with the reflection that people do not walk into evil with their heads erect and their eyes looking upward. They creep and slink and skulk and crawl into evil, with their eyes on the ground and not on the stars. Sometimes people have fallen into snares they might have escaped if they had kept their eyes open a little wider and had them turned in the proper direction. But this discussion concerns itself with deliberate evil. Standing straight up, therefore, is at least the right preliminary attitude toward standing right.

Standing right with God and man is much more easily said than done. It represents the sum of all human effort and aspiration. The two cannot be wholly disassociated, though superficially the connection may not always be apparent. People who stand right with God are often "wrong" with men, and the converse is certainly true. Motives are often misconstrued and even facts are distorted by men. On general principles it may be asserted that the one who stands right with God can well afford to disregard human judgments, though complete accord is desirable.

The best way to "stand right" with God or man is just to stand right, by doing right, which instantly and automatically receives the reward of divine approval and ultimately, even if tardily, receives the sanction of the consensus of all the best human approbation. Standing right with God and man is not a matter of idle speculation and dilettante philosophizing. Sometimes it comes home with startling emphasis.

Free School Books.

The democratic party, in its platform adopted at Santa Fe, when its state convention met in that historic city last October, went on record in favor of free text books for school children—free books for all, up to and including the eighth grade. To carry out that pledge, it will be necessary for the legislature, which, however, is republican, to pass a law for that purpose. Whether the legislature, which, politically, is opposed to the chief executive of the new state, will see fit to follow out this suggestion remains to be seen. It is generally conceded that the proposition is a reasonable and just one, and that the first state legislature will see its way clear to enact a law covering the demand.

Mrs. Patterson Acquitted.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 29. Gertrude Gibson Patterson, charged with the murder of her husband, Charles A. Patterson, of Chicago in this city September 25, was acquitted by a jury, which reported to judge Allen at 2:35 this afternoon. The prisoner flushed and swayed, but regained her composure in a moment, shook hands with her attorney and then with the jurors.

The released prisoner was given a tremendous demonstration by the throng in the courtroom and again out side as she made her way back to the jail to secure her personal effects.

The jail matron, whose sympathy has been with Mrs. Patterson all through the ordeal, was in court. She followed Mrs. Patterson back to the jail, crying, with tears rolling down her cheeks.

"I do not believe there is any other medicine so good for whooping cough as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," writes Mrs. Francis Turpin, Junction City, Ore. This remedy is also unsurpassed for colds and croup. For sale by all dealers.

Roy Jacobs, an old Lincoln county boy, but for the past three years living at Bisbee, Arizona, surprised his friends here last Sunday by presenting to them his wife. The maiden name of Mrs. Jacobs was Miss Nora Hanley, who also lived at Bisbee.

The wedding took place in El Paso a week ago to day, and the young couple came here Saturday evening. They went to Capitan, where they visited friends until yesterday, when they returned here and left on the delayed No. 1 for Bisbee, where they will make their home. Best wishes are extended by all friends.

Youthful Bandit Captured.

Charles P. Lemons and Deputy Wm. Barnett returned Wednesday having in custody a youth with more than one alias. He goes by the name of Frank Wilson at times, then again as Francisco Luciano, and, when it suited his purpose, something else. He was captured at the Hansenburg ranch in Socorro county, by Messrs. Lemons and Barnett, after a four days chase. The young man made an effort to get his gun, but the officers got the "drop" on him and he was made a captive.

A large number of offenses are charged against this youth, including petty and grand larceny.

He is charged with having burglarized the home of B. Orr, taking a gun, saddle and other articles, and also charged with having entered Charles P. Lemons' house and taking therefrom a rifle and watch. It is said he is also wanted for taking more than one horse, one of which belonged to F. M. Deel, of Ancho.

Former Lincoln County Lady Dies.

Mrs. Lucy M. Waldorf, aged twenty-eight years, died at 8 o'clock yesterday morning at her home at 104 South Florence street. She is survived by her husband, Jacob Waldorf. The body will be shipped this morning to Las Cruces for burial.—El Paso Herald.

Few of our readers have an acquaintance with the above name, but when it is recalled that Miss Lucy Serrana, formerly a well known lady of this county, married a gentleman in El Paso by the name of Waldorf, her identity is familiar to most Lincoln county people. She was the second daughter of Mrs. Zenobia Serrana, now of El Paso, but for many years a resident of Lincoln, and a niece of J. J. and Manuel Aragon, merchants of Lincoln.

Commissioner-elect Franks came down this morning from Corona to receive a bunch of cattle from Capitan parties. Will be loaded out today for Kansas City.

Legal Holidays.

