CLEOFES ROMERO IN CHARGE

Superintendent Clark Declines Flattering Offer.

Superintendent of Public Instruction J. E. Clark has just turned down a flattering offer that meant a salary of $5,000 a year with bright prospects for expansion in the future. It was from a well established house in Michigan that has been doing business for 15 years and while the offer was a very flattering one, yet Superintendent Clark feels that his duty lies in New Mexico with the cause of education in which he is so deeply interested and for which he has accomplished remarkable results since he is at the head of the territorial department of education.

Largest Fees in History.

Today Territorial Secretary Nathan Jaffa paid into the territorial treasury $7,659 fees received from corporation filings, the largest sum ever turned over for a quarter. There were filings from 68 domestic and 4 foreign corporations.

National Guard Inspection.

Considering circumstances, the inspection of Company F of the First Regiment of Infantry of the National Guard at the Armory last evening by Captain F. R. McCoy of Fort Wingate, was very satisfactory. Adjutant General A. S. Brookes was present and was pleased with the showing made. This evening Company E and the First Regimental band will be inspected. Captain McCoy, who was at one time aide of President Roosevelt, will leave this evening with Adjutant General A. S. Brookes for Las Vegas, from where the already published itinerary of National Guard inspections will be continued.

BRIEFS FILED IN MISSOURI RIVER CASES.

Involve Rates for Manufacturers, Jobbers, Merchants and Railroads From Atlantic to Rockies.

Washington, D. C., April 1.—The biggest freight rate fight since the passage of the Hepburn rate bill, entered its final stages today when the government filed in the supreme court of the United States a brief in the so-called Missouri river rate cases. They involve the interests of manufacturers, jobbers, merchants and railroads from the Atlantic seaboard to the Rocky mountains. Two cases which have attracted the most attention are those concerning the through class rates on through shipments originating at the Atlantic seaboard points and destined for Missouri cities. The third case involves class rates from Chicago and St. Louis to Denver. Arguments are set for Monday, but probably will not be reached until later in the week.

COMMANDER PEARY WANTS NO MORE POLE HUNTING.

Chicago, April 1.—Commander Robert E. Peary, who arrived in Chicago today, declared positively that he is through with polar exploration for all time. "I am absolutely at the end of my career as an explorer," he said. "The reports that I am to lead an expedition into the Antarctic regions are not true and I certainly do not contemplate another trip to the north pole."

D. L. NEWKIRK POSTMASTER

Bridges Across Rio Grande at Isleta and San Felipe Are Urged

RELIEF OF SERAPIO ROMERO

Former Postmaster of Las Vegas Makes Claim for Loss He Sustained.

Special to the New Mexican.

Washington, April 1.—Upon recommendation of Delegate Andrews, D. L. Newkirk was today appointed postmaster at Artesia, to succeed Hamilton, resigned. Mr. Newkirk is the editor of the Pecos Valley News, was formerly county superintendent of instruction in Kansas and is well known in Santa Fe on account of his repeated championship of Artesia county and his valiant Republicanism that fought the Democrats to a standstill in a Democratic election.

Senator Penrose introduced a bill in the Senate to duplicate the Andrews House bill for the construction of bridges over the Rio Grande at the pueblos of Isleta and San Felipe at a cost of $25,000.

Senator Penrose reported favorably from the Senate committee of post-offices and postroads of which he is chairman, a bill for the relief of Serapio Romero former postmaster of Las Vegas.

Delegate Andrews secured a pension from the pension bureau for Francis O. McCauley of Lordsburg, Grant county, Nebraska cavalry, of $15 a month; for C. M. Matheny of Melrose, Curry county, Company D, Sixth Illinois cavalry, of $15 per month.

New Mexican Complain to Interstate Commission.

A systematic attempt by the railroads to "hold up" immigrants going into New Mexico is alleged in a complaint filed recently with the interstate commerce commission by Sam T. Young, of Texico, Curry county. He declares that the experience he had was a common one among other immigrants entering that territory.

A year and a half ago Young shipped his "emigrant outfit" consisting of live stock, household goods, etc., from Allensville, Ky. He was called upon to pay $134 in advance and was told by the railroad agent that would be the correct and total charge between the two points. He sent the stuff on in charge of a hired man, but the shipment was held up at Amarillo on demand for an additional $26 for freight. Young could not be communicated with and for five days the live stock was neither fed nor watered nor was it allowed to be unloaded.

Finally Mr. Young paid the additional money under protest, and when he filed his complaint the railroads promised to refund it, but have not yet done so. He says that many other emigrant outfits going into the southwest portion of the United States are being similarly treated.

He charges the following roads as being responsible: The Louisville and Nashville; the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific; the Chicago, Rock Island and Gulf; and the Pecos and Northern Texas railway.

GLOBE EXPRESS TO BE ABSORBED BY PACIFIC.

Goulds Have Purchased $24,000,000 Stock in the Latter Which Carries with it Control.

Denver, Colo., April 1.—The Times yesterday says: "The Denver and Rio Grande railroad is negotiating a deal whereby the Globe Express Company will be absorbed by the Pacific Express Company. Basis for this belief is found in an Associated Press dispatch from New York stating that the Goulds had purchased $24,000,000 stock in the Pacific Express Company, which carried with it control, as all stock not included in this deal is owned by the Wabash and Missouri Pacific railroads."

"The Pacific Express Company has secured a franchise of the Western Pacific railroad and the proposed deal will cause a shake-up in the express business of the west."

"At present the Pacific Express Company operates into Pueblo from the east over the Missouri Pacific. With a franchise over the Western Pacific the consummation of the proposed deal will make it a transcontinental company. C. H. Schlacks, formerly of Denver, is president of the Globe and among the local directors are J. F. Valle, J. B. Andrews, J. W. Gillyuly, D. D. Mayo, general manager."

"Tomorrow the Pacific Express will cease to operate into Denver over the Union Pacific. It is expected it will shift its offices to the Globe and arrangements will be made to operate into Denver over the Denver and Rio Grande on a franchise contract instead of a tonnage basis."

FIVE CARS DYNAMITED

Desperate Street Car Strikers in Philadelphia Resort to Anarchy

LABOR LEADERS IN NEW YORK

Conferring as to Means to Settle Conditions in Quaker City.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 1.—Five cars were dynamited in this city last night and early today. Windows were shattered but no one was injured. John Mitchell, accompanied by Dennis Hayes, fourth vice-president of the American Federation of Labor, went to New York today. It is rumored that a meeting of labor leaders will be held in that city and another effort will be made to settle the street car strike here. The police have refused permission for a parade of women sympathizers of the strikers on Saturday, but preparations for a parade are being made.

DRY TERRITORY IN NEW MEXICO GROWS.

Alamogordo Shuts Down the Only Saloon That Existed Within Its Corporate Limits.

Special to the New Mexican.

Alamogordo, N. M., April 1.—Alamogordo's only saloon has been closed because it did not want to pay an annual license fee of $3,000, the sum fixed by the new town council. The ordinance went into effect today. The anti-alcohol people will make strong efforts to retain Alamogordo in the prohibition column just as Artesia, San Juan county and other portions of the Territory are now dry territory.

MOB HUNTING FOR VILLAINS

Bound, Choked and Robbed Woman and Them Set Fire to Her House

RESCUE IN NICK OF TIME

Building Was Entirely Destroyed by Flames Which Tramp Had Started.

El Paso, Texas, April 1.—A mob today is hunting for an unknown tramp who early this morning called at the home of Mrs. Charles Stanley and when refused money choked and bound her, rifled her house, set fire to it and escaped. Two carpenters working near by saw the flames in time to rescue the unconscious woman. The house was destroyed.