In addition to the legal holidays designated by law, viz: July Fourth, December twenty-fifth, and January first, and all days designated by proclamation of the governor as fast days or thanksgiving days; February twelfth (Lincoln's birthday) and February twenty-second (Washington's birthday) may hereafter be observed by the public schools as legal holiday; and, provided any teacher of teachers in the rural districts and village schools shall have arranged beforehand a program of exercises by the pupils appropriate for the occasion for the preceding day, the directors of such districts shall not deduct any money from teacher's salary because of their absence from active school duty on such holidays.

Laws 1903, Chap. 119, Sec. 20, Page 189, Compilation of 1909.

Note—The original provision of the law of 1907 giving a teacher regular salary during the holiday vacation for period not to exceed fifteen days has been repealed. The length of the holiday vacation is fixed by the Board of School Directors and it may be made one day or one month, whatever the Board may decide. If no exercises are prepared, salary may be deducted for even one day.

Hope Abandoned After Physicians' Consultation.

Mrs. Enos Shearer, Yew and Washington Sts., Centralia, Wash., says: "For years I was weak and run down, could not sleep, my limbs swelled and kidney secretions were troublesome. ON COOK'S DAY OFF

PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS TO HELP PUZZLED HOUSEWIFE.

Gives Mother Chance to Test New Dainties—Simple and Tasty Dishes That Will Make Agreeable Change for Family.

In small households the cook's day out frequently represents all that is cosiest and most enjoyable in the way of a little dinner or supper. It is looked to by the house mother as a time for testing any new dainties of which she has heard without interfering with the cook's domestic way, and by the family as a species of delightful picnic, especially intimate and informal.

A quick and easy "vegetable" course for such a meal is Welsh rarebit, with spaghetti, for which the paste is boiled as usual in salted water until tender, then drained and stirred into a thin, smooth paste. To make the "rabbit," grate the cheese or cut or crumble it in small pieces into the cold milk, which heat slowly until the cheese has melted. Stir together and serve at once.

This dish can be prepared with a remnant of macaroni or spaghetti on the chafing dish.

For a quick roast instead of a leg of lamb buy the rack with chops, and cook it under the gas broiler. A rack of from two pounds up can be broiled in an hour or less.

Hamburg steaks, a good choice for such occasions, can also be delicately broiled under the gas flame instead of cooked in the pan, and to many minds the flavor is greatly improved thereby. Onion juice is much better than the usual chopped onion for these steaks. It comes put up in bottles, or the onions may be minced in the meat chopper, and a tablespoonful or two pressed out.

Another substantial offering for the picnic menu is ham patties made of about two kitchen cups of cold cooked ham minced fine and stirred into four cups of bread crumbs, the latter moistened with milk. To this add a large lump of butter and any seasonings liked. Pour the batter into gem pans, filling about two-thirds only. Now break an egg over each little section, sprinkle over more of the bread crumbs and bake until brown.

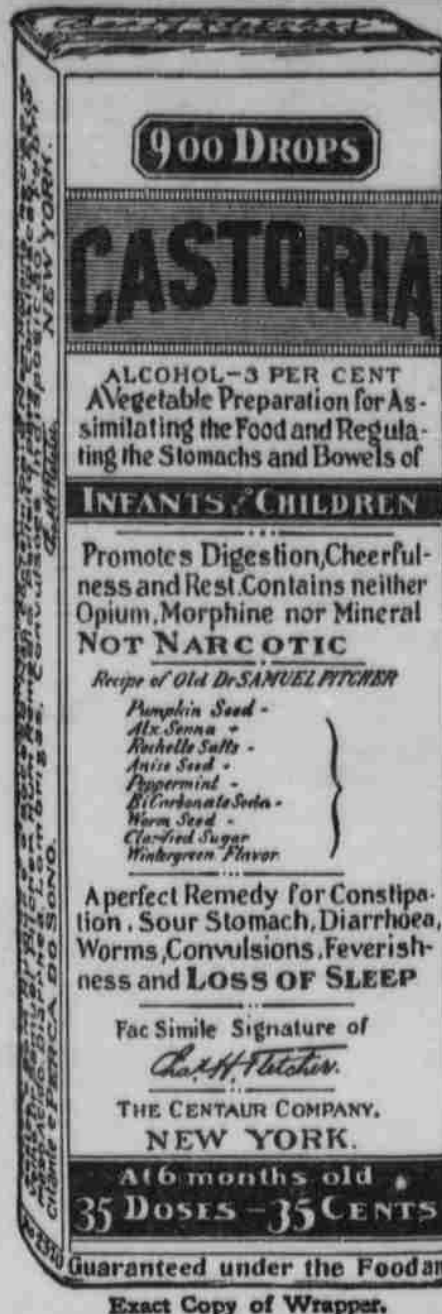

A combination of a substantial order for hearty appetites and extremely good is baked macaroni with minced ham.