MASS MEETING AT THE CAPITOL SATURDAY NIGHT.

A Republican Ratification Meeting will be held on Saturday evening at eight o'clock in the Hall of Representatives at the Capitol. Come and see the sparks fly. Addresses will be made by Hon. T. B. Catron, ex-Governor M. A. Otero, former Attorney General George W. Prichard and others. There will also be addresses in Spanish. Let there be a rousing turn out to demonstrate that the people are with the Republican party in its efforts to give Santa Fe an economic, progressive and clean city government.

300,000 MINERS ON A STRIKE

Enforced Holiday of Unknown Length Begins Today in Coal District

PROLONGED FIGHT IS EXPECTED

Operators in the Brazil, Indiana, District Concede Higher Wages.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 1.—Celebrating today the anniversary of the institution of the eight hour day in the mines country, 300,000 bituminous coal miners faced an enforced holiday of unknown duration. The principal bone of contention is the miners' demand for an increase in wages of five per cent. The conferences between the miners' organizations and the operators of several districts have been arranged. In the Brazil block coal district of Indiana, there will be no suspension for the operators yesterday conceded the higher wage demand. In Illinois and western Pennsylvania there probably will be a prolonged siege. Conferences of miners and operators in the northern district of Colorado are held in Denver today, but it is believed that no settlement will be reached and 3,000 miners will quit work today.

Southwest Involved.

Kansas City, April 1.—Practically all of 30,000 men employed in the coal mines of the southwestern interstate field, including Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas remained away from the mines today. About 3,000,000 tons of coal have been stored in the southwest and it is not believed that the effects of the strike will be felt unless it lasts more than sixty days. Operators find it impossible to grant an increase of wages in this field on account of the competition with oil and natural gas.

40,000 Out in Ohio.

Columbus, O., April 1.—All union bituminous miners of Ohio, about 40,000, went on strike at midnight for an increase of five cents a ton for pick mining. Some operators declare it will take weeks to adjust differences.

Will Grant Increase of Wages.

Terre Haute, Ind., April 1.—Officers of the Operator's Association of the eleventh district announced today that an increase of five and a half per cent in wages will probably be granted the miners next Wednesday.

Non-Union Mines Will Work.

Lexington, April 1.—The representatives of large coal mining companies of western Kentucky said today that there will be no strike on any mines in that section. The mines employ about 10,000 men, all non-union.

Painters Have Grievance Too.

Chicago, April 1.—A thousand painters and decorators who demand a wage increase of five cents an hour went on strike this morning. It is feared by night that 4,000 will be out. There is also danger of a sympathetic strike, as the members of the allied trades unions have been authorized to quit work on all construction where the painters and their demands are not recognized.

Pilots and Masters Strike.

New York, April 1.—At midnight a strike of pilots and masters of tow boats of the Baltimore and Ohio, Lackawanna, Central of New Jersey, and Lehigh Valley railroads went into force for an increase of wages and shorter hours. Many hundreds of men are affected and it is feared that quantities of valuable and perishable freight will be tied up. Reports are that the prevailing strike will spread among other classes of employees in the harbor. All other railroads entering the city effected settlements with their men.

No Danger of Strike in New Mexico.

Trinidad, Colo., April 1.—Mine operators and representatives of the union miners agree that there is no immediate danger of a strike of coal miners in the Trinidad, Walsenburg or northern New Mexico districts, which employ 15,000 to 17,000 men. Of this number but ten per cent are union men. The miners are paid fifty cents a ton. Frank Caspar, the local secretary of the Western Federation of Miners, said today, that there is no prospect of a sympathetic strike.

PARTY LINES SPLIT COMMITTEE

There Will Be Two Reports on Ballinger-Pinchot Controversy

DEMOCRATS WILL NOT AGREE

Insist That They Have a Right to Divulge Doings at Executive Sessions.

Washington, D. C., April 1.—Intimations multiply that the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation committee, which resumed its sessions today with Secretary Ballinger's counsel in a charge of the presentation of the evidence, is so seriously split along party lines that a unanimous report is beyond the bounds of possibility. The Democratic members have gone so far as to notify their Republican colleagues that the Democrats will participate in the executive sessions of the committee but only on the understanding that the Democrats will be free to announce in the public meeting their votes and their contentions that take place in private sittings.

Partisan Feeling Runs High.

Washington, April 1.—The examination of Elmer Todd, United States district attorney at Seattle brought out anew the strength of the partisan feeling in the committee. Mr. Todd contradicted a certain statement made by Special Agent H. L. Jones. He said that the Jones statement that he had advised against criminal action in the Alaska cases, "because Judge Handford was constitutionally opposed to land fraud trials generally," was absolutely false. Cross examination as to the letter Glavis had written the department at Washington urging criminal prosecution in certain cases, made the sparks fly. Chairman Nelson asked Mr. Brandeis if there was anything to show that a letter had been sent. "There is no direct evidence," replied the attorney. "But it is the letter that Glavis testified he never sent," persisted the chairman. "It is the letter this witness says Glavis testified he did not send."

"Mr. Chairman," shouted the attorney in a voice heard far down the corridor. "I object strenuously to the statement that I have attempted to conceal anything. My course has been such before this committee that such a statement is absolutely improper, and ought to be withdrawn," Representative Graham, (Democrat), "I move that the chairman be directed to withdraw that remark." Representative James (Democrat), "I second that motion." Chairman Nelson: "I won't withdraw it!" Representative Madison acted as peace maker and said he thought the chairman's remark was made hastily and it should be understood that the chairman spoke as an individual and did not represent the opinion of the committee. After further sharp squabbling the matter was tabled by a party vote.

NOT ALL PUBLIC OFFICERS ARE GRAFTERS.

Governor Mills Expresses Himself Forcibly in an Address to Student Body of University.

Albuquerque, N. M., April 1.—Governor Mills spoke before the student body of the University of New Mexico yesterday. Among the topics which he touched upon may be mentioned: The evident prosperity of the city of Albuquerque, the unique architecture of the University, the mission of the universities of the country in fostering good citizenship and the misconception that all public officers are dishonest grafters.

The governor stated himself highly pleased and even surprised at the remarkable prosperity of the city of Albuquerque, calling it the metropolis of the territory. He told of his resolve to make frequent visits to this city in the future, and of his determination to do all in his power to help the town along. The Pueblo style of architecture for which the University of New Mexico is famous all over the country pleased the governor very much, but he stated that what pleased him more than anything, was the spirit which is manifesting itself at this institution. The enthusiasm and college spirit which is everywhere evident at the University of New Mexico was a source of great gratification to Governor Mills. He declared that this college spirit fostered the elements of good citizenship. That the ideals of honor and civic righteousness which were such a necessary element of public life were fostered in the universities of the country as nowhere else. He stated himself as glad to see the evident prevalence of this spirit at the university. The governor went on further to state that there was a prevalent notion among a great many

DEMOCRATS PUT UP TICKET

Arthur Seligman Is Nominated for Mayor and Marcelino Garcia for Treasurer

T. P. DELGADO FOR CITY CLERK

Probate Clerk George W. Armijo Addresses the Untrified.

Democratic Candidate for Mayor: Arthur Seligman.

For City Clerk: Thomas P. Delgado.

For City Treasurer: Marcelino Garcia.

First Ward.

Council, Second Ward.

Council, Jose Sanchez.

Board of Education, Canuto Alarid.

Third Ward.

Council, John H. Walker.

Board of Education, Alfredo Delgado.

Fourth Ward.

Council, J. Ascencion Rael.

Board of Education, four year term, Meliton Castillo. Two year term, James L. Seligman.

Central Committee.