Frequently at such times the housekeeper will substitute a cold dish, which can be prepared well in advance, for the hot roast or broiled meat. A hearty course of this kind is chicken salad served in a ring of ham jelly.

For a dessert which requires no cooking, break into pieces about a dozen macaroons. Cut into quarters at the same time some candied cherries. To a cup of double cream add about three ounces of sugar, and beat the cream stiff, flavoring with a drop or two of sherry or any extract preferred. Stir lightly into the cream the macaroons and the cherries. On each dessert plate put a slice of canned pineapple, and heap upon this a portion of the cream mixture and serve all very cold.

Potato Egg.

Roast four or six large potatoes in the oven with their skins on; remove the insides, but keep the shape of the potato. Put the inside of the potato in a basin and add one and a half ounces of butter (according to the number and size of the potatoes) and salt and pepper to taste. Mix together until light and add either one or two well beaten whites of eggs and beat up all together. Fill the potato skins with the paste, first rolling each piece in beaten yolk of egg; then cook in the oven and serve as soon as the tops are well colored—ten to fifteen minutes.

If You Have a Sickly Youngster Try This Free

The family with young children that is without sickness in the house now and then is rare, and so it is important that the head of the house should know what to do in the little emergencies that arise. A child with a serious ailment needs a doctor, it is true, but in the majority of instances, as any doctor knows, the child suffers from some intestinal trouble, usually constipation.

There is no sense in giving it a pill or a remedy containing an opiate, nor is flushing of the bowels to be always recommended. Rather give it a small dose of a mild, gentle laxative, tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which, by cleaning out the bowels and strengthening the little stomach muscles, will immediately correct the trouble.

Daniel Fahrenheit.

In view of the abnormal weather which we have had this summer we think a tribute of respect should be paid to the memory of Gabriel Daniel Fahrenheit, who was born on September 16, either in 1736 or 1740, it is hard to say which. Before his day several attempts had been made to measure the heat level, not the heat, by tubes containing oil of spirits of wine, but it lay with a bankrupt merchant of Dantzic to show how the feat could be successfully accomplished.

The first thermometers were made with spirits of wine; but the ingenious Gabriel soon adopted mercury as his medium, and so it has remained became known throughout the world, and though a more rational method of graduation has since been adopted, the popular mind still clings to the Fahrenheit scale. Our own Royal society thought highly of this humble inventor and acknowledged his genius by making him one of its fellows. To the "Transactions" of the society he contributed several papers.—Pall Mall Gazette.

SHIFT

If Your Food Fails to Sustain You, Change.

One sort of diet may make a person despondent, depressed and blue and a change to the kind of food the body demands will change the whole thing.

A young woman from Phila. says: "For several years I kept in a run-down, miserable sort of condition, was depressed and apprehensive of trouble. I lost flesh in a distressing way and seemed in a perpetual sort of dreamy nightmare. No one serious disease showed, but the 'all-over' sickness was enough.

"Finally, between the doctor and father, I was put on Grape-Nuts and cream, as it was decided I must have a nourishing food that the body could make use of.

"The wonderful change that came over me was not, like Jonah's gourd, the growth of a single night, yet it came with a rapidity that astonished me.

"During the first week I gained in weight, my spirits improved, and the world began to look brighter and more worth while.

"And this has continued steadily, till now, after the use of Grape-Nuts for only a few weeks, I am perfectly well, feel splendidly, take a lively interest in everything, and am a changed person in every way." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

FOR TAKING LONG TRAMPS

Foolish Things Some Girls Do to Interfere With Enjoyment of Outing.

Girls who have had little experience in outdoor life often do some foolish things when they begin to try this form of enjoyment. One way in which many of them interfere with their own comfort is by going on a tramp with the wrong kind of shoes.

The girl who has played tennis and found the soft, rubber-soled shoes comfortable will think that they will surely help her to enjoy a tramp; but they are the last thing to wear for a long walk, as these girls have found to their cost. They come home with their feet aching and the calves of their legs tired out from the lack of the spring that is given by heels. Walking with a flat, heelless shoe on a rough road is extremely trying, and one can feel every stone through the soft rubber soles; and these tired feet and legs will feel even worse the next day.

Quite as bad as the tennis shoes are the low shoes with thin soles and high heels. These tire the feet and may sprain the ankles. The only shoes that are really satisfactory for "roughing it" are strong high shoes with thick soles. The strongest ankles need support in rough walking, and it is often wet in the woods. The girl who has once tried the two ways of tramping will never again be persuaded to wear low or thin shoes.

a long pole or lath as shown in the cut. The shaft is held in place by a strip of board through which it passes. The board has a mouth at each end which fits around the kettle handle. At one mouth is an iron slide with a setscrew to hold the board in place.—C. R. Bashore, in National Stockman and Farmer.