The Democratic Central Committee was elected, but the chairman has not yet been selected.

The committee is as follows:

First Ward, Nicanor Baca; Domingo Pacheco.

Second Ward, Chas. F. Easley, A. P. Hill.

Third Ward, Alfredo Delgado, Gus Hunter.

Fourth Ward, John W. Mayes, Juan Sisneros.

These were the principal nominations made at the Democratic city convention held in the court house last night. The convention came to order at 8:12 p. m., and the hall was half filled, many young faces being seen. Frank Owen called the meeting to order and called for the nomination of a temporary chairman. Charles F. Easley placed in nomination the name of Adolph P. Hill and he was promptly elected. Mr. Hill spoke in English and his remarks were interpreted, phrase by phrase, by Jose Ortiz y Baca. Mr. Hill stated the purpose of the convention was to nominate a Democratic city ticket and added: "I sincerely hope and wish that you will use your best judgment in the selection of the different candidates for Santa Fe." He was cheered when he referred to the approach of statehood for New Mexico.

John W. Mayes was then selected temporary secretary.

The committee on resolutions returned and during their absence J. W. Norment, president of the Capital City bank, delivered an address telling of conditions in Mississippi, his former home and the opportunities New Mexico offers. "Two classes of men come out to New Mexico," he said, "one is health seekers, and the other those who seek investments." He declared that the prevailing notion in places where he had been in the east and the middle west is that a man is not safe in New Mexico unless he carries a six shooter, but he said that after coming out here he failed to see any six shooters save the one that he had brought with him. (Prolonged applause.)

At 9:07 Mr. Hill relinquished the chair and made the majority nominating speech. He said the man whom he wished to nominate was born and reared in Santa Fe. He praised his business ability and then declared that he had not the slightest doubt but that on November 5th he would be elected. This caused some laughter, and the speaker corrected himself saying, "April 5th." He then mentioned the name of Arthur Seligman, and there were cheers. Meliton Castillo delivered the speech placing the name of Thomas P. Delgado in nomination for the office of city clerk. He declared Mr. Delgado is a merchant honorably known to the business community and to the working classes. There was applause.

Marcelino Garcia was then nominated for city treasurer.

Following these nominations there was a good deal of speech-making and among the speakers, to the great surprise of many in the hall, was Probate Clerk George W. Armijo.

Several well-known Republicans were seen standing in the hall and some one suggested that they be also asked to speak. A Democrat up near the chairman's desk promptly replied: "What do you take us for? This is a Democratic meeting!"

When asked today what he had to say about the nominations made last night W. Frank Owen, chairman of the former Democratic city central committee declined to make a statement.

THE DAILY ROUND UP.

WATCH YOURSELF GO BY.
Just stand aside and watch yourself
go by:

Think of yourself as "he," instead of
"I."

Note, closely as in other men you
note,
The bag-kneed trousers and the seedy coat.

Pick flaws; find fault; forget the man is you.

And strive to make your estimate ring
true.

Confront yourself and look you in the eye—

Just stand aside and watch yourself
go by.

Interpret all your motives just as though

You looked on one whose aims you did not know.

Let undisguised contempt surge through you when

You see you shrink, O commonest of men!

Despise your cowardice; condemn what's'er

You note of falseness in you anywhere.

Defend not one defect that shames
your eye—

Just stand aside and watch yourself
go by.

And then with eyes unveiled to what you loathe—

To sins that with sweet charity you'd clothe—

Back to your self-walled tenements
you'll go

With tolerance for all who dwell below.

The faults of others then will dwarf and shrink.

Love's chain grown stronger by one mighty link—

When you, with "he" as substitute for
"I."

Have stood aside and watched yourself go by.

Clovis Has the Right Idea—It doesn't merely want to grow but it wants to beautify, it looks to the future. Says a dispatch from the Magic

City:

"Tree planting is very much in order in Clovis. Hundreds of citizens have planned both trees and grass about their homes, and on vacant city lots, and as a result the city looks like a new forest grove. The farmers from near town have reaped quite a harvest from the sale of trees from their forests planted three or four years ago, to city residents who want such as can be replanted with the least amount of exposure. Every day dozens of large trees are brought into Clovis and sold on the streets."

Denver, Colo., April 1.—

The weather forecast is fair tonight and Saturday with light frost tonight.

*****

Dropped to 20 Degrees—The mercury dropped to 20 degrees yesterday morning but the lowest temperature

last night was only one degree below freezing point. The maximum yesterday was 51 degrees. The average relative humidity for the day was 45 per cent. A year ago today there was a heavy frost, the minimum being 25 degrees and the maximum 56 degrees. There was 100 per cent of sunshine and it was a clear and pleasant day.

Alfonso Herrera Hurt—While playing ball with some boys yesterday morning, Alfonso, the eight year old son of Lape Herrera, proprietor of the Coronado hotel, fell against a wire fence and his face was severely cut.

The gashes were under his left eye,

on his nose and on the right eyebrow.

He was taken to the office of a local physician who used five stitches in sewing up the wounds. The boy is

ELEPHANT BUTTE DAM

CONSTRUCTION DELAYED.

At the Same Time Irrigation Projects

on the Upper Rio Grande Must Wait That Much Longer.

El Paso, Texas, April 1.—Complications may delay the work on the Elephant Butte dam indefinitely have resulted from the illness of Harvey

Ringer, one of the appraisers appointed by the district court at Socorro, to report on the worth of the land owned by the Victorio Land and Cattle Company, which is desired by the reclamation service for a part of the Hall lake to impound the waters of the Elephant Butte project.

Mr. Ringer, who has been here in poor health for some time, has arranged to go to Wisconsin Thursday or Friday for a serious operation. This is expected to mean an indefinite postponement of the report of this commission. John Mactavish, another commissioner, is now in Kansas City, where he recently underwent an operation, which, while not serious, will prevent him taking an active part in business for at least three weeks.

District Engineer Reed stated that these complications might result in an indefinite delay of the reclamation operations at the dam.

WHY SO WEAK?

When a healthy man or woman begins to run down without apparent cause, becomes weak, languid, depressed, suffers backaches, headache, dizzy spells and urinary disorders, look to the kidneys for the cause of it all. Keep the kidneys well and they will keep you well. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and keep them well. Here is a Santa Fe testimonial to prove it.

J. T. Sandoval, 115 Ortiz street, Santa Fe, N. M., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills off and on for two years and they have done me a world of good. A dull pain in the small of my back, sometimes extending into my bladder caused me a great deal of suffering, particularly when I took cold. I was bothered mostly in the winter. In addition to the pain in my back, there were symptoms of inflammation of the bladder. The kidney secretions were highly colored and when passed were attended with a scalding pain. I never used a remedy that acted as satisfactory as Doan's Kidney Pills. They proved to be just the medicine my case required and the complete cure they brought has led me to recommend them on more than one occasion."

LETTER ADDRESSED TO NEW MEXICO STOCKMEN.

Their Co-operation is Asked By the Census Workers to Secure Reliable Statistics.

Santa Fe, N. M., April 1, 1910. Sir—One of the most important duties of the thirteenth census of the United States, which is to be taken, beginning April 15, 1910, is an accurate enumeration of the number and value of all domestic animals on the farms and ranges of the country. The pre-eminence of the live stock interests of New Mexico make it of especial importance to our ranchmen and farmers that a complete and accurate count be made in this territory of all cattle, horses, sheep, mules, goats and other live stock. Stock men throughout the west have assured the census supervisors of their intention to render them all possible assistance, as a matter of patriotic duty and local pride.

The live stock census this time will be taken by the enumerator of each district instead of by special agents, as was done in former census years. No person who is connected with the office of a tax assessor will be appointed enumerator. Furthermore, the enumerators are under oath not to reveal to any tax assessor or any other county or territorial official, or to the forest service or any special agent of the government, the holdings of any stock owner. Although the law provides a penalty for refusal to answer the questions of the enumerator, or the giving of false information, occasion seldom arises to prosecute any property owner for this offense.

The census office has secured the names of practically every owner of live stock in New Mexico and by comparing these with the assessment rolls, the forest service records, the records of the bureau of animal industry, and the cattle and sheep sanitary lists, they could form a rough estimate of the live stock in the territory, but it is well known that these lists represent only a portion of the stock on the farms and ranges of the territory. In many instances owners cannot give the exact number of animals on their ranches, but they do know better than any one else the approximate number, and should give it to the enumerator with such other information as he may ask for. The managers and secretaries of live stock companies especially are appealed to in this matter.

Owners of stock on partnership or "partido" contracts should report only the stock on their own ranches or under their own immediate control. Stock that is being grazed on other ranches should be reported in the name of the owner or manager of the ranch where found on April 15th.

As census supervisor for the district of New Mexico, I have assured the Washington authorities that the stock men of the territory will co-operate with the stockmen of other commonwealths in giving the enumerators the information called for by them so that New Mexico may receive the credit which the importance of its stock industry justifies.

Very respectfully, PAUL A. F. WALTER, Supervisor.

CHIEF EXECUTIVE TALKS ON STATEHOOD.

He is Confident That Great Boon Will Be Granted Territory at This Session of Congress.

Albuquerque, N. M., April 1.—Governor Mills who has been in this city since yesterday, when he attended the reception and the ball given in his honor by the Commercial Club of Albuquerque, was interviewed by our special representative today. When asked about the probabilities of statehood for New Mexico this session of Congress, he gave it as his opinion that as far as he could discern the probabilities were very much in favor of an early passage of the bill. Of course, he pointed out, a great deal will depend upon the character of the constitution adopted by the people of the Territory. Governor Mills gave it as his personal opinion that there need be no fear of a drawback on that account, because as far as he knew, the people of New Mexico were naturally conservative, and not given to violent outbreaks of radicalism.

Being a personal friend of President Taft, Governor Mills was able to give your representative a first-hand idea of the prevailing attitude at Washington on the statehood question. Although the sentiment there is somewhat divided, the governor stated that there was a slight majority in favor of statehood for New Mexico and Arizona.

There has been a prevalent notion, it seems, that the people of New Mexico are unable to govern themselves. The people at Washington have somehow obtained a false impression of the character of our population, and an underrated idea of the prosperity of the territories. However, partly on account of President Taft's recent visit (and party, no doubt, on account of the presence in Washington of such worthy representatives as Governor Mills himself) this erroneous opinion is gradually being supplanted by a real conception of the actual prosperity and the potential value of New Mexico as a state.

Governor Mills again expressly stated that he firmly believes that, with the help of the friendly administration, and the even increasing majority of supporters, the bill will in all probability be passed this session of the National Congress.

SECRETARY JAFFA TOOK THE WRONG GRIP.

In Consequence He Was Treated to Surprise When He Reached Home of His Host.

Says the Albuquerque Journal:

Wanted—If the parties who got the wrong hand baggage by mistake at the Santa Fe station, Tuesday night, will return same to the Jaffa Grocery Company, an exchange will be made.

This is the somewhat mysterious advertisement which Walter Jaffa, of the Jaffa Grocery Company, left at the Morning Journal office last night. Pressed for an explanation of the mystery he remained noncommittal, but on inquiry elsewhere disclosed the fact that there was a mixing of baggage at the Santa Fe station Tuesday night and that the handbag of the secretary of New Mexico got lost in the mix-up.

Secretary Nathan Jaffa and Mrs. Jaffa arrived from Santa Fe Tuesday night and are guests at the Jaffa home on West Copper avenue. The train on which they arrived was crowded and when the Albuquerque passengers alighted the baggage was piled up in a heap by the porter on the station platform.

"Is that my grip?" asked the secretary.

"Sure it is, suh," said the porter, and a member of the party there to greet the secretary promptly picked it up and carried it off. What was the secretary's horror on opening the grip to find exposed a beautiful array of delicately embroidered infant's clothing.

"There a mistake here," announced the secretary, and a hunt for the missing baggage began. The train conductor was telegraphed to, but he replied that there was no mixed baggage on the train. It has been concluded that the exchange must have been made by some one either stopping in Albuquerque or going through to El Paso. The secretary is sure that the party who got his grip is as anxious to exchange back as he is, and if the party is in Albuquerque the exchange may be made by calling at the Jaffa company's store.

MEAT PACKERS ARE NOT TO BLAME.

Farmers Are Responsible for the High Price of Meat in the United States Says Armour.

San Antonio, Texas, April 1.—That the meat packers are not responsible for the high price of meat and that the farmers must be blamed for them, was the sum and substance of a statement made by J. Ogden Armour, the big packer, while in this city. Mr. Armour stated voluntarily that it cost no more today to put meat on the market than it did thirty years ago, better wages and other expenses having been counteracted by better methods.

"The man really anxious to discover the cause of the present high prices of meat should compare the income of the farmers of forty years ago and today. In those days pork, for instance, sold at $3, while the packers today are obliged to pay at least $8. The same is true of beef, mutton, poultry, eggs and dairy products. Roughly speaking the increase in price of live stock of all kinds has advanced 250 per cent since then. There was only one thing to do for the packers and that was to follow suit. Comparing figures, however, it will be found that the packers have not advanced the price of their products at the same great ratio and everything considered meat today is just as cheap, and cheaper for that matter, than it was thirty years ago. No packer claims an altruistic motive for this. The fact is that better methods of manufacture and distribution make it possible today to sell meat relatively cheaper than years ago."

Mr. Armour passed through this city while on a trip of inspection of the Texas interests of the concern.

SAN ANTONIO WANTS COMMISSION GOVERNMENT.

San Antonio, Texas, April 1.—There is every indication that during the coming city election the old form of municipal government will be subverted in this city in favor of a commission administration. While every big city in Texas has taken to government by commission during the past few years, San Antonio has so far held aloof from it, principally because Mayor Callaghan has filled his office to the satisfaction of a vast majority, so well in fact that during the last election there was no opposition ticket with the exception of that of the Socialists.

For some time public spirited citizens have investigated the commission form of government with the result that the general efficiency of the system has appealed to them strongly. They have now taken the initial steps in the formation of a commission government party in which the old political lines will not be recognized, both Democrats and Republicans having pledged their support. In a manifesto issued the new party says that it is not anti-Callaghan and that in the proposed change they merely have the betterment of municipal government in view.

A similar agitation was started a few years ago, but met with little response owing to the popularity of the Callaghan administrations.

A UNIVERSAL HUNGER.

The land hunger of which New Mexico is having a vivid demonstration in the thousands that are coming to file on homesteads, is not a local symptom. It is world wide and world old. The great transigrations of people began in the time of Abraham, perhaps earlier, and have continued in one form or another through the thousands of years that have intervened since then. But of late, the earth is growing small, the lands subject to settlement less. It is no longer the fashion for one tribe or one nation to exterminate another and take their lands, and therefore new lands must be found or lands which formerly were uninhabitable must be made fit by building irrigation works or devising new methods of reclamation. Says the Pueblo Chieftain:

"Residents of irrigated districts in the arid land states of western America should not hold the idea that they are the only persons in the world that are profiting by modern methods of reclamation and intensive farming."