Dessert.

Four whites of eggs, sixteen prunes, four tablespoonfuls of sugar, vanilla, pinch of salt. Stew prunes without sugar until tender, drain and cut in small pieces; beat the eggs to a stiff froth, with a pinch of salt added, fold in the prunes, pour the mixture into a buttered baking dish, and place in a moderate oven for ten minutes; then remove the covering to allow the pudding to brown slightly. Serve cold in glass cups with whipped cream; if chocolate flavoring is desired, one tablespoonful of grated chocolate may be added.

Brown Sugar Pie.

Two-thirds cup brown sugar, one tablespoon butter, two tablespoons milk, cook until waxy looking; then take yolks of two eggs, one heaping tablespoon flour, one and one-half cups milk; mix all together, smooth, add to the above ingredients, cook until thick; add vanilla; have a baked crust; use the whites beaten stiff for top; return to the oven for a minute or two.

A Broken Bone.

Your first duty, after notifying a surgeon, is to provide support for the injured member in the form of an improvised splint. Flat pieces of board, as broad, if possible, as the limb and slightly longer than the broken bone, canes, umbrellas, in fact anything that will accomplish your end may be used. In adjusting these, pad with any soft material that is at hand; straw, leaves or cushions made of grass may be used. Avoid any pressure on the injured part, cover it with a cloth, and keep wet with clean, cold water.—Woman's Home Companion.

ALMOST CRAZY WITH ECZEMA

"I, the undersigned, cannot give enough praise to the Cuticura Remedies. I had been doctoring for at least a year for eczema on my foot. I had tried doctor after doctor all to no avail. When a young girl I sprained my ankle three different times, paying little or no attention to it, when five years ago a small spot showed upon my left ankle. I was worried and sent for a doctor. He said it was eczema. He drew a small bone from the ankle about the size of a match and about an inch long. The small hole grew to about the size of an apple, and the eczema spread to the knee. The doctors never could heal the hole in the ankle. The whole foot ran water all the time.

"My husband and my sons were up night and day wheeling me from one room to another in the hope of giving me some relief. I would sit for hours at a time in front of the fireplace hoping for daybreak. The pain was so intense I was almost crazy, in fact, I would lose my reason for hours at a time. One day a friend of mine dropped in to see me. No more had she glanced at my foot than she exclaimed: 'Mrs. Finnegan, why in the world don't you try the Cuticura Remedies!' Being disgusted with the doctors and their medicines, and not being able to sleep at all, I decided to give the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment a trial. After using them three days that night I slept as sound as a silver dollar for eight long hours. I awoke in the morning with but very little pain, in fact, I thought I was in heaven. After using the Cuticura Remedies for three months I was perfectly restored to health, thanks to the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I will be sixty-four years of age my next birthday, hale and hearty at present." (Signed) Mrs. Julia Finnegan, 2234 Hebert St., St. Louis, Mo., Mar. 7, 1911. Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a sample of each, with 32-page book, will be mailed free on application to "Cuticura," Dept. 12 K, Boston.

New State Special Abandoned.

Secretary H. B. Hewing, of the Bureau of Immigration, makes the following announcement concerning the National Irrigation Congress at Chicago:

The New Mexico committee of the National Irrigation Congress has found it necessary to call off the proposed New State Special train to Chicago for the nineteenth session of the congress, Dec. 5th to 9th. This, because it was impossible to secure the necessary 100 passengers required by the railroad company for the operation of the special train. The latest date on which orders for the train could be placed is the above, and the necessary number not being enrolled, the enterprise has been abandoned.

The committee has worked very hard for the success of this train, and under different circumstances would have been successful. As it is the committee has determined not to attempt to bring the delegates together before they reach Chicago. A strong delegation is assured. The members will make the trip as best suits their individual convenience. The railway rates remain exactly the same as they would have been for special train; viz: $56.30 round trip, points between El Paso and Albuquerque; $50.40 round trip, points between Las Vegas and Raton; rates from Pecos Valley and other points in proportion.

The Congress will open December 5 at 10 a. m., and it is hoped that all New Mexico delegates may be present at the first session. New Mexico headquarters will be in the Auditorium hotel on Michigan avenue. This has been decided on because the sessions of the congress, registration headquarters, etc., will be in the Auditorium theatre, making this hotel the most convenient for delegates. Col. W. S. Hopewell, of Albuquerque, member of the National Board of Governors will be in charge at New Mexico headquarters and all New Mexico delegates should communicate with him at once on their arrival in Chicago.

We sincerely hope that you may arrange to attend the congress and help along the work for the New State. Any other information desired will be furnished promptly.