"One of the most interesting industrial developments in modern times is the reclamation of worn out soils in various parts of the country. Down in Maine, up-to-date farmers are making a great success in potato growing, buying cheap lands at a low price, plowing under green clover crops, enriching the ground with commercial phosphates and other fertilizers, using selected 'seed' and modern methods of cultivation and getting immense yields of fancy potatoes."

"In Massachusetts abandoned farms are being reclaimed for apple orchards, poultry runs and high class dairies and other specialties of intensive farming."

"In the south worn out cotton plantations are being reclaimed by rotations in which leguminous crops suited to that soil and climate play an important part, and fruit and early vegetables are making phenomenal profits for intensive farmers. In other parts of southern states, drainage projects vie in cost and extent with the great irrigation projects of the west, and the reclaimed swamp lands are taking high rank among the most fertile and productive fields of the continent."

"Nor is this reclamation movement confined to our own continent. The exhausted fields of the old world are being restored to fertility and productivity by modern methods. The area of fertile land in Egypt is being greatly increased. Agriculture in Palestine has taken a fresh start. The ancient valley of Mesopotamia is being reclaimed by irrigation and intensive cultivation, and in many other parts of Asia and Europe reclamation is in progress and scientific farming coupled with modern farm machinery is increasing the productivity of the soil and adding immensely to the well being of the people.

"Undoubtedly much of this world wide movement of reclamation may be traced to the arid land states of America, for it is in these states that the results of intensive farming according to scientific methods have reached their highest stage."

"And it may be said, fairly, that however much scientific farming may progress elsewhere, there are some advantages of soil and climate we of Colorado shall never lose, and these advantages will continue to manifest themselves even more in the superior quality than in the superior quantity of our farm and orchard products."

YOUR'S FOR A GOOD CENSUS.

So says the Albuquerque Journal, or, at least, it uses words to that effect when it declares:

"All the newspapers in the country are urging their readers to give attention to the census, and furnish the enumerators with all the information they ask for. This is a matter of special importance to New Mexico, just now, and we should all give it our attention."

The Silver City Independent makes the same point when it says:

"As the census enumerators report, so will Silver City rank among the cities of the Territory and nation for the next ten years. It is therefore important that its people make every legitimate effort to secure a full count. There are many difficulties in the way of the census enumerator. In the first place the census must be completed within four weeks from the date upon which it starts, April 15. It is manifest that in many cases the enumerator will have to cover his territory several times in order to secure the name of every resident; and with the limited time at his command, there is room for many errors. It is essential, if the census is to represent the complete and accurate count which it should, that every enumerator have the hearty co-operation of every citizen. Every person approached should be ready to give without hesitation answers to the many questions which will be asked and should co-operate to the best of his ability in seeing that the enumerator secures the name of every person in his household."

"It is only by such co-operation on the part of every person that Silver City can secure an accurate count. This city deserves no more than any other city, but it is entitled to a complete enumeration, and it is the duty of its individual citizens to do their share in seeing that the enumerator is furnished with the most accurate and complete information."

"In many of the large cities where the rivalry for position is keen, thousands of dollars are being spent in preliminary canvassing, and in taking the steps necessary to insure an accurate count."

The Republican city convention was composed of as representative a body of men as ever came together for such a purpose in New Mexico. There were present an ex-Delegate to Congress, who made the nominating speech for the candidate for mayor, an ex-Governor, a former attorney general, clerk of the supreme court, federal officials, territorial officials, business men, leaders in the Commercial Club, in the Board of Trade and the plain and humble citizen who has no axe to grind. It was the most satisfactory city convention ever held as it united all the differing elements of the party that had been more or less at loggerheads for years. It means that Santa Fe will be Republican in the future and that the county will be anchored safely in Republican harbor as long as the Republican party deserves the respect and confidence of the voters as it does in this municipal campaign."

There were no Democratic primaries but what is the use of consulting the dear voters at all. As long as their bosses fix things for them, old fashioned formalities might as well be done away with, but the voters will show them on April 5."

The coal strike should benefit the coal mines of New Mexico for in this Territory the miners are bound by an agreement which keeps them at work. The output of New Mexico's coal mines ought to be doubled this year.

AN END TO GRAFT.

Pittsburg, New York, Chicago and other municipalities have proclaimed the end of graft, and that they mean it is proven by the unique Associated Press yesterday which said that there are too many gentlemen convicts in the western penitentiary of Pennsylvania. Says the Washington Herald on this phase of public graft:

"Immunity to the confessed grafters had a unique sequel in Pittsburg last Saturday. An eleven-year-old member of a juvenile band of thieves was arrested, and, when before the magistrate, he promptly confessed his part in the various petty crimes, and then waited for the jurist to set him free. When this did not follow, he looked up in surprise, and said: 'Lemme go. I told yer all about them robberies. They're letting the big grafters go when they confess.'"

"This is a concrete example of the result of such legal process as is now in evidence in Pittsburg. No doubt there are thousands or millions of citizens whose line of reasoning is about the same as that of the lad. These persons wonder what stage of degeneracy has been reached when such conditions can exist. Every self-respecting American should be ashamed at the revelations of the past week. The open solicitation and acceptance of bribes is one of the most amazing spectacles in the history of American municipalities. The exhibition of venality and greed outdoes even Pittsburg, which has far from a good reputation as cities go."

"St. Louis, Chicago, San Francisco, and Philadelphia have passed through periods of public shame, but none such as this. The arousal of the public conscience will change all this. Corruption must cease, and the flaunting of vice before the people will react soon. It may be necessary for the nation and the cities to be scourged by fire, but there is enough manhood left to purge itself. Better for the developments to come thick and fast and have it over, for the awakening will surely bring retribution, and the sooner the whole matter is at an end the better for the nation."

"Such exposures as are to be seen in Albany are not partisan. They will probably have no political effect, for no party today will tolerate dishonesty in its ranks. The same holds true in Pittsburg. Neither political party need fear any developments if an honest attempt is made to expose the criminality of its individual members."

GOOD ROADS ARE NEEDED.

Santa Fe needs good roads just as much as does Albuquerque. In fact, claiming to be a tourist center and not having any large agricultural area in its immediate vicinity, it needs good roads even more than does the Duke City. Nevertheless, the following words of the Albuquerque Morning Journal apply here:

"One thing that Albuquerque needs and Bernalillo county needs, almost, if not quite as much as a new railroad, is a system of good country roads. One of the greatest obstacles in the way of the growth of the town and the county is the lack of development of the country immediately surrounding the city. The Rio Grande valley, on either side of Albuquerque presents as fine a country as can be found anywhere in the world, and if this could be developed as it ought to be developed, for ten miles in every direction, it would create business enough at its point to build up and sustain a town three times as large as Albuquerque now is, without any additional railway facilities. Of course we want all the railroads we can get, and we can afford to work hard for them, but our present great want is not of better means of communication between the town and distant parts of the world, but of better facilities of communication between the town and the country immediately surrounding the town. Give us that, and the adjacent country will very soon develop to such a degree that it will force the building of a town here that will bring the railways without any effort on our part. The eagles will gather where the carcass is, and the railways can be relied upon to come to where the business is to be had."

Many business men have come into the New Mexican's sanctum during the day, but there is not one that did not express disgust and disappointment on account of the unholy alliance made last evening by the Democratic bosses. Among these business men there were Democratic and Republicans and kickers, but for once they all agreed that it was a shameful deal, the responsibility for which will come to haunt the bosses at the most inopportune time and when least expected."

Santa Fe is a Republican city and this is the most critical time in which to prove it. If the wires flash back to Washington on next Wednesday that the Capital City of the Territory has gone Democratic it will mean another obstacle in the way of statehood; it will mean that the Santa Fe county debt may not be paid by Congress until Doomsday. Now that the Republicans have nominated a first class business ticket there remains nothing but to elect it with the biggest majority ever given in Santa Fe."

The question of the day in Santa Fe is "Plunder or honesty?" The crooks of ways that are dark or the broad daylight into the financial doings of the municipal authorities. It is for the citizens not only to choose, but to take off their coats to work for. On which side are you?

That ticket nominated last evening looks like sort of April Fool or Fool the People ticket. But this is not the year that the people will permit themselves to be bamboozled.

The fury of a woman scorned is as nothing compared with the frenzy of a small size politician who finds his grasp on the fleshpots loosening.

An unholy alliance such as will make decent Democrats weep, was effected by their bosses last evening.

A square deal for all, is the slogan of the Republican municipal ticket. Special privileges for the few is written so plainly across the Democratic ticket that every one can read it.

The action of the Democratic convention, or rather, so-called Democratic convention last evening, makes certain a majority of 500 for the Republican ticket on next Tuesday.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without the original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had. For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and salivary complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend

S.S.S. THE REMEDY FOR SORES AND ULCERS

There is but one way to cure an old sore or chronic ulcer, and that is to remove the cause that produces and keeps it open. No matter where located, any sore that remains until it becomes chronic does so because of impure blood; the circulation constantly discharges its polluted matter into the place and it is impossible for nature to heal the sore. S.S.S. heals sores and ulcers by purifying the blood. It removes every trace of taint or impurity from the circulation, and thus completely does away with the cause. No local application reaches below the infected flesh at the spot, and for this reason can have no curative effect on a sore or ulcer; while such treatment is being used alone, the germs and impurities are constantly increasing in the blood and the sore is bound to grow worse. When S.S.S. has cleansed the blood and enriched and purified the circulation the place begins to take on a more healthy appearance, the different symptoms show improvement, the flesh around the ulcer gets firm, new skin and tissues are formed, and aided by pure, rich blood, nature provides a perfect and lasting cure. Under the tonic and blood-purifying effects of S.S.S., the system is built up, and those whose health has been impaired by the dr in and worry of an old sore will be greatly benefited by its use. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice free to all who write.

TRAILS OVER GREAT DIVIDE

Romance of Santa Fe Trail Described By Writer Who Brings Up Memories of
Other Transcontinental
Pathways.

(By Jessie H. Buffum.)
"It wound through strange, sacred hills
Down canyons lone
Where wild things screamed
With winds for company;
Its milestones were the bones of pioneers."

While California seeks to preserve to posterity her ancient landmarks, and the work of El Camino really goes enthusiastically on, Kansas, Missouri and New Mexico are engaged in a similar work of even greater magnitude and of equal historic importance. The marking of the Santa Fe trail is one of the notable commemorative enterprises of the day.

In the present day, with its ease of transcontinental travel, but little is realized of the hardships of pioneer pilgrimage. It is almost discomforting, when one wants to get the very most out of a transcontinental trip and see the most popular sights, to have so wide a range of choice, for there are many lines over which the tourist may go—ten or a dozen, perhaps. In the trail era, in the old days of the prairie schooner, there were but two known routes, both of them hazardous. Ezra Meeker has made memorable the best known of these two routes, the old Oregon trail; of the other but little is heard.

The curious passersby who crowd around the pathetic ox team and its grizzled driver in the streets of San Francisco today have a pitifully poor conception of the significance of it all. An old man, white of hair, distinctly of a time long past, but devoting an inherent, pioneer born energy to the inspiring of the present generation! There is vastly more to it than the paltry sale of a souvenir postcard or a disingenuous book of travel. Like a huge transparency we may (if we will) look through the picture of the humble oxen chewing their cud, and the old man on the wagon seat with the afterglow of an almost forgotten era lingering in his eyes, beyond the rush and turmoil and heartlessness of this new order of things, the age in which we can not stop for a moment to look backward, in which it is so easy to forget—forget all that is historically sacred, and so hard to remember the foundations on which we are built. It seems, then, like a lesson, an unutterable appeal too magnificent for words—this transparency of the ox team and the old man and his silent, wistful "Lest you forget." His era labored and brought forth—this, the present forgetful generation. "Remember," he would proclaim, "the stanch faith that treated these old trails; remember the indomitable spirit that moved men to throw off the leashes that restrained them in stagnant surroundings in the east and that carried them across many states and many mountains, over fearful deserts and noisome waste places. Remember the 'Mountain meadow massacre'; remember Santa Fe and Pike's peak; forget not Stoddard and Pike and Lewis and Clark and Portola and all the long galaxy of pioneers now enshrined in an immortal hall of fame—the American heart, that does not forget."

Ezra Meeker's Appeal.

This is Ezra Meeker's appeal, and he is a hero. Any man is a hero who stands righteously in a cause where he stands alone. That we forget not, those of us who remember are erecting our museums, monuments, landmarks and our halls of fame—our history places. In California we are restoring the old bells that pointed the way to the missions in the olden days. Down in the southwest we are equally busy in preserving the traces of the old Santa Fe trail, a pioneer highway rivaling in importance the Oregon trail, otherwise known as the northern route and made famous by Kit Carson.

There were but two transcontinental pathways in the days preceding the coming of the railway. It might better be said that travelers were limited to a choice between two passes over the great divide. There were, of course, several tributary trails that fed the Oregon and the Santa Fe from various eastern ramifications. The forty-niners had three ways of reaching California. Some rushed across the continent, selecting either the Oregon trail over the northern pass or the Santa Fe trail across the plains and the southern pass, this choice depending a good deal on the season of the year. The southern route, crossing the mountains by way of the Raton range, was less fatiguing, though longer, yet having the advantage of being temperate in winter. This, the Santa Fe trail, had by far the heavier traffic, at least as far as Santa Fe, as not less than 10,000 to 12,000 wagons passed over it each year. Many gold seekers, however, made the passage around the Horn, special expeditions fitting out at Philadelphia, Boston and New York for that purpose. It is said that these vessels became no better than the infamous "hell ships," as during the rough weather that was encountered much of the way all hands, passengers included were forced to the rigging and the pumps.

The Early Trail.

Sebastian de Capparicio of Spain, turned the first wheel of any kind on the American continent when he drove the first ox cart in the western hemisphere. His was a crude, chariot like affair, the body of the cart like an uncooked basket or cage, the wheels spokeless and cut out of a gigantic tree—huge, wobbly, circular slabs that creaked sonorously on the wooden axletrees. The gifted pen, starting with this momentous historical event as nucleus, might write epically of what the wheel in all its uses has wrought since then. Commerce, industry and society must be grouped into distinctive eras all down the world's history; and the trail days, the epoch making pioneer days of this vast western country, have passed into history as the prairie schooner era, following the rotary achievement of the ambitious Spaniard.

The writer has expended almost unlimited time and effort in the endeavor to establish the early history of the Santa Fe trail. In this research both termini of the trail have been visited. Kansas City has its terminal appropriately marked with a bronze tablet. Along the levee in St. Louis a few of the old buildings remain where merchandise was packed and shipped. Mile after mile of the route I have pounded along, drawn by the iron horse over the track of the trail and from the car window its ruts were still discernible. Way down in the southwest corner of Kansas, far from the encroaching railroad, one may behold the ruts of the trail sunk so deeply into the brow of a hill as it dips down to cross the Cimarron river that a miniature arroyo has been formed. This you see as you journey due east from Richfield behind your patient, plodding ponies. And invariably the traveler, whoever he be, stops and thinks a while. Then, too, on one of those mythical autumn days with its

"Mist on the far horizon,
The infinite, tender sky,
The ripe, rich tint of the cornfields
And the wild goose sailing high."

I have tramped over many miles of the trail west from Newton, Kan., just to feel the indescribable thrill born of looking backward—through clear eyes that see as they saw who traversed those same ruts three-quarters of a century ago.

In historic, medieval old Santa Fe, a city of 10,000 population, I have nosed about among the revered relics of that glorious time when goods from "the far east" poured in interminably over the dusty trail in a conglomerate stream of "bull whackers," oven, mules and a personnel of 10 nationalities escorting the canvas covered schooners traveling in gigantic "caravans" of oftentimes hundreds of wagons together. There today is the same "fonda" or hotel where all were entertained. The structure is wholly unaltered, and its plastered adobe walls, will tell strange tales of barter and bloodshed, gayety and gambling, and all the curious admixture of an extreme frontier town mellowed by its absolute foreign setting. For Santa Fe is Spanish. There is much of the genuine Spanish blood flowing there.

One can easily see how extremely difficult it must be to fathom the earlier secrets of the old trail—and it held many. Yet from the very first ventures of those intrepid adventurers who sallied westward from the then frontier, the Mississippi valley country, down to the time when the exact route of the Santa Fe trail was established, there runs an unbroken historical cord of rare significance. It is a fact that all adventurers known to have dared those plains traversed almost exactly the same course. Thus a definite trail can be authenticated that antedates the Oregon trail by hundreds of years. Let us see:

TRAILS OVER GREAT DIVIDE.

Coronado Followed Route.

It is established "beyond a reasonable doubt," as the lawyers learnedly say, that Francisco Vasquez de Coronado traversed the almost identical route of the to be Santa Fe trail. It possibly may be of sufficient interest just here to explain that the writer of this devoted not less than a fortnight to the determining of this one point. The Spaniard's brilliant sortie is picturesque in the annals of the new world. He set out from Mexico centuries ago to discover that fabled city of magnificent glory and wealth of which he had been told, expecting to return with its filthy lucre in his own personal jeans. In the eastern part of Kansas, probably in the fertile and beautiful vale of the Kaw, he chanced upon an Indian village, and that was his nearest approach to the brilliant and splendid entrance into a great metropolis. He but deferred his little jaunt 300 years without question the keys of the city of Topeka or of Kansas City would have been turned over to him gratis and his wild wish would have been partly fulfilled. Coronado, escorted by a stupendous coterie in full regalia, shook off the dust of Santa Fe, and headed eastward and north. Unquestionably he blazed across those plains and mountain, guiltless or oases of water or shade, the definite course of the Santa Fe trail. As he viewed the impassable canyon of the Colorado on his return trip, having taken full advantage of the stopover privilege then in vogue, he ejaculated with awe: "The earth is here cut in two."

Then for two centuries the great prairies lay asleep. The antelope and the buffalo were undisturbed. But in 1763, the date of the accession of Louisiana, and while that state was in the hands of the French, a permanent route was spoken of across the "great American desert." Some French traders, starting from the upper Mississippi, made their way across to the Mexican mountains and with purpose they followed the way taken by De Coronado, as apparently his route was known to them. It is Captain Amos Stoddard who tells of this. These Frenchmen opened a store in Santa Fe and traded with the Mexicans and Indians, particularly those from the pueblos and communal villages, they being of a somewhat higher type than the red men of the plains and mountains. Stoddard prophesied a commerce of vast magnitude over this trail. The balance sheets of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway today fulfill his prediction.

In 1804 a man set out from historic, romantic old Kaskaskia, on the west bank of the Father of Waters (today the last remaining dwellings of this famous village so fascinating in pioneer history are slowly tumbling into the swirling water beneath, the village site being now almost wholly washed away by the undermining river), and on foot, alone, insufficiently armed, turned his face toward the white adobe walls of Santa Fe, announcing that he was going to visit another world. And he did! He got to Santa Fe and perished miserably, after concurring unspeakable dangers and hardships in the 2,000 miles of his lonely journey. He bequeathed but one thing of value to history, that being that quite without studied effort he adhered to the course across the plains laid down by Coronado and later by the French traders.

In the Old Trail Days
We cross the prairies as of old
Our fathers crossed the sea,
To make the west as they the east
The homestead of the free.

Quite naturally the Santa Fe trail had two eastern starting points, as its commerce was drawn from a wide and promiscuous area. Furs and like commodities came from the far northern reaches hundreds of miles down the Mississippi river. Freight and manufactured articles, starting from as far east as Boston and New York and crossing Pennsylvania were floated down the Ohio to Cape Girardeau, thence up the Mississippi 200 miles to St. Louis. Independence lays claim to being the terminus and starting point; so does Kansas City. Virtually, however, St. Louis merits that distinction. All merchandise originated at St. Louis or beyond, and was carried up the Mississippi river to Westport landing, which was a part of Kansas City, and was then transferred to the waiting wagons forming into caravans for the long trek to Santa Fe. The legal tender in those days was the universal Mexican dollar, and these same schooners would return from their trading pilgrimage laden with this precious commodity, which they had received in exchange for their goods. And the bandits waxed fat because of this. Indian attacks were not half so menacing as the fearful onslaughts of these desperadoes, who pillaged without mercy. These returning caravans, if they started back in early spring, were fortunate to reach Westport landing in July.

Famous Outfitting Stations.

Independence, Mo., and Leavenworth, Kan., now, as then, a United States fort, were the accepted fitting out stations for the traffickers on the trail. The two tributary branches occasioned by this ramification had their confluence at Wilmington, Wabasha county, Kan., making that an extremely important port. Taking the Santa Fe route today, or the "Santa Fe," as it is familiarly spoken of in railroad lingo, from the moment you enter Kansas on the east you ride for 500 miles over the original track of the trail, today rock ballasted and spiked. It followed the "high divide" of the prairie, which everywhere in Kansas is quite rolling, between the valleys of the river Kaw and the Arkansas. The trail kept close to the latter stream, that water might be had in plenty. One stretch of 65 miles was encountered, however, where no water was to be obtained, beginning where the town of Cimarron was left behind until the river by that name was reached, 65 miles southwest.

The "Cimarron crossing," just west of the notorious Dodge City, was a well known and famed way point on the journey. Sometimes it took as much as a day to get a small caravan over the treacherous sands of the Arkansas river at this point. Another famous crossing where the same river had to be forded was at Elm creek. The Cimarron river, in the extreme southwest corner of Kansas, was at most seasons of the year dry and thus easily forded. Again the river had to be crossed at Larned, Kan., where in those days a government fort was maintained. This was a pretentious institution and in that regime had a glory all its own. I have visited this old fort, situated several miles north of the city of Larned, and it is now a 3,000 acre wheat ranch, belonging to the mayor of the city. He whirled me out there in his automobile, and it took hours to go over the place. The well built buildings, all of solid stone, are in as good condition as when first erected. The parade ground is blanketed with Kentucky blue grass.

Large Mule Market.

Near where Garden City, Kan., now is there was a prairie dog town 40 miles in length, and it took at least two days to cross it. Garden City is one of the most interesting cities in the whole west, and although its name is widespread in the east, it is but little known on the Pacific coast. More alfalfa seed is shipped from that city than from any other point on earth. It has the largest mule market in the world. Its gigantic plants for pumping the underflow are the largest and most successful known. Its beet sugar factory, though not the largest, is one of the best in this country. "Buffalo Jones," the man who hybridized the buffalo and cattle, producing the "cattalo," and a native citizen of Garden City, has been almost immortalized by Zane Grey in his late book, "The Last of the Plainsmen," meaning Jones. Jones was for a long time custodian of the Yellowstone national park. He has a ranch in Arizona where he is still experimenting with his cattalo and his Persian sheep.

A few miles east of Larned is Pawnee rock, where there was more bloodshed than at any other point on the trail. Here the Indians would secrete themselves in ambush and make a kill. Kit Carson had a fearful fight with them here, being held prisoner on the rock for days, finally coming off victorious in the end. At one point on the trail during the Mexican war a fierce battle took place within Kansas territory, bent near the Colorado line. A beautifully carved Damascus blade was found just a few years ago on the scene of the fray. Bents Fort was a haven to many a traveler on the trail and an important stopping point. The parcel exercised by the United States government during the latter half of the life of the trail ended at this western point, and beyond that the pioneer had no protection. U. S. Grant rode guard duty on this long stretch across Kansas prior to the Civil war.

The traffic on the trail was in full blast in 1831. In that year Council Grove established itself as an important refitting center. Burlingame became a recognized stopping place, where perhaps several days would be passed before the journey was resumed. If we take a representative year the magnitude of the commerce over this trail may be estimated. In 1847 9,884 wagons left Kansas City for Santa Fe over the Santa Fe trail. Had all of the prairie schooners been ranged end to end in a single line that line would have been 223 miles long. These nearly 10,000 wagons were drawn by 98,840 mules and oxen, carrying merchandise weighing 59,304,000 pounds—in one year alone.

And today they are marking it! Almost at the eleventh hour, more than three-quarters of a century after that great artery of pioneer progress was opened up to the commerce of the new western world, landmarks for the preservation of the original route of the trail are being placed from one end of Kansas to the other. In Missouri, and particularly in Kansas City, bronze tablets are used on all buildings fronting the old highway. In New Mexico, still quite virgin, no special commemorative work has been undertaken.

The Kansas Monuments.

The manner in which this work has been projected in Kansas is particularly engaging. At the instigation of the Daughters of the American Revolution every school child in the Sunflower state gave one penny to the fund. The legislature appropriated a modest sum for the good cause and the Santa Fe railway transported the monuments free of charge. Red granite boulders from the quarries of Oklahoma, weighing from 6 to 1,600 pounds, were appropriately inscribed in panel effect, the remainder of the shaft, in most cases, being left in the rough. Boards of trade, chambers of commerce, women's clubs, school boards and the individual schools themselves participated in impressive ceremonies at the unveiling of these monuments. Committees of old timers all along the route were chosen to go out and identify the trail and frequently they were aided by the deep ruts still plainly to be seen. It was a notable event to see one such committee, at Garden City, Kan., composed of first settlers and "Uncle" Billy Fulton, the first man to lay down his blanket in the western half of the

When you buy Lard you get more than you bargain for—It's heavier in your stomach than on the scales

Lard is a foe to digestion. If you had the stomach of an ostrich you could hardly withstand the ravages of lard-soaked pastry. You have probably found this out and have already given up the eating of pastry. 'Tis wholly unnecessary! Anyone can eat and digest food cooked with Cottolene, the perfect shortening. It is a pure, vegetable product, made from the choicest, refined, cottonseed oil.

When you buy lard you have no protection as to quality—you simply know you are getting LARD—never mind the grade, it's just L-A-R-D. On the other hand, every pair of Cottolene is uniform—the product is guaranteed. You take no chances whatever.

In the face of these facts just ask yourself if you can afford to use hog lard when you can get pure, healthful, nutritious Cottolene.

COTTOLENE is Guaranteed

Your grocer is hereby authorized to refund your money in case you are not pleased, after having given Cottolene a fair test.

Never Sold in Bulk

Cottolene is packed in pails with an air-tight top to keep it clean, fresh and wholesome, and prevent it from catching dust and absorbing disagreeable odors, such as fish, oil, etc.

state, speed over the old trail in a powerful automobile, emphasizing the striking contrast between the Old and the New. Was it strange that in the writer's mind there arose at the sight the specter of the old ox team with its precious freight, toiling westward across a blistering prairie at from 15 to 20 miles a day?

Little by little the farming evidences of a famous trail are vanishing. The old ruts are fast being obliterated by torrential rains or the plow of the husbandman. Intersected by fences, usurped by the inevitable locomotive, or, more romantic still, traversed by the great steam plow, the traces of the trail are slipping from our sight. The hardy pioneers have bequeathed to a new generation the rich heritage, too often spurned. Byones are never by-gones when we speak in the language of the old trail era.

McFie Takes Jurisdiction—After listening to further arguments from the counsel in the receivership case this morning, the court took a recess, and at 2 o'clock this afternoon Judge McFie gave out from the bench a lengthy decision to the effect that he had jurisdiction to hold court at this time, even though there was a vacancy in the judgeship. people that any public official is necessarily a grafter and scoundrel. He warned the students against such a prejudiced opinion. Undoubtedly—he admitted—there are a few unprincipled men in positions of public trust, but, he maintained that the simple act of taking office did not make a man dishonest. A man who is honest when he enters upon the duties of his office cannot but remain honest while in that position. Mr. Mills then pointed out that it is the duty of every voter to see to it that the men who are put into positions of public trust are upright and honest men. In his address to the students the governor alluded to the part that the women of the country will have to play in upholding ideals of civic righteousness. He hinted that woman suffrage would not be long withheld from the weaker sex and that he hoped for great things when women had a voice in the government.

Dr. E. McQueen Gray, president of the University, then made a short speech in substantiation of what the governor had said, especially in regard to the development of the mission of the university in developing the mental and moral character of the future citizen. He stated that it has been the aim of the board of regents, to keep this idea always in mind, and he felt confident that this has to a large extent been realized in the work already done.

The governor then held a reception of the senior class, whereupon the university rosters gave a rousing cheer for Yale, which is the governor's Alma Mater.

Governor Mills at Albuquerque. The reception tendered Governor William J. Mills and Mrs. Mills and members of the governor's official family by the people of Albuquerque at the Commercial Club last night was one of the most pleasing events held in the club for some time but the inclement weather prevented the attendance of many Albuquerque people who wished to greet the new executive of the territory. For more than an hour Governor Mills was busily engaged in renewing acquaintance with old friends and meeting Albuquerque people, and expressed himself as highly pleased with his cordial greeting by Albuquerque people.

The governor received in the club parlor, and in line with him were Mrs. Mills, Secretary and Mrs. Nathan Jaffa, Attorney General and Mrs. Clancy, Adjutant General A. S. Brookes, Col. M. M. Padgett, Col. W. A. Fleming Jones, Col. Jose D. Sena, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Smart and the members of the club reception and entertainment committees, Mayor Lester, J. H. O'Reilly, N. Hild, M. L. Stern, E. F. Landolf, E. J. Alger, H. B. Weiller, N. B. McCroden and B. O. Jaffa. The visitors were presented to the governor by Chairman J. H. O'Reilly of the reception committee and for each the governor had a hearty greeting.

A dancing party for members of the club and their guests followed the reception. The club rooms were turned over to the dancers and the dance proved to be an enjoyable feature of the affair. Music was furnished for the dance by the Cavanaugh orchestra, which also played during the reception to the governor. Delicious refreshments were served during the evening.

Special attention was given to decorating the club rooms for the event and the rooms presented a beautiful appearance. Flags and bunting were effectively used throughout the building and flowers and palms were tastefully arranged about the club rooms. Governor Mills remained in Albuquerque today and will leave this evening for Las Cruces, where he will be the guest of honor at a banquet tomorrow night. He will be accompanied to Las Cruces by Col. W. A. Fleming Jones, while those who accompanied him to Albuquerque will leave tonight for their homes. —Albuquerque Citizen-tribune.
